 The flakes of his flesh cleave together, 2
 Firm upon him and immovable.
 His heart is hard like a stone, 2
 Hard as a nether mill-stone.
 When he rises up the gods fear; 2
 Because of panic they are beside themselves.
 When one approaches him with the 2 sword it does not hold, Nor does the spear, the javelin, or the 2 dart.
 He estimates iron as but straw, 2
 And bronze as rotten wood.
 The arrow does not put him to flight; 2
 Sling-stones are turned to chaff for 2
 him.
 The bludgeon is reckoned as but chaff, 2
 And he laughs at the whiz of the lance.
 His lower parts are like sharp pot- 3
 sherds;
 He prints a threshing-sledge upon the 3 mud.
 He makes the deep boil like a pot; 3
 He makes the sea like a jar of oint- 3
 ment.
 Behind him he makes a shining path; 3
 One would think that the deep was 3 hoary.
 There is not his like upon earth, 3
 One made without fear.
 Everything that is high fears him, 3
 Who is king over all proud beings."

JOB'S RETRACTION, 42:1-6

Then Job replied to the LORD, say- 4
 ing:
 "I know that thou canst do all things;
 And no plan is too difficult for thee.
 [Who is this who hides counsel without 4 knowledge?]
 Therefore I have declared, without 4
 understanding,
 Things too wonderful for me, without 4 knowing.

- 6 [Listen now, while I speak;
I will question you, and do you instruct me.]
7 I had heard of thee by the hearing of the ear;
8 But now my eye has seen thee.
9 Therefore I retract and repent,
In dust and ashes."

THE EPILOGUE, 42:7-16

- 7 After the LORD had spoken these words to Job, then the LORD said to Eliphaz, the Temanite,
"My anger blazes against you and your two friends, because you have not spoken regarding me what is true, as 8 my servant Job has. So now take for yourselves seven bullocks and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up a burnt-offering for yourselves, and my servant Job will pray for you; for his plea will I accept, that I deal not harshly with you, because you have not spoken regarding me what is true, as my servant Job has."
9 Then Eliphaz, the Temanite, and Bildad, the Shuhite, and Zophar, the Naamathite, went and did as the LORD had told them; and the LORD accepted the plea of Job.

Then the LORD restored the fortune 10 of Job when he interceded for his friends; and the LORD doubled all Job's possessions. And all his brothers and 11 all his sisters and all his friends came to him as of old, and they did eat food with him in his house; and they consoled him and comforted him for all the misfortune that the LORD had brought upon him. And they gave him each a piece of gold and each a golden ring.

So the LORD blessed the end of Job 12 more than his beginning; and he came to have fourteen thousand sheep, and six thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand she-asses. And he had seven sons and three daughters 13 ters. He named the first Jemimah, the 14 second Kezia, and the third Kerenhappuch. There were not found women 15 as fair as the daughters of Job in all the land. And their father gave them a heritage among their brothers.

Thereafter Job lived one hundred 16 and forty years, so that he saw his sons and his sons' sons, four generations. So Job died, an old man, satisfied with life.

THE PSALMS

BOOK I, PSS. 1-41

THE PROSPERITY OF THE PIOUS

- 1 HOW happy is the man who has not walked in the counsel of the wicked,
Nor stood in the way of sinners,
Nor sat in the seat of scoffers!
2 But his delight is in the law of the
LORD,
And in his law does he study day and night.
3 For he is like a tree planted by streams of water,
That yields its fruit in its season,
And whose leaf does not wither;
And whatever it bears comes to maturity.
- 4 The wicked are not so;
But are like the chaff which the wind drives away.
5 Therefore the wicked will not stand in the judgment,
Nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.
6 For the LORD knows the way of the
righteous.
But the way of the wicked will perish.

A WARNING TO THE NATIONS

- 2 Why do the nations rage,
And the peoples plot in vain?
2 The kings of the earth stand up,
And the princes also take counsel, Against the LORD and against his anointed:
3 "Let us burst their bonds asunder,
And cast their cords from us."
4 He that sits in the heavens laughs;
The Lord makes sport of them.
5 Then will he speak to them in his wrath,
And terrify them in his fury:
6 "I, indeed, have anointed my king
On Zion, my holy hill."
7 Let me tell of the decree of the LORD:
He said to me, "You are my son;

Today have I begotten you.
Ask of me, and I will make the nations your inheritance,
And the ends of the earth your possession.
You shall break them with an iron rod;
You shall crush them like a potter's vessel."

Be cautious, therefore, O kings; 1:
Take warning, O rulers of the earth.
Serve the LORD with fear, 11
Kiss the chosen one, 11:
Lest he be angry and you perish in the way;
For his wrath is soon kindled.
How happy are they who take refuge in him!

AN ASSURANCE OF DIVINE DELIVERANCE

[A psalm of David when he fled from before his son Absalom]

How many are my foes, O LORD!
Many are rising up against me.
Many are saying concerning me:
"There is no help for him in God."

Selah
But thou, O LORD, art a shield about
me,
My glory, and the one who raises my head.

I cry aloud to the LORD,
And he answers me from his holy hill.
Selah

I lie down and sleep;
I awake, for the LORD sustains me.
I am not afraid of the myriads of people
That have beset me round about.

Arise, O LORD; deliver me, O my God.
Verily, thou wilt smite all my foes
upon the cheek;

Thou wilt break the teeth of the wicked.

Salvation belongs unto the LORD.
Upon thy people be thy blessing!

Selah

A HYMN OF FAITH

[To the director: with harps. A Psalm of David]

- 4 When I call, answer me, O God of my righteousness, Thou who didst give me room when I was in distress;
Be gracious unto me and hear my prayer.
- 2 O sons of men, how long is my glory to be a shame,
While you love a thing of nought
And seek after lies? Selah
- 3 But know that the LORD has set apart the godly for himself;
The LORD will hear when I cry unto him.
- 4 Tremble, and do not sin;
Commune with your own hearts upon your bed and be still. Selah
- 5 Offer righteous sacrifices,
And trust in the LORD.
- 6 There are many who say, "O that we might see some good!"
Lift up upon us the light of thy countenance, O LORD.
- 7 Thou hast put joy in my heart,
More than in the time that their grain and wine increase.
- 8 In peace will I both lie down and sleep;
For thou alone, O LORD, makest me dwell in safety.

A PRAYER FOR DIVINE AID

[To the director: for the flutes. A Psalm of David]

- 1 Give ear to my words, O LORD;
Attend to my sighing.
- 2 Give heed to the sound of my cry,
My king and my God;
For unto thee do I pray, O LORD.
- 3 In the morning thou wilt hear my voice;
In the morning I will lay it before thee and wait.
- 4 For thou art not a God that takes pleasure in wickedness;
Nor may evil dwell with thee.
- 5 The boastful may not stand before thine eyes;
Thou hatest all that do wrong.
- 6 Thou destroyest those who tell lies;
The LORD abhors the man of blood and deceit.

- But I shall enter thy house by thine abundant kindness;
I shall bow down toward thy holy temple in awe of thee.
- 8 O LORD, lead me in thy righteousness, because of my enemies;
Make thy way straight before me.
For there is nothing trustworthy in their mouth, their heart is treacherous.
- Their throat is an open sepulcher; with their tongue they flatter.
- 10 Condemn them, O God, that they may fall by their own devices;
Because of their many transgressions cast them out because they have rebelled against thee;
- 11 That all who take refuge in thee may rejoice and shout for joy forever;
And do thou protect them, that those who love thy name may exult in thee.
- 12 For thou dost bless the righteous, O LORD;
Thou dost surround him with favor as with a shield.

A PRAYER FOR RELIEF FROM FOES

[To the director: with stringed instruments; according to the sheminith. A Psalm of David]

- 6 Chide me not in thine anger, O LORD,
Neither chasten me in thy wrath.
- 2 Pity me, O LORD, for I am faint;
Heal me, O LORD, for my bones are shaken,
And my spirit is greatly shaken.
- 3 And thou, O LORD—how long?
- 4 Return, O LORD, and deliver me,
Save me because of thy kindness;
- 5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee.
- In Sheol who praises thee?
I am worn out with my moaning;
- 6 Every night I flood my bed with tears;
With my weeping I water my couch.
My eye is dimmed because of trouble,
- 7 It grows old because of all my foes.
- 8 Depart from me, all evildoers;
For the LORD has heard the sound of my weeping.
- 9 The LORD has heard my entreaty;
The LORD receives my prayer.

- 10 All my foes shall be ashamed and greatly terrified;
They shall turn back; they shall be suddenly ashamed.

A PLEA FOR JUSTICE

[A dithyramb of David which he sang to the Lord concerning Cush, a Benjaminite]

- 7 I have taken shelter in thee, O LORD, my God.
Save me from all who pursue me, and deliver me;
- 2 Lest like a lion they tear me,
Dragging me away, with none to rescue.
- 3 O LORD, my God, if I have done this,
If there is guilt on my hands,
- 4 If I have requited evil to my friend,
Or plundered him that was my enemy without cause,
- 5 May the enemy pursue me,
And overtake me, and trample my life to the earth;
May he lay my honor in the dust. Selah
- 6 Arise, O LORD, in thine anger,
Lift up thyself in wrath against my foes,
And rise up for me at the judgment thou hast appointed.
- 7 And surround thyself with the assembly of the peoples,
And return thou thereon to the heights.
- 8 The LORD judges the peoples: do me justice, O LORD,
In accordance with my righteousness and my integrity.
- 9 May the evil of the wicked come to an end, and establish thou the righteous,
Since he who tries heart and mind is the righteous God.
- 10 My shield is with God,
Who saves the upright in heart.
- 11 God is a just judge,
And a God who is angry daily.
- 12 He will surely whet his sword again;
He has bent his bow and aimed it.
- 13 And he has got ready his deadly weapons;
His arrows he turns into fiery shafts.
- 14 Behold, he conceives wrong,
And he is pregnant with mischief and brings forth lies.
- 15 He digs and excavates a pit;
But falls into the hole that he makes.

His mischief recoils upon his own head; and upon his own pate his villainy descends.

I will praise the LORD for his righteousness,
And sing praises to the name of the LORD most high.

THE DIGNITY OF MAN AND THE GLORY OF GOD

[To the director: upon Gittith. A Psalm of David]

O LORD, our Lord,
How glorious is thy name in all the earth!

Thou whose praise is sung to the heavens,
From the mouths of babes and infants.

Thou hast established strength because of thine enemies,
To still the enemy and the revengeful.

When I see thy heavens, the work of thy fingers,

The moon and the stars which thou hast formed;

What is man that thou shouldst think of him,

And the son of man that thou shouldst care for him?

Yet thou hast made him but little lower than God,

And dost crown him with glory and honor!

Thou makest him ruler over the works of thy hands,

Thou hast put all things under his feet:

All sheep and oxen,

And also the beasts of the field;

The birds of the heavens and the fish of the sea,

That traverse the paths of the seas.

O LORD, our Lord,

How glorious is thy name in all the earth.

THE WICKED SHALL BE OVERTHROWN

[To the director: upon muth-labben. A Psalm of David]

N

I will praise the LORD with all my heart;

I will tell of all thy wonders.
 2 I will rejoice and exult in thee,
 I will sing praises to thy name, O Most High;

י

1 Because my enemies turn back,
 They stumble and perish from before
 thee.
 6 For thou hast maintained my just cause;
 Thou hast sat upon the throne giving righteous judgment.

י

5 Thou hast rebuked the nations, thou hast destroyed the wicked,
 Their name thou hast blotted out forever and ever.
 5 The foe—they are destroyed; Perpetual ruins are the cities which thou hast rooted up;
 The very memory of them has perished.

י

7 Behold, the LORD abides forever.
 He has established his throne for judgment;
 3 And he judges the world in righteousness;
 He passes sentence on peoples with equity.

י

2 Thus the LORD is a stronghold for the oppressed,
 A stronghold in times of need.
 2 And those who know thy name trust in thee,
 For thou hast not forsaken those who seek thee, O LORD.

י

1 Sing praises to the LORD who dwells in Zion; Make known among the peoples his deeds!
 1 For as avenger of blood he has remembered them;
 He has not forgotten the cry of the poor.

י

1 Have pity on me, O LORD; see my trouble from those who hate me, O thou my deliverer from the gates of
 death,
 6 That I may recount all thy praises,

That in the gates of the daughter of Zion I may rejoice in thy deliverance.

י

The nations are plunged into the pit 15
 which they have made;
 Their foot is caught in the net which they have hidden.
 The LORD is made known; he has exe- 16
 cuted judgment.
 In his own handiwork the wicked is snared. Higgaion. Selah

י

The wicked will return to Sheol, 17
 All the nations that forget God.

י

For the poor shall not be always for- 18 gotten,
 Nor shall the hope of the meek perish
 forever.
 Arise, O LORD, let not man prevail; 19
 Let the nations be judged in thy presence.
 Put them in terror, O LORD, 20
 That the nations may know they are but men. Selah

י

Why dost thou stand afar off, O 10
 LORD,
 And hide thyself in times of need?
 The wicked in his arrogance consumes 2
 the poor;
 May they be caught in the schemes which they have devised!

The wicked sings the praises of his 3 own desires,
 And the robber curses, and rejects God;
 The wicked in the pride of his counte- 4
 nance does not seek him;
 All his thought is, "There is no God."
 His ways prosper at all times. 5 Thy judgments are on high, out of his sight
 As for all his foes,—he puffs at them.
 He says to himself, "I shall not be 6
 moved;
 Throughout the ages my steps will not be in distress."
 His mouth is filled with curses and de- 7
 ceit and violence;
 Mischief and wrong are under his tongue.
 He sits in the lurking-places of vil- 8
 lages;

- In hiding-places he murders the innocent;
His eyes lie in wait for the unfortunate.
- 9 He lurks in secret like a lion in a thicket;
He lurks that he may rob the weak;
He robs the weak when he draws him into his net.
- 10 And he bends over, he crouches;
And the unfortunate fall by his mighty men.
- 11 He says to himself, "God has forgotten;
He has hidden his face; he will never see it."

P

- 12 Arise, O LORD; O God, lift up thy hand.
Do not forget the poor.
- 13 Why has the wicked despised God,
And said to himself, "Thou wilt not search out?"

- 14 Thou seest; for thou dost look upon trouble and vexation,
To give them into thy power.
The unfortunate leaves himself to thee;
Thou hast been a helper to the orphan.

W

- 15 Break thou the arm of the wicked and the evildoer;
Let his wickedness be sought and not found.
- 16 The LORD is king forever and ever;
The nations will perish from his land.

- 17 Thou hast heard the desire of the meek, O LORD, Thou dost set thy mind, thou dost pay close heed,
- 18 So as to do justice to the orphan and the oppressed,
That man who is of the earth may never again strike terror.

THE COMING JUDGMENT

[For the director: of David]

- 11 I have taken refuge in the LORD;
How then can you say to me:
"Flee like a bird to your mountain?"
- 2 For, lo, the wicked bend the bow,
They fit their arrow to the string,

To shoot in the dark at the upright in heart.
When the foundations are torn down,
What has the righteous done?

The LORD is in his holy temple,
The LORD, whose throne is in the heavens;
His eyes behold, his eyelids test the sons of men.

The LORD tests the righteous and the wicked,
And he hates the lover of violence.
On the wicked he will rain coals of fire;
Brimstone and scorching wind will be the portion of their cup.

For the LORD is righteous; he loves righteousness;
The upright will behold his face.

A PLEA FROM THOSE IN DISTRESS

[For the director: according to the shemith. A Psalm of David]

Save, LORD, for the godly cease to be,
For the faithful disappear from the sons of men.

They speak lies each with his neighbor;
With false lip and double heart they speak.

May the LORD cut off all false lips,
And the tongue that makes great boasts,

Those who say, "We will make ourselves great by our tongue.
Our lips are with us; who is our master?"

"Because the poor are exploited, because the needy groan,
I will now arise," says the LORD;
"I will place him in the safety for which he longs."

The words of the LORD are pure words,
Silver refined in a furnace on the ground,
Purified sevenfold.

Do thou protect us, O LORD;
Guard us from this generation forever.
The wicked parade to and fro,
When baseness is exalted among the sons of men.

A PRAYER IN FAITH

[For the director: A Psalm of David]

- 3 How long, O LORD—wilt thou continually forget me?
How long wilt thou hide thy face from me?
- 2 How long am I to lay cares upon myself,
And trouble in my heart daily?
How long shall my enemy triumph over me?
- 3 Look upon me and answer me, O LORD, my God.
Lighten my eyes, lest I sleep in death;
- 4 Lest my enemy say, "I have overcome him,"
And my foes exult because I am shaken.
- 5 But I have trusted in thy kindness;
My heart shall rejoice in thy deliverance.
- 5 I will sing unto the LORD,
Because he has treated me kindly.

THE VINDICATION OF GOD

[For the director: of David]

- 1 The fool said in his heart, "There is no God."
They acted basely, they did abominable things;
There was none that did good.
- 2 The LORD looked forth from the heavens upon the sons of men,
To see if there were any that acted wisely,
That sought after God.
- 3 They had all gone astray and all of them had done wrong;
There was none that did good,
No, not even one.
- 4 Do they know nothing, all the evildoers,
Who eat up my people as they eat bread,
But do not call upon the LORD?
- 5 Then were they in great terror;
For God was with the righteous generation.
- 6 You would put to shame the plans of the poor;
But the LORD is his refuge.

O that the deliverance of Israel would come from Zion!
When the LORD restores the fortune of his people,
Jacob shall exult; Israel shall rejoice.

THE FRIEND OF GOD

[A Psalm of David]

- Who may sojourn in thy pavilion, O LORD?
Who may dwell upon thy holy hill?
"He who walks blamelessly, and does right,
And speaks truth from his heart.
He is not hasty with his tongue.
He does no wrong to his fellows;
Nor does he take blame upon himself because of his neighbor.
In his eyes a bad man is despised;
But he honors those who fear the LORD.
He swears to his own hurt and does not retract.
He does not put out his money on interest,
Nor take a bribe against the innocent.
He who does such things will never be moved."

FAITH AND HOPE

[A miktam of David]

- Preserve me, O God, for I have sought refuge in thee. 16
I have said to the LORD, "O Lord, thou art my welfare;
There is none besides thee."
As to the gods who are in the land
And the lofty ones, I have no pleasure in them. 3
Their images are many; others praise them; 4
But I will not pour out their libations of blood,
Nor will I take their names upon my lips.
The LORD is my portion, my share, and my cup; 5
Thou holdest my lot.
The lines have fallen for me in pleasant places; 6
My inheritance indeed pleases me.
I will bless the LORD who has counseled me; 7
In the night also my thoughts instruct me.
I have kept the LORD continually before me; 8

For, with him at my right hand, I shall not be moved.

- 9 Therefore my heart is glad and my spirit rejoices;
My flesh also dwells in security;
- 10 For thou wilt not abandon me to Sheol;
Thou wilt not let thy godly one see the Pit.
- 11 Thou wilt show me the path of life.
Fulness of joy is in thy presence;
Pleasures are always in thy right hand.

A PRAYER FOR VINDICATION

[A prayer of David]

- 17 Hear the right, O LORD;
Give heed to my cry;
Listen to my prayer,
Which is not from deceitful lips.
- 2 From thy presence may my judgment proceed;
May thine eyes see the right.
- 3 Thou hast tried my heart; thou hast visited me by night;
Thou hast purified me by fire;
Thou dost not find iniquity in me;
My mouth does not transgress.
- 4 According to the deeds of man,
through the word from thy lips
I have kept the prescribed ways.
- 5 My steps have held fast to thy tracks;
My footsteps have not faltered.
- 6 I call upon thee, for thou wilt answer me, O God.
Incline thine ear to me; hear my speech.
- 7 Show thy wonderful kindness, O savior of those who seek shelter
From their adversaries at thy right hand.
- 8 Protect me like the pupil, the daughter of the eye;
Hide me in the shadow of thy wings,
- 9 From the wicked who despoil me,
My deadly enemies who surround me.
- 10 They have closed their hearts to pity;
With their mouths they speak in pride.
- 11 I see them; they have now encompassed me;
They set their eyes to cast me to the ground.
- 12 He is like a lion that is eager for prey,
And a young lion that lurks in ambush.

Arise, O LORD, confront him, bring him low;
Deliver me from the wicked by thy sword,
From men by thy hand, O LORD,
From men whose lot in life is fatness,
And whose belly is filled with thy treasures;
Whose children are satiated;
And who leave the rest for their babes.
But I in justification shall behold thy face;
I shall be satisfied when thy form awakes.

A VICTOR'S HYMN OF PRAISE

[For the director: of the servant of the LORD, David, who addressed the words of this song to the LORD, on the day that the LORD rescued him from the hand of all his foes and from the hand of Saul. And he said:]

I love thee, O LORD, my strength!
The LORD is my rock, my fortress,
and my deliverer;
My God, my rock in whom I take refuge;
My shield, and the horn of my deliverance, my tower.
I call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised,
That I may be rescued from my enemies.

The breakers of death engulfed me,
Torrents of ruin terrified me.
The cords of Sheol surrounded me,
Snarcs of death confronted me.

In my distress I called upon the LORD,
And unto my God I cried for help;
He heard my voice from his palace,
And my cry unto him reached his ears.

Then the earth quaked and rocked,
And the foundations of the hills trembled
And rocked, when he was angry.
Smoke rose from his nostrils,
And fire from his mouth devoured;
Coals were kindled by it.

He bowed the heavens and came down;
Thick darkness was under his feet.
He rode upon a cherub and flew,
And he sped on with the wings of the wind.

11 He made darkness his covert;
His encircling pavilion was the darkness of the heavens,
Thick clouds without brightness;
12 Before him passed his thick clouds,
Hailstones, and coals of fire,
13 And the LORD thundered from the heavens,
The Most High uttered his voice.
14 He let fly his arrows and scattered them;
Lightnings he hurled and routed them.
15 Then the floor of the sea was revealed,
And the foundations of the world were bared
At thy rebuke, O LORD,
At the fierce breath of thy wrath.
16 He sent from on high, he took me,
He drew me out of many waters.
17 He delivered me from my strong enemy,
From my foes; for they were too strong for me.

18 They confronted me on the day of my calamity,
But the LORD became my stay.
19 He led me forth into a broad place;
He set me free, for he was pleased with me.
20 The LORD rewarded me in accordance with my righteousness;
He requited me in accordance with my cleanness of hands.
21 For I have kept the ways of the LORD,
And have not transgressed against my God.
22 For all his ordinances are before me,
And his statutes I do not put away from me.
23 I was blameless with him,
And guarded myself from my guilt.

24 So the LORD requited me in accordance with my righteousness,
In accordance with my cleanness of hands in his sight.

25 Toward the godly thou dost act graciously;
Toward the blameless thou dost act blamelessly;
26 Toward the pure thou dost act purely;
And toward the crooked thou dost act craftily.
27 For thou wilt deliver a humble people,
But haughty eyes thou wilt bring low.
28 For thou dost light my lamp, O LORD,

My God lightens my darkness.
For through thee I can break down a 29
rampart,
And through my God I can scale a wall.

The way of God is blameless, 30
The speech of the LORD is sincere;
A shield is he to all who take refuge in him.
For who is God but the LORD? 31
And who is a rock save our God?

The God who girds me with might, 32
And makes my way blameless,
Making my feet like the doe's, 33
And making me stand securely on my heights;
The one who trains my hands for battle, 34
So that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.
And thou hast given me thy saving 35
shield,
And thy right hand supports me;
And thy help makes me great.
Thou dost enlarge the range of my 36
steps,
And my ankles do not give way.

I pursue my foes and overtake them, 37
And do not turn back until they are consumed.
I smite them so that they are unable to 38 rise;
Beneath my feet they fall.

And thou dost gird me with strength 39
for the battle;
Thou dost subdue my opponents under me;
And thou dost make my foes show me 40
the back;
And those that hate me I destroy.
They cry for help, but there is none to 41 deliver;
To the LORD, but he does not answer them.
Then I pulverize them like dust before 42
the wind;
I crush them like the dirt of the streets.
Thou dost deliver me from the feuds 43
of the people;
Thou dost establish me as head of the nations;
People that I have not known serve me;
As soon as they hear of me, they sub- 44
mit to me;

- Foreigners fawn upon me;
 45 Foreigners fade away,
 And come trembling from their fortresses.
- 46 All hail to the LORD! And blessed be my Rock!
 And may the God of my deliverance be exalted!
- 47 The God who gives me vengeance,
 And puts peoples in subjection under me;
- 48 Who frees me from my foes.
 Yea, thou dost exalt me above my adversaries;
 From violent men thou dost rescue me.
- 49 Therefore I shall praise thee among the nations, O LORD,
 And sing praises to thy name;
- 50 To him who gives great victories to his king,
 And shows kindness to his anointed,
 To David and his descendants forever.

GOD'S PRAISE IN THE PHYSICAL AND MORAL UNIVERSE

[For the director: A Psalm of David]

- 19 The heavens are telling the glory of God,
 And the sky shows forth the work of his hands.
- 2 Day unto day pours forth speech,
 And night unto night declares knowledge.
- 3 There is no speech, nor are there words;
 Their voice is not heard;
- 4 Yet their voice goes forth through all the earth,
 And their words to the ends of the world.
- In them he has pitched a tent for the sun,
- 5 Who is like a bridegroom coming forth from his chamber,
 And rejoices like a strong man to run the course;
- 6 From one end of the heavens is his starting-point,
 And his circuit is to the other end;
 And nothing is hid from the heat thereof.

The law of the LORD is perfect, renewing the life;
 The decree of the LORD is trustworthy, making wise the simple;
 The precepts of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart;
 The command of the LORD is pure,
 enlightening the eyes;
 The fear of the LORD is clean, enduring forever.
 The judgments of the LORD are true,
 they are also right;
 They are more valuable than gold,
 and much fine gold;
 Also sweeter than honey,
 and the droppings of the honeycomb.

Thy servant also is instructed by them,
 In keeping them there is great reward.
 Who can discern his errors?
 Of unconscious ones, hold me guiltless!
 Moreover, restrain thy servant from wilful ones,
 May they not rule over me!
 Then shall I be blameless, and be acquitted of much transgression.
 May the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart
 Be acceptable before thee,
 O LORD, my rock and my avenger!

A PRAYER FOR VICTORY

[For the director: A Psalm of David]

The LORD answer you on the day of trouble!
 The name of the God of Jacob set you on high!
 May he send you help from the holy place,
 And give you support from Zion!
 May he keep in mind all your gifts,
 And your burnt-offerings may he accept!
Selah

May he grant you your heart's desire,
 And fulfil all your plans!
 May we shout with joy over your victory,
 And in the name of our God set up our standards!
 May the LORD fulfil all your requests!

Now I know that the LORD will give victory to his anointed,

That he will answer him from his holy heavens,

Through the saving strength of his right hand.

7 Some are strong through chariots and some through horses,

But we, through the name of the LORD, our God.

8 They will bow down and fall; But we shall arise and stand upright.

9 O LORD, give the king victory; Do thou answer us when we call.

A HYMN OF PRAISE AND GRATITUDE

11 In thy strength the king rejoices, O LORD;

And in thy victory how greatly he exults!

12 Thou hast given him the desire of his heart;

And the petition of his lips thou hast not withheld. Selah

13 For thou dost send goodly blessings to meet him,

Thou dost place upon his head a crown of gold.

14 He asked life of thee—thou hast given it to him,

Long life, forever and ever.

15 His glory is great through thy help; Praise and honor thou layest upon him.

16 Thou dost make him blessed forever; Thou dost gladden him with joy in thy presence.

17 For the king trusts in the LORD; And, through the goodness of the Most High, he will never be moved.

18 Your hand will find all your foes, Your right hand will find those that hate you.

19 You will put them in an oven of fire, When you show your face.

The LORD in his anger will destroy them,

And fire will consume them.

20 Their offspring you will destroy from the earth,

And their descendants from among the sons of men.

When they plan evil against you, 11
And devise malice, they shall not succeed.

You will make them turn their backs 12
with your bowstrings,
You will aim at their faces.

Arise, O LORD, in thy strength, 13
That we may play and sing of thy power.

THE CRY OF A DESOLATE SPIRIT

[For the director: upon aijeleth hashshahar. A Psalm of David]

My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? 22

And why art thou far from helping me, at the words of my wailing?

My God, I cry by day, but thou dost not answer; 2

And by night, and get no rest.

Yet thou art holy; 3
The praise of Israel will endure.

In thee our fathers trusted; 4
They trusted and thou didst deliver them.

Unto thee they cried and were set free; 5

In thee they trusted and were not disgraced.

But I am a worm and not a man, 6
A shame to mankind, and despised of the people.

All who see me make sport of me; 7

They make mouths at me and toss their heads:

"Let him rejoice in the LORD; let him deliver him; 8

Let him rescue him; for he is pleased with him."

Yet thou didst bring me forth from the womb; 9

Thou didst give me security on my mother's breast.

Upon thee was I cast from birth; 10
From my mother's womb thou hast been my God.

Do not stay far from me; 11
For trouble is near;

For there is none to help.
Strong bulls surround me; 12

Mighty ones of Bashan encircle me
They open wide their mouths at me, 13

Like a ravening and roaring lion.

I am poured out like water, 14
And all my bones are disjoined.

- My heart is like wax,
Melted in the midst of my bosom.
- 15 My strength is dried up like a potsher, d,
And my tongue cleaves to my palate;
And they lay me in the dust of death.
- 16 For dogs have surrounded me,
A gang of villains encircles me.
My hands and my feet are crippled.
- 17 I can count all my bones;
They look, they stare at me.
- 18 They distribute my garments among
them,
And over my robe they cast lots.
- 19 But, thou, O LORD, be not far off;
O my strength, hasten to my aid.
- 20 Deliver my life from the sword,
My only one from the power of the dog.
- 21 Save me from the lion's mouth,
And my afflicted self from the horns of the wild ox.
- 22 Then will I publish thy name to my brethren;
In the midst of the assembly I will praise thee.
- 23 You who fear the LORD praise him!
All you descendants of Jacob honor
him!
Stand in awe of him all you descendants of Israel;
- 24 Because he has not despised, nor has he loathed the affliction of the afflicted;
Nor has he hidden his face from him;
But he has listened when he cried to him for aid.
- 25 From thee is my praise in the great assembly;
In the presence of those who fear him
I will pay my vows.
- 26 The humble will eat and be satisfied;
Those who seek the LORD will praise
him.
May your heart live forever!
- 27 All the ends of the earth will remember and turn unto the LORD;
All the clans of the nations will worship
before him.
- 28 For the kingdom belongs to the LORD;
And he rules over the nations.
- 29 Him alone will all the fat ones of the earth worship;

Before him all those who go down to the dust will bow;
For none keeps himself alive.
The descendants will serve him, 30
May it be told of the Lord to the coming generation,
And may they tell of his righteousness 31:
to the people that shall be born,
That he has wrought it.

THE GOOD SHEPHERD

[A Psalm of David]

The LORD is my shepherd; I shall not 24
want;
In green pastures he makes me lie 2
down;
Beside refreshing waters he leads me.
He gives me new life; 3
He guides me in paths of righteousness for his name's sake.
Even though I walk in the darkest 4
valley,
I fear no harm; for thou art with me;
Thy rod and thy staff—they comfort
me.
Thou layest a table before me in the 5 presence of my enemies; Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup overflows.
Surely goodness and kindness shall fol- 6
low me all the days of my life;
And I shall dwell in the house of the LORD to an old age.

THE GLORY OF GOD AND THE GOOD MAN

[A Psalm of David]

The earth is the LORD'S and its ful- 24
ness,
The world and those who dwell there-
in.
For he founded it upon the seas, 2
And established it upon the ocean-currents.
Who can ascend into the hill of the 3
LORD?
And who can stand in his holy place?
He who has clean hands and a pure 4
heart,
Who has had no desire for falsehood,
And has not sworn to a lie.
He will receive a blessing from the 5
LORD,
And justification from the God of his deliverance.

6 This is the generation of those who search for him,
Who seek the face of the God of Jacob.
Selah

7 Lift up your heads, O gates!
And lift yourselves up, O ancient doors,

That the king of glory may come in!
8 Who, then, is the king of glory?
The LORD strong and mighty,
The LORD mighty in battle!

9 Lift up your heads, O gates!
And lift yourselves up, O ancient
doors,

That the king of glory may come in!
10 Who, then, is the king of glory?
The LORD of hosts,
He is the king of glory! Selah

A PRAYER FOR DIVINE HELP

[Of David]

11 Unto thee, O LORD, do I lift up my desire.

12 My God, in thee have I trusted; let me not be put to shame;
Let not my foes exult.

13 Yea, let none that wait upon thee be put to shame;
May they be put to shame who have been deceitful without cause.

14 Thy ways, O LORD, make me know;
Teach me thy paths.

15 Lead me in thy truth, and teach me;
For thou art the God of my help;
For thee do I long continually.

16 Remember thy mercy, O LORD, and thy kindness,
For they have been from of old.

17 The sins of my youth and my offenses
do not remember;
In accordance with thy kindness, do thou remember me,
For thy goodness' sake, O LORD.

Good and upright is the LORD. 8 Therefore he instructs sinners in the
way.

9 He leads the meek in justice,
And he teaches the meek his way.

10 All the paths of the LORD are kindness and truth,
For those who observe his covenant and his commands.

11 For thy name's sake, O LORD,
Pardon my guilt, though it is great.

12 What man is there that fears the
LORD?
He will teach him in the way that he must choose.

13 He will dwell in good times,
And his descendants will possess the
land.

14 The secret of the LORD is for those who fear him,
And his covenant, that he may teach
them.

15 My eyes are ever toward the LORD,
That he may bring forth my feet from the net.

16 Turn unto me and have mercy upon
me,
For I am lonely and afflicted.

17 Enlarge the straits of my heart,
And lead me forth from my distresses.

18 See my affliction and my trouble,
And forgive all my sins.

19 See how many my foes are,
And with what violent hatred they hate me.

20 Preserve me and rescue me; Let me not be put to shame; for I take refuge in thee.

- 21 Let integrity and uprightness protect me,
For I hope in thee.
- 22 Redeem Israel, O God,
From all its troubles.

THE CLAIMS OF THE RIGHTEOUS

[Of David]

- 26 Give me justice, O LORD, for I have walked in my integrity,
And I have trusted in the LORD, without wavering.
- 2 Try me, O LORD, and test me,
Examine my mind and my heart.
- 3 For thy kindness is before my eyes,
And I have walked in thy truth.
- 4 I do not sit with faithless men,
Nor with dissemblers do I go in.
- 5 I hate the company of evildoers,
And with reprobates I will not sit down.
- 6 I wash my hands in innocence,
And march round thy altar, O LORD,
- 7 To proclaim with a voice of praise,
And to recount all thy wonders.
- 8 O LORD, I have loved the habitation of thy house,
And the place where thy glory dwells.
- 9 Take me not away along with sinners,
Nor my life along with men of blood,
- 10 In whose hands is an evil purpose,
And whose right hand is full of bribes.
- 11 But as for me, I walk in my integrity;
Deliver me and be gracious to me.
- 12 My foot stands upon level ground;
In the congregations I bless the LORD.

A SONG OF ASSURANCE

[Of David]

- 27 The LORD is my light and my salvation;
whom shall I fear?
The LORD is the refuge of my life;
of whom shall I be afraid?
- 2 When evildoers pressed in upon me,
to eat up my flesh,
My adversaries and my foes,
they stumbled and fell.

Though a host encamp against me,
my heart will not fear;
Though war arise against me,
in this will I be confident.

One thing I ask from the LORD, that do I seek;
That I may dwell in the house of the LORD
all the days of my life,
To behold the beauty of the LORD,
and to inquire in his temple.

For he will hide me in his pavilion,
on the day of trouble;
He will conceal me in his secret tent,
he will set me up upon a rock.

And now my head is high above my foes on every side;
And I will sacrifice in his tent sacrifices with shouts;
I will sing and make music to the
LORD.

Hear, O my LORD, my voice with which I cry;
be gracious to me and answer
me.

Concerning thee my heart says,
"Seek you my face!"
Thy face, O LORD, do I seek;
hide not thy face from me.

Turn not thy servant away in anger,
thou who hast been my help.
Cast me not off, neither forsake me,
O God of my salvation!
If my father and my mother forsake
me,
then the LORD will take me up.
Teach me thy way, O LORD,
And guide me in a level path,
because of my enemies.

Yield me not to the desire of my foes;
For false witnesses have risen against
me,
and such as breathe forth violence.
I believe that I shall see the goodness
of the LORD
in the land of the living.

Wait thou for the LORD;
Be strong and keep a stout heart;
And wait thou for the LORD.

A PRAYER FOR THE PUNISHMENT OF THE WICKED

[Of David]

- 28 Unto thee, O LORD, do I call;
O my rock, be not deaf to me;
Lest, because thou payest no heed to me,
I become like those who go down to the Pit.
- 2 Hear the voice of my supplication,
when I cry to thee for help,
when I lift up my hands unto thy holy shrine.
- 3 Snatch me not away with the wicked,
and with those who do wrong,
Who offer friendly greetings to their neighbors,
while evil is in their hearts.
- 4 Render to them according to their work,
and according to their evil deeds.
According to the work of their hands render to them;
pay back to them what they have done.
- 5 Because they do not give heed to the works of the LORD,
and to the work of his hands,
he will tear them down and not build them up.
- 6 Blessed be the LORD! For he has heard the voice of my supplications.
- 7 The LORD is my strength and my shield;
in him my heart has trusted;
And I have been helped and my heart exults,
and with my song I praise him.
- 8 The LORD is the strength of his people and a refuge;
the help of his anointed is he.
- 9 Give victory to thy people,
and bless thine inheritance;
shepherd them and carry them evermore.

THE GOD OF THE STORM

[A Psalm of David]

- 28 Ascribe unto the LORD, O heavenly beings,
Ascribe unto the LORD glory and strength.

Ascribe unto the LORD the glory of his name;
Worship the LORD in holy array.

The voice of the LORD is above the waters;
The God of glory thunders.
The LORD is over the great waters;
The voice of the LORD is mighty.
The voice of the LORD is majestic.

The voice of the LORD breaks the cedars,
And the LORD shatters the cedars of Lebanon.
He makes them skip like a calf,
Lebanon and Sirion like a young wild-ox.

The voice of the LORD hews out flames of fire;
The voice of the LORD makes the desert whirl;
The LORD whirls the desert of Kadesh.
The voice of the LORD whirls the terebinths,
And causes bleating kids to be born in haste,
While in his palace everything says,
"Glory!"

The LORD sits over the flood;
The LORD sits as king forever.
The LORD gives strength to his people;
The LORD blesses his people with peace.

PRAISE FOR THE HELP OF THE LORD

[A Psalm; a song of the dedication of the house; of David]

- I will extol thee, O LORD, for thou hast drawn me forth,
And hast not let my foes rejoice over me.
O LORD, my God, I cried for help unto thee,
And thou didst heal me.
O LORD, thou hast brought me up from Sheol,
Thou hast revived me from among those who go down to the Pit.
- Sing praises to the LORD, O you his godly ones,
And praise his holy name.

- 5 For though there be a moment in his wrath, there is a lifetime in his favor.

Weeping may lodge with us at evening, but in the morning there is a shout of joy.

- 6 But I said in my security,
"I shall never be moved."

- 7 O LORD, by thy favor thou hast made my mountain to stand strong;
Thou didst hide thy face; I was dismayed.

- 8 Unto thee, O LORD, I called;
And unto the Lord I made supplication:

- 9 "What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the Pit?
Will the dust praise thee? Will it declare thy faithfulness?"

- 10 Hear, O LORD, and be gracious to me.
O LORD, be thou my helper."

- 11 Thou hast turned my mourning into dancing;

Thou hast put off my sackcloth and girded me with gladness;

- 12 In order that I may sing praises to thee and not be silent;

O LORD, my God, I will evermore praise thee.

MINGLED PRAYER AND PRAISE

[For the director: A Psalm of David]

- 31 In thee, O LORD, I have taken refuge;
Let me nevermore be put to shame;

Through thy justification, deliver me!

- 2 Incline thine ear unto me,
Quickly rescue me!
Become for me a rock of refuge,
A mountain-fort to save me!

- 3 For thou art my rock and my fortress;

And for thy name's sake thou wilt lead me and guide me.

- 4 Thou wilt bring me forth from the net which they have laid for me;

For thou art my refuge.

- 5 Into thy hand I commit my spirit;
Thou wilt redeem me, O LORD, thou faithful God.

- c I hate them that pay regard to false vanities;

But I myself have trusted in the LORD.

I will exult and rejoice in thy kindness,
For thou hast seen my affliction,
Thou hast taken heed of my straits.

And thou hast not delivered me into the hand of the foe;

But hast established my feet upon a broad place.

Be gracious unto me, O LORD,
for I am in trouble;

Through grief my eye is weakened, myself and my body.

For my life is consumed in sorrow,
and my years in groaning.

My strength has failed through my affliction, and my bones have wasted away.

I am become an object of reproach from all my foes,

a thing of dread to my neighbors,

A terror to my acquaintances who see me on the street;

they flee from me.

I am forgotten like a dead man; out of my mind,

like a lost article am I;

For I hear the remark of many,
"Terror on every side,"

When they counsel together against me;
they plan to take my life.

But I have trusted in thee, O LORD;
I have said, "Thou art my God;

My times are in thy hand.

Rescue me from the hand of my foes
and those who pursue me;

Let thy face shine upon thy servant;

Deliver me through thy kindness.

"O LORD, let me not be put to shame;
for I have called upon thee;

Let the wicked be put to shame; let them wait for Sheol.

May lying lips be made dumb,
Those that speak insolence against the righteous,

In pride and scorn.

"How great is thy goodness which thou hast in store for those who fear thee,

Which thou hast wrought for those relying upon thee, in the presence of the sons of men.

Thou dost secrete them in the secret of thy presence from the plottings of man;

Thou dost shelter them in thy pavilion from the strife of tongues."

- 1 Blessed be the LORD!
For he showed me his wonderful kindness in a besieged city.
- 2 I said in my alarm,
"I am cut off from before thine eyes."
But thou didst hear the voice of my supplication,
When I cried to thee for aid.
- 3 Love the LORD, all you his godly ones;
The LORD preserves the faithful;
But he requites to excess him who acts haughtily.
- 4 Be strong, and let your heart be firm,
All you who wait for the LORD.

THE BLESSED LOT OF THE PIOUS

[Of David. A maskil]

- 2 How happy is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered!
- 2 How happy is the man to whom the LORD charges no guilt,
And in whose spirit there is no guile!
- 3 When I kept silent my bones wasted
away
Through my groaning all day long.
- 4 For, day and night, thy hand lay heavy upon me;
My sap was turned into the drought of summer. Selah
- 5 My sin I declared to thee, and my guilt I have not concealed;
I said, "I will confess my transgressions to the LORD."
And thou didst forgive the guilt of my
sin. Selah
- 6 Therefore let every godly man pray to
thee,
That in the time of distress, in the rush of great waters,
They may not reach him.
- 7 Thou art my hiding-place; from the foe thou guardest me;
Thou dost surround me with deliverance. Selah
- 8 I will instruct thee and show thee the way which thou must go;
I will counsel thee, with my eye upon
thee.
- 9 Be not like a horse or a mule, without sense,

Whose temper must be restrained with bridle and bit,
That he come not near you.
The wicked has many sorrows, 10
But him who trusts in the LORD he surrounds with kindness.
Rejoice in the LORD and exult, O 11
righteous,
And shout for joy, all you who are right-minded.

THE LORD OF ALL CREATION

- Rejoice in the LORD, O righteous 33
ones;
Praise befits the upright.
Praise the LORD with the harp; 2
Play to him on the ten-stringed lute.
Sing unto him a new song; 3
Play skilfully with glad shouts.
- For the word of the LORD is right, 4
And all his work is faithful.
He loves righteousness and justice; 5
The earth is full of the goodness of the
LORD.
- By the word of the LORD the heavens 6 were made,
And by the breath of his mouth all their host.
He gathers the waters of the sea as in 7
a waterskin;
He puts the deeps in storehouses.
- Let all the earth fear the LORD; 8 Let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him.
For he spoke and it was! 9
He commanded and it stood fast!
- The LORD annuls the counsel of the 10
nations;
He frustrates the plans of the peoples.
But the counsel of the LORD stands 11
forever,
The plans of his heart throughout the ages.
How happy is the nation whose God is 12
the LORD,
The people that he has chosen as his heritage!
- The LORD looks down from the heav- 13
ens,
He sees all the sons of men.
From the place of his dwelling he looks 14
forth
Upon all the inhabitants of the earth;

- 15 He who fashions the hearts of them all,
Who considers all their deeds.
- 16 The king is not saved by the size of his army;
A warrior is not rescued by his great
strength.
- 17 The horse is a delusion for victory,
And he does not deliver by his great
strength.
- 18 So the eye of the LORD is upon those
who fear him,
Those who wait for his goodness,
19 To rescue them from death,
And to keep them alive in famine.
- 20 We wait for the LORD;
He is our help and our shield;
21 For our heart rejoices in him,
For in his holy name we trust.
- 22 May thy goodness, O LORD, be over
us,
According as we hope in thee.

THE GOODNESS OF GOD

[Of David; when he changed his behavior before Abimelech, so that he drove him out and he departed]

- 34 I bless the LORD at all times,
His praise is constantly in my mouth.
- 2 I glory in the LORD;
Let the godly hear and rejoice.
- 3 Magnify the LORD with me,
And let us all exalt his name.
- 4 I sought the LORD and he answered
me,
And delivered me from all my terrors.
- 5 Look at me, and so be jubilant,
And let not your faces be abashed.
- 6 This poor man called and the LORD
heard,
And delivered him from all his troubles.
- 7 The angel of the LORD encamps Around those who fear him, and rescues them.

ט
Taste and see that the LORD is good;
How happy is the man who takes refuge in him!

י
Fear the LORD, you his holy ones;
For those who fear him feel no lack.

יא
Young lions do lack, and suffer hunger; יב
But those who seek the LORD lack no good thing.

יג
Come, children, listen to me, יד
And I will teach you reverence for the LORD.

טו
What man is there who desires life, יז
Who loves length of days that he may see good?

יח
Keep your tongue from evil, יט
And your lips from telling lies.

כ
Depart from evil and do good; כא
Seek peace, and pursue it.

כב
The face of the LORD is against those כג who do evil,
That he may cut off the memory of them from the earth.

כד
The eyes of the LORD are upon the כה
righteous,
And his ears are open to their cry.

כה
They call and the LORD hears, כז
And he rescues them from all their troubles.

כח
The LORD is near to the broken-כט
hearted,
And he delivers those who are crushed in spirit.

ל
Many are the ills of the righteous, לא
But from them all the LORD delivers
him.

לב
He guards all his bones, לד
So that not one of them is broken.

- 1 Evil will slay the wicked;
And those who hate the righteous will be held guilty.
- 2 The LORD will redeem the life of his servants,
And none who take refuge in him will be held guilty.

A PRAYER FOR VENGEANCE

(Of David)

- 1 Oppose, O LORD, my opponents;
Fight those who fight me.
- 1 Lay hold of buckler and shield,
And rise up to my help.
- 1 Draw the spear and battle-ax to meet my pursuers;
Say to me, "I am thy deliverance."
- 1 May they be put to shame and confusion
who seek my life;
May they be turned back and disgraced who plan evil against me.
- 1 May they be like chaff before the wind,
With the angel of the LORD chasing
them.
- 1 May their road be darkness and slipperiness,
With the angel of the LORD pursuing
them.
- 1 For without cause they hid their net
for me;
Without cause they dug a pit for me.
- 1 May destruction come upon him unaware;
And may the net which he has hidden catch himself;
In destruction may he fall therein!
- 1 But I shall exult in the LORD,
And rejoice in his deliverance.
- 1 All my bones will say,
"O LORD, who is like thee, Saving the poor from him that is too strong for him,
The poor and the needy from him that would rob him?"
- 1 Malicious witnesses rise up,
Who ask me regarding that of which I know nothing.
- 2 They requite me evil for good,
To my personal bereavement.
- 3 As for myself, when they were sick—
my clothing was sackcloth,
I afflicted myself by fasting,
And my prayer returned to my own lap.

As though it were my friend or brother 14
I went about;
As in sorrow for a mother I bowed down mourning.

But at my fall they rejoice and gather 15
together,
Smiters gather together against me whom I know not;
They rend without ceasing.
When I assert my friendship they jeer 16
scornfully,
Gnashing at me with their teeth.
O Lord, how long wilt thou look on? 17
Draw me back from the roaring ones,
My solitary self from the young lions.
I will thank thee in the great assem- 18
bly;
Among a mighty people will I praise
thee.

Let not those who are wrongfully my 19
foes rejoice over me, Nor those who hate me without cause wink the eye.
For they do not speak peace; 20
But against those who are at ease in
the land
They devise treacherous things.
And they open wide their mouths 21
against me.
They say, "Aha, Aha, our eye sees it!"

Thou hast seen, O LORD; be not si- 22
lent!
O Lord, be not far from me!
Bestir thyself and rise up to do me 23
justice,
My God and my Lord, to plead my
cause!
Do me justice in accordance with thy 24 righteousness, O LORD, my God!
And let them not rejoice over me!

May they not say to themselves, 25
"Aha, our desire!"
May they not say, "We have swallowed him up."
May they be put to shame and dis- 26 graced
Who rejoice over my calamity;
May they be clothed with shame and disgrace
Who magnify themselves against me.
May they shout for joy and be glad 27 who are pleased at my vindication.
And may they continually say, "The LORD is great,

Who desires the welfare of his servant."

- 28 Then my tongue will proclaim thy righteousness,
And thy praise all the day long.

THE GOODNESS OF GOD AND THE SIN OF THE WICKED

[For the director: of the servant of the LORD, of David]

- 36 Rebellion is delightful to the wicked within his heart;
There is no dread of God before his eyes.
- 2 For it deceives him in his own eyes,
Concerning the finding out of his guilt and the hatred of it.
- 3 The words of his mouth are wrong and deceit;
He has ceased to be wise and to do good.
- 4 He plans wrongdoing while in bed;
He takes his stand on a way that is not good;
He does not despise wickedness.
- 5 O LORD, thy kindness extends to the heavens,
Thy faithfulness unto the clouds.
- 6 Thy righteousness is like the highest mountains;
Thy judgments are a great deep;
Thou savest man and beast, O LORD.
- 7 How precious is thy kindness, O God!
The sons of men take refuge under the shadow of thy wings.
- 8 They drink their fill of the fatness of thy house,
And thou givest them drink of the stream of thy pleasures.
- 9 For with thee is the fountain of life;
Through thy light do we see light.
- 10 Continue thy kindness to those that know thee,
And thy justification to the right-minded.
- 11 May the foot of pride not come upon me,
Nor the hand of the wicked drive me out.
- 12 There the workers of wrong are fallen;
They are overthrown and are not able to rise.

GOD'S CARE FOR THE PIOUS

[Of David]

¶

Fret not yourself because of evildoers,
Be not incensed because of wrongdoers;
For they will soon wither like grass,
And fade away like the green herb.

Trust in the LORD and do good;
Inhabit the land and feed in security.
Take your delight in the LORD,
And he will give you the desire of your heart.

Commit your way unto the LORD,
And trust in him; and he will act.
He will bring forth your right like the light,
And your just cause like the noonday.

Wait patiently for the LORD and hope in him;
Fret not yourself because of him who makes his way prosper,
Him who succeeds in his plans.

Cease from anger, and forsake wrath;
Fret not yourself; it does nothing but harm;
For evildoers shall be cut off;
While those who wait upon the LORD shall possess the land.

Yet a little while and the wicked shall be no more;
Though you look hard at his place, he will not be there.
But the meek shall possess the land,
And rejoice in abundant prosperity.

Though the wicked plot against the innocent,
And gnash his teeth at him,
The Lord laughs at him;
For he sees that his day will come.

The wicked draw the sword and bend their bow,

To bring down the poor and needy,
To slay those whose way is right.
5 Their sword shall enter their own hearts,
And their bows shall be broken.

ו

6 Better is the little of the righteous
Than the wealth of many wicked.
7 For the resources of the wicked shall be broken,
But the LORD supports the righteous.

ז

8 The LORD knows the days of the innocent,
And their possession abides forever.
9 They shall not be put to shame in bad times,
And in the time of famine they shall be satisfied.

ח

10 For the wicked shall perish;
And the enemies of the LORD, like a brand in the furnace, Shall vanish in smoke.

ט

If the wicked borrows, he does not pay
back;
But the righteous is generous and gives.
11 Those who bless him shall possess the
land,
But those who curse him shall be cut off.

י

12 The steps of a man are from the
LORD,
And he establishes him with whose way he is pleased.
13 Though he fall, he shall not lie prostrate,
For the LORD holds his hand.

יא

14 I have been young, and now I am old;
But I have not seen the righteous forsaken,
Nor his descendants begging their bread.
15 He is always generous and ever lend-
ing,
And his descendants become a blessing.

יב

16 Shun evil and do good, shall you abide forever.

For the LORD loves the right, 28
And he does not desert his saints.

יג

They are kept forever,
But the descendants of the wicked are cut off.
The upright shall possess the land, 29
And shall dwell therein forever.

יד

The mouth of the upright utters wis- 30
dom,
And his tongue speaks justice.
The law of his God is in his heart; 31
His steps do not slip.

טו

When the wicked spies upon the up- 32
right,
And seeks to kill him,
The LORD will not deliver him into 33
his hand,
Nor will he declare him guilty when he is brought to trial.

טז

Wait for the LORD, and keep his way: 34
And he will exalt you to possess the
land.
You shall gaze upon the destruction of the wicked.

יז

I saw the wicked triumphing, 35
And towering aloft like the cedar of Lebanon;
But I passed by and lo, he was not! 36
And when I sought for him he was not to be found.

יח

Watch integrity and look upon right; 37
For there is a posterity for the man of peace.
But lawbreakers are wholly destroyed; 38
The posterity of the wicked is cut off.

יט

The help of the innocent comes from 39
the LORD;
Their strength is he in time of need.
The LORD helps them and rescues 40
them;
He rescues them from the wicked and makes them victorious,
Because they trust in him.

A PRAYER OF ONE IN GREAT TROUBLE

[A Psalm of David. To make a memorial]

- 38 Do not reprove me in thy wrath, O LORD,
Nor correct me in thy fury.
2 For thine arrows have sunk deep into me,
And thy hand has come down upon me.
- 3 There is no soundness in my flesh because of thine anger;
There is no health in my bones because of my sin.
- 4 For my guilt has passed over my head;
Like a heavy load it is too heavy for me.
- 5 My wounds are fetid, they fester,
Because of my folly.
- 6 I am bent, I am bowed down exceedingly;
I go about mourning all day long.
- 7 For my loins are full of inflammation,
And there is no soundness in my flesh.
- 8 I am benumbed and badly crushed;
I groan because of the moaning of my heart.
- 9 O LORD, all my desire is before thee,
And my sighing is not hidden from thee.
- 10 My heart palpitates; my strength has left me;
Even the light of my eyes is not with me.
- 11 Those who love me and my friends stand back from my plague,
And my kinsmen stand afar off.
- 12 They that seek my life lay snares for me,
And those who desire my harm speak of ruin,
And they meditate deceit all day long.
- 13 But I, like a deaf man, hear not;
And I am like a dumb man who does not open his mouth.
- 14 I am like a man that does not hear,
And one in whose mouth there are no arguments.
- 15 But for thee, O LORD, do I wait;
Thou wilt answer, O Lord, my God!
- 16 For I think, "Else will they rejoice over me;

When my foot slips, they will magnify themselves against me."

For I am ready for a fall,
And my grief is ever before me.
I am in horror of my guilt;
I am sorry for my sin.

My foes without reason are numerous;
Many are those that hate me falsely,
And render me evil for good;
They oppose me because I follow after good.

Do not forsake me, O LORD;
My God, be not far from me!
Hasten to my help;
O Lord, to my rescue!

A PLEA FOR MERCY TOWARD A MAN OF FLEETING EXISTENCE

[For the director: for Jeduthun. A Psalm of David]

I said, "I will watch my ways
That I may not sin with my tongue;
I will put a muzzle on my mouth,
As long as the wicked is before me."
I was dumb in silence;
I refrained from good,
And my pain was aroused.
My heart burned within me;
While I meditated, a fire kindled;
I spoke with my tongue:

"O LORD, teach me my end,
And what is the extent of my days;
Let me know how I shall end.
Lo, thou hast fixed my days but as handbreadths,
And my lifetime is as nothing before
thee;
As a mere breath every man stands.
Selah
As but a shadow a man walks;
As but a breath he bestirs himself;
He heaps up and knows not who will gather it in.

"And now for what do I wait, O LORD?
My hope is in thee!
From all my transgressions deliver me!
Make me not the scorn of the reprobate.
I am dumb; I do not open my mouth;
For it is thou who hast done it.
Remove thy plague from me;
By the blows of thy hand I perish.

- 11 With rebukes for guilt thou dost chastise a man,
And thou dost wipe out his desire like a cobweb.
Verily, all men are but a breath. Selah
- 2 "Hear my prayer, O LORD,
And give heed to my cry!
Be not unresponsive to my tears;
For I am a guest with thee,
A sojourner, like all my ancestors.
- 3 Turn thy gaze away from me, that I may be glad,
Before I go away and be no more."

A PRAYER FOR SPEEDY RELIEF FROM TROUBLE

[For the director: A Psalm of David]

- 1) I waited patiently for the LORD, and he paid heed to me and heard my plea.
- 2 So he drew me up from the pit of ruin,
from the miry swamp;
And he set my feet upon a rock, establishing my steps.
- 3 And he put a new song in my mouth,
praise to our God.
Many will see and be afraid,
and will trust in the LORD.
- 4 How happy is the man who has made the LORD his trust,
And has not turned to idolaters, and lying apostates.
- 5 Thou hast done great things,
O LORD my God;
Wonderful are thy thoughts toward us;
there is none to compare with thee.
Were I to declare and tell them,
they would be too many to enumerate.
- 6 Sacrifice and offering thou dost not desire—Thou hast opened my ears—
Burnt-offering and sin-offering thou dost not demand.
- 7 Then said I, "Lo, I come—
In the roll of a book which was written for me—
- 8 I delight to do thy will, O my God
And thy law is in my very heart.
- 9 "I have proclaimed thy vindication in the great assembly.

Lo, I do not close my lips;
O LORD, thou knowest.
Thy vindication I have not concealed within my heart;
Thy faithfulness and thy victory I have told.
I have not withheld thy kindness and thy fidelity from the great assembly.
Do thou, O LORD, not withhold thy mercy from me.
May thy kindness and thy fidelity always protect me.

"For sins beyond number beset me,
My offenses have overtaken me,
so that I cannot see.
They are more numerous than the hairs of my head;
and my heart has failed me.

"Be pleased, O LORD, to rescue me;
O LORD, hasten to my help.
May they be both put to shame and abashed who seek to take away my life!
May they be driven back and routed
who desire my ruin!
May they be appalled by reason of their shame,
who say to me, 'Aha, Aha!'

"May they rejoice and be glad in thee,
all who seek thee!
May they continually say, 'Great is the LORD,'
who love thy deliverance.
Since I am poor and needy,
O Lord, hasten to me!
Thou art my help and my deliverer;
O my God, do not tarry!"

A PRAYER FOR VENGEANCE

[For the director: A Psalm of David]

How happy is he who is considerate of the weak;
On the day of trouble the LORD delivers him.
The LORD protects him and keeps him alive;
He is called happy in the land.
Thou wilt not give him over to the rage of his foes;
The LORD sustains him upon his sickbed.

All his bed thou hast changed in his illness.

- 4 I say, "Have mercy on me, O LORD! Heal me; for I have sinned against thee!"
- 5 My foes say evil of me, "How long till he die, and his name perish?"
- 6 If he comes to see me, he speaks lies; His heart lays up malice; He goes outside and talks.
- 7 All who hate me whisper together against me; They devise evil against me.
- 8 An evil thing is devised against him, That when he lies down, he may not rise again.

Even my friend in whom I trusted, 9
He who ate my bread, has acted deceitfully against me.

But thou, O LORD, be gracious to me 10
and raise me up,
That I may repay them!
By this I shall know that thou art 11
pleased with me,
In that my foe does not triumph over me.
But as for me, because of my integrity 12
thou dost maintain me,
And thou dost set me before thee evermore.

Blessed be the LORD, the God of Is- 13
rael,
From everlasting to everlasting.
Amen and amen.

BOOK II, PSS. 42-72

A SONG OF ASSURANCE

[For the director: a maskil of the sons of Korah]

- 42 As a deer longs for the water-courses,
So my whole being longs for thee, O God.
- 2 My whole being thirsts for God, for the living God:
How long till I come and see the face of God?
- 3 My tears have been my food day and night,
While men say to me all day long, "Where is your God?"
- 4 These things I ponder upon and pour out my very self:
How I used to pass along in the company of nobles to the house of God,
With the sound of jubilation and praise—a festal crowd.
- 5 Why are you downcast, O my spirit?
And why do you moan within me?
Wait for God; for I shall again praise him,
My help and my God.
- 6 My spirit is downcast within me;
Therefore do I think of thee from the land of the Jordan,
And the Hermons, from the hill Mizar.
- 7 Deep calls to deep to the sound of thy waterfalls;

All thy waves and thy billows pass over me.
By day the LORD orders his kindness, 8
And by night his song is with me,
A prayer to the God of my life.

I say to God, my rock, "Why hast 9
thou forgotten me?
Why do I go mourning because of oppression by the foe?"
With piercing pain my enemies re- 10
proach me,
While they say unto me all day long, "Where is your God?"
Why are you downcast, O my spirit? 11
And why do you moan within me?
Wait for God; for I shall again praise him,
My help and my God.

Do me justice, O God, and plead my 43 case!
From a godless people, from deceitful and wicked men do thou release me.
For thou, O God of my fortress, why 2 hast thou cast me off?
Why do I walk in mourning because of the oppression of the foe?
Send forth thy light and thy faithful- 3
ness; may they guide me,
May they bring me to thy holy hill,
and to thy dwelling-place.

- 4 May I go to the altar of God, to God
my highest joy;
And may I praise thee with the lute,
O God my God.
- 5 Why are you downcast, O my spirit?
And why do you moan within me?
Wait for God; for I shall again praise
him,
My help and my God.

AN APPEAL TO THE JUSTICE OF GOD

[For the director: of the sons of Korah;
a maskil]

- 4 O God, we have heard with our ears,
Our fathers have told us,
The work that thou didst in their days, in days of old.
- 2 Thou didst dispossess the nations by thy hand, but them thou didst plant;
Thou didst break up the peoples, but them thou didst spread abroad.
- 3 For not by their sword did they seize
the land,
Nor did their own arm give them victory,
But thy right hand and thine arm,
And the light of thy countenance; for thou wast gracious to them.
- 4 It is thou, my king, O God,
Who orderest victory for Jacob.
- 5 Through thee we push down our foes;
Through thy name we trample upon our adversaries.
- 6 For not in my bow do I trust,
Nor does my sword bring me victory;
7 But thou hast saved us from our foes,
And hast put to shame those that hate
us.
- 8 In God we have made our boast continually,
And thy name we will praise forever.
Selah
- 9 Yet thou hast spurned and brought us
to shame,
And thou dost not go forth with our armies.
- 10 Thou dost turn us back from the foe,
And those who hate us have taken spoil for themselves.
- 11 Thou dost make us food like sheep,
And among the nations thou hast dispersed us.
- 12 Thou sellest thy people for nothing,

And dost not make much by their price.
Thou makest us a taunt to our neigh- 13
bors,
A scorn and a derision to those around
us.
Thou makest us a byword among the 14
nations,
A laughingstock among the peoples.
All day long my disgrace is before me, 15
And shamefacedness covers me, Because of the voice of the scoffer and 16
the scorner,
Because of the enemy and the vengeful one.

All this has come upon us, though we 17
have not forgotten thee, Nor have we been false to thy covennant.
Our heart has not turned back, 18
Nor our step swerved from thy path.
Yet thou hast crushed us in the region 19
of the jackals,
And covered us with thick darkness.
If we have forgotten the name of our 20
God,
Or have spread forth our hands to a foreign god,
Does not God search this out? 21
For he knows the secrets of the heart.
But because of thee we are slain the 22
whole day long,
We are counted as sheep for the slaughter.

Awake! Why sleepest thou, O Lord? 23 Arouse thyself; do not spurn us forever!
Why dost thou hide thy face, 24
Forgetting our affliction and oppression?
For we are sunk down to the dust; 25
Our body cleaves to the earth.
Arise to our help; 26
And release us because of thy kindness.

A ROYAL MARRIAGE SONG

[For the director: upon lilies; of the sons of Korah; a maskil; a love-song]

My heart is stirred by a good theme; 45
I say, "My work concerns a king;
My tongue is the pen of a rapid writer."

You are the most fair of the sons of 2
men;

- Grace is poured out through your lips;
Therefore God has blessed you ever-
more.
- 3 Gird your sword upon your thigh, O
warrior;
Success to your praise and your majesty!
- 4 Ride on for the cause of truth and to hear the right;
And may your right hand show you wonders!
- 5 May your sharp arrows be in the midst of the king's foes!
May peoples fall under you!
- 6 Thy throne, O God, is forever and
ever!
A righteous scepter is the scepter of your kingdom.
- 7 You love righteousness and hate wickedness;
Therefore has God, your God, anoint-ed you
With the oil of gladness above your companions.
- 8 Myrrh and aloes and cassia are on all your garments;
From ivory palaces stringed instruments delight you.
- 9 Kings' daughters are among your treasures;
A princess stands at your right hand with gold from Ophir.
- 10 Hear, O daughter, and see; and incline your ear;
And forget your people and your father's house.
- 11 Since the king deserves your beauty,
Because he is your lord, bow yourself
before him!
- 12 The daughter of Tyre with an offering is before you;
The richest of the peoples court you.
- 13 All glorious is the king's daughter within;
Her clothing is embroidered with gold.
- 14 In brilliant colors she is brought to the king;
The virgins in her train, her companions, are brought to you.
- 15 With gladness and joy are they brought in;
They enter the palace of the king.
- 16 Instead of your fathers shall be your sons;
You shall make them princes throughout the land.

I will extol your name through all generations;
Therefore peoples shall praise you forever and ever.

THE MIGHTY GOD

[For the director: of the sons of Korah.
Upon alamoth. A song]

God is our refuge and strength,
A well-proved help in trouble.
Therefore we will not fear though the earth totter,
And the mountains topple into the heart of the sea;
Though its waters roar and foam, Though the mountains quake at its uproar. Selah

There is a river whose stream<sup>s</sup> make glad the city of God,
The holiest habitation of the Most High;

God is in the midst of her; she will not totter;
God will help her at break of dawn.
The nations roar; the kingdoms totter;
He utters his voice—the earth melts.
The LORD of Hosts is with us;
The God of Jacob is our high tower. Selah

Come, see the deeds of the LORD,
How he has wrought ruin in the earth!
He makes wars to cease to the end of the earth;
He breaks the bow and cuts off the lance;
He burns the chariots.
Be still, and know that I am God;
I am exalted among the nations, I am exalted in the earth.
The LORD of Hosts is with us;
The God of Jacob is our high tower. Selah

THE VICTORIOUS GOD

[For the director: of the sons of Korah;
a Psalm]

O all peoples, clap your hands!
Shout to God with a glad voice!
For the LORD, most high, is terrible,
A great king over all the earth.
He subjected peoples under us,
And put nations under our feet.
He chose our possession for us,
The pride of Jacob whom he loved. Selah

5 God went up with a shout,
The LORD with the sound of the trumpet.

1 Sing praises to God, sing praises!
Sing praises to our king, sing praises!
For God is king over the whole earth.
Sing praises with a maskil.

1 God rules over the nations;
God sits upon his holy throne.
1 The nobles of the peoples are assembled

With the people of the God of Abraham.

For the shields of the earth belong to God;

He is highly exalted.

THE FAITHFUL GOD

[A song: A Psalm of the sons of Korah]

Great is the LORD and greatly to be praised,

In the city of our God, his holy hill.

Beautiful in elevation, the joy of the whole earth

Is the hill of Zion in the far north,

The city of the great king.

God, in her palaces,

Has shown himself a tower of strength.

For lo, the kings conspired together,
And they became enraged.

They saw; thereupon they were amazed;

They were overwhelmed, they fled in terror.

Panic seized them there,

Anguish as of one in travail.

By an east wind

Thou didst shatter the ships of Tarshish.

1 As we have heard, so have we seen,

In the city of the LORD of Hosts,

In the city of our God—

God establishes her forever. Selah

1 We have pondered upon thy goodness,
O God,

In the midst of thy temple.

1 As thy name, O God, so also thy praise
Reaches the ends of the earth.

Thy right hand is full of righteousness.

1 Let Mount Zion rejoice,
Let the daughters of Judah exult,
Because of thy judgments.

2 Encircle Zion and walk around her;
Count her towers;

Set your mind upon her wall; 13
Go through her palaces;
That you may tell the next generation
That such is God, 14
Our God forever and ever.
He will guide us until death.

THE END OF ALL FLESH

[For the director: of the sons of Korah;
a Psalm.]

Hear this, all you peoples; 49
Give heed, all you dwellers in the world,

Sons of men, and all mankind, 2
Both rich and poor.

My mouth speaks wisdom, 3

And my heart's meditation is insight.

I incline my ear to a proverb; 4

I solve my riddle on the lyre.

Why should I fear in days of trouble, 5
When the guilt of my foes surrounds me,

Those who trust in their wealth, 6
And boast of the abundance of their riches.

But no man can at all ransom himself, 7

Or give a price for himself to God;

Since the ransom of his person forever 8 and ever is too costly,

That he should continue to live for- 9
ever,

Without seeing the Pit.

But see if he shall! Even wise men die; 10

The fool and the brutish alike perish,

And leave their wealth to others.

Their graves are their everlasting 11
home,

Their dwelling throughout the ages,

Though lands are named after them.

But man is an ox without under- 12
standing;

He is like the beasts that perish.

This is the fate of those who are self- 13 sufficient,

And the end of those who are satisfied with their own words. Selah

Like sheep they are appointed to She- 14 ol;

Death shall shepherd them;

The upright shall rule over them in the 15 morning.

Soon their form must decay;

Sheol is their dwelling.

But God will ransom me

From the power of Sheol, when it 15 seizes me. Selah

- 16 Fear not when a man gets rich,
When the splendor of his house increases;
- 17 For he will take nothing with him
when he dies;
His splendor will not go down after
him.
- 18 Though he counts himself happy in being alive,
And congratulates himself that things go well with him,
- 19 He must join the generation of his fathers;
Never more will he see the light.
- 20 Man is an ox without understanding,
He is like the beasts that perish.

THE ESSENCE OF WORSHIP

[A Psalm of Asaph]

- 50 The God of gods, the LORD, spoke,
And called the earth from the rising of the sun unto its setting.
- 2 From Zion, the perfection of beauty,
God shone forth.
- 3 May our God come and not be silent!
Fire devours before him;
And round about him the storm rages terribly.
- 4 He called to the heavens above,
And to the earth, to judge his people.
- 5 "Gather to me my saints,
Who have made a covenant with me
by sacrifice."
- 6 Then the heavens declared his righteousness,
That God was giving judgment. Selah
- 7 "Hear, O my people, and let me speak, Hear, O Israel, and let me witness against you.
I am God, your God.
- 8 Not because of your sacrifices do I rebuke you,
For your burnt-offerings are constantly before me.
- 9 I will take no yearling from your house,
Nor ram from your folds.
- 10 For all the beasts of the forests are mine,
The cattle upon a thousand hills.
- 11 I know every bird of the mountains,
And whatsoever moves in the field is mine.
- 12 If I were hungry I would not tell you;
For mine is the world and everything therein.

Will I eat the flesh of oxen,
And drink the blood of goats?
Sacrifice to God a thank-offering,
And fulfil your vows to the Most High;
And call upon me on the day of trouble;
Then I will deliver you and you will honor me!"

But to the wicked God says:
"What right have you to recount my statutes,
And to take my covenant upon your lips?
For you hate instruction,
And you cast my words behind you!
If you see a thief, you are friendly with
him;
And you make common cause with adulterers.
You charge your mouth with evil,
And your tongue frames up deceit.
You sit down and speak against your brother, Against the son of your mother you utter slander.
These things you have done—and am I
to be silent?
You thought that I was just like yourself!
I will correct you and set it forth in your sight.
Consider this then, O you who forget
God;
Lest I rend and there be no one to rescue.
He who offers thanksgiving honors
me;
And to him who heeds the way, I will show God's deliverance."

THE PLEA OF A PENITENT

[For the director: a Psalm of David, when Nathan, the prophet, came to him, after he had visited Bathsheba]

Have pity on me, O God, in accordance with thy kindness;
In thine abundant mercy wipe out my transgressions.
Wash me thoroughly from my guilt,
And cleanse me from my sin.

For I know my transgressions,
And my sin is ever before me.
Against thee, thee only, have I sinned,
And done that which is evil in thy sight.

Inasmuch as thou art in the right
when thou speakest,
And pure when thou givest judgment;
So in guilt was I begotten,
And in sin did my mother conceive me.

Verily thou dost delight in faithfulness,
The confidence of wisdom thou dost make me know.
Purge me with hyssop, that I may be clean;
Wash me, that I may be whiter than snow.

Let me hear joy and gladness;
Let the bones which thou hast crushed rejoice.
Hide thy face from my sins,
And wipe out all my guilt.

Create for me a clean heart, O God,
And renew a steadfast spirit within
me.

Cast me not away from thy presence,
And take not thy holy spirit from me.

Restore to me the joy of thy deliverance,
And sustain me with a willing spirit.
Let me teach transgressors thy ways,
That sinners may return unto thee.

Rescue me from blood-guiltiness, O
God,
The God of my deliverance;
That my tongue may sing aloud thy righteousness.
O Lord, open thou my lips,
That my mouth may declare thy praise.

For thou desirest not sacrifice,
And should I give burnt-offering thou wouldst not be pleased.
The sacrifice of God is a broken spirit;
A broken and a contrite heart,
O God, thou wilt not despise.

Do good in thy good will unto Zion;
Build thou the walls of Jerusalem.
Then shalt thou be pleased with right offerings,
Burnt-offering and whole burnt-offering;
Then shall bullocks come up upon thine altar.

THE FATE OF THE WICKED

[For the director: a maskil of David, when Doeg, the Edomite, came and told Saul and said to him: "David has entered the house of Abimelech"]

Why do you boast of evil, O mighty 52
man?

The kindness of God is all day long.

Your tongue contrives guile, 2
Like a sharp razor it works deceit.
You love the bad better than the good, 3
You would rather lie than tell the truth. Selah

You love destructive words, the de- 4
ceitful tongue;
But God will crush you forever; 5
He will seize you and pluck you out of your tent,
And uproot you from the land of the living. Selah

The righteous will behold and be re- 6
verent;

But at him they will laugh, saying, 7
"See the man who would not make God his stronghold,

But trusted in the abundance of his riches, and was strong in his guile."

But I am like a green olive tree in 8
God's house;

I trust in the kindness of God forever
and ever.

I will praise thee forever because thou 9
hast done it;

And in the presence of thy saints I will proclaim that thy name is good.

THE VINDICATION OF GOD

[For the director: upon mahalath; a maskil of David]

The fool said in his heart: "There is no 53
God."

They acted basely; they did abominable things;
There was none that did good.

God looked forth from the heavens 2
upon the sons of men,

To see if there were any that acted wisely,
That sought after God.

They had all gone astray and all of 3
them had done wrong;
There was none that did good,

- No, not even one!
 4 "Do they know nothing, all the evil-doers,
 Who eat up my people as they eat bread,
 But do not call upon God?"
- 5 There were they in great terror,
 Where no terror had been.
 For God scattered the bones of him who besieged you;
 You brought them to shame, for God rejected them.
- 6 O that the deliverance of Israel would come from Zion!
 When God restores the fortune of his people,
 Jacob shall exult; Israel shall rejoice.

THE TRIUMPH OF THE PIOUS

[For the director: with stringed instruments. A maskil of David, when the Ziphites came and said to Saul, "Surely, David is in hiding with us"]

- 54 O God, deliver me by thy name,
 And by thy power do me justice.
- 2 O God, hear my prayer;
 Give heed to the words of my mouth!
- 3 For aliens have risen against me,
 And men of violence seek my life.
 They do not keep God before them. Selah
- 4 Behold, God is my helper;
 The Lord is my supporter.
- 5 He will requite the evil to my foes;
 In thy faithfulness, destroy them!
- 6 Liberally I will sacrifice to thee.
 I will praise thy name, O LORD, that it is good.
- 7 For he has delivered me from every trouble;
 My eye has gloated over my foes.

A PROTEST TO GOD AGAINST THE WICKED

[For the director: with stringed instruments. A maskil of David]

- 55 Hear my prayer, O God;
 And do not hide thyself from my entreaty.
- 2 Give heed to me, and answer me!
 I am burdened with my complaint,
 and I am distracted,
- 3 Because of the voice of the foe,
 Because of the oppression of the wicked.

For they bring trouble upon me,
 And they attack me with fury.
 My heart is in anguish within me,
 And the terrors of death have fallen upon me.
 Fear and trembling come upon me,
 And shudders overwhelm me.
 And I say, "Oh, that I had wings like a dove,
 That I might fly away and dwell in peace!"
 Lo, I would flee far away;
 I would lodge in the wilderness.

Selah

I would haste to my shelter
 Faster than the stormy wind and the tempest.

Confuse, O Lord, and divide their tongues!

For I have seen violence and strife in the town;

Day and night they encircle her upon her walls,

And trouble and toil are within her;
 Ruin is within her;

Oppression and fraud do not depart from her market-place.

For it is not an enemy who reviles me — then I could bear it;

Nor does he who hates me magnify himself against me—

Then I could hide myself from him;
 But you, my equal, my intimate friend.

We held sweet converse together;
 We entered the house of God in the procession.

Destruction will come upon them!
 They shall go down alive to Sheol!

For wickedness is in their habitation, within them.

But I shall call upon God,
 And the LORD will deliver me.

Evening, morning, and at noon
 I will sigh and moan; and he will hear my voice.

He will deliver me safely from my foes,
 Though many there be against me.

God will hear me and answer them,
 He who has been enthroned from of old, Selah

With whom there is no change;
 Yet they fear not God.

He put forth his hand with his allies,
 But violated his treaty!

His mouth was smother than butter,
 While war was in his heart;

Softer than oil were his words,
But they were drawn swords.

- 2 Cast your burden upon the LORD,
And he will sustain you.
He will never let the righteous totter.
1 But thou, O God, wilt bring them down into the pit of destruction;
Men of blood and fraud will not live out half their days.
So I will trust in thee.

THE ALL-SUFFICIENT GOD

[For the director: according to the dove of distant terebinths: a miktam of David, when the Philistines seized him in Gath]

- Pity me, O God, for man tramples
upon me;
All day long the adversary oppresses
me;
My foes are trampling upon me all day long.
For many there be fighting against me.
Far away is the day when I fear,
For I trust in thee.
In God—I praise his word—
In God I trust without fear.
What can flesh do unto me?
All day long they trouble my affairs;
All their purposes are against me for evil.
They make attacks, they lie in wait,
they watch my steps,
Inasmuch as they wait for my life.
For their crimes recompense them;
In wrath cast down the peoples, O
God!
1 My misery thou hast reckoned;
Put thou my tears in thy bottle!
Are they not in thy book?
2 Then my enemies will be turned backward,
On the day when I call.
This I know, that God is for me.
3 In God—I praise his word—
In the LORD—I praise his word—
1 In God I trust without fear.
What can man do unto me?
2 Upon me, O God, are thy vows;
I will fulfil them with praises to thee.
3 For thou hast rescued me from death;
Hast thou not saved my feet from stumbling,
So that I walk before God in the light
of life?

TRUST IN THE MIDST OF TROUBLES

[For the director: "Do not destroy." A miktam of David, when he fled from Saul into the cave]

- Have pity on me, O God; have pity on 57
me;
For in thee I am taking refuge;
And in the shadow of thy wings I take refuge,
Until ruin pass over.
I shall cry unto God, Most High, 2
To the God who rewards me.
He will send forth from the heavens 3
and deliver me;
He will bring to shame him who tram-ples upon me; Selah
God will send forth his kindness and his faithfulness.
In the midst of lions that devour I 4
must dwell,
Men whose teeth are a spear and arrows,
And their tongue a sharp sword.
Exalt thyself above the heavens, O 5
God;
Let thy glory be over all the earth.
They have spread a net for my foot- 6
steps;
I am bowed down:
They dug a pit before me;
They fell into the midst of it. Selah
My heart is steadfast, O God, 7
My heart is steadfast.
I will play and sing.
Awake, my glory! 8
Awake, lute and lyre!
I will awaken the dawn!
I will praise thee among the peoples, 9
O Lord;
I will sing praises to thee among the
nations.
For thy kindness is great unto the 10
heavens,
And thy faithfulness unto the clouds.
Arise above the heavens, O God! 11
Let thy glory be over all the earth!
THE WICKED AND THEIR DESTRUCTION
[For the director: "Do not destroy." A miktam of David]
Do you really speak what is right, O 58
gods?
Do you judge mankind impartially?

- 2 Nay, but in the heart you work wickedness,
And on earth your hands weave violence.
- 3 The wicked go astray from the womb;
They wander from birth, speakers of lies.
- 4 Their venom is like a serpent's venom,
Like a deaf adder that stops its ear,
- 5 So that it hears not the voice of the charmer,
The most skilful weaver of spells.
- 6 O God, break their teeth in their mouth!
Knock out the fangs of the lions, O LORD!
- 7 May they disappear like water which runs off,
Like tender grass which wilts away,
- 8 Like the snail which passes away in slime;
Like the untimely birth of a woman,
not seen by the sun.
- 9 Before your pots feel the thorns,
Whether green or burning, may he blow it away.
- 10 The righteous shall rejoice that he has seen vengeance;
He shall wash his footsteps in the blood of the wicked.
- 11 And men shall say, "There certainly is a reward for the righteous;
There certainly is a God who judges on earth."

A PRAYER FOR RESCUE FROM THE WICKED

[For the director: "Do not destroy." A miktam of David, when Saul sent forth and they watched the house to put him to death]

- 59 Rescue me from my enemies, O my God!
Protect me from those who rise up against me.
- 2 Rescue me from malefactors,
And from bloodthirsty men deliver me.
- 3 For lo, they lie in wait for me,
Mighty men are making attack upon me,
For no transgression or sin of mine, O LORD;
- 4 For no guilt of mine, they run and get themselves ready.
- Arise to meet me, and see!
- 5 Do thou, O LORD, God of Hosts, God of Israel,

Awake, to punish all the nations!
Have no pity upon any of the wicked deceivers. Selah

They keep howling like dogs in the evening;
And they encircle the city.
Behold, they bark with their mouths;
Swords are in their lips;
But who hears them?

For thou, O LORD, dost laugh at them,
Thou dost hold all the nations in scorn.
My Strength, for thee do I watch;
For God is my fortress.

My gracious God will go before me;
God will let me gloat over my foes.
Slay them not, lest my people forget;
Shake them by thy power, and bring them down,
O Lord, our shield.

By the sin of their mouth, the word of their lips,
May they be caught in their pride.
And for the curses and lies which they utter,

Destroy them in wrath, destroy them that they be no more,
That they may know that God is ruling in Jacob,
Unto the ends of the earth. Selah

They keep howling like dogs in the evening,
And they encircle the city.
They wander about to devour;
If they are not satisfied, they grumble.

But I will sing of thy strength;
I will extol thy kindness in the morning.

For thou hast been a fortress for me,
And a refuge on the day of my trouble.
My Strength, I will sing praises unto thee;
For God is my fortress, my gracious God.

A PRAYER FOR DELIVERANCE

[For the director: upon shushan eduth; a miktam of David, to teach; when he strove with Aram of the two rivers and Aram-Zobah, and Joab returned and smote of Edom in the Valley of Salt twelve thousand]

O God, thou hast spurned us, thou hast broken us;
Thou hast been angry, and hast turned against us.

2 Thou hast made the earth quake, thou hast rent it;
Heal its wounds; for it staggers.
3 Thou hast made thy people see hardship;
Thou hast made us drink intoxicating wine.

4 Thou hast given a standard to those who fear thee,
To which they may flee from before the bow, Selah
5 That thy loved ones may be rescued;
Give victory by thy right hand and answer us.

6 God has spoken in his sanctuary:
"I will exult; I will divide Shechem,
And measure off the valley of Succoth.
7 Gilead is mine, and Manasseh is mine,
And Ephraim is the defense of my head;
Judah is my scepter.
8 Moab is my washbowl;
Upon Edom I cast my sandal;
Over Philistia I raise the shout of victory.
Who will bring me to the fortified city?
Who will lead me to Edom?"

Hast not thou, O God, rejected us?
And thou goest not forth, O God, with our armies!
Give us aid against the foe,
For futile is the help of man.
Through God we shall do valiantly,
For he will tread down our foes.

A PRAYER OF ASSURANCE

[For the director: with stringed instruments. Of David]

Hear my cry, O God!
Give ear to my prayer!
From the end of the earth I cry unto thee,
When my heart faints.
Upon a rock that is too high for me thou wilt set me.
For thou hast been my refuge,
A tower of strength against the foe.
Let me dwell in thy tent forever;
Let me find refuge in the covert of thy wings. Selah
For thou, O God, hast heard my vows;
Thou hast granted the wish of those who fear thy name.

Thou wilt add days unto the king's 6
days;
His years will be as generation on generation.
He will dwell forever before God; 7
Charge Kindness and Fidelity that they protect him.
So shall I sing praises to thy name forever, 8
Fulfilling my vows day by day.

AN UNSHAKEN FAITH

[For the director: upon Jeduthan; a Psalm of David]

To God alone is my spirit resigned; 62
From him is my deliverance.
He only is my rock and my deliverance, 2
My fortress; I shall not be roughly shaken.
For how long will you set upon a man 3
That you may murder him, all of you,
Like a leaning fence, like a fallen wall?
From his height they plan but to hurl 4
him down;
They delight in lies; with their mouths they bless,
But in their hearts they curse. Selah

To God alone be resigned, O my spirit; 5
For from him is my hope.
He alone is my rock and my deliverance, 6
My fortress; I shall not be shaken.
Upon God rests my salvation and my 7
glory;
My mighty rock, my refuge is in God.
Trust in him at all times, O people; 8
Pour out your heart before him.
God is our refuge. Selah

A mere illusion are the sons of Adam, 9
The sons of men are untrustworthy;
If put in scales they are lighter than a mere breath.
Trust not in oppression, and put no 10
vain hope in robbery;
If wealth increase, set not your heart upon it.
One thing has God said; 11
Two things are those that I have heard:
That power belongs to God;
And kindness, O Lord, is thine; 12
For thou dost requite a man according to his work.

FAITH AND FELLOWSHIP

[A Psalm of David, when he was in the wilderness of Judah]

- 63 O God, thou art my God; I seek for thee;
My spirit thirsts for thee; my flesh yearns for thee,
As in a dry and parched land where no water is;
- 2 So have I beheld thee in the sanctuary,
While seeing thy power and thy glory.
- 3 Because thy kindness is better than life,
My lips do praise thee.
- 4 So shall I bless thee as long as I live;
In thy name I shall raise my hands.
- 5 As with marrow and fatness my desire is satisfied,
And my mouth praises thee with jubilant lips,
- 6 When I remember thee upon my couch,
And meditate on thee in the night-watches.
- 7 For thou hast been my help,
And in the shadow of thy wings I shout for joy.
- 8 I have clung close to thee;
Thy right hand has sustained me.
- 9 And they who seek my life to destroy it, Shall go into the lowest depths of the earth;
- 10 They shall be given over to the power of the sword;
They shall become the portion of jackals.
- 11 But the king shall rejoice in God;
Everyone who swears by him shall sing praises;
For the mouth of liars shall be closed.

THE WAYS OF THE WICKED AND THE WAY OF GOD

[For the director: a Psalm of David]

- 64 Hear my voice, O God, when I complain;
From terror of the foe, protect my life.
- 2 Hide me from the council of evildoers,
From the commotion of wrongdoers;
- 3 Who whet their tongue like a sword;
They fit their arrow, a bitter word,
- 4 To shoot, in concealment, at the innocent;
Suddenly, they shoot him and are not afraid.

They strengthen for themselves a wicked scheme;
They talk of laying snares secretly;
They say, "Who will see them?"
They search out wicked plans;
They conceal a well-laid plot;
For the inner man and the heart are deep.

Then God shoots them with his arrow;
Suddenly their wounds are there;
So they make their tongue a stumbling-block for themselves;
All who look at them wag the head;
And all men fear,
And tell of the deed of God,
And understand his work.
The righteous rejoices in the LORD and takes refuge in him;
And all the upright in heart sing praises.

THE GOD OF THE UNIVERSE

[For the director: a Psalm of David; a Song]

Praise befits thee, O God, in Zion;
And unto thee is the vow fulfilled.
O thou that hearest prayer,
Unto thee do all flesh come.
If deeds of guilt are too strong for me,
Thou dost wipe out our transgressions.

How happy is he whom thou dost choose and bring near to dwell in thy courts!
We are satisfied with the goodness of thy house,
thy holy temple.
Through terrible deeds thou dost answer us in vindication,
O God of our deliverance,
Thou confidence of all the ends of the earth,
and the faraway islands.
He who prepared the mountain by his strength is girded with power.

O thou who dost assuage the roar of the seas,
The roar of their waves and the uproar of peoples,
Those who dwell in the far regions are afraid of thy tokens;
Thou makest the dawn and the sunset to shout with joy.
Thou visitest the land and makest it overflow;
Thou greatly enrichest it.

Through the brook of God, which is full of water,
 Thou preparest their grain; for thus dost thou prepare it:
 10 Thou dost saturate its furrows; thou dost settle its ridges;
 With showers thou dost soften it;
 Its young growth thou dost bless.
 11 Thou crownest the year with thy goodness,
 And thy paths drip fatness.
 12 The meadows of the plain drip,
 And the hills gird themselves with joy.
 13 The pastures are clothed with flocks;
 And the valleys are covered with grain;
 They shout for joy; yea, they sing!

A HYMN OF GRATITUDE

[For the director: a Song, a Psalm]

8 Make a joyous shout to God, all the earth;
 12 Praise the glory of his name;
 Make his praise glorious!
 13 Say to God: "How awful is thy work!
 Because of thy great power thy foes fawn upon thee!
 14 All the earth worships thee,
 And sings praises to thee, singing the praises of thy name." Selah
 15 Come and see the works of God,
 Awful in deeds against mankind.
 16 He changed the sea into dry land;
 They passed through the river on foot.
 There we rejoiced in him.
 17 He rules by his power forever;
 His eyes watch over the nations.
 Let not the adversaries exalt themselves. Selah
 8 Bless our God, O peoples;
 And sound abroad the praise of him
 9 Who has kept us among the living,
 And has not suffered our feet to stumble.
 10 For thou hast tested us, O God;
 Thou hast refined us as silver is refined.
 11 Thou didst bring us into the net;
 Thou didst lay a heavy load upon our loins.
 12 Thou didst let men ride over our heads;
 We went through fire and water;
 But thou hast brought us forth to a spacious place.
 13 I will enter thy house with offerings,
 I will fulfil to thee the vows,
 14 Which my lips have expressed,

And my mouth has spoken when I was in trouble.
 Burnt-offerings of fatlings I will offer 15
 to thee,
 Together with the savory smoke of rams;
 I will prepare an ox and he-goats.

Selah

Come, listen, all you who revere God, 16
 While I tell what he has done for me:
 Unto him did I cry with my mouth, 17
 And I was raised from under my foes.
 Had I cherished deceit in my heart, 18
 The Lord would not have heard.
 But God did hear; 19
 He gave heed to my prayerful voice.

Blessed be God, 20
 Who did not reject my prayer,
 Nor turn away his kindness from me.

A PRAYER FOR GOD'S BLESSING[For the director: with stringed instruments;
a Psalm, a Song]

May God be merciful unto us and 67
 bless us,
 And cause his face to shine upon us!
Selah
 That thy way may be known in the 2
 earth,
 Thy salvation among all nations,
 Let the peoples praise thee, O God, 3
 Let all the peoples praise thee.
 Let the nations be glad and sing for 4
 joy,
 Because thou judgest the peoples justly,
 And leadest the nations in the earth.
Selah
 Let the peoples praise thee, O God; 5
 Let all the peoples praise thee!
 Earth has yielded her increase. 6
 May God, our own God, bless us!
 May God bless us; 7
 And may all the ends of the earth fear
 him!

THE MIGHT AND GLORY
OF GOD

[For the director: of David; a Psalm, a Song]

Let God arise! Let his foes be scat- 68 tered!
 And let those that hate him flee before him!

- 2 As smoke is driven away by the wind,
As wax melts before the fire,
So do the wicked perish from before
God.
- 3 But the righteous rejoice;
They exult before God;
And they are jubilant with joy.
- 4 Sing unto God; praise his name!
Extol him who rides upon the storm-
clouds,
Whose name is Yah, and exult before
him!
- 5 A father to the fatherless and the judge of widows
Is God in his holy dwelling.
- 6 God brings home the desolate;
He leads prisoners forth into prosperity;
Only the rebellious dwell in a parched
land.
- 7 O God, when thou didst go forth before thy people,
When thou didst march through the desert, Selah
- 8 The earth quaked, the heavens also poured down at the presence of
God;
Even yon Sinai, at the presence of God, Israel's God.
- 9 A copious rain didst thou pour down,
O God;
Thine exhausted and worn-out land thou didst re-establish.
- 10 Thy flock dwelt therein;
Thou didst prepare it in thy goodness for the poor, O God.
- 11 The Lord gave the command;
The messengers were a great host.
- 12 Kings of hosts fled, they fled!
The women divided the spoil:
- 13 (Did you lie among the sheepfolds?)
The wings of a dove covered with silver,
And its pinions with glittering gold.
- 14 When the Almighty made kings fly
therein,
It was snowing in Zalmon.
- 15 O mighty mountain, O Mount Bashan;
O many-peaked mountain, O Mount
Bashan;
- 16 Why, O many-peaked mountains, do you envy
The mountain that God has desired for his abode?
Yet the LORD will dwell there forever.
- The chariots of God are myriads, 1
thousands upon thousands;
The Lord came from Sinai into the sanctuary.
- Thou hast ascended on high; thou hast 1 carried away captives;
Thou hast taken tribute of men,
Yea, of rebels too, that the LORD
God may dwell there.
- Blessed be the Lord, who daily bears 1
our burden;
The God who is our salvation; Selah
The God who is our saving God; 2
And unto GOD, the Lord, belong the exits to death.
- God will surely crush the head of his 2
foes,
The skull of Seir who goes on in his guilt.
- The Lord said, "I will bring them back 2
from Bashan,
I will bring them back from the depths of the sea;
That your foot may bathe in blood, 2
And the tongue of your dogs have its share of your foes."
- Thy processions are seen, O God, 1
The processions of my God, my King, in the sanctuary.
Singers lead; at the rear, the stringed 2
instruments;
In the middle, maidens playing tim-brels.
- In choirs, they bless God, 2
The Lord, those from Israel's fountain.
- There is Benjamin, the youngest, rul- 2
ing them;
The princes of Judah in a throng,
The princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.
- Command thy strength, O God; 2
Be strong, O God, thou who hast wrought for us.
From thy temple at Jerusalem, 2
Where kings bring gifts to thee, Threaten the beasts of the marsh 3
reeds,
The herd of bulls, with calves of the peoples;
Trample upon those who rejoice in spoil;
Scatter the peoples that delight in war.

- 31 Let envoys come from Egypt;
Let Ethiopia eagerly stretch forth her hands to God.
- 32 Sing to God, O kingdoms of the earth.
Sing praises to the Lord, Selah
- 33 To him who rides upon the most ancient heavens.
Lo, he utters his voice, a mighty voice!
- 34 Ascribe power unto God!
Over Israel is his majesty,
And his power is in the clouds.
- 35 Terrible art thou, O God, from thy sanctuary.
Unto Israel he gives power,
And strength to the people.
Blessed be God!

AN IMPRECATORY PSALM

[For the director: upon lilies; of David]

- 9 Save me, O God, for the water mounts to my chin,
- 12 I am sunk in deep mire,
where there is no foothold.
I have got into deep water,
and the flood overwhelms me.
- 13 I am worn out by my crying,
my throat is parched.
My eyes fail
with waiting for my God.
- 14 More numerous than the hairs of my head are they that hate me without cause.
Many are they that would destroy me,
my enemies wrongfully.
What I did not steal,
forsooth, I must restore!
- 15 O God, thou knowest my foolishness; and my guilt is not hidden from
thee.
- 16 May they who hope in thee be not put to shame through me,
O Lord, GOD of hosts!
May they who seek thee be not brought to disgrace through me, O God of Israel.
- 17 For because of thee I bear reproach,
Dishonor covers my face.
18 I have become a stranger to my brothers,
An alien to my mother's sons.
19 For zeal for thy house has eaten me
up;

And the abuse of them that abuse thee has fallen on me.
When I afflict myself by fasting, 10
It becomes my reproach.
If I assume sackcloth as my clothing, 11
I become a joke to them.
They who sit in the gate talk of me, 12
And I have become the song of the drunkards.

But my prayer unto thee, O LORD, is 13
for an acceptable time;
O God, in thine abundant kindness,
Answer me with thy saving faithful-
ness.

Rescue me from the mire that I sink 14
not;

Let me be delivered from my enemies and from the deep water;
Let not the flood of water overwhelm 15
me;

Let not the depths swallow me up;
And let not the pit close its mouth
upon me.

Answer me, O LORD, for thy kindness 16
is good;

In accordance with thine abundant mercy turn to me!

And do not hide thy face from thy 17
servant,

For I am in trouble; answer me quickly!

Fight for me and deliver me; 18
Because of my enemies, release me.

Thou knowest my abuse, 19
And my shame and disgrace;

All my foes are before thee.
Abuse breaks my heart and I am sick; 20

And I look for sympathy, but there is none;

And for comforters, but I find none.
Yea, they put poison in my food, 21

And give me vinegar to drink for my thirst.

May their table become a snare before 22
them,

And their peace-offerings a trap.
May their eyes be so darkened that 23

they cannot see,
And make their loins tremble constantly.

Pour out upon them thy wrath, 24
And let thy fierce anger overtake
them.

May their encampment be a waste; 25
In their tents may there be no inhabitant.

- 26 For him whom thou hast smitten they persecute,
And unto the pain of thy victims they add.
- 27 Add guilt to their guilt,
And let them not enter into thy justification.
- 28 May they be blotted out from the book of life,
And not be inscribed among the righteous.
- 29 But as for me, though afflicted and in pain,
Thy salvation, O God, will set me on high.
- 30 I will praise the name of God in song,
And I will magnify him with thanksgiving;
- 31 And that will please the LORD more than an ox,
Or a bullock with horns and hoofs.
- 32 Behold, O you humble, and be glad!
O you who seek God, let your heart revive!
- 33 For the LORD listens to the needy,
And does not despise his prisoners.
- 34 The heavens and the earth will praise him,
The sea and all that stirs therein;
- 35 Because God delivers Zion,
And rebuilds the cities of Judah;
So that they dwell there and take possession;
- 36 And the descendants of his servants inherit it,
And those loving his name shall dwell therein.

A PRAYER FOR THE HELP OF GOD

[For the director: of David; to make a memorial]

- 70 Be pleased, O God, to rescue me!
O LORD, hasten to my help!
- 2 May they be put to shame and abashed
who seek my life!
May they be driven back and routed
who desire my ruin!
- 3 May they be appalled by reason of their shame,
who say, "Aha, Aha!"
- 4 May they rejoice and be glad in thee,
all who seek thee!
And may they continually say, "Great is God,"
who love thy deliverance.

Since I am poor and needy,
O God, hasten to me!
Thou art my help and my deliverer;
O LORD, do not tarry!

A PRAYER FOR AID AGAINST THE FOE

In thee, O LORD, have I found refuge; 7:
May I never be put to shame!
In thy righteousness, rescue me and 2:
deliver me!
Incline thine ear unto me and save me!
Become unto me a rock of refuge, 3:
To which I may always resort.
Thou hast given command to save me;
For thou art my rock and my fortress.

O my God, deliver me from the hand 4:
of the wicked,
From the fist of the evildoer and the violent!
For thou hast been my hope, O Lord 5:
GOD,
My confidence from my youth:
Upon thee have I leaned from birth; 6:
From my mother's womb thou hast been my stay;
In thee is my hope continually.
Like a portent have I been to many; 7:
But thou art my strong refuge.
My mouth is filled with thy praise, 8:
And thy beauty all day long.

Do not cast me off in my old age; 9:
When my strength fails, do not forsake me!
For my foes say concerning me, 10:
And those who watch for my life make plans also,
Saying, "God has abandoned him; 11:
Pursue and seize him; for there is no one to rescue him."
O God, be not far from me! 12:
Hasten, O my God, to my help!

May they be put to shame and de- 13:
stroyed who are hostile to me;
May they be covered with abuse and shame who seek to injure me.

But I will hope continually, 14:
And will add more to all thy praise.
My mouth will relate thy righteousness, 15:
And thy deeds of deliverance all day long;
For were I skilled in writing,
And should I reach an advanced age, 16:
O Lord GOD,
I could record thy righteousness only.

- 17 O God, thou hast taught me from my youth until now;
I declare thy wonders.
- 18 Yea, even to old age and gray hairs, do not forsake me, O God;
So that I may tell of thy mighty arm to the generations,
To all that are to come.
- 19 Thy power and thy righteousness Extend, O God, unto the high heavens.
Thou who hast done great things,
O God, who is like thee?
- 20 O thou who hast made us see many dangers and disasters,
Do thou quicken us again,
And from the depths of the earth bring us up again.
- 21 Do thou increase my greatness,
And turn and comfort me!
- 22 I also will praise thee with the lyre,
I will sing of thy faithfulness, O my God, with the harp,
O thou holy one of Israel.
- 23 My lips shall joyfully shout when I sing praises to thee,
And my life which thou hast redeemed.
- 24 My tongue, too, shall tell of thy righteousness all day long;
For they shall be put to shame, they shall be disgraced, who sought to do me harm.
- LONG LIVE THE KING!
[Of Solomon]
- 2 Give the king thy justice, O God,
And thy righteousness to the king's son,
2 That he may judge thy people with right,
And thine afflicted with justice!
- 3 May the mountains bring the people peace,
And the hills righteousness!
- 4 May he judge the afflicted of the people,
And give deliverance to the poor,
And crush the oppressor!
- 5 May he live as long as the sun,
And as long as the moon, throughout the ages!
- May he descend like rain upon the mown grass,
Like showers that water the earth.
- May the righteous flourish in his days,
And may peace abound, till the moon be no more!
- May he rule from sea to sea,
And from the river to the ends of the earth!
- Before him may foes bend low,
And his enemies lick the dust!
May the kings of Tarshish and the coast-lands return tribute,
The kings of Sheba and Seba bring gifts!
And may all kings do obeisance to him,
All nations serve him!
- For he rescues the needy when he calls for help,
And the afflicted who has no helper.
He takes pity upon the poor and needy,
And saves the life of the poor.
From oppression and violence he ransoms them;
And precious is their blood in his eyes.
- So, may he live and be given of the gold of Sheba;
And may men pray for him constantly;
All day long may they bless him!
May there be abundance of grain in the land;
On mountain tops may its fruit shake like Lebanon;
And may those from the cities blossom like the grass of the earth!
- May his name endure forever!
As long as the sun may his name abide!
May men invoke blessings on one another through him!
May all nations call him blessed!
- Blessed be the LORD God, the God of Israel,
Who alone does great wonders!
And blessed be his glorious name forever!
And may the whole earth be filled with his glory!
Amen and amen!
- The prayers of David, the son of Jesse, are ended.

BOOK III, PSS. 73-89

FELLOWSHIP WITH GOD

[A Psalm of Asaph]

- 73 Surely, God is good to Israel,
To those who are pure in heart.
- 2 But as for me, my feet were almost gone,
My steps had well-nigh slipped.
- 3 For I was incensed at fools,
As I saw the prosperity of the wicked.
- 4 For they have no pangs;
Sound and healthy is their body.
- 5 In trouble, like other men, they are not;
Nor are they plagued like others.
- 6 Hence pride is their necklace;
A robe of violence covers them.
- 7 Their eye goes forth beyond the best,
They transcend the imaginations of the heart.
- 8 They mock and speak in wickedness;
Oppression from on high they speak.
- 9 They have set their mouth in the heavens,
And their tongue ranges the earth.
- 10 Therefore the people turn to them,
And find no fault in them.
- 11 And they say, "How can God know?
And is there knowledge in the Most High?"
- 12 Lo, such are the wicked!
And in perpetual ease they amass wealth.
- 13 All to no purpose have I kept my heart pure,
And washed my hands in innocence.
- 14 For I have been smitten all day long,
And chastened every morning.
- 15 If I had said, "I will speak thus,"
I should, indeed, have betrayed the generation of thy children.
- 16 But when I pondered how to understand this,
It was in my sight a troublesome task,
- 17 Until I came into the sanctuary of God;
Then I perceived their future lot.
- 18 Surely thou settest them in slippery places;
Thou dost hurl them down to ruin.
- 19 How they become a desolation as in a moment,

Are swept away, are destroyed through horrors!

As a dream when one awakes, O Lord,
So, when thou dost bestir thyself, thou wilt set at nought their fancies.

When my heart was stirred up,
And my feelings were aroused,
Then I was stupid and knew nothing;
A brute was I toward thee!

Yet I am always with thee;
Thou holdest my right hand.
By thy counsel thou ledest me;
And by the hand thou dost take me after thee.

Whom have I in the heavens but thee?
And having thee, I wish nought else on earth.
My flesh and my heart fail;
But my heart's rock and my portion is God forever.

For lo, those far from thee will perish;
Thou destroyest all who are apostates from thee.

But as for me, the nearness of God is my good;
I put my reliance upon the Lord GOD;
That I may recount all thy wonders.

AN APPEAL TO GOD AGAINST VANDALS

[A maskil of Asaph]

Why, O God, hast thou cast us off forever?

Why does thine anger smoke against the flock of thy pasture?

Remember thy community which thou didst obtain of old,

Which thou didst redeem as the tribe of thine inheritance,
Mount Zion wherein thou hast dwelt.

Lift up thy footsteps unto the perpetual ruins;

The enemy has destroyed everything in the sanctuary.

Thy foes roar in the midst of thine assembly;

They set up their own signs as signs.

They hew down at the upper entrance
The wooden trellis work with axes;
And now its carvings also,
With hatchet and adzes they smash.

- 7 They have set thy sanctuary on fire;
They have defiled to the ground the dwelling-place of thy name.
- 8 They said to themselves, "We will oppress them also."
They burned all the synagogues of God in the land.
- 9 Our signs we did not see;
There was no longer a prophet;
There was nobody among us that knew how long.
- 10 How long, O God, shall the foe blaspheme?
Shall the enemy revile thy name for-
ever?
- 11 Why dost thou withdraw thy hand,
And restrain thy right hand within thy bosom?
- 12 God is my king from of old,
Who wrought victory in the midst of
the earth.
- 13 Through thy power thou didst divide
the sea;
Thou didst crush the heads of the dragons upon the waters.
- 14 Thou didst shatter the heads of Leviathan;
Thou didst give him as food to the desert demons.
- 15 Thou didst cleave out fountain and brook;
Thou didst dry up unfailling rivers.
- 16 Day and night are both thine;
Thou didst establish sun and moon.
- 17 Thou didst fix all the bounds of the
earth;
Thou didst make both summer and winter.
- 18 Recall this: the enemy blasphemed
the LORD,
And a reprobate people reviled thy
name.
- 19 Do not give to the wild beasts the life of thy turtle-dove;
Do not forget the life of thine afflicted one forever.
- 20 Have regard to the covenant;
For the dark places of the land are full of the habitations of violence.
- 21 Let not the crushed be again put to shame;
- 22 May the poor and the needy praise
thy name!

Arise, O God; plead thine own cause; 22
Remember thy reproach from the reprobate all the day long.
Do not forget the voice of thy foes, 23
The uproar of thine adversaries which continually ascends.

GOD AS JUDGE

[For the director: "Do not destroy." A Psalm of Asaph, a Song]

- We give thanks to thee, O God; we 76
give thanks,
And they who call upon thy name recount thy wonders.
- "When I take the appointed time, 2
I shall judge with equity.
The earth with all its inhabitants will 3
melt away,
Since it was I who established its pillars. Selah
- "I say to the boasters, 'Do not boast'; 4
And to the wicked, 'Do not lift up the horn;
Do not lift up your horn on high, 5
Nor speak with an insolent neck.' "
- For not from the East, nor from the 6
West,
Nor yet from the steppe nor from the mountains—
But God is the judge! 7
He humbles one and exalts another.
- For the cup is in the hand of the 8
LORD,
With foaming wine, thoroughly mixed;
And he pours out to one and another.
Surely all the wicked of the earth
Must drink and drain its dregs.
- But I will forever rejoice, 9
And sing praises to the God of Jacob.
For all the horns of the wicked he will 10
break off,
That the horns of the righteous may be exalted.

THE TERRIBLE ONE

[For the director: with stringed instruments.
A Psalm of Asaph, a Song]

- In Judah is God known, 76
His name is great in Israel.
And his tent is in Salem, 2
His dwelling in Zion.
There did he break the fiery shafts of 3
the bow,
Shield, and sword, and battle. Selah

- 4 Terrible art thou, mightier than a devouring lion;
 5 Devastated are the stout-hearted,
 They sleep their sleep,
 And none of the men of war have found their hands.
 6 At thy rebuke, O God of Jacob,
 Chariots and horsemen are sunk in deep sleep.
 7 Thou thyself art terrible;
 And who can stand before thee, because of the intensity of thine anger?
 8 From the heavens thou didst pronounce sentence;
 Earth feared and was still,
 9 When God arose to judgment,
 To save all the humble of the earth.
Selah
 10 Surely, the most violent of men will give thanks to thee,
 The most persistently violent will put on sackcloth.
 11 Make vows and pay them to the LORD, your God;
 Let all who are around him bring gifts to him that is terrible.
 12 He cuts off the breath of princes;
 He is terrible to the kings of the earth.

THE MIGHTY GOD

[For the director: upon Jeduthun. A Psalm of Asaph]

- 77 I will raise my voice to God and cry aloud;
 I will raise my voice to God, that he may hear me.
 2 On my day of trouble I sought the Lord;
 My hand was stretched out by night without ceasing;
 My mind refused consolation.
 3 When I recall this, O God, I groan;
 When I ponder upon it, my spirit faints.
Selah
 4 Thou holdest the lids of my eyes;
 I am restless and cannot speak.
 5 I have thought upon the days of old,
 The years of ancient times.
 6 By night I recall my song;
 I commune with my heart and search my spirit:
 7 "Will the Lord cast us off forever,
 And never again be gracious?
 8 Is his kindness at an end forever?
 Has his word ceased throughout the ages?"

Has God forgotten how to be gracious?
 Or has he shut up his mercy in anger?"
Selah

Then I say, "This is my disaster:
 That the right hand of the Most High has changed."

I will recall the works of the LORD;
 I will remember thy wonders of old,
 And I will ponder upon all thy work,
 And meditate upon thy doings.

O God, thy way is in holiness.
 What deity is as great as God?
 Thou art the God that does wonders;
 Thou hast made thy strength known among the peoples.
 Thou didst by thy power redeem thy people,
 The sons of Jacob and Joseph. Selah

The waters saw thee, O God;
 The waters saw thee; they suffered pangs;
 The very deeps were convulsed.
 The clouds poured down water,
 The skies gave forth their voice;
 Thine arrows flashed hither and thither.

The sound of thy thunder was in the cyclone;
 Lightning lit up the world.
 The land trembled and quaked.
 Thy way was in the sea,
 And thy path on the great waters;
 But thy footsteps were not traced.
 Thou didst lead thy people like a flock,
 By the hand of Moses and Aaron.

A RELIGIOUS BALLAD

[A maskil of Asaph]

Hearken, my people, to my teaching;
 Incline your ear to the words of my mouth!
 I will open my mouth in a parable;
 I will utter riddles from of old,
 What we have heard and known,
 And our fathers told us.
 We will not conceal it from their children,
 Telling to the coming generation the praises of the LORD,
 And his might and his wonders which he wrought,
 When he established a decree in Jacob,
 And gave Israel a law,

- Which he commanded our fathers
To teach unto their children, 6 That the coming generation should know,
That children yet unborn should arise,
And tell to their children,
7 That they should set their trust in
God,
And not forget the works of God;
But keep his commands,
8 And not be like their fathers,
A stubborn and rebellious generation,
A generation that did not set its heart
aright;
Nor was its spirit loyal to God.
- 9 The Ephraimites—archers, equipped with the bow—
Turned back on the day of battle.
10 They did not keep the covenant of
God,
And refused to walk in accordance with his law;
11 But forgot his works,
And his wonders which he had showed
them.
12 Before their fathers he did wonders
In the land of Egypt, on the fields of Zoan.
13 He cleft the sea and led them through,
And made the waters stand like a wall.
14 And he led them with a cloud by day,
And all night through by the light of a fire.
15 He split rocks in the desert,
And gave them drink abundantly as from the great depths.
16 And he brought forth streams from the rock,
And made water run down like rivers.
- 17 But they sinned still more against him, Rebelling in the desert against the
Most High.
18 Then they tried God in their hearts,
By demanding food according to their desire;
19 And they spoke against God and said,
"Can God spread a table in the desert?"
20 He did, indeed, smite the rock, so that the water flowed,
And streams poured forth;
Can he also give bread,
Or provide meat for his people?" 21 Therefore the LORD heard and became angry,
And fire blazed forth against Jacob,
And wrath mounted against Israel;
22 Because they did not believe in God,
And put no confidence in his deliverance.
- So he commanded the skies from 23
above,
And opened the doors of the heavens;
And he rained manna upon them for 24
food,
And gave them of the grain of the
heavens.
The bread of the mighty did a man 25
eat;
Provisions he furnished them in abundance.
He let loose the east wind in the heav- 26
ens,
And in his might he guided the south
wind;
And he rained flesh upon them like dust, 27
And winged birds like the sand of the seas.
And he let them fall in the midst of 28
their camp,
Round about their dwellings.
So they did eat and were completely 29
satisfied;
He brought them their desire.
They were not yet tired of their crav- 30
ing,
Their food was still in their mouths,
When the anger of God mounted 31
against them,
And he slew the stoutest among them,
And laid low the choicest in Israel.
- Notwithstanding all this, they sinned 32 still more,
And believed not in his wondrous works;
So he brought their days to an end in a 33
breath,
And their years in sudden ruin.
When he smote them, then they 34 sought him,
And again they inquired of God.
And they remembered that God was 35
their rock,
And that the most high God was their avenger.
So they beguiled him with their 36
mouth,
And lied to him with their tongue;
But their heart was not steadfast with 37
him,
Nor were they loyal to his covenant.
But he is merciful; 38
He pardons guilt and does not destroy.
And frequently he restrains his anger,
And does not arouse all his rage.

39 So he remembered that they were flesh,
A breath that passes and does not come back.

40 How often did they oppose him in the wilderness,
And grieve him in the desert!

41 They tried God again and again,
And vexed the holy one of Israel.

42 They did not remember his power:
The day that he delivered them from the foe;

43 How he set his wonders in Egypt,
And his portents in the fields of Zoan,

44 And turned their rivers to blood,
So that they could not drink of their streams!

45 How he sent forth among them swarms of insects which devoured them,
And frogs, which destroyed them;

46 And how he gave their produce to the caterpillar,
And the fruit of their labor to the locust;

47 How he destroyed their vines with hailstones,
And their sycamore trees with frost;

48 And how he gave their cattle over to the plague,
And their flocks to the pestilence.

49 He sent upon them his fierce anger,
Wrath and fury and trouble,
An embassy of messengers of woe.

50 He made a smooth path for his anger,
He did not restrain them from death,
But handed over their life to the plague.

51 He smote all the first-born in Egypt,
The first-fruits of virile strength in the tents of Ham;

52 And he sent forth his people like a flock,
Guided them like a herd in the wilder-
ness,

53 And led them safely so that they were not afraid;
But their foes the sea did overwhelm.

54 So he brought them to his holy region,
To this mountain which his right hand had won.

55 And he drove out the nations from before them,
And distributed them as a possession,
And gave the tribes of Israel dwellings in their tents.

56 But they tried and vexed God, the
Most High,

And did not keep his injunctions.
And they turned back and were faith- 57
less like their fathers;
They turned around like a treacherous bow.
They provoked him with their sanc- 58
tuaries;
And with their idols, they aroused his hot wrath.
God heard and became furious, 59
And utterly rejected Israel,
And spurned the sanctuary at Shiloh, 60
The tent which he had occupied among men.
He surrendered his strength to captiv- 61
ity,
And his splendor into the hand of the foe.
He delivered his people to the sword, 62
And raged against his heritage.
Fire devoured his youths, 63
And his maidens had no wedding songs.
His priests fell by the sword, 64
And his widows could not weep.

Then the Lord awoke like one asleep, 65
Like a strong man overcome by wine.
And he smote his foes backward, 66
And he inflicted upon them a perpetual disgrace.
He rejected the house of Joseph, 67
And chose not the tribe of Ephraim.
But he chose the tribe of Judah, 68
Mount Zion, which he loved.
He built his sanctuary like the heights, 69
Like the earth which he has founded
forever.
He chose David, his servant. 70
And took him from the sheepfolds.
From behind the ewes he brought 71
him,
To be the shepherd of Jacob, his people,
And Israel, his heritage.
He tended them in accordance with 72
the integrity of his heart,
And by the skill of his hands he led
them.

A PRAYER FOR VENGEANCE

[A Psalm of Asaph]

O God, the nations have come into 71 thine inheritance;
They have defiled thy holy temple;
They have laid Jerusalem in ruins.
They have given the corpses of thy 72
servants

- As food to the birds of the air;
The flesh of thy saints to the beasts of
the land.
- 3 They have poured out their blood like water Round about Jerusalem, and there is none to bury them.
- 4 We are become a taunt for our neighbors,
Derision and mockery for those around us.
- 5 How long, O LORD? Wilt thou be angry forever?
Will thy jealousy burn like fire?
- 6 Pour out thy wrath upon the nations who do not acknowledge thee,
And upon the kingdoms that do not invoice thy name;
- 7 For they have devoured Jacob,
And have laid waste his habitation.
- 8 Do not remember against us our early sins;
May thy mercies quickly meet us,
For we are brought very low.
- 9 Help us, O God of our salvation,
Because of the glory of thy name;
And deliver us and forgive our sins for thy name's sake.
- 10 Why should the nations say, "Where is their God?"
May there be known among the nations, in our sight, Vengeance for the blood of thy servants that has been shed!
- 11 May the groan of the prisoner come before thee!
According to thy great power make those doomed to death survive;
- 12 And requite to our neighbors, seven-fold into their bosom,
The reproach wherewith they reproached thee, O Lord.
- 13 Then we, thy people, and the flock of thy pasture,
Will praise thee forever;
Throughout the ages we will recount thy praise.
- A PRAYER FOR RESTORATION [For the director: to the lilies; a testimony of Asaph; a Psalm]
- 10 O Shepherd of Israel, give ear;
Thou that ledest Joseph like a flock,
Thou that art seated upon the cher-ubim, shine forth.
- Before Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh,
Stir up thy might,
And come to our deliverance.
O God, restore us;
And let thy face shine, that we may be delivered.
- O LORD, God of hosts,
How long thou hast been enraged at the prayer of thy people!
Thou hast fed them with the bread of tears;
Thou hast made them drink tears beyond reason.
- Thou dost make us a butt for our neighbors,
And our foes make mock of us.
O God of hosts, restore us;
And let thy face shine that we may be
delivered.
- Thou didst remove a vine from Egypt;
Thou didst expel the nations and replant it;
Thou didst smooth the way for it,
So that it struck root and filled the
land.
The mountains were covered with its shade,
And the cedars of God with its branches.
- It sent forth its boughs to the sea,
And its tendrils to the river.
Why, then, hast thou broken down its walls,
So that all who pass by pluck its fruit?
- The wild boar devours it,
And the beasts of the field feed upon
it.
- O God of hosts, restore us;
And let thy face shine that we may be delivered.
- Look forth from the heavens and see,
And watch over this vine,
And the garden which thy right hand
planted,
And the son whom thou didst raise up for thyself.
It is burned; it is cut down.
May they perish at the rebuke of thy presence.
- May thy hand be over the man, Thy right hand over the man whom thou didst raise up for thyself!
He has not turned back from thee.

Revive us, and upon thy name we will call.

- 19 O LORD, God of hosts, restore us!
Let thy face shine upon us that we may be delivered!

AN APPEAL TO EXPERIENCE

[For the director: on Gittith; of Asaph]

- 81 Sing joyously of God our strength;
Shout aloud of Jacob's God.
- 2 Raise the chant and beat the drum,
Both the pleasant harp and the lute.
- 3 Blow the trumpet at the new moon,
At the full moon on our festal day.
- 4 For it is a statute in Israel,
An ordinance of Jacob's God.
- 5 He made it a decree in Joseph,
When he went forth against the land of Egypt.
I heard an unknown tongue saying,
6 "I removed the burden from upon his shoulder;
His hands were freed from the heavy basket.
- 7 In trouble you called and I rescued you;
I answered you in the secret place of thunder;
I tested you by the waters of Meribah. Selah
- 8 "Listen, O my people, while I warn you;
If you would but listen to me, O Israel!
- 9 There would be no strange god among you;
Nor would you bow down to a foreign god.
- 10 I, the LORD, am your God;
He who brought you up from the land of Egypt.
Open wide your mouth that I may fill it.
- 11 But my people did not listen to my voice;
Israel would have none of me.
- 12 "So I gave them over to their own self-will,
That they might follow their own devices.
- 13 If my people would but listen to me,
If Israel would only walk in my ways,
- 14 I would quickly humble their foes,
And turn my hand against their enemies.
- 15 Those who hate the LORD would fawn upon him,

And terror would be upon them forever;
But he would be fed with the finest of the wheat,
And with honey from the rock would I satisfy you."

A HOMILY FOR "DIVINE" RULERS

[A Psalm of Asaph]

God takes his stand in the divine assembly;

In the midst of the gods he gives judgment.

"How long will you judge unjustly,
And show partiality toward the wicked? Selah

"Give justice to the weak and the orphan;

Do right by the afflicted and wretched;
Set free the weak and needy;
Rescue them from the hand of the wicked."

They have neither knowledge nor sense;

They wander about in darkness;
All the foundations of the earth shake.

I say, "You are gods,
And all of you sons of the Most High!
Yet you will die as men do,
And fall like any prince."

Arise, O God, judge the earth!
For thou wilt take possession of all the nations.

A PRAYER FOR THE OVERTHROW OF NATIONS

[A Song. A Psalm of Asaph]

Keep not silence, O God;

Be not still, and be not quiet, O God!
For lo! thine enemies roar,

And those who hate thee carry a high head.

Against thy people they make crafty plans,

And take counsel together against thy hidden ones.

They say, "Come, let us destroy them that they be no more a people,

And that the name Israel be remembered no more."

- 5 For they conspire with one mind;
Against thee do they make an alliance,
6 The tents of Edom and the Ishmael-
ites,
Moab and the Hagarenes,
7 Gebal, and Ammon, and Amalek,
Philistia, with the inhabitants of Tyre;
8 Assyria also is leagued with them;
They are the strength of the children of Lot. Selah
- 9 Deal with them as with Midian,
As with Siserá and Jabin by the brook
Kishon,
10 Who were destroyed at Endor;
They became dung for the ground.
11 Make their chieftains like Oreb and Zeeb,
All their princes like Zebah and Zalmunnah,
12 Who said, "We will seize for ourselves
The very finest meadows."
13 My God, make them like a tumbleweed,
Like chaff before the wind.
14 Like a fire that burns up a wood,
And like the flame that sets mountains
afire;
15 So do thou pursue them with thy tempest,
And terrify them with thy hurricane.
16 Fill their faces with shame,
That they may seek thy name, O
LORD!
17 Let them be disgraced and terrified
forever,
And may they be put to shame and perish;
18 That they may know that it is thou alone whose name is the LORD,
That art Most High over all the earth.

THE JOY OF THE GODLY

[For the director: on Gittith; of the sons of Korah; a Psalm]

- 84 How lovely is thy dwelling-place,
O LORD of hosts!
2 My spirit longs and pines for the courts of the LORD.
My heart and my flesh give a shout of joy
for the living God!
- 3 Even the wren has found a house, and the swallow a nest for herself,
where she may put her young,
Even thine altars, O LORD of hosts,
my king, and my God.

How happy are those who dwell in thy 4
house,
ever praising thee! Selah

How happy are the men whose 5 strength is in thee;
the highways are in their minds!

Those who pass through the valley of 6
Baca
make it a region of springs;
the winter rain covers it with blessings.

They go from strength to strength; 7
The God of gods is seen in Zion.

O LORD, God of hosts, hear my 8
prayer;

Give heed, O God of Jacob! Selah
O God, our shield, behold 9
And look upon the face of thine
anointed!

For better is one day in thy courts 10
than a thousand elsewhere;

I would rather stand outside the door of the house of my God

Than dwell in the tents of wickedness.
For the LORD God is a sun and shield. 11
Favor and honor the LORD bestows;
He does not withhold prosperity from them that walk in integrity.

O LORD of hosts, 12
How happy is the man who trusts in
thee!

A PLEA FOR GOD'S PARDON

[For the director: of the sons of Korah;
a Psalm]

Thou wast favorable to thy land, O 85
LORD;

Thou didst restore the fortune of Jacob;

Thou didst pardon the guilt of thy 2
people;

Thou didst cover up all their sin. Selah

Thou didst withdraw all thy wrath; 3
Thou didst turn away from thy fierce anger.

Restore us, O God of our deliverance, 4
And break off thy vexation against us!

Wilt thou be angry with us forever? 5
Wilt thou prolong thine anger throughout the ages?

- 6 Wilt thou not revive us again,
That thy people may rejoice in thee?
7 Show us thy kindness, O LORD;
And grant us thy salvation.
- 8 I would hear what God the LORD will speak.
Surely he will speak prosperity unto his people and his saints,
And those who turn their hearts to
him.
- 9 For his salvation is close to them that fear him,
That honor may dwell in our land.
- 10 Kindness and Fidelity are met together;
Righteousness and Peace have kissed each other.
- 11 Fidelity springs up from the earth,
And Righteousness looks forth from the heavens.
- 12 The LORD will give prosperity,
And our land will yield its increase.
- 13 Righteousness will go before it.
And mark the way with its footsteps.

A PLEA FOR GOD'S HELP

[A Prayer of David]

- 86 Incline thine ear, O LORD, answer me,
For I am afflicted and needy.
- 2 Preserve me, for I am a godly man;
O thou, my God, deliver thy servant
who trusts in thee.
- 3 Be gracious unto me, O Lord;
For unto thee do I call all day long.
- 4 Gladden the heart of thy servant,
For I lift up my heart unto thee.
- 5 For thou, O LORD, art good and forgiving,
And abounding in kindness to all that call upon thee.
- 6 Listen to my prayer, O LORD;
And heed my supplicating voice!
- 7 On my day of trouble I call upon thee,
For thou wilt answer me.
- 8 There is none like thee among the gods, O Lord;
Nor are there any works like thine.
- 9 All the nations which thou hast made,
Will come and bow down before thee,
O Lord,

And will honor thy name;
For thou art great and doest wonders; 10
Thou alone art God.

Teach me thy way, O LORD, 11
That I may walk in fidelity to thee,
That my heart may rejoice in the fear of thy name.
I will thank thee, O Lord, my God, 12
with all my heart;
And I will honor thy name forever.

For thy kindness toward me is great, 13
In that thou hast rescued me from the depths of Sheol.
O God, the proud have risen up 14
against me,
And a gang of bandits seeks my life,
And does not keep thee in mind.

But thou, O Lord, art a merciful and 15
gracious God,
Slow to anger and abounding in kindness and fidelity.
Turn to me and pity me; 16
Grant thy servant thy strength,
And deliver the son of thy handmaid.

Work in my behalf a sign for good, 17
That those who hate me may see it and be put to shame, Because thou, O LORD, hast helped me and comforted me.

ZION GLORIES IN HER CHILDREN

[Of the sons of Korah; a Psalm; a Song]

- His foundation is in the holy moun- 87
tains.
The LORD loves the gates of Zion 2
More than all other dwellings of Jacob.
Glorious things he speaks of you, 3
O city of God. Selah
- I may mention Rahab and Babylon 4
on account of their famous men, Philistia, Tyre, and also Ethiopia;
"Such a one was born there!"
But of Zion it will be said, 5
"This one and that one were born in
her!"
And that will place her in the highest rank.
The LORD, when he lists the nations, 6 will record,
"Such a one was born there." Selah

- 7 Those who behold will be like men dreaming,
All who closely watch you.

LAMENTATION OF ONE IN TROUBLE

[A song; a Psalm of the sons of Korah. For the director: upon mahalath leannoah;
a maskil of Heman the Ezrachite]

- 86 I call for help by day, O LORD, my
God;
I cry before thee at night;
2 Let my prayer come before thee;
Incline thine ear unto my call!
- 3 For I am surfeited with troubles,
And my life verges on Sheol.
4 I am reckoned among those that go down to the Pit;
I am become like a man without help,
5 Separated among the dead;
Like the slain that lie in the grave,
Whom thou dost no more remember,
For they are cut off from thy hand.
6 Thou hast put me in the deepest pit,
In darkest regions, in the depths.
- 7 Thy wrath rests upon me,
And thou dost press down upon me
all thy breakers. Selah
8 Thou hast removed my acquaintances far from me;
Thou hast made me a horror to them;
I am shut in and cannot go out.
9 My eye wastes away with sorrow;
I have called upon thee, O LORD, all day long;
I have spread out my hands toward
thee.
- 10 Is it for the dead that thou wilt do wonders?
Will the ghosts arise to thank thee?
Selah
11 Will thy kindness be recounted in the grave?
Or thy faithfulness in Hades?
12 Will thy wonders be made known in the darkness?
Or thy righteousness in the land of oblivion?
- 13 But I, O LORD, call unto thee for help,
And in the morning my prayer comes before thee.
14 Why, O LORD, dost thou reject me,

And hide thy face from me?
I have been afflicted and at the point 15
of death from my youth up;
I have borne thy terrors; I am overcome.

Thy fierce anger has gone over me; 16
Thy terrors have destroyed me;
They surround me like water all day 17
long;
They encircle me completely.
Thou hast put friend and companion 18
far from me,
And my acquaintances are in the place of darkness.

THE SORROWS OF JUDAH

[A maskil of Ethan the Ezrachite]

- The gracious deeds of the LORD I will 89
sing forever;
Throughout the ages I will proclaim thy faithfulness with my mouth.
For I say, "Kindness will be renewed 2
forever;
In the heavens thou dost establish thy faithfulness."
- I made an agreement with my chosen 3
one,
I swore to David, my servant,
"I will establish your posterity forever; 4
And I will build your throne thorough-out the ages." Selah
- The heavens praise thy wonders, O 5
LORD,
And thy faithfulness in the divine assembly.
For who in the skies can be compared 6
to the LORD?
Who is like the LORD among the heavenly beings?
- A God to be feared in the divine coun- 7
cil,
Great and terrible over all around
him;
O LORD, God of hosts, 8
Who is strong like thee, O LORD?
And thy faithfulness is round about
thee.
- Thou rulest over the raging of the sea; 9
When its waves rise thou stillest them.
Thou hast crushed Rahab like one who 10
is slain;
With thy strong arm thou hast scattered thy foes.

- 11 The heavens are thine, the earth also is thine;
The world and its contents thou hast founded.
- 12 The north and the south thou didst create;
Tabor and Hermon celebrate thy name.
- 13 Thine is an arm with power;
Thy hand is strong; thy right hand is high.
- 14 Righteousness and justice are the foundation of thy throne;
Kindness and faithfulness go before thee.
- 15 How happy are the people who know the festal trumpet-call!
O LORD, they walk in the light of thy face.
- 16 In thy name they rejoice all day long;
And through thy righteousness are they exalted.
- 17 For thou art the glory of their strength,
And through thy favor our horn is exalted.
- 18 For the LORD is our shield,
And the holy one of Israel our king.
- 19 Once thou didst speak in vision to thy faithful one,
And didst say, "I have placed a diadem upon a warrior;
I have raised up a chosen one from the people.
- 20 I have found David my servant,
With my holy oil I have anointed him,
- 21 Whom my hand holds firm,
And my arm strengthens.
- 22 "The enemy shall not overcome him;
Nor the wicked man afflict him;
- 23 For I will crush his foes before him,
And those who hate him I will smite.
- 24 "My faithfulness and my kindness shall be with him;
And through my name his honor shall be exalted.
- 25 I will set his hand upon the sea,
And his right hand upon the river.
- 26 "He shall call unto me, "Thou art my father,
My God, and the rock of my deliverance."
- And I will make him the first-born, 2;
The highest of the kings of the earth.
- "I will always keep my kindness for him, 2
And my covenant shall stand firm for him;
And I will give him posterity forever, 2
And his throne shall be like the days of the heavens.
- "If his sons forsake my law, 3
And do not walk in my judgments;
If they violate my decrees, 3
And observe not my commands,
- "Then I will punish their offense with 1
the rod,
And their guilt with blows;
But my kindness I will not withdraw 1
from them;
Nor will I be false to my fidelity.
- "I will not violate my covenant, 3
Nor will I alter what my lips have uttered.
Once I swore by my holiness— 3
And I would not lie to David—
- "That his posterity should be forever, 3
And his throne be like the sun before me;
Like the moon it should be established 3
forever,
And should stand firm as long as the skies." Selah
- But thou hast rejected and cast off, 3
Thou hast raged against thine anointed.
- Thou hast broken the covenant with 1
thy servant;
Thou hast defiled his diadem in the dust.
Thou hast broken down all his walls; 4
Thou hast laid his forts in ruin.
All that pass by plunder him; 4
He has become a jest to his neighbors.
- Thou hast raised up the right hand of 4
his enemies;
Thou hast made all his foes glad.
Moreover, thou hast turned back the 4
edge of his sword,
And hast not supported him in battle.
- Thou hast put an end to his splendor, 4
And hurled his throne to the ground.
Thou hast cut off the days of his 4
prime,
And covered him with shame. Selah

46 How long, O LORD? Wilt thou hide thyself forever? Will thy wrath burn on like a fire? 47 Remember, O LORD, what our span of life is; For what frailty thou hast created all the sons of men. 48 What man can live and not see death, Can deliver himself from the power of Sheol? Selah 49 Where are thy former gracious deeds, O Lord,	Which thou didst swear to David by thy faithfulness? Remember, O Lord, the disgrace of 50 thy servant, How I carry in my bosom the reproach of the peoples; How thy foes insult, O LORD, 51 How they insult the footsteps of thine anointed! Blessed be the LORD forever, 52 Amen and amen.

BOOK IV, PSS. 90-106

A PLEA FOR GOD'S MERCY

[A prayer of Moses, the man of God]

- 0 O LORD, thou art a dwelling-place;
Thou hast been ours throughout the ages;
- 2 Before the mountains were born,
Or ever thou hadst brought forth the earth and the world,
Even from everlasting to everlasting thou art, O God.
- 3 Thou turnest man back to dust,
And sayest, "Return, O sons of men."
- 4 For a thousand years in thy sight
Are but as yesterday when it is past,
And as a watch in the night.
- 5 Thou cuttest them off; they are as a dream;
They are like grass which shoots up in the morning;
- 6 In the morning it flourishes and shoots up;
At evening it is cut down and withers.
- 7 For we are destroyed by thine anger,
And by thy wrath we are ruined.
- 8 Thou dost place our crimes before thee,
Our unconscious sins in the light of thy face.
- 9 For all our days vanish in thy wrath;
We come to an end; our years are like a cobweb wiped away.
- 10 The length of our life is seventy years,
Perchance through strength eighty years;
But their whole extent is travail and trouble;

For it is quickly cut off and we fly away.

Who knows the power of thine anger? 11
Or thy wrath according to the fear due thee?

So teach us to number our days 12
That we may obtain an understanding heart.

Return, O LORD; how long? 13
And have compassion upon thy servants.

Satisfy us in the morning with thy 14
kindness,
That we may shout with joy and be glad throughout our days.

Gladden us in proportion to the days 15
wherein thou hast afflicted us,
The years wherein we have seen disaster.

May thy work appear unto thy serv- 16
ants,
And thy splendor be upon their children.

May the favor of the Lord our God be 17
upon us,
And the work of our hands do thou establish upon us;

Yea, the work of our hands establish thou it.

THE FAVOR OF GOD UPON THE FAITHFUL

He who dwells under the shelter of the 91
Most High,
Who abides under the shadow of the Almighty,

- 2 Says of the LORD, "My refuge and my fortress,
My God, in whom I trust."
- 3 For he rescues you from the snare of the fowler,
From the deadly pestilence;
- 4 With his pinions he covers you,
And under his wings you find refuge.
His faithfulness is a shield and buckler.
- 5 You will not be afraid of the terror by night,
Nor the arrow that flies by day,
- 6 Nor the pestilence that stalks in darkness,
Nor the plague that wastes at noon-day.
- 7 A thousand may fall at your side,
And ten thousand at your right hand;
But it will not come near you.
- 8 You will but gaze upon with your eyes
And see the reward of the wicked.
- 9 Because you have made the LORD your refuge,
And the Most High your habitation,
- 10 No disaster will befall you,
Nor calamity come near your tent.
- 11 For he will give his angels charge over you,
To guard you in all your ways.
- 12 They will bear you up upon their hands,
Lest you strike your foot upon a stone.
- 13 Upon the lion and the adder you may tread;
Upon the young lion and the dragon you may trample.
- 14 Because he clings fast to me in love, I will deliver him;
I will set him on high because he knows my name.
- 15 When he calls upon me, I will answer him;
I will be with him in trouble;
I will set him free and honor him.
- 16 With long life will I satisfy him,
And show him my salvation.
- To proclaim thy kindness in the morning,
And thy faithfulness every night,
Upon the ten-stringed lyre and the lute,
To a melody with the harp.
- For thou hast made me glad, O LORD, by thy works;
Of the deeds of thy hands I joyfully sing.
How great are thy doings, O LORD;
How very deep thy designs!
- A stupid man cannot know,
A senseless one cannot understand this.
When the wicked shoot up like grass,
And all wrongdoers flourish,
It is that they may be destroyed forever.
- But thou art on high forever, O LORD!
For lo, thine enemies, O LORD;
For lo, thine enemies will perish!
All wrongdoers will be scattered.
- But thou hast exalted my horn like that of the wild ox;
I am anointed with fresh oil.
And my eye looks upon them that lie in wait for me;
My ears hear the wicked that rise up against me.
- The righteous will flourish like the palm tree;
He will grow high like a cedar in Lebanon.
Planted in the house of the LORD,
They will flourish in the courts of our God.
- They will still yield fruit in old age;
Full of sap and green will they be;
To proclaim that the LORD is right,
My rock, in whom there is no wrong.

THE RULER OF THE UNIVERSE

A HYMN OF GRATITUDE

[A Psalm; a Song for the sabbath day]

- 92 It is good to give thanks to the LORD,
And to sing praises to thy name, O Most High;
- Thy throne has been established from of old;
Thou art from remotest antiquity.

- 3 The floods have lifted up, O LORD,
The floods have lifted up their voice;
The floods lift up their roar
- 4 Above the sound of many waters.
Mightier than the breakers of the sea,
The LORD on high is mighty!
- 5 Thy decrees are very sure.
Holiness befits thy house,
O LORD, for all time.

DESTRUCTION TO THE WICKED!

- 14 O LORD, thou avenging God,
O thou avenging God, shine forth!
- 2 Rise up, O judge of the earth;
Render to the proud their deserts.
- 3 How long shall the wicked, O LORD,
How long shall the wicked exult,
- 4 Shall they bubble over speaking insolence,
Shall all wrongdoers brag?
- 5 They crush thy people, O LORD,
And they afflict thy heritage.
- 6 The widow and the stranger they slay,
And the orphan they murder.
- 7 And they say, "The LORD does not see;
The God of Jacob does not observe."
- 8 Ponder, O stupid ones among the people,
When will you become wise, O fools?
- 9 Does he who planted the ear not hear?
Or he who formed the eye not see?
- 10 Will he who instructs the nations not punish them,
He who teaches man knowledge?
- 11 The LORD knows the devices of men,
That they are but a breath.
- 12 Happy the man whom thou chastenest,
And teachest of thy law, O LORD;
- 13 That he may have relief from times of trouble,
Until the pit be dug for the wicked!
- For the LORD will not spurn his people,
Nor abandon his heritage.
- 15 For judgment will return to the righteous,
And after him all the upright in heart will go.
- 16 Who rises up for me against the doers of evil?

Who takes his stand for me against the wrongdoers?
Had not the LORD been my help, 17
I should soon have lain down in silence!
If I think, "My foot is slipping," 18
Thy kindness, O LORD, sustains me!
When my cares are many within me, 19
Thy comforts give me cheer.

Can the throne of wickedness be allied 20
with thee,
That frames wickedness by statute—
They who make assaults upon the life 21
of the righteous,
And pronounce condemnation upon innocent blood?
But the LORD is my high tower; 22
My God is the rock of my refuge.
And he requites them for their guilt, 23
And for their wickedness destroys them;
The LORD, our God, destroys them!

A PAEAN OF PRAISE

Come, let us sing unto the LORD; 95
Let us raise joyful shouts to the rock of our deliverance!
Let us come before his face with 2
thanksgiving;
Let us raise joyful shouts to him in psalms.

For the LORD is a great God, 3
And a great king over all gods.
In his hand are the depths of the 4
earth;
The summits of the hills are his also.
The sea is his, for he made it; 5
And his hands formed the dry land.

Come, let us worship and bow down; 6
Let us kneel before the LORD, our maker!
For he is our God; 7
And we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand.

Today, if you obey his voice,
Harden not your hearts as at Meribah, 8
As on the day at Massah in the wilderness,
When your fathers tried me, 9
Tested me, and saw my works.
For forty years I loathed that genera- 10
tion,
And I said, "They are a people who err in their hearts,
And do not know my ways."

- 11 So that I swore in my anger,
That they should not enter into my rest.

THE GLORY OF GOD

- 96 Sing to the LORD a new song;
Sing to the LORD, all the earth;
2 Sing to the LORD, bless his name; Publish his deliverance abroad from day to day.
3 Tell among the nations his glory,
Among all the peoples, his wonders.
4 For great is the LORD and greatly to be praised;
Fearful is he above all gods.
5 For all the gods of the peoples are non-entities,
While the LORD made the heavens.
6 Honor and majesty are before him;
Strength and beauty are in his sanctuary.
7 Ascribe to the LORD, O families of
peoples,
Ascribe to the LORD glory and
strength.
8 Ascribe to the LORD the glory of his
name;
Bring an offering and come into his courts.
9 Worship the LORD in holy array;
Tremble before him all the earth.
10 Tell among the nations that the LORD is king;
The world also is established that it cannot be moved.
He judges the peoples in equity.
11 Let the heavens rejoice and the earth
exult,
The sea roar, and its fulness.
12 Let the field exult and all that is there-
in;
Then let all the trees of the wood shout for joy
13 Before the LORD, for he comes,
For he comes to judge the earth.
He will judge the world with right-
eousness,
And peoples with his faithfulness.

THE MAJESTY OF GOD

- 97 The LORD reigns; let the earth rejoice!
Let the many coast-lands be glad!
2 Clouds and darkness are around him;

Righteousness and justice are the foundation of his throne.

Fire goes before him,
And blazes around his steps.
His lightnings illuminate the world;
The earth beholds and trembles.
The mountains melt like wax before
the LORD,
Before the Lord of all the earth.
The heavens proclaim his righteous-
ness,
And all the peoples see his glory.
All who serve wrought images are put
to shame,
They who prided themselves on their nonentities.
Worship him, all you gods!

Zion hears and rejoices,
And the daughters of Judah exult,
Because of thy judgments, O LORD.
For thou, O LORD, art the highest over all the earth;
Thou art exalted high above all gods.

The LORD loves those who hate evil; 1
He preserves the lives of his saints;
From the hand of the wicked he rescues them.
Light is sown for the righteous, 11
And joy for the upright in heart.
Rejoice in the LORD, O righteous, 11
And praise his holy name.

A SONG OF TRIUMPH

[A Psalm]

Sing to the LORD a new song, 1
For he has done wonderful things!
His right hand and his holy arm have brought him victory.
The LORD has made known his victory;
In the sight of the nations he has revealed his righteousness.
He has remembered his kindness and his faithfulness to the house of Israel;
All the ends of the earth have seen the triumph of our God.
Shout aloud to the LORD, all the
earth;
Rejoice, be jubilant, and sing praises;
Sing praises to the LORD with the lyre,
With the lyre and the sound of song.
With trumpets and the sound of the
horn,

Shout aloud before the king, the
LORD!

- 17 Let the sea roar and all that is in it;
The world and those living in it!
18 Let the rivers clap their hands;
Let the mountains also sing, 19 Before the LORD, for he is coming to judge the earth!
He will judge the world with right-
eousness,
And the peoples with equity.

THE HOLY GOD

- 9 The LORD is king; let the peoples
tremble!
He is seated upon the cherubim; let the earth quake!
2 The LORD is great in Zion,
And high is he over all the peoples.
3 Let them praise thy great and terrible
name!
Holy is he and strong!
4 O King, who lovest justice,
Thou hast established equity;
Thou hast wrought justice and righteousness in Jacob.
5 Exalt the LORD, our God!
And prostrate yourselves at his foot-stool!
Holy is he!
6 Moses and Aaron were among his priests;
And Samuel was among those calling upon his name.
They called upon the LORD and he answered them;
7 Through the pillar of cloud he spoke to them;
They kept his decrees and the law
which he gave them.
8 O LORD, our God, thou didst answer
them!
Thou wast a forgiving God to them;
But one taking vengeance for their sins.
9 Exalt the LORD, our God,
And prostrate yourselves at his holy mountain!
1 For holy is the LORD, our God!

THE FAITHFUL GOD

[A Psalm for the thank-offering]

- 100 Hail the LORD joyously, all the earth!
12 Serve the LORD with gladness!

Come before him with joyful song!
Know that the LORD is God! 3
He made us, and his we are,
His people and the sheep of his pasture.

Come into his gates with thanksgiv- 4
ing,
And into his courts with praise!
Give thanks to him; bless his name!
For the LORD is good; his kindness is 5
everlasting;
And his faithfulness endures throughout the ages.

THE MORAL CODE OF A KING

[Of David. A Psalm]

- I will sing of kindness and justice; 101 to thee, O LORD, will I sing praises.
I will give heed to the path of the per- 2
fect;
how long till thou wilt come to
me?
I will walk in the integrity of my
heart,
within my own home.
I will set before my eyes 3
no base thing;
I loathe the doing of transgression;
it shall not cling to me.
A perverse heart is far from me; 4
I know no evil.
If a man slanders his neighbor in se- 5
cret,
I destroy him.
The supercilious and high-minded
I cannot endure.
My eye is upon the faithful in the 6
land,
that they may dwell with me.
If a man walks in the perfect way,
he shall serve me.
He shall not dwell within my house 7 who practices deceit.
He who tells lies shall not be established
before my eyes.
Every morning I will destroy 8
all the wicked of the land, Cutting off from the city of the
all the malefactors.

THE EVERLASTING GOD

[A prayer of the afflicted when he is overwhelmed and pours out his plaint before the LORD]

- 102 Hear my prayer, O LORD,
And let my cry for help come before thee!
- 2 Do not hide thy face from me on my day of trouble;
Incline thine ear unto me;
On the day when I call answer me speedily.
- 3 For my days vanish like smoke,
And my bones are charred like a hearth.
- 4 My heart is stricken and withered like grass;
For I forget to eat my food.
- 5 Because of the sound of my moaning,
My bone cleaves to my flesh.
- 6 I am like a jackdaw of the wilderness;
I have become like an owl of the ruins.
- 7 I am sleepless and I have become like a solitary bird upon the roof.
- 8 All day long my foes insult me;
Those who deride me curse by me.
- 9 For I eat ashes like bread;
And my drink do I mingle with tears,
- 10 Because of thine anger and thy wrath;
For thou hast lifted me up and cast me off.
- 11 My days are like a lengthened shadow,
And I am withered like grass.
- 12 But thou, O LORD, abidest forever,
And thy name endures throughout the ages.
- 13 Thou wilt arise; thou wilt have pity on Zion;
For it is time to be gracious to her;
for the fixed time has come.
- 14 For thy servants delight in her stones,
And her dust they commiserate.
- 15 And the nations will fear the name of the LORD,
And all the kings of the earth thy glory,
- 16 When the LORD rebuilds Zion,
When he is seen in his glory,
- 17 When he turns himself toward the prayer of the destitute,
And does not despise their prayer.
- 18 Let this be written for coming generations,
That people yet unborn may praise the LORD:

That he looked forth from his holy height,
The LORD looked from the heavens toward the earth,
To hear the groans of the prisoner,
To set free those doomed to death,
That they may recount in Zion the renown of the LORD,
And his praise in Jerusalem,
When peoples gather together,
And kingdoms, to serve the LORD.

He has weakened my strength,
He has cut short my days.
I say, "O my God, take me not away in the midst of my days;
Thou whose years endure throughout the ages!
Of old thou didst lay the foundation of the earth;
And the heavens are the work of thy hands.
They may perish, but thou wilt endure;
All of them may wear out like a garment;
Thou mayest change them like clothing and they will change;
But thou art always the same,
And thy years have no end.
The children of thy servants will abide;
And their posterity will be established before thee."

THE GOODNESS OF GOD

[Of David]

Bless the LORD, O my spirit; 1
Let my whole being bless his holy name!

Bless the LORD, O my spirit,
And forget not all his benefits,
Who forgives all my guilt,
Who heals all my sicknesses,
Who rescues my life from the Pit,
Who crowns me with kindness and mercy,
Who satisfies my desires with good,
So that my youth renews itself like an eagle.

The LORD executes righteousness
And justice for all that are oppressed.
He made known his ways to Moses,
His deeds to the children of Israel.
The LORD is merciful and compassionate,
Slow to anger and abounding in kindness.

- 9 He will not always chide,
Nor hold his anger forever.
- 10 He has not treated us according to our sins,
Nor rewarded us according to our in-iquities.
- 1 But high as the heavens are above the
earth,
So great is his kindness toward them that revere him;
- 2 Far as the east is from the west,
So far has he removed our offenses from us.
- 3 As a father is kind to his children,
So the LORD is kind to those who revere him.
- 4 For he knows our frame;
He remembers that we are but dust.
- 5 A man's days are like the grass;
Like a flower of the field, so he blossoms;
- 6 For the wind passes over it, and it is not,
And its place knows it no more.
- 7 But the kindness of the LORD is from age to age upon those who revere
him,
And his righteousness to children's children,
- 8 For those who keep his covenant,
And remember to observe his precepts.
- 9 The LORD has established his throne
in the heavens,
And his kingdom rules over all.
- 10 Bless the LORD, O you his angels, Mighty beings, who do his bidding,
Obeying his spoken word!
- 1 Bless the LORD, all his hosts,
His ministers who carry out his will!
- 2 Bless the LORD, all his works,
In all parts of his dominion!
Bless the LORD, O my spirit!

THE CREATOR AND SUSTAIN- ER OF THE UNIVERSE

- 14 Bless the LORD, O my spirit!
O LORD, my God, thou art very great;
Thou art robed with majesty and honor;
- 2 Who veilest thyself in light as in a garment;
Who stretches out the heavens like a tent;

Who lays the beams of his upper 3
chambers in the waters;
Who makes the clouds his chariot;
Who walks upon the wings of the wind;
Who makes the winds his messengers; 4
His ministers, flames of fire.
He founded the earth upon its pillars, 5
That it might not be moved forever
and ever.

Thou didst cover it with the deep as 6
with a garment;
The waters stood upon the mountains.

At thy rebuke they fled; 7
At the sound of thy thunder they fled in terror.

Thou didst set a bound which they 8
should not cross,
So that they should not again cover
the earth.

The mountains rose, the valleys sank 9
down,
To the place which thou hadst founded for them.

He causes fountains to flow in the val- 10
leys;
Between mountains they run.
They furnish drink for all the beasts 11
of the field;
Wild asses quench their thirst there.
Beside them the birds of the air dwell; 12
From among the branches they send forth song.

Thou waterest the mountains from 13
thine upper chambers;
The earth is full of the fruit of thy works.

He makes grass grow for the cattle, 14
And fodder for the working animals of
man,
So that bread may come forth from
the earth;
And wine may cheer man's heart, 15
Making his face brighter than oil;
And bread to stay man's heart.

The trees of the LORD have their fill, 16
The cedars of Lebanon which he
planted;
Wherein the birds build their nests, 17
And the stork, whose home is the cypress.

The high mountains are for the wild 18
goats;
The rocks are a refuge for the mar-mots.

19	He made the moon for fixed times; The sun knows its time of setting.	Sing to him; sing praises to him; Tell of all his wonders!	2
20	Thou makest darkness and it becomes night, In which all the beasts of the forest prowl,	Glory in his holy name! May the heart of those who seek the LORD rejoice!	3
21	The young lions roaring after prey, And seeking their food from God.	Inquire of the LORD and his might! Seek his face continually!	4
22	When the sun rises, they withdraw, And crouch in their dens.	Remember the wonders that he has done,	5
23	Man goes forth to his work, And to his labor until evening.	His portents, and the judgments of his mouth, O descendants of Abraham, his serv- ant,	6
24	How many are thy works, O LORD! In wisdom hast thou made them all; The earth is full of thy creations.	Children of Jacob, his chosen! He is the LORD, our God;	7
25	There is the sea, great and broad, Where are reptiles innumerable, Creatures small and great; There go the sea-monsters,	His judgments are in all the earth. He remembers his covenant forever, The word he has commanded, to a thousand generations;	8
26	The crocodile whom thou didst form to frolic therein.	The covenant he made with Abra- ham,	9
27	They all wait upon thee, To give them their food in due season.	And his oath to Isaac.
28	What thou givest them, they gather up; When thou openest thy hand, they are satisfied with good things.	For he confirmed it to Jacob as a statute, To Israel as an eternal covenant; Saying, "To you I give the land of Canaan,	10
29	When thou hidest thy face, they are worried; When thou takest away their breath they die, And turn again into dust.	As your portion and inheritance." When they were but few in number, Of slight importance and but stran- gers therein;	11
30	When thou sendest forth thy breath, they are created; And thou renewest the face of the earth.	When they went back and forth from one nation to another, And from one kingdom to another people, He permitted no man to oppress them,	12
31	May the glory of the LORD endure forever! May the LORD rejoice in his works!	And warned kings concerning them, "Touch not my anointed, And do my prophets no harm!"	13
32	He looks at the earth and it quakes; He touches the mountains and they smoke!	Then he called a famine upon the land;	14
33	I will sing to the LORD as long as I live; I will sing praises to my God as long as I breathe.	He broke every staff of bread. He sent forth a man before them; Joseph was sold as a slave.	15
34	May my meditation please him! I will rejoice in the LORD.	They forced his feet into fetters; He himself was laid in irons.	16
35	Let sinners vanish from the earth! And may the wicked be no more! Bless the LORD, O my spirit! Hallelujah!	Until what he had said came about, The word of the LORD tested him.	17
THE WONDERS OF GOD		The king sent and released him, The ruler of peoples, and set him free.	18
106	Give thanks to the LORD; call upon his name; Make known his deeds among the peoples!	He made him overseer of his house, And ruler over all his possessions; That he might give orders to his offi- cers as he pleased, And might instruct his elders.	19

23 Then Israel went into Egypt,
And Jacob dwelt in the land of Ham.

24 And he made his people very prolific,
And made them more numerous than their foes.

25 He changed their heart so that they hated his people,
So that they dealt treacherously with his servants.

26 He sent forth Moses, his servant,
And Aaron, whom he had chosen.

27 They wrought among them wondrous signs,
And portents in the land of Ham.

28 He sent forth darkness so that it became dark;
But they rebelled against his words.

29 He turned their water into blood,
And so killed their fish.

30 Their land swarmed with frogs;
They were in the chambers of their kings.

31 He spoke and a swarm of flies came, Mosquitoes throughout their country.

32 He gave them hail for rain;
Flaming fire was in their land.

33 He smote their vine and fig tree,
And broke down the trees of their country.

34 He spoke, and the locust came,
And insects innumerable.

35 They ate up all the fodder in their
land;
They ate up all the products of their soil.

36 Then he smote all the first-born in their land,
The first-fruits of all their virile
strength.

37 Then he sent them forth with silver and gold,
And there was no straggler in their ranks;

38 Egypt was glad when they went forth,
For terror had fallen upon them.

39 He spread out a cloud as a screen,
And fire to give light by night.

40 They asked, and he brought in quails;
And with bread from the heavens he satisfied them.

41 He split the rock and water flowed
forth;
There ran a river in the sands.

42 For he remembered his sacred word
To Abraham, his servant.

And he brought forth his people with 43
joy,
His chosen ones with joyous song.
And he gave them the lands of the 44
nations;
Of the toil of the peoples they took possession.
That they might keep his statutes 45
And observe his laws.
Hallelujah!

THE LONG-SUFFERING GOD

Hallelujah! 106
O give thanks to the LORD, for he
is good;
For his kindness is everlasting.
Who can tell the mighty deeds of the 2
LORD?
Or publish all his praise?

Happy are they who observe justice, 3
Who do right at all times!
Remember me, O LORD, in thy favor 4 toward thy people;
Visit me when thou deliverest them;
That I may look upon the welfare of 5
thy chosen,
That I may rejoice in the joy of thy nation,
That I may glory with thine inheritance.

We have sinned like our fathers; 6
We have done evil; we have acted wickedly.
Our fathers in Egypt disregarded thy 7
wonders;
They remembered not thine abundant kindness;
But rebelled against the Most High at the Red Sea.
Yet he delivered them for his name's 8
sake,
In order to make known his might.
So he rebuked the Red Sea and it be- 9
came dry,
And he led them through the depths
as through a meadow.
He rescued them from hostile hands, 10
And delivered them from the power of the foe.
And the water covered their enemies; 11
Not one of them survived.
Then did they believe his word; 12
They sang his praise.

But they soon forgot his deeds; 13
They waited not for his advice.

BOOK V, PSS. 107-150

GOD IN HISTORY

- 07 "O give thanks to the LORD, for he is good,
 For his kindness is everlasting."
 2 So may they say, whom the LORD has rescued,
 Whom he has rescued from the hand of the foe;
 3 Those whom he has gathered in from the lands,
 From east and west,
 From north and south.
 4 They wandered in the wilderness, in the waste,
 They found no way to an inhabited town.
 5 They were hungry and thirsty,
 Their courage collapsed within them,
 6 When they cried to the LORD in their trouble,
 He delivered them from their distress,
 And guided them in a straight way,
 7 So that they came to an inhabited town.
 8 Let them thank the LORD for his kindness,
 And his wonders toward the sons of men.
 9 For he satisfied the thirsty spirit,
 And the hungry heart he filled with good.
 10 Those who dwell in darkness and in deepest gloom,
 Bound in misery and iron;
 11 Because they opposed the orders of God,
 And spurned the counsel of the Most High;
 12 He bowed down their heart with labor;
 They stumbled, with none to help.
 13 When they cried to the LORD in their trouble,
 He delivered them from their distress.
 14 He brought them out of darkness and deepest gloom,
 And burst their bonds asunder.
 15 Let them thank the LORD for his kindness,
 And his wonders toward the sons of men.
 16 For he shattered bronze doors,
 And broke down iron bars.
 Fools, because of their wicked ways 17
 And because of their guilty deeds, were afflicted.
 They loathed every kind of food, 18
 And they drew near to the gates of death.
 When they cried to the LORD in their 19
 trouble,
 He delivered them from their distress.
 He sent forth his word to heal them, 20
 And to free them from their graves.
 Let them thank the LORD for his 21
 kindness,
 And his wonders toward the sons of 22
 men.
 And let them offer sacrifices of 22
 thanksgiving,
 And tell of his works with song.
 Those who go down to the sea in ships, 23
 And do business in the great waters,
 They saw the works of the LORD, 24
 And his wonders in the deep,
 For he spoke and raised up the storm- 25
 wind,
 Which lifted its billows on high.
 They mounted to the heavens, they 26 descended to the depths.
 They were dissolved in their distress.
 They reeled and staggered like a 27
 drunken man,
 And were at their wits' end.
 When they cried to the LORD in their 28
 trouble,
 He delivered them from their distress.
 He stilled the storm to a whisper, 29
 And the waves were hushed.
 Then they rejoiced because they were 30
 quiet,
 And he brought them to their desired 31 haven.
 Let them thank the LORD for his 31
 kindness,
 And his wonders to the sons of men.
 And let them exalt him in the assem- 32
 bly of the people,
 And praise him in the company of the 33
 elders.
 He turned rivers into a desert, 33
 And springs of water into parched 34
 ground;
 A fruitful land into a salt-marsh,
 Because of the wickedness of those 34 who dwell therein.
 He turned a desert into pools of 35
 water,

- 36 And dry land into springs of water;
And he settled the hungry there,
So that they established an inhabited town.
- 37 They sowed fields and planted vineyards,
Which yielded fruits for harvest.
- 38 Then he blessed them and they multiplied greatly,
And he suffered not their cattle to decrease.
- 39 When they themselves decreased and were brought low Through oppression, adversity, and sorrow,
- 40 He poured contempt upon the princes,
And made them wander in the trackless waste.
- 41 But he exalted the needy above affliction,
And made his families like a flock.
- 42 Let the righteous see and rejoice,
And all wickedness shut its mouth.
- 43 Whoso is wise, let him heed such things,
And consider the gracious deeds of the LORD.

A PRAYER FOR GOD'S HELP

[A Song; a Psalm of David]

- 108 My heart is steadfast, O God;
I will play and sing.
- 2 Awake, then, my glory!
Awake, lute and lyre!
I will awaken the dawn!
- 3 I will praise thee among the peoples,
O LORD,
I will sing praises to thee among the nations.
- 4 For thy kindness is great even unto the heavens,
And thy faithfulness unto the clouds.
- 5 Arise above the heavens, O God!
Let thy glory be over all the earth!
- 6 That thy loved ones may be rescued,
Give victory by thy right hand and answer us.
- 7 God has spoken in his sanctuary:
"I will exult; I will divide Shechem;
And measure off the valley of Succoth.
- 8 Gilead is mine; Manasseh is mine;
Ephraim is the defense of my head;
Judah is my scepter.

Moab is my washbowl;
Upon Edom I cast my sandal;
Over Philistia I raise the shout of victory.

Who will bring me to the fortified city?
Who will lead me to Edom?"

Hast not thou, O God, rejected us?
And thou goest not forth, O God, with our armies!

Give us aid against the foe;
For futile is the help of man.
Through God we shall do valiantly;
For he will tread down our foes.

A MALEDICTION

[For the director: of David; a Psalm]

God whom I praise, be not silent!
For they have opened wicked and deceitful mouths against me.

They talk about me with a lying tongue,

With malicious words do they encircle me,

And they attack me for no cause.

In return for my love, they are my enemies;

While I rescued them.

So they return me evil for good,
And hatred for my love.

Appoint thou a wicked man over him;

And may Satan stand at his right hand!

When he is put on trial may he come forth guilty;

And may his prayer become a sin!

May his days be few!

Let another take his office!

May his children become fatherless,
And his wife a widow!

May his children wander about and beg;

And may they be expelled from their hovels!

May his creditor levy upon all that he has,

And may strangers plunder his earnings!

May there be none to show him kindness,

Nor any to pity his fatherless children!

May his posterity be cut off;
In the next generation may their name be blotted out!

14 May the guilt of his fathers be remembered by the LORD;
And may the sin of his mother not be blotted out!

15 May they be before the LORD continually;
And may the memory of them be cut off from the earth!

16 Because he remembered not to show kindness,
But pursued the poor man, the needy,
And the broken-hearted to kill him;

17 Because he loved cursing and it entered into him;
Because he disliked blessing and it remained far from him;

18 And because he clothed himself with cursing as with a garment,
And it entered into him like water,
And was like oil in his bones;

19 May it be unto him like a garment which enfolds him,
And a girdle that he always wears.

20 May this be the reward of my accusers from the LORD,
And of those who speak evil against me!

21 But thou, O GOD, my Lord,
Deal with me, for thy name's sake!
Since thy kindness is good, rescue me!

22 For I am weak and needy,
And my heart is dead within me!

23 Like a lengthening shadow I am passing away;
I am shaken off like a locust.

24 My knees give way from fasting;
My flesh is wasting away and unanointed with oil.

25 And I am become a taunt to them;
All that see me wag their heads.

26 Help me, O LORD, my God!
Deliver me in accordance with thy kindness!

27 And let them know that this is thy hand;
That thou, O LORD, hast done it!

28 They may curse, but do thou bless!
Let my adversaries be ashamed, but let thy servant rejoice!

29 May my accusers be clothed with dishonor;
May they wrap themselves in their shame as a robe.

30 I will thank the LORD greatly with my mouth;
And in the midst of many I will praise him.

For he stands at the right hand of the poor,
To save him from those who would condemn him.

A PROMISE OF GOD'S AID TO THE KING

[Of David; a Psalm]

An oracle of the LORD to my lord: 110
"Sit at my right hand, Till I make your enemies your footstool."
The scepter of your strength the LORD sends forth from Zion.
Reign in the midst of your enemies.
Your people will volunteer freely on your day of war.
In holy array, from the womb of dawn,
The dew of your youth is yours.
The LORD has sworn and he will not retract:
"You shall be a priest for life,
A Melchizedek, because of me."

The Lord is at your right hand. 5
He has shattered kings on the day of his wrath.
He will sit in judgment upon the nations; he will fill the valleys. 6
He has shattered the chief over a broad land.
From a brook by the wayside he will drink; 7
Therefore he will lift up his head.

THE WONDERFUL WORKS OF GOD

Hallelujah! 111

☩
I give thanks to the LORD with all my heart,
☩
In the council of the upright and in the assembly.
☩
Great are the works of the LORD, 2
☩
To be studied by all who delight in them.
☩
Majestic and glorious is his work, 3

And his righteousness stands fast forever.

4 He has made his wonders an enduring memory;

Gracious and merciful is the LORD.

5 He has provided nourishment for those who fear him;

He remembers his covenant forever.

6 His powerful deeds he has made known to his people,

In giving them possession of the nations.

7 The works of his hands are faithfulness and justice;

Trustworthy are all his precepts;

8 Sure are they forever and ever;

Done in faithfulness and uprightness.

9 He has sent forth release for his people;

His covenant he has ordained forever.

Holy and terrible is his name.

10 The beginning of wisdom is reverence for the LORD;

It is good judgment in all who practice it.

His praise stands fast forever.

THE LOT OF THE PIOUS
 Hallelujah!

How happy is the man who reverences the LORD,

Who greatly delights in his commands!

His descendants will be mighty in the land;

The generation of the upright will be blessed.

Prosperity and riches will be in his house,

And his righteousness will endure forever.

Unto the upright he arises as a light in the darkness,

Gracious, merciful, and righteous.

It is well with the man who is a gracious lender,

Who conducts his business with justice;

For he will never be shaken.

The righteous man will be an abiding memory.

He will not be frightened by evil tidings,

His heart is firm, trusting in the LORD,

His heart is supported, he will not be afraid,

Until he gaze upon his foes.

D
 9 He has scattered abroad; he has given to the needy;

א
 His righteousness will endure forever.

פ
 His horn will be exalted in honor.

ר
 10 The wicked will see and be vexed.

ש
 He will gnash his teeth and melt away.

ת
 The desire of the wicked will perish.

THE GENEROUS DEEDS OF GOD

13 Hallelujah!
 Praise, O servants of the LORD,
 Praise the name of the LORD!
 2 Blessed be the name of the LORD,
 From henceforth even forever.
 3 From the rising of the sun unto its setting,
 Let the LORD'S name be praised.

4 High above all nations is the LORD,
 Above the heavens is his glory.
 5 Who is like the LORD, our God,
 Seated on high,
 6 Seeing far below,
 In the heavens and on earth?

7 He lifts up the poor from the dust;
 He raises the needy from the refuse heap,

8 To make them sit with princes,
 With the princes of his people.

9 He makes the childless woman abide in the household
 As the happy mother of its children.
 Hallelujah!

THE WONDERS OF THE EXODUS

14 When Israel went forth from Egypt,
 The house of Jacob from a people of alien speech,

12 Judah became his sanctuary,
 Israel his domain.

13 The sea saw it and fled;
 The Jordan turned back;

The mountains skipped like rams, 4
 The hills like lambs.

What ailed you, O sea, that you fled? 5
 Jordan, that you turned back?
 Mountains, that you skipped like 6
 rams?

Hills, like lambs?

Tremble, O earth, before the Lord, 7
 Before the God of Jacob;
 Who turned the rock into a pool of 8
 water,
 The flint into a fountain of water.

GOD AND THE IDOLS

Not unto us, O LORD, not unto us, 115
 But to thy name, give honor;
 Because of thy kindness, because of thy faithfulness!

Why should the nations say, 2
 "Where, now, is their God?"
 Verily, our God is in the heavens; 3
 He does whatever he pleases.

Their idols are but silver and gold, 4
 The product of men's hands.
 They have mouths, but cannot speak; 5
 Eyes have they, but cannot see;
 Ears have they, but cannot hear; 6
 Noses have they, but cannot smell;
 They have hands, but they cannot 7
 handle;
 Feet have they, but cannot walk;
 Nor can they make a sound in their throat.

Those who make them will become 8
 like them,
 Everyone who trusts in them.

O Israel, trust in the LORD! 9
 He is their help and their shield.
 O house of Aaron, trust in the LORD! 10
 He is their help and their shield.
 You who reverence the LORD, trust 11
 in the LORD!
 He is their help and their shield.

The LORD has remembered us; he 12 will bless,
 He will bless the house of Israel;
 He will bless the house of Aaron;
 He will bless those who reverence the 13
 LORD,
 Both small and great.

May the LORD give you increase, 14
 Both you and your children.

- 15 Blessed be you of the LORD,
Who made heaven and earth.
- 16 The heavens are the heavens of the
LORD,
But the earth has he given to mankind.
- 17 The dead will not praise the LORD,
Nor any who go down into silence.
- 18 But we, we will bless the LORD,
From this time forth and forever.
Hallelujah!

A SONG OF THANKSGIVING

- 116 I love the LORD, because he hears
The voice of my supplication;
- 2 Because he inclines his ear unto me;
And I will call upon him as long as I live.
- 3 The cords of death encircled me;
And the tortures of Sheol found me;
I found trouble and sorrow;
- 4 But I called upon the name of the
LORD,
"O LORD, deliver me!"
- 5 Gracious is the LORD and righteous;
And our God is merciful.
- 6 The LORD guards the simple;
When I am brought low, he delivers
me.
- 7 Return to your rest, O my spirit,
For the LORD has dealt well with
you;
- 8 For thou hast delivered me from
death,
My eyes from tears,
And my foot from stumbling.
- 9 I shall walk before the LORD
In the lands of the living.
- 10 I believe what I say;
I am fully responsible for it;
- 11 I say in my distress,
"All mankind is unreliable."
- 12 How can I repay the LORD
All his benefits to me?
- 13 I will take the cup of deliverance,
And will call upon the name of the
LORD.
- 14 I will pay my vows to the LORD,
In the very presence of all his people.
- 15 Precious in the eyes of the LORD
Is the death of his saints.

Ah, LORD, because I am thy servant,
I am thy servant, the son of thy handmaid,
Thou hast loosened my bonds.
I will offer to thee the thank-offering,
And will call upon the name of the
LORD.

My vows to the LORD I will pay,
In the very presence of all his people;
In the courts of the house of the
LORD,
In the midst of you, O Jerusalem.
Hallelujah!

A SHOUT OF PRAISE

Praise the LORD, all nations;
Extol him, all peoples;
For great is his kindness toward us;
And the faithfulness of the LORD is everlasting.
Hallelujah!

EVERLASTING GRACE

Give thanks to the LORD; for he is
good,
For his kindness is everlasting.
Let Israel now say,
That his kindness is everlasting.
Let the house of Aaron now say,
That his kindness is everlasting.
Let those that reverence the LORD
now say,
That his kindness is everlasting.

When in straits, I called upon the
LORD;
He answered me with abundant room.
With the LORD for me, I do not fear
What man may do to me.
With the LORD for me as my helper,
I shall gaze in triumph on those who hate me.
It is better to seek refuge in the
LORD
Than to trust in man.
It is better to seek refuge in the LORD
Than to trust in princes.

Though all nations surround me,
In the name of the LORD I will ward
them off.
Though they encompass, yea, surround me,
In the name of the LORD I will destroy them.
Though they surround me like bees,

Though they burn like a fire of thorns,
In the name of the LORD I will ward
them off.

- I was sore beset, about to fall,
But the LORD helped me.
The LORD is my strength and song,
And he is become my deliverance.
Hark, the joyous shout of triumph
among the tents of the righteous!
The right hand of the LORD works
victoriously.
The right hand of the LORD is exalted.
The right hand of the LORD works
victoriously.

I shall not die, but live
To tell of the deeds of the LORD.
The LORD has disciplined me severe-
ly;
But he has not given me up to
death.

Open for me the gates of victory,
That I may enter through them to give thanks to the LORD.
This is the gate of the LORD,
Through which the victors may enter.

I thank thee that thou hast answered
me,
And hast become my deliverance.
The stone that the builders rejected
Has become the chief cornerstone.

From the LORD has this come,
It is wonderful in our eyes.
This is the day that the LORD has made;
Let us rejoice and be glad therein!

- O LORD, deliver, I pray;
O LORD, give success, I pray!
Blessed be he who enters in the name
of the LORD;
We will bless you from the house of
the LORD!

- The LORD is God and he has given us
light.
Arrange the festal dance with branches,
Up to the horns of the altar.
Thou art my God, and I thank thee;
My God, I exalt thee.
Give thanks to the LORD, for he is
good,
For his kindness is everlasting.

THE LAW OF THE LORD

8

- How happy are they whose way is 119
blameless,
Who walk in the law of the LORD!
How happy are they who keep his de- 2
crees,
Who seek him with the whole heart!
Surely they do no wrong,
But they walk in his ways. 3
Thou hast ordained thy precepts,
That we should keep them diligently.
O that my ways were firmly set 5
To keep thy statutes!
Then I should not be put to shame,
When I look upon all thy commands.
I thank thee with a right heart, 7
When I learn thy righteous ordinances.
I will observe thy statutes; 8
Do not wholly abandon me!

2

- How can a young man keep his path 9
pure?
By heeding thy word.
I seek thee with my whole heart; 10
Let me not wander from thy commands!
I have stored thy message in my 11
heart,
That I may not sin against thee.
Blessed be thou, O LORD; 12
Teach me thy statutes!
With my lips I recount 13
All the ordinances of thy mouth.
In the way of thy decrees I delight, 14
As much as in all wealth.
I meditate upon thy precepts, 15
And I observe thy paths.
I find joy in thy statutes; 16
I will not forget thy word.

3

- Deal generously with thy servant, 17
that I may live,
And I will keep thy word.
Unveil my eyes, that I may behold 18
Wonderful things out of thy law.
I am but a guest in the land; 19
Hide not thy commands from me!
I study with eagerness 20
Upon thine ordinances all the time.
Thou dost rebuke the arrogant, the 21
accursed,
Who go astray from thy commands.
Take away from me disgrace and 22
scorn,

- For I have kept thy decrees.
 23 Though princes sit and talk with me,
 Thy servant meditates upon thy statutes.
- 24 Thy decrees are my delight,
 They are my counselors.
- †
- 25 My spirit clings to the dust;
 Revive me according to thy word.
- 26 I have told of my ways and thou didst
 answer me;
 Teach me thy statutes.
- 27 Make me understand the way of thy precepts,
 That I may meditate upon thy wonders.
- 28 I am downcast because of sorrow;
 Raise me up according to thy word.
- 29 False ways put far from me;
 And graciously grant me thy law.
- 30 I have chosen the way of trustworthiness,
 Thine ordinances I crave.
- 31 I have clung to thy decrees;
 O LORD, put me not to shame!
- 32 I run in the way of thy commands,
 For thou dost enlarge my heart.
- ‡
- 33 Teach me, O LORD, the way of thy
 statutes,
 That I may keep it to the end.
- 34 Make me to understand, that I may keep thy law,
 And observe it with my whole heart.
- 35 Let me walk in the path of thy commands;
 For therein do I delight.
- 36 Incline my heart toward thy decrees,
 And not toward profits.
- 37 Turn my eyes away from looking upon unreality;
 Revive me in thy way.
- 38 Establish thy promise for thy servant,
 Which is for those who revere thee.
- 39 Turn away from me the disgrace which I fear;
 For thine ordinances are good.
- 40 Lo, I have longed for thy precepts;
 Revive me through thy righteousness.
- †
- 41 May thy gracious deeds come to me,
 O LORD,
 Thy deliverance according to thy promise;
- 42 That I may answer those who insult
 me;

- For I have trusted in thy word.
 Do not snatch the word of truth utterly out of my mouth;
 For I have waited for thine ordinances,
 That I may observe thy law continually,
 Forever and ever.
 May I walk at large,
 Because I have sought thy precepts.
 I will speak of thy decrees in the presence of kings,
 And I shall not be put to shame.
 I delight myself in thy commands
 Which I love.
 I raise my hands to thy commands
 which I love;
 And I meditate upon thy statutes.
- †
- Remember the word to thy servant,
 Upon which thou hast led me to hope.
 This is my comfort in my trouble,
 That thy promise revives me.
 The arrogant have scoffed at me bitterly,
 But I have not turned away from thy
 law.
 I remember thine ordinances from of old, O LORD,
 And I am comforted.
 Burning rage lays hold of me because of the wicked,
 Who abandon thy law.
 Thy statutes are my songs of praise,
 In my house of pilgrimage.
 I remember thy name in the night, O
 LORD,
 And I observe thy law.
 This is mine,
 That I keep thy precepts.
- ‡
- The LORD is my portion;
 I have said that I would observe thy words.
 I beseech thee with my whole heart:
 Be gracious to me according to thy promise.
 I have considered my ways,
 And turned my feet toward thy decrees.
 I have hastened, and not delayed in the observance of thy commands.
 The cords of the wicked have encircled me,
 But I have not forgotten thy law.
 At midnight I rise up to give thee
 thanks,

Because of thy righteous ordinances.
 3 I am the companion of all who revere thee,
 And observe thy precepts.
 4 The earth is full of thy kindness, O LORD;
 Teach me thy statutes.

D

5 Thou hast treated thy servant well,
 O LORD, according to thy word.
 6 Teach me good judgment and knowledge,
 For I have trusted in thy commands.
 7 Before I was afflicted, I went astray;
 But now I keep thy sayings.
 8 Thou art good, and doest good;
 Teach me thy statutes.
 9 The arrogant have told lies about me;
 But I keep thy precepts with all my heart.
 10 Their heart is gross, like fat;
 But I delight in thy law.
 11 It is good for me that I was afflicted,
 That I might learn thy statutes.
 12 The law of thy mouth is worth more to me
 Than thousands in gold and silver.

7

13 Thy hands made me and fashioned me;
 Give me understanding that I may learn thy commands.
 14 May they who revere thee see me and rejoice,
 Because I wait upon thy word.
 15 I know, O LORD, that thine ordinances are right,
 And that in good faith thou hast afflicted me;
 16 But now let thy kindness comfort me,
 According to thy promise to thy servant.
 17 Let thy mercies come to me that I may live;
 For my delight is in thy law.
 18 Let the arrogant be put to shame,
 For they have falsely traduced me;
 But I will meditate upon thy precepts.
 19 Let those who revere thee turn to me,
 And those who know thy decrees!
 20 Let my heart be blameless in thy statutes,
 That I be not put to shame.

D

I pine for thy deliverance;
 I wait for thy word.
 My eyes fail for thy promise,
 Saying, "How long till thou comfort me?"
 Though I have become like a wine skin in the smoke,
 I have not forgotten thy statutes.
 How many are thy servant's days?
 How long till thou execute judgment upon my pursuers?
 Pits have been dug for me by the arrogant,
 Who are not in accord with thy law.
 All thy commands are sure.
 They persecute me on false charges; help me!
 They have nearly destroyed me in the land;
 But I have not forsaken thy precepts.
 In accordance with thy kindness revive me,
 That I may observe the decrees of thy mouth.

b

Forever, O LORD,
 Thy word stands fast in the heavens,
 Thy faithfulness throughout the ages;
 Thou didst establish the earth and it stood fast.
 By thine ordinances they stand today;
 For all things are thy servants.
 Had not thy law been my delight,
 Then I had perished in my affliction.
 I shall never forget thy precepts;
 For by them thou didst keep me alive.
 I am thine, save me;
 For I have sought after thy precepts!
 The wicked lie in wait to ruin me;
 I consider thy decrees.
 I have seen a limit to all perfection;
 Thy command is exceedingly broad.

D

O how I love thy law!
 It is my meditation all day long.
 Thy command makes me wiser than my foes;
 For it is always mine.
 I am wiser than all my teachers;
 For thy decrees are my meditation.
 I have more discretion than the aged;
 For I kept thy precepts.
 I have withheld my feet from every wicked path,
 That I might observe thy word.

- 102 I have not turned aside from thine ordinances;
For thou thyself hast taught me.
- 103 How sweet are thy promises to my palate,
Sweeter than honey to my mouth!
- 104 From thy precepts I get discretion;
Therefore I hate every false way.
- J
- 105 Thy word is a lamp to my feet,
And a light on my path.
- 106 I have sworn, and I will perform it,
To observe thy righteous ordinances.
- 107 I am sorely afflicted;
O LORD, revive me in accordance with thy word.
- 108 Accept, now, O LORD, the voluntary offerings of my mouth,
And teach me thine ordinances.
- 109 I carry my life in my hand continually,
But I have not forgotten thy law.
- 110 The wicked set a trap for me,
But I have not strayed from thy precepts.
- 111 I have thy decrees as a heritage for-
ever;
For they are the joy of my heart.
- 112 I incline my heart to execute thy statutes,
Henceforth forever.
- D
- 113 I hate dissemblers;
But I love thy law.
- 114 Thou art my shelter and my shield;
I wait for thy word.
- 115 Depart from me, O doers of evil,
That I may keep the commands of my God.
- 116 Sustain me according to thy promise
that I may live;
And make me not ashamed of my hope.
- 117 Strengthen me that I may be delivered;
And let me constantly contemplate thy statutes.
- 118 Thou dost despise all who swerve from thy statutes,
For their deceit is useless.
- 119 Like dross, thou puttest an end to all the wicked of the earth;
Therefore I love thy decrees.
- 120 My flesh creeps in awe of thee,
And I revere thine ordinances.

J

I have done what is just and right; 1
Leave me not to my oppressors.
Pledge me thy word for good; 1
Let not the arrogant oppress me.
My eyes fail with longing for thy de- 1
liverance,
And for thy righteous promise.
Deal with thy servant according to 1
thy kindness;
And teach me thy statutes.
I am thy servant; give me under- 1
standing,
That I may know thy decrees.
It is time for the LORD to act; 1
They have broken thy law.
Therefore I love thy commands, 1
More than gold or beaten gold.
Therefore I declare all thy precepts 1
to be right;
I hate every false path.

D

Thy decrees are wonderful; 1
Therefore will I keep them.
The exposition of thy words gives 1
light,
Giving understanding to the open-
hearted.
I have opened wide my mouth and 1
panted;
For I long for thy commands.
Turn toward me and be gracious to 1
me,
As is the right of those who love thy
name.
Establish my footsteps by thy saying, 1
And let no wrong have power over
me.
Free me from man's oppression, 1
That I may observe thy precepts.
Let thy face beam upon thy servant, 1
And teach me thy statutes.
With streams of water my eyes run 1
down,
Over those who have not kept thy law.

J

Thou art righteous, O LORD, 1
And thine ordinances are right.
Thou hast issued thy decrees in right- 1
eousness,
And in exceeding faithfulness.
My zeal consumes me, 1
Because my foes forget thy words.
Thy promise has been tried to the ut- 1 most,
And thy servant loves it.

- 1 Little am I, and insignificant,
But I have not forgotten thy precepts.
2 Thy righteousness is right forever;
And thy law is truth.
3 Trouble and anguish befall me;
But thy commands are my delight.
4 Thy decrees are eternally right;
Give me understanding that I may live.

P

- 5 I call with all my heart; answer me,
O LORD!
I will keep thy statutes.
6 I call upon thee; deliver me,
That I may keep thy decrees.
7 I arise at dawn, and call for help;
I wait for thy word.
8 My eyes anticipate the night-watches,
In meditation upon thy promise.
9 Hear my voice according to thy kind-
ness;
O LORD, revive me according to thy
justice.
10 My pursuers are in close touch with malice;
But they are far from thy law.
11 Thou art near, O LORD;
And all thy commands are true.
12 Long ago I knew from thy decrees, That thou hadst founded them forever.

Q

- 13 Behold my affliction, and rescue me;
For I have not forgotten thy law!
14 Plead thou my case, and avenge me; Revive me in accordance with thy promise.
15 Deliverance is far from the wicked;
For they have not sought thy statutes.
16 Thy mercies are many, O LORD;
Revive me according to thy justice.
17 Many are my pursuers and my foes,
But I have not turned away from thy decrees.
18 I see apostates and loathe them,
Because they do not keep thy word.
19 See how I love thy precepts!
O LORD, revive me according to thy
kindness.
20 The sum of thy word is truth;
And all thy righteous judgments are everlasting.

R

- 21 Princes persecute me without cause;
But my heart is in awe of thy word.

- I delight in thy promise, 162
Like one who finds abundant spoil.
Falsehood I hate and loathe; 163
Thy law do I love.
Seven times daily I praise thee, 164
Because of thy righteous ordinances.
Great prosperity have they who love 165
thy law,
And no obstacles confront them.
I hope for thy deliverance, O LORD, 166
And I do thy commands.
I keep thy decrees, 167
And I love them dearly.
I observe thy precepts and thy de- 168
crees;
For all my ways are before thee.

S

- Let my cry come before thee, O LORD; 169 Give me understanding according to thy word.
Let my entreaty come before thee; 170
Rescue me according to thy promise.
Let my lips speak forth praise, 171
Because thou dost teach me thy statutes.
May my tongue sing of thy word, 172
For all thy commands are right.
May thy hand come to my help, 173
For I have chosen thy precepts.
I long for thy deliverance, O LORD, 174
And thy law is my delight.
May I live to praise thee, 175
And may thine ordinances help me.
I have gone astray like a lost sheep; 176
seek thy servant;
For I have not forgotten thy commands.

A WARNING TO LIARS

[A Song of Ascents]

- To the LORD in my distress 120
I call, and he answers me.
O LORD, deliver me from lying lips, 2
From the deceitful tongue.
What will he give you, and what 3
more,
O deceitful tongue?
The sharpened arrows of the warrior, 4
With live broom coals!
Alas that I sojourn in Meshech, 5
That I dwell with the clans of Kedar!
Too long a time have I dwelt 6
With the haters of peace.
I am for peace, but when I speak, 7
They are for war!

THE GUARDIAN GOD

[A Song for the Ascents]

- 121 I raise my eyes to the hills;
whence does my help come?
2 My help is from the LORD, who made the heavens and the
earth.
3 He will not let your foot slip,
your guardian will not slumber.
4 He will neither slumber, nor sleep,
he that guards Israel.
5 The LORD is your guardian;
the LORD is your shade upon your right hand.
6 By day the sun will not smite you,
nor the moon by night.
7 The LORD will guard you from all evil;
the LORD will guard your life.
8 The LORD will guard your goings and comings
henceforth and forever.

A PRAYER FOR JERUSALEM

[A Song of Ascents. Of David]

- 122 I was glad when they said to me,
"Let us go to the house of the LORD."
2 Our feet are standing Within your gates, O Jerusalem;
3 Jerusalem that is rebuilt like a city,
Which is reconsolidated;
4 Whither the tribes go up,
The tribes of the LORD—
It is a decree for Israel—
To give thanks to the name of the
LORD;
5 For there were set thrones of judgment,
The thrones of the house of David.
6 Pray for the peace of Jerusalem;
They will prosper who love you.
7 Peace be within your walls,
Prosperity in your palaces!
8 For the sake of my brethren and my friends,
I will say, "Peace be within you!"
9 For the sake of the house of the LORD, our God,
I will seek your good.

A SONG OF SIGHTS

[A Song of Ascents]

- 123 Unto thee I raise my eyes,
O thou, who dwellest in the heavens!

Lo, as the eyes of slaves are to the hand of their master,
As the eyes of a maid are to the hand of her mistress,
So our eyes are toward the LORD, our
God,
Till he take pity upon us.

Have pity on us, O LORD, have pity on us!
For we are abundantly sated with contempt.
We are abundantly sated with it,
With the scorn of the arrogant,
The contempt of the insolent.

A SONG OF GRATITUDE

[A Song of Ascents. Of David]

"Had it not been the LORD who was on our side,"
Let Israel say,
"Had it not been the LORD who was
on our side,
When men rose up against us,
Then had they swallowed us up alive,
When their anger blazed forth against
us;
Then had the waters swept us away,
The torrent had gone over us;
Then had gone over us
The seething waters.

"Blessed be the LORD,
Who did not yield us a prey to their teeth.
We are like a bird escaped from the
fowler's snare;
The snare is broken and we have escaped.
Our help is in the name of the LORD,
Who made the heavens and the
earth."

UNSHAKABLE FAITH

[A Song of Ascents]

They who trust in the LORD 1
Are like Mount Zion which cannot be moved,
But abides forever.
Even as the mountains encircle Jerusalem,
So the LORD encircles his people,
Henceforth and forever.

For the wicked scepter will not rest upon the lot of the righteous,
That the righteous may not put forth their hands unto wrong.

- 4 Do good, O LORD, to the good,
And to them that are upright in heart.
5 But those who make their ways crooked—
May the LORD make them go with malefactors!
Peace be upon Israel!

SHOUTS OF JOY

[A Song of Ascents]

- 6 When the LORD brings back captive
Zion
We shall be like dreamers!
7 Then will our mouth be filled with laughter,
And our tongue with shouts of joy.
Then will they say among the nations,
"The LORD has done great things for
them."
8 The LORD has done great things for us;
We are glad.
9 Restore our fortune, O LORD,
Like torrents in the southland.
10 May those who sow in tears
Reap with shouts of joy!
11 He who goes forth weeping, bearing seed for sowing,
Will indeed come back with joyful shouts, bearing his sheaves.

THE SUSTAINING GOD

[A Song of Ascents. Of Solomon]

- 27 Unless the LORD build the house,
Its builders toil thereon in vain.
Unless the LORD keep the city,
The watchman keeps awake in vain.
2 In vain do you rise up early,
And stay up late,
And eat hard-earned bread;
So he gives his loved ones sleep.
3 Lo, children are a heritage from the
LORD;
The fruit of the womb is a reward.
4 Like arrows in the hand of a warrior,
So are the children of one's youth.
5 How happy is the man whose quiver is filled with them!
They will not be put to shame when they speak with their enemies in the gate.

THE TRULY HAPPY MAN

[A Song of Ascents]

- 28 How happy is everyone who reveres
the LORD,
Who walks in his ways!

Of the toil of your hands you shall 2
eat;
Happy and prosperous shall you be!

Your wife shall be like a fruitful vine, 3
In the interior of your house;
Your children like young olive trees,
Around your table.
For lo, thus shall the man be blessed, 4
Who reveres the LORD.

The LORD bless you from Zion! 5
And may you look upon the welfare of Jerusalem
All the days of your life!
And may you look upon your chil- 6 dren's children!
Peace be upon Israel!

THE FLEETING FORTUNE
OF THE WICKED

[A Song of Ascents]

- "Grossly have they abused me from 129
my youth up,"
May Israel, indeed, say;
"Grossly have they abused me from 2
my youth up,
But they have not prevailed against
me.
The plowers plowed upon my back, 3
They made their furrows long,"
But the LORD is righteous; 4
He has cut the cords of the wicked.

They are put to shame and turned 5
back,
All who hate Zion.
They will be like the grass on the 6
roofs,
That withers before it has shot up,
With which the reaper does not fill 7
his hands,
Nor the binder of sheaves his bosom.
Those passing by will not say to 8
them,
"The blessing of the LORD be upon
you;
We bless you in the name of the LORD!"

DE PROFUNDIS

[A Song of Ascents]

- Out of the depths I cry to thee, O 130
LORD!
O LORD, hear my voice!
Let thine ears be attentive 2
To my supplicating voice.

- 3 If thou, O LORD, shouldst record iniquities,
O LORD, who could stand?
4 But with thee there is forgiveness,
That thou mayest be revered.
5 I wait for the LORD, my whole being waits,
And for his word I hope.
6 I wait for the LORD,
More than watchmen for the dawn,
Watchmen for the dawn.
7 Hope, O Israel, in the LORD,
For with the LORD is kindness,
And with him is plenteous redemption.
8 For he will redeem Israel
From all its guilt.

A PATIENT SAINT

[A Song of Ascents. Of David]

- 131 My heart is not proud, O LORD,
Nor are my eyes lofty;
Nor do I deal with things
Too great and too wonderful for me.
2 I have, indeed, calmed and stilled my spirit,
Like a weaned child with its mother;
My spirit is with me like a weaned child.
3 Wait, O Israel, for the LORD,
Henceforth and forever!

THE ANCIENT PROMISE

[A Song of Ascents]

- 132 Remember, O LORD, for David's sake,
All his affliction:
2 How he swore to the LORD,
And vowed to the Mighty One of Jacob:
3 "I will not enter my dwelling-house,
Nor will I mount my bed to lie down,
4 Nor permit sleep to my eyes,
Nor slumber to my eyelids,
5 Until I find a place for the LORD,
A dwelling for the Mighty One of Jacob."
6 Lo, we heard that it was in Ephraim;
We found it in the fields of Jaar.
7 Let us go to his dwelling,
Let us worship at his footstool.
8 Arise, O LORD, to thy resting-place,

Thou and the ark of thy strength.
Let thy priests robe themselves in righteousness,
And thy saints shout with joy.
Because of David, thy servant,
Turn not away the face of thine anointed.

The LORD swore to David
An inviolable oath from which he will not swerve:

"Of the fruit of your body,
I will establish a dynasty for you.
If your sons keep my covenant,
And my decrees which I teach them,
Then their sons, forever,
Shall sit upon your throne."
For the LORD has chosen Zion;
He has desired it for his dwelling-place:

"This is my resting-place forever;
Here will I dwell, for I desired it.
I will richly bless its food supply,
Its needy I will satisfy with bread.
Its priests will I clothe with salvation,
And its saints shall shout aloud with joy.
There will I cause a horn to spring forth for David;
I will set in order a lamp for my anointed,
His enemies I will clothe with shame;
But upon him his diadem shall shine."

ZION'S PERPETUAL BLESSING

[A Song of Ascents. Of David]

Lo, how good and lovely it is When brethren dwell together as one.
Like the goodly oil upon the head,
Which flows down upon the beard,
Aaron's beard,
That flows down upon the edge of his robes,
So is the dew of Hermon that flows down upon the mountains of Zion;
For there has the LORD commanded the blessing:
Life for evermore.

A CALL TO WORSHIP

[A Song of Ascents]

Lo, bless the LORD, all you servants of the LORD,
Who stand in the house of the LORD by night!

2 Lift up your hands toward the sanctuary,
And bless the LORD!

3 May the LORD, maker of the heavens and the earth, Bless you from Zion.

A SONG OF PRAISE

85 Hallelujah!
Praise the name of the LORD!
Praise him, O you servants of the LORD,

2 Who stand in the house of the LORD,
In the courts of the house of our God!

3 Praise the LORD, for the LORD is good!
Sing praises to his name, for he is gracious.

4 For the LORD has chosen Jacob as his own,
And Israel as his own treasure.
I know, indeed, that the LORD is great,
That our Lord is greater than all the gods.

6 The LORD does whatsoever he pleases,
Whether in the heavens or on the earth,
In the seas and in all deeps;

7 Raising clouds from the ends of the earth.
He makes the lightning flashes for the rain,
Bringing forth the wind from his treasuries.

8 It was he who smote the first-born of Egypt,
Both of man and beast.

9 He sent forth wonders and portents
Into the midst of thee, O Egypt,
Upon Pharaoh and upon all his servants!

10 It was he who smote many nations,
And slew mighty kings,
11 Sihon, the king of the Amorites,
Og, the king of Bashan,
And all the kingdoms of Canaan.
12 And he gave their land as a possession,

A possession to his people Israel.
13 O LORD, thy name is forever;
Thy memorial, O LORD, is throughout the ages.

14 For the LORD will give his people justice,

And will have compassion upon his servants.

The idols of the nations are but silver 15
and gold,
The product of men's hands.

They have mouths, but cannot speak; 16
Eyes have they, but cannot see;
Ears have they, but cannot hear; 17
Neither, indeed, is there any breath in their mouth.

Those who make them will become 18
like them,
Everyone who trusts in them.

O house of Israel, bless the LORD; 19
O house of Aaron, bless the LORD;
O house of the Levites, bless the LORD; 20
You who revere the LORD, bless the
LORD!

Blessed from Zion be the LORD, 21
Who dwells at Jerusalem!
Hallelujah!

THE KINDNESS OF GOD

Give thanks to the LORD, for he 136
is good,

For his kindness is everlasting.
Give thanks to the God of gods, 2

For his kindness is everlasting.
Give thanks to the Lord of lords, 3

For his kindness is everlasting;
To him who did great wonders alone, 4

For his kindness is everlasting;
To him who made the heavens with 5
skill,

For his kindness is everlasting;
To him who spread out the earth 6
upon the waters,

For his kindness is everlasting;
To him who made the great lights, 7

For his kindness is everlasting;
The sun to rule by day, 8

For his kindness is everlasting;
The moon and the stars to rule by 9
night,

For his kindness is everlasting;
To him who smote the Egyptians in 10
their first-born,

For his kindness is everlasting;
And brought forth Israel from the 11
midst of them,

For his kindness is everlasting;
With a strong hand and an out- 12 stretched arm,

For his kindness is everlasting;
To him who divided the Red Sea into 13
two parts,

- For his kindness is everlasting;
 14 And led Israel over through the midst of it,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 15 And shook Pharaoh and his army into the Red Sea,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 16 To him who led his people through the wilderness,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 17 To him who smote great kings,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 18 And slew mighty kings,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 19 Sihon, the king of the Amorites,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 20 And Og, the king of Bashan,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 21 And gave their land as a possession,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 22 A possession to Israel, his servant,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 23 Who remembered us in our abasement,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 24 And rescued us from our foes,
 For his kindness is everlasting;
 25 Who gives food to all flesh,
 For his kindness is everlasting.
 26 Give thanks to the God of the heavens,
 For his kindness is everlasting.

REVENGE UPON ISRAEL'S FOES

- 137 By the rivers of Babylon,
 There we sat down, and wept,
 When we remembered Zion.
 2 Upon the poplars, in the midst of her,
 We hung up our harps.
 3 For there our captors
 Demanded of us songs,
 And our tormentors, mirth:
 "Sing us some of the songs of Zion."
 4 How could we sing the songs of the LORD
 In a foreign land?
 5 If I forget you, O Jerusalem,
 May my right hand fail me!
 6 May my tongue cleave to my palate,
 If I do not remember you;
 If I set not Jerusalem
 Above my highest joy!
 7 Remember, O LORD, against the Edomites,

The day of Jerusalem!
 They who said, "Raze it, raze it,
 To its very foundations!"
 O daughter of Babylon, destructive one,
 Blessed be he who requites to you
 The treatment that you dealt out to us!
 Blessed be he who seizes your little ones,
 And dashes them to pieces upon a rock!

THE HELP OF GOD

[Of David]

I give thee thanks with all my heart; 13
 In the presence of the gods, I sing praises to thee.
 I prostrate myself toward thy holy temple;
 And give thanks to thy name for thy kindness and thy faithfulness;
 For thou hast magnified thy name over all.
 On the day when I called thou didst
 answer me;
 Thou didst increase thy power in me.
 All the kings of the earth will give thanks to thee, O LORD,
 When they have heard the words of thy mouth.
 And they will sing of the ways of the
 LORD,
 That the glory of the LORD is great.
 The LORD looks upon the high and the low,
 But the haughty he knows from afar.

Though I walk in the midst of hostility,
 thou dost preserve my life;
 Against the wrath of my foes; thou dost stretch forth thy hand,
 And thy right hand delivers me.
 The LORD rewards me.
 O LORD, thy kindness is everlasting;
 Forsake not the work of thine own hands!

THE OMNIPRESENT AND OMNISCIENT GOD

[For the director: a Psalm of David]

Thou hast searched me and known 113
 me, O LORD; Thou knowest when I sit down and when I stand up;
 Thou discernest my thought from afar.

3 Thou dost measure out my course and my camp,
And art intimately acquainted with all my ways.

4 For there is not a word on my tongue,
But LORD, thou knowest it all.

5 Thou dost enfold me behind and before,
And dost put thy hand upon me;

6 Such knowledge is too wonderful for
me;
It is too lofty; I am not equal to it.

7 Whither shall I go from thy spirit?
And whither shall I flee from thy presence?

8 If I ascend to the heavens, thou art
there!
If I make Sheol my bed, thou art
there also!

9 If I take up the wings of the dawn,
And dwell at the back of the sea,
Even there thy hand will guide me,
And thy right hand will hold me.

11 If I say, "Darkness will surely cover
me,"
Then the night becomes light about
me.

12 Darkness makes it not too dark for
thee;
But the night is as bright as the day;
Darkness and light are both alike to
thee.

13 For thou didst create my vitals, Thou didst fashion me in my mother's womb.

14 I praise thee because thou art fearfully wonderful;
Wondrous are thy works,
And I myself know it well.

15 My bones were not hidden from thee,
When I was made in secret,
And molded in the lowest parts of the
earth.

16 Thine eyes saw the sum total of my days,
And in thy book they were all written;
They were formed, when there was not one among them.

17 How precious are thy thoughts to me,
O God!
How great the sum of them!

18 Were I to count them—they would outnumber the sands!
Were I to come to the end of them,
my life-span must be like thine!

If thou wouldst but slay the wicked, 19
O God,
And the men of blood would depart
from me,
Who oppose thee in their thoughts, 20
Who utter thy name to a lie!
Do I not hate them that hate thee, O 21
LORD?
And do I not loathe them who oppose
thee?
With the deadliest hatred, I hate 22
them;
They are my own enemies.
Search me, O God, and know my 23
heart;
Try me, and know my thoughts;
And see if there be any false way 24
in me;
And lead me in the way everlasting.

A PRAYER FOR VINDICATION

[For the director: a Psalm of David]

Free me, O LORD, from wicked men! 140
Rescue me from violent men,
Who plan evil things in their heart, 2
Who constantly stir up wars!
They have a sharp tongue like a ser- 3
pent;
The venom of adders is under their lips. Selah

Keep me, O LORD, from the hand of 4
the wicked;
Rescue me from violent men,
Who plan to trip my steps.
The arrogant have laid a snare for me, 5
and lines;
They have spread a net for me by the wayside;
They have set traps for me. Selah

I say to the LORD, "Thou art my 6
God;
Listen, O God, to my supplicating cry.
O GOD, the Lord, my strong deliv- 7
erer,
Thou hast covered my head on the day of battle.
Grant not, O LORD, the desires of the 8
wicked;
Let not his purpose succeed! Selah

"Let not those who encompass me 9 raise their heads;
May the mischief of their own lips cover them!
May coals of fire fall down upon them! 10

May they be cast into pits whence they cannot rise again!

- 11 May the slanderer have no standing in the land!

May disaster pursue the violent man with blow upon blow!"

- 12 I know that the LORD will maintain
The cause of the wretched, the rights of the poor.

- 13 Surely, the righteous shall give thanks to thy name;
The upright shall dwell in thy presence.

A PRAYER FOR PROTECTION

[A Psalm of David]

- 141 I call upon thee, O LORD, make haste to me;

Listen to my voice, when I call upon thee!

- 2 Let my prayer rise like incense before thee,

The lifting of my hands like the evening offering!

- 3 Set a guard, O LORD, over my mouth;

Keep watch at the door of my lips.

- 4 Incline not my heart to any evil thing,

To participate in wicked deeds,

With men who do wrong;

And let me not eat of their dainties.

- 5 If the righteous smite me—it is a kindness,

And if he rebuke me—it is the finest oil;

Let not my head refuse it!

Indeed, my prayer is ever for them in trouble.

- 6 They will be hurled into the hands of their chieftains,

And they will learn that the word of the LORD is true.

- 7 Like a rock, split and crushed on the land,

Their bones will lie scattered at the jaws of Sheol.

- 8 But my eyes are toward thee, O Lord GOD;

In thee I seek refuge; leave me not defenseless!

- 9 Keep me from the hold of the snare which they have set for me,

And the traps of wrongdoers!

- 10 May the wicked fall into their own pits,
While I, indeed, pass by.

A PRAYER FOR SAFETY FROM FOES

[A maskil of David when he was in the cave. A prayer]

I cry aloud to the LORD; 142
I make supplications aloud to the LORD!

I pour out my complaint before him; 2
I tell my trouble before him.

When my spirit faints, 3
Thou knowest my way.

In the path where I must walk,
They lay a snare for me.

Look to the right, and see
That I have no friend. 4

Escape is cut off from me;
Nobody cares for my life.

I cry unto thee, O LORD; 5
I say, "Thou art my refuge,

My portion in the land of the living,
Give heed unto my cry; 6

For I am brought very low.

Rescue me from my pursuers;

For they are too strong for me.

Bring me forth from prison, 7
That I may give thanks to thy name.

The righteous will throng around me,
When thou dealest well with me."

A PRAYER FOR DELIVERANCE

[A Psalm of David]

Hear my prayer, O LORD; 141
Listen to my supplications!

In thy fidelity answer me, and in thy righteousness!

And enter not into judgment with thy 2
servant;

For in thy sight can no man living be innocent.

For the enemy has pursued me; 3
He has crushed my life to the earth,

He has made me dwell in dark regions,
like those long dead.

And my spirit faints within me; 4
My heart within me is appalled.

I recall the days of old; 5
I meditate upon all thy deeds;

I ponder the work of thy hands.

I spread forth my hands to thee; 6
I long for thee like a parched land.

Selah

Answer me quickly, O LORD; my 7 spirit fails.

Hide not thy face from me,
Lest I become like those that have gone down to the Pit.

8 Let me hear of thy kindness in the morning,

For I have trusted in thee!
Teach me the way that I should go,
For unto thee I lift my desire.

9 Deliver me from my enemies, O
LORD;

I seek refuge in thee.

10 Teach me to do thy will,
For thou art my God;
Let thy good spirit guide me in a straight path.

11 For thy name's sake, O LORD, save my life!

In the vindication of thyself bring me out of trouble!

12 In thy kindness cut off my enemies,
And destroy all my adversaries;
For I am thy servant.

A PRAYER FOR DIVINE REINFORCEMENTS

[Of David]

144 Blessed be the LORD, my rock,
Who trains my hands for war,
My fingers for battle;
2 My refuge, and my fortress,
My precipice, and my deliverer,
My shield, and him with whom I seek
refuge;
The one who subdues the peoples under
him.

3 O LORD, what is man that thou shouldst know him,
The son of man that thou shouldst take thought of him?

4 Man is like a breath,
His days are like a passing shadow.

5 O LORD, bow thy heavens and come down!
Touch the mountains that they smoke!

6 Hurl the lightning and scatter them;
Send forth thine arrows and rout
them.

7 Send forth thy hand from on high!
Deliver me and rescue me from the mighty waters,
From the hand of aliens,
8 Whose mouths speak lies,

And whose right hand is one of falsehood!

O God, I will sing thee a new song; 9
Upon a ten-stringed lute will I play
to thee,

Who makest kings victorious, 10
Who delivered David, his servant, from the wicked sword.

Deliver me, and rescue me from the 11
hand of aliens,

Whose mouths speak lies,
And whose right hand is one of falsehood!

A CONTENTED PEOPLE

Our sons are like plants grown large 12
in their youth;

Our daughters are like cornices carved after the fashion of a palace.

Our garner are filled to overflowing, 13
garner of all sorts;

Our flocks increase by thousands and tens of thousands in our fields.

Our oxen are heavily laden. 14

There is no riot and no alarm,
And no outcry in our streets.

How happy the people that are in 15
such a state!

How happy the people whose God is
the LORD!

AN ALPHABETIC DOXOLOGY

[A prayer of David]

℞

I will exalt thee, my God, O King; 145
And bless thy name forever and ever.

ב

All day long will I bless thee, 2
And praise thy name forever and ever.

ג

Great is the LORD; and highly to be 3
praised,
And his greatness is unlimited.

ד

One generation shall praise thy works 4
to another,
And shall declare thy mighty acts.

ה

They shall speak of the splendor of 5
thy glorious majesty;
And I will tell of thy wonders.

6 They shall talk of thy terrible might;
And I will narrate thy greatness.

7 They shall publish the memory of thy great goodness,
And they shall joyously proclaim thy righteousness.

8 Gracious and merciful is the LORD,
Slow to anger and abounding in kind-
ness.

9 The LORD is good to all,
And his mercy is over all his works.

10 All thy works give thanks to thee, O
LORD;
And thy saints bless thee.

11 They declare the glory of thy kingdom,
And tell of thy might;

12 To make known his mighty deeds to the sons of men,
And the glorious splendor of his kingdom.

13 Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
And thy dominion endures throughout the ages.

14 The LORD supports all who fall,
And raises up all who are bowed
down.

15 The eyes of all wait upon thee,
And thou givest them their food in due season.

16 Thou openest thy hand,
And completely satisfiest every living thing.

The LORD is righteous in all his ways, 17
And gracious in all his works.

The LORD is near to all who call upon 18
him,
To all who call upon him sincerely.

He fulfils the desire of those who re- 19
vere him;
He hears their cries for help and delivers them.

The LORD preserves all those who 20
love him;
But all the wicked he destroys.

May my mouth speak the praise of 21
the LORD,
And let all flesh bless his holy name,
Forever and ever!

THE PRAISEWORTHY GOD

Hallelujah! 14
Praise the LORD, O my spirit!
I will praise the LORD as long as I 2:
live;
I will sing praises to my God as long as I exist.
Put no trust in princes, 31
In a mere man, in whom is no help.
When his breath departs he returns to 41
his earth;
On that very day his plans perish.

How happy is he whose help is the 51
God of Jacob!
Whose hope is upon the LORD, his
God,
Who made the heavens and the e:
earth,
The sea and all that is therein;
Who preserves fidelity forever;
Who renders justice to the oppressed; 51
Who gives bread to the hungry.

The LORD releases the prisoners;
The LORD opens the eyes of the 61
blind;
The LORD lifts up them that are bowed down;
The LORD loves the righteous;
The LORD watches over the stran- 61
gers;

The orphan and the widow he supports;
 But the way of the wicked he thwarts.
 10 The LORD reigns forever,
 Thy God, O Zion, throughout the ages!
 Hallelujah!

THE WORKS OF GOD
 ALMIGHTY

- 147 Hallelujah!
 For it is good to sing praises to our God;
 For he is gracious; praise befits him.
 2 The LORD restores Jerusalem;
 He assembles the outcasts of Israel.
 3 He heals the broken-hearted,
 And binds up their wounds.
 4 He determines the number of the stars;
 He gives names to all of them.
 5 Great is our Lord, and abounding in strength;
 There is no limit to his understanding.
 6 The LORD upholds the humble;
 But he casts the wicked to the ground.
 7 Sing to the LORD with thanksgiving;
 Sing praises to our God upon the lute!
 8 For he covers the heavens with clouds;
 He prepares rain for the earth;
 He makes grass spring forth upon the hills.
 9 He gives to the cattle their food,
 And to the young ravens when they cry.
 10 He has no pleasure in the strength of a horse;
 He has no delight in the legs of a man!
 11 The LORD is pleased with those who revere him;
 With those who wait for his kindness.
 12 Praise the LORD, O Jerusalem!
 Extol your God, O Zion!
 13 For he strengthens the bars of your gates;
 He blesses your children within you.
 14 He makes your boundary peace;
 He satisfies you with the finest of the wheat.
 15 He sends forth his command to the earth;
 His word runs with utmost speed.

He gives snow like wool, 16
 He scatters hoarfrost like ashes.
 He casts forth his ice like crumbs; 17
 Who can stand before his cold?
 He sends forth his word and melts 18
 them;
 He makes his wind blow, the water flows.
 He declares his word to Jacob, 19
 His statutes and judgments to Israel.
 He has not acted thus with any other 20
 nation;
 Nor do they know his judgments.
 Hallelujah!

A HALLELUJAH CHORUS

Hallelujah! 148
 Praise the LORD from the heavens;
 Praise him in the heights!
 Praise him, all his angels; 2
 Praise him, all his host!
 Praise him, sun and moon; 3
 Praise him, all you stars of light!
 Praise him, highest heavens, 4
 And waters that are above the heavens!
 Let them praise the name of the 5
 LORD!
 For he commanded and they were created.
 And he fixed them fast forever and 6
 ever;
 He gave a statute that they should not transgress.
 Praise the LORD from the earth; 7
 Sea-monsters and all deeps!
 Fire and hail, snow and fog, 8
 Stormy wind, fulfilling his word!
 Mountains and all hills, 9
 Fruit-trees and all cedars!
 Wild beasts and all cattle, 10
 Reptiles and winged birds!
 Kings of the earth and all peoples, 11
 Princes and all rulers of the earth!
 Young men and maidens, too, 12
 Old men and boys!
 Let them praise the name of the 13
 LORD;
 For his name alone is exalted;
 His majesty is over the earth and the heavens,
 And he has raised up a horn for his 14
 people.
 The praise is he of all his saints,
 The sons of Israel, the people near him.
 Hallelujah!

PRAISE TO THE CONQUER-ING GOD

- 149 Hallelujah!
Sing to the LORD a new song,
His praise in the assembly of the pious.
- 2 Let Israel rejoice in his maker;
Let the sons of Zion triumph in their
king.
- 3 Let them praise his name with dancing;
Let them play to him on drum and lute.
- 4 For the LORD is pleased with his people;
He adorns the humble with victory.
- 5 Let the pious exult in honor;
Let them shout with joy upon their beds,
- 6 With exaltations of God in their throats,
And double-edged swords in their hands,
- 7 To wreak vengeance upon the nations,

Punishment upon the peoples;
To bind their kings with chains, 8
And their nobles with fetters of iron;
To execute upon them the verdict 9
that is written:
Such honor have all his saints.
Hallelujah!

THE CLOSING DOXOLOGY

Hallelujah! 150
Praise God in his sanctuary!
Praise him in his mighty firmament!
Praise him for his mighty deeds! 2
Praise him for his abundant great-
ness!
Praise him with the blast of the horn! 3
Praise him with lyre and lute!
Praise him with drum and dance! 4
Praise him with strings and pipe!
Praise him with clanging cymbals! 5
Praise him with crashing cymbals!
Let everything that breathes praise 6
the LORD!
Hallelujah!

THE BOOK OF PROVERBS

INTRODUCTION, 1:1-6

- 1 THE proverbs of Solomon, the son of David, king of Israel:
2 That men may gain wisdom and instruction,
3 May understand words of intelligence;
4 That they may receive instruction in wise conduct,
5 In rectitude, justice, and honesty;
6 That sense may be imparted to the simple,
7 Knowledge and discretion to the inexperienced—
8 The wise man also may hear and increase his learning,
9 The man of intelligence acquire sound principles—
10 That they may understand proverb and parable,
11 The words of the wise and their epigrams.

THE FIRST PRINCIPLE OF WISDOM, 1:7

- 7 Reverence for the LORD is the beginning of knowledge;
8 Fools despise wisdom and instruction.

EXHORTATION AND WARNING, 1:8-19

- 8 Hear, my son, your father's instruction,
9 And reject not your mother's teaching;
10 For a graceful garland will they be for your head,
11 And a chain for your neck.
12 My son, if sinners entice you, consent not.
13 If they say, "Come with us, let us lie in wait for the honest,
14 Let us wantonly ambush the innocent;
15 Let us swallow them up alive and sound in health,
16 As Sheol swallows up those who go down to the Pit!
17 All kinds of precious wealth shall we find,
18 We shall fill our houses with spoil;

19 Cast in your lot with us,
20 We will all have one purse"—
21 My son, walk not in the way with them,
22 Keep your foot clear of their path;
23 For their feet run to evil,
24 They hasten to shed blood.
25 As the net is baited in vain
26 In the eyes of any bird,
27 While men lie in wait for their own blood,
28 And lurk for their own lives,
29 So is it with every one who traffics in ill-gotten gain;
30 It takes away the life of its owners.

THE APPEAL OF WISDOM,

1:20-33

20 Wisdom cries aloud in the streets,
21 She lifts up her voice in the squares;
22 At the head of noisy thoroughfares she calls,
23 At the openings of the city gates she utters her words:
24 "How long, you simple ones, will you love simplicity,
25 And scoffers delight in scoffing,
26 And fools hate knowledge?
27 If you but turn and pay heed to my admonition,
28 Lo! I will open my mind to you,
29 I will acquaint you with my thoughts.
30 Because I called and you refused to listen,
31 I stretched out my hand and no one paid heed;
32 You ignored all my counsel,
33 And would not have my admonition;
34 I in my turn will laugh in the hour of your doom, 35 I will mock when your terror comes;
36 When your terror comes like a storm,
37 And your doom descends like a whirlwind,
38 When distress and anguish befall you.
39 Then they may call me, but I will not answer;
40 They may seek me, but they shall not find me.
41 Because they hated knowledge,
42 And chose not reverence for the LORD;

- 30 They would not have my counsel,
They spurned all my admonition;
31 Now shall they eat of the fruit of their conduct,
And shall have their fill of what they purposed.
32 For the waywardness of the simple shall slay them,
And the complacency of fools shall destroy them;
33 While he who listens to me shall live
in security,
And shall enjoy peace of mind without dread of evil."

THE BLESSINGS OF WISDOM,
2:1-22

- 2 My son, if you receive my words,
And store my commands within you,
2 Inclining your ear to wisdom,
And applying your mind to reason;
3 If you appeal to intelligence,
And lift up your voice to reason;
4 If you seek her as silver,
And search for her as for hidden treasures—
5 Then will you understand reverence for the LORD,
And will discover the knowledge of
God;
6 For the LORD gives wisdom,
Out of his mouth come knowledge and reason;
7 He has help in store for the upright,
He is a shield to those who walk honestly;
8 He guards the paths of justice,
And protects the way of his pious ones;
9 Then will you understand rectitude and justice,
And will keep to every good course;
10 For when wisdom finds a welcome within you,
And knowledge becomes a pleasure to
you,
11 Discretion will watch over you,
Reason will guard you—
12 Saving you from the way of evil men,
From men who use perverse speech;
13 Who leave the paths of uprightness,
To walk in ways of darkness;
14 Who delight in doing evil,
Exult in wanton wickedness;
15 Who are crooked in their ways,
And tortuous in their paths—
16 Saving you from the wife of another,
From the adulteress who plies you
with smooth words,

Who forsakes the companion of her 17
youth,
And forgets her pledge to her God;
For her paths lead down to death, 18
And her tracks descend to the Shades;
None who go to her come back again, 19
Or reach the paths of life—Helping you to walk in the way of 20
good men,
And to keep to the paths of the
righteous;
For the upright will live in the land, 21
And the honest will remain in it;
While the wicked will be cut off from 22
the land,
And the faithless will be rooted out of
it.

THE FEAR OF THE LORD,
3:1-12

My son, forget not my teaching, 3
But keep my commands in mind;
For a long and happy life, 2
With abundant prosperity, will they bring to you.
Let not kindness and good faith leave 3
you;
Fasten them round your neck,
Write them on the tablet of your mind;
So will you find favor and good will 4
In the eyes of God and man.
Trust in the LORD with all your heart, 5
And rely not on your own understand-
ing;
In all your ways acknowledge him, 6
And he will make straight your paths.
Be not wise in your own eyes, 7 Reverse the LORD, and withdraw from
evil;
This will be health to your flesh, 8
And refreshment to your bones.
Honor the LORD with your substance, 9
With the firstfruits of all your produce;
So will your barns be filled with grain, 10
And your vats will be bursting with wine.
My son, despise not the discipline of 11
the LORD,
And resent not his correction;
For whom the LORD loves he corrects, 12 Even as a father the son in whom he delights.

THE WORTH OF WISDOM,

3:13-26

- 33 How happy is the man who finds wisdom,
The man who gains understanding!
- 34 For her income is better than income of silver,
And her revenue than gold.
- 35 She is more precious than corals,
And none of your heart's desires can compare with her.
- 36 Long life is in her right hand,
In her left are riches and honor.
- 37 Her ways are ways of pleasantness,
And all her paths are peace.
- 38 She is a tree of life to those who grasp her,
And happy is every one who holds her fast.
- 39 The LORD by wisdom founded the earth,
By reason he established the heavens;
40 By his knowledge the depths are broken up,
And the clouds drop down dew.
- 41 My son, keep guard on wisdom and discretion,
Let them not slip from your eyes;
42 They will be life to you,
And an ornament round your neck.
- 43 Then you may go your way in security,
Without striking your foot on a stone;
44 When you rest, you will not be afraid,
When you lie down, your sleep will be sweet;
- 45 You will fear no sudden terror,
Nor the storm that falls on the wicked;
46 For the LORD will be your confidence,
And will keep your foot from the snare.

WISE COUNSELS, 3:27-35

- 27 Withhold not help from the needy,
When it is in your power to render it.
- 28 Say not to your neighbor, "Go, and come again; Tomorrow I will give," when you have it beside you.
- 29 Plot no mischief against your neighbor,
When he lives in confidence beside you.
- 30 Do not idly quarrel with a man,
If he have done you no harm.
- 31 Envy not the lawless man,
And choose none of his ways;

For the crooked man is an abomination to the LORD,
While the upright enjoy his confidence.
The curse of the LORD is on the house of the wicked,
But the home of the righteous he blesses;
The scoffers he scoffs at,
But to the humble he shows favor;
Wise men come to honor,
But fools gain nothing but shame.

A FATHER'S INSTRUCTIONS,

4:1-27

- Hear, my son, a father's instruction,
And attend, that you may gain understanding;
- Because I give you sound learning,
Forsake not my teaching!
- When as a boy I was tender in my father's sight,
And dearly beloved in the eyes of my mother,
He taught me, and said to me:
"Hold fast my words in your mind,
Keep my commands, and live—
Forget not, and swerve not from the words of my mouth—
Get wisdom, get understanding;
Forsake her not, and she will watch over you;
Love her, and she will safeguard you.
Above all things get wisdom;
Whatever else you get, get understanding.
- Prize her, and she will exalt you;
Embrace her, and she will bring you to honor.
- A graceful garland will she place upon your head;
A glorious crown will she bestow upon you."
- Hear, my son, and receive my sayings,
That the years of your life may be many.
- I teach you the way of wisdom;
I lead you in paths of uprightness.
When you walk, your steps will not be hampered,
And if you run you will not stumble.
Keep fast hold of instruction, let her not go;
Guard her, for she is your life.
Enter not the path of the wicked,
And walk not in the way of evil men;
Avoid it, traverse it not,
Shun it, and pass on.

- 16 For they sleep not unless they have done mischief to someone,
Their slumber is broken unless they have caused someone to stumble;
- 17 The bread they eat is won by crime,
And the wine they drink is won by lawlessness.
- 19 The way of the wicked is dark as pitch;
They know not at what they stumble.
- 18 But the path of the righteous is like the light of the dawn,
That shines ever more brightly till the day is full.
- 20 My son, attend to my words,
Incline your ear to my sayings;
- 21 Let them not slip from your eyes,
Keep them fixed in your mind;
- 22 For they are life to those who find them,
Health to all their flesh.
- 23 Guard your heart with all vigilance,
For thence are the well-springs of life.
- 24 Perverse words put away from you,
And crooked speech put far from you.
- 25 Let your eyes look right in front,
And your eyelids be directed straight ahead of you.
- 26 Keep level the track for your foot,
And let all your ways be firm.
- 27 Turn not to right or left,
Remove your foot from evil.

PURE AND IMPURE LOVE,

5:1-23

- 6 My son, attend to wisdom,
Incline your ear to reason;
- 2 That you may be kept from vile counsels,
And be preserved from evil lips.
- 3 For the lips of the adulterous woman drop honey,
And her mouth is smoother than oil;
- 4 But the end of her is as bitter as wormwood,
As sharp as a two-edged sword.
- 5 Her feet go down to death,
Her steps lead straight to Sheol;
- 6 No level path of life she treads,
Her tracks wander—she knows not whither.
- 7 So now, my son, listen to me,
And swerve not from the words of my mouth.
- 8 Keep far away from her,

- And approach not the door of her house;
Lest you give up your wealth to others, 9
The earnings of your life to aliens;
Lest strangers have their fill of your 10
substance,
And the produce of your labors go to an alien's house;
And then you groan when your end 11
comes,
When your flesh and blood come to an end;
And you say, "How I hated instruc- 12
tion,
And scorned admonition,
And listened not to the voice of my 13
teachers,
Nor inclined my ear to my instructors!
I had well-nigh come to utter evil 14
In the midst of the assembled community."

- Drink water from your own cistern, 15
Running water from your own well.
Why should your springs be scattered 16 abroad,
Your streams of water in the streets?
Let them be for yourself alone, 17
And not for strangers along with you.
Let your fountain be blessed to you, 18
And get your enjoyment from the wife of your youth.
A lovely hind, a graceful doe— 19
Let her breasts intoxicate you always,
With her love be continually ravished.
Why, my son, should you be ravished 20
with the wife of another,
And embrace the bosom of an adulteress?
For the ways of a man are before the 21
eyes of the LORD,
And all his paths he weighs in the balance;
The wicked will be caught by his own 22
misdeeds,
He will be held in the toils of his own sin;
He will die for want of instruction, 23
He will stagger to ruin through the greatness of his folly.

WARNINGS AGAINST FOOLISH
WAYS, 6:1-19

- My son, if you have become surety for
your neighbor,
Have pledged yourself for another;
If you have been snared by your lips, :

- Have been caught by the words of your mouth;
- 3 Do this now, my son, and free yourself—
Since you have fallen into your neighbor's power—
Go in hot haste, and lay siege to your neighbor;
- 4 Give no sleep to your eyes,
Nor slumber to your eyelids;
- 5 Free yourself like a gazelle from the snare,
Like a bird from the hand of the fowler.
- 6 Go to the ant, O sluggard, Study her ways, and learn wisdom;
- 7 For though she has no chief,
No officer, or ruler,
- 8 She secures her food in the summer,
She gathers her provisions in the harvest.
- 9 How long will you lie, O sluggard?
When will you rise from your sleep?
- 10 "A little sleep, a little slumber,
A little folding of hands to rest"—
- 11 So will poverty come upon you like a footpad,
And want like an armed man.
- 12 A knave, a villain,
Is he who deals in crooked speech,
- 13 Winks with his eyes, shuffles with his feet,
Signs with his fingers,
- 14 In whose mind is perversity,
Who plots mischief all the time,
Who sows discord.
- 15 Therefore his doom will come suddenly,
In an instant he will be crushed beyond recovery.
- 16 Six things the LORD hates,
Seven are an abomination to him:
- 17 Haughty eyes, a lying tongue,
And hands that shed innocent blood;
- 18 A mind that plots mischievous schemes,
Feet that are quick to run after evil;
- 19 A false witness who utters lies,
And he who sows discord among brothers.

WARNINGS AGAINST THE ADULTERESS, 6:20—7:27

- 20 Keep, my son, your father's charge,
And reject not your mother's instruction;
- 21 Fasten them forever on your mind,

- Hang them round your neck.
When you walk, she will guide you; 22
When you lie down, she will watch over you;
When you awake, she will talk with you.
- For the charge is a lamp, and the instruction a light;
The admonitions of discipline are the way of life;
- Keeping you safe from the evil woman, 24
From the smooth tongue of the adulteress.
- Lust not in your heart after her beauty, 25
Nor let her catch you with her eyelids!
- For the price of a harlot is but a piece 26
of bread,
But the adulteress hunts for the precious life.
- Can a man take fire in his bosom, 27
And his clothes not be burned?
Or can a man walk on red-hot coals, 28
And his feet not be scorched?
So is it with him who goes in to his 29 neighbor's wife;
None who touches her will go unpunished.
- Do not men despise a thief even if he 30 steal
To satisfy his appetite when he is hungry?
And if he be caught he must pay back 31
sevenfold,
He must give up all the goods in his house.
- But he who commits adultery with a 32 woman is devoid of sense,
Only he who would bring ruin on himself does such a thing.
- Ignominious blows will he get, 33
And his disgrace will not be wiped out.
For jealousy maddens a man, 34
So that he has no mercy on the day of vengeance;
- He will accept no ransom, 35
Nor will he be satisfied though you bring him many gifts.
- My son, keep my words, 7
And store my commands within you;
Keep my commands, and live— 2
My teaching like the pupil of your eye;
Fasten them on your fingers, 3
Write them on the tablet of your mind.
Say to Wisdom, "Thou art my sister," 4
And call Intelligence your friend,
That they may keep you from the wife 5
of another,

From the adulteress who plies you
with smooth words.

6 For at the window of my house
Through my lattice I looked out;

7 I saw among the simple ones,
I observed among the youths,
A lad devoid of sense,

8 Passing through the street near her corner,
Stepping along the way to her house,

9 In the evening twilight,
In the darkness at the dead of night;

10 And lo! the woman comes to meet him,
In harlot's dress, and with treacherous mind—

11 She is boisterous and fickle,
Her feet cannot rest at home;

12 Now she is in the street, now in the square,
By every corner she lies in wait.

13 So she catches him, and kisses him,
She puts on a bold face, and says to
him;

14 "I was due to hold a thanksgiving feast,
And today I am paying my vows;

15 So I came out to meet you,
To look for you, and I have found you!

16 I have spread my couch with coverlets,
With striped sheets of Egyptian yarn;

17 I have perfumed my bed with myrrh,
With aloes, and with cinnamon;

18 Come, let us take our fill of love till
morning,
Let us revel in caresses!

19 For my husband is not at home,
He has gone a far journey;

20 A bag of money he took with him,
He will not come home till full moon."

21 With her much fair speech she beguiles
him,
With her smooth lips she carries him
away;

22 He follows her bewitched,
Like an ox that goes to the slaughter,
Or a bird that speeds to the snare,

23 Or a stag that is lured to the net,
And knows not that its life is in danger,
Till an arrow pierces its liver.

24 So now, my son, listen to me,
And attend to the words of my mouth;

25 Swerve not toward her ways,
Stray not into her paths;

26 For many are the dead she has laid low,
A mighty host has she slain;

27 The ways to her house are ways to Sheol,
Leading down to the chambers of
death.

THE INVITATION OF WISDOM,

8:1-36

Does not Wisdom call, 8
And Reason lift up her voice?
At the head of the highways, on the 2
road,
Between the streets she takes her stand;

By the gates that enter the city, 3
At the doorways she cries aloud:
"To you, O men, I call, 4
And my appeal is to the sons of men.
You simple ones, learn sense, 5
You foolish ones, learn wisdom.
Listen! for noble things I shall speak, 6
With right things my lips will open;
My mouth will utter truth, 7
While wickedness is an abomination to my lips;

Sincere are all the words of my mouth, 8
There is nothing tortuous or perverse in them;

They are all of them straightforward 9
to the man of understanding,
And right to those who find knowledge.
Receive instruction instead of silver, 10
And knowledge rather than choice
gold;

For wisdom is better than corals, 11
With her no treasures can compare.

"I, Wisdom, have my home with good 12
sense,
So I obtain knowledge of evil devices.
Reverence for the LORD is hatred of 13
evil;

Pride and arrogance, evil ways,
And perverse speech I hate. 14
Mine are counsel and skill,
Mine are reason and might. 15
By me kings reign, 16
And rulers administer justice;

By me princes hold sway, 17
And nobles govern the earth.
I love those who love me, 18
And those who seek me will find me.
Riches and honor are with me, 19
Dazzling wealth and prosperity.
My fruit is better than gold, even the 20
finest of gold,
And my produce than choice silver.
I walk in the way of rectitude, 21
In the midst of the paths of justice,
Endowing my friends with wealth, 22
And filling their treasuries.

"The LORD formed me as the first of 23
his works,

The beginning of his deeds of old;
 23 In the earliest ages was I fashioned,
 At the first, when the earth began.
 24 When there were no depths was I brought forth,
 When there were no fountains brimming with water;
 25 Before the mountains were sunk,
 Before the hills was I brought forth; 26 While as yet he had not made the earth and the fields,
 Nor the first clods of the world.
 27 When he established the heavens I was there,
 When he traced the vault over the face of the deep;
 28 When he made firm the skies above,
 When he fixed the fountains of the deep;
 29 When he set for the sea its bound,
 So that the waters should not trans-
 gress his command;
 When he traced the foundations of the
 earth,
 30 I was beside him as a ward of his;
 And daily was I filled with delight,
 As I sported before him all the time,
 31 Sported in this world of his,
 And found my delight in the sons of
 men.
 32 "So now, O children, listen to me;
 For happy are those who keep my
 ways.
 33 Hear instruction, and be wise,
 And reject it not!
 34 Happy is the man who listens to me,
 Watching daily at my gates,
 Waiting at my door-posts;
 35 For he who finds me finds life,
 And wins favor from the LORD;
 36 But he who misses me wrongs himself,
 All who hate me love death."

WISDOM AND FOLLY,

9:1-6,<sup>1</sup> 13-18

19 Wisdom has built her house,
 She has set up her seven pillars;
 2 She has slain her beasts, she has mingled her wine,
 She has spread her table.
 3 She has sent out her maidens, and calls
 On the heights of the city highways:
 4 "He who is simple, let him turn in here,"

While to him who is senseless she says:
 5 "Come, eat of my bread,

<sup>1</sup> For vs. 7-12 see next column.

And drink of the wine I have mingled;
 Forsake your folly, and live, 6 And keep straight on the path of reason."

Folly is boisterous and wanton, 13
 She has no sense of shame.
 She sits at the door of her house, 14
 On a seat by the city highways,
 Calling to those who pass by, 15
 Who are keeping straight on their
 ways:

"He who is simple, let him turn in 16
 here,"

While to him who is senseless she says:
 "Stolen water is sweet, 17
 And bread eaten in secret is pleasant."
 But he knows not that the Shades are 18
 there,
 That her guests are in the depths of Sheol.

THE FRUITS OF WISDOM AND
FOLLY, 9:7-12

He who corrects a scoffer draws insult 7
 on himself;
 And he who reproves a wicked man—
 it becomes a blot to him.
 Reprove not a scoffer, lest he hate you; 8
 Reprove a wise man, and he will love
 you.
 Instruct a wise man, and he will be- 9
 come still wiser;
 Teach a righteous man, and he will learn the more.

The beginning of wisdom is reverence 10
 for the LORD,
 And the knowledge of the Holy One is
 understanding;
 For through me your days will be 11
 multiplied,
 And the years of your life will be increased.
 If you are wise, your wisdom will turn 12
 to your profit;
 But if you are a scoffer, you must bear
 the consequences alone.

THE PROVERBS OF SOLOMON,
10:1—22:16

A wise son makes a glad father; 10
 But a foolish son is a grief to his mother.

Treasures unjustly acquired are of no 2 avail;
 But honesty saves from death.

- 12 The lips of the righteous know good will;
But the mouth of the wicked, malice.
- 1 False scales are an abomination to the LORD;
But a just weight is his delight.
- 2 When pride comes, scorn comes;
But with the modest is wisdom.
- 3 Upright men are guided by their honesty;
But faithless men are ruined by their crookedness.
- 4 Wealth is of no avail on the day of wrath;
But righteousness saves from death.
- 5 The honest man's path is kept straight by his righteousness;
But the wicked will fall by his wickedness.
- 5 The upright are saved by their righteousness;
But the faithless are caught by their lusts.
- 7 When a wicked man dies, his expectation perishes;
All hope of success is lost.
- 1 The innocent man is rescued from trouble;
And the guilty takes his place.
- 2 With his mouth would the godless man ruin his neighbor;
But through knowledge the righteous are saved.
- 3 When righteous men prosper, the city exults;
And when wicked men perish, there is jubilation.
- 1 Through the blessing of the upright the city is exalted;
But through the mouth of the wicked it is overthrown.
- 2 The senseless man pours contempt on his neighbor;
But the intelligent man keeps silent.
- 3 A talebearer reveals secrets;
But a trustworthy man keeps a confidence.
- For want of guidance a people will 14 fall;
But safety lies in a wealth of counselors.
- He who becomes surety for a stranger 15 will suffer for it;
But he who hates giving pledges is secure.
- A gracious woman wins respect; 16
And diligent men win riches.
- A kindly man does good to himself; 17
But a cruel man does harm to himself.
- The wicked man earns illusive wages; 18
But he who sows righteousness has a true reward.
- He who devotes himself to righteousness 19
takes the road to life;
But he who pursues wickedness the road to death.
- Those perverted in mind are an abom- 20
ination to the LORD;
But those who walk honestly are his delight.
- My hand upon it! the evil man will 21
not go unpunished;
But the race of the righteous will escape.
- Like a golden ring in the snout of a 22
sow
Is a beautiful woman lacking in taste.
- The desire of the righteous can end 23
only in good;
The expectation of the wicked in wrath.
- One man spends, and grows still 24 richer;
Another holds back his due share, only to bring himself to want.
- The generous man will be enriched; 25
And he who waters will himself be watered.
- He who holds back grain will be 26 cursed by the people;
But blessing will be upon the head of him who sells it.
- He who seeks what is good will win 27
favor;

- But he who aims at what is harmful will bring it upon himself.
- 28 He who trusts in his riches will fall; But like green leaves will the righteous flourish.
- 29 He who stints his household will reap nothing but wind; A wise man's slave will such a fool become.
- 30 The fruit of righteousness is a tree of life; But lawlessness destroys men.
- 31 If the most righteous in the land are punished, How much more the wicked and the sinner!
- 12 He who loves instruction loves knowledge; But he who hates admonition is stupid.
- 2 A good man will win favor from the LORD; But a schemer will he condemn.
- 3 By wickedness no man can stand; But the root of the righteous will never be moved.
- 4 A good wife is a crown to her husband; But one who acts shamefully is like rot in his bones.
- 5 The plans of the righteous are honest; The designs of the wicked are treacherous.
- 6 The words of the wicked lie in wait for blood; But the speech of the upright saves men.
- 7 When the wicked are overthrown, and cease to be, The house of the righteous will stand.
- 8 A man is praised according to his intelligence; But one perverted in mind is despised.
- 9 Better a man of low rank, who works for himself, Than he who assumes honor, yet has nothing to eat.
- A righteous man cares for his beast; But the mercy of the wicked is cruel.
- He who tills his ground will have plenty of food; But he who follows empty pursuits is devoid of sense.
- Evil men will be caught in the toils of their wickedness; But the root of the righteous will remain forever.
- By the sin of his lips is the guilty man ensnared; While the innocent escapes from trouble.
- From the fruit of his mouth will the good man enjoy good in abundance; And the work of a man's hands will come back to him.
- The way of a fool is right in his own eyes; But a wise man listens to advice.
- A fool's anger is shown at once; But a sensible man ignores an affront.
- He who utters the truth affirms that which will stand; But a lying witness that which will bring disappointment.
- There are those whose prating is like the thrusts of a sword; But the tongue of the wise brings healing.
- The truthful lip will endure forever; But the lying tongue is only for a moment.
- Disappointment comes to those who plot evil; But happiness to those who plan good.
- No harm can befall the righteous; But the lives of the wicked are full of misfortune.
- Lying lips are an abomination to the LORD; But those who deal truthfully are his delight.
- A man of sense conceals what he knows; But fools proclaim their folly.

- 4 The hand of the diligent will bear rule;
But the slack hand will be enslaved.
- 5 Anxiety in a man's heart makes it sink;
But a kindly word will turn it into gladness.
- 6 The righteous man departs from evil;
But the way of the wicked leads them astray.
- 7 The slothful man will not secure his prey;
But the diligent man wins precious wealth.
- 8 In the path of righteousness there is life;
But the way of wickedness leads to death.
- 9 A wise son pays heed to his father's instruction;
But a scoffer listens to no rebuke.
- 2 From the fruit of his mouth will the good man enjoy what is good;
But the appetite of the faithless will be fed on violence.
- 3 He who guards his mouth preserves his life;
He who opens wide his lips brings ruin on himself.
- 4 The sluggard craves, but gets nothing;
The desire of the diligent is richly supplied.
- 5 The righteous man hates a lie;
But the wicked acts foully and shamefully.
- 6 Righteousness safeguards the man of integrity;
But wickedness overthrows the sinner.
- 7 One man pretends to be rich, yet has nothing;
Another man pretends to be poor, yet has great wealth.
- 8 A man's riches provide ransom for his life;
But the poor man finds no means of redemption.
- 9 The light of the righteous will shine brightly;
- But the lamp of the wicked will be put out.
- Pride causes nothing but strife; 16
But with the modest there is wisdom.
- Wealth got by scheming will diminish; 11
But he who gathers little by little will increase his store.
- Hope deferred makes the heart sick; 12
But desire fulfilled is a tree of life.
- He who despises the word will pay for it;
But he who reveres the command will be rewarded.
- The teaching of the wise is a fountain 14
of life,
By which to avoid the snares of death.
- Good conduct wins favor; 15
But faithless conduct disfavor.
- In all things the sensible man acts 15
with intelligence;
But the fool displays his folly.
- A faithless messenger falls into trou- 17
ble;
But a trustworthy envoy insures success.
- He who rejects instruction will have 18 poverty and shame;
But he who pays heed to admonition will be honored.
- Desire fulfilled is sweet; 19
But fools hate to turn from evil.
- He who walks with wise men will be- 20
come wise;
But the companion of fools will smart
for it.
- Ill fortune will dog sinners; 21
But good fortune will overtake the righteous.
- The good man leaves an inheritance 22
to his children's children;
But the wealth of the sinner is laid in store for the righteous.
- The fallow land of the proud yields 23
food in abundance;

- But it is swept away through injustice.
- 24 He who spares his rod hates his son;
But he who loves him seeks to discipline him.
- 25 The righteous man eats to his heart's content;
But the appetite of the wicked is never satisfied.
- 14 The wise woman builds up her house;
But with her own hands the foolish one tears down her house.
- 2 He who reveres the LORD walks uprightly;
But he who despises him is crooked in his ways.
- 3 In the mouth of the foolish is a rod for his back;
But the lips of the wise will preserve them.
- 4 Where there are no oxen, there is no grain;
But abundance of produce comes through the strength of the ox.
- 5 A truthful witness will not lie;
But a dishonest witness breathes out lies.
- 6 The scoffer seeks wisdom, and finds it not;
But to the man of intelligence, knowledge is easy.
- 7 Leave the presence of a fool;
You will gain no knowledge from his talk.
- 8 The wisdom of a man of sense enables him to understand his way;
But the folly of fools misleads them.
- 9 Guilt has its home among fools;
Good will among the upright.
- 10 Every man knows his own bitterness;
And in his joy no stranger can share.
- 11 The house of the wicked will be destroyed;
But the tent of the upright will flourish.
- 12 There is a way that seems straight to a man;
But the end of it leads to death.
- Even in laughter the heart may be aching;
And the end of joy may be sorrow.
- The perverse man will reap the full fruit of his ways;
And the good man the full fruit of his deeds.
- The simple man trusts everything;
But the sensible man pays heed to his steps.
- The wise man is cautious, and keeps away from trouble;
But the fool is blustering and confident in himself.
- A man of quick temper acts foolishly;
But a man of discretion is patient.
- The simple gain possession of folly;
But men of sense win the crown of knowledge.
- Evil men must bow before the good,
And wicked men, at the gates of the righteous.
- The poor man is hated even by his neighbor;
But the rich has many friends.
- He who despises his neighbor sins;
But happy is he who is kind to the poor!
- Do not those go astray who plan evil,
While those who plan good meet with kindness and good faith?
- In all labor there is profit;
But mere talk tends only to penury.
- The crown of wise men is wisdom;
The garland of fools is folly.
- A truthful witness saves lives;
But he who utters lies destroys them.
- He who reveres the LORD has a strong ground of confidence,
In which his children also will find a refuge.
- Reverence for the LORD is a fountain of life,
By which to avoid the snares of death.

- 8 In a wealth of people there is glory for a king;
In a dearth of people there is ruin for a prince.
- 9 A forbearing man shows much intelligence;
A quick-tempered man shows great folly.
- 3 A tranquil mind is health for the body;
But passion is a rot in the bones.
- 1 He who oppresses the poor insults his Maker;
But he who is kind to the needy honors him.
- 2 The wicked man is brought down by his wrongdoing;
But the righteous man finds a refuge in his integrity.
- 3 In the mind of a man of intelligence wisdom takes up its abode;
But folly in the heart of fools.
- 1 Righteousness exalts a nation;
But sin is a people's ruin.
- 5 A capable servant will enjoy the king's favor;
But a worthless one will incur his wrath.
- 1 A gentle answer turns away wrath;
But harsh words stir up anger.
- 2 The tongue of the wise drops knowledge;
But the mouth of fools pours out folly.
- 3 The eyes of the LORD are in every place,
Keeping watch on the evil and the good.
- 4 A soothing tongue is a tree of life;
But wild words break the spirit.
- 5 A fool scorns his father's instruction;
But he who pays heed to admonition shows good sense.
- 6 In the house of the righteous there is ample wealth;
But the revenue of the wicked will be cut off.
- 7 The lips of the wise diffuse knowledge;
Not so the mind of fools.
- The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to the LORD;
But the prayer of the upright is his delight.
- The way of the wicked is an abomination to the LORD;
But he loves the man who follows after righteousness.
- Stern discipline awaits the man who leaves the right way;
He who hates admonition will die.
- Sheol and Abaddon lie open before the LORD;
How much more the minds of men!
- A scoffer loves not to be admonished;
To wise men he will not go.
- A glad heart makes a bright face;
But through sadness of heart the spirit is broken.
- The mind of the intelligent man seeks knowledge;
But the mouth of fools feeds on folly.
- For the miserable man every day is unhappy;
But the cheerful man enjoys a perpetual feast.
- Better a little, with reverence for the LORD,
Than much treasure, and anxiety with it.
- Better a dish of herbs, where love is,
Than a fatted ox, and hatred with it.
- A passionate man stirs up discord;
But a patient man allays strife.
- The way of the wicked is hedged with thorns;
But the path of the upright is paved like a highway.
- A wise son makes a glad father;
But a foolish man despises his mother.
- Folly is joy to a man without sense;
But a man of intelligence keeps a straightforward course.
- When no counsel is taken, plans miscarry;

- But when there are many advisers,
they succeed.
- 23 An apt utterance is a joy to a man;
And a word in season—how good it is!
- 24 The wise man's path leads upward to life,
Carrying him away from Sheol beneath.
- 25 The LORD will uproot the house of the proud;
But he will establish the widow's landmark.
- 26 An evil man's thoughts are an abom-
ination to the LORD;
But the words of the pure are pleasing
in his sight.
- 27 He who traffics in ill-gotten gain wrecks his own household;
But he who hates a bribe will prosper.
- 28 The righteous man studies what he should answer;
But the mouth of the wicked pours out evil.
- 29 The LORD is far from the wicked;
But he hears the prayer of the righteous.
- 30 Bright eyes gladden the heart;
Good news fattens the bones.
- 31 He who listens to wholesome admoni-
tion
Will dwell among the wise.
- 32 He who rejects instruction despises himself;
But he who listens to admonition gains understanding.
- 33 Reverence for the LORD is the basis of wisdom,
And humility leads to honor.
- 16 A man may arrange his thoughts;
But the utterance of the tongue is from the LORD.
- 2 All the ways of a man are pure in his own eyes;
But the LORD weighs the motives.
- 3 Commit your business to the LORD;
And your plans will prosper.
- The LORD has made everything for its own end,
Even the wicked for the day of calamity.
- Every proud-minded man is an abom-
ination to the LORD;
My hand upon it! he will not go unpunished.
- By kindness and good faith guilt is atoned for;
And by reverence for the LORD one avoids calamity.
- When a man's ways are pleasing to the
LORD,
He makes even his enemies to be friends with him.
- Better a little, with righteousness,
Than great revenues, with injustice.
- A man may plan his course;
But the LORD directs his steps.
- On the lips of the king is an oracle;
His mouth cannot go wrong in judgment.
- Balance and scales are set by the LORD;
All the weights in the bag are his concern.
- Wrong-doing is an abomination to the
LORD;
For a throne is established by righteousness.
- Honest lips are the delight of a king;
He loves the man who speaks aright.
- The king's wrath is a forerunner of
death;
But a wise man can appease it.
- In the light of the king's countenance is life;
And his favor is like a spring rain-cloud.
- How much better it is to get wisdom
than gold,
And more desirable to get understanding than silver!
- The path of the upright avoids calamity;

- He who pays heed to his way safeguards his life.
- 18 Pride goes before destruction,
And a haughty spirit before a fall.
- 19 It is better to be humble with the lowly
Than to share spoil with the proud.
- 20 He who pays heed to the word will prosper;
And happy is he who trusts in the LORD!
- 21 The wise man is counted intelligent;
And sweetness of speech adds persuasiveness to his teaching.
- 22 Wisdom is a fountain of life to him who has it;
But folly brings chastisement to fools.
- 23 The mind of the wise man imparts intelligence to his speech,
And adds persuasiveness to the teaching of his lips.
- 24 Pleasant words are a honeycomb, Sweet to the spirit, and healthful to the body.
- 25 There is a way that seems straight to a man;
But the end of it leads to death.
- 26 The laboring man's appetite labors
for him;
For his hunger urges him on.
- 27 A depraved man digs up evil;
While the words on his lips are like a scorching fire.
- 28 A fickle man sows discord;
And a whisperer separates friends.
- 29 A lawless man entices his neighbor,
And leads him into a way that is not good.
- 30 He who shuts his eyes is hatching
some crooked scheme;
He who tightens his lips concocts some mischief.
- 31 Gray hairs are a glorious crown,
Which is won by a righteous life.
- 32 A forbearing man is better than a warrior;
- He who rules his temper than he who takes a city.
- The lot is cast into the lap; 33
But the decision rests wholly with the
LORD.
- Better a morsel of dry bread, and 17
peace with it,
Than a house full of feasting, with strife.
- A capable servant will rule over a dis- 2
solute son,
And will share the inheritance among the brothers.
- Like the smelter for silver, and the 3
furnace for gold,
The LORD is a tester of hearts.
- An evil man pays heed to wicked 4
words;
A false man gives ear to mischievous speech.
- He who mocks the poor insults his 5
Maker;
He who rejoices at their calamity will
not go unpunished.
- Children's children are the crown of 6
old men;
And fathers are the pride of their children.
- Lordly words are not fitting for a fool; 7
Much less are lying words for a noble-
man.
- A bribe is a precious gem in the eyes 8
of him who has it;
Wherever he turns, he prospers.
- He who overlooks an offense promotes 9 good will;
He who repeats a matter separates
friends.
- A rebuke sinks deeper into a man of 10 intelligence
Than a hundred lashes into a fool.
- A rebellious man is set on mischief; 11
But a ruthless messenger will be sent to him.
- Better be met by a bear robbed of her 12
cubs
Than by a fool in his folly.

- 13 He who returns evil for good—Evil will never depart from his house.
- 14 The beginning of strife is like one letting out water;
Leave off contention before a quarrel break out!
- 15 He who acquits the guilty, and he who condemns the innocent—
Both of them are an abomination to the LORD.
- 16 Of what use is money in the hand of a fool
To buy wisdom, when he has no sense?
- 17 A friend is friendly at all times;
But a brother is born for adversity.
- 18 A man devoid of sense is he who pledges himself,
And becomes security in the presence of his neighbor.
- 19 He loves punishment who loves strife;
He courts destruction who builds his gate high.
- 20 He who is perverse in mind will meet with no good;
And he who is crooked in speech will fall into trouble.
- 21 He who begets a fool does it to his sorrow;
And the father of a dolt will have no joy of him.
- 22 A happy heart is a healing medicine;
But a broken spirit dries up the bones.
- 23 A wicked man will accept a bribe from the bosom
To divert the course of justice.
- 24 The man of intelligence has his face set on wisdom;
But the eyes of a fool are on the ends of the earth.
- 25 A foolish son is a grief to his father,
And a bitter sorrow to her who bore him.
- 26 Even to fine the innocent is not right,
While to scourge the noble is beyond bearing.
- 27 He who spares his words has true wisdom;
- And he who keeps cool in temper is a man of intelligence.
- Even a fool is counted wise, if he keep 2 silent—
Intelligent, if he close his lips.
- The recluse seeks his own selfish in- 10
terests;
He quarrels with every sound principle.
- A fool has no pleasure in what is rea- 2
sonable,
But only in self-display.
- With wickedness comes contempt; 3
And with dishonor comes disgrace.
- The words of a man's mouth are deep 4
waters;
The fountain of wisdom is a bubbling brook.
- It is not right to favor the guilty, 15
Nor to put the innocent in the wrong.
- A fool's lips make for strife; 16
And his mouth calls for blows.
- A fool's mouth is his ruin; 17
And his lips are a snare to him.
- The words of a whisperer are like dainty 18
morsels;
They penetrate into the innermost being.
- He who is slack at his work 19
Is brother to him who destroys.
- The name of the LORD is a strong 10
tower,
To which the righteous man runs and is safe.
- A rich man's wealth is his fortress; 11
And like a high wall are his riches.
- Haughtiness goes before destruction; 1
And humility before honor.
- To answer before one hears 11
Is one's folly and shame.
- A brave spirit will sustain a man in his 11
infirmary;
But a broken spirit who can bear?
- The mind of the intelligent acquires 1
knowledge;
And the ear of the wise seeks wisdom.

- 16 A gift from a man makes room for him,
And brings him before the great.
- 17 He who pleads first in a case appears to be in the right;
Then his rival comes and tests him.
- 18 The lot puts an end to disputes,
And decides between powerful rivals.
- 19 A brother helped by a brother is like a fortified city;
He holds firm as the bar of a castle.
- 20 Of the fruit of his mouth a man will have his fill;
With the outcome of his lips will he be satisfied.
- 21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue;
Those who indulge it must eat the fruit of it.
- 22 He who finds a wife finds good fortune;
He wins a favor from the LORD.
- 23 The poor man speaks entreatingly;
But the rich man answers roughly.
- 24 There are friends who play at friendship;
And there is a friend who sticks closer than a brother.
- 10 Better a poor man, who walks in his integrity,
Than one who is crooked in his ways, although he be rich.
- 2 To act without reflection is not good;
And to be over-hasty is to miss the mark.
- 3 A man's folly ruins his business;
Then he rages against the LORD.
- 4 Wealth adds many friends;
But the poor man is estranged from his friend.
- 5 A false witness will not go unpunished;
He who utters lies will not escape.
- 6 Many pay court to the noble;
Everyone is a friend to him who gives gifts.
- A poor man's brothers all hate him;
How much more do his friends stand aloof from him!
When he pursues them with words, they are gone.
- He who acquires wisdom is a friend to himself;
He who pays heed to reason will find good fortune.
- A false witness will not go unpunished;
He who utters lies will perish.
- Luxury is not fitting for a fool,
Much less so for a servant to rule over princes.
- It is good sense in a man to be forbearing,
And it is his glory to pass over an offense.
- A king's wrath is like a lion's roar;
But his favor is like dew on the grass.
- A foolish son is his father's ruin;
And a quarrelsome wife is like a constant drip.
- House and wealth are an inheritance from fathers;
But a sensible wife is a gift from the LORD.
- Slothfulness casts into a deep sleep;
And an idle man will suffer hunger.
- He who keeps the command keeps his life;
He who despises the word will die.
- He who is kind to the poor lends to the LORD;
And he will repay him his deed.
- Correct your son while there is still hope;
And set not your mind on destroying him.
- A man who gives way to anger must pay for it;
And if you come to his rescue, you will only add to his anger.
- Hear counsel, and accept instruction,
That you may be wise in the days to come.

- 21 A man may have many plans in his mind;
But the purpose of the LORD—that will stand.
- 22 Kindness is the most desirable thing for a man;
Better a poor man than a liar.
- 23 Reverence for the LORD conduces to life;
He who is satisfied with that will abide unvisited by misfortune.
- 24 The sluggard buries his hand in the dish;
He will not so much as raise it to his mouth again.
- 25 Smite a scoffer, and the simple will learn sense;
Admonish a man of intelligence, and he will gain knowledge.
- 26 He who maltreats his father, and drives away his mother,
Is a shameful and despicable son.
- 27 If you cease, my son, to hear instruction,
You will wander from words of knowledge.
- 28 An unprincipled witness scoffs at justice;
And the mouth of the wicked gulps down falsehood.
- 29 Punishments are prepared for scoffers;
And blows for the back of fools.
- 20 Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler;
None who reels under it is wise.
- 2 A king's rage is like a lion's roar;
He who provokes him to anger forfeits his life.
- 3 It is an honor for a man to keep aloof from strife;
But every fool is quarrelsome.
- 4 The sluggard will not plow in autumn;
So in harvest he looks for a crop in vain.
- 5 The purpose in a man's mind may be deep water;
But a man of intelligence will draw it out.
- Many a man will make profession of his kindness;
But a faithful man who can find?
- The just man who walks in his integrity—
Happy are his children after him!
- A king seated on the judgment throne
Sifts every evil man with his eyes.
- Who can say, "I have cleansed my heart,
I am pure from my sin"?
- Diverse weights, diverse measures—
Both of them alike are an abomination to the LORD.
- Even a child is known by his deeds,
According as his conduct is crooked or straight.
- The hearing ear, and the seeing eye—
Both of them alike the LORD has made.
- Love not sleep, lest you come to poverty;
Keep your eyes open, and you will have plenty of food.
- "Bad, bad!" says the buyer;
But when he has gone, then he boasts.
- Wise lips are a store of gold,
A wealth of corals, and precious gems.
- Take a man's garment if he becomes surety for a stranger;
Hold him to account for the other.
- Bread won by fraud tastes sweet to a man;
But afterward his mouth will be filled with gravel.
- Form plans under advice;
And under wise guidance make war.
- A talebearer reveals secrets;
So have nothing to do with a gossip.
- He who curses his father or mother—
His light will go out in utter darkness.
- An estate won hastily at the outset
Will in the end be unblesSED.
- Say not, "I will pay back evil!"
Wait for the LORD to help you.

- 23 Diverse weights are an abomination
to the LORD;
And false scales are not good.
- 24 A man's steps are directed by the
LORD;
How, then, can any man understand his way?
- 25 It is a snare for a man rashly to say,
"This is sacred!"
And after his vows to make inquiry.
- 26 A wise king sifts the wicked,
And requites them for their guilt.
- 27 The conscience of a man is the lamp
of the LORD,
Searching the whole innermost being.
- 28 Kindness and good faith are the safeguards of a king;
And by justice his throne is established.
- 29 The glory of young men is their
strength;
And the beauty of old men is gray
hair.
- 30 Sharp blows purify the wicked;
And stripes, the innermost being.
- 31 The mind of a king is like a watercourse in the hand of the LORD;
He turns it whither he will.
- 32 Every way of a man is right in his own eyes;
But the LORD weighs the motives.
- 33 The doing of right and justice Is more acceptable to the LORD than sacrifice.
- 34 Haughty eyes, and an ambitious
mind—
The tillage of the wicked is sin.
- 35 The plans of the diligent lead surely to profit;
But everyone that is over-hasty comes surely to want.
- 36 He who gains treasures by a lying tongue
Is chasing a vapor to snares of death.
- 37 The lawlessness of the wicked will sweep them away,
Because they refuse to deal justly.
- The way of the vicious is crooked; 8
But the conduct of the pure is straight.
- It is better to live in a corner of the 9
housetop
Than to share a spacious house with a quarrelsome wife.
- The wicked man is bent on doing 10
harm;
His neighbor finds no pity in his eyes.
- When a scoffer is punished, the simple 11 learns wisdom;
When a wise man receives a lesson, he gains knowledge.
- The Righteous One has regard for the 12
household of the wicked, Hurling down the wicked to ruin.
- He who closes his ear against the cry 13
of the poor
Will himself also call and not be answered.
- A gift in secret pacifies anger, 14
And a bribe in the bosom, violent wrath.
- The execution of justice is a joy to the 15
righteous,
But ruin to those who do evil.
- The man who wanders from the way 16
of wisdom
Will rest in the assembly of the Shades.
- The lover of pleasure will come to 17
want;
The lover of wine and oil will not grow rich.
- The wicked man becomes ransom for 18
the righteous;
And the faithless man takes the place of the upright.
- It is better to dwell in a desert 19
Than with a quarrelsome and nagging wife.
- In the wise man's house there is 20 precious treasure and oil;
But the fool will swallow it up.
- He who follows after justice and kind- 21
ness
Will find life, prosperity, and honor.

- 22 A wise man scales the city of the mighty,
And brings down the stronghold in which it trusted.
- 23 He who keeps his mouth and his tongue Keeps himself from trouble.
- 24 Scoffer is he called who is haughty and arrogant,
Who acts with insolent pride.
- 25 The sluggard's craving for ease will slay him;
For his hands refuse to work.
- 26 The wicked man is greedy all day long;
But the righteous man gives without stint.
- 27 Sacrifice from wicked men is an abomination;
The more so when they offer it as an atonement for crime.
- 28 A lying witness will perish;
But a truthful witness will speak on to the end.
- 29 A wicked man puts on a bold face;
But an upright man pays heed to his ways.
- 30 No wisdom, no intelligence,
No counsel can avail against the LORD.
- 31 The horse may be harnessed for the day of battle;
But victory comes from the LORD.
- 22 A good name is more desirable than great riches,
A good reputation than silver and gold.
- 2 The rich and the poor meet face to face—
The LORD is the maker of them both.
- 3 A sensible man foresees danger, and hides from it;
But the simple pass on, and are punished.
- 4 The reward of humility and reverence for the LORD
Is riches, honor, and life.
- Traps and snares are on the way of the crooked;
He who would safeguard his life will keep far from them.
- Train up a child in the way he should go;
And even when he is old, he will not depart from it.
- The rich rules over the poor;
And the borrower is a slave to the lender.
- He who sows crime will reap calamity;
The result of his work will be ruin.
- The man of kindly eye will be blessed;
For he gives of his bread to the poor.
- Expel a scoffer, and discord will vanish;
Strife and insult will cease.
- The LORD loves the pure in heart;
And he who is gracious in speech—the king is his friend.
- The eyes of the LORD keep watch on him who has knowledge;
But he upsets the plans of the faithless.
- The sluggard says, "There is a lion outside;
I shall be murdered in the streets."
- The mouth of an adulterous woman is a deep pit;
He with whom the LORD is angry will fall into it.
- Folly is bound to the mind of a child;
The rod of correction will remove it far from him.
- He who oppresses the poor will only enrich him;
He who gives to the rich will come only to want.

WORDS OF THE WISE,

22:17—24:22

Incline your ear, and hear the words of the wise,
And apply your mind to know them;
For it is well that you should keep them within you,

- That you should fix them firmly upon your lips.
- 19 Words of life I teach you this day,
That your trust may be in the LORD.
- 20 Have I not written for you these thirty sayings,
Respecting counsel and knowledge,
- 21 To acquaint you with the reality of true words,
That you may bring back a true report to him who sends you?
- 22 Rob not the poor because he is poor,
And crush not the needy in the gate;
- 23 For the LORD will defend their cause,
And will rob their robbers of life.
- 24 Form no friendship with a hot-tempered man,
And with a passionate man go not;
- 25 Lest you learn his ways,
And get yourself into a snare.
- 26 Be not one of those who pledge themselves,
Of those who become surety for debts;
- 27 For if you have nothing to pay with,
Your bed will be taken from under
you.
- 28 Remove not the ancient landmark,
Which your fathers set up.
- 29 You see a man skilled at his work?
He will stand in the presence of kings;
He will not stand in the presence of obscure men.
- 30 When you sit down to dine with a ruler,
Bear in mind who is before you;
- 2 And put a knife to your throat,
If you be a man of keen appetite;
- 3 Lust not after his dainties,
For they are larded with deceit.
- 4 Toil not to become rich,
Seek not superfluous wealth!
- 5 Scarcely have you set your eye upon it, when it is gone;
For riches make themselves wings,
Like an eagle that flies toward the heavens.
- 6 Dine not with a miserly man,
And lust not after his dainties;
- 7 For they will be like storm in the throat and nausea in the gullet.
"Eat and drink," he says to you,
- But in his heart he begrudges you;
You must spit out the morsel you have eaten,
And lose your good things.
- Speak not in the ears of a fool; 9
For he will despise your words of wisdom.
- Remove not the widow's landmark, 10
Nor enter the fields of orphans;
For their Champion is strong, 11
And he will defend their cause against
you.
- Apply your mind to instruction, 12
And your ear to words of knowledge.
Withhold not chastisement from a 13
child;
For if you beat him with the rod, he will not die.
- Beat him with the rod, 14
And you will save him from Sheol.
- My son, if you are wise, 15
I also shall be glad;
And my heart will rejoice, 16
If your lips speak that which is right.
- Be not envious of sinners, 17
But revere the LORD always;
For then will you have a future, 18
And your hope will not be cut off.
- Listen, my son, and be wise, 19
And keep straight on the way.
Be not found among winebibbers, 20
Or gluttonous eaters of flesh;
For the winebibber and the glutton 21
will come to poverty,
And sottishness will clothe you in rags.
- Listen to the father who begot you, 22
And despise not your mother when she is old.
- Get truth, and sell it not; 23 Get wisdom, and instruction, and understanding.
- The father of a righteous man will 24 greatly rejoice,
He who has begotten a wise son will be glad of him.
- Therefore let your father and your 25 mother be glad,
Let her who bore you rejoice.
- My son, give heed to me, 26
And let your eyes take note of my ways.

- 27 For the harlot is a deep pit,
And the adulteress a narrow well;
28 She lies in wait like a robber,
And increases the faithless among
men.
- 29 Who have woe? who have pain?
Who have strifes? who have complaints?
Who have wounds without cause?
Who have redness of eyes?
30 Those who stay long over wine,
Who go often to test the mixture!
31 Look not on wine when it is red,
When it sparkles in the cup.
It may go down smoothly;
32 But at the end it bites like a serpent,
And stings like an adder.
33 You will see strange sights,
And will utter weird words;
34 You will be like a man asleep at sea,
Asleep in the midst of a violent storm.
35 "They may strike me, but I feel no
pain;
They may beat me, but I know it not.
When shall I awake from my wine,
That I may seek it again?"
- 24 Be not envious of evil men,
Nor desire to be with them;
2 For their thoughts turn on robbery,
And their lips talk of mischief.
- 3 By wisdom a house is built,
By intelligence it is established;
4 And by knowledge its chambers are filled
With all precious and pleasant things.
- 5 A wise man is better than a strong
man,
And a man of knowledge than a man of might;
6 For by wise guidance you wage war,
And victory lies in a wealth of counselsors.
- 7 Wisdom is unattainable for a fool;
So he opens not his mouth in the gate.
- 8 He who plans to do evil—
Men call him a schemer.
- 9 The scheming of the foolish is sin;
And the scoffer is an abomination to
men.
- 10 If you have been slack when times are hard,
Your means will be scanty.

Rescue those who are being taken in away to death,
And hinder not the escape of those about to be executed.

If you say, "We knew nothing of this,"

Does not he who weighs the thoughts perceive it,
And is not he who guards your life
aware of it,
And will he not requite each man according to his work?

My son, eat honey, because it is good, and
And the honeycomb, because it is sweet to your taste.

So, be assured, is wisdom to your mind—

If you find it, you will have a future,
And your hope will not be cut off.

Lie not in wait, O wicked man, against the home of the righteous,
Nor assail his dwelling-place;
For seven times will the righteous man
fall and rise again,
While the wicked will stumble to ruin.

Rejoice not when your enemy falls,
Nor exult when he stumbles;
Lest the LORD see it, and be displeased,
And turn back his anger from him.

Fret not over evildoers,
Nor be envious of the wicked;
For the evil man will have no future,
The lamp of the wicked will be put out.

My son, reverence the LORD and the king,
And meddle not with those of high
rank;
For suddenly comes ruin at their
hands,
And who knows the doom that both of them bring?

THESE ALSO ARE WORDS OF
THE WISE, 24:23-34

Partiality in judgment is not good.
He who says to the guilty man, "You are in the right"—
Men will curse him, people will exe-crate him;
But those who judge honestly will fare pleasantly,

- On them will rest the blessing of prosperity.
- 26 He who gives a straight answer
Is like one who kisses the lips.
- 27 Set your business in order,
Arrange your work in the fields;
Afterward you may build up your house.
- 28 Bear not unfounded witness against
your neighbor,
Nor deceive with your lips;
- 29 Say not, "I will do to him as he has done to me,
I will requite the man according to his work."
- 30 I passed by the field of the sluggard,
By the vineyard of the man without sense;
- 31 And lo! it was all overgrown with thistles,
Its surface was covered with nettles,
And its stone wall was broken down.
- 32 I looked, and reflected upon it;
I saw, and learned a lesson.
- 33 "A little sleep, a little slumber,
A little folding of hands to rest"—
- 34 So will poverty come upon you like a footpad,
And want like an armed man.
- 25 THESE ALSO ARE THE PROVERBS OF SOLOMON, WHICH THE MEN OF HEZEKIAH, KING OF JUDAH, EDITED, 25:1—29:27
- 2 It is the glory of God to conceal a matter,
But the glory of kings to fathom a matter.
- 3 Like the heavens for height, and the earth for depth,
The mind of kings is unfathomable.
- 4 Remove the dross from silver,
And it comes forth wholly pure;
- 5 Remove a wicked man from the presence of the king,
And his throne will be established by righteousness.
- 6 Claim not honor in the presence of the king,
Nor stand in the place of great men;
- It is better for you to be told, "Come up hither!"
Than to be humbled before the noble.
- What your eyes have seen Report not hastily to the multitude; 8
Else what will you do in the outcome of the matter,
When your neighbor puts you to shame for it?
- Discuss the case with your neighbor, 9
And reveal not the secret to another;
Lest he who hears it reproach you, 10
And your infamy pass not away.
- Like apples of gold in a setting of 11 carved silver
Is a word that is aptly spoken.
Like an earring of gold, or a necklace 12
of fine gold,
Is a wise man's reproof on a listening ear.
- Like a draught of snow-cooled water 13
in the time of harvest
Is a faithful messenger to those who send him;
He refreshes the spirit of his master.
Like clouds with wind that bring no 14
rain
Is the man who boasts of gifts that are not given.
- By forbearance a ruler is pacified, 15
And a soft tongue breaks the bones.
- If you find honey, eat no more than 16
you need;
Lest you be sated with it, and vomit it up.
Set your foot but sparingly in your 17 neighbor's house;
Lest he be sated with you, and give you a cool reception.
- Like a club, a sword, or a sharp- 18 pointed arrow,
Is a man who bears false witness against his neighbor.
Like a crumbling tooth, or a palsied 19
foot,
Is a faithless man's ground of confidence in the time of trouble.
Like one who drops vinegar upon a 20 wound
Is he who sings songs to a sorrowful heart.
- If your enemy be hungry, give him 21 bread to eat,

- And if he be thirsty, give him water to drink;
 22 For coals of fire will you heap on his head,
 And the LORD will reward you.
- 23 The north wind brings forth rain,
 And a slandering tongue an angry face.
- 24 It is better to dwell in a corner of the roof
 Than to share a spacious house with a quarrelsome wife.
- 25 Like cold water to a weary man
 Is good news from a far country.
- 26 Like a trampled fountain, or a polluted spring,
 Is a righteous man who gives way before the wicked.
- 27 To eat much honey is not good;
 Therefore be sparing of your compliments.
- 28 Like a city breached and defenseless
 Is a man who has no control of his temper.
- 26 Like snow in summer, or rain in harvest,
 Honor is unseasonable for a fool.
- 2 Like a sparrow flitting, a swallow fluttering,
 The curse that is groundless will not reach home.
- 3 A whip for the horse, a bridle for the ass,
 And a rod for the back of fools.
- 4 Answer not a fool according to his folly,
 Lest you also become like him.
- 5 Answer a fool according to his folly,
 Lest he become wise in his own eyes.
- 6 He cuts off his feet, drinks in disaster,
 Who sends a message by a fool.
- 7 Like legs hanging helpless from the lame
 Is a parable in the mouth of fools.
- 8 Like one who buries a stone in a heap
 Is he who gives honor to a fool.
- Like a thorn-stick brandished by a drunkard
 Is a parable in the mouth of fools.
- The master workman does everything himself;
 But the fool hires a passer-by.
- Like a dog returning to his vomit
 Is a fool repeating his folly.
- You see a man wise in his own eyes?
 There is more hope for a fool than for him.
- The sluggard says, "There is a roaring beast on the road,
 A lion in the streets."
- As a door turns on its sockets,
 The sluggard turns on his bed.
- The sluggard buries his hand in the dish;
 He is too weary to raise it to his mouth again.
- The sluggard is wiser in his own eyes
 Than seven men who can give an apt answer.
- Like a man who seizes a dog by the ears
 Is the passer-by who meddles with a quarrel not his own.
- Like a madman who hurls Deadly firebrands and arrows
 Is he who deceives his neighbor
 And says, "Was I not joking?"
- Where there is no wood, a fire goes out;
 And where there is no whisperer, a quarrel dies down.
- As charcoal to embers, and wood to fire,
 Is a quarrelsome man to set strife in a blaze.
- The words of a whisperer are like dainty morsels;
 They penetrate into the innermost being.
- Like a pot overlaid with glaze
 Are flattering lips with a wicked mind.
- Your enemy may dissemble with his lips,

- But in his mind he harbors deceit;
 15 When he speaks fair, believe him not,
 For seven abominations are in his
 mind;
 16 Though his hatred be craftily concealed,
 His wickedness will be revealed in public assembly.
- 7 He who digs a pit will fall into it;
 And he who rolls a stone—it will come back upon him.
- 8 A lying tongue brings destruction to itself;
 And a flattering mouth works its own ruin.
- 7 Boast not of tomorrow;
 For you know not what a day may bring forth.
- 2 Let another man praise you, and not your own mouth—
 A stranger, and not your own lips.
- 3 A stone is heavy, and sand is weighty;
 But the annoyance caused by a fool is heavier than both.
- 4 Wrath is ruthless, and anger a torrent;
 But before jealousy who can stand?
- 5 Better is open rebuke
 Than hidden love.
- 16 Sincere are the wounds of a friend;
 But deceitful are the kisses of an enemy.
- 17 He who is sated with food disdains the honeycomb;
 But to the hungry man every bitter thing is sweet.
- 18 Like a bird that strays from her nest
 Is a man that strays from his home.
- 19 Oil and perfume gladden the heart;
 So a man's counsel is sweet to his friend.
- 10 Your friend and your father's friend forsake not,
 And in your time of calamity go not to your brother's house;
 Better is a neighbor near at hand than a brother far away.
- Be wise, my son, and gladden my 11
 heart,
 That I may answer the man who would taunt me.
- A sensible man foresees danger, and 12
 hides from it;
 But the simple pass on, and are punished.
- Take a man's garment if he become 13
 surety for a stranger,
 And hold it in pledge for the stranger.
- If a man rise early in the morning, and 14 bless his neighbor with a loud voice,
 It will be counted a curse to him.
- A constant drip on a rainy day 15
 And a quarrelsome wife are alike;
 He who would restrain her would re- 16
 strain the wind,
 Or grasp oil with his right hand.
- As iron sharpens iron, 17
 A man sharpens the face of his friend.
- He who takes care of his fig tree will 18
 eat the fruit of it;
 And he who attends to his master will be honored.
- As face reflects face in water, 19
 So the mind of man reflects man.
- Sheol and death are never satisfied; 20
 So the eyes of man are never satisfied.
- As the smelter is for silver, and the 21
 furnace for gold,
 So a man is tested by his praise.
- Though you pound a fool with a pestle, 22
 Among grit in a mortar,
 His folly will not leave him.
- Look well to the state of your flocks, 23
 And pay good heed to your herds;
 For riches last not forever, 24
 Nor wealth throughout the ages.
 When the hay is cut, and the after- 25
 math appears,
 And the grass of the mountains is gathered in,
 Lambs will supply you with clothing, 26
 And goats with the price of a field; Goats' milk enough will you have for 27
 your food,

- For the food of your household,
And as maintenance for your maidens.
- 28 The wicked flee when no man pursues;
But the righteous are as bold as a lion.
- 2 When rebellion breaks out in a land,
there arise many rulers;
But through men of wisdom and intelligence, order will long prevail.
- 3 A man who is proud and oppresses the poor
Is like a lashing rain that leaves no food.
- 4 Lawbreakers praise the wicked;
But the law-abiding are zealous against them.
- 5 Evil men have no understanding of justice;
But those who seek the LORD understand it completely.
- 6 Better is a poor man who walks in his integrity
Than he who is crooked in his ways, although he be rich.
- 7 He who pays heed to instruction is a wise son;
But the companion of profligates brings disgrace on his father.
- 8 He who increases his wealth by interest and usury Gathers it for him who is kind to the poor.
- 9 He who turns a deaf ear to instruction—
His very prayer is an abomination.
- 10 He who seduces the upright into evil ways
Will himself fall into the pit he has dug;
But men of integrity will attain good fortune.
- 11 The rich man is wise in his own eyes;
But a poor man possessed of intelligence will test him.
- 12 When the righteous triumph, there is a great celebration;
But when the wicked rise to power,
men hide themselves.
- He who conceals his transgressions will not prosper;
But he who confesses and forsakes them will obtain mercy.
- Happy is the man who lives always in awe;
But he who hardens his conscience will fall into misfortune.
- Like a roaring lion, or a ravenous bear,
Is a wicked ruler over a poor people.
- A prince who is an oppressor is devoid of intelligence;
But he who hates ill-gotten gain will prolong his life.
- A man laden with another man's blood makes tracks for the grave;
None will support him.
- He who walks honestly will be kept in safety;
But the man of crooked ways will fall into a pit.
- He who tills his ground will have plenty of food;
But he who follows empty pursuits will have plenty of poverty.
- A trustworthy man will be amply blessed;
But he who makes haste to be rich will not go unpunished.
- To be partial in judgment is not good;
Even for a morsel of bread a man may fall into sin.
- The avaricious man rushes after wealth,
Not knowing that want will befall him.
- He who reproves men will get more thanks in the end
Than he who flatters with the tongue.
- He who robs his father or his mother,
Saying, "There is no wrong in it,"
Is companion to him who destroys.
- A greedy man stirs up strife;
But he who trusts in the LORD will flourish.
- He who trusts in himself is a fool;
But he who walks wisely will be kept safe.

- He who gives to the poor will not come to want;
But he who shuts his eyes against them will have many a curse.
- When the wicked rise to power, men hide themselves;
But when they perish, the righteous flourish.
- He who stiffens his neck against many reproofs
Will suddenly be broken beyond repair.
- When the righteous are in power, the people rejoice;
But when the wicked bear rule, the people groan.
- He who loves wisdom gladdens his father;
But he who keeps company with harlots wastes his substance.
- A king by justice gives stability to a land;
But he who makes heavy exactions brings it to ruin.
- A man who flatters his neighbor
Is spreading a net for his steps.
- In an evil man's sin lies a snare;
But a righteous man sings with joy.
- A good man respects the rights of the poor;
A wicked man knows no respect.
- Unprincipled men set the city in a blaze;
But wise men turn back anger.
- If a wise man go to law with a fool,
Whether he storm or laugh, there will be no peace.
- Bloodthirsty men hate the innocent,
And seek the life of the upright.
- A fool gives vent to his temper;
But a wise man restrains his anger.
- If a ruler listen to lies,
All his servants become depraved.
- The poor man and the oppressor meet face to face;
- The LORD gives light to the eyes of them both.
- The king who judges the poor with equity—
His throne will be established forever.
- The rod of correction gives wisdom; 15
But a child who is left to himself brings disgrace on his mother.
- When the wicked are in power, crime 16 increases;
But the righteous will see their downfall.
- Correct your son, that he may give 17
you peace of mind,
And bring delight to your heart.
- Where there is no vision, the people 18 break loose;
But those who obey the law—happy are they!
- Not by mere words can a servant be 19 trained;
For he understands, but will not pay heed.
- You see a man who is hasty in his 20
words?
There is more hope for a fool than for him.
- He who pampers his servant from 21 childhood
Will in the end gain nothing but ingratitude.
- A man of passion stirs up discord; 22
And a hot-tempered man is the cause of much mischief.
- A man's pride will bring him low; 23
But the humble will attain to honor.
- He who is partner with a thief is an 24 enemy to himself;
He hears the curse, but discloses nothing.
- The fear of man leads one into a snare; 25
But he who trusts in the LORD will be placed in safety.
- Many court the ruler's favor; 26
But a man's case is decided by the LORD.

27 An unjust man is an abomination to the righteous;
While an upright man is an abomination to the wicked.

30 THE WORDS OF AGUR THE SON OF JAKEH, FROM MASSA, 30:1-33

The oracle of the man: "I am wearied, O God,

I am wearied, O God, and spent;

2 For I am but a brute beast, and no man,

I have nought of human intelligence;

3 No wisdom have I learned, No knowledge have I of the Holy One.

4 Who has scaled the heavens and come down?

Who has gathered the wind in his fists?
Who has wrapped the waters in a garment?

Who has established all the bounds of the earth?

What is his name, and what is his son's name?

For surely you know!"

5 Every word of God is tested;

He is a shield to those who take refuge in him.

6 Add not to his words, Lest he call you to account, and you be proved a liar.

7 Two things I ask of thee, Deny them not to me before I die:

8 Put falsehood and lying far from me, Give me neither poverty nor riches— Provide me with food sufficient for my needs—

9 Lest I be full, and disown thee, Saying, "Who is the LORD?" Or lest I be in want, and steal, And profane the name of my God.

10 Slander not a servant to his master, Lest he curse you, and you have to pay for it.

11 There is a class of people who curse their father, And do not bless their mother.

12 There is a class of people who are pure in their own eyes, Yet are not cleansed of their filthiness.

13 There is a class of people with O! such haughty eyes,

And such uplifted eyelids.

There is a class of people whose teeth 14 are swords,

And whose fangs are knives, To devour the poor from the earth, And the needy from among men.

The leech has two daughters: 15 "Give, give!" they cry.

There are three things that are unsated,

Four that never say, "Enough":

Sheol, and the barren womb, 16 The earth unsated with water, And fire that never says, "Enough."

The eye that mocks a father, 17 And scorns an aged mother—

The ravens of the valley will pick it out, And the vultures will devour it.

There are three things too wonderful 18 for me,

Four that I cannot understand:

The way of a vulture in the air, 19 The way of a serpent on a crag,

The way of a ship in the heart of the sea,

And the way of a man with a woman.

This is the way of an adulterous 20 woman:

She eats, and wipes her mouth, And says, "I have done no wrong."

Under three things the earth quakes, 21

Under four it cannot bear up:

A slave when he becomes a king, 22 A fool when he is sated with food,

An unpopular woman when she is 23 married,

And a maidservant when she supplants her mistress.

There are four things on earth that 24 are small,

And yet are exceedingly wise:

The ants—they are no strong folk, 25 Yet they lay up their food in the summer;

The marmots—they are no mighty 26 folk,

Yet they make their home in the crags;

The locusts—they have no king, 27 Yet they march all in ranks;

The lizard—she holds on by her fore- 28 feet,

- Yet she finds her way into the king's palace.
- 29 There are three things that are stately in step,
Four that are stately in gait:
- 30 The lion, which is mightiest among beasts,
And turns not back before any;
- 31 The strutting cock, and the he-goat,
And the king at the head of his people.
- 32 If you have been foolish in exalting yourself,
Or if you have hatched a scheme,
Lay your hand upon your mouth!
- 33 For, as the pressing of milk brings forth curds,
And the pressing of the nose brings forth blood,
So the pressing of anger brings forth strife.
- 11 THE WORDS OF LEMUEL, KING OF MASSA, WHICH HIS MOTHER TAUGHT HIM, 31:1-9
- 12 What, O my son? what, O son of my womb?
What, O son of my vows?
- 13 Give not your strength to women,
Nor your love to those who are the ruin of kings.
- 14 Nor be it for kings, O Lemuel,
For kings to drink wine,
For princes to quaff strong drink;
- 15 Lest, as they drink, they forget the law,
And violate the rights of any in trouble.
- 16 Give strong drink to him who is perishing,
And wine to the bitter in heart;
- 17 That as he drinks he may forget his poverty,
And think no more of his misery.
- 18 Open your mouth on behalf of the dumb,
In defense of the rights of all who are suffering;
- 19 Open your mouth on the side of justice,
And defend the rights of the poor and the needy.
- THE GOOD WIFE, 31:10-31
- 20 If one can find a good wife,
She is worth far more than corals.
- כ
Her husband puts his trust in her, 11
And finds no lack of gain.
- ג
She brings him good, and not harm. 12
All the days of his life.
- ד
She sorts out wool and flax, 13
And works it up as she wills.
- ה
She is like the ships of the merchant, 14
She brings her food from afar.
- ו
She rises while it is still night, 15
And gives her household food,
With a portion for her maidens.
- ז
She examines a field, and buys it; 16
With her earnings she plants a vineyard.
- ח
She girds her loins with strength, 17
And she makes her arms strong.
- ט
She perceives that her work is profitable, 18
So her lamp goes not out at night.
- י
She lays her hand on the distaff, 19
Her fingers grasp the spindle.
- יא
She stretches her hand to the poor, 20
She extends her arms to the needy.
- יב
She is not afraid of the snow for her household; 21
For her household are all clothed in scarlet.
- יג
She makes coverlets for herself, 22
Her clothing is linen and purple.
- יד
Her husband is known at the gates, 23
As he sits among the elders of the land.
- טו
She makes linen vests, and sells them, 24
She supplies the merchants with girdles.

י 25 She is clothed with strength and dignity,
And she laughs at the days to come.

פ
26 She opens her mouth in wisdom,
And kindly counsel is on her tongue.

צ
27 She looks well after her household,
And eats not the bread of idleness

ק
28 Her children rise up, and bless her—
Her husband also, and praises her:

ר
"Many women have done well, 25a
But you have excelled them all."

ש Charms are deceptive, and beauty is 30a
a breath;
But a woman who reveres the LORD—
she will be praised.

ת
Give her the due reward of her work; 30b
And let her deeds bring her praise at the gates.

THE BOOK OF ECCLESIASTES

THE ENDLESS ROUND OF NATURE, 1:1-11

- 1 THE words of Koheleth, the son of David, who was king in Jerusalem.
2 "Vanity of vanities," says Koheleth,
"Vanity of vanities, all is vanity!
3 What does a man gain from all his toil
At which he toils beneath the sun?
4 One generation goes, and another comes,
While the earth endures forever.
5 The sun rises and the sun sets,
And hastens to the place where he rose.
6 The wind blows toward the south,
And returns to the north,
Turning, turning, the wind blows,
And returns upon its circuit.
7 All rivers run to the sea,
But the sea is never full;
To the place where the rivers flow,
There they continue to flow.
8 All things are wearisome;
One cannot recount them;
The eye is not satisfied with seeing,
Nor is the ear filled with hearing.
9 Whatsoever has been is that which will be;
And whatsoever has been done is that which will be done;
And there is nothing new under the sun.
10 Is there a thing of which it is said, 'Lo, this is new'?
It was already in existence in the ages
Which were before us.
11 There is no memory of earlier people;
And likewise of later people who shall be,
There will be no memory with those who are later still."

THE FUTILITY OF LEARNING, 1:12-18

- 12 "I, Koheleth, was king over Israel in 13 Jerusalem; and I set my mind to search and to investigate through wisdom everything that is done beneath the heavens. It is an evil task that God has given the sons of men with which to occupy themselves. I have seen everything that has been done under the sun;

and lo, everything is vanity and striving for the wind.

"The crooked cannot be made straight, 15
And that which is lacking cannot be counted.

"I thought within myself thus: I am 16 great and have increased in wisdom above all that were before me over Jerusalem; and my mind has seen abundant wisdom and knowledge. So I 17 set my mind to knowing wisdom and to knowing madness and folly. I am convinced that this too is striving for the wind.

"For with more wisdom is more worry, 18
And increase of knowledge is increase of sorrow."

THE FUTILITY OF ALL HUMAN EFFORT, 2:1-26

"I said to myself: 'Come now, let me 2 test you with mirth; so enjoy yourself.'
But this also was vanity. Of laughter I 2 said, 'It is mad'; and of mirth, 'What has this done?' I searched in my mind 3 how to stimulate my flesh with wine, and, while my mind conducted itself with wisdom, how to lay hold upon folly, until I might see which is better for the sons of men to practice under the heavens all the days of their life.
I made myself great works; I built my- 4 self houses; I planted vineyards for myself; I made myself gardens and parks, 5 and I planted therein all sorts of fruit trees. I made myself pools of water 6 with which to irrigate a young forest.
I bought male and female slaves, 7 had a household of dependents, besides having possessions in cattle and sheep in far greater numbers than any who had been in Jerusalem before me. I 8 gathered for myself silver and gold, the treasure of kings and provinces. I trained singing men and women for myself and the luxuries of the sons of men, women of all sorts. So I became great 9 and increased more than all who were before me in Jerusalem; yet my wisdom stood by me. And nothing that my eyes desired did I withhold from them. I did not withhold my mind from any mirth, but my mind found joy in all my toil; for this was my portion from all my toil. Then I reviewed all my works which my hands had made and the toil which I had expended in making them, and lo, everything was vanity and striving for the wind, and there was no profit under the sun. So I turned again to look upon wisdom, madness, and folly; for what can the man do who comes after the king? That which has already been done! Then I saw that wisdom is more profitable than folly, even as light is preferable to darkness. The wise man's eyes are in his head; but the fool walks in darkness. But I realized that the same fate overtakes them all. So I said to myself, 'As it befalls the fool, so will it befall me; why, then, should I be otherwise?' So I said to myself, 'This too is vanity!' For there is no permanent record for either wise man or fool, inasmuch as in the course of the days to come everything is forgotten. How the wise and the fool alike die! So I hated life; for everything that is done under the sun seemed to me wrong, for everything is vanity and striving for the wind. I hated all my toil at which I had toiled under the sun, seeing that I must leave it to the man who shall follow me. And who knows whether he will be a wise man or a fool? Yet he will have control of all the product of my toil at which I have toiled and of the wisdom which I have won under the sun. This too is vanity. So again I gave myself up to despair concerning all the toil at which I had toiled under the sun. For here is a man whose toil has been done with wisdom, knowledge, and success, but to a man who has not toiled for it he gives it as his portion. This too is vanity and a great evil. For what does a man get for all his toil and the striving of his mind with which he has toiled under the sun? For all his days are sorrowful and his task is melancholy, and at night his mind finds no rest. This too is vanity. "There is nothing good for man but that he eat and drink and find satisfaction in his work. This too have I seen, that it is from the hand of God. For who can eat and who can enjoy apart from him? For to a man who is good in his sight he gives wisdom, knowledge and joy; but to the sinner he gives the task of gathering and collecting that he may give it to the one who is good in God's sight. This too is vanity and striving for the wind."

AN ORDERLY WORLD, 3:1-8

"For everything there is an appointed time;
 And there is a time for every purpose under the heavens:
 A time to be born, and a time to die;
 A time for planting, and a time for uprooting;
 A time to slay, and a time to heal;
 A time to tear down, and a time to rebuild;
 A time to weep, and a time to laugh;
 A time to mourn, and a time to dance;
 A time to scatter stones, and a time to gather stones;
 A time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
 A time to seek, and a time to count as lost;
 A time to keep, and a time to throw away;
 A time to tear, and a time to sew;
 A time to keep quiet, and a time to talk;
 A time to love, and a time to hate;
 A time for war, and a time for peace."

MAN'S LIMITATIONS, 3:9-15

"What does the maker gain from the work which he has done? I see the task which God has assigned to the sons of men with which to occupy themselves. He has made everything beautiful in its season; but he has also implanted ignorance in their mind, so that mankind cannot discover the work which God has done from beginning to end. I know that there is nothing good for them but to be glad and to enjoy themselves while they live. Indeed, if any man eats and drinks and enjoys himself in all his work, it is a gift from God. I know that whatsoever God does will be forever; nothing may be added to it and nothing may be withdrawn from it; God has ordained it that they shall be in awe before him. Whatever is has been long ago and what is to be has been long ago; and God seeks him who has been persecuted."

MAN AND BEAST UPON THE SAME LEVEL, 3:16-22

116 "Furthermore, I saw under the sun that wickedness took the place of justice and wickedness took the place of righteousness.

117 "I said to myself, 'God judges both the righteous and the wicked, for he has set a time for every purpose and for every deed.' I said to myself regarding the sons of men, 'It is that God may test them and see that they are beasts.'

118 For there is one fate for both man and beast—the same fate for them; as the one dies, so dies the other; the same breath is in all of them, and man has no advantage over the beast; for every-

119 thing is vanity. All go to one place; all are from the dust, and all return to the

120 dust. Who knows whether the spirit of man goes upward and whether the spirit of the beast goes downward to the 121 earth? So I saw that there is nothing better than that man should rejoice in his work, since that is his lot; for who can bring him to see what shall be after him?"

THIS TRANSITORY LIFE, 4:1-16

122 "So I considered once more all the oppressions that are practiced under the sun: for example, the tears of the oppressed, with none to comfort them, and the strength in the hands of their oppressors, with none to comfort them.

123 So I congratulated the dead who were already dead, rather than the living who are still alive; and as happier than both of them did I regard him who had never been, who had not seen the wicked work which is done under the

124 sun. Then I saw that all the labor and all the hard work is due to men's jealousy of one another. This too is

125 vanity and striving for the wind. The fool folds his hands and devours his own flesh. Better is one handful with quiet

126 than two handfuls with trouble and striving after the wind. Then I saw another case of vanity under the sun:

127 It is an individual without a companion; he has neither son, nor brother; and yet there is no end to all his toil, nor is his eye ever satisfied with riches. For whom then should I toil and deny myself happiness? This too is vanity and an evil task. Two are better than one, for they get a good wage for their toil; and if they fall, the one can lift up his companion, but if a solitary person falls there is no partner to lift him up. Like-

128 wise, if two sleep together, they keep warm, but how can one alone keep warm? And if somebody attacks one,

129 two can withstand him, and a threefold cord is not quickly broken. Better is a youth poor and wise than a king that is old and foolish who no longer knows how to take care of himself. For from a

130 household of rebels he came forth to be king, even though in his own kingdom he was born poor. I saw all the living

131 under the sun running with the youth who was to stand in his place. There was no end to all the people, to all at whose head he was; yet those who come later will not rejoice in him. For this too is vanity and striving for the wind."

REGARDING VOWS, 5:1-9

132 "Guard your steps when you go to the house of God; and to draw near to obey is better than that fools should offer sacrifice, for they know nothing but to do wrong. Be not rash with your mouth and let not your mind be in haste to utter a word before God; for God is in the heavens and you are on the earth; so let your words be few. For

133 a dream comes through a mass of business, and the voice of a fool through a mass of words. When you make a vow

134 to God do not delay in fulfilling it; for he has no pleasure in fools! What you vow, fulfil! It is better that you should

135 not vow than that you should vow and not fulfil it. Let not your mouth bring

136 you into sin, and say not before the messenger, "It was a mistake." Why should God be angered at your voice and destroy the work of your hands? For through many empty dreams come

137 many vows. But do you fear God! If you see the oppression of the poor, and justice and right exploited in the province, be not amazed at the situation, for one high official watches over another, and there are those higher than both. The ruthless has an advantage in every-

138 thing; he is king over the cultivated land."

ABIDING SATISFACTION,

5:10-20

- 10 "He who loves money will not be satisfied with money;
Nor he who loves riches with gain.
This too is vanity.
- 11 When goods increase those who eat of them increase;
And what profit has their owner, but in looking at them?
- 12 Sweet is the sleep of the laborer, whether he eat little or much;
But the surfeit of the rich allows him no sleep.
- 13 There is a sore evil that I have seen under the sun—
Wealth kept by its owner to his own hurt.
- 14 And that wealth was lost in an unfortunate enterprise;
And he became the father of a son, without a thing in his hand.
- 15 Just as he emerged from his mother's womb, Naked does he return, going even as he came;
And he carries away nothing of his toil which he can carry in his hand.
- 16 This, indeed, is a sore evil: just as he came, so will he go;
And what profit has he in that he toiled for the wind,
- 17 And spent all his days in darkness and mourning,
And in much trouble, sickness, and anger?
- 18 "So, the good which I see to be worth while is that one should eat and drink and get enjoyment out of all his toil at which he toils under the sun during the course of his life which God grants him;
- 19 for that is his lot. Every man to whom God gives riches and wealth, and has enabled him to eat of it and to bear his lot and to rejoice in his toil—this is the
- 20 gift of God; for he will not recall much the days of his life, because God responds to the joy of his heart."

FRUSTRATED DESIRE, 6:1-8

- 6 "There is an evil which I have seen under the sun, and it is heavy upon mankind: a man to whom God gives riches, wealth, and honor, so that he lacks nothing of all which he desires, yet God does not permit him to partake of it; but a stranger partakes of it.

This is vanity and an evil affliction. If a man becomes father of a hundred children and lives many years and many are the days of his years, but he is not satisfied with good, nor does he obtain burial, I say that a premature birth is better than he. Even though it comes in vain and goes out in darkness and its name is covered with darkness, and it does not see the sun or know it, this finds rest rather than the other. Even though he lives a thousand years twice over and gets no enjoyment—do not all go to one place?
"All a man's toil is for his mouth,
And yet his appetite is not satisfied.
For what advantage has the wise man over the fool,
And what has the poor man who knows how to walk before the living?
Better is the sight of the eyes than the wandering of desire;
This too is vanity and striving for the wind."

MAN HELPLESS BEFORE

FATE, 6:10-12

"Whatever is, its name was called long ago, and what man is has been known; and he is unable to contend with him that is stronger than he. For the more words the greater is the vanity. What advantage has man? For who knows what is good for man in life, during the course of his empty life, since he spends them like a shadow? Who can tell a man what will be after him under the sun?"

A MEDLEY OF PROVERBS,

7:1-14

"A good name is better than good ornament,
And the day of death better than the day of one's birth.
It is better to go to the house of mourning than to go to the banquet-hall,
Inasmuch as that is every man's end, and the living will lay it to heart.
Better is sorrow than laughter,
For through a sad face the mind is improved.
The mind of the wise is in the house of mourning,

- But the mind of fools is in the house of mirth.
- 5 It is better that a man should hear the rebuke of the wise,
Than that he should hear the song of fools.
- 6 For like the sound of thorns under the pot,
So is the laughter of the fool. This too is vanity.
- 7 For oppression makes the wise man mad,
And a gift destroys the mind.
- 8 Better is the end of a thing than its beginning;
Better is a patient spirit than a proud spirit.
- 9 Do not make haste in your spirit to be angry,
For anger rests in the bosom of fools.
- 10 Do not say, 'Why were the former days better than these?'
For it was not out of wisdom that you have asked about this.
- 11 Wisdom with an inheritance is good,
And an advantage to those who see the sun;
- 12 For in the protection of wisdom is the protection of money;
And the advantage of knowledge is that wisdom preserves the life of its owner.
- 13 Behold the work of God;
For who can straighten out what he has made crooked?
- 14 In the day of prosperity, be joyful,
And on the day of adversity, consider:
God has made one thing to balance another,
That man may not find out anything that is to be after him."

WORLDLY WISDOM, 7:15-29

- 15 "I have seen all sorts of things in my empty life:
For example, the righteous man perishing in his righteousness,
And the wicked prolonging his life in his wickedness.
- 16 Do not be over-righteous,
And be not excessively wise;
Why should you ruin yourself?
- 17 Be not over-wicked,
Nor play the fool;
Why should you die before your time?
- 18 It is well that you lay hold of one thing,

- And also that your hand let not go of another;
For he who fears God will come forth with both.
- Wisdom makes a wise man stronger 19
Than the ten rulers who are in the city.
- For there is no man on earth so righteous 20
That he does good and never fails.
- Do not give heed to all things that 21 men say,
Lest you hear your servant cursing you.
- For you know that many times 22
You yourself have cursed others.
- "All this I have tested by wisdom; I 23 said, 'I will be wise,' but it was far from me. Whatever is is far off and 24 very deep; who can find it?"
- "I turned my mind to knowledge 25 and to searching and seeking wisdom and substance, and to the knowledge that wickedness is folly and foolishness is madness. And one thing I find more 26 bitter than death: the woman whose mind is snares and nets and her hands fetters. He who is good in God's sight will escape from her; but he who sins will be caught by her.
- "See, this is what I have found," says 27 Koheleth, "adding one to one to find the total, which I have sought repeat- 28 edly, but not found; one man out of a thousand have I found, but not a woman have I found among all these. Only 29 see this which I have found, that God made mankind upright, but they have sought out many contrivances."

THE CAPRICE OF RULERS,

8:1-9

- "Who is like the wise man? 8
And who knows the explanation of a thing?"
- A man's wisdom illumines his face,
And his hard face is changed.
- I obey the order of a king, because of 2
the divine oath.
- Do not be in a hurry to leave his pres- 3
ence;
- Do not stand firm in a bad cause,
For he does whatsoever he will;
Inasmuch as the word of a king is final; 4
And who can say to him, 'What are you doing?'
- "He who keeps the command knows 5 nothing bad; and a wise mind knows

6 the time and judgment. For there is a time and judgment for every matter; for man's wickedness is heavy upon 7 him. For there is nobody who knows what is to be, for who can tell him how 8 it shall be? There is nobody in authority over the wind to restrain the wind. Nor is there anybody in control of the day of death, nor is there release in war, nor can wickedness deliver its possessors. All this have I seen, having devoted my mind to all the work which is done under the sun, at a time when one man has power over another to injure him.

THE LACK OF MORAL DISCRIMINATION IN HUMAN AFFAIRS, 8:10—9:6

10 "And so I have seen wicked men carried to the tomb and praised from the holy place and lauded in the city where they had acted thus. This too is 11 vanity. Because the sentence upon an evil deed is not quickly executed, therefore the minds of the sons of men are 12 fully determined to do evil. Even though a sinner does wrong a hundred times and still continues living, yet I know that it shall be well with those who fear God, who are in awe before 13 him; but it shall not be well with the wicked, nor shall he prolong his life like a shadow, since he is not awed in the presence of God.

14 "There is a vanity which is wrought upon the earth, namely, that there are righteous men to whom it happens in accordance with what should be done to the wicked, and there are wicked men to whom it happens in accordance with what should be done to the righteous. I say that this too is vanity.

15 "So I commend mirth; for there is nothing good for man under the sun except to eat, drink, and be merry; for this will stay by him in his toil during the course of his life which God gives 16 him under the sun. When I devoted my mind to the knowledge of wisdom and to consideration of the work which is done upon the earth—for both day and 17 night his eyes see no sleep—then I saw all God's work, that man is unable to discover the work which is done under the sun, inasmuch as man may labor in its search, but he will not find it; and even if the wise man thinks that he is on the point of knowing it, he will be unable to find it. For all this I laid upon 9 my mind and my mind considered all this, namely, that the righteous and the wise and their works are in the hand of God; no man knows whether it will be love or hatred. Everything in the past 2 is vanity, inasmuch as there is one fate for all, for the righteous, for the wicked, and for the good; for the clean and the unclean, for him who offers sacrifice and for him who does not; as is the good, so is the sinner; he who takes an oath is as he who fears an oath. This is evil in all 3 that is done under the sun, that there is one fate for all; and also that the mind of men is full of wickedness, and madness is in their minds while they are alive, and after that—to the dead! For whoever is joined to all the living 4 has hope; for as a living dog he is better than a dead lion. For the living know 5 that they will die; but the dead know nothing at all, nor have they any longer any remembrance; for the memory of them is forgotten. Not only the love of 6 them, but the hatred of them, and the envy of them have already perished, and they no longer have any share in anything that is done under the sun."

THE WRITER'S VIEW OF LIFE, 9:7—10:3

"Go, eat your food with gladness,
And drink your wine with a happy
mind,
For God has already accepted your
deeds.
At all times let your garments be white,
And let not oil be lacking upon your
head.
Enjoy life with the wife whom you love
All the days of your empty life,
Which he has given you under the sun;
All your empty life.

"For that is your lot in life and in your toil at which you toil under the sun. Whatsoever your hand finds to do, 11 do it with your might; for there is no work or substance or knowledge or wisdom in Sheol whither you are going.

Once more I observed under the sun 11 that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong; nor is there bread for the wise, nor riches for the intelligent, nor favor for scholars; but time and chance happen to all of them. For man does not know his time; like fish that are caught in an evil net, or like birds caught in a snare, so are the sons of men snared in an evil time as it falls upon them suddenly. Also this have I seen as an example of wisdom under the sun and it greatly impressed me. There was a small city, with few men in it, and there came against it a great king and surrounded it and built great siege-works against it. But there was found therein a poor, wise man, and he rescued the city by his wisdom; yet nobody remembered that poor, wise man. But I say that wisdom is better than strength, though the wisdom of the poor man was despised and his words were not heeded. The words of the wise spoken quietly are heeded more than the cry of a prince among fools. Wisdom is better than weapons of war, but one sinner destroys much good. Dead flies make the perfumer's precious ointment stink; so a little folly annuls great wisdom. The wise man's mind makes for his success; the fool's mind makes for his failure. Also when a fool goes on his way, his mind is lacking, and he shows everybody that he is a fool."

MISCELLANEOUS MAXIMS,

10:4-20

"If the anger of the ruler rises against you, do not forget your place; for composure can pacify great offenses. There is an evil which I have seen under the sun, like an accidental error which comes forth from before a ruler. "The fool is often set in high positions; While the nobles dwell in low estate. I have seen slaves upon horses, While princes walked on the ground like slaves. He who digs a pit may fall therein, While him who breaks through a wall a serpent may bite. He who quarries stones may be hurt by them, While he who splits logs is endangered by them. If the ax be dull, And he do not sharpen its edge, Then he must exert greater strength;

But wisdom is advantageous for winning success. If the serpent bite before being charmed, Then there is no profit to the charmer. The words of a wise man's mouth are gracious, But the lips of the fool destroy him. The beginning of the words of his mouth is folly, And the end of his utterance is wicked madness. The fool multiplies words— But man knows not what will be, And who can tell him what will be after him? When will the toil of the fool weary him Who does not know enough to go to an interpreter? Woe to you, O land, when your king is a boy, And your princes feast in the morning! Happy are you, O land, when your king is a noble, And your princes feast at the proper time, As men and not as sots! Because of sloth the woodwork sinks, And because of laziness the house leaks. With mirth they make bread, And wine gladdens life, And money answers for everything. Even on your couch do not defame a king, Nor in your bed-chamber defame a rich man; For a bird of the air may carry the sound, And some winged creature may tell the thing."

THE UNCERTAINTY OF LIFE,

11:1-8

"Cast your bread upon the surface of the water, For after many days you will find it. Give one portion to seven or even to eight, For you know not what evil shall happen on the earth. If the clouds be filled with rain, They will pour it out upon the earth; And if a tree fall to the south or to the north,

- In whatsoever place the tree falls, there shall it be.
- 4 He who watches the wind will not
sow,
And he who observes the clouds will not reap.
- 5 Even as you know not what the way of the spirit is
Into the bones in the pregnant womb,
So you know not the work of God,
Who makes everything.
- 6 In the morning sow your seed,
And till the evening give your hand no
rest;
For you know not which shall prosper,
this or that,
Or whether both alike shall be good.
- 7 "Light is sweet, and it is good for the 8 eyes to see the sun. For if a man live many years, and rejoice in them all, let him remember that the days of darkness will be many. Whatsoever may come is vanity."

ADVICE TO THE YOUNG,

11:9—12:8

- 9 "Rejoice, O young man, in your youth,
And let your mind be glad in the days
of your vigor,
And walk in the ways of your mind
and in the sight of your eyes;
But know that for all these things
God will bring you into judgment.
- 10 And put away worry from your mind,
And remove evil from your flesh;
For youth and the prime of life are vanity.
- 12 Remember your Creator in the days
of your vigor,
Before the evil days come,
And the years approach of which you will say,
'I have no pleasure in them';
- 2 Before the sun becomes dark,
And the light, and the moon, and the stars;
And the clouds return after the rain;
- 3 On the day when the guardians of the house tremble,
And the strong men are bent,

- And the grinding-maids cease because they are few,
And the ladies peering through the windows are darkened,
And the doors into the street are closed;
- When the sound of the mill is low,
And the sound of the bird is faint,
And all the notes of song sink low;
Also, he is afraid of a height,
And terrors are on the road;
- And he rejects the almond,
And the locust is burdensome,
And the caper-berry is ineffectual;
Because man is going to his eternal
home,
And the mourners go about in the street;
- Before the silver cord is severed,
And the golden bowl broken,
And the jar shattered at the spring,
And the wheel broken at the cistern,
And the dust returns to the earth as it was,
And the spirit returns to God who gave it.
- Vanity of vanities," says Koheleth,
"all is vanity."

CONCLUDING COMMENTS

12:9-13

In addition to the fact that Koheleth was wise, he still taught the people knowledge, and he composed, and sought out, and arranged many proverbs. Koheleth sought to find pleasing words, and what is written correctly, namely, true things. The words of the wise are like goods; and collections which are given by one teacher are like nails driven with a sledge. Furthermore, my son, take warning; of the making of many books there is no end, and much study is weariness of the flesh.

The conclusion of the matter, all having been heard: Fear God and keep his commands; for this concerns all mankind, that God brings every work into judgment with regard to everything concealed, whether it be good or evil.

THE SONG OF SONGS

- 1 The Song of Songs, which is Solomon's.

THE MAIDEN TO THE YOUTH, 1:2-4

- 2 "Kiss me with kisses from your mouth,
For your love is better than wine;
3 The fragrance of your ointments is sweet;
Your very self is a precious ointment;
Therefore do the maidens love you.
4 Take me along with you, let us hasten;
Bring me, O king, into your chamber,
That we may exult and rejoice in you,
That we may praise your love more than wine;
Rightly are you loved."

THE MAIDEN TO THE DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM, 1:5, 6

- 5 "Blackened am I, but comely,
O daughters of Jerusalem,
Like the tents of Kedar,
like the hangings of Solomon.
6 Do not notice that I am blackened, that the sun has scorched me,
my mother's son has burned me.
I was made keeper of the vineyards,
but my own vineyard I have not kept."

THE MAIDEN TO THE YOUTH, 1:7

- 7 "Tell me, you whom I love,
where you are pasturing your flock,
where you are making your fold at noon;
For why should I be like one veiled, beside the flocks of your companions?"

TO THE MAIDEN, 1:8

- 1 "If you do not know,
O most beautiful of women,
Follow in the tracks of the flock,
And pasture your kids,
beside the tents of the shepherds."

THE YOUTH TO THE MAIDEN, 1:9-11

- "To a steed in Pharaoh's chariot, 9
I compare you, my love.
Your cheeks are comely with bangles, 10
your neck with beads.
Bangles of gold we will make for you, 11 with studs of silver."

THE MAIDEN, 1:12-14

- "While the king was on his couch, 12
his nard gave forth its fragrance.
A bunch of myrrh is my beloved to 13
me,
as he lies at night between my breasts;
A cluster of henna is my beloved to 14
me,
from the gardens of Engedi."

THE YOUTH TO THE MAIDEN, 1:15

- "Ah, you are beautiful, my love- 15
ah, you are beautiful;
Your eyes are doves."

THE MAIDEN TO THE YOUTH, 1:16, 17

- "Ah, you are beautiful, my beloved, 16
yea, lovely.
Yea, our couch is leafy,
The beams of our house are cedars, 17
our rafters cypresses."

THE MAIDEN, 2:1

- "I am a saffron of the plain, 2 a hyacinth of the valleys."

THE YOUTH, 2:2

- "Like a hyacinth among thistles, 2 so is my loved one among the maidens."

THE MAIDEN TO THE DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM, 2:3—3:5

- 3 "Like an apple tree among the trees of the forest,
so is my beloved among the youths.
In his shadow I long to sit,
and his fruit is sweet to my taste.
- 4 Bring me to the house of wine, and look upon me with love.
- 5 Stay me with raisin-cakes,
refresh me with apples;
for I am sick with love.
- 6 Let his left hand be under my head,
and his right hand embrace me.
- 7 "I adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles or by the hinds of the field,
That you rouse not, nor awaken love,
until it please.
- 8 "Hark! my beloved!
ah, here he comes,
Leaping over the mountains,
skipping over the hills.
- 9 My beloved is like a gazelle,
or a young stag.
Ah, here he stands,
behind our wall,
Looking through the windows,
peering through the lattices!
- 10 My beloved spoke up, and said to me,
'Rise, my love,
my beautiful one, come away;
- 11 For, see, the winter is past,
the rain is over and gone;
- 12 The flowers have appeared on the earth,
the time of song has come;
And the call of the turtle dove is heard in our land;
- 13 The fig tree is putting forth its figs,
and the blossoming grapevines give forth fragrance.
Rise, my love,
my beautiful one, come away.
- 14 O my dove in the clefts of the rocks,
in the recesses of the cliffs,
Let me see your form,
let me hear your voice;
For your voice is sweet,
and your form is comely.'
- 15 "Catch for us the foxes,
the little foxes,

That are despoiling the vineyards,
since our vineyards are in bloom.

- "My beloved belongs to me, and I to him, who is pasturing his flock among the hyacinths.
- Until the day blows,
and the shadows flee,
Gambol, my beloved,
like a gazelle or a young stag upon the craggy mountains.
- "Upon my bed at night,
I sought him whom I love;
I sought him, but could not find him;
I called him, but he did not answer me.
- I will rise then, and go about the city, in the streets and in the squares,
To seek him whom I love;
I sought him, but could not find him.
- The watchmen who go about the city
found me:
'Have you seen him whom I love?'
- Scarcely did I get by them,
when I found him whom I love.
I held him and would not let him go,
until I brought him to my mother's house,
to the chamber of her who bore me.

"I adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles or by the hinds of the field,
That you rouse not, nor awaken love,
until it please."

THE PROCESSION, 3:6-11

- "What is this coming up from the wilderness, like columns of smoke,
Perfumed with myrrh and frankincense,
made from all kinds of merchants' spices?
Ah, it is the litter of Solomon.
Sixty warriors are around it,
of the warriors of Israel,
All of them armed with swords, trained in war

- Each with his sword upon his hip, against danger at night.
- 9 King Solomon made himself a palanquin, from the woods of Lebanon.
- 10 He made its columns of silver,
its seat of gold,
Its body of purple,
its interior inlaid with ebony.
- 11 O daughters of Jerusalem, go forth, and gaze upon King Solomon,
On the crown with which his mother crowned him
on the day of his nuptials, on the day of his gladness of
heart."

THE YOUTH TO THE MAIDEN, 4:1-15

- 14 "Ah, you are beautiful, my love;
ah, you are beautiful!
Your eyes are doves,
behind your veil.
- Your hair is like a flock of goats, streaming down from Mount Gilead.
- 2 Your teeth are like a flock of ewes ready for shearing, that have come up from the washing,
All of which bear twins,
and none of which loses its young.
- 3 Your lips are like a thread of scarlet,
and your mouth is comely.
- Your temple is like a slice of pomegranate,
behind your veil.
- 4 Your neck is like the tower of David,
built as an armory,
With a thousand bucklers hung upon
it,
all kinds of warriors' shields.
- 5 Your two breasts are like two fawns,
twins of a gazelle,
that pasture among the hyacinths.
- 6 Until the day blows,
and the shadows flee,
I will betake myself to the mountain of myrrh,
and to the hill of frankincense.
- 7 You are altogether beautiful, my love,
and there is no blemish in you.
- 8 "Come from Lebanon, my bride;
come from Lebanon, come!

- Descend from the top of Amanah, from the top of Senir (that is, Hermon),
From the dens of lions,
from the mountains of leopards.
- You have heartened me, my sister, 9
my bride,
you have heartened me,
With one glance of your eyes,
with one turn of your neck.
- How beautiful is your love, 10
my sister, my bride!
- How much better is your love than
wine,
and the fragrance of your ointments than all kinds of perfume!
- As for your lips, my bride, 11
they distil sweetness;
Honey and milk are under your
tongue,
and the fragrance of your garments is like the fragrance of Lebanon.
- A garden inclosed is my sister, my bride, 12
a garden inclosed, a fountain sealed,
- A garden fountain, a well of fresh 15
water,
and flowing streams from Lebanon.
- Your products are a park of pome- 13
granates,
together with choice fruits,
henna with nard,
- Nard and saffron, calamus and cinna- 14
mon,
together with all kinds of frankincense woods,
- Myrrh and aloes,
together with all the finest perfumes."

THE MAIDEN, 4:16

- "Awake, northwind, 16
and come, southwind!
Blow upon my garden,
that its perfumes may distil,
That my beloved may come to his garden,
and eat its choice fruits."

THE YOUTH TO THE MAIDEN, 5:1a

- "I have come to my garden, my sister, 5
my bride,

To gather my myrrh with my spice,
To eat my honeycomb with my honey,
To drink my wine with my milk."

TO THE LOVERS, 5:1b

"Eat, friends, drink, and be drunk with love."

THE MAIDEN, 5:2-8

- 2 "I was asleep, but my fancy was alert;
hark! my beloved is knocking:
'Open to me, my sister, my love,
my dove, my perfect one;
For my head is filled with dew,
my locks with the mist of the night.'
- 3 'I have taken off my garments;
why should I put them on again?
I have washed my feet;
why should I soil them?'
- 4 My beloved put his hand through the hole,
and my heart yearned for him.
- 5 I rose to open to my beloved,
and my hands dripped myrrh,
And my fingers flowing myrrh, upon the handles of the bar.
- 6 I opened to my beloved, but my beloved had turned away, had passed by.
My heart sank when he turned his
back;
I sought him, but could not find him;
I called him, but he did not answer me;
- 7 The watchmen who go about the city
found me;
they smote me, they wounded
me;
They stripped me of my mantle,
the guardians of the walls.
- 8 "I adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
if you find my beloved,
That you tell him,
that I am sick with love."

TO THE MAIDEN, 5:9

- 9 "What is your lover but a lover,
O most beautiful of women?
What is your lover but a lover,
that you do so adjure us?"

THE MAIDEN, 5:10-16

- "My beloved is fair and ruddy, 10 distinguished among myriads.
His head is fine gold, 11
his locks palm branches, as black as a raven.
His eyes are like doves, 12
by streams of water, Bathing in milk,
sitting by a pool.
His cheeks are like beds of spices, 13
exhaling perfumes.
His lips are hyacinths, dropping flowing myrrh.
His hands are rods of gold, 14
studded with Tarshish-stones.
His body is a column of ivory, adorned with sapphires.
His legs are pillars of marble, 15 set on bases of gold.
His form is like Lebanon,
as choice as cedars.
His mouth is sweet, 16
and he is altogether lovely.
Such is my beloved, and such my friend,
O daughters of Jerusalem."

TO THE MAIDEN, 6:1

- "Whither has your beloved gone, 6
O most beautiful of women?
Whither has your beloved turned,
that we may seek him with
you?"

THE MAIDEN, 6:2, 3

- "My beloved has gone down to his gar- 2
den,
to the beds of spices,
To pasture his flock in the gardens, and gather hyacinths.
I belong to my beloved, and my be- 3 loved to me,
who pastures his flock among the hyacinths."

THE YOUTH TO THE MAIDEN, 6:4-10

- "You are as beautiful as Tirzah, my 4
love,
as comely as Jerusalem,
as august as the most renowned."

- 5 Turn your eyes away from me, for they dazzle me.
Your hair is like a flock of goats,
streaming down from Gilead.
- 6 Your teeth are a flock of ewes,
that have come up from the
washing,
All of which bear twins,
and none of which loses its
young.
- 7 Your temple is like a slice of pomegranate,
behind your veil.
- 8 Sixty are the queens, and eighty the concubines,
and the maidens are number-
less.
- 9 The only one is she,
my dove, my perfect one;
She is the only one of her mother;
she is the darling of her who bore her.
The maidens look upon her and bless
her,
the queens and concubines praise her:
- 10 'Who is she that breaks forth like the dawn,
as beautiful as the moon,
As bright as the sun,
as august as the most distinguished?'

THE MAIDEN, 6:11, 12

- "I went down to the nut garden, to look at the verdure of the valley,
To see whether the grapevine had budded,
whether the pomegranates had bloomed.
- 1 Before I knew it, my fancy set me in the chariot of my ardent lover."

TO THE MAIDEN, 6:13—7:6

- 1 "Turn, turn, O Shulammitte; turn, turn, that we may gaze on you.
Ah, gaze on the Shulammitte,
in the Mahanaim dance.
How beautiful are your steps in sandals, O rapturous maiden!
The curves of your hips are like necklaces,
the handicraft of an artist

- Your navel is a round bowl, in which liquor is never lacking. 2
Your belly is a heap of wheat, fenced in with hyacinths.
- Your two breasts are like two fawns, 3
twins of a gazelle.
- Your neck is like a tower of ivory, 4 your head upon it is like Carmel.
- Your eyes are pools in Heshbon,
at the gate of Bath-rabbim.
- Your nose is like a peak of Lebanon, overlooking Damascus.
- And the hair of your head is like pur- 5
ple,
in whose tresses a king is caught.
- How beautiful, yea, how lovely you 6
are,
beloved one, joyous maiden!"

THE YOUTH TO THE MAIDEN, 7:7-9

- "Your very stature is like a palm tree, 7 and your breasts like clusters.
I said, 'Let me climb the palm tree, 8
let me take hold of its clusters,
And let your breasts be like clusters of the vine,
and the breath of your nose like apples,
And your palate like finest wine, 9 flowing pleasantly into my
mouth,
stirring my lips and teeth.'"

THE MAIDEN, 7:10—8:4

- "I belong to my beloved, 10
and his longing is for me.
Come, my beloved, let us go into the 11 field,
let us rest among the henna
flowers;
Let us go early to the vineyards, 12 to see whether the grapevine has budded,
Whether the vine blossoms have opened,
the pomegranates bloomed.
There I will give my love to you.
The mandrakes give forth fragrance, 13 and at our doors are all kinds of choice fruits,
Both new and old,
which I have treasured for you-my beloved.

- 8 "O that you were really my brother, who had sucked the breasts of my mother,
 That I might find you in the street,
 kiss you,
 and no one then despise me;
- 2 That I might lead you, bring you to the house of my mother, to the chamber of her who bore
 me;
 That I might give you some spiced wine to drink,
 some pomegranate juice;
- 3 That your left hand might be under my head,
 and your right hand embrace
 me.
- 4 "I adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
 That you rouse not, nor awaken love,
 until it please."

TO THE MAIDEN, 8:5a

- 5 "Who is this coming up from the wilderness, leaning upon her beloved?"

THE MAIDEN TO THE YOUTH, 8:5b-7

- "Under the apple tree I awakened you, where your mother was in travail with you,
 where she that bore you was in travail.
- 6 Place me like a seal upon your heart,
 like a seal upon your arm;
 For love is as mighty as death,
 as strong as Sheol;
 As for passion, its bolts are bolts of
 fire,
 furious flames;

Many waters cannot quench love, 7
 nor rivers overcome it.
 If one were to offer all the substance of his house for love, it would be utterly contemned."

TO THE MAIDEN, 8:8, 9

- "Our sister is young, 8
 and has no breasts.
 What shall we do for our sister, against the day when she will be spoken for?
 If she is a wall, 9
 we shall build a silver turret on
 her;
 But if she is a door,
 we shall secure her with cedar boards."

THE MAIDEN, 8:10-14

- "If I were a wall, 10
 and my breasts like towers,
 Then would I be in his eyes,
 like one who finds favor.
- "Solomon had a vineyard at Baal- 11
 hamon;
 He let the vineyard to caretakers.
 Each was to bring a thousand shekels of silver for its fruit,
 While my vineyard is my own. 12
 The thousand shekels are yours, O
 Solomon,
 While two hundred belong to the caretakers of the fruit.
- "O you who sit in the gardens, 13
 with companions listening,
 let me hear your voice!
 Hasten, my beloved, 14
 be like a gazelle,
 Or a young stag,
 upon the mountains of spices!"

THE BOOK OF ISAIAH

SUPERScription, 1:1

1 THE vision of Isaiah, the son of Amoz, which he saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

FAITHLESS CHILDREN, 1:2-3

2 Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth,
For the LORD has spoken:
"Sons have I reared and brought up,
But they have rebelled against me!
3 The ox knows its owner,
And the ass its master's crib;
But Israel does not know,
My people shows no understanding."

THE DESOLATION OF JUDAH, 1:4-9

4 Ah! sinful nation, guilt-laden people;
Brood of evildoers, children who deal corruptly;
Who have forsaken the LORD, and spurned the Holy One of Israel,
And gone back in estrangement from him!
5 Where will you still be smitten, that you continue in your defection?
The whole head is ailing, and the whole heart sick;
6 From the sole of the foot to the head
there is no health in it—Nought but blows and bruises and bleeding wounds,
That have not been pressed nor bound up nor softened with oil.
7 Your land is a desolation, your cities are burned;
Your soil—in your very presence aliens devour it;
It is a desolation like the overthrow of Sodom.
8 And the daughter of Zion is left like a booth in a vineyard,
Like a hut in a cucumber-field, like a watchman's tower.

Unless the LORD of hosts had left us a handful of survivors,
We should have become like Sodom,
we should have resembled Gomorrah.

TRUE AND FALSE WORSHIP, 1:10-17

Hear the word of the LORD, 10
you rulers of Sodom; Give ear to the instruction of our God,
you people of Gomorrah!
"Of what use is the multitude of your 11 sacrifices to me,"
says the LORD;
"I am sated with burnt-offerings of rams and the fat of fed beasts;
In the blood of bullocks and lambs and he-goats
I take no delight.
When you come to visit me, 12
Who demands this of you—
the trampling of my courts?
Bring no more worthless offering! 13
The odor of sacrifice is an abomination to me.
New moon and sabbath,
the holding of assemblies—
Fasting and festival
I cannot endure.
Your new moons and your appointed 14
seasons,
my whole being hates;
They are a burden upon me;
I am weary of bearing them.
So, when you spread out your hands, 15
I will hide my eyes from you;
Even though you make many a prayer,
I will not listen.
Your hands are full of bloodshed—wash yourselves clean; 16
Put away the evil of your doings from before my eyes;
Cease to do evil, 17
learn to do good;
Seek justice,
restrain the oppressor;
Uphold the rights of the orphan, defend the cause of the widow!"

THE WAGES OF SIN, 1:18-20

- 18 "Come now, and let us reason together,"
says the LORD:
"If your sins be like scarlet, can they become white as snow?
If they be red like crimson, can they become as wool?"
- 19 If you prove willing and obedient, you shall eat the good of the
land;
- 20 But if you refuse and rebel,
you shall taste the sword";
For the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

THE PURIFYING OF ZION,

1:21-31

- 21 How she has become a harlot,
the once faithful city;
She that was full of justice, in whom righteousness lodged,
but now murderers!
- 22 Your silver has become dross, your wine is diluted with
water:
- 23 Your rulers are unruly,
and associates of thieves;
Every one of them loves a bribe,
and runs after gifts;
They uphold not the rights of the orphan,
and the cause of the widow comes not to them.
- 24 Therefore this is the oracle of the Lord, the LORD of hosts,
the Mighty One of Israel:
"Ah! I will get satisfaction for myself on my enemies,
and avenge myself on my foes.
- 25 I will turn my hand against you;
And will smelt out your dross in the furnace,
and remove all your alloy.
- 26 Then will I restore your rulers as at first,
and your counselors as in the beginning;
And afterwards you shall be called,
'The stronghold of justice,
the faithful city.'
- 27 Zion shall be redeemed by justice,
And her converts by righteousness;
- 28 But doom shall fall on rebels and sinners alike;

Those who forsake the LORD shall perish.
For you shall be put to shame through the terebinths in which you took pleasure,
And you shall be abashed through the gardens of which you made choice.
For you shall become like a terebinth whose leaves are withering,
Like a garden that has no water;
The strong one shall become tow,
And his work a spark;
And both of them shall burn together,
With none to quench.

THE MOUNTAIN OF THE LORD'S HOUSE, 2:1-4

The word that Isaiah, the son of Amoz, received concerning Judah and Jerusalem.
It shall come to pass in days to come,
That the mountain of the LORD'S house will be Established as the highest mountain,
And elevated above the hills.
All the nations will stream to it,
And many peoples will come and say:
"Come, let us go up to the mount of the
LORD,
To the house of the God of Jacob;
That he may instruct us in his ways,
And that we may walk in his paths;
For from Zion goes forth instruction,
And the word of the LORD from Jerusalem."
Then shall he judge between the nations,
And arbitrate for many peoples;
And they shall beat their swords into plowshares,
And their spears into pruning-hooks.
Nation shall not lift up sword against
nation,
Nor shall they learn war any more.

THE DAY OF THE LORD,
2:5-22

O house of Jacob, come and let us walk
In the light of the LORD!
For he has forsaken his people,
The house of Jacob;
Because they are full of diviners from the east,

And they practice soothsaying like the Philistines,
And clasp hands with aliens.
7 Their land is filled with silver and gold,
And there is no end to their treasures;
Their land is filled with horses,
And there is no end to their chariots;
8 Their land is filled with idols;
They worship the work of their hands,
That which their fingers have made.
9 So mankind is humbled, and man is brought low—
Forgive them not!

10 Go into the rock, and hide in the dust,
From before the dread presence of the
LORD,
And from his glorious majesty!

11 The haughty looks of man will be brought low,
And the pride of man will be humbled,
And the LORD alone will be exalted on
that day.

12 For the LORD of hosts has a day
Against all that is proud and high,
And against all that is lofty and tall;
13 Against all the cedars of Lebanon, high and lofty,
And against all the oaks of Bashan;
14 Against all the high mountains,
And against all the lofty hills;
15 Against every high tower,
And against every fortified wall;
16 Against all the ships of Tarshish,
And against all the gallant barks.
17 Then the haughtiness of man will be humbled,
And the pride of man will be brought low;
And the LORD alone will be exalted on
that day.

18 The idols will one and all vanish;
19 And men will go into the caves of the rock,
And into the holes of the dust,
From before the dread presence of the
LORD,
And from his glorious majesty,
When he rises to strike terror on the
earth.

20 On that day will a man cast away,
To the moles and to the bats,
His idols of silver and his idols of gold,
Which he made for himself to worship—
21 To go into the rifts of the rocks,
And into the clefts of the crags,
From before the dread presence of the
LORD,

And from his glorious majesty,
When he rises to strike terror on the
earth.

Cease trusting man, in whose nostrils is 22
breath;
For of what account is he?

THE REIGN OF ANARCHY, 3:1-12

For see! the Lord, the LORD of hosts, 3
Is removing from Jerusalem and from Judah both stay and staff—
All stay of bread and all stay of
water—
Soldier and warrior, judge and proph- 2 et, diviner and elder,
Captain of fifty, and man of rank, 3
Counselor, skilful magician, and expert enchanter.
And boys will I give them for princes, 4
And children shall rule over them;
And the people shall play the tyrant 5 over each other,
Everyone over his neighbor;
And rudely shall they behave, the youth toward the old man,
And the base man toward the honorable.
When a man lays hold of his fellow in 6
his father's house:
"You have a mantle—you shall be our leader,
And this heap of ruins shall be under your hand";
On that day will he protest, saying, 7
"I will not be a healer;
For in my house there is neither bread
nor mantle;
You shall not make me leader of this
people!"
For Jerusalem has stumbled, 8
And Judah has fallen; Because their words and their deeds 9
are against the LORD, Provoking his glorious eyes.
Their partiality in judgment bears
witness against them,
And like Sodom they publish their sin without concealment.
Woe to them! for ill have they done to themselves.
Happy the righteous! for well shall 10
it be for them;
For the fruit of their deeds they shall eat.

- 11 Woe to the wicked! ill shall they fare;
For the work of their hands shall be paid back to them.
- 12 My people! babes are their masters,
And women rule them.
My people! your leaders mislead you,
And confuse the paths you should follow.

A JUDGMENT SCENE,
3:13-15

- 13 The LORD comes forward to plead,
He stands up to arraign his people;
- 14 The LORD will bring an indictment Against the elders and princes of his people.
"It is you that have ravaged the vineyard;
The plunder of the poor is in your houses.
- 15 What mean you by crushing my people,
And grinding the face of the poor?"
Is the oracle of the Lord, the GOD of
hosts.

THE DOOM OF THE DAUGH-TERS OF ZION, 3:16-4:1

- 16 The LORD says:
"Because they have grown haughty,
the daughters of Zion,
And walk with outstretched necks,
and with ogling eyes,
Mincing along as they walk,
and jingling with their feet—
The Lord shall smite with a scab 17 the scalps of the daughters of Zion,
and the LORD shall lay bare their brow.
- 18 [On that day will the Lord remove the finery of the anklets and fillets and 19 crescents, the eardrops and bracelets 20 and veils, the headbands and armlets and sashes, the perfume boxes and 21 amulets, the signet rings and nose
22 rings, the festival robes, the mantles 23 and shawls and satchels, the lace gowns and linen vests, the turbans and capes.] 24 Instead of perfume there shall be rottenness,
And instead of a girdle, a rope;
Instead of curls, baldness,
And instead of a stately robe, a wrapping of sackcloth—

Branding instead of beauty.
Your men shall fall by the sword,
And your warriors in battle;
And the gates of Zion shall sorrow and sigh,
As she sits despoiled on the earth.
On that day shall seven women lay hold
On a single man,
Saying, 'We will provide our own food,
And will buy our own clothes;
Only let us be called by your name—
Take away our disgrace!'

THE COMING GLORY OF
ZION, 4:2-6

On that day will the vegetation of the LORD be fair and glorious; and the fruit of the land will be a pride and adornment to the survivors of Israel. And those who remain in Zion and are left in Jerusalem will be called holy—even everyone who is enrolled among those destined for life in Jerusalem—when the Lord has washed away the filth of the daughters of Zion, and has wiped out the bloodstains of Jerusalem from the midst of it, by the spirit of judgment and the spirit of destruction.
Then will the LORD create over the whole site of Mount Zion, and over her assemblies, a cloud of smoke by day and the glow of a flaming fire by night;
for the glory of the LORD will be a can-opy and a bower over all, serving as a shade from the heat by day, and as a refuge and shelter from storm and from rain.

THE SONG OF THE VINE-YARD, 5:1-7

Let me sing for my Loved One
My love song of his vineyard.

My Loved One had a vineyard
On a fertile hill;
He dug it, and cleared it of stones,
And planted it with choice vines;
He built a watchtower in the midst of
it,
And hewed out a winevat;
And he expected it to yield grapes,
But it yielded wild grapes.

Now, O inhabitants of Jerusalem, and men of Judah,

Judge, I pray, between me and my vineyard!

1 What more could have been done for my vineyard

Than that which I have done for it?

Why, then, when I expected it to yield grapes,

Did it yield wild grapes?

2 So now, I pray, let me tell you

What I will do to my vineyard:

I will remove its hedge, so that it shall be ravaged;

I will break down its wall, so that it shall be trampled down;

3 I will make it a waste, unpruned and unhoed,

That shall spring up with briars and thorns;

And the clouds will I command

That they rain no rain upon it.

4 For the vineyard of the LORD of hosts is the house of Israel,

And the men of Judah are his cherished plantation;

He looked for justice, but lo! bloodshed,

For righteousness, but lo! a cry.

THE SIXFOLD WOE,

5:8-24

1 Woe to you who join house to house, And add field to field,

Till there is no more room, And you are left to dwell alone In the midst of the land!

2 Therefore the LORD of hosts has sworn in my hearing:

"Of a truth shall many houses become a desolation,

Houses great and goodly, without an inhabitant;

3 For ten acres of vineyard shall yield but a bath,

And a homer of seed shall yield but an ephah."

1 Woe to those who rise up early in the morning,

To run after strong drink; Who sit late into the twilight, Till wine inflames them;

2 Whose feasts are lyre and harp, Timbrel and flute and wine;

But the doing of the LORD they heed not,

And the work of his hands they see not! Therefore my people are gone into 13 exile,

For want of knowledge;

Their nobility is famished with hunger,

And their rabble is parched with thirst.

Therefore Sheol has enlarged her 14 appetite,

And opens her mouth without limit; And down go the rank and the rabble of Zion,

The noisy ones and the exultant in her.

[Mankind is humbled, and man is 15 brought low,

The eyes of the exalted are brought low;

But the LORD of hosts is exalted 16 through justice,

The Holy God shows himself holy through righteousness.]

Then lambs will graze as on their 17 pasture,

And fat kids will feed among the ruins.

Woe to those who draw guilt on them- 18 selves with cords of ungodliness,

And the penalty of their sin as with cart-ropes;

Who say, "Let his work speed on, 19 make haste,

That we may see it;

Let the purpose of the Holy One of Israel draw near and come,

That we may know it!"

Woe to those who call evil good, 20 And good evil;

Who count darkness as light,

And light as darkness;

Who count bitter as sweet,

And sweet as bitter!

Woe to those who are wise in their own 21 eyes,

And in their own light intelligent!

Ah! the heroes at drinking wine, 22 And the warriors at blending liquor;

Who acquit the guilty for a bribe, 23 And wrest the rights of the innocent from him!

Therefore, as a tongue of fire licks up 24 stubble,

And hay sinks down in the flame, Their root will become like rottenness,

And their blossom will go up like dust;
Because they have scorned the instruction of the LORD of hosts,
And have spurned the word of the Holy One of Israel."<sup>1</sup>

THE VISION OF THE LORD,

6:1-13

- 6 In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and uplifted, with the skirts of his robe filling the temple. Over him stood seraphim, each having six wings, with two of which he covered his face, with two he covered his loins, and with two he hovered in flight. And they kept calling to one another, and saying, "Holy, holy, holy, is the LORD of hosts; The whole earth is full of his glory."<sup>2</sup>
- 4 And the foundations of the thresholds shook at the sound of those who called, and the house filled with smoke.
- 5 Then said I,
"Woe to me! for I am lost;
For I am a man of unclean lips,
And I dwell among a people of unclean lips;
For my eyes have seen the King,
The LORD of hosts."<sup>3</sup>
- 6 Then flew one of the seraphim to me, with a red-hot stone in his hand, which he had taken with tongs from the altar; and he touched my mouth with it, and said,
"See! this has touched your lips;
So your guilt is removed, and your sin forgiven."<sup>4</sup>
- 8 Then I heard the voice of the Lord, saying,
"Whom shall I send,
And who will go for us?"
Whereupon I said,
"Here am I! send me."<sup>5</sup>
- 9 So he said,
"Go and say to this people:
'Keep on hearing, but understand not;
And keep on seeing, but know not!'"<sup>6</sup>
- 10 Make the mind of this people gross,
Dull their ears, and besmear their eyes;
Lest they see with their eyes, and hear with their ears,
And have a mind to understand, and turn, and be healed."<sup>7</sup>
- 11 Then I said,
"How long, O Lord?"
And he said,

<sup>1</sup> Vers. 25-30 will be found following 10:4 on p. 635.

"Till cities lie waste, without inhabitant,
And houses without man;
And the soil be left a desolation,
And the LORD have removed man far 12
away,
And many be the forsaken places in the midst of the land.
Even if a tenth remain in it, 13
This must pass through the fire again,
Like a terebinth, or an oak,
Whose stump remains when it is felled."<sup>8</sup>

[A holy race is the stump of it.]

THE CHALLENGE OF FAITH,

7:1-9

Now in the days of Ahaz, the son of Jotham, the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, Rezin, the king of Syria, and Pekah, the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, went up to Jerusalem to war against it, but they were not able to come to blows with it. And when the House of David was told, "The Syrians lie encamped on Ephraimite territory," his heart and the heart of his people shook as the trees of the forest shake before the wind.

Then said the LORD to Isaiah, 3
"Go out now to meet Ahaz, you and your son 'A remnant will return,' at the end of the aqueduct from the upper pool, on the highway to the laundrymen's field; and say to him, 'Take care, 4 and keep calm! Do not be afraid or down-hearted because of these two stumps of smoking firebrands, the fierce anger of Rezin (with Syria) and the son of Remaliah. Because Syria has plotted mischief against you, with Ephraim and the son of Remaliah, saying, 5
'Let us go up against Judah, and throw it into a panic, and make a schism in it to our interest, and set up the son of Tabeel as king in the midst of it,' thus 7
says the Lord GOD:
'It shall not stand, and it shall not be! For the head of Syria is Damascus, 8
And the head of Damascus is Rezin;
[And within sixty-five years Ephraim shall be broken in pieces, so as to be no longer a people.]
And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, 9
And the head of Samaria is the son of Remaliah.
If you do not hold fast,
Surely you shall not stand fast.'" <sup>9</sup>

THE SIGN OF "GOD IS WITH US,"

7:10-25

- 10 Once more the LORD spoke to Ahaz,
saying,
11 "Ask a sign of the LORD your God; make it deep as Sheol, or high as the heavens!"
12 But Ahaz said,
"I will not put the LORD to the test by asking such a thing."
13 So he said,
"Hear now, O House of David! Is it too slight a thing for you to weary men, that you must weary my God also?
14 Therefore the Lord himself will give you a sign: Behold, a young woman is with child, and is about to bear a son;
and she will call him Emmanuel [God is 15 with us]. Curds and honey will be his food when he knows enough to refuse 16 the bad and choose the good. For before the child knows enough to refuse the bad and choose the good, the land before whose two kings you stand in 17 dread will be forsaken. The LORD will bring upon you, and upon your people, and upon your father's house, such days as have not come since the day that Ephraim parted from Judah, even the king of Assyria."
18 It shall come to pass on that day,
That the LORD will whistle for the fly,
That is at the sources of the streams of Egypt,
And for the bee that is in the land of Assyria;
19 And they will come and settle, all of
them,
In the precipitous ravines, and in the clefts of the crags,
And on all the thorn bushes, and on all the pasture grounds.
20 On that day will the Lord shave off,
With a razor hired from beyond the River, even the king of Assyria,
The hair of the head and the body;
The beard also will he sweep away.
21 And it shall come to pass on that day,
That one will rear a young cow and a couple of sheep;
22 And because of the abundant supply of milk
He will have curds for his food;
For curds and honey will be the food of everyone,
Who is left in the midst of the land.

And it shall come to pass on that day, 23
That every place where there used to be a thousand vines,
Worth a thousand silver shekels,
Will run to briars and thorns;
With arrows and bow will men come 24
there,
For all the land will be briars and thorns.

And as for all the hills that used to be 25
hoed with the hoe,
You will not be able to go there for fear of briars and thorns;
But they will become a place where oxen may be sent,
And where sheep may trample.

THE SIGN OF "SPEEDING TO
THE SPOIL, HASTENING TO THE PREY," 8:1-10

- Then said the LORD to me, 8
"Take a great tablet, and write upon it in the ordinary script, 'Speeding is the spoil, Hastening is the prey.' And 2 get for me reliable witnesses to attest the writing, Uriah the priest, and Zechariah, the son of Jeberechiah."
Then I went in to the prophetess, 3 and she conceived, and bore a son. So the LORD said to me,
"Call him 'Speeding is the spoil, Hastening is the prey'; for before the 4 child knows how to cry, 'My father!'
and 'My mother!' the wealth of Damascus and the spoil of Samaria shall be carried away before the king of Assyria."
Once more the LORD spoke to me, 5
saying,
"Because this people have spurned 6
The waters of Shiloah, that flow gently,
And melt in fear before Rezin and the son of Remaliah, Behold, the Lord is bringing up against 7
them
The waters of the River, mighty and many,
Even the king of Assyria and all his
glory;
And it shall rise over all its channels,
And shall pass over all its banks,
And shall sweep on through Judah, in 8
an overwhelming flood,
And shall reach as high as the neck."
Yet his outspread wings shall fill the breadth of your land, O Emmanuel!

- 9 Take knowledge, you peoples afar;
Give ear, all you distant parts of the earth!
Gird yourselves, and be dumbfounded;
Gird yourselves, and be dumbfounded!
- 10 Plan a plan—it shall come to nought;
Speak a word—it shall not stand!
For God is with us.

THE TEACHING AND THE TESTIMONY, 8:11-22

- 11 Thus spoke the LORD to me, while he grasped me by the hand, and warned me not to walk in the way of this people:
- 12 "Nought that this people call holy shall you call holy;
And what they fear you shall not fear,
Nor shall you dread!
- 13 But the LORD of hosts—him shall you call holy;
He shall be your fear, and he your dread!
- 14 For to both the houses of Israel shall he prove a holy place,
A stone to strike against, and a rock to stumble upon,
A trap and a snare to the inhabitants of Jerusalem;
- 15 And many shall stumble thereon, and shall fall, Shall be broken, and snared, and taken."
- 16 I will bind up my testimony, and seal my teaching in the heart of my disciples. Then I will wait for the LORD, who is hiding his face from the house of Israel; I will set my hope on him, while I and the children whom the LORD has given me remain as signs and symbols in Israel from the LORD of hosts, who dwells on Mount Zion.
- 19 And when men say to you, "Consult the ghosts and spirits that chirp and gibber! Should not a people consult its gods? On behalf of the living should they not consult the dead for instruction and direction?"—of a truth, they shall keep making a statement like this, 20 in which there is no light. And they shall pass through the land, hard pressed and hungry, and in their hunger they shall become mad with rage, and shall curse their king and their God, and shall look up to the heavens 22 and down again to the earth, but lol nought but distress and darkness, the gloom of anguish, and impenetrable murk.

THE PRINCE OF PEACE, 9:1-7

But there will be no more gloom to her that was in anguish. As in days gone by he brought contempt upon the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, so in the time to come will he bring glory upon the land along the Sea Road, beyond Jordan—the Circle of the Nations.

The people that walked in darkness
Have seen a great light;
Those who dwelt in a land of deep darkness—

On them has light shone.

Thou hast multiplied the nation, thou hast increased its joy;

They rejoice before thee as with the joy at harvest,

As men exult when they divide the spoil.

For the yoke that was their burden,
And the bars upon their shoulder,

The rod of their master,
Thou hast broken in pieces as on the day of Midian.

For every boot worn by booted warrior in the fray,

And war cloak stained with blood,
Will be for burning—food for the fire.

For a child is born to us, a son is given to us;

And the government will be upon his shoulder;

And his name will be called

"Wonderful counselor is God almighty, Father forever, Prince of peace."

Of the increase of his government, and of peace,

There will be no end,

Upon the throne of David, and over his kingdom,

To establish it, and to uphold it,

In justice and in righteousness,

From henceforth, even forever.

The zeal of the LORD of hosts will do this.

THE LORD'S OUTSTRETCHED HAND, 9:8-10:4; 5:25-30

A word has the Lord sent into Jacob,
And it will light upon Israel;

And all the people will know it,

- Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria,
Who have spoken in pride and boldness of heart, saying,
"Bricks have fallen, but with hewn stone will we rebuild;
Sycamores have been cut down, but with cedars will we replace them."
Therefore the LORD raised up their adversaries against them,
And spurred on their enemies,
The Syrians on the east, and the Philistines on the west,
Who devoured Israel with open mouth.
For all this his anger has not turned back,
But his hand is stretched out still.
- The people turned not to him who smote them,
Nor sought the LORD of hosts;
Therefore the LORD cut off from Israel head and tail,
Palm-branch and reed in a single day—
The elder and the man of rank is the head,
And the prophet who teaches lies is the tail—
The leaders of this people were misleaders,
And those who were led by them were swallowed up;
Therefore the LORD will spare not their young men,
Nor will he have pity upon their orphans and widows;
Inasmuch as every one of them is godless and an evildoer,
And every mouth speaks impiety.
For all this his anger has not turned back,
But his hand is stretched out still.
- Because wickedness burns like a fire,
Which devours briars and thorns,
Then kindles the thickets of the forest,
And they roll up in columns of smoke—
Through the wrath of the LORD of hosts the land was burned black,
And the people were as food for the fire.
No man spared his brother;
They carved on the right hand, but were hungry still,
They devoured on the left hand, but were not satisfied;
Each one devoured his neighbor's flesh,
- Manasseh Ephraim, and Ephraim Manasseh,
While together they fell upon Judah.
For all this his anger has not turned back,
But his hand is stretched out still.
- Woe to those who decree unrighteous decrees,
And the recorders who make mischievous records,
To thrust aside the needy from their rights,
And to rob my poor ones of justice,
That widows may become their spoil,
And that on orphans they may prey.
What will you do on the day of judgment,
In face of the storm which will come from afar?
To whom will you flee for help,
And where will you leave your wealth?
They can but crouch beneath the prisoners,
And fall beneath the slain!
For all this his anger has not turned back,
But his hand is stretched out still.
- Therefore the anger of the LORD blazed against his people,
And he stretched out his hand against them, and smote them,
So that the mountains quaked;
And their dead bodies were like offal in the midst of the streets.
For all this his anger has not turned back,
But his hand is stretched out still.
- So he will raise a signal to a nation afar,
He will whistle for him at the end of the earth;
And lo! speedily, swiftly will he come,
None weary, none stumbling in his ranks;
He will neither slumber nor sleep.
No loin-girdle of his is loosed,
No sandal-thong is snapped;
His arrows are sharpened,
His bows are all bent;
His horses' hoofs are counted like flint,
His wheels like the whirlwind.
His roar is like that of a lioness,
Like young lions will he roar and growl;
He will seize the prey, and will carry it off,
With none to deliver.

- 30 He will growl over them on that day
like the growling of the sea;
And if one look to the earth, lo! darkness full of distress,
The light is darkened in storm-clouds.

THE DOWNFALL OF ASSYRIA,
10:5-34

- 5 O Assyria, rod of my anger,
And staff of my fury!
6 Against a godless nation I send him,
And against the people of my wrath I charge him,
To despoil them, and to prey on them,
And to trample them down like mire of the streets.
7 But not so does he think,
And not so does he plan;
For destruction is in his mind,
And to cut off nations not a few.
8 For he says,
"Are not my captains all of them kings?
9 Is not Calno like Carchemish?
Is not Hamath like Arpad?
Is not Samaria like Damascus?
10 Inasmuch as my hand has reached to the kingdoms of the idols, Whose carved images were more than those of Jerusalem and Samaria, 11 Shall I not do to Jerusalem and its images,
As I have done to Samaria and its idols?"
12 But when the Lord has finished all his work on Mount Zion and Jerusalem, he will punish the arrogant boasting of 13 pride. For he says,
"By the strength of my hand have I
done it,
And by my wisdom, for I have understanding;
I have removed the boundaries of
peoples,
And I have plundered their treasures;
I have brought down the inhabitants
to the dust.
14 My hand has seized like a nest
The wealth of the peoples;
And as one gathers eggs that are left,
All the earth have I gathered;
And there was none that moved a wing,
Or opened the mouth, or chirped." 15 Shall an ax boast over the man that hews with it,

- Or a saw lord itself over the man that plies it?
As though a rod were to sway the man that wields it,
Or a staff were to wield what is not wood!

Therefore the Lord, the LORD of hosts, 16
Will send wasting sickness into his fat,
And under his glory there will be kindled a kindling
Like the kindling of fire—
The Light of Israel will become a fire, 17
The Holy One of Israel a flame—
And the glory of his forest and garden 18
land
It will consume, both body and soul,
As when a sick man wastes away;
And the remnant of his forest trees 19
will be few,
So that a child may write them down.

On that day the remnant of Israel, 20 and the survivors of the house of Jacob, will no more lean for support on the enemy that smote them, but will lean in loyal trust on the LORD, the Holy One of Israel. A remnant will return—the 21 remnant of Jacob—to the Mighty God.
For though your people, O Israel, be 22 like the sand of the sea, only a remnant of them will return. Destruction is decided upon, overwhelming in the force of righteousness. For an act of destruc- 23
tion, complete and decisive, is the Lord, the GOD of hosts, about to execute in the midst of all the earth.

Therefore thus says the Lord, the 24
GOD of hosts:

"O people of mine who dwell in Zion, be not afraid of Assyria, when he smites you with the rod, and lifts up his staff against you, as did the Egyptians! For 25 in a very little while my fury shall cease, and my anger shall come to an end. Then shall the LORD of hosts 26 brandish over him a scourge like that with which he smote Midian at the Rock of Oreb; and his staff that was over the Sea shall he lift up against him, as he did against the Egyptians.
And on that day shall his burden pass 27 from your shoulder, and his yoke be removed from your neck."

He has gone up from Pene Rimmon,
He has come to Aiath; 28
He has passed through Migron,

- At Michmah he stores his baggage;
 20 He has crossed the Pass,
 Geba is his bivouac;
 Panic-stricken is Ramah,
 Gibeah of Saul has fled.
 30 Shriek aloud, O daughter of Gallim!
 Hearken, O Laishah! Answer her, O Anathoth!
 31 Madmenah has taken to flight,
 The inhabitants of Gebim seek refuge.
 32 This very day will he halt at Nob,
 He will shake his fist at the mount of the daughter of Zion,
 The hill of Jerusalem.
 33 But see! the Lord, the LORD of hosts,
 Is lopping his boughs with a terrible crash;
 And the lofty of stature will be hewn
 down,
 And the tall ones will tumble.
 34 He will strike down the thickets of the forest with an iron ax,
 And Lebanon will fall beneath the blows of a Mighty One.

THE AGE OF GOLD, 11:1-9

- 11 A shoot will spring from the stem of Jesse,
 And a sprout from his roots will bear
 fruit.
 2 And the spirit of the LORD will rest
 upon him,
 The spirit of wisdom and understand-
 ing,
 The spirit of counsel and might,
 The spirit of knowledge and the fear of
 the LORD—
 3 And his delight will be in the fear of
 the LORD.
 He will not judge by that which his eyes see,
 Nor decide by that which his ears
 hear;
 4 But with justice will he judge the needy,
 And with fairness decide for the poor of the land;
 He will smite the ruthless with the rod of his mouth,
 And with the breath of his lips will he slay the wicked.
 5 Righteousness will be the girdle round his loins,
 And faithfulness the girdle round his waist.
 6 Then the wolf will lodge with the lamb,

And the leopard will lie down with the kid;
 The calf and the young lion will graze
 together,
 And a little child will lead them.
 The cow and the bear will be friends, 7
 Their young ones will lie down together;
 And the lion will eat straw like the ox.
 The suckling child will play on the 8 hole of the asp,
 And the weaned child will put his hand
 on the viper's den.
 They will do no harm or destruction 9
 On all my holy mountain;
 For the land will have become full of the knowledge of the LORD,
 As the waters cover the sea.

THE TRIUMPHANT RETURN
OF THE EXILES, 11:10-16

It shall come to pass on that day that 10
 the root of Jesse,
 Who will be standing as a signal to the peoples—
 To him will the nations resort,
 And his resting-place will be glorious.

On that day will the LORD once more 11 raise his hand to recover the remnant that remains of his people, from Assyria and from Egypt, from Pathros and from Ethiopia, from Elam and from Shinar, from Hamath and from the coast-lands of the sea.

He will raise a signal to the nations, 12
 And will gather the outcasts of Israel;
 And the scattered daughters of Judah will he assemble
 From the four corners of the earth.
 Then all jealousy against Ephraim will 13 cease,
 And those who are hostile to Judah
 will be cut off;
 Ephraim will not be jealous of Judah,
 And Judah will not be hostile to Ephraim.
 But they will swoop down on the 14 shoulder of the Philistines on the west,
 Together they will plunder the Kedemites;
 Edom and Moab will be brought under their power,
 And the sons of Ammon will become subject to them.

- 15 Then the LORD will dry up the tongue
of the Sea of Egypt,
With the glowing heat of his breath;
And he will shake his hand over the River,
And will smite it into seven brooks,
And will enable men to cross it with sandals.
- 16 So there will be a highway from Assyria
For the remnant that remains of his people,
As there was for Israel
On the day that it went up from the land of Egypt.

SONGS OF THANKSGIVING,
12:1-6

- 12 You shall say on that day:
"I will give thanks to thee, O LORD,
For thou wast angry with me,
But thine anger has turned back,
And thou hast comforted me.
- 2 See! God is my salvation—
I will trust, and will not be afraid;
For Yah the LORD is my strength and my song,
And he has become my salvation."
- 3 Then you shall draw water with joy 4 from the wells of salvation, and shall say on that day:
"Give thanks to the LORD, acclaim his
name!
Make known his doings among the
peoples,
Bear record that his name is exalted!
- 5 Sing praises to the LORD, for proudly has he wrought;
Let this be known through all the
earth!
- 6 Cry aloud, and sing for joy, O inhabitants of Zion!
For great in your midst is the Holy
One of Israel."

13 AN ORACLE ON BABYLON, WHICH ISAIAH THE SON OF AMOZ RECEIVED, 13:1-22

- 2 On a bare hill raise a signal,
call aloud to them;
Wave the hand for them to enter the gates of the nobles!
- 3 For I have commanded my consecrated ones,

I have summoned my warriors, my proudly exulting ones,
to execute my anger.
Hark! a tumult on the mountains, 4 like that of a multitude of
people;
Hark! the uproar of kingdoms,
of nations assembled!
The LORD of hosts is mustering
a battle host.

They come from a distant land, 5 from the end of the heavens—
The LORD and his weapons of wrath, to destroy the whole earth.
Wail! for the day of the LORD is at 6
hand;
as destruction from the Almighty will it come.
Therefore all hands will fall helpless, 7
And every man's heart will melt, and they will be confounded; 8
Pangs and throes will seize them, they will writhe like a woman in travail;
They will look aghast at each other,
with their faces aflame.

See! the day of the LORD comes, 9
Pitiless, with wrath and fierce anger,
To make the earth a desolation,
And to destroy its sinners from off it.
For the stars of the heavens will veil 10
themselves,
And their constellations will not flash
out their light;
The sun will be dark when he rises,
And the moon will not shed her light.
I shall punish the world for the evil 11
thereon,
And the wicked for their guilt;
I shall still the pride of the arrogant,
And shall bring low the haughtiness of tyrants;
I shall make man rarer than fine gold, 12
Mankind more rare than gold of Ophir.

Therefore the heavens will tremble, 13
And the earth will quake out of its place,
Through the wrath of the LORD of
hosts,
On the day of his fierce anger.
And then, like a hunted gazelle, 14
Or a flock with none to gather it,
They will turn everyone to his people,
And will flee everyone to his land.
All who are found will be thrust 15 through,

- And all who are caught will fall by the sword;
- 16 Their babes will be dashed in pieces before their eyes,
Their houses will be despoiled, and their wives will be ravished.
- 17 See! I am stirring up the Medes against them,
Who pay no regard to silver,
And take no pleasure in gold.
- 18 Their bows will dash the young men in pieces,
And on the fruit of the womb will they have no mercy,
Nor on children will their eye look with pity.
- 19 And Babylon, the beauty of kingdoms,
The proud glory of the Chaldeans,
Will be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.
- 20 She will never more be inhabited,
Nor dwelt in throughout the ages;
No Arab will pitch his tent there,
No shepherds will fold their flocks there;
- 21 But there desert demons will make their lair,
And the houses will be full of jackals;
There ostriches will dwell,
And satyrs will dance there;
- 22 Goblins will howl in her palaces,
And jackals in her pleasant mansions.
Her time is nearly come,
And her days will not be prolonged.

THE RESTORATION OF ISRAEL,

14:1-2

- 14 For the LORD will have pity upon Jacob, and will once more choose Israel, and will settle them upon their own soil; and will join them, and will become members of the house of Jacob.
- 2 For they will take them along with them, and will bring them to their place; and the house of Israel will give them a foothold upon the LORD'S soil as male and female slaves, thus making captives of those who took them captive, and ruling over those who were their masters.

SATIRE AGAINST THE KING OF BABYLON, 14:3-23

- 3 On the day that the LORD gives you rest from your trouble and turmoil, and from the hard service at which you were made to serve, you will take up 4 this taunt-song against the king of Babylon:

"How still has the tyrant become,
how still the terror!
The LORD has broken the staff of the 5 wicked,
the scepter of rulers,
Who smote the peoples in wrath 6
with smiting incessant,
And trampled the nations in anger with trampling unchecked.
All the earth is at rest, is quiet, 7
they break into singing;
Even the cypresses rejoice at your 8
fate,
the cedars of Lebanon:
'Since you were laid low, there comes 9
up no woodman against us.'

"Sheol beneath is thrilled 9 to greet your coming;
She stirs up for you the Shades,
all the rams of the earth;
She lifts from their thrones
all the kings of the nations.
All of them will answer, 10
and will say to you,
'So you too have become weak as we 11
are,
have been made like us!'
Brought down to Sheol is your pomp, 11
the noise of your harps;
Beneath you maggots are spread,
worms are your covering.

"How are you fallen from heaven, 12
O Lucifer, son of the dawn!
How are you hewn to the earth, who laid waste all the nations!
You said to yourself,
'The heavens will I scale; 13 Above the stars of God will I set up my throne;
I will sit on the Mount of Assembly,
in the recesses of the north;
I will scale the heights of the clouds, 14
I will match the Most High.'
But down to Sheol are you brought, 15 to the recesses of the Pit.

"Those who see you will gaze at you, 16
they will scan you closely:
'Is this the man who caused the earth to quiver,
caused kingdoms to quake;

- 17 Who made the world like a desert,
and tore down its cities;
Who set not his prisoners free,
to return to their homes?'
- 18 All the kings of the nations,
They have all lain down in glory,
each in his house;
- 19 But you are cast forth, tombless,
like a hateful abortion, Clothed with slain men gashed by the sword,
Who go down to the stones of the Pit,
like a trampled corpse.
- 20 "With them will you not be united in burial;
Because you have ruined your land,
you have slain your people.
And never more will be named the race of evildoers;
- 21 So prepare for his sons a shambles
because of their fathers' guilt, Lest they rise and take possession of
the earth,
and fill the face of the world with cities!"
- 22 "I will rise up against them," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts, "and will cut off from Babylon race and remnant, offspring and offshoot," is the oracle of 23 the LORD. "And I will make it the possession of the hedgehog—marshes of water. And I will sweep it with the broom of destruction," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts.

THE PLAN OF THE LORD
AGAINST ASSYRIA, 14:24-27

- 24 Surely the LORD of hosts has sworn saying,
"Surely as I have planned, so shall it be;
And as I have purposed, so shall it
stand—
- 25 That I will break Assyria in my land,
And will tread him down on my mountains;
Then his yoke shall move from off
them,
And his burden shall move from off their shoulder.
- 26 This is the purpose that is formed against all the earth;
And this is the hand that is stretched
out against all the nations.
- 27 For the LORD of hosts has formed a purpose;
then who can annul it?

And his hand is that which is stretched
out;
then who can turn it back?"

THE FATE OF PHILISTIA,

14:28-32

In the year that king Ahaz died, 28 came this oracle:
"Rejoice not, O Philistia, all of you, 29 Because the rod that smote you is broken!
For out of the root of the snake shall come forth a viper,
And its fruit shall be a flying serpent.
The poor shall feed unmolested, 30
And the needy shall lie down in safety;
But your race will I kill by famine,
And your remnant will I slay.

"Wail, O gates; cry, O cities; 31
Melt with fear, O Philistia, all of you!
For out of the north comes the smoke of a war host,
With no straggler in its ranks.
What answer, then, shall one give 32
To the messengers of the nation?
"That the LORD has founded Zion, And in her shall his afflicted people find refuge."

AN ORACLE ON MOAB, 11

15:1-16:14

Because in a night Ar-Moab has been despoiled, has been ruined;
Because in a night Kir-Moab has been despoiled, has been ruined—
The daughter of Dibon has scaled the heights to weep;
On Nebo, and on Medeba,
Moab wails.
On every head is baldness,
every beard is shaved;
In their streets have they girded on sackcloth,
on their roofs is lamentation;
And in their squares does every one wail,
with tears running down.

Heshbon and Elealeh cry out,
As far as Jahaz their voice is heard;
Therefore the loins of Moab quiver,
The heart of him quivers.
My heart cries out for Moab,

- As his fugitives press to Zoar, to the third Eglath;
For up the ascent of Luhith weeping they go,
And along the way to Horonaim the cry of ruin they raise;
- 6 For the waters of Nimrim are a desolation,
The grass has withered, the herbage has failed,
There is no green thing.
- 7 Therefore the gain that they acquired, and that which they stored,
Over the Brook of the Willows they carry away;
- 8 For the cry of distress has gone round the border of Moab;
The wail of it reaches Eglaim, the wail of it reaches Beer-elim;
- 9 For the waters of Dimon are full of blood,
And I shall bring still more upon Dimon—
A lion for the survivors of Moab,
For the remnant of the land.
- 10 Then will the rulers of the land send tribute of lambs,
From Selah, by way of the wilderness, to the mount of the daughter of Zion;
- 11 And like fluttering birds, like scattered nestlings,
The daughters of Moab will gather at the fords of the Arnon;
- 12 "Bring counsel, give decision;
Make your shade deep as night in the height of noon!
Shelter the outcasts, betray not the fugitives;
- 13 Let the outcasts of Moab sojourn among you;
Be a shelter to them from the face of the despoiler!"
- When the oppressor has come to an end, the despoiler has ceased,
The trampler-down has vanished out of the land,
- 14 A throne will be established by kindness,
And on it will sit in faithfulness,
In the tent of David,
A judge who seeks what is right,
And is swift to do justice.
- 15 We have heard of the pride of Moab,
how very proud he is—
- Of his haughtiness and pride and insolence,
how baseless are his boastings!
Therefore Moab wails to Moab,
he wails altogether;
- For the raisin-cakes of Kir-heres they moan, utterly stricken;
- For the vineyards of Heshbon languish,
and the vine of Sibmah,
The red clusters of which laid prostrate the lords of nations.
- As far as Jazer they reached,
they strayed to the desert;
Her tendrils spread forth,
they passed over the sea.
- Therefore I weep with Jazer for the vine of Sibmah;
With my tears I drench you,
O Heshbon and Elealeh!
For the battle shout has fallen on your fruits and on your harvest;
- And joy and gladness vanish out of the garden land;
No singing is heard in the vineyards,
no shout of joy is raised;
No grape-treader treads wine into the vats,
the vintage-shout is stilled.
- Therefore my bowels for Moab moan like a harp,
And my heart for Kir-heres wails like a flute.
- And even though Moab appear and weary himself with devotions on the high place, or enter into his sanctuary to pray, he will avail nothing.
- This is the word that the LORD spoke concerning Moab in days gone by. But now the LORD has spoken, saying,
"In three years, counting by the years of a hireling, the glory of Moab will be brought into contempt, in spite of all its teeming multitude; and the remnant will be very few and feeble."
- AN ORACLE ON DAMASCUS, 17:1-11
- "Lo! Damascus is removed from her place among cities,
And will become a heap of ruins, deserted forever.
Her daughter-cities will be given over to flocks,

Which will lie down in them, with none to make them afraid.

- 3 So the bulwark will be stripped from Ephraim,
And the sovereign power from Damascus;
And the remnant of Syria will perish—
They will be like the glory of the sons of Israel,"
Is the oracle of the LORD of hosts.
- 4 "It shall come to pass on that day,
That the glory of Jacob will wane,
And the fat of his flesh will grow lean;
- 5 It will be as when a reaper gathers the standing grain,
And his arm reaps the ears,
As when one gathers ears in the valley of Rephaim;
- 6 Or as when an olive tree is beaten, and gleanings are left on it,
Two or three berries on the uppermost branch,
Four or five on the boughs,"
Is the oracle of the LORD, the God of Israel.
- 7 On that day will a man look to his Maker,
And his eyes will turn to the Holy One of Israel;
- 8 He will look no more to the altars,
The work of his hands,
Nor turn to the sacred poles and incense altars,
Which his fingers have made.
- 9 On that day will your cities be deserted,
Like the deserted cities of the Amorites and Horites,
Which they deserted before the children of Israel,
And they will become a desolation.
- 10 Because you have forgotten the God of your salvation,
And have not been mindful of the Rock of your refuge,
Though you plant your gardens of Adonis,
And stock them with vine-slips of an alien god;
- 11 Though you make them grow on the day that you planted them,
And next morning bring your seedlings to blossom,
Yet the harvest will vanish on a day of sickness,
And incurable pain.

THE ROARING OF THE PEOPLES, 17:12-14

Ah! the roaring of many peoples, 12
That roar like the roaring of seas;
And the surging of nations, that surge
Like the surging of mighty waters!
The nations may surge like the surging 13
of many waters,
But he will rebuke them, and they will flee far away,
And will be chased like chaff of the mountains before the wind,
Or like whirling dust before the hurricane.
At eventide, lo! terror; 14
Before morning, it is gone.
Such is the lot of those who despoil us,
And the fate of those who prey on us.

A MESSAGE TO ETHIOPIA, 18:1-7

Ah! land of the buzzing wings, 11
Which lies beyond the rivers of Ethiopia,
That sends ambassadors by sea, 2
In papyrus vessels on the face of the waters!
Go, you swift messengers,
To a nation tall and sleek,
To a people dreaded near and far,
A nation strong and triumphant,
Whose land the rivers divide!
All you inhabitants of the world, and 3
you dwellers on earth,
When a signal is raised on the mountains, look!
When a trumpet is blown, hark!
For thus says the LORD to me: 4
"I will look on quietly in my dwelling-place,
Like shimmering heat in sunshine,
Like a cirrus cloud in the heat of harvest.
For before the harvest, when the blossom is over, 5
And the bud becomes a ripening grape,
The branches shall be lopped off with pruning-hooks,
And the tendrils shall be cut away;
They shall be left altogether to the 6 mountain birds of prey,
And to the wild beasts of the land;
And the birds of prey shall summer upon them,
And all the wild beasts of the land shall winter upon them."

7 At that time shall a gift of homage be brought to the LORD of hosts from a people tall and sleek—from a people dreaded near and far, a nation strong and triumphant, whose land the rivers divide—to Mount Zion, the place where is the name of the LORD of hosts.

19 AN ORACLE ON EGYPT,

19:1-25

See! the LORD is riding on a swift cloud,

And will come to Egypt;

And the idols of Egypt will quake before him,

And the heart of Egypt will melt within her.

2 "I will spur on Egypt against Egypt, And they shall fight, brother against brother, and neighbor against neighbor, City against city, and kingdom against kingdom.

3 And the spirit of Egypt shall be emptied out of her,

And her counsel will I confuse;

And they shall resort to idols and to mediums,

To ghosts and to spirits;

4 And I will hand over Egypt

To the power of a stern master;

And a ruthless king shall rule them,"

Is the oracle of the Lord, the LORD of hosts.

5 Then the waters will be drained from the sea,

And the river will be parched and dried up;

6 Its channels will become foul, The Nile-arms of Egypt will dwindle and dry up;

Reed and rush will wither,

7 All the sedge-grass on the brink of the Nile will shrivel;

And all that is sown by the Nile

Will be dried up and driven into nothingness.

8 The fishermen also will mourn and lament,

Even all who cast hook in the Nile, While those who spread nets on the water will languish.

9 The workers in flax will be put to shame—

The women who card and the men who weave cotton—

Her weavers will be crushed with grief, All her workers for hire will be heart-broken.

Sheer fools are the princes of Zoan, 11 The wisest of Pharaoh's counselors are a senseless council;

How can you say to Pharaoh,

"A son of wise men am I, a son of ancient kings"?

Where, now, are your wise men, 12

That they may tell you,

And show what the LORD of hosts

Has planned against Egypt?

Befooled are the princes of Zoan, 13

Deluded are the princes of Memphis;

The cornerstones of her tribes have made Egypt reel.

The LORD has mingled within them 14 a spirit of dizziness;

And they have made Egypt reel in all her work,

As a drunkard reels in his vomit;

And Egypt will have no work 15

Which head or tail can accomplish, Palm-branch or reed.

On that day will Egypt be weak as a 16 woman, and she will tremble with dread before the hand of the LORD of hosts, which he will swing over her. And the 17 land of Judah will become a terror to Egypt: whenever one mentions to her the name of Judah, she will be filled with dread because of the plan which the LORD of hosts has formed against her.

On that day there will be five cities 18 in the land of Egypt speaking the language of Canaan, and swearing allegiance to the LORD of hosts—the name of one of them being "The city of the sun."

On that day there will be an altar to 19 the LORD in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a sacred pillar to the LORD near its border. They will be a sign and 20 witness to the LORD of hosts in the land of Egypt, so that when men cry to the LORD because of oppressors, and beseech him to send them a deliverer, he will intervene and save them. And 21 the LORD will reveal himself to the Egyptians, and the Egyptians will acknowledge the LORD on that day, and will worship him with sacrifice and offering; they will also make vows to the LORD, and will perform them. And 22

though the LORD may smite the Egyptians, he will smite only to heal; when they turn to the LORD, he will listen to their entreaties, and will heal them.

- 23 On that day there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria; and the Assyrians will pass along it to Egypt, and the Egyptians to Assyria; and the Egyptians will worship the LORD along with the Assyrians.
- 24 On that day Israel will be a third with Egypt and Assyria as a blessing in the midst of the earth, which the LORD of hosts has blessed in these terms, "Blessed be Egypt my people, and Assyria the work of my hands, and Israel my heritage!"

THE SIGN OF THE CAPTIVITY OF EGYPT AND ETHIOPIA,

20:1-6

- 20 In the year that the commander-in-chief came to Ashdod, when he was sent by Sargon, king of Assyria, and fought against Ashdod, and took it
- 2 (now at that time the LORD had commanded Isaiah, the son of Amoz, saying, "Go and untie the sackcloth from your loins, and put off your sandals from your feet," and he had done so,
- 3 going naked and barefoot), the LORD said, "As my servant Isaiah has gone for three years naked and barefoot, as a sign and symbol against Egypt and
- 4 Ethiopia, so will the king of Assyria lead off the captives of Egypt and the exiles of Ethiopia, young and old, naked and barefoot, with buttocks uncovered,
- 5 to the shame of Egypt. Then men will be dismayed and put to shame because of Ethiopia their hope and Egypt their
- 6 pride. And the inhabitants of this coast-land will say on that day, 'See! this is the fate of those on whom we set our hope, and to whom we fled for help to save us from the king of Assyria; how then can we escape?' "

21 AN ORACLE ON THE DESERT OF THE SEA, 21:1-10

Like whirlwinds as they sweep through the Negeb,

It comes from the desert, from a terrible land.

- 2 A stern vision has been shown to me:

The robber robs, and the plunderer plunders.

"Go up, O Elam; lay siege, O Media! All her groaning I bring to an end."

Therefore my loins are filled with anguish;

Pangs have seized me like those of a woman in travail.

I am tortured so that I cannot hear, I am terror-stricken so that I cannot see.

My mind reels, shuddering assails me; The twilight I delight in has been turned for me into trembling.

They lay out the tables, they spread the mats;

They eat, they drink.

"Arise, O princes, anoint the shields!" For thus has the LORD spoken to me:

"Go, station the watchman, Let him tell what he sees!

If he sees a troop, horsemen in pairs, A troop of asses, a troop of camels, Let him pay close heed, very close heed!"

Then he cried,

"Alas! on my watch-tower, O Lord, I stand continually by day; And at my guard-post I am stationed Night after night."

When lo! there came a troop of men, Horsemen in pairs.

Then he resumed and said,

"Fallen, fallen is Babylon; And all the images of her gods are shattered to the earth."

O my threshed one, my child of the threshing-floor!

What I have heard from the LORD of hosts,

The God of Israel, I have made known to you.

AN ORACLE ON DUMAH,

21:11-12

Someone is calling to me from Seir:

"Watchman, what hour of the night is it?

Watchman, what hour of the night is it?"

The watchman says:

"Morning comes, but also night;

If you wish to know more, come again."

AN ORACLE, "IN THE ARABIAN DESERT," 21:13-17

Among the thickets in the Arabian desert must you lodge,
O caravans of Dedanites!
Bring water to meet the thirsty,
Welcome the fugitives with bread,
O inhabitants of the land of Tema!
For before the sword they have fled,
Before the drawn sword;
And before the bent bow,
Before the stern press of battle.

For the LORD has said to me:

"In one more year, counting by the years of a hireling, all the glory of Kedar will come to an end; and the number that is left of the warlike archers of the sons of Kedar will be few." For the LORD, the God of Israel, has spoken.

AN ORACLE ON THE VALLEY
OF VISION, 22:1-14

What is the matter with you, now,
that you have gone up,
all of you to the housetops,

You who are full of shoutings, a city tumultuous,

a frenzied town?

Your slain are not slain by the sword,
nor dead in battle.

All your leaders fled together, but were caught by the bow-
men;

All your strong men were caught together,
though they fled afar.

Therefore I say, "Look away from me,
bitter tears let me shed;

Strive not to comfort me for the ruin of the daughter of my people!"

For a day of tumult and trampling and confusion

has the Lord, the GOD of hosts, In the Valley of Vision—a crashing of
walls,

and a cry to the mountains.

Elam took up the quiver,
Aram came riding on horses,
And Kir uncovered the shield.

Your choicest valleys were filled with chariots,

And horsemen set themselves in array against the gates,

And the defenses of Judah were laid bare.

On that day you looked to the weapons of war in the House of the Forest, and paid attention to the many breaches in the City of David; and you collected the waters of the lower pool.
You also counted the houses of Jerusalem, and broke down a number of them to fortify the walls; and you made a reservoir between the two walls for the waters of the old pool. But you looked not to him who brought it about, nor paid attention to him who planned it long ago.

The Lord, the LORD of hosts, called on that day

For weeping and wailing, for baldness and girding with sackcloth;

But lol joy and gladness,

Slaying cattle and killing sheep,
Eating flesh and drinking wine—

Eating and drinking, "for tomorrow
we may die."

But the LORD of hosts has revealed himself in my hearing:

"Surely this guilt shall not be expiated by you until you die!"

Says the Lord, the GOD of hosts.

SHEBNA AND ELIAKIM, 22:15-25

Thus says the Lord, the GOD of hosts: 15

"Come! go and say to this steward,
To Shebna, who is over the palace,

'What have you here, and whom have you here,

That you have hewn a tomb for yourself here,

Hewing your tomb on the height,
And carving for yourself a home on the rock?

See! the LORD will toss you away, O mighty man—

Gripping you fast,
And spinning you round and round—
Like a ball into a spacious land.

There shall you die,
And there shall your splendid chariots go,

You disgrace of your master's house!"

"I will thrust you from your post, 19
And will pull you down from your station.

And on that day will I call for my
servant,

Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah;
 21 And I will invest him with your robe,
 And will gird him with your sash;
 And I will hand over your authority
 to him,
 And he shall become a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem
 And to the house of Judah;
 22 And I will place the key of the House of David upon his shoulder,
 And he shall open and no man shut,
 And shall shut and no man open;
 23 And I will fasten him like a peg in a firm place,
 And he shall become a throne of honor
 to his father's house; 24 And they shall hang upon him the whole weight of his father's house,
 The offshoots and the offscourings,
 even the meanest vessels, Both bowls and pitchers of every kind."
 25 "On that day," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts, "the peg that was fastened in a firm place shall give way and be hewn down and fall, and the weight that was upon it shall be cut off." For the LORD has spoken.

23 AN ORACLE ON TYRE,
 23:1-18

Wail, O ships of Tarshish!
 for your stronghold has been
 despoiled—
 On their way from the land of Cyprus
 the news was told to them—
 2 Perished are the inhabitants of the coast-land,
 the merchants of Sidon,
 Who traversed the sea, whose business lay
 3 on many waters,
 Whose harvest was grain from the Nile, whose revenue was trade with the nations.
 4 Lament in shame, O Sidon, mother of cities,
 stronghold of the sea, saying,
 "I am as one who has not travailed nor given birth to children,
 I am as one who has reared no young
 men
 nor brought up maidens."
 5 [When the news reaches Egypt, the news of Tyre,
 they will writhe in pain.]

Pass over to Tarshish, wail, you inhabitants of the coast-
 land!
 Is this your exultant city,
 whose origin is of old, Whose feet used to carry her to settle afar?
 Who has planned such a thing against Tyre the crown-giver, Whose merchants were princes, whose traders were the honored
 of the earth?
 The LORD of hosts has planned it,
 to desecrate all the pride,
 To dishonor all the glory of the honored of the earth.
 Overflow your land like the Nile, O daughter of Tarshish!
 there is no more a barrier.
 His hand has he stretched out over the 11
 sea,
 he has shaken the kingdoms;
 The LORD has given a command touching Canaan,
 to destroy her strongholds.
 He has said, "You shall no more exult, 12
 O ravished one, virgin daughter of Sidon!
 Arise, pass over to Cyprus;
 even there shall you find no rest."
 [It was, however, the Chaldeans, 13 and not the Assyrians, who gave her over to the desert demons. They set up their siegeworks, they razed her palaces, they made her a ruin.]
 Wail, O ships of Tarshish!
 14 for your stronghold has been
 despoiled.
 On that day will Tyre pass into ob- 15 livion for seventy years, like the days of a certain king; but at the end of seventy years will Tyre fare like the harlot in the song:
 "Take a harp, go round the city, 16
 O harlot forgotten!
 Play well, sing many a song,
 that you may be remembered!"
 For at the end of seventy years will 17
 the LORD visit Tyre, and she will return to her hire, and will play the harlot with all the kingdoms of the world on the face of the earth. But her gain from 18 her hire will then be dedicated to the LORD; it will not be stored up or hoarded, but will be given over to those who dwell in the presence of the LORD, to supply them with abundant food and stately clothing.

A VISION OF JUDGMENT,

24:1—27:13

- 24 See! the LORD is about to strip the earth, and lay it waste, Its surface he will distort, and its inhabitants he will disperse;
- 2 Priest will share the fate of people, master of servant, Mistress of maid, seller of buyer, Borrower of lender, creditor of debtor.
- 3 The earth will be stripped bare, The world will be plundered bare, For the LORD has spoken this word.
- 4 The earth mourns, fades, The world languishes, fades; The high heavens languish with the earth.
- 5 The earth is polluted through the touch of its inhabitants, Because they have transgressed laws, violated statutes, Broken the everlasting covenant.
- 6 Therefore a curse has devoured the earth, And its inhabitants have paid the penalty; Therefore the inhabitants of the earth waste away, And few are the mortals that are left.
- 7 The wine mourns, the vine languishes; All the merry-hearted sigh.
- 8 The mirth of the timbrels is still, The noise of the joyful has ceased, The mirth of the harp is still.
- 9 With song will they no more drink wine; Strong drink will be bitter to those who drink it.
- 10 Broken down is the city of chaos; Every house is shut up, so that no one can enter;
- 11 In the streets there is outcry for wine. All joy has reached its eventide, The mirth of the world has gone;
- 12 Desolation is left in the city, And its gates are battered to ruins.
- 13 For so will it be in the midst of the earth, Among the peoples, As when an olive tree is beaten, or at the gleaning of grapes, When the vintage is over.
- 14 Yonder, men lift up their voice, they sing for joy, At the majesty of the LORD they shout more loudly than the sea:

- "Therefore glorify the LORD through- 15
out the east,
On the coast-lands of the sea praise
the name of the LORD,
The God of Israel!"
From the end of the earth have we 16
heard songs of praise:
"Glory for the righteous!"
But I said, "I pine away;
I pine away. Woe is me!
The robbers rob,
The robbers run riot in robbery."
- Terror and pit and snare 17
Are upon you, O inhabitants of the
earth!
And he who flees from the noise of the 18 terror
Will fall into the pit;
And he who escapes from the midst of the pit
Will be caught in the snare;
For windows on high are opened,
And the foundations of the earth tremble.
- The earth breaks asunder, 19
The earth cracks asunder,
The earth shakes asunder;
The earth reels like a drunkard, 20
And sways like a hammock;
Its rebellion lies heavily upon it,
And it will fall, to rise no more.
- It shall come to pass on that day, 21
That the LORD will punish
The host of the heights on high,
And the kings of the earth on the
earth;
They will be gathered together like 22
prisoners in a dungeon,
And will be imprisoned in a prison,
Until after many days they are punished.
- Then will the moon turn pale with 23
confusion,
And the sun will hide in shame;
For the LORD of hosts will be king on Mount Zion,
And will reveal his glory before his elders in Jeursalem.
- O LORD, thou art my God, 25
I will exalt thee, I will give thanks to
thy name;
For thou hast accomplished wonders—
Plans formed long ago, fulfilled in perfect faithfulness.
For thou has made of a city a heap, 2

- Of a fortified town a ruin;
The stronghold of the proud is a city
no more,
It will never more be rebuilt.
- 3 Therefore will barbarous peoples honor thee,
The cities of ruthless nations will reverence thee;
- 4 For thou hast been a stronghold to the weak,
A stronghold to the needy in his distress,
A refuge from the storm, a shade from the heat,
When the breath of the ruthless is like a storm in winter,
- 5 Like heat in a dry place, heat in the shade of a cloud.
The noise of the proud thou quellest,
The song of the ruthless thou stillest.
- 6 Then the LORD of hosts will prepare,
On this mountain for all the peoples,
A feast of fat things, a feast of wine on the lees,
Of fat things full of marrow, of wine
on the lees well refined.
- 7 And he will destroy on this mountain
The veil that veils all the peoples,
And the web that is woven over all the nations;
- 8 He will destroy death forever.
So the Lord GOD will wipe away tears
From every face,
And will remove from all the earth
The reproach that lies on his people;
For the LORD has spoken.
- 9 And it will be said on that day,
"Lo! this is our God,
For whom we waited that he might save us;
This is the LORD for whom we waited;
Let us rejoice and be glad in his salvation!"
- 10 For the hand of the LORD will rest on this mountain,
But Moab will be trampled down
where he stands,
As straw is trampled down in the water of a dung-pit;
- 11 And though he spread out his hands
in the midst of it,
As a swimmer spreads out his hands to swim,
His pride will be laid low despite all the tricks of his hands.
- 12 The high fortress of his walls will be brought down,

Laid low, leveled to the earth, even
to the dust.

On that day will this song be sung in 26
the land of Judah:

"A strong city is ours; for safety he sets up

Walls and bulwarks.

Open the gates, that the righteous na- 2
tion may enter—

Those who keep faith.

The steadfast mind thou keepest in 3 perfect peace,

For it trusts in thee.

Trust in the LORD forever! for Yah 4
the LORD

Is a rock everlasting.

For he has brought down the dwellers 5
on high,

The lofty city.

He lays it low, lays it low to the earth,

He levels it to the dust.

The foot will trample it, the feet of the 6
poor,

The steps of the needy."

The path of the upright is even, 7
The track of the righteous thou level-est;

In the path of thy judgments, O 8
LORD, we have waited for thee;

Our heart's desire is for thy name and thy memorial.

I have yearned for thee in the night, 9
With all my heart I seek thee;

For when thy judgments come down to the earth,

The inhabitants of the world learn
righteousness.

Though favor be shown to the wicked, 10

Yet will he not learn righteousness;

Even in the land of uprightness will he deal wrongfully,

And will not see the majesty of the
LORD.

O LORD, thy hand is uplifted, but 1
they see it not;

Now let them see to their shame thy zeal for thy people—

Let fire consume thine enemies!

O LORD, establish peace for us; 1
Since all our works thou hast wrought for us.

O LORD our God, other lords than 1
thou have been our lords;

But thy name alone will we celebrate.

Dead men do not live, the Shades do 1 not rise—

So hast thou visited them with destruction,
 And wiped out all remembrance of them—
 But the nation hast thou increased, O LORD,
 The nation hast thou increased, and hast shown forth thy glory;
 Thou hast enlarged all the bounds of the land.

In distress, O LORD, we sought thee;
 We cried out because of oppression, when thy chastening was on us.
 Like a woman with child, as she draws near to give birth,
 As she writhes and cries out in her pangs,
 So were we in thy presence, O LORD;
 We were with child, we writhed in pain,
 But we gave birth only to wind;
 No deliverance did we achieve for the land,
 No inhabitants of the world came to birth through us.
 But thy dead will live, their bodies will rise,
 Those who dwell in the dust will awake, and will sing for joy;
 For thy dew is a dew of light,
 And the earth will bring the Shades to birth.

Go, my people, enter your chambers,
 And shut your doors behind you;
 Hide yourselves for a little while,
 Till the time of wrath go by.
 For seel the LORD is coming out of his place,
 To punish the inhabitants of the world for their guilt;
 And the earth will uncover her blood,
 And will no more conceal her slain.
 On that day will the LORD punish,
 With his sword which is hard and great and strong,
 Leviathan the fleeing serpent, Leviathan the coiled serpent;
 And he will slay the dragon that is in the sea.

On that day will it be said:
 "A vineyard of delight—sing you of it!
 I the LORD am its keeper,
 Every moment I water it;
 Lest anyone harm it,
 I guard it night and day.

Wrath have I none; 4
 But should I find briars and thorns,
 In war would I march against them,
 I would burn them altogether;
 Or else let them cast themselves on 5
 my protection,
 And make peace with me, make peace with me!"

On that day will Jacob take root, 6
 Israel will blossom and bud;
 And they will fill the face of the earth with fruit.

Has he smitten them as he smote those 7
 who smote them;
 Or have they been slain like those who slew them?
 By expulsion and exile did he proceed 8
 against them;
 By his rough blast he swept them away on the day of the east wind.
 Therefore on this condition may the 9 guilt of Jacob be expiated—
 This is all the return he expects for taking away their sin—
 That they make all their altar stones like pounded chalkstones,
 That their sacred poles and incense altars raise their heads no more.
 For the fortified city is desolate,
 A homestead forlorn and forsaken like 10
 the steppe;
 There browses the calf,
 There he lies down, and crops its branches;
 And when its boughs are withered, 11
 they are broken off,
 And women come, and make a fire of them.
 For this is a people without understanding;
 Therefore their Maker will show them no pity,
 Their Creator will show them no favor.

On that day will the LORD thresh out 12
 the ears of grain,
 From the River Euphrates to the River of Egypt;
 And you will be picked up one by one,
 O children of Israel!

On that day will a blast be blown on a 13 great trumpet;
 And those who were lost in the land of Assyria,

And those who were outcasts in the land of Egypt,
Will come and worship the LORD
On the holy mountain in Jerusalem.

THE FATE OF SAMARIA,

28:1-6

- 28 Woe to the proud crown of the drunkards of Ephraim,
And the fading flower of his glorious beauty,
That rests on the heads of those overcome with wine!
- 2 See! the LORD has one who is mighty and strong,
One like a storm of hail, or a destroying tempest,
Like a storm of mighty, overwhelming waters,
That beats down to the earth with violence.
- 3 And the proud crown of the drunkards of Ephraim
Will be trampled under foot;
- 4 And the fading flower of his glorious beauty,
That rests on the head of a fertile valley,
Will be like the early fig before summer,
Which, as soon as a man sees it,
While it is still in his hand, he swallows.
- 5 On that day will the LORD of hosts be a beautiful crown
And a glorious diadem to the remnant of his people—
- 6 A spirit of justice to those who preside over justice,
And of might to those who turn back the tide of battle to the gate.

A WARNING TO JUDAH,

28:7-22

- 7 But these also reel with wine,
And stagger with strong drink;
Priests and prophets reel with strong drink,
They are dazed with wine;
They stagger with strong drink, they reel amid their visions,
They stumble while giving judgment;
- 8 For all tables are full of filthy vomit,
No place is clean.
- 9 "To whom would he impart knowledge,
To whom explain the message?
Babes just weaned from the milk,

Just drawn from the breasts?
For it is rule by rule, rule by rule, 10
Line by line, line by line,
A little here, a little there!"

Yea, through barbaric lips, 11
And an alien tongue,
Will he speak to this people,
Who said to them, 12
"This is the rest you shall give to the weary,
And this the repose";
But they would not listen.
So the word of the LORD will be to them 13
Rule by rule, rule by rule,
Line by line, line by line,
A little here, a little there—
That when they go on their way, they may stumble backward,
And be broken, and snared, and taken.

Therefore hear the word of the LORD, 14
You scoffing men,
You satirists among this people
Who are in Jerusalem!
Because you say, 15
"We have struck a covenant with Death,
And have formed a compact with Sheol;
So, when the overwhelming scourge passes,
It will not reach us;
For lies have we made our refuge,
And under falsehood have we hidden"—
Therefore thus says the Lord GOD, 16
"Behold, I lay in Zion a stone,
A well-tested stone,
A precious stone, as the cornerstone of a sure foundation—
He who believes shall not be worried.
And I will make justice the measuring- 17 line,
And righteousness the plummet."

Then hail will sweep away the refuge of lies,
And water will overwhelm the hiding-place;
Your covenant with Death will be annulled, 18
And your compact with Sheol will not stand.
When the overwhelming scourge passes,
You will be battered down by it;
As often as it passes, it will bear you 19
away;

For morning by morning will it pass,
Both day and night;
And sheer terror will it be
To understand the message.

- 20 For the bed is too short to stretch one's self in,
And the covering is too narrow to wrap one's self in.
- 21 For the LORD will rise up as on Mount Perazim,
He will blaze out in wrath as in the valley of Gibeon,
To do his deed—strange is his deed!—
And to work his work—alien is his work!
- 22 Now, therefore, scoff no more,
Lest your bands be made firm;
For a sentence of doom, complete and decisive,
Have I heard from the Lord, the LORD of hosts,
Against all the land.

PLOWING AND THRESHING,

28:23-29

- 23 Give ear, and hear my voice;
Attend, and hear my speech!
- 24 Does the plowman keep plowing all the time,
Is he forever opening and harrowing his ground?
- 25 Does he not, after leveling its surface,
Scatter dill, and sow cummin,
And put in wheat and barley,
With spelt as their border?
- 26 For his God instructs and teaches him
aright.
- 27 Dill is not threshed with a threshing-sledge,
Nor is the wagon-wheel turned on cummin;
But dill is beaten with a staff,
And cummin with a flail.
- 28 Is wheat crushed?
No! one does not thresh it forever,
But when he has rolled his wagon-wheel
over it,
He spreads it out, and does not crush it.
- 29 This also comes from the LORD of hosts, Whose counsel is wonderful, whose wisdom is great.

THE FATE OF ARIEL, 29:1-8

- Woe to you, Ariel, Ariel,
The city against which David encamped!

Add year to year,
Let the cycle of festivals go round!
Then will I bring distress upon Ariel 2 [Altar-hearth],
And there shall be moaning and bemoaning,
And she shall be to me like an altar-hearth.

I will encamp against you round about, 3
And will hem you in with siegeworks,
And will set up forts against you.
Then low from the earth shall you 4
speak,
Deep from the dust shall your words
come;
Like the voice of a ghost from the earth
shall be your voice,
From the dust shall your words rise twittering.

But the horde of your enemies shall be- 5
come like fine dust,
The horde of the ruthless like passing chaff.

In an instant, suddenly,
From the LORD of hosts shall you be 6 visited With thunder and earthquake and mighty noise,
With whirlwind and tempest and flame of devouring fire.

And all the horde of nations that war 7 against Ariel,
With all their siegeworks and forts and storming parties, Shall be like a dream, a vision of the night.

As when a hungry man dreams that he 8
is eating,
And awakes with his craving unsatisfied;
Or when a thirsty man dreams that he is drinking,
And awakes faint, with his craving un-
quenched;
So shall it be with all the horde of nations,
That war against Mount Zion.

SPIRITUAL BLINDNESS AND PERVERSITY, 29:9-16

Daze yourselves, and be dazed, 9
Blind yourselves, and be blind,
You who are drunk, though not with
wine,
You who reel, though not with strong drink!

- 10 For the LORD has poured upon you a spirit of deep slumber,
He has tightly closed your eyes, and has muffled your heads;
- 11 so that the revelation of all these things has become to you like the words of a scroll that is sealed, which if one hand to a scholar with the request, "Pray read this," he will say, "I cannot, for it is sealed"; or if the scroll be handed to one who is not a scholar, with the request, "Pray read this," he will say, "I am not a scholar."
- 13 The LORD says:
"Because this people draw near me with their mouth,
And honor me with their lips,
While their thoughts are far from me,
And their reverence for me is an injunction of men,
That is learned by rote,
- 14 Therefore, behold, I will once more deal with this people
In a wonderful way,
In a wonderful and wondrous way,
And the wisdom of their wise men shall perish,
And the intelligence of their intelligent men shall vanish."
- 15 Woe to them who make their plans deep,
to hide them from the LORD, Whose works are done in the dark,
and who say,
"Who sees us? Who knows us?"
- 16 O the perversity of you!
Is the potter of no more account than the clay?
Shall the thing that is made say of its maker,
"He made me not";
Or the thing that is molded say of its molder,
"He has no intelligence?"
- THE REDEMPTION OF ISRAEL, 29:17-24
- 17 Is there not still but a little while Before Lebanon shall be turned into garden land,
And the garden land be counted a forest?
- 18 And on that day shall the deaf hear the words of a book,

- And out of gloom and darkness shall the eyes of the blind see;
And the humble shall find new joy in 19 the LORD,
And the poorest shall exult in the Holy One of Israel.
- For the tyrant shall have vanished, 20 and the scoffer shall have ceased,
And all who are on the outlook for evil shall have been cut off—
Those who bring condemnation upon 21 a man by a word,
Those who lay traps for the upholder of justice at the gate,
And those who thrust aside the innocent on an empty plea.
- Therefore thus says the LORD, 22
The God of the house of Jacob,
Who redeemed Abraham:
"Jacob shall never more be put to shame,
And never more shall his face grow pale;
For when his children see what my 23 hands have done in their midst,
They shall reverence my name;
They shall reverence the Holy One of Jacob,
And shall stand in awe of the God of Israel;
Those who have erred in judgment 24 shall arrive at understanding,
And those who murmured shall learn instruction."

DENUNCIATION OF THE EGYPTIAN ALLIANCE, 30:1-5

- "Woe to you rebellious children," is the 30 oracle of the LORD,
"Who carry out a purpose that comes not from me,
And who form an alliance that is not according to my mind—
Adding sin to sin—
Who set out on the way to Egypt, 2
Without asking my advice,
To take refuge in the protection of Pharaoh,
And to take shelter in the shadow of Egypt!
Therefore the protection you seek in 3 Pharaoh shall turn to your shame,
And the shelter you seek in the shadow of Egypt to your confusion.
For though his princes be at Zoan, 4

And his messengers arrive at Hanes, 5 All shall come to shame through a people that cannot benefit them,
 That bring no help or benefit,
 But only shame and disgrace."

6 AN ORACLE ON THE BEASTS
 OF THE NEGEB, 30:6-7

Through a land of trouble and anguish,
 Of lioness and roaring lion,
 Of viper and flying serpent,
 They carry their wealth on the shoulders of young asses,
 Their treasures on the humps of camels,
 To a people that cannot benefit—7 To Egypt, whose help is empty and vain,
 Wherefore I have called her "Rahab Sit-still."

REBELLION AND RUIN,
 30:8-17

8 Go now, write it on a tablet before
 them,
 Inscribe it on a scroll,
 That it may serve in days to come
 As a witness forever;
 9 For this is a rebellious people,
 Faithless children,
 Children who will not hear
 The instruction of the LORD—10 Who say to the seers, "You shall not see!"
 And to the prophets, "You shall not prophesy to us right things!
 Speak to us smooth things; prophesy delusions!
 11 Get you out of the way; turn aside from the path!
 Trouble us no more with the Holy
 One of Israel!"
 12 Therefore thus says the Holy One of Israel:
 "Because you have spurned this word,
 And have trusted in cunning and crookedness,
 And rely on them;
 13 Therefore this guilt shall be to you like a descending rift,
 Bulging out in a lofty wall,
 Whose crash comes suddenly, in a moment,
 14 Whose crash is like that of a potter's vessel,

Shattered beyond repair,
 So that there cannot be found among the fragments a sherd,
 To bring fire from the hearth,
 Or to draw water from the cistern."

For thus said the Lord GOD, 15
 The Holy One of Israel:

"By returning and resting shall you be saved,
 In quietness and confidence shall be your strength."
 But you refused to listen, and said, 16
 "No! upon horses will we flee," Therefore you shall flee!
 "And upon swift steeds will we ride," Therefore swift shall be your pursuers!
 At the challenge of one a thousand 17
 shall flee,
 At the challenge of five you shall flee, Till you are left like a flagstaff on the top of a mountain,
 Like a beacon on a hill.

FORGIVENESS AND PROS-PERITY, 30:18-26

Therefore the LORD waits to be gra- 18
 cious to you,
 And therefore he will arise to have pity upon you;
 For the LORD is a God of justice—
 Happy are all those who wait for him!
 O people in Zion, who dwell at Jerusa- 19
 lem,
 No more will you weep;
 He will be gracious to you at the sound of your crying;
 As soon as he hears, he will answer
 you.
 Even though the LORD may have giv- 20 en you Bread in short measure and water in scanty allowance,
 Your Teacher will no more hide himself,
 But your eyes will behold your Teacher.
 And when you turn to right or to left, 21
 Your ears will hear a voice behind you, saying,
 "This is the way; walk in it!"
 And you will defile your carved images 22
 overlaid with silver,
 And your molten images plated with
 gold;
 You will scatter them to the winds like an unclean thing,

- You will say to them, "Begone!"
 23 Then will he give you rain for your seed,
 With which you sow the soil,
 And wheat as the produce of the soil,
 Which will be rich and nourishing.
 On that day will your cattle graze in broad pastures,
 24 And the oxen and young asses that till the soil
 Will feed on salted fodder,
 Which has been winnowed with shovel and fork.
 25 And on every lofty mountain and on every high hill
 There will be streams brimming with water,
 On the day of the great slaughter,
 When the towers fall.
 26 And the light of the moon will be as the light of the sun,
 And the light of the sun will be seven-fold,
 As the light of seven days,
 On the day when the LORD binds up the bruises of his people,
 And heals the wounds with which they were smitten.

THE GLORIOUS TRIUMPH OF THE LORD, 30:27-33

- 27 See! the LORD comes from afar,
 In blazing anger, and amid heavily rising banks of cloud,
 His lips filled with fury,
 And his tongue like devouring fire,
 28 His breath like a sweeping torrent,
 That reaches to the neck—
 To sift the nations with the sieve of destruction,
 And to place in the jaws of the peoples
 A bridle that leads them to ruin.
 29 But for you will there be a song,
 As in the night when a sacred festival is held,
 And gladness of heart, as when one sets out with a flute,
 To go to the mount of the LORD, to the Rock of Israel.
 30 For the LORD will cause his glorious voice to be heard,
 And the descent of his arm to be seen,
 In furious anger, and flame of devouring fire,
 Amid cloud-burst, and rain-storm, and hail.
 31 Assyria will be stricken with terror at the voice of the LORD,

When he smites with the rod;
 And every stroke of the rod of chastise- 32
 ment,
 Which the LORD lays upon them,
 Will be accompanied by the strains of timbrel and harp,
 As he assails them with brandished arm.
 For a pyre is already laid out, 33
 For the king it is prepared;
 It is made both deep and wide;
 It is piled up with fire and logs in abundance;
 And the breath of the LORD, like a torrent of brimstone,
 Is setting it on fire.

THE FOLLY OF RELIANCE ON EGYPT, 31:1-3

Woe to those who go down to Egypt 31
 for help,
 And rely on horses;
 Those who trust in chariots, because they are many,
 And in horsemen, because they are very numerous;
 But look not to the Holy One of Israel,
 Nor consult the LORD!
 Yet he is the wise one, and brings 2
 calamity,
 And does not recall his words.
 He will rise against the house of those who do evil,
 And against the helpers of those who work mischief.
 Now the Egyptians are men, and not 3
 God;
 And their horses are flesh, and not spirit.
 So, when the LORD stretches out his hand,
 The helper will stumble, and the helped one will fall;
 They will all of them perish together.

THE SALVATION OF JERU- SALEM, 31:4-5

Thus says the LORD to me:
 "As a lion or a young lion grows over his prey—
 And, though a full band of shepherds be called out against him,
 Is not dismayed at their shouting, nor pays any heed to their noise—
 So will the LORD of hosts come down
 To fight against Mount Zion, and against its hill.

- 5 Like hovering birds . . . .
 [So will the LORD of hosts protect Jerusalem,
 Protecting and delivering, sparing and saving].”

THE DOWNFALL OF ASSYRIA, 31:6-9

- 6 Return, O children of Israel,
 To him against whom you have plunged deep in revolt!
 7 For on that day each of you will cast away in contempt
 The idols of silver and the idols of gold,
 Which your hands made for yourselves
 as a sin.
 8 Then Assyria will fall by the sword, not of man;
 A sword, not of men, will devour him.
 He will flee before the sword,
 And his young men will be put to hard labor;
 9 The rock of his strength will slip away through terror,
 And his officers will desert the standard in panic.
 This is the oracle of the LORD, whose fire is in Zion,
 And whose furnace is in Jerusalem.

THE KINGDOM OF RIGHT-
 EOUSNESS, 32:1-8

- 2 Behold! a king will reign in righteous-
 ness,
 And princes will rule with justice;
 2 And each of them will be like a hiding-place from the wind,
 And a shelter from the storm,
 Like streams of water in a dry place,
 Like the shade of a great rock in a wearisome land.
 3 Then the eyes of those who see will not be closed,
 And the ears of those who hear will be attentive;
 4 The mind of the hasty will have knowledge to apprehend,
 And the tongue of the stammering will be quick to speak plainly.
 5 No more will the fool be called noble,
 Nor the knave be counted princely.
 6 For the fool will speak folly,
 And his mind will plot mischief,
 So as to practice ungodliness,
 And to utter falsehood regarding the
 LORD,

To leave the hungry unsatisfied,
 And to hold back drink from the thirsty.

- The arts also of the knave are evil; 7
 He hatches plans
 To ruin the needy with lying words,
 Even when the poor man's plea is right.
 But the noble man plans noble things, 8
 And on noble things he takes his stand.

THE THOUGHTLESS WOMEN OF JERUSALEM,

32:9-14

- You thoughtless women, rise up, hear 9
 my voice;
 You complacent daughters, give ear to my words!
 In little more than a year you will 10
 tremble, you complacent ones;
 For the vintage will fail, the ingathering will not come.
 Quake with fear, you thoughtless ones; 11
 tremble, you complacent ones;
 Strip, and make yourselves bare; gird sackcloth upon your loins!
 Beat upon your breasts for the pleasant 12 fields,
 For the fruitful vines;
 For the soil of my people, that will 13
 spring up with thorns and briers,
 And for all the houses of mirth in the joyous city!
 For the palace will be forsaken, the 14
 bustling city deserted; Rampart and watchtower will become dens forever,
 A joy of wild asses, a pasture of flocks.

RIGHTEOUSNESS AND PEACE,
 32:15-20

- Until the spirit be poured upon us from 15
 on high;
 Then will the steppe become garden
 land,
 And the garden land be counted an orchard.
 And justice will dwell in the steppe, 16
 And righteousness abide in the garden
 land;
 And the effect of righteousness will be 17
 peace,
 And the product of justice quietness and confidence forever.
 My people will dwell in peaceful homes, 18
 In secure abodes, and in quiet resting-places,

- 19 Even when the forest comes down with a crash,
And the city is laid in ruins.
20 Happy are you who sow beside all
waters,
And let out freely the ox and the ass!

DISTRESS AND DELIVER-
ANCE, 33:1-24

- 33 Woe to you despoiler, though you have not been despoiled;
And robber, though none has robbed
you!
When you have made an end of de-spoilng, you will be despoiled;
And when you are weary of robbing,
you will be robbed.
- 2 O LORD, be gracious to us!
We have waited for thee.
Be our arm of strength every morning,
Our salvation in time of distress!
- 3 At the sound of tumult the peoples
flee,
When thou liftest thyself up the nations are scattered;
- 4 And thy people will gather the spoil as the locust gathers,
They will swarm upon it as grasshoppers swarm.
- 5 The LORD is exalted, for he dwells on
high;
Zion he has filled with justice and
righteousness—
- 6 Her fortune therefore will be secure—With wealth of salvation, wisdom and
knowledge,
With reverence for the LORD, which is her treasure.
- 7 Lo! the heroes of Ariel cry without,
The ambassadors of peace weep bitterly;
- 8 The highways lie waste, the travelers have ceased,
For the covenant has been broken, its witnesses have been mocked at;
No regard has been paid to man.
- 9 The earth languishes in mourning,
Lebanon withers in shame;
Sharon has become like the wilderness,
Bashan and Carmel are leafless.
- 10 "Now will I arise," says the LORD;
"Now will I mount on high, now will I lift myself up!

You are pregnant with chaff, you shall 11:
bring forth stubble;
Your breath is a fire that shall devour
you.
And the peoples shall be like brands 12
that are burned to a cinder,
Like thorns cut down, that are kindled with fire."

Hear what I have done, you who are 13:
afar;
And acknowledge my might, you who are near at hand!
The sinners in Zion are filled with 14:
dread,
Trembling has seized the godless:
"Who among us shall dwell with devouring fire,
Who among us shall dwell with eternal flames?"
He who walks uprightly, and speaks 15:
sincerely,
Who scorns the gain that is won by oppression,
Who keeps his hand free from the touch of a bribe,
Who stops his ears against hearing of bloodshed,
And closes his eyes against looking on evil—
He will dwell on the heights, 16:
His stronghold will be rocky fastnesses;
His bread will be given to him, his water will be sure.

Your eyes will behold the King in his 17:
beauty,
They will see a land that stretches
afar.
You will muse on the terror that is 18:
past:
"Where is he who counted, where is he who weighed,
Where is he who marked down the towers?"
You will see no more the savage peo- 19:
ple,
The people of obscure speech, which you cannot grasp,
Of barbaric tongue, which you cannot understand.
You will behold Zion, the city of our 20:
festal assemblies;
Your eyes will see Jerusalem,
A quiet home, an immovable tent,
Whose pegs will never be plucked up,
And none of whose cords will be snapped.

- 21 For there, in place of broad rivers and streams,
We shall have the River of the LORD,
On which no ship with oars will go,
No stately bark will pass.
- 22 For the LORD is our judge, the LORD our commander;
The LORD is our king, he will save us.
- 23 [Your tacklings hang loose: they cannot hold the mast in its socket, nor keep the sail spread out.
Then will the blind share spoil in abundance,
And the lame will seize rich prey;
- 24 None who dwells there will say, "I am sick,"
For all her citizens will have had their sins forgiven.

THE DAY OF VENGEANCE,
34:1-17

- 1 You nations, draw near to listen;
You peoples, attend!
Let the earth hear, and that which fills it;
The world, and all that springs from it!
- 2 For the LORD is in anger against all the nations,
And in fury against all their host;
He has doomed them, he has given them up to the slaughter,
- 3 And their slain will be cast out;
The stench of their corpses will rise up,
The mountains will run with their blood,
- 4 And all the hills will flow with it.
The heavens will roll up like a scroll,
And all their host will fade,
As the foliage fades from the vine,
The falling leaf from the fig tree.
- 5 For in the heavens my sword has drunk its fill;
And see! it descends upon Edom,
For judgment upon the people whom I have doomed.
- 6 The sword of the LORD is glutted with blood,
It is gorged with fat,
With the blood of lambs and he-goats,
With the fat of the kidneys of rams.
- 7 For the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah,
A great slaughter in the land of Edom;
And wild oxen will fall down with fatlings,
And bullocks with steers;
And their land will be glutted with blood,
And their dust will be gorged with fat.

- For the LORD has a day of vengeance, 8
A year of requital for the feud against Zion;
And the rivers of Edom will be turned 9
into pitch,
And her dust into brimstone;
Her land will become burning pitch,
That will not be quenched night or day, 10
But whose smoke will rise forever;
It will lie waste from age to age,
None will pass through it forever and ever.
But the jackdaw and the hedgehog will 11
take possession of it,
The owl and the raven will make their home in it;
And the LORD will stretch over it
The measuring-line of chaos and the plummet of desolation;
And satyrs will dwell there, 12
While her nobles will be no more.
Her name will be called "No kingdom there,"
And all her princes will become nothing.
- Thorns will spring up in her palaces, 13
Nettles and thistles in her fortresses;
She will become a haunt of jackals,
An inclosure for ostriches;
Desert demons will join goblins, 14
And satyrs will meet one another;
There will the night hag repose,
And find herself a place of rest.
There will the screech owl nestle and 15
lay,
Brood and hatch her eggs;
There will the vultures gather,
None without her mate.
Search and read it out of the book of the 16
LORD—
None of these will be missing;
For the mouth of the LORD has given command,
And his spirit has gathered them.
He has cast the lot for them, 17
His hand has portioned it out to them with the line;
That they may possess it forever,
And dwell in it throughout the ages.
- THE JOY OF THE REDEEMED, 35:1-10
- The wilderness and the parched land 35
shall be glad,
And the desert shall rejoice and blossom;
Like the crocus shall it blossom 2 abundantly;
It shall rejoice with joy and singing.

The glory of Lebanon shall be given to it,

The splendor of Carmel and Sharon;
They shall see the glory of the LORD,
The splendor of our God.

- 3 Strengthen the feeble hands,
And the tottering knees make firm;
4 Say to those whose hearts beat wildly,
"Courage, fear not!
Seel your God—with vengeance will he come,
With the recompense of God will he come to save you."

- 5 Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened,
And the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped;

- 6 Then shall the lame man leap like a hart,
And the tongue of the dumb shall sing.
For waters shall break out in the wilderness,
And streams in the desert;

- 7 The glowing sand shall become a pool,
And the thirsty ground springs of water;
In the haunt of jackals your flocks shall lie down,
And the inclosure of ostriches shall be filled with reeds and rushes.

- 8 And a highway shall be there and a road,
Which shall be called the Holy Way;
No unclean one shall pass over it—
But it shall be for his people as they go along the way—
And no fools shall wander there.

- 9 No lion shall be there,
No ravenous beast shall go up it;
They shall not be found there.
But the redeemed shall walk in it,

- 10 The ransomed of the LORD shall return by it;
They shall come to Zion with singing,
And with everlasting joy upon their heads;
They shall attain to joy and gladness,
And sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

THE INVASION OF SENNACHERIB, 36:1—37:38

- 36 Now in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib, king of Assyria, came up against all the fortified cities of Judah, and captured them. Then the king of Assyria sent the field marshal from Lachish to Jerusalem, against King Hezekiah, with a large army. And he took up his position by the conduit of the upper pool, on the highway to the laundrymen's field. Then Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah, who was steward of the palace, and Shebna, the scribe, and Joah, the son of Asaph, the recorder, went out to him. Then the field marshal said to them,

"Say now to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria: "What confidence is this in which you trust? Do you think that a mere word of the lips is counsel and strength for war? Now in whom do you trust that you have rebelled against me? You trust, evidently, in the staff of this broken reed, Egypt, on which if a man lean, it will run into his hand and pierce it. So is Pharaoh, king of Egypt, to all who trust in him! But if you say to me, 'We trust in the LORD our God,' is not he the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah has taken away, saying to Judah and Jerusalem, 'Before this altar shall you worship'? And now, pray make a wager with my master, the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses, if you are able on your part to set riders upon them! How then can you repulse the attack of one of the least of my master's servants? Yet you trust in Egypt for chariots and horsemen! Now have I come up against this land to destroy it without the LORD'S approval? The LORD himself said to me, 'Go up against this land and destroy it!'"

Then Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah said to the field marshal,

"Speak now to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it; but do not speak to us in Judean in the hearing of the people who are on the wall."

But the field marshal said,

"Was it to your master and you that my master sent me to speak these words? Was it not rather to the men who are sitting on the wall, doomed with you to eat their own excrement and to drink their own urine?"

Then the field marshal stood up and cried with a loud voice in Judean, saying,

"Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria! Thus says the king: 'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you; for he will not be able to deliver 15 you Neither let Hezekiah cause you to trust in the LORD by saying, "The LORD will surely deliver us; this city shall not be given into the hand of the 16 king of Assyria!" Do not listen to Hezekiah; for thus says the king of Assyria:

 "Make peace with me and surrender to me; and eat each of you from his own vine and fig tree, and drink the water 17 of his own cistern, until I come and take you away to a land like your own, a land of grain and wine, a land of bread 18 and vineyards. Beware lest Hezekiah lure you on by saying, 'The LORD will deliver us!' Has any of the gods of the nations delivered his land from the 19 hand of the king of Assyria? Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Where are the gods of the land of Samaria?
 Did they deliver Samaria from my 20 hand? Who were there among all the gods of these lands that delivered their land from my hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem from my
 hand?" " " "

11 Then they were silent and answered him not a word; for the king's command was, "Do not answer him!"

12 Then Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah, who was steward of the palace, and Shebna, the scribe, and Joah, the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their garments torn, and told him
 the words of the field marshal.

13 As soon as King Hezekiah heard it, he tore his clothes, covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house 2 of the LORD. He also sent Eliakim,
 who was steward of the palace, and Shebna, the scribe, and the oldest of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz.
 3 They said to him,

"Thus says Hezekiah: 'This is a day of distress, rebuke, and disgrace; for children have come to the birth, and there is no strength to bear them. It may be that the LORD your God will hear the words of the field marshal, whom his master, the king of Assyria, has sent to insult the living God, and will rebuke the words which the LORD your God has heard. Therefore lift up a prayer for the remnant that is left!'"

4 But when the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah, Isaiah said to
 them,

"Thus shall you say to your master,
 'Thus says the LORD: "Do not be afraid of the words that you have heard, with which the menials of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me.
 Behold, I will put a spirit in him, so that when he hears a certain rumor he shall return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.'" " "

5 Then the field marshal returned, and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah; for he had heard that he had left Lachish. But he heard con-9 cerning Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia,
 "He has come out to fight with you."
 When he heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

"Thus shall you say to Hezekiah, 10 king of Judah: 'Do not let your God in whom you trust deceive you, saying,
 "Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria!" You have 11 surely heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands in completely destroying them, and will you be deli-12 vered? Did the gods of the nations which my fathers destroyed deliver them—Gozan, Haran, Rezep, and the Edenites who were in Telassar? Where 13 is the king of Hamath, the king of Ar-pad, and the king of the city of Sephar-vaim, of Hena, and of Ivvah?' " "

14 So Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers and read it.
 Then Hezekiah went up to the house of the LORD and spread it out before the LORD; and Hezekiah prayed to the 15 LORD, and said,

"O LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, 16 who art seated upon the cherubim, thou art God, even thou alone, over all the kingdoms of the earth; thou hast made the heavens and the earth. In-17 cline thine ear, O LORD, and hear; open thine eyes, O LORD, and see, and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which he has sent to insult the living God. Of a truth, O LORD, the kings of 18 Assyria have laid waste all the nations and their lands, and have cast their 19 gods into the fire, for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands, wood and stone; and so they have destroyed them. But now, O LORD our God, de-20 liver us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou, O LORD, art God alone."

- 21 Then Isaiah, the son of Amoz, sent to Hezekiah, saying,
 "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Because you have prayed to me concerning Sennacherib, king of Assyria, this is the word which the LORD has spoken against him:
 "She despises you, laughs at you—the virgin daughter of Zion!
 Behind you she wags the head—the daughter of Jerusalem!"
- 23 Whom have you insulted and blasphemed?
 Against whom have you raised your voice,
 And lifted up your eyes on high? against the Holy One of Israel!"
- 24 By the hand of your servants you have insulted the Lord, and have said,
 'With the multitude of my chariots I ascended the mountain heights, the recesses of Lebanon;
 And I felled its tallest cedars,
 its choicest cypresses;
 And I entered its remotest retreat, its densest thicket.
- 25 I dug down,
 and drank foreign waters;
 With the soles of my feet I dried up all the streams of Egypt.'
- 26 Have you not heard how I prepared it long ago,
 How I planned it in days of old,
 and now have brought it to pass—
 That you should turn fortified cities into ruin heaps,
- 27 While their inhabitants, shorn of their strength, are dismayed and confounded,
 Are become like grass of the field,
 like tender green grass,
 Like grass on the housetops, blasted before it is grown up.
- 28 I know your rising and sitting,
 your going and coming,
 and your raging against me.
- 29 Because you have raged against me and your arrogance has come up to my ears, Therefore I will put my hook in your nose,
 and my bridle in your lips,
 And I will cause you to return by the way by which you came."

"And this is the sign for you: This 30 year you shall eat what grows of itself, and next year what springs from the same; but in the third year sow and reap, plant vineyards and eat their fruit. The remnant that survives of the 31 house of Judah shall again strike root downward and bear fruit upward; for a 32 remnant shall go forth from Jerusalem, and a band of survivors from Mount Zion. The zeal of the LORD of hosts shall accomplish this.'

"Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria: 'He shall not enter this city, or shoot an arrow there; neither shall he come before it with shield, nor cast up a mound against it. By the way that he came, by the 34 same he shall return; but he shall not enter this city,' is the oracle of the LORD. 'For I will defend and save this 35 city for my own sake, and for my servant David's sake.' "

Then the angel of the LORD went 36 forth, and slew in the camp of the Assyrians one hundred and eighty-five thousand; and when men rose early next morning, they were all dead bodies.

So Sennacherib, king of Assyria, set 37 out and went and returned home and dwelt at Nineveh. But as he was working 38 shipping in the temple of Nisroch his god, Adrammelech and Sarezer, his sons, slew him with the sword, and they escaped to the land of Ararat; and Esarhaddon, his son, became king in his stead.

HEZEKIAH'S SICKNESS AND RECOVERY, 38:1-9

In those days Hezekiah became dangerously ill; and the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz, came to him and said,
 "Thus says the LORD: 'Set your affairs in order; for you shall die, and not live.'

Then Hezekiah turned his face to the 2 wall, and prayed to the LORD, saying,
 "Remember now, O LORD, I pray thee, how I have walked before thee in truth and sincerity of heart, and have done that which was good in thy sight."

And Hezekiah wept profusely.
 Then the word of the LORD came to 4 Isaiah, saying,
 "Go and say to Hezekiah, 'Thus says 5 the LORD, the God of David your father: "I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears; behold, I will add fifteen more years to your life, and I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria, and will throw my shield over this city." "

21 Isaiah also said,
"Let them take a cake of figs, and rub it upon the boil, so that he may recover."

22 Then Hezekiah said,
"What will be the sign that I shall go up to the house of the LORD?"

7 And he said,
"This will be the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do this thing that he has promised: Behold, I will turn back the shadow on the sundial of Ahaz the ten steps which it has gone down."

So the shadow of the sun turned back the ten steps which it had gone down.

9 A PSALM OF HEZEKIAH KING OF JUDAH, 38:9-20

(Composed after he had been ill, and had recovered from his illness.)

10 I said, "I must go hence in the noontide of my days,
And be consigned to the gates of Sheol for the rest of my years."

11 I said, "I shall no more see the LORD
in the land of the living;
I shall no more look upon man among the inhabitants of the world."

2 My dwelling is plucked up and stripped from me
like a shepherd's tent;
Like a weaver has he rolled up my life,
he cuts me from the loom.

Day and night am I given over to suffering,

3 till morning I cry out in pain—
Like a lion he breaks all my bones—
Day and night am I given over to suffering,

4 Like a swift or a crane I twitter, like a dove I moan.

My eyes look languishing upward:
O LORD, pay heed to me,
become surety for me!

5 But what can I speak or say to him, since he has done it?

I must go softly all my years because of my bitterness of
heart.

O Lord, by these things men live, 10
And through all of them is the life of my spirit sustained;

Therefore do thou restore me, and bring me to life again!

Lo! it was for my welfare that I had 17 great bitterness;

And thou hast held me back from the pit of destruction,

For thou hast cast all my sins behind thy back.

Sheol cannot thank thee, death cannot 18
praise thee;

Those who go down to the Pit cannot hope for thy love.

The living, the living man thanks thee, 19
as I do this day;

The father to the children makes known thy faithfulness.

Be pleased, O LORD, to save me! 20
And we will play on stringed instruments all the days of our life,

Before the house of the LORD.<sup>1</sup>

ON THE EMBASSY FROM MERODACH-BALADAN, 39:1-8

At that time Merodach-baladan, the 39 son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent ambassadors with a present to Hezekiah; for he had heard that he had been sick and had recovered. Hezekiah was 2 pleased with them, and showed them his treasure-house, the silver, the gold, the spices, the fine oil, and all his armory—all that was found among his treasures: there was nothing in his house or in all his kingdom that Hezekiah did not show them.

Then Isaiah the prophet came to 3
King Hezekiah, and said to him,

"What did these men say, and from where have they come to you?"

Hezekiah said, 4
"They have come to me from a distant land, from Babylon."

"What did they see in your house?"
he said.

"They have seen all that is in my house," said Hezekiah; "there was nothing among my treasures that I did not show them."

Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, 5
"Hear the word of the LORD of hosts: 'Behold, days are coming when 6

all that is in your house and that which

this page.

your fathers have stored up to this day shall be carried away to Babylon; nothing shall be left,' says the LORD.

7 'Also some of your sons who shall be your issue, whom you shall beget, they shall take, and they shall become eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.'

8 Then Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "Good is the word of the LORD, which you have spoken."

For he thought,
"At least there will be peace and security in my time."

VOICES FROM THE HEAVENS,

40:1-11

40 "Comfort, O comfort my people," says your God;

2 "Speak to the heart of Jerusalem, and call to her,
That her time of service is ended,
that her guilt is paid in full,
That she has received of the LORD'S hand double for all her sins."

3 Hark! one calls:
"In the wilderness clear the way of the LORD,
Make straight in the desert a highway for our God."

4 Let every valley be raised up,
And every mountain and hill brought low;
Let the uneven ground become a plain,
And the rugged heights a valley.

5 Then shall the glory of the LORD be revealed,
And all flesh shall see it together;
For the mouth of the LORD has spoken."

6 Hark! one says, "Call!"
And I said, "What shall I call?"
"All flesh is grass,
And all its beauty is like the flower of the field.

7 The grass withers, the flower fades,
When the breath of the LORD blows upon it—
Truly the people is grass—

8 The grass withers, the flower fades,
But the word of our God shall stand forever."

9 On a high mountain get you up,
O Zion, herald of good news!

Lift up your voice with strength,
O Jerusalem, herald of good news!

Lift it up, fear not;
Say to the cities of Judah,
"Behold your God!"

See! the Lord GOD is coming with might,

his own arm having won him the kingdom;

See! his reward is with him,
and his recompense before him.
Like a shepherd he tends his flock,

with his arm he gathers them;
The lambs he carries in his bosom,
and gently leads those who give suck.

THE GREATNESS AND GOODNESS OF THE LORD,

40:12-31

Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand,

And ruled off the heavens with a span,
And inclosed in a measure the dust of the earth,

And weighed the mountains with a balance,
And the hills in scales?

Who has directed the mind of the LORD,
LORD,

And instructed him as his counselor?
With whom took he counsel for his enlightenment,

And who taught him the right path?
Who taught him knowledge,
And showed him the way of intelligence?

Lol the nations are like a drop from a bucket,

Like fine dust in the scales are they counted.

Lol the coast-lands weigh no more than a grain;

And Lebanon itself is not sufficient for fuel,

Nor are its beasts enough for burnt-offering.

All the nations are as nothing before him,
Blank ciphers he counts them.

To whom, then, would you liken God,
Or what likeness would you place over against him?

An idol! the smelter casts it,
And the goldsmith overlays it with gold,
And fastens it with silver links.

- 416 Each one helps his fellow,
And says to his comrade, "Have courage!"
- 7 The smelter cheers on the goldsmith,
He that smooths with the hammer him that strikes with the mallet, Saying of the riveting, "It is good!"
As he fastens it with nails so that it cannot move.
- 40:20 He who would provide himself with an image of wood Chooses a tree that will not rot;
Then seeks out a skilful workman
To set up an image that cannot move.
- 21 Do you not know? Do you not hear?
Has it not been told you from the beginning?
Have you not understood since the foundation of the earth?
- 22 It is he who sits enthroned above the circle of the earth,
So high that its inhabitants are like grasshoppers;
Who stretches out the heavens like a curtain,
And spreads them like a tent to dwell in;
- 23 Who brings princes to nothing,
And makes the rulers of the earth like a cipher—
- 24 Hardly have they been planted, hardly have they been sown, Hardly has their stock taken root in
the earth,
When he blows upon them, and they wither,
And the whirlwind carries them away like stubble.
- 25 "To whom, then, would you liken me,
That I should be equal," says the Holy
One.
- 26 Lift up your eyes on high,
And see! who created these?
He who brought forth their host by number,
And called them all by name;
Through the greatness of his might,
And the strength of his power,
Not one is missing.
- 27 Why should you say, O Jacob,
And speak, O Israel:
"My way is hidden from the LORD,
And my rights are passed over by my
God?"
- 28 Have you not known? Have you not heard?
The LORD is a God everlasting,
The Creator of the ends of the earth.

He does not faint, nor grow weary;
His insight is unfathomable.
He gives power to the fainting, 29
And to him that has no might he increases strength.
Though the youths faint and grow 30
weary,
Though the young men fall prostrate,
They that wait on the LORD shall re- 31
new their strength,
They shall mount on wings like eagles,
They shall run and not be weary,
They shall walk and not faint.

AN APPEAL TO THE NATIONS, 41:1-4

Listen to me in silence, you coast- 41
lands,
And let the nations await my argument;
Then let them approach, then let them
speak,
And together let us draw near for judgment!
Who has roused one from the east, 2 Calling him in righteousness to his service,
Giving up nations before him,
And bringing down kings;
With his sword making them like dust,
Like driven stubble with his bow;
Pursuing them, and passing on safely, 3
By paths his feet have not trodden?
Who has wrought and done this, 4 Proclaiming at the beginning the generations to come?
I, the LORD, who am the first,
And am also with the last.

THE APPEAL TO ISRAEL, 41:5, 8-20

The coast-lands saw it, and were afraid; 5
The ends of the earth trembled,
They drew near, and came.<sup>1</sup>
But you, Israel my servant, 8
Jacob, whom I have chosen,
The descendants of Abraham my friend,
Whom I fetched from the ends of the 9
earth,
And called from its corners,
To whom I said, "You are my servant;
I have chosen you, and have not spurned you";
Fear not, for I am with you; 10
Be not dismayed, for I am your God!

<sup>1</sup> Vers. 6-7 will be found after 40:19 on this page.

- I will strengthen you, I will help you,
I will uphold you with my true right hand.
- 11 Behold, they shall all be ashamed and confounded who are inflamed against you;
They shall perish like a thing of nought who strive against you;
- 12 You shall seek but shall not find those who contend against you;
They shall become like an empty cither, who war against you.
- 13 For I, the LORD your God, have hold of your right hand,
I who say to you, "Fear not!
I am your helper."
- 14 "Fear not, O worm Jacob,
O insect Israel!
I am your helper," is the oracle of the LORD,
"And your redeemer is the Holy One of Israel.
- 15 Behold, I make of you a threshing-sledge,
A new one, armed with teeth;
You shall thresh the mountains, and crush them to dust,
And the hills you shall make like chaff;
- 16 You shall winnow them, and the wind shall carry them away,
The whirlwind shall scatter them;
But you shall exult in the LORD,
You shall glory in the Holy One of Israel.
- 17 "When the poor and the needy seek water in vain,
And their tongue is parched with thirst,
I the LORD will answer them,
I the God of Israel will not forsake them.
- 18 I will open rivers on the bare heights,
And wells in the midst of the valleys;
I will make the wilderness a pool,
And the parched land fountains of water.
- 19 I will plant in the wilderness the cedar,
The acacia, the myrtle, and the olive;
I will set in the desert the cypress,
The plane and the larch as well,
- 20 That men may see and know,
May consider and also understand,
That the hand of the LORD has done this,
That the Holy One of Israel has created it."

THE CHALLENGE TO THE GODS OF THE NATIONS, 41:21-29

- "Present your case," 21
says the LORD;
"Bring forward your champions," says the King of Jacob.
"Let them approach and tell us 22
what is to happen:
Tell us what the former things were,
that we may lay them to heart;
Or the things that are coming announce to us,
that we may know their issue.
Tell us the things that are coming 23
hereafter,
that we may know that you are gods;
That you can do good and do evil,
that we may be dismayed and frightened too.
But lo! you are nought, 24
And your work is a blank;
an abomination is he who chooses you."

I have roused one from the north, and 25
he comes—
From the east he calls on my name;
He shall tread down rulers like mortar,
As the potter tramples clay.
Who foretold it from the first, that we 26
might know,
And beforehand, that we might say,
"Right"?

There was none that foretold, none that announced,
None that heard words from you.
I first told it to Zion, 27
And sent heralds of good news to Jerusalem;
But of these there was no one, of these 28
no counselor,
That, when I asked them, could answer a word.
Lo! they are all of them nought, their 29
deeds a blank,
Their molten images wind and waste.

THE MISSION OF THE SERVANT OF THE LORD, 42:1-4

- See! my servant, whom I uphold; 42
My chosen one, in whom I delight.
I have put my spirit upon him,
He shall bring forth justice to the nations.
He shall not cry, nor shout, 2

Nor make his voice heard in the streets;

- 1 A bent reed shall he not break,
And a flickering wick shall he not quench.

Faithfully shall he bring forth justice;

- 4 He shall not flicker or bend,
Till he establish justice in the earth,
And the coast-lands wait for his teaching.

THE LIGHT OF THE NATIONS, 42:5-9

- 5 Thus says the LORD, the God,
Who created the heavens, and stretched them out,
Who made the earth and its products,
Who gives breath to the people upon it,

And spirit to those who walk in it:

- 6 "I the LORD have called you in righteousness,

And have grasped you by the hand;
I have kept you, and have made you a pledge to the people,

A light to the nations;

- 7 In opening blind eyes,
In bringing prisoners out of the dungeon,
Those who sit in darkness out of the prison.

- 8 I am the LORD, that is my name;
And my glory will I not give to another,

Nor my praise to carved images.

- 9 The former things, lo! they have come to pass,
And new things I foretell;
Before they spring into being,
I announce them to you."

A NEW SONG, 42:10-13

- 10 Sing to the LORD a new song,
His praise from the end of the earth;
Let the sea roar, and that which fills it,

The coast-lands, and those who dwell in them!

- 11 Let the desert rejoice, and her cities,
The villages that Kedar inhabits;
Let the crag-dwellers sing for joy,
Let them shout from the top of the mountains:

- 12 Let them give glory to the LORD,
And tell forth his praise through the coast-lands!

For the LORD will go forth like a warrior,

He will stir up his rage like a soldier;
He will shout, he will send forth the battle cry,

He will show himself a hero against his enemies.

THE INTERVENTION OF THE LORD, 42:14-17

I have long been silent, 14
I have kept still, and have restrained myself;

Now will I cry like a woman in travail,
I will gasp and pant together.

I will lay waste mountains and hills, 15
And will dry up all their herbage;

I will turn the rivers into deserts,
And will dry up the pools.

And I will lead the blind by a way that 16
they know not,

By paths that they know not will I guide them;

I will make the darkness light before them,

And the rugged places a plain.

These are the things I will do,

And will not leave undone;

But they shall be turned backward, in 17
utter shame,

Who trust in idols,

Who say to molten images,

"You are our gods."

THE BLINDNESS OF THE SERVANT, 42:18-25

Hear, you deaf ones, 18
And look, you blind ones, that you may see!

Who is blind but my servant, 19
And deaf like my messenger whom I send?

Who is as blind as my devoted one,
And as deaf as the servant of the LORD?

Many things have you seen, but you 20 observe not;

With ears open, you hear not.

The LORD was pleased, for his righteousness' sake,

To make his instruction great and glorious;

But this is a people preyed upon and 22
despoiled,

All of them snared in holes,

And hidden away in prisons;
They have become a prey, with none to deliver,

A spoil, with none to say, "Restore!"

23 And who among you pays heed to this,
Attends and hears for the time to come?

24 Who gave up Jacob to despoilers,
Israel to plunderers?
Was it not the LORD, against whom they sinned,
And in whose ways they would not walk,
And to whose instruction they did not listen?

25 So he poured upon them the heat of his anger,
And the fierceness of war,
Which wrapped them round in flames,
although they understood it not,
And burned them, although they laid it not to heart.

REDEMPTION AND RESTORA- TION, 43:1-21

43 But now thus says the LORD,
Who created you, O Jacob, and formed
you, O Israel:

"Fear not, for I have redeemed you,
I have called you by your name—you are mine!

2 When you pass through the waters, I will be with you,
And through the rivers, they shall not overwhelm you;

When you walk through the fire, you shall not be scorched,
Or through the flame, it will not burn
you;

3 For I the LORD am your God,
I the Holy One of Israel am your savior.

Egypt I give as your ransom, Ethiopia and Seba in exchange for
you;

4 Because you are precious in my sight,
Honored and loved by me,
Lands I give in exchange for you,
And peoples instead of you.

5 For I am with you;
From the east will I bring your descendants,

And from the west will I gather you;

6 I will say to the north, 'Give up!'
And to the south, 'Hold not back!
Bring my sons from afar,
And my daughters from the end of the
earth;

Every one who is called by my name,
Whom I have created and formed,
And made for my glory.' "

Bring forth the people that are blind,
yet have eyes,

And are deaf, yet have ears!
All the nations are gathered together,
And the peoples are assembled;
Yet who among them could foretell
this,

Could announce it to us beforehand?
Let them bring their witnesses to prove them in the right, To hear their plea, and say, "It is true."

"You are my witnesses," is the oracle
of the LORD,

"My servants, whom I have chosen,
That they may know and believe me,
And understand that I am he.

Before me was no God formed,
And after me there shall be none:

I, I, am the LORD,

And apart from me there is no savior.

I foretold, and I saved,
I announced—I, and no alien god
among you;

And you are my witnesses," is the oracle of the LORD.

"I am God from of old,
And from now onward the same.

There is none that can deliver out of my hand;

When I work, who can reverse it?"

Thus says the LORD,
Your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel:

"For your sake will I send to Babylon,
And bring them all down as fugitives, Namely, the Chaldeans, in their pleasure ships.

For I the LORD am your Holy One,
I the Creator of Israel am your King."

Thus says the LORD,
Who made a way through the sea,

A path through mighty waters;
Who led forth chariot and horse,

Army and warrior together—
And they lay down, and could not rise
up,

They were extinguished and quenched
like a wick:

"Remember not former things,
Nor pay heed to things long past.

Behold, I am doing a new thing,
Even now it is springing to light—

Do you not perceive it?
 A way will I make in the wilderness,
 And rivers in the desert;
 20 The beasts of the field shall honor me,
 The jackals and the ostriches,
 Because I provide waters in the wilderness,
 And rivers in the desert,
 To give drink to my chosen people,
 21 The people whom I formed for myself,
 That they might recount my praise."

GRACE AND GLORY,

43:22—44:8

22 You have not called upon me, O Jacob,
 Nor have you wearied yourself with me, O Israel.
 23 Have you not brought me sheep for your burnt-offerings,
 And honored me with your sacrifices?
 Though I burdened you not with offerings,
 Nor wearied you with frankincense,
 24 Have you not bought me sweet cane with your money,
 And sated me with the fat of your sacrifices,
 While you have burdened me with your sins,
 Wearied me with your iniquities?
 25 I, I, am he who for my own sake blots out your transgressions,
 And will remember your sins no more.
 26 Recall the matter to me, and let us argue it out together;
 Recount it, that you may be proved in the right!
 27 Your first father sinned,
 And your prophets rebelled against me;
 28 Your princes also profaned my sanctuary;
 Therefore I gave up Jacob to utter destruction,
 And Israel to revilings.
 44 Yet now hear, O Jacob my servant,
 Israel, whom I have chosen!
 2 Thus says the LORD, your Maker,
 Who formed you from the womb, and will help you:
 "Fear not, O Jacob my servant,
 Jeshurun, whom I have chosen!
 3 For I will pour water on the thirsty land,
 And streams on the dry ground;

I will pour my spirit upon your children,
 And my blessing upon your descendants;
 And they shall grow up like grass in a 4 swamp,
 Like willows by running streams.
 One shall say, 'I am the LORD'S,' 5
 And another shall call himself by the name of Jacob;
 Another shall inscribe on his hand, 'The LORD'S,'
 And shall surname himself by the name of Israel."
 Thus says the LORD, the King of 6 Israel,
 His Redeemer, the LORD of hosts:
 "I am the first, and I the last;
 Apart from me there is no God.
 Who is like me? Let him proclaim it, 7
 Let him declare it, and lay it out before me!
 Who has announced from of old the things to come?
 Let them tell the things that are to be!
 Fear not, nor be disquieted! 8
 Did I not of old announce and declare it to you,
 With you as my witnesses?
 Is there a God beside me,
 Or a Rock of whom I know not?"

THE FOLLY OF IDOLATRY,

44:9—20

The makers of idols are all of them 9 inane, their precious products are good for nothing, and their devotees are without sight or sense—that they may be put to shame! Whoever, then, 10 fashions a god or casts an image that is good for nothing, all who hold to it will be put to shame, since the workmen are but human beings. Let all of them assemble and take their stand; they will be put to terror and shame together.

The workman in iron works it over 12 the coals, and shapes it with hammers, working it with his strong arm. Then he becomes hungry, and loses his strength; unless he drinks water, he grows faint.

The workman in wood draws a 13 measuring-line over it, shapes it with a pencil, works it with planes, shapes it with compasses, and makes it into the likeness of a man, with a beauty like that of the human form—to sit in a house!

- 14 A man cuts down a cedar, or takes a plane or an oak, or lays hold of some other tree of the forest, which the LORD planted and the rain has
- 15 nourished for man to use as fuel. He takes part of it and warms himself, he kindles a fire and bakes bread; then he makes a god and worships it, he molds an image and prostrates himself before
- 16 it. Half of it he burns in the fire, and on its embers he roasts flesh; he eats the roast and is satisfied; he also warms himself, and says, "Ha! ha! I am warm, I feel the glow." And the rest of it he makes into a god—his idol!—prostrates himself before it, worships it, and prays to it, saying, "Save me, for thou art my god!"
- 18 They have no knowledge and no intelligence; for their eyes are besmeared so that they cannot see, and their minds are dulled so that they cannot understand. No one has sense or knowledge or intelligence to say, "Half of it have I burned in the fire, and on its embers have I baked bread, and I am roasting flesh and eating it; and the rest of it shall I make into an abomination, and prostrate myself before a block of wood?"
- 20 Feeder on ashes! A deluded mind has led him astray, so that he cannot save himself, or confess, "Am not I holding to a delusion?"

JOY OVER ISRAEL'S REDEMPTION, 44:21-23

- 21 Remember these things, O Jacob, Israel, for you are my servant!
I formed you, my servant you are,
O Israel, who will not be forgotten by me.
- 22 I have blotted out your transgressions like a mist,
Your sins like a cloud;
Return to me, for I have redeemed you.
- 23 Sing, O heavens, for the LORD has done it, Shout, O depths of the earth;
Break into singing, O mountains,
O forest, and every tree in it!
For the LORD has redeemed Jacob,
And is revealing his glory in Israel.

THE CALL OF CYRUS,

44:24-45:13

- Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer, 24
Who formed you from the womb:
"I, the LORD, the maker of all,
Who stretched out the heavens alone,
Who laid out the earth—who was with me?
Who frustrates the omens of sooth- 25
sayers,
And makes diviners like madmen;
Who turns wise men backward;
And makes their knowledge folly;
But confirms the word of his servants, 26
And fulfils the predictions of his messengers—
I am he who says of Jerusalem, 'She shall be inhabited,'
And of the cities of Judah, 'They shall be built,
And their ruins will I raise up';
Who says to the deep, 'Be dry! 27
And all your streams will I drain';
Who says of Cyrus, 'My shepherd, 28
Who shall fulfil all my pleasure';
Who says of Jerusalem, 'She shall be built,'
And of the temple, 'Your foundations shall be laid.' "
- Thus says the LORD to his anointed, 45
To Cyrus, whose right hand I have grasped,
To bring down nations before him,
And to unbind the loins of kings,
To open doors before him,
And that gates may not be closed:
"I will go before you, 2
And will level the rugged heights;
The doors of bronze will I break in pieces,
And the bars of iron will I cut asunder;
I will give you the treasures of dark- 3
ness,
The hoards of secret places;
That you may know that I am the LORD,
That I who have called you by name am the God of Israel.
For the sake of Jacob my servant, 4
And Israel my chosen one,
I have called you by name,
I have surnamed you, though you knew me not.
I am the LORD, and there is no other; 5
Beside me there is no God.
I will gird you, though you knew me not,

- 6 That men may know, from the east
And from the west, that beside me
there is none.
I am the LORD, and there is no other—
- 7 Who forms light, and creates darkness,
Who makes weal, and creates woe—
I the LORD am he who does all these things.
- 8 "Pour down, O heavens, from above,
And let the clouds rain righteousness;
Let the earth open her womb,
And bring forth salvation;
Let her cause righteousness also to spring up,
Since I the LORD have created it.
- 9 "Woe to him who strives with his Maker—
A pot with the Potter!
Does the clay ask its potter, 'What are you making?'
Or a man's work say to him, 'You have no hands!'
- 10 Woe to him who asks a father, 'What are you begetting?'
Or a woman, 'With what are you in labor?'
- 11 Thus says the LORD,
The Holy One of Israel, who formed
it:
"Will you question me concerning my
children,
Or give me orders regarding the work of my hands?"
- 12 I made the earth,
And created man upon it;
My hands stretched out the heavens,
And all their host I marshaled;
- 13 I have roused one in righteousness,
And all his ways will I level;
He shall build my city,
And shall set my exiles free,
Not for price or reward,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

THE SALVATION OF THE WORLD, 45:14-25

- 14 Thus says the LORD:
"The laborers of Egypt, and the merchants of Ethiopia, and the stalwart men of Seba, Shall pass over to your service, and shall walk behind you in fetters;
They shall pass over, and shall bow down to you,
and shall pray to you,

- 'With you alone is God, and there is no other,
no God besides;
Truly with you God hides himself, 15
the God of Israel is a savior.' Ashamed and confounded are they all 16
together,
the makers of idols are driven to confusion;
But Israel is saved by the LORD 17
with an everlasting salvation;
You shall not be put to shame or confounded
forever and ever."
- For thus says the LORD who created 18
the heavens—
he is the God—
Who formed the earth and made it—he established it—
He did not create it a chaos, he formed it for a dwelling-
place:
"I am the LORD,
and there is no other. 19
I spoke not in secret,
in a land of darkness;
I said not to Jacob's descendants,
'Seek me in chaos!'
I the LORD speak what is right, tell what is true.
Assemble and come, draw near to- 20
gether,
you survivors of the nations!
No knowledge have those who carry about their carved images of wood,
And offer their prayers to a god that cannot save.
Let them take counsel together, then 21
let them show us,
and bring forward proof of it!
Who announced this of old,
foretold it long ago?
Was it not I the LORD—
no other God than I—A righteous and a saving God—none apart from me?
Turn to me, and be saved, 22
all ends of the earth!
For I am God, and there is no other—by myself have I sworn— 23 Truth has gone out of my mouth, a word that shall not return,
That to me every knee shall bow,
every tongue shall swear, Saying, 'Only in the LORD 24 are righteousness and strength.'

To him shall come in confusion all who were inflamed against
him;

- 25 But in the LORD shall all the descendants of Israel triumph and glory."

THE DOWNFALL OF THE GODS
OF BABYLON, 46:1-13

- 46 Bel crouches, Nebo cowers;
Their idols are consigned to beasts,
They were laid as a load upon weary cattle.

- 2 They cower, they crouch together;
They cannot rescue the load,
But themselves go into captivity.

- 3 Listen to me, O house of Jacob,
All the remnant of the house of Israel, Whom I have carried as a load from birth,

Whom I have borne as a burden from the womb—

- 4 And to old age I am still the same,
Till you are gray-headed will I carry
you;

I have borne, and I will bear,
I will carry, and I will save:

- 5 "To whom will you liken me, to whom make me equal,
With whom will you compare me, that we should be like one another?

- 6 Those who pour gold from a bag,
And weigh out silver in a balance—
They hire a goldsmith to make a god
of it,

Prostrate themselves before it, and worship it;

- 7 They bear it upon their shoulder,
Carry it, and set it down upon its feet,
Where it stands without moving from its place—

Though one cry to it, it will not answer,

Nor save him from his distress.

- 8 Think of this, and ponder over it,
Lay it to heart, you rebels!

- 9 Remember the former things of old,
For it is I who am God, and there is no other—

The God, and there is none like me;
10 Who tells the end from the beginning,
And from days of old that which is still undone;

Who says, 'My purpose shall stand,
And all my pleasure will I do';

- 11 Who calls from the east an agent of
mine,

From a distant land the man of my purpose.

I have spoken, and I will bring it about;

I have purposed, and I will do it."

Listen to me, you stubborn of heart, 12
Who count yourselves far from righteousness:

- "My triumph have I brought near, it 13
is not far off,
And my salvation shall not lag;
I will put salvation in Zion,
Give to Israel my glory."

THE DOWNFALL OF BABYLON,
47:1-15

- "Come down, and sit in the dust, 47
O virgin daughter of Babylon;

Sit throneless on the earth,
O daughter of the Chaldeans!

For no more shall you be called tender and delicate.

Take millstones, and grind meal; 2
remove your veil,

Strip off the skirt, lay bare the leg,
pass through the rivers;

Let your nakedness be laid bare, 3 your shame be seen!

For vengeance inexorable will I take,"
says our Redeemer,

Whose name is the LORD of hosts,
the Holy One of Israel.

- "Get into darkness, and sit silent, 5
O daughter of the Chaldeans!

For no more shall you be called the mistress of kingdoms.

I was angry with my people, 6
I profaned my heritage;

I gave them into your hand,
you showed them no pity;

On the aged you made your yoke to press very heavily.

And you said, 'I shall remain forever, 7
mistress for all time';

But you laid not these things to heart, nor thought what their end would be.

- "Now hear this, O voluptuous one, 8
you who sit complacently,

And say to yourself,

'I am, and there is none but me;
I shall not sit as a widow,

nor know loss of children!'

These two things shall come to you in 9 an instant,

in a single day;

- Loss of children and widowhood, in their full measure, shall come upon you—
In spite of your many spells, and your numerous enchant-
ments—
- 10 Though you have trusted in your skill, and have said, 'None sees me.'
- "Your wisdom and your skill have led you astray,
So that you said to yourself,
'I am, and there is none but me.'
- 11 Therefore disaster shall come upon
you,
which you shall not know how to charm away;
And destruction shall fall upon you, which you shall not be able to appease;
And ruin shall swoop upon you,
which you shall not know how to avert.
- 12 Stand, then, by your enchantments, and your many spells, with which you have wearied yourself from your youth;
Perhaps you may yet succeed,
perhaps you may strike terror!
- 13 "You have wearied yourself with your many counselors,
now let them stand up and save
you—
Those who map out the heavens, and gaze at the stars,
And tell you month by month
what fortune will come to you.
- 14 Lo! they have become like stubble,
the fire burns them;
They cannot save themselves
from the power of the flame;
For it is no glowing coal to warm one's self at,
no fire to sit before.
- 15 Such is the fate of those with whom you have wearied yourself, with whom you have trafficked from your youth—
They stagger each his own way, with none to save them."
- PROPHECIES OLD AND NEW,
48:1-16
- 16 Hear this, O house of Jacob,
Who are called by the name of Israel,
And are sprung from the loins of Judah;
- Who swear by the name of the LORD,
And invoke the God of Israel,
But not in good faith or sincerity;
Though they call themselves after the 2 holy city,
And lean on the God of Israel,
Whose name is the LORD of hosts:
"The former things I foretold of old,
3 They issued from my mouth, and I announced them,
Then suddenly I did them, and they came to pass;
Because I knew that you were obsti-
4 nate,
That your neck was an iron band,
And your forehead bronze,
I foretold them to you of old,
5 I announced them to you before they came,
Lest you should say, 'My idol did
them,
My carved image and my molten
image commanded them';
You heard this, and now that it is all 6 fulfilled,
Will you not bear witness to it?
From this time forth I announce to you new things,
Hidden things, which you have not known;
Only now have they been created, and 7 not of old,
Before this day you have not heard of
them,
Lest you should say, 'Lo! I knew
them';
You have neither heard nor known of 8 them,
Nor till now has your ear been opened
to them;
For I knew how treacherous you were,
How you had been known as a rebel from your birth.
For my name's sake have I been 9 patient with you,
For my honor's sake have I bridled my anger against you,
So as not to cut you off;
Lo! I refined you, but not like silver,
10 I tested you in the furnace of suffering.
For my own sake, my own sake, I do
11 this—
For how should my name be profaned!—
And my glory I yield to no other.
Listen to me, O Jacob,
12 Israel whom I called!
I, I, am the first,
I also am the last.

- 13 My hand laid the foundations of the earth,
My right hand spread out the heavens;
When I call to them, they stand up together.
- 14 Assemble, all of you, and listen!
Who among you foretold these things?
Since the LORD loves him, he will perform his pleasure on Babylon,
And his might on the Chaldeans.
- 15 I myself spoke, and called him;
I brought him, and made his way prosperous.
- 16 Draw near to me, listen to this!
From the first I spoke not in secret,
From the time that it happened I was there;
And now I the Lord GOD have sent him,
Endowed with my spirit."

THE FRUITS OF OBEDIENCE,

48:17-19

- 17 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer,
The Holy One of Israel:
"I the LORD am your God,
Who teaches you for your profit,
And who leads you in the way by which you should go.
- 18 If only you had hearkened to my commands,
Then would your welfare have been like a river,
And your righteousness like the waves of the sea;
- 19 Your descendants would have been like the sand,
Your offspring like the dust of the earth;
And your name would not be cut off,
Nor destroyed from before me."

THE SUMMONS TO DEPART

FROM BABYLON, 48:20-22

- 20 Go forth from Babylon, flee from Chaldea!
With a shout of joy tell, announce this,
Send it forth to the end of the earth!
Say, "The LORD has redeemed his servant Jacob."
- 21 They thirsted not when he led them through deserts;
Water from the rock he caused to flow for them;

He cleft the rock, and water gushed out.
"There is no peace," says the LORD, 22
"for the wicked."

THE DESTINY OF THE SERVANT, 49:1-6

- Listen, you coast-lands, to me; 49
Hearken, you peoples afar!
The LORD called me from birth,
From my mother's womb he gave me my name.
He made my mouth like a sharp sword, 2
In the shadow of his hand he hid me;
He made me a polished arrow,
In his quiver he concealed me.
He said to me, "You are my servant, 3
Israel, through whom I will show forth my glory."
But I said, "In vain have I labored, 4
Idly and for nought have I spent my strength;
Nevertheless, my right is with the LORD,
And my reward with my God."
And now the LORD, 5
Who formed me from the womb to be his servant,
Says that he will bring back Jacob to himself,
And that Israel shall be gathered to him—
For I am honored in the eyes of the LORD,
And my God has become my strength—
He says, "It is too slight a thing for 6 your being my servant
That I should but raise up the tribes of Jacob,
And restore the survivors of Israel;
So I will make you a light of the nations,
That my salvation may reach to the end of the earth."

THE RESTORATION OF ISRAEL,

49:7-13

- Thus says the LORD, 7
The Redeemer and the Holy One of Israel,
To him who is despised by men, abhorred by people,
The slave of rulers:
"Kings shall see, and rise up,
Princes, and they shall bow down,

Because of the LORD, who is faithful,
The Holy One of Israel, who has chosen you."

8 Thus says the LORD:

"In a time of favor have I answered
you,

On a day of salvation have I helped
you;

I have kept you, and have made you
a pledge to the people,

To restore the land,
To allot the desolate heritages,

9 Saying to the prisoners, 'Go forth!' And to those in darkness, 'Show yourselves!'

On all roads shall they feed,
And on all bare heights shall be their pasture;

10 They shall not hunger or thirst,
And no hot wind or sun shall smite
them;

For their merciful Friend shall lead
them,
And shall guide them by fountains of
water.

11 I will make all mountains a road,
And highways shall be raised for them.

12 Behold, these shall come from afar,
And these from the north and the
west,
And these from the land of Syene."

13 Sing, O heavens, and exult, O earth;
Break into singing, O mountains!
For the LORD has comforted his
people,
And has had pity upon his afflicted
ones.

THE CONSOLATION OF ZION,

49:14—50:3

24 But Zion says, "The LORD has forsaken me,
The Lord has forgotten me!"

25 "Can a woman forget her sucking child,
So as not to have pity upon the son of her womb?

Even should these forget,
Yet I will not forget you.

26 See! I have carved you upon the palms of my hands;

Your walls are continually before me.

27 Already your builders make haste, While those who destroyed you and laid you waste go forth from you.

28 Lift up your eyes round about, and see!

All of them gather, they come to you.
As I live," is the oracle of the LORD,
"All of them shall you put on as an ornament,

And shall gird about you like a bride.
For your waste and desolate places 19
shall be restored,

And your land that was ravaged shall be filled with inhabitants.

For now shall you become too narrow for your inhabitants, Since those who swallowed you up are far away.

The children that were born to you in 20
your time of bereavement

Shall yet say in your ears,
'The place is too narrow for us;
Make room for us to dwell in!'

And you shall say to yourself, 21
'Who can have borne me these?
I was bereaved and barren, exiled and banished,

But these—who can have reared them?
Lo! I was left alone;
Whence can these have come?" "

Thus says the Lord GOD: 22

"Behold, I will lift up my hand to the
nations,

And to the peoples will I raise my signal;

And they shall bring your sons in their bosom,

And your daughters shall be carried on their shoulders.

And kings shall be your foster fathers, 23
And their queens your nursing-mothers;

With their faces to the earth shall they bow down to you,

And shall lick the dust of your feet;
And you shall know that I am the
LORD,

In whom none that trust shall be put to shame."

Can prey be taken from a warrior, 24
Or a tyrant's captives be rescued?

But thus says the LORD: 25
"Even should a warrior's captives be taken,

And a tyrant's prey be rescued,
Your opponents will I oppose,
And your children will I save.

I will cause your oppressors to eat 26
their own flesh,

And they shall be drunk with their own blood as with new wine;

Then all flesh shall know that I the LORD am your savior,
And that I the Mighty One of Jacob am your redeemer."

- 50 Thus says the LORD:
"Where is your mother's writ of divorce,
With which I put her away?
Or who is the creditor of mine,
To whom I sold you?
Lo! it was for your sins that you were sold,
And for her transgressions that your mother was put away.
- 2 Why, then, was there no man, when I came, to greet me,
None, when I called, to answer?
Is my hand too short to redeem,
Or have I no strength to save?
Lo! by my rebuke I dry up the sea,
I turn rivers into a desert;
Their fish are in distress for want of
water,
And die of thirst.
- 3 I clothe the heavens in mourning,
And sackcloth I make their covering."

THE DISCIPLINE OF THE SERVANT, 50:4-9

- 4 The Lord GOD has given me a tongue for teaching That I may know how to succor
the weary with a word.
Each morning he wakens, he wakens my ear
to hear as disciples do;
- 5 The Lord GOD has opened my ear,
and I have not been rebellious,
I have not turned backward.
- 6 I gave my back to the smiters, and my cheeks to the pluckers of hair;
My face I hid not from shame and spitting.
- 7 But the Lord GOD helps me, therefore I have not been con-
founded;
I have set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.
- 8 Near is my Vindicator; who will take issue with me?
Let us stand up together!
Who will challenge my rights?
Let him draw near to me!
- 9 Behold, the Lord GOD helps me;
who will put me in the wrong?

Behold, they will all wear out like a garment,
the moth will devour them.

THE FAITHFUL AND THE TREACHEROUS, 50:10-11

- "Whoever among you fears the LORD, 10 and listens to the voice of his servant—
Though he walk in darkness,
without a gleam of light,
Let him trust in the name of the
LORD,
and rely on his God!
But all you who kindle a fire, 11
and set brands aflame, Begone to the flame of your fire, and the brands you have kindled!
This is your fate at my hand:
to lie down in the place of tor-
ment."

THE NEARNESS OF DELIVER- ANCE, 51:1-52:12

- "Listen to me, you who press after de- 51
liverance,
You who seek the LORD!
Look to the rock from which you were hewn,
And the quarry from which you were dug;
Look to Abraham your father, 2
And to Sarah who bore you!
For him alone did I call,
I blessed him, and multiplied him.
Even so shall the LORD comfort Zion, 3
He shall comfort all her ruins;
He shall make her wilderness like Eden,
Her desert like the garden of the
LORD;
Joy and gladness shall be found in her,
Thanksgiving and the voice of singing.
- "Hearken to me, O peoples; 4
O nations, give ear to me!
For instruction shall go forth from me,
And my truth as a light to the peoples.
My deliverance shall draw near in a 5
moment,
My salvation is on its way;
My arms shall rule the peoples,
The coast-lands shall wait for me,
And on my arm shall they put their trust.

- 6 "Lift up your eyes to the heavens,
And look on the earth beneath!
For the heavens shall vanish like
smoke,
And the earth shall wear out like a garment,
While its inhabitants shall likewise
die;
But my salvation shall be forever,
And my triumph shall be unbroken.
- 7 "Listen to me, you who know what is right,
You people in whose hearts is my teaching!
Fear not the reproaches of mortal
men,
Nor be dismayed at their revilings;
- 8 For the moth shall devour them like a garment,
And the worm shall devour them like wool;
But my triumph shall be forever,
And my salvation to all generations.
- 9 "Awake, awake, put on strength,
O arm of the LORD!
Awake, as in days of old,
as in generations long gone!
Was it not thou that didst hew Rahab
in pieces,
that didst pierce the dragon?
- 10 Was it not thou that didst dry up the
sea,
the waters of the mighty deep;
That didst make the depths of the sea
a way
for the redeemed to pass over?
- 11 So the ransomed of the LORD will return by it,
And will come to Zion with singing,
And with everlasting joy upon their
heads;
They will attain to joy and gladness,
And sorrow and sighing will flee away.
- 12 "I, I, am your comforter;
Why should you be afraid
Of man that dies, of mortal man,
That becomes like grass?
- 13 Why should you forget the LORD your Maker,
Who stretched out the heavens, and laid the foundations of the earth,
So that you live in continual dread
Of the fury of the oppressor, when he aims to destroy?
Where is the fury of the oppressor?
- 14 Soon shall the crouching captive be set at liberty;

- He shall not sink down dead to the Pit,
Nor shall his bread fail.
For I the LORD am your God, 15
Who stirs up the sea, so that its bil-lows roar—
The LORD of hosts is his name—
And I put my words in your mouth, 16
And hid you in the shadow of my
hand,
When I stretched out the heavens, and laid the foundations of the
earth,
And said to Zion, 'You are my people.' "
- Rouse you, rouse you, 17
rise up, O Jerusalem, Who have drunk at the hand of the LORD
the cup of his fury,
And have drained to the dregs
the bowl of intoxication!
There is none to guide her 18
of all the sons she has borne,
And there is none to take her by the hand
of all the sons she has reared.
These two things have befallen you— 19 who shall condole with you?— Wreck and ruin, famine and sword—who shall comfort you?—
Your sons lie swooning at all the street 20 corners,
like an antelope in a net,
Filled with the fury of the LORD,
with the rebuke of your God.
Hear this, then, you afflicted one, 21 who are drunk, though not with wine!
Thus says your Lord, the LORD, 22 your God, who defends the cause of his people:
"See! I have taken from your hand
the cup of intoxication,
And you shall drink no more of the bowl of my fury;
I will put it into the hand of your tor- 23
mentors,
Those who said to you,
'Bow down, that we may pass over!'
And you made your back like the carth,
like a street for men to pass over."
- Awake, awake, put on 52
your strength, O Zion;

- Put on your beautiful garments,
O Jerusalem, the holy city!
For no more shall there come to you an uncircumcised or unclean one.
- 2 Shake yourself from the dust, arise,
O captive Jerusalem; Free yourself from the bonds on your neck,
O captive daughter of Zion!
- 3 For thus says the LORD:
"For nought were you sold,
and without money shall you be redeemed."
- 4 For thus says the Lord GOD:
"To Egypt went down my people at the first to sojourn there,
And the Assyrians oppressed them without cause;
- 5 But now what find I here?" is the oracle of the LORD.
"That my people have been taken captive for nought,
That their rulers howl over them," is
the oracle of the LORD,
"And that all day long my name is despised!
- 6 Therefore my people shall know my
name,
They shall know on that day that it is
I who have spoken—
See! here I am."
- 7 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of the heralds, Who bring good news of peace,
news of salvation,
Who say to Zion,
"Your God has become king."
- 8 Hark! your watchmen lift up the voice,
together they sing;
For eye to eye they shall see,
when the LORD restores Zion.
- 9 Break into singing together,
you waste places of Jerusalem!
For the LORD has comforted his people,
he has redeemed Jerusalem.
- 10 The LORD has made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations;
And all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God.
- 11 Away! away! go out thence;
touch nothing unclean!
Go out of the midst of her; keep yourselves pure,
you who bear the vessels of the
LORD!

- For you shall not go out in haste, 12:
nor depart in flight;
For the LORD shall go before you, and the God of Israel shall be your rearguard.

THE SUFFERINGS AND THE TRIUMPH OF THE SERV-ANT, 52:13—53:12

- Lol! my servant shall prosper, 13:
He shall be exalted, and lifted up, and shall be very high.
- As many were amazed at him— 14:
So marred was his appearance beyond that of a man,
And his form beyond that of the sons
of men—
- So shall he startle many nations, 15:
On account of him kings shall shut
their mouths;
For what has not been told them shall they see,
And what they have not heard shall they contemplate.
- "Who could have believed what we 5:
heard?
And the might of the LORD—to whom has it been revealed?
For he grew up like a sapling before us, 2:
Like a root out of dry ground;
He had no form or charm, that we should look upon him,
No beauty, that we should admire
him.
He was despised, and avoided by men, 3:
A man of sorrows, and acquainted with
pain;
And like one from whom men hide their faces,
He was despised, and we esteemed him not.
- "Yet it was our pains that he bore, 4:
Our sorrows that he carried;
While we accounted him stricken,
Smitten by God, and afflicted.
He was wounded for our transgres- 5:
sions,
He was crushed for our iniquities;
The chastisement of our welfare was
upon him,
And through his stripes we were healed.
All we like sheep had gone astray, 6:
We had turned everyone to his own
way;

And the LORD made to light upon
him
The guilt of us all.

- 7 "When he was oppressed, he humbled
himself,
And opened not his mouth;
Like a sheep that is led to the slaughter,
Or like a ewe that is dumb before her shearers,
He opened not his mouth.
8 Through violence in judgment was he taken away,
And who gave thought to his fate—
How he was cut off from the land of the living,
For our transgressions was stricken to
death?
9 They made his grave with the wicked,
His tomb with evildoers;
Although he had done no violence,
Nor was any deceit in his mouth."
10 Yet the LORD saw fit to crush him
with pain,
So that, although he makes himself a guilt-offering,
He shall see posterity, shall prolong
his life,
And the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in his hand.
11 The fruit of his suffering shall he see,
In knowing himself righteous he shall be satisfied;
My servant shall bring righteousness to many,
And he shall himself bear their guilt.
12 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great,
And with the strong shall he share the
spoil;
Because he poured out his lifeblood to the utmost,
And was numbered with the trans-
gressors,
And himself bore the sin of many,
And made intercession for the trans-gressors.

THE FUTURE GLORY OF JERUSALEM,
54:1-18

- 14 "Sing, O barren one, you who have borne no children;
Break into singing, and cry aloud, you who have not travailed!

- For more are the children of her that is desolate
Than the children of her that is married," says the LORD.
"Enlarge the site of your tent, 2
And stretch without limit the curtains of your home;
Lengthen your cords, and make fast your pegs!
For to right and to left shall you 3 spread abroad,
And your descendants shall take over the heritage of the nations,
And shall people the desolate cities.
"Fear not! for you shall not be put to 4
shame;
And be not confounded! for you shall not be put to shame.
The shame of your youth shall you forget,
And the reproach of your widowhood shall you remember no more;
For your husband is your Maker, 5
Whose name is the LORD of hosts;
And your redeemer is the Holy One of Israel,
Who is called the God of all the earth;
For like a wife forsaken, and embittered 6
in spirit,
The LORD has regarded you,
Like a wife of one's youth, when she is cast off,"
Says your God.
"For a little moment did I forsake you, 7
But with great pity will I bring you back to me;
In an outburst of wrath I hid my face 8
For a moment from you,
But with everlasting kindness will I have pity upon you,"
Says the LORD, your Redeemer.
"For like the days of Noah is this to 9
me:
As I swore that the waters of Noah
Should no more pass over the earth,
So have I sworn no more to be angry
with you,
Nor to rebuke you.
Though the mountains should be re- 10
moved,
And the hills should waver,
My kindness shall not depart from
you,
And my covenant of peace shall not waver,"
Says the LORD, who has pity upon
you.

- 11 "O you afflicted one, storm-tossed, un-comforted, Behold, I am setting your stones in emeralds,
And will lay your foundations in sapphires;
- 12 I will make your pinnacles of rubies,
Your gates of carbuncle stones,
And all your encircling wall of jewels.
- 13 All your sons shall be taught by the LORD,
And great shall be the prosperity of your children;
- 14 By righteousness shall you be established.
You shall be far from oppression, for you shall have nothing to fear,
And far from destruction, for it shall not come near you.
- 15 "If anyone stir up strife, it comes not from me;
He who stirs up strife with you shall fall to ruin upon you.
- 16 Behold, I have created the smith,
Who blows a fire of coals,
And brings forth a tool that is suited to its work;
I have created also the destroyer to make havoc,
- 17 And no weapon that is forged against you shall succeed,
And every tongue that is raised against you shall you confute.
This is the lot of the servants of the LORD,
And this their vindication at my hand," is the oracle of the LORD.

A CALL TO THE NEEDY,

55:1-13

- 65 "Ho! everyone that is thirsty, come to the waters,
And he that has no money, come, buy, and eat!
Come, buy grain without money,
And wine and milk without price!
- 2 Why should you spend money for what is not bread,
And your earnings for what does not satisfy?
If you but listen to me, you shall eat what is good,
And shall delight yourselves with rich nourishment.
- 3 "Incline your ear, and come to me;
Listen, that you may live!

For an everlasting covenant will I make with you,
The favor assured to David.
As once I made him a witness to peoples,
A leader and commander of peoples,
So you shall call nations you know not,
And nations that know you not shall run to you,
For the sake of the LORD your God,
The Holy One of Israel, because he has shed glory on you.

"Seek the LORD while he may be found,
Call upon him while he is near!
Let the wicked forsake his way,
And the unrighteous man his thoughts;
And let him return to the LORD, that he may have pity upon him,
And to our God, for he shall abundantly pardon.

For my thoughts are not your thoughts,
Nor are your ways my ways," is the oracle of the LORD;

"But as the heavens are higher than the earth,
So are my ways higher than your ways,
And my thoughts than your thoughts.

"For, as the rain comes down,
And the snow from heaven,
And returns not thither,
Without having watered the earth,
And made it bring forth and sprout,
Giving seed to the sower,
And bread to the eater,
So shall my word be that goes out of my mouth—

It shall not return to me fruitless,
Without having done the thing that I pleased,
And accomplishing the purpose for which I sent it.

"For with joy shall you go out,
And in peace shall you be led;
The mountains and the hills shall break into singing before you,
And all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.
Instead of the thorn shall come up the cypress,
And instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle;
And they shall be to the LORD a memorial,
An everlasting sign that shall not be cut off."

A WELCOME TO ALIENS AND EUNUCHS, 56:1-8

- 16 Thus says the LORD:
 "Keep the law, and do what is right;
 For my salvation is near at hand,
 And my triumph is ready to be revealed.
- 2 Happy the man who does this,
 The son of man who holds fast by it,
 Who keeps the sabbath by not profaning it,
 And keeps his hand from doing any evil!"
- 3 Let not the alien who has attached himself to the LORD say,
 "The LORD will surely separate me from his people."
 And let not the eunuch say,
 "Lo! I am a dry tree."
- 4 For thus says the LORD:
 "The eunuchs who keep my sabbaths,
 And choose the things that I delight in,
 And hold fast by my covenant—
- 5 To them will I give in my house and within my walls
 A monument and a name better than sons and daughters;
 I will give them an everlasting name,
 One that shall not be cut off.
- 6 And the aliens who attach themselves to the LORD, to minister to him,
 To love the name of the LORD, and to be his servants,
 Even everyone who keeps the sabbath by not profaning it,
 And holds fast by my covenant—
- 7 I will bring them to my holy mountain,
 And will make them joyful in my house of prayer;
 Their burnt-offerings and their sacrifices shall be welcome upon my altar,
 For my house shall be called a house of prayer for all the peoples."
- 8 This is the oracle of the Lord GOD,
 Who gathers the outcasts of Israel:
 "I will yet gather to them
 Those who were gathered against them."

THE FAITHLESS RULERS OF ISRAEL, 56:9-12

- 9 All you beasts of the field, come to devour—
 all you beasts in the forest!

- My watchmen are all of them blind, 10
 without any sense;
 They are all of them dumb dogs,
 that cannot bark,
 But lie down dreaming,
 loving to slumber.
 And the dogs are greedy, 11
 they cannot be satisfied—
 Such are shepherds who have no intelligence—
 They have turned all of them to their own way, each without exception to his own gain:
 "Come, let me fetch wine, 12
 and let us fill ourselves with strong drink!
 And tomorrow shall be as today,
 a right royal day!"

THE UNTIMELY FATE OF THE RIGHTEOUS, 57:1-2

- The righteous man perishes, 57
 and none lays it to heart;
 And godly men are swept away,
 with none to give it a thought.
 For in face of the evil the righteous man is swept away,
 he enters into peace; 2
 While they rest upon their beds,
 he goes his righteous and upright way.

A WARNING TO THE IDOL-ATROUS, 57:3-13

- But you—come hither, 3
 you sons of a sorceress, Offspring of an adulterer and a harlot!
 against whom are you making 4
 merry?
 Against whom are you opening the mouth wide,
 and putting out the tongue?
 Are you not apostate children,
 a faithless brood—
 You who inflame yourselves with lust 5
 among the terebinths,
 under every spreading tree,
 Who slaughter children in the valley,
 among the clefts of the crags?
 With the smooth stones of the valley 6 your lot is cast;
 they, they are your portion;
 To them have you poured libations,
 and offered cereal-offerings;

- And for these things can I be appeased?
 7 On a high and lofty mountain
 you have set up your bed;
 And thither have you climbed to offer sacrifice.
- 8 Behind the door and the side posts
 you have set up your phallic symbol;
 And apart from me have you stripped and gone up,
 you have distended your parts;
 You have bargained for those whose embraces you love;
 And with them have you multiplied
 your harlotries,
 while gazing on the phallus.
- 9 You have journeyed to Molech with oil, and have offered many perfumes;
 And you have sent your envoys afar,
 even to the depths of Sheol.
- 10 You have wearied yourself with your many wanderings,
 yet have not said, "It is hopeless!"
 You found your strength renewed, therefore you did not give up.
- 11 And of whom were you in such fear and dread
 that you played the traitor,
 And gave no thought to me,
 nor paid any heed?
 Was it not because I held my peace and closed my eyes that you ceased to reverence
 me?
- 12 But I will expose this righteousness of
 yours,
 these doings of yours;
- 13 And your loathsome idols shall not avail you when you cry, nor save you in your time of distress:
 The wind shall lift them all up,
 a breath shall bear them away;
 But he who takes refuge in me shall inherit the land,
 and possess my holy mountain.

HEALING FOR THE WOUND- ED SPIRIT, 57:14-21

- 14 One says:
 "Grade up, grade up, clear the way;
 Remove every obstacle from the way
 of my people!"
- 15 For thus says the high and exalted
 One,

- Who dwells enthroned for ever, and whose name is Holy:
 "I dwell enthroned on high, as the Holy One,
 But with him also that is contrite and humble in spirit,
 To revive the spirit of the humble,
 And to revive the heart of the contrite.
 For I will not contend for ever, 10
 Nor be angry for all time;
 For from me proceeds the spirit,
 And the living being that I have made.
 Because of their sin I was angry for a 17
 moment,
 And I smote them, while I hid my face
 in wrath;
 They went on rebelliously in the way
 of their own desires,
 And I saw their doings," says the 16
 LORD.
- "But now will I heal them, and guide
 them,
 And will give full consolation to them
 and their mourners,
 Producing as the utterance of the lips, 19
 'Peace, peace to the far and the near.'
 But the wicked are like the uptossed 20
 sea,
 For it cannot rest,
 But its waters toss up mire and filth.
 There is no peace," says my God, "for 21
 the wicked."

TRUE AND FALSE FASTING, 58:1-12

- "Call aloud, hold not back, 5
 Lift up your voice like a trumpet;
 Show my people their transgression,
 The house of Jacob their sins!
 Daily, indeed, they consult me, 2
 And delight to know my ways,
 Like a nation that does what is right,
 And forsakes not the law of its God.
 They ask me for righteous ordinances,
 They delight to draw near to God:
 'Why have we fasted, and thou seest 3
 not;
 Why have we humbled ourselves, and thou heedest not?'"
- "If on your fast day you pursue your own business,
 And press on with all your labors;
 If you fast for the sake of strife and 4 contention,
 And to smite with godless fist;

You fast not on such a day
As to make your voice heard on high.

- 5 Can such be the fast I choose—
A day for a man to humble himself,
To bow down his head like a bulrush,
To grovel in sackcloth and ashes?
Will you call this a fast,
A day of pleasure to the LORD?

- 6 "Is not this the fast I choose—
To loose the bonds of wickedness,
To undo the knots of the yoke,
To let the oppressed go free,
And every yoke to snap?

- 7 Is it not to share your bread with the hungry,
And the homeless poor to bring home;
When you see the naked, to cover
him,
And to hide not yourself from your own flesh?

- 8 "Then shall your light break out as the dawn,
And your healing shall spring forth speedily;
Your vindication shall go before you,
And the glory of the LORD shall be
your rearguard.

- 9 You shall call, and the LORD will answer;
You shall cry, and he will say, 'Here I am!'

"If you remove from your midst the yoke,
The finger of scorn, and mischievous
speech,

- 10 And share your bread with the hungry,
And satisfy the craving of the afflicted, Then shall your light shine out in darkness,

And your gloom shall be as noonday;
11 And the LORD shall guide you continually,
And shall satisfy you with rich nourishment;

And your strength shall he renew,
And you shall be like a well-watered
garden,

Or like a spring of water,
Whose waters fail not;

- 12 And your people shall rebuild the ancient ruins,

You shall raise up the foundations of many generations;
And you shall be called, 'The builder of broken walls,
The restorer of streets to dwell in.'

THE KEEPING OF THE SAB- BATH, 58:13-14

- "If you turn back your foot from the 13
sabbath,
Not doing your own business on my holy day;
If you call the sabbath a delight,
And the holy day of the LORD honor-
able;
If you honor it by not following your accustomed ways, Nor doing your own business, nor indulging in idle talk—
Then shall you find your delight in the 14
LORD,
And I will make you ride in triumph over the heights of the earth,
And will give you the heritage of Jacob your father to enjoy";
For the mouth of the LORD has
spoken.

SIN, SORROW, CONFESSION, AND REDEMPTION,

59:1-21

See! the LORD's hand is not too short 59
to save,

Nor his ear too dull to hear;
But your iniquities have been a bar- 2
rier

Between you and your God,
And your sins have hidden his face,
So that he could not hear you.
For your hands are stained with 3
blood,

And your fingers with iniquity;
Your lips have spoken lies,
And your tongue utters untruth.
There is none who sues honestly, 4
None who pleads his case truthfully;
But each one trusts in vanity, and speaks lies,
Conceives wrong, and brings forth mischievous.

Vipers' eggs they hatch, 5
And spiders' webs they weave;
He who eats of their eggs will die,
And the egg that is left uneaten will hatch out into an adder.

Their webs are useless for clothing, 6
With their products no man can cover
himself;
Their works are works of mischief,
And deeds of violence are in their hands.

- 7 Their feet run to evil,
They make haste to shed innocent
blood;
Their thoughts are thoughts of mischief,
Wreck and ruin are in their paths.
- 8 The way of peace they know not,
And no justice is in their tracks;
Their paths have they made crooked,
He who walks in them knows nothing of peace.
- 9 Therefore is justice far from us,
And righteousness does not reach us;
We look for light, but lo! darkness,
For the rays of dawn, but we walk in gloom.
- 10 We grope like blind men along a wall,
Like men without eyes we grope;
We stumble at noonday as in the twi-
light,
In the strength of manhood we are like the dead.
- 11 All of us growl like bears,
And sadly moan like doves;
We look for redress, but it comes not,
For salvation, but it remains far from
us.
- 12 For many are our transgressions before thee,
And our sins bear witness against us;
Our transgressions are ever with us,
And our iniquities we know—
- 13 Rebellion, and unfaithfulness to the
LORD,
Turning our backs on our God,
Speaking cruel and defiant words, Conceiving and uttering lies from the
heart.
- 14 Justice has been driven back,
And righteousness stands afar;
Truth stumbles in the public place,
And honesty can find no entrance;
- 15 Truth is not to be found,
And he who shuns evil makes himself an easy mark.
- “The LORD saw with displeasure
That there was no justice;
16 And when he saw that there was no
man—
When he saw with amazement that there was none to interpose—
His own arm helped him,
His righteous might upheld him.
- 17 He put on righteousness as a coat of mail,

With the helmet of salvation on his
head;
He put on garments of vengeance for clothing,
And wrapped himself in fury as a cloak.
According to men's deserts shall he 18 make recompense to them—Wrath to his enemies, shame to his foes—
That men may revere the name of the 19
LORD from the west,
And his glory from the rising of the sun;
For he shall come like a pent-upstream,
Which the breath of the LORD drives
on;
But to Zion shall he come as re- 20
deemer,
And shall remove transgression from Jacob,”
Is the oracle of the LORD.

“As for me, this is my covenant with 21 you,” says the LORD: “My spirit which is upon you, and my words which I have put in your mouth, shall not depart from your mouth, nor from the mouth of your offspring, nor from the mouth of your offspring's offspring,” says the LORD, “from henceforth, even forever.”

THE GLORY OF THE NEW JERUSALEM, 60:1-22

Arise, shine! for your light has come, 60
And the glory of the LORD has risen
upon you.
For lo! darkness shall cover the earth, 2
And thick darkness the peoples;
But upon you the LORD shall rise,
And upon you his glory shall appear;
And nations shall walk by your light, 3
And kings by the brightness of your rising.
Lift up your eyes round about, and see! 4
All of them gather, they come to you—
Your sons shall come from afar,
And your daughters shall be borne on the hip.
When you see it, you shall be radiant, 5
And your heart shall throb and swell;
For the riches of the sea shall be turned
to you,
The wealth of the nations shall come to
you.

- 6 A flood of camels shall cover you,
The young camels of Midian and Ephah;
All those of Sheba shall come;
Gold and frankincense shall they bring,
And shall herald the praises of the LORD.
- 7 All the flocks of Kedar shall gather to you,
The rams of Nebaioth shall minister to you;
They shall mount my altar as a well-pleasing sacrifice,
And my glorious house will I glorify.
- 8 Who are these that fly like a cloud,
Or like doves to their windows?
- 9 It is the ships which are gathering for me,
With the vessels of Tarshish in the van,
To bring your sons from afar,
Their silver and their gold with them,
In honor of the LORD your God,
The Holy One of Israel, because he has glorified you.
- 10 And aliens shall build your walls,
And their kings shall minister to you;
For though in my wrath I smote you,
In my favor will I have pity upon you.
- 11 And your gates shall be open continually,
Day and night shall they not be closed,
That men may bring to you the wealth of the nations,
With their kings conducted in state.
- 12 For the nation and the kingdom that will not serve you shall perish—
Utterly waste shall those nations be laid.
- 13 The glory of Lebanon shall come to you,
The cypress, the pine, and the larch together,
To glorify the place of my sanctuary,
And that I may do honor to my footstool.
- 14 Then the sons of those who oppressed you shall come bending to you,
And all those who scorned you shall bow down at the soles of your feet;
And they shall call you, "The city of the LORD,
The Zion of the Holy One of Israel."
- 15 Instead of your being forsaken and hated,
With none passing through you,
- I will make you a pride forever,
A joy for all generations.
You shall suck the milk of the nations, 16
The breast of kings shall you suck;
And you shall know that I the LORD am your savior,
That your redeemer is the Mighty One of Jacob.
- Instead of bronze will I bring gold, 17
And instead of iron will I bring silver;
And instead of wood, bronze,
And instead of stones, iron;
And Peace will I make your government,
And Righteousness your ruler.
No more shall news of violence be heard 18
in your land,
Nor of wreck and ruin within your borders,
But you shall call your walls Salvation,
And your gates Praise.
- No more shall the sun be your light by 19
day,
Nor the moon by night shine upon you;
But the LORD shall be your unfailing light,
And your God your glory.
No more shall your sun set, 20
Nor shall your moon wane;
For the LORD shall be your unfailing light,
And your days of mourning shall be ended.
- Your people shall be all of them right- 21
eous,
And shall possess the land forever,
As the shoot of my planting, the work of my hands,
With which I may glorify myself.
The least one shall become a tribe, 22
The smallest a mighty nation—
I the LORD will hasten it in its proper time.

THE YEAR OF THE LORD'S
FAVOR, 61:1—62:12

The spirit of the Lord GOD is upon me, 61
For the LORD has anointed me;
He has sent me to bring good news to the lowly,
To bind up the broken-hearted,
To proclaim liberty to the captives,
And release to the prisoners;
To proclaim the year of the LORD'S 2
favor,

And the day of our God's vengeance;
 To comfort all mourners,
 3 To provide for the mourners of Zion,
 To give them a crown instead of ashes,
 Oil of joy instead of a garment of mourning,
 A song of praise instead of a drooping spirit,
 That they may be called oak trees of righteousness,
 The planting of the LORD, with which he may glorify himself.

4 Then shall they rebuild the ancient ruins,
 They shall raise up the desolations of old;
 They shall renew the wasted cities,
 The desolations of age after age.

5 And strangers shall stand and feed your flocks,
 Aliens shall be your plowmen and your vinedressers;

6 But you shall be called the priests of the LORD,
 The ministers of our God shall you be named.
 You shall enjoy the wealth of the nations,
 And in their glory shall you revel.

7 Because their shame was in double measure,
 And contempt was the lot they inherited,
 Therefore in their land shall they inherit a double measure,
 Everlasting joy shall be theirs.

8 For I the LORD love justice,
 I hate robbery and crime;
 So I will faithfully give them their recompense,
 And an everlasting covenant will I make with them.

9 Their sons shall be known among the nations,
 Their descendants in the midst of the peoples;
 All who see them shall acknowledge them
 As a race that the LORD has blessed.

10 I will greatly rejoice in the LORD,
 I will exult in my God;
 For he has clothed me in garments of salvation,
 He has arrayed me in the robe of righteousness,
 As a bridegroom puts on his crown,

And as a bride adorns herself with her jewels.
 For as the earth puts forth her shoots, 11
 And as a garden makes the seed that is sown in it to spring up,
 So the Lord GOD shall make righteousness and praise
 To spring up before all the nations.

For Zion's sake will I not keep silent, 62
 And for Jerusalem's sake will I not rest,
 Until her vindication come forth clear as light,
 And her salvation as a burning torch.
 Then the nations shall see your vindication, 2:
 And all kings your glory;
 You shall be called by a new name,
 Which the mouth of the LORD shall determine;

And you shall be a glorious crown in 3:
 the hand of the LORD,
 A royal diadem in the hand of your God.

No more shall you be named "For- 4:
 saken,"
 nor your land be named "Desolate";
 But you shall be called "My delight is in her,"
 and your land "Married";
 For the LORD delights in you,
 and your land shall be married.

As a young man marries a maiden, 5:
 so shall your Builder marry you:
 And as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride,
 so shall your God rejoice over you.

Over your walls, O Jerusalem, 6:
 I have appointed watchmen,
 Who never keep silent
 by day or by night.
 You who are the LORD'S remembrancers, take no rest for yourselves,
 And give him no rest, 7:
 until he establish And make Jerusalem
 a praise in the earth!
 The LORD has sworn by his right 8:
 hand,
 and by his strong arm:

"No more will I give your grain to be food for your enemies,

- Nor shall aliens drink your vintage,
for which you have labored;
- 9 But those who have garnered the grain shall eat it,
and praise the LORD,
And those who have gathered the vintage shall drink it in my holy courts."
- 10 Pass through, pass through the gates, prepare the way of the people;
Grade up, grade up the highway,
clear it of stones;
raise a signal over the peoples.
- 11 See! the LORD has made proclamation
to the end of the earth:
"Say to the daughter of Zion,
'See! your salvation has come:
See! his reward is with him,
and his recompense before
him.'
- 12 They shall be called, 'The holy people,
the redeemed of the LORD';
And you shall be called, 'Sought out,
the city unforsaken.'"

THE DAY OF THE LORD'S
VENGEANCE, 63:1-6

- 13 "Who is this that comes from Edom,
In crimson garments from Bozrah,
This one in glorious apparel,
As he strides along in his strength?"
- "It is I, who have promised vindica-
tion,
And am mighty to save."
- 12 "Why is thy clothing red, Thy garments like his who treads in the wine press?"
- 13 "The wine trough I trod alone,
Of the peoples no one was with me.
I trod them in my anger,
And trampled them in my fury;
Their lifeblood besprinkled my garments,
And all my clothing I stained.
- 14 For a day of vengeance was in my
heart,
And my year of redemption had come.
15 I looked, but there was none to help,
I looked in amazement, but there was none to uphold;
So my own arm helped me,
And my fury upheld me.

I trod down the peoples in my anger, 6
And shattered them in my fury;
And I brought down their glory to the
earth."

PRAISE AND PRAYER,

63:7-64:11

- The LORD'S gracious deeds will I re- 7 count
the praises of the LORD,
As befits all that the LORD has done for
us,
even his great kindness to the house of Israel,
Which he showed them according to his pity,
according to the fulness of his love.
- He said, "Surely they are my people, 8 sons who will not play me false";
So he became their savior in all their distress. 9
- It was no messenger or angel, but his own presence that saved
them;
In his love and in his pity
he redeemed them;
He took them up and carried them all the days of old.
- But they rebelled, 10
and grieved his holy spirit;
So he turned to be their enemy,
he fought against them.
- Then one recalled the days of old, 11 of Moses and his people.
Where is he who brought up from the sea
the shepherd of his flock?
Where is he who put within him
his holy spirit;
He who caused his glorious arm to go 12
at Moses' right hand;
He who cleft the waters before them,
to make himself an everlasting
name;
He who led them through the depths, 13
without their stumbling,
Like a horse through the steppe, like cattle going down to the 14
valley?
- So did the spirit of the LORD guide
them,
So didst thou lead thy people,
to make thyself a glorious name.
- Look down from the heavens, and see, 15
From thy holy and glorious abode!

- Where are thy zeal and thy might,
Thy yearning pity and mercy?
Restrain thyself not!
- 16 For thou art our Father.
Though Abraham know us not,
And Israel acknowledge us not,
Thou, O LORD, art our Father,
Our Redeemer from of old is thy name.
- 17 Why, O LORD, dost thou leave us to wander from thy ways;
Why dost thou harden our heart against reverence for thee?
Return, for the sake of thy servants,
The tribes of thy heritage!
- 18 Why have wicked men trampled upon thy holy hill;
Why have our enemies trodden down thy sanctuary?
- 19 We have become like those over whom thou hast not ruled from of old,
Like those who have not been called by thy name.
- 20 O that thou wouldst rend the heavens and come down,
That the mountains might quake at thy presence—
- 2 As when fire kindles brushwood,
And fire makes water to boil—
To make known thy name to thine
enemies,
That the nations might tremble at thy
presence,
- 3 While thou doest terrible things which we looked not for,
- 4 And which men have not heard from of old!
No ear has heard, no eye has seen A god apart from thee, who works for those who wait for him.
- 5 But thou hast thwarted those who do right,
Who remember thy ways;
Thou wast angry, and we sinned,
Through our doings we fell into guilt.
- 6 We have all become like an unclean man,
And all our righteous deeds like a garment defiled;
We all fade like a leaf,
And our guilt bears us away like the
wind.
- 7 There is none who calls on thy name,
Nor rouses himself to lay hold on thee;
For thou hast hidden thy face from us,
And hast delivered us into the power of our sins.
- 8 Yet now, O LORD, thou art our Father;
We are the clay, and thou art our potter;

We are all of us the work of thy hand.
Be not angry, O LORD, beyond measure,
Nor remember our guilt forever.
Look! we beseech thee—for we are all thy people—
Thy holy cities have become a wilderness, for Zion has become a wilderness,
Jerusalem a desolation;
Our holy and beautiful house,
Where our fathers praised thee,
Has been burned with fire,
And all that we cherished has been laid waste.
For these things, O LORD, wilt thou restrain thyself;
Wilt thou keep silent, and afflict us beyond measure?

JUDGMENT AND SALVA- TION, 65:1-25

I was ready to be consulted by those who asked me not,
I was ready to be found by those who sought me not;
I said, "Here am I! Here am I!"
To a nation that called not upon my
name.
I spread out my hands all day long
To a rebellious people,
Who walk in a way that is not good,
After their own devices—
A people who provoke me
To my face continually,
Offering sacrifices in gardens,
And burning incense on tiles;
Who sit in graves,
And pass the night in caves,
Who eat the flesh of swine,
And in whose vessels is broth of unclean meats;
Who say, "Stand off;
Come not near me, lest I make you taboo!"
These men are a smoke in my nostrils,
A fire that burns continually.
See! it stands written before me:
"I will not keep silent, until I have requited—
Until I have requited on their bosom Their own sins and the sins of their fathers as well," says the LORD,
"Who have offered sacrifices upon the
mountains,
And have dishonored me upon the hills;
Therefore I will measure out their recompense on their bosom."

- 8 Thus says the LORD:
 "As when vintage is found in the cluster,
 And one says, 'Destroy it not,
 For a blessing is in it,'
 So will I do for my servants' sake,
 That I may not destroy the whole.
 9 I will bring out of Jacob a scion,
 Out of Judah an heir to my mountains;
 And my chosen ones shall inherit the land,
 My servants shall dwell in it.
 10 And Sharon shall become a fold for flocks,
 And the valley of Achor a pasture for herds,
 To my people who have sought me.
 11 But as for you who forsake the LORD,
 And forget my holy mountain,
 Who spread a table for Fortune,
 And fill cups of mixed wine for Destiny,
 12 I will destine you for the sword,
 And you shall all bow down to the slaughter;
 Because, when I called, you did not answer,
 When I spoke, you did not listen;
 But you did what was evil in my eyes,
 And chose what displeased me."
- 13 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:
 "Behold, my servants shall eat,
 But you shall be hungry;
 Behold, my servants shall drink,
 But you shall be thirsty;
 Behold, my servants shall rejoice,
 But you shall be put to shame;
 14 Behold, my servants shall sing for gladness of heart;
 But you shall cry for sorrow of heart,
 And shall wail for breaking of spirit;
 15 And you shall leave your name as a curse for my chosen ones:
 'So may the Lord GOD slay you!'
 But my servants shall be called by another name.
 16 Then he who prays for a blessing in the land shall pray
 by the God of truth,
 And he who swears an oath in the land shall swear
 by the God of truth;
 Because the former troubles shall have been forgotten,
 and hidden from my eyes.
 17 For behold, I am creating new heavens, and a new earth;

And the former things shall not be remembered,
 nor brought to mind;
 But men shall rejoice and exult forever 18
 in what I create;
 For behold, I am creating Jerusalem an exultation,
 and my people a joy;
 And I will exult over Jerusalem, 19
 and rejoice in her people.
 There shall no more be heard in her the sound of weeping,
 nor the sound of crying.
 And there shall no more pass from her 20
 young or old,
 Without completing his full length of life;
 But the youngest shall die a hundred years old, While he who falls short of a hundred shall be counted accursed.
 And they shall build houses, and in- 21
 habit them;
 And they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them—
 They shall not build, and another in- 22 habit;
 Nor shall they plant, and another
 eat—
 For as the days of a tree shall be the days of my people,
 And the work of their hands shall my chosen ones enjoy to the end.
 They shall not labor in vain, 23
 Nor bring forth children for destruction;
 For they are a race of the LORD'S blessed ones,
 And their offspring shall remain with
 them.
 Then, before they call, I will answer; 24 While they are still speaking, I will hear.
 The wolf and the lamb shall feed to- 25
 gether,
 And the lion shall eat straw like the ox;
 But the serpent—its food shall be dust!
 They shall do no harm or destruction
 On all my holy mountain," says the
 LORD.

THE NEW HEAVENS AND THE NEW EARTH,
 66:1-24

Thus says the LORD:
 "The heavens are my throne,
 And the earth is my footstool;

- What manner of house, then, would you build for me,
 What manner of place as my residence?
 2 My hand made all these things,
 And all these things are mine," is the oracle of the LORD;
 "Yet to this man will I have regard—
 The one who is humble and contrite in spirit,
 And who trembles at my word.
 3 But he who slaughters an ox, as well as he who slays a man,
 He who sacrifices a sheep, as well as he who strangles a dog,
 He who brings an oblation, as well as he who sheds the blood of swine,
 He who makes a memorial offering of frankincense, as well as he who blesses an idol—
 These choose their own ways,
 And delight in their abominations;
 4 So will I also choose their torment,
 And will bring upon them their terrors;
 Because, when I called, no one answered,
 When I spoke, they did not listen;
 But they did what was evil in my eyes,
 And chose what displeased me."
- 5 Hear the word of the LORD,
 You who tremble at his word:
 "Your brothers who hate you
 And cast you from their midst,
 For my name's sake have said,
 'Let the LORD show forth his glory,
 That we may look on your joy!';
 But they shall be put to shame.
- 6 Hark! an uproar from the city,
 a cry from the temple;
 Hark! it is the LORD who is dealing out recompense to his enemies.
- 7 But before she travailed,
 she gave birth;
 Before her pains came on her,
 she was delivered of a son.
- 8 Who has heard the like of this,
 who has seen the like?
 Can a land pass through travail
 in a single day?
 Can a nation be brought to the birth
 all at once?
 But as soon as Zion travailed,
 she gave birth to her children.
- 9 Shall I bring to the birth and not give delivery?"
 says the LORD.
- "Or shall I who give delivery shut up the womb?"
 says your God.
 "Rejoice with Jerusalem, and exult on her account,
 all you who love her;
 Be very joyful with her,
 all you who mourn for her;
 That you may suck to your fill from her soothing breast,
 And nurse to your heart's delight from her bountiful bosom!"
- For thus says the LORD:
 "Behold, I am extending to her prosperity like a river,
 And the wealth of the nations like a sweeping torrent;
 And her sucklings shall be carried on the hip,
 And dandled on the knees.
 Like one whom his mother comforts,
 So will I comfort you—
 Through Jerusalem shall you be comforted.
 And when you see it, your heart shall rejoice,
 And your limbs shall flourish like young grass.
 So shall the power of the LORD be revealed toward his servants,
 And his indignation toward his enemies.
 For behold, the LORD shall come like fire,
 His chariots like a whirlwind,
 To bring home his anger with fury,
 His rebuke with flames of fire;
 For the LORD shall hold judgment upon all flesh
 By fire and by his sword,
 And the LORD'S slain shall be many.
 Those who consecrate and purify themselves for worship in the gardens,
 Following someone in the midst,
 Who eat the flesh of swine,
 Of vermin and of mice,
 Shall come to an end together,"
 Is the oracle of the LORD.
 "For I know their works and their thoughts,
 And I am coming to gather all nations and tongues;
 They shall come, and see my glory,
 And through them will I set up a sign:
 Such of them as escape will I send to the nations,

To Tarshish, Put, and Lydia, to Meshech and Rosh,

To Tuval and Javan, the distant coast-lands,

Which have not heard my fame, nor seen my glory.

They shall proclaim my glory among
the nations,

20 And men shall bring all your brothers from all the nations,

On horseback, in chariots and covered wagons,

On mules and dromedaries,

For an offering to the LORD on my holy mountain Jerusalem,"

Says the LORD,

"As the children of Israel bring an offering

In a clean vessel to the house of the
LORD.

And some of these also will I take for 21 priests, for Levites,"

Says the LORD.

"For as the new heavens and the new 22
earth

Which I am making shall continue before me,"

Is the oracle of the LORD,

"So shall your race and your name continue.

And from new moon to new moon, and 23
from sabbath to sabbath,

All flesh shall come to worship before me,"

Says the LORD.

"And they shall go out and gaze on the 24 dead bodies of the men

Who have rebelled against me;

For their worm shall not die, nor shall their fire be quenched,

But they shall be an abhorrence to all flesh."

THE BOOK OF JEREMIAH

INTRODUCTION, 1:1-3

- 1 THE words of Jeremiah, the son of Hilkiah, one of the priests that were at Anathoth in the land of Benjamin, to whom the word of the LORD came in the days of Josiah, the son of Amon, king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign, and continued to come in the days of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, king of Judah, till the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah, the son of Josiah, king of Judah, when Jerusalem was carried into exile in the fifth month.

THE CALL OF THE PROPHET, 1:4-19

- 4 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,
5 "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you,
And before you were born I set you apart,
I appointed you a prophet to the nations."
6 Then said I,
"Ah, Lord GOD! I cannot speak;
For I am only a youth."
7 But the LORD said to me,
"Do not say, 'I am only a youth';
For to all to whom I send you shall you go,
And all that I command you shall you speak."
8 Do not be afraid of them;
For I am with you to deliver you,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.
9 Then the LORD stretched forth his hand, and touched my mouth. And the LORD said to me,
"See! I put my words in your mouth;
10 This day I give you authority over the nations and kingdoms,
To root up and to pull down, to wreck and to ruin,
To build and to plant."
11 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

- "What do you see, Jeremiah?"
I said,
"I see a twig of an almond tree."
Then the LORD said to me, 12
"You have seen aright; for I am watching over my word to put it into effect."
A second time the word of the LORD 13 came to me, saying,
"What do you see?"
I said,
"I see a pot blown upon, and its blower is in the north."
Then the LORD said to me, 14
"Out of the north shall trouble be blown upon all the inhabitants of the land. For behold, I am summoning all 15 the kingdoms of the north," is the oracle of the LORD; "and they shall come and set up each his throne at the entrances of the gates of Jerusalem, and against all her walls round about, and against all the cities of Judah. And I 16 will pronounce my judgments against them for all the wickedness they have done in forsaking me, and offering sacrifices to other gods, and worshiping the works of their own hands. You, 17 then, gird up your loins, and arise, and speak to them all that I command you. Do not be dismayed before them, lest I 18 dismay you before them. For behold, 19
I make you this day a fortified city, an iron pillar, and a bronze wall, against the whole land—the kings of Judah, its princes and priests, and its common people. They shall fight against you, 20 but they shall not overcome you; for I am with you to deliver you," is the oracle of the LORD.

ISRAEL'S APOSTASY, 2:1-4:4

- The word of the LORD came to me, 2
saying,
"Go and proclaim in the hearing of 3
Jerusalem, 'Thus says the LORD:
"I recall your youthful devotion,
your bridal love,
How you followed me through the 4
desert,
through a land unsown."

- 3 Israel was sacred to the LORD,
his firstfruits of harvest;
All who ate of it were held guilty—trouble overtook them,"
is the oracle of the LORD.' "
- 4 Hear the word of the LORD, O house of Jacob, even all the families of the 5 house of Israel. Thus says the LORD:
"What offense did your fathers find in
me,
That they went far from me,
And followed a thing of nought,
And themselves became nought?"
- 6 They asked not, 'Where is the LORD that brought us up
From the land of Egypt,
That led us through the desert,
Through a land of steppes and pits,
Through a land of drougth and deep
darkness,
Through a land that no man traversed,
Where no man dwelt?'
- 7 I brought you to a garden land,
To eat its fruits and its good things;
But you came and defiled my land,
And made my heritage an abomina-
tion.
- 8 The priests asked not, 'Where is the LORD?'
- Those who handled the law cared nothing about me;
The rulers rebelled against me,
And the prophets prophesied by the Baal,
And followed things that were useless.
- 9 Yet against you too must I bring an indictment,"
Is the oracle of the LORD,
"And against your children's children.
- 10 For pass over to the coast-lands of Cyprus, and see,
Or send to Kedar, scan closely, and
see,
If ever there has been such a thing as
this!
- 11 Has a nation changed its gods,
Which are no gods?
Yet my people have changed their Glory
For that which is useless.
- 12 Be aghast, O heavens, at this;
Be shocked, O earth, beyond words,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.
- 13 "For my people have committed two crimes:
They have forsaken me, the fountain of living water,
- To hew for themselves cisterns, broken cisterns,
That can hold no water.
- "Is Israel a slave; or a home-born serf? 14
Why, then, has he fallen a prey?
Against him the young lions have 15
roared,
They have lifted up their voice;
His land have they made a desolation,
His cities are destroyed and left without inhabitant.
- The sons also of Memphis and Daphne 16 break the crown of your head;
But have you not brought this upon 17 yourself through your neglect of the LORD your God,
At the time when he led you on the
way?
Now what business have you on the 18
road to Egypt,
To drink the water of the Nile?
Or what business have you on the road to Assyria,
To drink the water of the River?
Your own wickedness will teach you, 19
And your own apostasy will convict
you;
You will know and see how bad and bitter a thing it is To forsake the LORD your God, and to cherish no reverence for me,"
Is the oracle of the Lord, the GOD of
hosts.
- "For long ago you broke your yoke, 20 you burst your bonds, and said
'I will not serve';
And on every high hill, and under every spreading tree, you reclined and played the harlot.
- Yet I planted you a choice vine, 21
all true seed;
How, then, are you changed to a rank
vine, a wild plant?
Though you wash yourself with lye, 22
and use much soap,
Your guilt stands ingrained in my sight,"
is the oracle of the Lord GOD.
- "How can you say, 'I am not defiled, 23
nor have I run after the Baals'?
Look at your course in the Valley,
see what you have done!
You are a restive young camel, doubling on her tracks,
a wild ass used to the desert, 24

- Sniffing the wind in her heat—who can restrain her lust?
 None that seek her need weary themselves;
 in her month will they find her.
- 25 Keep your feet from running bare,
 your throat from going dry;
 But you say, 'It is hopeless! for I love alien gods,
 and after them will I run.'
- 26 "As a thief is abashed when he is discovered, so shall the house of Israel be abashed—
 They, their kings, and their princes, their priests, and their prophets,
- 27 Who say to a block of wood, 'You are my father,'
 and to a stone, 'You have borne
 me'—
 For they have turned to me their back,
 and not their face;
 Yet in their time of trouble they say,
 'Arise, and save us!'
- 28 But where are your gods whom you made for yourself?
 Let them arise, and save you—if they can!—
 in your time of trouble;
 For as many in number as your cities are your gods, O Judah!
- 29 "Why should you find fault with me, since all of you have rebelled
 against me?"
 is the oracle of the LORD.
- 30 "In vain did I smite your children,
 you took no warning;
 The sword devoured your prophets like a ravening lion;
- 31 But you neither revered nor listened to the word of the LORD.
 Have I been a desert to Israel,
 or a land of thick darkness?
 Why, then, do my people say,
 'We are our own masters,
 we will come no more to thee?'
- 32 Can a girl forget her ornaments, a bride her attire?
 Yet my people have forgotten me
 days without number.
- 33 "How finely you trim your way to seek after love, Teaching even the vilest women
 the secret of your ways!
- On your hands is found the blood 34 of the innocent poor—
 Not breaking into houses did you find
 them,
 but opposed to all such things.
 Yet you say, 'I am innocent, 35 surely his anger has turned back from me.'
 Behold, I condemn you for saying,
 'I have not sinned.'
 Why do you change your course 36 with so light a heart?
 You shall be put to shame through Egypt also,
 as you were through Assyria.
 Thence also shall you go forth, 37 with your hands upon your
 head;
 For the LORD has rejected those in whom you trust,
 and you shall have no success with them.
- "If a man divorce his wife, 38
 and she leave him,
 And become the wife of another man,
 can she return to him again?
 Is not that woman
 wholly polluted?
 But you have played the harlot with many lovers,
 and would fain return to me!"
 is the oracle of the LORD.
- "Lift up your eyes to the bare heights, and see—where have you not been lain with?
 By the waysides have you sat waiting for your lovers,
 like an Arab in the desert;
 And you have polluted the land with your harlotries
 and with your vices;
 So that the showers have been with- 39 held,
 and the spring rain has not come.
 You have a harlot's brow,
 and will not blush for shame.
 Have you not now been calling to me, 40
 'My father! the comrade of my youth!
 Will he keep up his anger for ever,
 will he retain it to the end?'
 Thus have you spoken, but have done all the evil that you could."
- The LORD said to me in the days of 41
 Josiah the king:

"Have you seen what apostate Israel did, how she went up every high mountain and under every spreading tree, and played the harlot there? I thought, 'After she has done all these things, she will return to me'; but she did not return. And though her faithless sister Judah saw that, for all the adulteries that apostate Israel had committed, I put her away, and gave her a writ of divorce, yet her faithless sister Judah was not afraid, but likewise went and played the harlot, polluting the land with her wanton harlotry, and committing adultery with stones and blocks of wood. In spite of all that happened, her faithless sister Judah did not return to me in sincerity, but in sheer hypocrisy," is the oracle of the LORD. So the LORD said to me, "Apostate Israel has proved herself more in the right than faithless Judah. Go, then, and proclaim these words toward the north: 'Return, apostate Israel,' is the oracle of the LORD; 'I will frown no more upon you. For I am full of kindness,' is the oracle of the LORD; 'I will not keep up anger forever. Only acknowledge your guilt, How you have rebelled against the LORD your God, And have lavished your love upon alien gods under every spreading tree, And have not listened to my voice,' is the oracle of the LORD. "Return, apostate children," is the oracle of the LORD, "for I am your Lord; and I will take you one from a city, and two from a family, and will bring you to Zion, and will give you shepherds after my own mind, who shall shepherd you with wisdom and skill. And in those days, when you have multiplied and increased in the land," is the oracle of the LORD, "men shall no more speak of 'The ark of the covenant of the LORD'—it shall be neither invoked, nor mentioned, nor resorted to, nor made any more—but at that time they shall call Jerusalem 'The throne of the LORD,' and all the nations shall gather there, to celebrate the name of the LORD in Jerusalem, and they shall no more follow the stubborn promptings of their evil minds. In those days the house of Judah shall join the house of Israel, and they shall come together from the land of the north to the land that I gave your fathers for a heritage.

"I thought, 'How I would rank you among the sons, And give you a pleasant land, The goodliest heritage of all the nations!' And I thought, 'Surely you will call me "Father," And will not turn back from me.' But as a woman is faithless to her lover, So were you faithless to me, O house of Israel," Is the oracle of the LORD.

"Hark! on the bare heights is heard the suppliant weeping of the children of Israel; For they have perverted their ways, they have forgotten the LORD their God. Return, apostate children! I will heal your apostasy."

"See! we come to thee; for thou art the LORD our God. Truly in vain is the clamor from the hills, the tumult on the mountains; Truly on the LORD our God rests the safety of Israel. From our youth has the shameful thing devoured the fruits of our fathers' toil, Their flocks and their herds, their sons and their daughters; So let us lie down in our shame, and let our dishonor unfold us, For against the LORD our God have we sinned, both we and our fathers, from our youth even till now, And we have not listened to the voice of the LORD our God."

"If you return, O Israel," is the oracle of the LORD, "return to me; If you put your detestable things out of my sight, and waver not; If you swear, 'As the LORD lives,' in truth, in honesty, and in uprightness; Then shall the nations invoke blessings on one another through him, and in him shall they glory.'

- 3 Thus says the LORD to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem:
 "Break up your fallow ground,
 And sow not among thorns;
 4 Circumcise yourselves to the LORD,
 And remove the foreskin of your heart,
 You men of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem;
 Lest my fury break out like fire,
 And burn with none to quench it,
 Because of your evil deeds."

THE FOE FROM THE NORTH,
 4:5—6:26

- 5 Declare in Judah, and make proclamation in Jerusalem, saying,
 "Blow the trumpet through the land, Proclaim aloud, saying,
 'Gather and let us go
 To the fortified cities!'
 6 Raise a signal toward Zion, Seek refuge, stay not;
 For trouble I bring from the north,
 Even dire destruction.
 7 A lion has gone up from his thicket,
 A destroyer of nations;
 He has broken loose from his place,
 To make your land a desolation,
 That your cities may be ravaged,
 And left without inhabitant.
 8 Gird on sackcloth for this,
 Lament, and wail;
 For the fierce anger of the LORD
 Has not turned back from us."
- 9 "On that day," is the oracle of the LORD, "the courage of the king and the princes shall fail, the priests shall stand aghast, and the prophets shall be dazed with horror. They shall say, 'Ah Lord GOD! thou hast certainly deceived this people and Jerusalem, saying, "All shall be well with you," when the sword was reaching the life.'
 11 "At that time shall it be said of this people, and of Jerusalem, "A scorching wind from the desert heights—no wind 12 to fan or cleanse, but one too strong for this—comes at my command against the daughter of my people; for now I too pronounce judgment against them.'"
 13 See! he comes up like a cloud,
 his chariots like a whirlwind;
 His horses are swifter than eagles—woe to us! for we are ruined.
- O Jerusalem! wash your heart of wickedness, that you may be saved!
 How long shall your evil thoughts find lodgment within you?
 For hark! a messenger from Dan,
 A bearer of bad news from Mount Ephraim!
 Make it known to the nations,
 Announce it to Jerusalem:
 "Leopards are coming from a distant land,
 They lift up their voice against the cities of Judah;
 Like keepers of a field, they ring her about,
 For she has rebelled against me," is the oracle of the LORD.
 "Your ways and your doings have brought this upon you,
 This is the fruit of your wickedness;
 It is bitter, it reaches the heart."
- O my soul, my soul! I writhe in anguish!
 O the agony of my heart!
 My heart beats wildly within me,
 I cannot keep silent!
 For I hear the sound of the trumpet,
 the alarm of war.
 Crash follows crash,
 for the whole land is ruined;
 In a moment my tents are ruined,
 in an instant my curtains.
 How long must I see the signal, hear the sound of the trumpet?
 "It is because my people are stupid, and know me not;
 They are sottish children,
 and have no understanding;
 They have skill to do evil,
 but know not how to do good."
- I looked at the earth, and lo! it was chaos;
 At the heavens, and their light was gone.
 I looked at the mountains, and lo! they were quaking;
 And all the hills swayed to and fro.
 I looked, and lo! there was no man,
 And all the birds of the air had flown.
 I looked, and lo! the garden land was desert,
 And all its cities were ravaged before the LORD,
 Before his fierce anger.

27 For thus says the LORD:
 "The whole land shall be a desolation,
 Though I make not a full end.

28 For this shall the earth mourn,
 And the heavens above put on black;
 Because I have spoken, and will not retract,
 I have purposed, and will not turn
 back."

29 At the rumor of horsemen and archers
 The whole land is in flight;
 They crawl into caves, they huddle in thickets,
 They scale the crags;
 Every city is forsaken,
 And no man dwells in them.

30 And you, O ruined one, what mean you by dressing in scarlet,
 And decking yourself with ornaments
 of gold,
 And enlarging your eyes with paint?
 In vain do you beautify yourself!
 Your lovers scorn you—
 They seek your life.

31 Hark! I hear a cry as of a woman in travail,
     a cry of distress as of one who brings forth her first-born child.
 It is the cry of the daughter of Zion,
 as she gasps for breath,
 and spreads out her hands, Saying, "O woe to me! for I faint
 away
     before the slaughterers."

5 Range through the streets of Jerusalem,
     look and see!
 Search her squares,
     if you can find a man,
 One who does justice, and aims at honesty,
     that I may pardon her!

12 Even though they say, "As the LORD lives," yet they swear falsely.

13 O LORD, are not thine eyes set upon the truth?
 Thou didst smite them,
     but they smarted not;
 Thou didst consume them,
     but they would not take warn-
 ing;
 They made their faces harder than
 rock,
     they would not return.

I said, "These are only the poor folk, 4
     who are without sense;
 For they know not the way of the LORD,
     the rights of their God.

I will go to the great ones, 5
     and will speak with them;
 For they know the way of the LORD,
     the rights of their God."
 But they too had broken the yoke, had burst the bonds.

Therefore a lion from the forest will 6
     slay them,
 A wolf from the desert will make havoc of them;
 A leopard will prowl round their cities,
 So that all who go out of them will be torn in pieces;
 Because their transgressions are many,
 Their apostasies are innumerable.

"How can I pardon you?" is the oracle 7
     of the LORD;
 "For your children have forsaken me,
 And have sworn by them that are no
     gods.
 When I fed them to the full, they committed adultery,
 And trooped to the houses of harlots.
 They are pampered horses, lusty stal- 8
     lions,
 Neighing each for his neighbor's wife.
 For these things shall I not punish 9
     them?" is the oracle of the LORD;
 "And on a nation such as this shall I not take vengeance?"

"Go up through her vine-rows, and 10
     ravage,
 And make a full end;
 Lop off her tendrils,
 For they are not the LORD'S.
 For the house of Israel and the house 11 of Judah have played the traitor to me,"
 Is the oracle of the LORD.
 "They have belied the LORD, 12 Saying, 'Not he!
 No harm shall befall us,
 No sword or famine shall we see;
 The prophets are mere wind, 13
 And the word is not in them;
 As they have spoken to us,
 So let it be done to them!'"

Therefore thus says the LORD, the 14
     God of hosts:
 "Because you have spoken this word, Behold, I am making my words in your mouth a fire,

- And I am making this people wood,
and the fire shall devour them.
- 15 Behold, I am bringing upon you a nation from afar, O house of Israel," is the oracle of the LORD—
"An ancient nation,
A very ancient nation,
A nation whose language you know not,
Whose speech you understand not.
- 16 Their quiver is like an open grave,
They are all men of war;
17 They shall eat up your harvest and your food,
They shall eat up your sons and your daughters;
They shall eat up your flocks and your herds,
They shall eat up your vines and your fig trees;
They shall batter down with the sword
Your fortified cities in which you trust."
- 18 "But even in those days," is the oracle of the LORD, "I will not make a full end of you. And when men ask, 'Why is it that the LORD our God has done all these things to us?' you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD: As you have forsaken me, and served alien gods in your land, so shall you serve aliens in a land that is not yours.'"
- 20 Proclaim this in the house of Jacob,
And publish it in Judah:
21 "Hear this, O foolish and senseless people,
Who have eyes, but see not,
Ears, but hear not!
22 Do you not revere me?" is the oracle of the LORD,
"Do you not tremble before me?
I set the sand as a bound for the sea,
As an everlasting barrier, which it may not pass over—
Its waves may toss, but they cannot prevail,
Its billows may roar, but they cannot pass over—23 Yet this people has a restive and rebellious mind,
They have swerved and gone off.
24 Nor do they say to themselves,
'Let us reverence the LORD our God,
Who gives us both winter and spring rain in its season,
And keeps for us the weeks appointed for harvest!'
- Your crimes have upset this order, 2:11
And your sins have withheld the blessing from you.
For knives are found among my 2:6
people,
Who lie in wait as fowlers do,
And set a trap to catch men.
As a cage is full of birds, 2:7
Their houses are full of fraud;
So they become great and rich,
They grow fat and sleek. 2:11
They pass all bounds in wickedness,
They uphold not the cause of the orphan, to carry it to success,
And the rights of the needy they do not defend.
For these things shall I not punish 2:11
them?" is the oracle of the LORD;
"And on a nation such as this shall I not take vengeance?"
- An awful and appalling thing has hap- 3:4
pened in the land:
The prophets prophesy by false gods, 3:1
And the priests make profit through them;
My people love to have it so,
But what will you do when the end comes?
- Flee for safety, O sons of Benjamin, 6:6
From the midst of Jerusalem!
In Tekoa blow the trumpet,
And on Beth-haccherem raise a signal!
For trouble is looming from the north,
Even dire destruction.
O the fair and luxuriant height
Of the daughter of Zion!
Against her shepherds will come,
They and their flocks;
They will pitch their tents around her,
And pasture each his plot.
"Prepare you war against her; Upl! let us storm her at noon!"
"Woe to us! the day declines,
The shadows of evening lengthen."
"Upl! let us storm her by night,
And destroy her palaces!"
- For thus says the LORD of hosts: 1:1
"Hew down trees,
And cast up a siege-mound against Jerusalem!
For she is a city of falsehood,
In whose midst there is nought but oppression.
As a fountain wells up its water,
So she wells up her wickedness.

- Sounds of violence and robbery are heard in her,
Sickness and wounds are ever before me.
- 8 Take warning, O Jerusalem,
Lest I be alienated from you,
And make you a desolation,
An uninhabited land."
- 9 Thus says the LORD of hosts:
"Glean out as a vine
the remnant of Israel;
Pass your hand, like a grape-gatherer,
over its tendrils!"
- 10 But to whom shall I speak and give warning, that they may hear?
See! their ears are sealed,
and they cannot give heed;
See! the word of the LORD has become to them scorn,
they find no pleasure in it.
- 11 Therefore I am full of the fury of the LORD,
I am weary of holding it in.
"Pour it out on the children in the street, and on the gatherings of young men also;
Both husband and wife shall be taken,
the old and the full-aged.
- 12 Their homes shall be turned over to others, their fields and their vineyards also;
For I will stretch out my hand against the inhabitants of the land,"
is the oracle of the LORD;
- 13 "Because from the least to the greatest of them
each one traffics in ill-gotten gain;
And from prophet to priest
each one deals in falsehood.
- 14 The wound of the daughter of my people
they lightly heal,
Saying, 'All is well, all is well,'
when nought is well.
- 15 Were they ashamed when they did their vile deeds?
they were not at all ashamed,
they knew not how to blush.
Therefore they shall fall among those who fall,
they shall stumble in the hour when I punish them,"
says the LORD.
- Thus says the LORD: 16
"Stand by the ways, and look,
And ask for the ancient paths,
Where the good way is, and walk in it;
And find rest for yourselves.
But they said, 'We will not walk in it!'
So I set watchmen over them, saying, 17
'Give heed to the sound of the trumpet!
But they said, 'We will not give heed!'
Therefore hear, O heavens, and learn 18 well
What shall befall them!
Hear, O earth; for behold, I am bring- 19
ing trouble upon this people,
The fruit of their own devices,
Because they have not given heed to my words,
And have spurned my instruction.
What care I for the frankincense that 20
comes from Sheba,
Or the sweet cane from a distant land?
Your burnt-offerings are not acceptable to me,
And your sacrifices bring me no pleasure.
Therefore thus says the LORD: 21
'Behold, I am laying stumblingblocks before this people,
And they shall stumble against them,
fathers and sons together,
And shall perish, both neighbor and friend.' "
- Thus says the LORD: 22
"Behold, a people is coming from the north land,
A mighty nation is stirring from the ends of the earth;
They lay hold on bow and javelin, 23
They are cruel and pitiless;
The sound of them is like that of the sea when it roars,
And they ride upon horses—
Arrayed as a man for the battle Against you, O daughter of Zion!"
- We have heard the report of them, 24
and our hands fall helpless; Anguish lays hold on us,
pain like that of a woman in travail.
Go not out to the fields, 25
nor walk on the way!
For there is the sword of the enemy,
terror all around.
O daughter of my people, gird on sack- 26
cloth,
and wallow in ashes;

Take up mourning, as for an only son, wailing most bitter!
For suddenly will come the despoiler upon us.

THE PROPHET AS ASSAYER,
6:27-30

- 27 "I have made you an assayer and tester
among my people,
That you may prove and assay their
ways.
- 28 For they are all of them hardened rebels,
Dealers in slander;
29 They are all of them bronze and iron,
Wholly corrupt.
- 29 The bellows are scorched with the fire,
The lead is consumed;
But in vain does the smelter keep on smelting,
The dross is not drawn out.
- 30 'Refuse silver,' are they called,
For the LORD has refused them."

INSTRUCTIONS REGARDING THE TEMPLE ADDRESS,
7:1-8:13

- 7 The word that came to Jeremiah
from the LORD:
- 2 "Stand in the court of the house of the LORD, and there proclaim this message: 'Hear the word of the LORD, all you men of Judah, who enter by these 3 gates to worship the LORD! Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:
"Amend your ways and your doings, that I may establish your home in this 4 place. Trust not in deceptive words, such as 'The temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD, the temple of the 5 LORD is this!' For if you but amend your ways and your doings—if you practice strict justice toward one 6 another, if you do not oppress the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow, nor shed innocent blood in this place,
nor run after other gods to your own 7 hurt—I will establish your home in this place, in the land which I gave to your 8 fathers for all time. But, as it is, you trust in deceitful words, that are of no 9 avail. What? Steal, murder, and commit adultery, swear falsely, offer sacrifices to the Baal, and run after other 10 gods, whom you do not know, and then come and stand before me in this house which bears my name, and say, 'We are safe!—only to practice all these abominations! Has this house which bears 11 my name become a robbers' cave in your eyes? Lo! I see through it," is the oracle of the LORD. "For go, now, to 12 my sanctuary that was at Shiloh, where I formerly established my name, and see what I did to it because of the wickedness of my people Israel! So now, be- 13 cause you have done all these deeds," is the oracle of the LORD, "and I spoke to you early and late, but you would not listen, and I called you, but you would not answer, I will do to this 14 house which bears my name, in which you trust, and to the place which I gave to you and your fathers, as I did to Shiloh; and I will cast you out of my 15 sight, as I cast out all your kinsmen, even the whole race of Ephraim." "

"As for you, intercede not for this 16 people, nor lift up cry or prayer on their behalf, nor plead with me, for I will not listen to you. Do you not see what they 17 are doing in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? The children 18 are gathering wood, and the fathers are kindling fires, and the women are kneading dough, to make cakes for the queen of the heavens; and they are pouring libations to other gods, in order to vex me. But is it me they are vex- 19
ing?" is the oracle of the LORD. "Is it not their own selves, to the confusion of their own faces?" Therefore thus 20 says the Lord GOD: "My anger and my fury shall be poured out upon this place—upon man and beast, upon the trees of the field, and upon the fruits of the ground—and it shall burn without being quenched."

Thus says the LORD of hosts, the 21
God of Israel:

"Add your burnt-offerings to your sacrifices, and eat the flesh of them!
For on the day that I brought you 22 fathers out of the land of Egypt, I did not speak to them, nor give them command regarding burnt-offering or sacrifice; but this command I gave 23 them, 'Listen to my voice, and I will be your God, and you shall be my people;
and walk in all the way that I command you, that you may prosper!' Yet they 24 neither listened nor inclined their ears to me, but followed the stubborn promptings of their own evil minds, and went backward instead of forward. And 25

though I sent all my servants the prophets, early and late, from the day that your fathers came out of the land of Egypt even to this day, they neither listened nor inclined their ears to me, but stiffened their necks, and behaved worse than their fathers. Even though you speak all these words to them, they will not listen to you; though you call to them, they will not answer you. Therefore you shall say to them:

'This is the nation that would not listen

To the voice of the LORD its God,
The nation that took no warning,
And from whose mouth honesty has completely gone.

29 Shear off your locks, and cast them away,

Raise a dirge on the bare heights;
For the LORD has spurned and cast off
The race that has roused him to wrath.'

30 "For the children of Judah have done what is evil in my sight," is the oracle of the LORD; "they have set up their detestable things in the house which

31 bears my name, to defile it, and have built the high place of Topheth, in the valley of Ben-Hinnom, to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire—a thing which I never commanded, and

32 which never entered my mind. Therefore behold, days are coming," is the oracle of the LORD, "when Topheth shall no longer be called 'The valley of Ben-Hinnom,' but 'The valley of Slaughter,' for they shall bury in 33 Topheth till there is no more room; and the dead bodies of this people shall be food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the field, with none to scare them away; and I will banish from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem the sound of mirth and the sound of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, for the land shall become a desolation.

34 At that time," is the oracle of the LORD, "the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of its princes, the bones of the priests, the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, shall be taken out of

2 their graves and spread before the sun, the moon, and all the host of the heavens, which they loved and served, ran after, consulted, and worshiped; they shall not be gathered up nor buried, but shall be left as dung upon the face of the ground. And death shall be preferable to life for all the remnant that is left of this evil race, in all the places to which I have driven them," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts.

"You shall also say to them, 'Thus says the LORD:

'If a man fall, does he not rise?

If he turn, does he not return?

Why, then, has this people of mine fallen into a perpetual apostasy?

They cling to deceit, they will not return!

I have given heed and listened, but none speaks the truth,

None repents of his wickedness, saying, 'What have I done?'

Each runs his own wayward course,
Like a horse plunging headlong in battle.

Even the stork in the heavens knows her seasons,

The turtle-dove, swift, and swallow keep the time of their coming;

But my people know not the ordinance of the LORD.

How can you say, 'We are wise, And the law of the LORD is with us?'

When lo, the lying pen of the scribes Has turned it into a lie!

So the wise shall be abashed, They shall be dumbfounded and taken;

For lo, they have spurned the word of the LORD,

And what wisdom, then, have they?

Therefore I will give their wives to others,

Their fields to the conquerors;
Because from the least to the greatest of them

Each one traffics in ill-gotten gain;
From prophet to priest

Each one deals in falsehood.

The wound of the daughter of my people

They lightly heal,
Saying, 'All is well, all is well,'

When nought is well.

Were they ashamed when they did their vile deeds?

They were not at all ashamed, they knew not how to blush.

Therefore they shall fall among those who fall,

They shall stumble in the hour when I punish them,"

Says the LORD.

"If I seek to gather a harvest of them,"

Is the oracle of the LORD,
 "There is not a grape on the vine,
 Nor a fig on the fig tree;
 Even the leaves are withered,
 All that I gave them is gone from
 them."

THE PEOPLE'S DESPAIR,

8:14-17

- 14 Why are we sitting still?
 Gather and let us go to the fortified
 cities,
 And there let us meet our doom!
 For the LORD our God has doomed us to death,
 And has given us poisoned water to drink;
 Because we have sinned against the
 LORD.
- 15 We looked for prosperity, but no good has come,
 For a time of healing, but lo! disaster.
- 16 "From Dan is heard the snorting of their horses,
 At the neighing of their stallions the whole land quakes.
 They come and devour the land and its produce,
 The city and its inhabitants.
- 17 For behold, I am sending among you serpents,
 Adders which cannot be charmed,
 And they shall bite you,"
 Is the oracle of the LORD.

THE PROPHET'S INCONSOLA- BLE GRIEF, 8:18-9:16

- 18 My pain is incurable,
 My heart is sick within me.
- 19 Hark! the cry of the daughter of my people
 Far and wide through the land:
 "Is not the LORD in Zion?
 Is not her King in her?"
 "Yes! but why have they vexed me with their images,
 With their foreign vanities?"
- 20 "The harvest is past, the summer is over,
 And we are not saved."
- 21 For the wound of the daughter of my people I am wounded with grief,
 I walk in mourning, horror has seized me.

Is there no balm in Gilead?
 Is there no physician there?
 Why, then, is there no recovery for the health of the daughter of my people?
 O that my head were waters,
 and my eyes a fountain of tears,
 That I might weep day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people!

O that I had in the desert
 a traveler's inn,
 That I might leave my people,
 and be quit of them!
 For they are all adulterers,
 a company of traitors.
 They stretch their tongue
 like a treacherous bow;
 And not in the interests of truth have they grown strong in the
 land;
 For they go on from crime to crime,
 "And me they know not,"
 is the oracle of the LORD.

Be on guard each one against his neighbor,
 And let no one trust his brother!
 For each brother is a sheer supplanter,
 And each neighbor is a slanderer.
 They cheat each one his neighbor,
 And no one speaks the truth.
 They have trained their tongue to speak lies,
 They do wrong till they are weary.
 They heap violence on violence, fraud on fraud,
 "And me they refuse to know," is the
 oracle of the LORD.

Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts:
 "Behold, I will smelt them, and test
 them,
 For what else can I do,
 In face of the wickedness of the daughter of my people?
 Their tongue is a deadly arrow,
 It speaks deceit;
 With his mouth one speaks fair to his neighbor,
 But in his mind he lays a trap for him.
 For these things shall I not punish
 them?" is the oracle of the LORD;
 "On a nation such as this shall I not take vengeance?"

"Over the mountains raise weeping and wailing,

- Over the pastures of the steppe a dirge!
 Because they are laid waste, so that none passes through,
 And none hears the lowing of cattle.
 Both birds of the air and beasts have fled and gone.
- 11 I will make Jerusalem a heap of ruins,
 a lair of jackals;
 And the cities of Judah will I make a desolation,
 without an inhabitant.
- 12 Who is the wise man,
 that he may understand this?
 And who is he to whom the mouth of the LORD has spoken,
 that he may tell it?
 Why is the land ruined and laid waste like a desert, so that none passes through?"
- 13 The LORD says:
 "It is because they have forsaken my law, which I set before them,
 And have not listened to my voice, nor walked by it;
- 14 But have followed the promptings of their own stubborn minds,
 And have run after the Baals, which their fathers taught them to worship."
- 15 Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:
 "Behold, I will feed them with wormwood,
 And will give them poisoned water to drink;
- 16 And I will scatter them among the nations,
 Whom neither they nor their fathers have known;
 And after them will I send the sword,
 Until I have consumed them."

THE DIRGE OF DEATH, 9:17-26

- 17 Thus says the LORD of hosts:
 "Consider and call for the mourning women, that they may come,
 And send for the skilful women, that they may make haste,
- 18 And raise a lament over us,
 Till our eyes run down with tears,
 And our eyelids gush with water!
- 19 For hark! a wail is heard from Zion:
 'How we are ruined!
 We are bitterly ashamed, because we have had to leave our land,

Because we have had to give up our dwellings.'

- "Hear, you women, the word of the LORD,
 Let your ears receive the word of his mouth;
 And teach your daughters a lamentation,
 Each one her neighbor a dirge:
 'Death has climbed through our windows,
 has entered our halls,
 Cutting off the children from the streets,
 the young men from the squares;
 And the dead bodies of men shall fall like dung on the open field, Like sheaves behind the reaper, with none to gather them.' "

- Thus says the LORD: 23
 "Let not the wise man boast of his wisdom,
 Nor the strong man boast of his strength,
 Nor the rich man boast of his riches!
 But if one must boast, let him boast of this,
 That he understands and knows me—
 How I, the LORD, am he who practices kindness,
 Justice, and righteousness on the earth;
 For in these things I delight," is the oracle of the LORD.

"Behold, days are coming," is the oracle of the LORD, "when I will punish all who, though circumcised, are really uncircumcised, Egypt and Edom, Ammon and Moab, together with all those who live in the desert who have the corners of their hair clipped; for all these nations are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel is uncircumcised in heart."

THE FOLLY OF IDOLATRY, 10:1-16

- Hear the word which the LORD has spoken against you, O house of Israel!
 Thus says the LORD: 2
 "Follow not the way of the nations,
 Nor be dismayed at the signs of the heavens,
 When the nations are dismayed at them!

- 3 For the cults of the peoples are vanity—
They are but a timber which one cuts from the forest,
Which the carpenter's hands have wrought with the ax.
- 4 Men deck it with silver and gold,
Fasten it with hammer and nails,
And set it up, so that it cannot move.
- 5 They stand like scarecrows in a garden of cucumbers, and cannot speak;
They have to be carried, for they cannot walk.
Be not afraid of them! for they cannot do harm,
And also to do good is not in their power."
- 6 There is none like thee, O LORD!
Thou art great, and thy name is great in might.
- 7 Who would not reverence thee, O King of the nations?
For this is thy due, and there is none like thee
Among all the wise ones of the nations, and among all their royalties.
- 8 They are altogether stupid and senseless,
The core of their idols is but timber,
- 9 Overlaid with beaten silver brought from Tarshish
And with gold from Ophir,
The work of the carpenter and the goldsmith;
While their clothing is violet and purple,
All of it the work of skilled men.
- 11 [Thus shall you say of them: "The gods that did not make the heavens and the earth shall vanish from the earth and from under the heavens!"]
- 10 But the Lord GOD is the true God,
He is the living God, the everlasting
King;
At his wrath the earth quakes,
And his fury no nation can bear.
- 12 It is he who made the earth by his power,
Who established the world by his wisdom,
And stretched out the heavens by his skill.
- 13 When he thunders, there is a storm of waters in the heavens,
And he causes vapors to rise from the ends of the earth;
He makes lightnings for the rain,
And brings out the wind from his storehouses.

Every man is stupid and senseless, 1:6
Every goldsmith is put to shame
through his images;
For his idols are frauds, which have no breath in them,
They are an empty mockery, 1:9
Which will break down in their time of trial.
Not such is the Portion of Jacob, 1:9
But he is the framer of all things,
And Israel is the tribe of his inheritance—
The LORD of hosts is his name.

THE APPROACHING DOOM,

10:17-25

Pick up your baggage from the land, 1:7
you who sit under siege!
For thus says the LORD: 1:8
"Behold, I am slinging out the inhabitants of the land
at a single shot;
And I will put them to sore distress, so that they may pay for their guilt."

Woe is me! how hurt I am! 1:10
how grievous is my wound!
While I thought, "This is only a sick-
ness,
which I can bear."
My tent is despoiled, 2:0
and all my cords are snapped;
My children have gone from me,
and are no more;
There is none to spread my tent again,
to set up my curtains.
For the shepherds are stupid, 2:11
and consult not the LORD;
Therefore they have had no success,
and their flock is all scattered.

Hark! a rumor! See! it comes! 2:12
A great commotion out of the north
land!
To make the cities of Judah a desola-
tion,
A lair of jackals.

I know, O LORD, that man's way is 2:13
not his own,
That it is not in man's power as he walks to control his steps.
Correct me, O LORD, but in just 2:14
measure,
Not in thy wrath, lest thou bring me to nothing.

- 25 Pour out thy wrath on the nations that know thee not,
On the families that invoke not thy
name;
For they have devoured Jacob, and have consumed him,
And they have laid waste his homestead.

THE PREACHING OF THE COVENANT, 11:1-17

- 11 The word that came to Jeremiah from
the LORD:
2 "Hear the words of this covenant, and declare them to the men of Judah
3 and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying to them, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Cursed be the man who heeds not the words of this covenant, 4 which I enjoined upon your fathers on the day that I brought them out of that iron furnace, the land of Egypt, saying,
'Listen to my voice, and do just as I command you! So shall you be my 5 people, and I will be your God,' in confirmation of the oath which I swore to your fathers, when I promised to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it is this day.'"
I answered, saying,
"Yes, indeed, O LORD!"
6 Then the LORD said to me,
"Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying, 'Hear the words of this covenant, and obey them! For I earnestly 7 appealed to your fathers on the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, and have appealed to them early and late, even to this day, saying, 8 'Listen to my voice!' Yet they neither listened nor inclined their ears, but followed each the stubborn promptings of his own evil mind; so I brought upon them all the threats of this covenant which I commanded them to observe, but which they did not observe.'"
9 The LORD further said to me,
"There is open treason among the men of Judah and the inhabitants of 10 Jerusalem. They have returned to the sins of their forefathers, who refused to hear my words; and they have run after other gods, to serve them. Both the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken the covenant which I made 11 with their fathers. Therefore thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I am bringing upon them a disaster which they shall not be able to escape. They may cry to me, but I will not listen to them; the towns-12 men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem may likewise go and cry to the gods to whom they offer sacrifices, but they shall be utterly powerless to help them in their time of trouble. For 13 as many in number as your cities are your gods, O Judah; and as many in number as the streets of Jerusalem are the altars which you have set up to the shameful thing—altars to offer sacrifices to the Baal.' And as for you, inter-14 cede not for this people, nor lift up cry or prayer on their behalf; for I will not listen when they call to me in their time of trouble."

"What right has my loved one in my 15
house,
when she has done such vile
deeds?
Can vows and holy flesh avert your doom from you,
or through these things can you escape?
The LORD called you a green olive 16
tree,
fair in appearance;
But to the roar of a mighty hurricane
he has set fire to it, and its branches are burned."

"For the LORD of hosts, who planted 17 you, has pronounced evil against you, because of the evil by which the house of Israel and the house of Judah have vexed me, by offering sacrifices to the Baal!"

A PLOT AGAINST JEREMIAH, 11:18-23

The LORD informed me, and I knew; 18
I saw what they were doing.
But I was like an innocent lamb, 19
That is led to the slaughter;
I knew not that they had plotted against me, saying,
"Let us destroy the tree with its sap,
Let us cut him off from the land of the living,
That his name may be remembered no
more!"
O LORD of hosts, thou who judgest 20
righteously,
Who testest the heart and the conscience,

Let me see thy vengeance upon them,
For to thee have I confided my cause!

- 21 Therefore thus says the LORD regarding the men of Anathoth who seek your life, saying, "You shall not prophesy in the name of the LORD, lest you die by our hands!"—thus says the LORD of hosts:
- 22 "Behold, I will punish them;
Their young men shall die by the sword,
And their sons and their daughters shall die by famine.
- 23 No remnant shall be left to them,
For I will bring trouble upon the men of Anathoth,
Even their year of reckoning."

THE PROPHET'S EXPOSTULATION, AND THE LORD'S
REPLY, 12:1-6

- 12 Thou must be in the right, O LORD,
If I take issue with thee;
Yet would I lay my case before thee:
Why does the way of the wicked prosper?
Why do all the faithless live in comfort?
- 2 Thou plantest them, and they take root;
They grow, and they bring forth fruit;
Near art thou in their mouths,
But far from their thoughts.
- 3 Yet thou, O LORD, knowest me,
Thou seest me, and testest my mind toward thee.
Pull them out like sheep for the shambles,
And devote them to the day of slaughter!
- 4 How long must the land mourn,
And the grass of all the field wither?
Through the wickedness of those who dwell in it Beast and bird are swept away;
For they say, "God is blind to our ways."
- 5 "If you have raced with men on foot,
and they have beaten you,
How will you compete with horses?
And if you take to flight in a safe land,
How will you do in the jungle of Jordan?
- 6 For even your brothers, those of your father's household—

Even they have played you false,
Even they are in full cry after you;
Trust them not, though they speak fair words to you!"

THE DESOLATION OF JUDAH,
12:7-13

"I have forsaken my house, have abandoned my heritage;
I have given over my loved one to the hand of her enemies.
My heritage has become to me like a lion in the forest;
She has lifted up her voice against me;
therefore I hate her.
My heritage has become to me like a speckled vulture, with vultures circling against her;
Go, gather all beasts of the field,
bring them to devour!
Many shepherds have destroyed my vineyard, have trampled down my portion;
They have made my pleasant lot a desolate waste.
They have made it a desolation,
in its desolation it mourns to me;
The whole land is made desolate,
yet no man lays it to heart.
Over all the bare heights in the desert despoilers have come;
For the sword of the LORD has devoured
From end to end of the land,
So that no flesh is safe.
They have sown wheat, and have reaped thorns;
They have worn themselves out, but gained no profit;
They are disappointed in their harvests
Because of the fierce anger of the LORD."

WARNING AND HOPE FOR THE NEIGHBORS OF JUDAH, 12:14-17

Thus says the LORD concerning all my evil neighbors, who encroach upon the heritage which I gave to my people Israel:

"Behold, I am plucking them up from their land, and I will pluck up from their midst the house of Judah. But 15"

after I have plucked them up, I will once more have pity upon them, and will restore them each to his own heritage, and each to his own land. And if they learn the ways of my people—to swear by my name, 'As the LORD lives!'—even as they once taught my people to swear by the Baal, they shall be built up in the midst of my people. But if any nation will not listen, I will pluck it up completely and destroy it," is the oracle of the LORD.

PARABLE OF THE WAISTCLOTH, 13:1-11

13 The LORD spoke to me as follows: "Go and buy a linen waistcloth, and put it on your loins, without passing it through water."
2 So I bought the waistcloth, in accordance with the word of the LORD, and put it on my loins.
3 Then the word of the LORD came to me a second time, saying,
4 "Take the waistcloth which you bought, which is on your loins, and arise, go to the Euphrates, and hide it there in a crevice of the rock."
5 So I went and hid it by the Euphrates, as the LORD had bidden me.
6 After a number of days the LORD said to me,
 "Arise! Go to the Euphrates, and bring thence the waistcloth which I bade you hide there."
7 So I went to the Euphrates, and dug, and got the waistcloth from the place where I had hidden it. And lo! the waistcloth was ruined, and good for nothing.
8 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,
9 "Thus says the LORD: So will I ruin the pride of Judah and the great pride of Jerusalem. This evil people, who will not hear my words, but follow the stubborn promptings of their own minds, and run after other gods, to serve and worship them, shall be like this waistcloth, which is good for nothing. For, as a waistcloth clings to the loins of a man, so did I make the whole house of Israel and the whole house of Judah cling to me," is the oracle of the LORD, "that they might become for me a people of honor and praise and glory; but they did not listen."

PARABLE OF THE JARS, 13:12-14

"Speak this word to them: "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'Every jar should be filled with wine.' And if they say to you, 'Do we not know quite well that every jar should be filled with wine?' you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD: Behold, I am filling with drunkenness all the inhabitants of this land—the kings who sit on David's throne, the priests, the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem—and I will dash them against one another, fathers and sons together,' is the oracle of the LORD. 'No pity, or mercy, or compassion, shall prevent me from destroying them.'"

A SOLEMN WARNING, 13:15-17

Hear, and give ear! be not haughty; for the LORD has spoken.
 Give glory to the LORD your God, before it grows dark,
 Before your feet stumble on the twilight mountains,
 And while you look for light, he turn it to gloom,
 he make it thick darkness.
 But if you will not listen, I must weep in secret because of your pride;
 My eyes must weep much, they must run down with tears, because the flock of the LORD has been taken captive.

LAMENT FOR THE KING AND THE QUEEN-MOTHER, 13:18-19

Say to the king and the queen-mother: "Sit in the depths!
 For down from your head has come your beautiful crown."
 The cities of the south are closed up, with none to open them;
 All Judah is swept into exile, swept wholly into exile.

LAMENT FOR JERUSALEM, 13:20-27

"Lift up your eyes, and see, how they come from the north. Where is the flock that was given you, your beautiful flock?"

- 21 What will you say when they set as heads over you
Those whom you yourself have trained to be friends to you?
Will not pangs lay hold on you,
like those of a woman in travail?
- 22 And if you say to yourself,
'Why have these things befallen
me?'
It is for your many sins that your skirts are stripped off, that your person is outraged.
- 23 Can the Ethiopian change his skin,
or the leopard his spots?
Then may you also do good,
who are trained to do evil.
- 24 I will scatter you like drifting stubble before the wind of the desert.
- 25 This is your lot, your portion assigned by me,"
is the oracle of the LORD;
"Because you have forgotten me,
and have trusted in lies.
- 26 I will draw your skirts over your face,
and your shame shall be seen;
- 27 For I have seen your adulteries, and your lustful neighings,
Your lewd intrigues, and your infamous
deeds,
on the hills in the open field.
Woe to you, O Jerusalem! how long will it be till you are made clean?"

PROPHECIES ON THE DROUGHT,
14:1—15:9

- 14 The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah in regard to the drought:
- 2 "Judah mourns, and her gates languish; Men cower in black to the ground, and the cry of Jerusalem goes up.
- 3 Her nobles send their menials for
water;
They come to the cisterns, they find no water;
They return with their pitchers empty; Abashed and dejected, they cover their heads.
- 4 The tillers of the soil are dismayed,
Because there is no rain in the land;
The plowmen are abashed, they cover their heads.
- 5 Even the hind in the field calves and abandons her young,
Because there is no grass;
- 6 And the wild asses stand on the bare heights,

They gasp for air like crocodiles, their eyes lose their luster,
Because there is no green thing.

"Though our sins bear witness against
us,
Act, O LORD, for thy name's sake!
For many are our backslidings,
Against thee have we sinned.
O thou who art the hope of Israel,
Its savior in time of trouble,
Why shouldst thou be like a stranger
in the land,
Like a traveler who turns aside to lodge for a night?
Why shouldst thou be like a man overcome by sleep,
Like a warrior who is powerless to help?
Yet thou, O LORD, art in the midst of
us,
And thy name we bear—abandon us
not!"

Thus says the LORD of this people: 11
"So do they love to wander,
Their feet they restrain not;
And the LORD cannot accept them;
Now will he remember their guilt,
And punish their sins."

The LORD said to me, 11
"Intercede not for the good of this people! Though they fast, I will not 12 listen to their cry; and though they offer up burnt-offering and cereal-offering,
I will not accept them; but I will consume them by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence."

Then said I, 11
"Ah, Lord GOD! the prophets keep saying to them, 'You shall not see the sword, nor shall famine visit you; but assured peace will I give to you in this place.'"

Then the LORD said to me, 14
"It is lies which the prophets prophesy in my name. I neither sent them, nor commissioned them, nor spoke to them.
What they prophesy to you is a lying dream, an empty superstition, a deceptive invention of their own minds."

Therefore thus says the LORD: 15
"As regards the prophets who prophesy in my name—though I did not send them—saying, 'Sword and famine shall not visit this land,' by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed, while the people to whom they 16

prophesy shall be cast out in the streets of Jerusalem, victims of famine and sword, with none to bury them—their selves, their wives, their sons, and their daughters—for I will pour out upon them the trouble which they deserve.

17 And you shall speak this word to them: 'Let my eyes run down with tears, And let them not cease by day or by night!

For the virgin daughter of my people is smitten with a sore wound, With a very severe blow.

18 If I go out to the field, lo! those slain by the sword;

And if I enter the city, lo! the horrors of famine.

Both prophet and priest go begging through the land— They know not where.' "

19 Hast thou utterly rejected Judah? Hast thou a loathing for Zion? Why, then, hast thou smitten us, With no healing for us? We looked for prosperity, but no good has come, For a time of healing, but lo! disaster.

20 We acknowledge, O LORD, our wickedness, and the guilt of our fathers— How we have sinned against thee.

21 Yet spurn us not, for thy name's sake, Debase not thy glorious throne; Remember, and break not thy covenant with us!

22 Are there any among the vanities of the nations that can bring rain? Or can the heavens of themselves give showers? Is it not thou, O LORD our God, on whom we set our hope? For thou doest all these things.

23 Then the LORD said to me, "Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, I would show no favor toward this people. Send them out of my sight, and let them go! And if they ask you, 'Where shall we go?' you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD: "Those who are destined for death, to death; And those who are destined for the sword, to the sword; And those who are destined for famine, to famine; And those who are destined for exile, to exile." "

24 "I will set over them four kinds of fate," is the oracle of the LORD: "the sword to slay, and the dogs to tear, the birds of the air to devour, and the beasts of the earth to destroy. And I will make them a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth, because of what Manasseh, the son of Hezekiah, king of Judah, did in Jerusalem."

"Who, then, will pity you, O Jerusalem? Who will bemoan you? Who will go out of his way to give you greeting? You have cast me off," is the oracle of the LORD, "you have gone ever backward; So I stretch out my hand to destroy you, for I am weary of relenting. I will winnow you with a winnowing-fork in the gates of the land; I will make my people childless, I will destroy them, because of their perverse ways. I will make their widows more numerous than the sand of the sea; I will bring on their mothers of young men the despoiler at noonday; I will cause to fall on them suddenly terror and anguish. The mother of seven shall languish and swoon away; Her sun shall set while it is still day, ashamed and abashed shall she be. And the rest of them will I give to the sword before their enemies," is the oracle of the LORD.

THE PROPHET'S LONELINESS AND DESPONDENCY,

15:10—16:18, 21

Woe is me, my mother! that you bore me
As a man of strife and a man of contention to all the earth!
I have neither lent nor borrowed,
Yet all of them curse me.
So be it, O LORD, if I have failed to entreat thee,
Or to plead with thee for the good of my enemies,
In their time of trouble and trial!

- 12 Have I an arm of iron,
Or a brow of bronze?
- 13 [Your riches and all your treasures will I give for a spoil, as the price of your sin, through all your borders;
- 14 And I will make you serve your
enemies
in a land which you know not;
For a fire is kindled in my wrath, which shall burn against you forever.]<sup>1</sup>
- 15 Thou knowest, O LORD!
Think of me, and visit me;
Avenge me on my persecutors,
Through thy forbearance put me not
off.
Know that for thy sake I have borne reproach
- 16 From those who despise thy words.
As for me, thy word is my joy and de-
light;
For I bear thy name, O LORD, God of
hosts!
- 17 I sat not in the company of the sportative,
Nor made merry with them;
Under thy mighty power I sat alone,
For thou didst fill me with indigna-
tion.
- 18 Why is my pain unceasing, my wound incurable,
Refusing to be healed?
Wilt thou really be to me like a treacherous brook,
Like waters that are not sure?
- 19 Therefore thus says the LORD:
"If you turn, I will restore you,
And you shall stand in my presence;
And if you bring forth what is precious, without anything base,
You shall be my mouthpiece.
They may turn to you,
But you shall not turn to them.
- 20 And I will make you toward this people
A fortified wall of bronze;
They may fight against you,
But they shall not overcome you;
For I am with you to help you,
And to deliver you," is the oracle of
the LORD.
- 21 "I will deliver you from the hand of the wicked,
And will redeem you from the clutch of the cruel."

<sup>1</sup> Vss. 13-14 are repeated, more fully, in their true context in 17:3-4.

The word of the LORD came to me, I
saying,

"You shall not take a wife, nor have sons and daughters in this place! For thus says the LORD regarding the sons and daughters that are born in this place, and regarding the mothers that bore them and the fathers that begot them in this land:
'Of grievous deaths shall they die,
'And shall be neither lamented nor buried,
But they shall lie like dung on the face of the ground.
They shall perish by sword and famine,
And their dead bodies shall be food
For the birds of the air and the beasts
of the earth.'"

Thus says the LORD:
"Do not enter the house of mourning, nor go to lament,
nor bemoan them;
For I have withdrawn from this people my good will,
my kindness and pity,"
is the oracle of the LORD.
"Both high and low shall die in this
place,
and shall not be buried;
None shall lament for them, nor gash
himself,
nor make himself bald for them;
None shall break bread for the mourner,
to comfort him for the dead;
And none shall give him the cup of consolation to drink,
for his father or mother.
Nor shall you enter the house of feasting, to sit down with them, to eat and to drink";
For thus says the LORD of hosts,
the God of Israel:
"Behold, I am banishing from this
place,
before your eyes, and in your
days,
The sound of mirth
and the sound of gladness,
The voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride.

"And when you tell this people all these things, and they ask you, 'Why has the LORD pronounced all this great evil upon us? And what offense or sin have we committed against the LORD

- 11 our God?' you shall say to them, 'Because your fathers forsook me,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'and ran after other gods, and served and worshiped them, while they forsook me, and did not obey my law; and because you have behaved worse than your fathers, following each the stubborn promptings of his own evil mind, without listening to me, 12 therefore I will hurl you out of this land into a land which neither you nor your fathers have known, and there day and night shall you serve other gods, who will show you no favor.' "
- 14 ["Therefore behold, days are coming," is the oracle of the LORD, "when it shall no longer be said, 'As the LORD lives, who brought up the children of 15 Israel from the land of Egypt,' but 'As the LORD lives, who brought up the children of Israel from the north land and from all the other lands to which I had driven them, and settled them on their own land, which I had given to their fathers.' "]
- 16 "Behold, I am sending for many fishers," is the oracle of the LORD, "And they shall fish for them; And afterward I will send for many hunters, And they shall hunt them, Out of every mountain and every hill, Even from the crevices of the rocks. 17 For my eyes are upon all their ways, They are not concealed from me, Nor is their guilt wrapped up from my sight. 18 And I will doubly repay their guilt and their sin, For with the lifeless bodies of their detestable things have they profaned my land, And with their abominations have they filled my heritage. 21 Therefore behold, I will show them, Once for all will I show them, My power and my might, And they shall know that the LORD is my name."

CONVERSION OF THE NATIONS, 16:19-20

- 19 "O LORD, my strength and my stronghold, My refuge in time of trouble, To thee shall the nations come

From the ends of the earth, saying, 'Our fathers inherited nought but lies, Vain superstitions, which are good for nothing;

- Can a man make gods for himself? 20 But such are no gods! "

SIN AND DOOM, 17:1-4

- "The sin of Judah is written 17 with an iron pen; It is engraved with the point of a diamond on the tablet of their heart; It appears on the horns of their altars, on their sacred pillars and sacred poles, 2 Under every spreading tree, and on every high hill, on the mountains in the open 3 field. So your riches and all your treasures will I give for a spoil, as the price of your sin, through all your borders; 4 I will make you loosen your grip of the heritage which I have given you, And will make you serve your enemies in a land which you know not; For you have kindled my wrath to a fire, which shall burn forever."

TRUST IN MAN AND TRUST IN GOD, 17:5-8

- Thus says the LORD: 5 "Cursed is the man who trusts in man, And makes flesh his arm of strength, His mind being turned from the LORD! He shall be like a scrub in the desert, 6 Unable to see the coming of good; He shall dwell in the scorched lands of the wilderness, In an uninhabited salt land. "Blessed is the man who trusts in the 7 LORD, To whom the LORD is his confidence! He shall be like a tree planted by waters, 8 That sends out its roots to the stream; And is not afraid when heat comes, For its leaves remain green; Nor is anxious in a year of drought, For it ceases not to bear fruit."

WORDS OF WISDOM,

17:9-18

- 9 The heart is treacherous above all things, and desperately sick—
Who can understand it?
- 10 "I the LORD am a searcher of the heart,
A tester of the conscience;
That I may give to every man according to his ways,
According to the fruit of his doings."
- 11 Like a partridge hatching eggs which she has not laid,
Is the man who amasses wealth which he has not justly earned;
In the midst of his days he must leave it,
And at the end he will prove himself a fool.
- 12 A glorious throne, set on high from of old,
Is the site of our sanctuary.
- 13 O LORD, thou hope of Israel,
All who forsake thee shall be put to shame,
Those who prove faithless to thee in the land shall be brought to confusion,
Because they have forsaken the LORD,
The fountain of living water.
- 14 Heal me, O LORD, that I may be healed;
Save me, that I may be saved;
For thou art my praise.
- 15 Lol they keep saying to me,
'Where is the word of the LORD?
Pray, let it come!'
- 16 Yet I never urged thee to bring trouble upon them,
Nor longed for the fatal day—
Thou knowest!
That which came out of my lips was open before thee.
- 17 Be not a terror to me,
Thou who art my refuge on the day of trouble!
- 18 Let them be put to shame that persecute me,
But let me not be put to shame;
Let them be confounded,
But let me not be confounded;
Bring upon them the day of trouble,
With double destruction destroy them!"

THE SANCTITY OF THE SABBATH, 17:19-27

Thus said the LORD to me:

"Go and stand at the Benjamin Gate, by which the kings of Judah pass in and out, and at all the other gates of Jerusalem, by which the children of your people pass in and out, and say to them: 'Hear the word of the LORD, you kings of Judah, and all you people of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem, who enter by these gates! Thus says the LORD: As you value your lives, be careful to carry no load on the sabbath day. You shall bring no load through the gates of Jerusalem, nor carry one out of your houses, on the sabbath day. And you shall do no work at all on it, but shall keep the sabbath day holy, as I commanded your fathers, though they neither listened nor inclined their ears, but stiffened their necks, refusing to listen or to take warning. If you listen attentively to me,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'and refrain from bringing any load through the gates of this city on the sabbath day, and if you keep the sabbath day holy, and refrain from doing any work on it, then shall there enter by the gates of this city kings sitting on the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, they and their princes, together with the people of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and this city shall be inhabited for ever. And people shall come from the cities of Judah, and from the districts around Jerusalem, from the land of Benjamin, and from the Shephelah, from the hill country, and from the Negeb, bringing burnt-offerings and sacrifices, cereal-offerings, frankincense, and thank-offerings to the house of the LORD. But if you do not listen to me, in regard to keeping the sabbath day holy by not carrying a load or bringing it through the gates of Jerusalem on the sabbath day, then will I kindle in its gates a fire, which shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem, and shall not be quenched.'"

PARABLE OF THE POTTER,

18:1-17

The word that came to Jeremiah 18
from the LORD:

"Arise, and go down to the potter's 21

house; and there will I give you my message."

3 So I went down to the potter's house and found him engaged in work on the 4 wheels. And whenever the vessel at which he was working became spoiled, as clay is apt to do in the potter's hand, he would turn it into another vessel, such as seemed suitable in the potter's own eyes.

5 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

6 "Cannot I deal with you like this potter, O house of Israel?" is the oracle of the LORD. "As the clay in the potter's hand, so are you in my hand, O
7 house of Israel! If at one moment I issue an order concerning a nation or kingdom to pluck up, to tear down, and 8 to destroy, and if that nation against which I issued the order turn from its evil conduct, I will repent of the evil
9 which I planned to inflict upon it. And if at another moment I issue an order concerning a nation or kingdom to 10 build and to plant, and if it do what is evil in my sight, by not listening to my voice, I will repent of the good which I 11 intended to do to it. So now, speak to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: Behold, I am framing evil against you, and am planning a scheme against you. Turn, therefore, every man from his evil course, and amend 12 your ways and your doings!' But they will say, 'It is hopeless! for we will follow our own plans and will act each according to the stubborn promptings of 13 his own evil mind.' Therefore thus says the LORD:

"Inquire among the nations!
who has heard the like of this?

The virgin Israel has done a very dreadful thing.

14 Does the white snow vanish from the crest of Sirion?

Does the cold flowing water of the mountains run dry?

15 Yet my people have forgotten me,
and offer sacrifices to idols;

They stumble off their ways,
off the ancient tracks,

To walk in bypaths,
that have not been graded up,

16 Making their land a horror,
a perpetual scorn;

Everyone who passes by it is horrified, and shakes his head.

Like the east wind will I scatter them 17
before the enemy;
I will show them my back, and not my face,
on the day of their doom."

A FURTHER PLOT AGAINST JEREMIAH, 18:18-23

Then said they, 18
"Come and let us hatch a plot against Jeremiah,
For instruction shall not pass from the priest,
Nor counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophet;
Come and let us smite him for his speech,
And let us pay no more heed to any of his words!"

Pay thou heed to me, O LORD; 19
And listen to my plea!

Shall evil be repaid for good, 20
That they have dug a pit for my life?

Remember how I stood before thee
To intercede in their favor,
To avert thy wrath from them!

Therefore give up their children to 21
famine,

And hand them over to the sword;
Let their wives become childless widows,

And their men be slain by pestilence,
And their young men smitten by the sword in battle!

Let a cry be heard from their houses, 22
When of a sudden thou bringest a troop of raiders against them;

For they have dug a pit to catch me,
And have hidden snares for my feet.

But thou, O LORD, knowest 23
All their deadly scheme against me;
Therefore pardon not their guilt,
Nor blot out their sin from thy sight;

Let them be laid prostrate before thee,
Deal with them in thy time of anger!

PARABLE OF THE BROKEN FLASK, 19:1-13

Thus said the LORD: 19
"Go and get a potter's earthenware flask, and take with you certain of the elders and priests, and go out to the valley of Ben-Hinnom, which is at the entrance to the Potsherd Gate, and 2

there proclaim the message that I will give you. Say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, you men of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem! Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Behold, I am bringing disaster upon this place—such that the ears of everyone who hears of it shall tingle—because they have forsaken me, and have desecrated this place by offering sacrifices to other gods whom neither they nor their fathers have known, and because the kings of Judah have filled this place with the blood of innocent persons, and have built high places to the Baal, in order to burn their sons in the fire as burnt-offerings to the Baal—a thing which I never commanded, nor spoke of, nor did it enter my mind. Therefore behold, days are coming,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'when this place shall no longer be called "Topheth," nor "The valley of Ben-Hinnom," but "The valley of Slaughter," and I will break up the plans of the men of Judah and Jerusalem in this place, and cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies—by the hand of those who seek their lives—and give their dead bodies as food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth, and make this city a horror and a scorn, so that everyone who passes by it shall be horrified and shall hiss in scorn because of all the blows that have fallen upon it; and I will make them eat the flesh of their sons and daughters, and they shall eat each other's flesh, through the stress of the siege which their enemies—even those who seek their lives—shall press upon them.'

Then break the flask before the eyes of the men who accompany you, and say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: As the potter's vessel is broken and cannot be mended again, so will I break this people and this city; and they shall be buried in Topheth till there is no more room to bury. For I will so act toward this place and its inhabitants,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'as to turn this city into a Topheth; and the houses of Jerusalem, including the houses of the kings of Judah—even all the houses on whose roofs they have offered sacrifices to all the host of the heavens, and have poured libations to other gods—shall be defiled like the site of Topheth.'

JEREMIAH IN THE STOCKS,

19:14—20:6

Then Jeremiah returned from Topheth, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy, and stood in the court of the house of the LORD, and said to all the people,

"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Behold, I am bringing upon this city and upon all its towns the full disaster that I pronounced against it, because its people have stiffened their necks so as not to listen to my words.'"

Now when Pashhur, the son of Immer the priest, who was chief overseer in the house of the LORD, heard Jeremiah prophesying these things, Pashhur beat Jeremiah the prophet, and put him in the stocks at the upper Benjamin Gate of the house of the LORD. The next morning Pashhur released Jeremiah from the stocks. Thereupon Jeremiah said to him,

"The LORD calls you not Pashhur, but 'Terror all around.' For thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I am making you a center of terror, to yourself and to all your friends. You shall see them fall by the sword of their enemies; and I will give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, who shall carry them captive to Babylon and shall slay them by the sword. And I will give all the wealth, all the gains, and all the goods of this city, with all the treasures of the kings of Judah, into the hand of their enemies, who shall despoil them, and take them, and carry them to Babylon. And you, Pashhur, and all who live in your house, shall go into exile. To Babylon shall you go, and there shall you die, and there shall you be buried, yourself and all your friends, to whom you have prophesied falsely.'"

THE PROPHETIC IMPULSE,

20:7-13

Thou hast duped me, O LORD, and I let myself be duped;
Thou hast been too strong for me, and hast prevailed.
I have become a laughing-stock all day long,
Everyone mocks me.
As often as I speak, I must cry out,
I must call, "Violence and spoil!"

- For the word of the LORD has become
to me
A reproach and derision all day long.
9 If I say, "I will not think of it,
Nor speak any more in his name,"
It is in my heart like a burning fire,
Shut up in my bones;
I am worn out with holding it in—
I cannot endure it.
0 For I hear 'the whispering of many,
Terror all around.
"Denounce him! let us denounce him!" Say all my intimate friends, who watch for my tripping;
"Perhaps he will be duped, and we shall prevail over him,
And shall take our revenge on him."
1 But the LORD is with me as a dreaded
warrior,
Therefore my persecutors shall stumble,
and shall not prevail,
They shall be put to bitter shame, because they have not succeeded,
To everlasting confusion, which shall not be forgotten.
2 O LORD of hosts, thou who testest the
right,
Who searchest the heart and the conscience,
Let me see thy vengeance on them,
For to thee have I confided my cause.
3 Sing to the LORD, praise the LORD;
For he has saved the life of the needy
From the hand of the wicked.

JEREMIAH CURSES HIS DAY,
20:14-18

- 4 Cursed be the day on which I was born,
The day on which my mother bore
me—
Let it not be blessed!
5 Cursed be the man who brought the good news to my father,
"A son is born to you"—
Wishing him much joy!
6 Let that man be like the cities
Which the LORD overthrew without mercy;
Let him hear a cry in the morning,
And an alarm at noon;
7 Because he did not let me die in the womb,
That my mother might have been my
grave,
And her womb have remained pregnant
forever!

- Why came I out of the womb, 18
To see trouble and sorrow,
That my days might be spent in shame?

THE WARNING TO KING
ZEDEKIAH, 21:1-12

The word that came to Jeremiah 21
from the LORD, when King Zedekiah sent to him Pashhur, the son of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the son of Maaseiah the priest, saying, "Pray, 2 inquire of the LORD on our behalf; for Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, has opened hostilities against us. Perhaps the LORD will deal with us in accordance with all his wonderful works, and will compel him to withdraw from us."

Then Jeremiah said to them, 3
"Thus shall you say to Zedekiah, 4
"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: "Behold, I will turn the edge of the weapons of war which are in your hands, with which you fight against the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans who are besieging you outside the wall;
and I will bring them into the midst of this city. And I myself will fight 5 against you with an outstretched hand and with a strong arm, in anger, in fury, and in great wrath. And I will 6 smite the inhabitants of this city, both man and beast, with a great pestilence, of which they shall die. And after- 7 wards," is the oracle of the LORD, "I will give Zedekiah, king of Judah, his servants, and the people that are left in this city from pestilence, sword, and famine, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, and into the hand of their enemies—into the hand of those who seek their lives—and they shall put them to the sword, and shall have neither mercy nor pity nor compassion upon them."

"And to this people say, "Thus says 8
the LORD: "Behold, I set before you the way of life and the way of death.
He who stays in this city shall die by 9 sword, famine, and pestilence; but he who goes out and surrenders to the Chaldeans who are besieging you shall escape, and shall have his life as a prize of war. For I have set my face against 10 this city for evil and not for good," is the oracle of the LORD; "it shall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, who shall burn it."

- 11 "And to the household of the king of Judah say, 'Hear the word of the 12 LORD, O House of David! Thus says the LORD:
 "Morning by morning give righteous judgment,
 And deliver the despoiled from the hand of the oppressor;
 Lest my fury go forth like fire,
 And burn with none to quench it,
 Because of your evil doings.'"

THE PENALTY OF FALSE PRIDE, 21:13-14

- 13 "Behold, I am against you, O dweller in the valley,
 On the rock of the plain," is the oracle of the LORD;
 "You who say, 'Who shall come down against us?
 Who shall enter our haunts?'"
 14 I will punish you according to the fruit of your doings,"
 Is the oracle of the LORD;
 "I will kindle a fire in her forest,
 Which shall devour all that is round about her."

PROPHECIES AGAINST THE KINGS OF JUDAH,

22:1-30

- 22 Thus says the LORD:
 "Go down to the house of the king of Judah, and there speak this word!
 Say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, O king of Judah, who sit on the throne of David—you, your servants, and your 3 people, who enter by these gates! Thus says the LORD: "Do justice and righteousness; deliver the despoiled from the hand of the oppressor; commit no wrong or violence against the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow; and do not shed innocent blood in this 4 place. For if you but do these things, then shall there enter by the gates of this house kings sitting on the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses—they, their servants, and their
 5 people. But if you do not listen to these words, I swear by myself," is the oracle of the LORD, "that this house
 6 shall become a desolation." For thus says the LORD concerning the house of the king of Judah:
 "Though you are as Gilead to me, as the crest of Lebanon,

Yet will I make you a desert,
 an uninhabited city.
 I will bring destroyers against you,
 each with his weapons;
 They shall cut down your choicest cedars,
 and shall cast them into the fire.

"And when people from many nations pass by this city, and ask one another, 'Why has the LORD done such a thing to this great city?' they shall receive this answer, 'Because they forsok the covenant of the LORD their God, and worshiped other gods, and served them.'"

"Weep not for him that is dead,
 Nor bemoan him;
 But weep bitterly for him that goes away,
 For he shall return no more,
 Nor see his native land!"

For thus says the LORD concerning Shallum, the son of Josiah, king of Judah, who reigned instead of Josiah his father, and went away from this place:

"He shall return no more to it, but shall die in the place to which they carried him captive, and he shall see this land no more!"

"Woe to him that builds his house by unrighteousness,
 His upper chambers by injustice;
 That makes his neighbor serve him without pay,
 And gives him not his wages;
 That says, 'I will build myself a roomy house,
 With spacious chambers,'
 And cuts out windows for it,
 Panels it with cedar, and paints it with vermilion!
 Would you play the king by vying with others in cedar?
 Did not your father, as he ate and drank,
 Do justice and righteousness?
 Then all went well with him.
 He defended the cause of the poor and needy;
 Then all went well.
 Is not that how to know me?"
 Is the oracle of the LORD.
 "But your eyes and your thoughts
 Are set on nought but your ill-gotten gain,
 On the shedding of innocent blood,

- And the practice of outrage and violence."
- 8 Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, king of Judah:
"None shall lament for him,
'Ah my brother!' or 'Ah his brotherliness!'
None shall lament for him,
'Ah lord!' or 'Ah his highness!'"
- 9 With the burial of an ass shall he be buried, Dragged and flung out beyond the gates of Jerusalem."
- 0 "Go up Lebanon and cry,
In Bashan lift up your voice;
Cry from Abarim
That all your friends are exiled.
- 1 I spoke to you in your time of prosperity,
But you said, 'I will not listen!'
Such has been your way from your youth,
That you listened not to my voice.
- 2 All your neighbors shall be driven like sheep before the wind,
And your friends shall go into exile;
Then shall you be ashamed and confounded
Because of all your wickedness.
- 3 You who dwell in Lebanon, nestled among the cedars,
How you shall groan when pangs come upon you,
Pain as of a woman in travail!"
- 4 "As I live," is the oracle of the LORD, "though Coniah, the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, be the signet ring on my right hand, I will pluck you off, and give you into the hand of those who seek your life—those of whom you stand in dread—into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, and the hand of the Chaldeans. And I will hurl you, together with the mother who bore you, into another land, where you were not born; and there shall you die. And to the land to which you long to return, you shall not return."
- 26 Is this man Coniah a contemptible, common utensil?
Is he an article that no one cares for?
Why, then, have he and his race been hurled and cast off
To a land that they know not?
- 29 O land, land, land,

- Hear the word of the LORD!
Thus says the LORD: 30
"Write this man down as childless,
As a man who has no success with his sons;
For none of his race shall succeed
In sitting on the throne of David,
And ruling any more in Judah."

THE COMING OF THE TRUE KING, 23:1-8

- "Woe to the shepherds who ruin and scatter
The sheep of my pasture!" is the oracle of the LORD.
- Therefore thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the shepherds that tend my people: 2
"You have scattered my flock, you have driven them away, and have not taken care of them. Behold, I am taking care of you, to punish you for the evil you have done," is the oracle of the LORD. "Then will I gather the remnant of my flock from all the lands to which I have driven them, and I will bring them back to their fold, where they shall be fruitful and multiply. And I will raise up shepherds over them, who shall tend them; and they shall no more be afraid, nor dismayed, nor troubled," is the oracle of the LORD.
- "Behold, days are coming," is the oracle of the LORD, 5
"When I will raise up for David a righteous shoot;
And he shall reign as king with success,
Doing justice and righteousness in the land.
In his days shall Judah be saved, 6
And Israel shall live in security;
And this is the name they shall give him:
'The LORD is our vindicator.'
- "Therefore behold, days are coming," is the oracle of the LORD, "when men shall no longer say, 'As the LORD lives, who brought up the children of Israel from the land of Egypt,' but 'As the LORD lives, who brought up and led the descendants of the house of Israel from the north land and from all the other lands to which he had driven them, and settled them on their own land.' "

JUDGMENT ON THE PROPHETS OF JUDAH, 23:9-40

- 9 Concerning the prophets:
 "My heart is broken within me,
 All my bones are unstrung;
 I am like a drunken man,
 Like a man overcome by wine;
 In the presence of the LORD,
 And before his glorious majesty.
- 10 For the land is full of adulterers,
 Because of whom the land mourns,
 And the pastures of the steppe are parched;
 Their course is evil,
 And their might is not right.
- 11 Both prophet and priest are ungodly;
 Even in my house have I met with their villainy,"
 Is the oracle of the LORD.
- 12 "Therefore their way shall be to them
 Like slippery ground in the dark,
 Along which they shall be thrust till they fall.
 For I will bring trouble upon them,
 Their year of reckoning," is the oracle of the LORD.
- 13 "In the prophets of Samaria I saw an offensive thing:
 They prophesied by the Baal, and misled my people Israel.
- 14 But in the prophets of Jerusalem have I seen a horrible thing:
 They commit adultery, and walk in lies;
 They strengthen the hands of evil-doers,
 So that no one turns from his evil ways;
 To me they have all become like Sodom,
 The citizens of Jerusalem like Gomorrah."
- 15 Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the prophets:
 "Behold, I will feed them with worm-wood,
 And will give them poisoned water to drink;
 For from the prophets of Jerusalem
 Has ungodliness spread through all the land."
- 16 Thus says the LORD of hosts:
 "Listen not to the words of the prophets
 Who prophesy to you!
 They fill you with vain hopes;
 They speak a vision from their own minds,

Not from the mouth of the LORD,
 Saying continually to those who de-<sup>17</sup>
 spise the word of the LORD,
 'All shall be well with you,' While to everyone who follows the stubborn promptings of his own mind they say,
 'No harm shall come upon you.'
 For which of them has stood in the<sup>18</sup> council of the LORD,
 To see and hear his word?
 Which of them has heeded and heard his word?
 [See! the storm of the LORD has gone<sup>19</sup>
 out in fury,
 A sweeping storm, that will whirl on the head of the wicked.
 The anger of the LORD will not turn<sup>20</sup>
 back,
 Until he has fully accomplished the designs of his mind;
 In the end of the days you will understand it perfectly.]<sup>1</sup>
 I sent not the prophets, yet they ran;<sup>21</sup>
 I spoke not to them, yet they prophesied.
 But if only they had stood in my<sup>22</sup> council,
 And had listened to my words,
 They would have turned my people from their evil course,
 And from their evil doings.

"Am I a God near at hand," is the ora-<sup>23</sup>
 cle of the LORD,
 "And not a God far off?
 Can any man hide in secret places,<sup>24</sup>
 So that I cannot see him?" is the oracle of the LORD.
 "Do not I fill the heavens and the
 earth?"
 Is the oracle of the LORD.
 "I have heard what the prophets say,<sup>25</sup>
 Who prophesy lies in my name, say-
 ing,
 'I have dreamed, I have dreamed, I have dreamed!'
 Will the mind of the prophets ever<sup>26</sup> turn,
 Who prophesy lies, who prophesy the delusion of their own minds, Thinking to make my people forget<sup>27</sup>
 my name—
 Through their dreams which they tell one another—
 As their fathers forgot my name for the Baal?

28 The prophet who has a dream,
Let him tell his dream!
And he who has my word,
Let him speak my word in sincerity!
What has the straw to do with the wheat?"

Is the oracle of the LORD.

29 "Is not my word like fire,"
Is the oracle of the LORD;
"Or like a hammer that breaks the rock
in pieces?"

30 "Therefore behold, I am against the prophets," is the oracle of the LORD,
"who steal my words from one another." 31 Behold, I am against the prophets," is the oracle of the LORD, "who use their 32 own tongues, and utter an oracle. Behold, I am against the prophets who deal in lying dreams," is the oracle of the LORD, "and tell them, and mislead my people by their lies and their bombast—when I neither sent them nor commissioned them—and are of no use at all to this people," is the oracle of the LORD.

33 "And if anyone of this people, layman, or prophet, or priest, ask you,
'What is the burden of the LORD?' you shall say to them, 'You are the burden, and I will cast you off, is the oracle of 34 the LORD.' And if anyone, prophet, or priest, or layman mention 'The burden of the LORD,' I will punish that man 35 and his household. Thus shall you ask, each of his neighbor, and each of his brother, 'What has the LORD answered?' or 'What has the LORD 36 spoken?' But 'The burden of the LORD' you shall mention no more; for every man takes his own word as the burden, and thus you distort the words of the living God, the LORD of hosts, our 37 God! So you shall ask the prophet,
'What has the LORD answered?' or 38 'What has the LORD spoken?' But if you mention 'The burden of the LORD,' thus says the LORD, 'Because you have used this phrase, "The burden of the LORD," when I sent to you, saying,
"You shall not mention the burden of 39 the LORD," therefore behold, I will lift you up, and will hurl you out of my presence—you and the city that I gave 40 to you and your fathers—and I will lay upon you everlasting reproach and everlasting disgrace, that shall not be forgotten.'"

PARABLE OF THE FIGS,

24:1-10

After Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, had carried Jeconiah, the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, together with the princes of Judah, the artisans, and the smiths, into exile from Jerusalem, and brought them to Babylon, the LORD showed me two baskets of figs placed in front of the temple of the LORD. One basket had very good figs, 2 like first-ripe ones, while the other basket had very bad figs, so bad that they could not be eaten. Then the 3
LORD said to me,

"What do you see, Jeremiah?"

And I said,

"Figs—the good figs very good, and the bad ones very bad, so bad that they cannot be eaten."

Then the word of the LORD came to 4
me, saying,

"Thus says the LORD, the God of 5
Israel: Like these good figs, so will I regard with favor the exiles of Judah, whom I sent from this place to the land of the Chaldeans. I will look with 6 friendly eyes upon them, and will restore them to this land; I will build them, and not tear them down; I will plant them, and not pluck them up.
And I will give them a heart to know 7 me as the LORD; and they shall be my people, and I will be their God; for they shall turn to me with all their heart.
But like the bad figs, which are so bad 8 that they cannot be eaten," thus says the LORD, "will I treat Zedekiah, king of Judah, his princes, and the remnant of Jerusalem which remains in this land, together with those who live in 9 the land of Egypt. I will make them a horror and offense to all the kingdoms of the earth, a reproach and a byword, a taunt and a curse, in all the places to which I have driven them. And I will 10 send among them sword, famine, and pestilence, till they are wiped off the land which I gave to them and their fathers."

WARNING TO JUDAH,

25:1-14

The word which came to Jeremiah 25 concerning all the people of Judah in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, king of Judah—that was the first year of the reign of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon—which Jeremiah the prophet delivered to all the people of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem:

3 “For these twenty-three years, from the thirteenth year of Josiah, the son of Amon, king of Judah, even to this day, the word of the LORD has come to me, and I have delivered it to you early and
4 late, but you did not listen—as in days gone by the LORD sent all his servants the prophets to you early and late, but you neither listened nor inclined your
5 ears to listen—saying, ‘Turn, I pray you, each from his evil way and from his evil doings, that you may live in the land which the LORD gave to you and 6 your fathers forever and ever. And do not run after other gods, to serve them and worship them, nor vex me with the work of your hands, that I may do you
7 no harm.’ But you did not listen to me,” is the oracle of the LORD, “but deliberately vexed me with the work of 8 your hands, to your own harm. Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts: ‘Because you have not listened to my
9 words, behold, I am sending for a family from the north, and will bring them against this land and its inhabitants, and against all these nations round about; and I will utterly destroy them, and will make them a horror, a scorn,
10 and an everlasting reproach; and I will banish from them the sound of mirth and the sound of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the sound of the millstones and 11 the light of the lamp. And all this land
12 shall be a waste and a horror; and these nations shall serve the king of Babylon for seventy years. But when seventy years are completed, I will punish the king of Babylon and that nation for their guilt,’” is the oracle of the LORD, “and also the land of the Chaldeans, and I will make it an everlasting deso-
13 lation. And I will bring upon that land all my words which I have pronounced against it—all that is written in this book which Jeremiah prophesied against 14 all the nations. For they also shall serve mighty nations and great kings, and I will repay them according to their deeds and according to the work of their hands.”

THE CUP OF WRATH,

25:15-38

Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel, to me:

“Take from my hand this wine cup of wrath, and make all the nations to whom I am sending you drink it. And 16 when they drink it, let them reel, and behave like madmen, because of the sword which I am sending among them.”

So I took the cup from the LORD'S
17 hand, and made all the nations to whom the LORD had sent me drink it—Jerusalem and all the cities of Judah, 18 its kings and its princes, making them a desolation, a horror, a hissing, and a curse, as it is this day; Pharaoh, king of 19 Egypt, his servants, his princes, and all his people, together with all the foreign 20 population; all the kings of the land of Uz, and all the kings of the land of the Philistines, of Askalon, Gaza, Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod;
21 Edom, Moab, and the Ammonites; all the 22 kings of Tyre and all the kings of Sidon, and the kings of the coast-land which is beyond the sea; Dedan, Tema, Buz, 23 and all those who have the corners of their hair clipped; all the kings of Ara-
24 bia, and all the kings of the foreign population that live in the desert; all 25 the kings of Zimri, all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes; all the kings of the north, far and near,
26 one with another; and all the kingdoms that are on the face of the earth.

Then the LORD said to me:

“The king of Sheshach shall drink after them. And you shall say to them, 27 ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Drink yourselves drunk, till you vomit, and fall to rise no more, because of the sword which I am sending among you.’ And if they refuse to take 28 the cup from your hand to drink, you shall say to them, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts: Drink you shall! For 29 if I begin my work of destruction with the city which bears my name, how can you go unpunished? You shall not go unpunished; for I am summoning a sword upon all the inhabitants of the earth,’ is the oracle of the LORD of hosts.

“As for you, prophesy all these words
30 to them, and say to them:

‘The LORD shall roar from on high,

- From his holy abode shall he lift up his voice;
With a mighty voice shall he roar against his fold,
He shall raise a huzzah, like those who tread the grapes, Against all the inhabitants of the
earth.
- 31 The noise shall reach to the ends of
the earth,
For the LORD has a case against the
nations,
He has brought an indictment against all flesh;
And the wicked shall be put to the
sword,
Is the oracle of the LORD."
- 32 Thus says the LORD of hosts:
"Behold, trouble is spreading from nation to nation,
A mighty tempest is stirring from the ends of the earth.
- 33 "And those who are slain by the LORD on that day shall extend from one end of the earth to the other; they shall not be mourned, nor gathered up, nor buried, but shall lie like dung upon
the face of the ground.
- 34 "Wail, you shepherds, and cry, Wallow in ashes, you lords of the flock!
For your time for slaughter is ripe,
And you shall fall down slain like choice lambs.
- 35 There shall be no means of flight for the shepherds,
No escape for the lords of the flock.
- 36 Hark! the cry of the shepherds,
The wail of the lords of the flock!
For the LORD is despoiling their pasture,
- 37 And the peaceful folds are destroyed,
Because of the fierce anger of the
LORD.
- 38 The lions have left their covert,
For their land has become a waste,
Because of the sword of the LORD,
And because of his fierce anger."

THE TEMPLE ADDRESS, AND ITS CONSEQUENCES,

26:1-24

- 1 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, king of Judah, came this word from the LORD:
2 "Thus says the LORD: Stand in the court of the house of the LORD, and 3 speak to all the people of Judah who come to worship in the house of the LORD all the words that I command you to speak to them; keep not back one word! Perhaps they may listen, 3 and turn each from his evil way, so that I may repent of the evil which I am planning to bring upon them because of their evil doings. Say to them, 'Thus 4 says the LORD: If you do not listen to me, by following my law which I have set before you, and listening to the 5 words of my servants the prophets whom I have been sending to you early and late, but to whom you have not listened, I will make this house like 6 Shiloh, and will make this city a curse to all the nations of the earth.' "

7 Now the priests and the prophets, together with all the people, heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the house of the LORD. So when Jeremiah had 8 finished speaking all that the LORD had commanded him to speak to all the people, the priests and the prophets laid hold of him, saying,

9 "You shall die! How dare you prophesy in the name of the LORD, saying, 'This house shall become like Shiloh, and this city shall become an uninhabited waste?'"

Thereupon all the people crowded round Jeremiah in the house of the LORD.

10 When the princes of Judah heard the news, they came up from the palace to the house of the LORD, and took their seats at the entrance to the new gate of the house of the LORD. Then the 11 priests and the prophets addressed the princes and all the people, saying,

"This man deserves to die; for he has prophesied against this city in the terms which you have heard."

12 Then Jeremiah addressed the princes and all the people, saying,

"The LORD sent me to prophesy against this house and this city all the words which you have heard. But now, 13 if you amend your ways and your doings, and listen to the voice of the LORD your God, the LORD will repent of the evil which he has pronounced against you. As for myself, see! I am 14 in your hands. Do to me as you think right and proper. Only be well assured 15 of this, that, if you put me to death, you will be bringing innocent blood upon yourselves, upon this city, and upon its people; for the LORD has truly sent me to you, to speak all these words in your hearing."

- 16 Then the princes and all the people said to the priests and the prophets,

"This man does not deserve to die; for he has spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God."

- 17 Then certain of the elders of the land rose and addressed the whole assembly of the people, saying,

- 18 "Micah of Moresheth prophesied in the days of Hezekiah, king of Judah; and he said to all the people of Judah, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Zion shall be plowed like a field, And Jerusalem shall become a ruin, And the temple hill a high place in a forest.'"

- 19 "Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all the people of Judah go the length of putting him to death? Did they not rather reverence the LORD, and entreat the favor of the LORD, so that the LORD repented of the evil which he had pronounced against them? We, on the contrary, are in the act of bringing great evil upon ourselves."

- 20 Now there was another man prophesying in the name of the LORD, Uriah, the son of Shemaiah, from Kirjath-jearim, who prophesied against this city and this land just as Jeremiah had

- 21 done. And when King Jehoiakim, with all his guardsmen and princes, heard what he had said, the king sought to put him to death. When Uriah heard of it, he took flight, and fled to Egypt.

- 22 But King Jehoiakim dispatched men to Egypt, Elnathan, the son of Achbor,

- 23 and some other men with him, who brought Uriah from Egypt, and led him to King Jehoiakim, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead body

- 24 into the public burying-ground. But Jeremiah had the support of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, who saved him from being handed over to the people for execution.

THE YOKE OF THE KING OF BABYLON, 27:1-22

- 27 In the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah, the son of Josiah, king of Judah, came this word to Jeremiah from the LORD.

- 2 Thus said the LORD to me:
"Make yourself a yoke of thongs and bars, and put it on your neck. Then send to the king of Edom, the king of Moab, the king of the Ammonites, the king of Tyre, and the king of Sidon, through their ambassadors who have come to Jerusalem on a mission to Zedekiah, king of Judah, charging them with this message to their masters, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Say to your masters, "I made the earth, with the men and beasts that are upon the face of the earth, by my great power and by my outstretched arm; and I give it to whom I please. Now I have given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, my servant, and I have likewise given him the beasts of the field to serve him. And all the nations shall serve him, his son, and his grandson, until the time of his own land shall come, when he shall serve mighty nations and great kings. And if any nation or kingdom will not serve Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and will not put its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, I will punish that nation by sword, famine, and pestilence," is the oracle of the LORD, "until I have given it into his hand. Do not listen, then, to your prophets and diviners, your dreamers, soothsayers, and sorcerers, who keep on saying to you, 'You shall not serve the king of Babylon!' For it is a lie which they are prophesying to you, with the result that you shall be removed far from your land, and I shall have to drive you away to perish. But if any nation will bring its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and will serve him, I will leave it on its own land," is the oracle of the LORD; "and it shall till the land, and live in it.'"

To Zedekiah, king of Judah, I also spoke in the very same terms, saying,

"Bring your neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him and his people that you may live! Why should you and your people die by sword, famine, and pestilence, as the LORD has warned the nation that will not serve the king of Babylon? Do not listen to the words of the prophets who say to you, 'You shall not serve the king of Babylon!' For it is a lie which they are prophesying to you. I did not send them," is the oracle of the LORD, "but they prophesy falsely in my name, so that I shall have to drive you away to perish, you and the prophets who are prophesying to you."

16 And to the priests and to all this people I spoke, saying,

"Thus says the LORD: Do not listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you, saying, 'Lo! the vessels of the LORD'S house are very soon to be brought back from Babylon'; for it is a lie which they are prophesying to 17 you. Do not listen to them, but serve the king of Babylon, that you may live. Why should this city become a desolation?

18 If they be prophets, and if the word of the LORD be with them, let them entreat the LORD of hosts to prevent the vessels that are left in the house of the LORD, and in the house of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem,

19 from going to Babylon. For thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the pillars, the sea, the stands, and the rest of the vessels that are left in this city—

20 those which Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, did not take away when he carried Jeconiah, the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem, into exile from 21 Jerusalem to Babylon—thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that are left in the house of the LORD, and in the house of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem:

22 'To Babylon shall they be brought, and there shall they remain, until the day that I take cognizance of them,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'when I will bring them up and restore them to this place.'"

JEREMIAH AND HANANIAH,

18 Now that same year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah, king of Judah—in the fourth year, the fifth month—Hananiah, the son of Azzur, the prophet, who belonged to Gibeon, spoke to me in the house of the LORD, in the presence of the priests and all the people, saying,

2 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon. Within three years will I bring back to this place all the vessels of the house of the LORD which Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, took away from this place and carried to Babylon. I will also bring back 4 to this place Jeconiah, the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, with all the exiles of Judah who went to Babylon,' is the oracle of the LORD; 'for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.'"

Then Jeremiah the prophet answered Hananiah the prophet, in the presence of the priests and all the people who stood in the house of the LORD, saying,

5 "Amen! The LORD do so! The LORD fulfil the words which you have prophesied, by bringing back the vessels of the LORD'S house, together with all the exiles, from Babylon to this place! Listen, however, to this word 7 which I speak in your hearing, and in the hearing of all the people! The prophets who preceded you and me, from the very earliest times, when they prophesied against mighty lands and great kingdoms, prophesied of war, famine, and pestilence. So when a 9 prophet prophesies of peace, that prophet can be proved to be one whom the LORD has truly sent only when the word of the prophet is fulfilled."

Then Hananiah the prophet took the 10 yoke from the neck of Jeremiah the prophet, and broke it. And Hananiah 11 said in the presence of all the people,

"Thus says the LORD: 'So will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, from the neck of all the nations within two years.'"

Then Jeremiah the prophet went on his way.

But after Hananiah the prophet had 12 broken the yoke from the neck of Jeremiah the prophet, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,

"Go and say to Hananiah, "Thus 13 says the LORD: You have broken the bars of wood, but I will replace them by bars of iron. For thus says the LORD 14 of hosts, the God of Israel: I will put a yoke of iron upon the neck of all these nations, that they may serve Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon—and serve him they shall—and I will give him also the beasts of the field.'"

Then Jeremiah the prophet said to 15 Hananiah the prophet,

"Hear now, Hananiah! The LORD has not sent you, but you are making this people put their trust in a lie. Therefore thus says the LORD: 'Be- 16 hold, I am sending you off the face of the ground. This very year shall you die; for you have spoken disloyalty against the LORD.' "

- 17 So Hananiah the prophet died that very year, in the seventh month.

THE LETTER TO THE EXILES, 29:1-23

- 29 These are the words of the letter which Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem to the elders among the exiles, and to the priests, the prophets, and all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon—after King Jeconiah, with the queen-mother, the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, the artisans, and the smiths, had left Jerusalem—by the hand of Elasah, the son of Shaphan, and Gemariah, the son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah, king of Judah, sent to Babylon on a mission to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon:
- 4 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, to all the exiles whom I carried into exile from Jerusalem to 5 Babylon: 'Build houses, and live in them; plant vineyards, and eat the 6 fruit of them; take wives, and beget sons and daughters; take wives also for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters; so let your numbers increase, and not diminish. And seek the welfare of the land to which I have carried you into exile, and pray to the LORD on its behalf; for in its welfare 8 shall you find your welfare.' For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Do not be deluded by the prophets and diviners who are in the midst of you, nor listen to the dreams which 9 they dream; for they are prophesying falsely to you in my name—I did not send them,' is the oracle of the LORD.
- 10 For thus says the LORD: 'As soon as Babylon has finished seventy years, I will take cognizance of you, and will fulfil my gracious promise to you, by 11 restoring you to this place. For I know the thoughts that I cherish toward you,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'thoughts of good and not of evil, to 12 give you a future and a hope. Then you shall call me, and I will answer you; you shall pray to me, and I will listen to 13 you; you shall seek me, and you shall find me; for when you seek me with all your heart, I will let myself be found by 14 you,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'and I will restore your fortune, and will gather you from all the nations and places to which I have driven you away,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'and I will bring you back to the place from which I carried you into exile.'

["For thus says the LORD concerning 16 the king who sits on the throne of David, and concerning all the people who live in this city—your brothers who have not gone out with you to exile—thus says the LORD of hosts: 'Behold, I 17 am sending among them sword, famine, and pestilence, and I will make them like the bad figs which were so bad that they could not be eaten; I will pursue 18 them with sword, famine, and pestilence, and I will make them a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth—a curse and a consternation, a scorn and a derision, among all the nations to which I have driven them—because they did 19 not listen to my words,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'with which I sent my servants the prophets early and late to them, but they did not listen,' is the oracle of the LORD. 'Therefore hear the 20 word of the LORD, all you exiles whom I sent from Jerusalem to Babylon:]

"Because you say, 'The LORD has 15 raised us up prophets in Babylon,' thus 21 says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning Ahab, the son of Kolaiah, and Zedekiah, the son of Maaseiah, who prophesy falsely to you in my name: 'Behold, I am handing them over to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, who shall slay them before your eyes; and from their fate shall all 22 the exiles of Judah in Babylon take a curse—"May the LORD make you like Zedekiah and Ahab, whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire!"—because 23 they have done godless deeds in Israel, have committed adultery with their neighbors' wives, and have spoken in my name lying words which I did not command them—I know it, and I bear witness to it,' is the oracle of the LORD."

THE MESSAGE TO SHEMAIAH, 29:24-32

To Shemaiah of Nehelam you shall 24 speak, saying,
"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the 25

God of Israel: 'Because you have sent a letter in your own name to Zephaniah, the son of Maaseiah, the priest, 26 saying, "The LORD has made you priest instead of Jehoiada the priest, to exercise oversight in the house of the LORD over every madman who plays the prophet, and to put such a person 27 into the stocks and the collar. Now, then, why have you not put a check on Jeremiah of Anathoth, who has been 28 playing the prophet among you? For he has actually sent a message to us in Babylon, saying, 'Your exile shall be prolonged; therefore build houses, and live in them; plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them.' " " "

29 When Zephaniah the priest had read this letter in the hearing of Jeremiah 30 the prophet, the word of the LORD 31 came to Jeremiah, saying, "Send a message to all the exiles, saying, 'Thus says the LORD concerning Shemaiah of Nehelam: Because Shemaiah has prophesied to you, when I did not send him, and has made you put your trust 32 in a lie, therefore thus says the LORD: Behold, I will punish Shemaiah of Nehelam and his family; not one man shall he have living in the midst of this people to see the good fortune which I am bringing to my people,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'for he has spoken disloyalty against the LORD.' "

THE HEALING OF THE WOUND, 30:1-22

30 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, as follows:
2 "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Write in a book all the words 3 that I have spoken to you. For behold, days are coming,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'when I will restore the fortune of my people Israel and Judah,' says the LORD, 'and will bring them back to possess the land which I gave to their fathers.' "

4 Now these are the words that the LORD spoke concerning Israel and Judah.
5 "Thus says the LORD:
'I hear a sound of terror,
of dread and disaster.
6 Ask, now, and see if a male may bear a child!
Why, then, do I see every man with his hand on his loins,

like a woman in travail,
and every face turned to a pallor?
Alas! for that day is great, 7
none is like it;
It is a time of distress for Jacob,
yet out of it shall he be saved.
On that day,' is the oracle of the 8
LORD of hosts,
'I will break the yoke from their neck,
and will burst their bonds;
And they shall serve aliens no more,
but shall serve the LORD their 9
God,
And David their king,
whom I will raise up for them.
So fear not, O Jacob my servant,' 10
is the oracle of the LORD,
'nor be dismayed, O Israel!
For behold, I will save you from afar,
and your race from the land of their exile.
Then shall Jacob have once more
quiet and ease,
with none to make him afraid.
For I am with you to save you,' 11
is the oracle of the LORD;
'And I will make a full end of all the nations
among whom I scattered you;
But of you will I not make a full end; I will correct you in just measure, without leaving you wholly unpunished.'

"For thus says the LORD: 12
'Your wound is incurable, your affliction sore;
There is no medicine for your wound, 13
no healing plaster.
All your friends have forgotten you, 14
they care no more for you;
For I have dealt you the blow of an enemy,
the chastisement of a ruthless
foe;
Because your guilt is great,
your sins are flagrant.
Why do you cry out over your wound, 15
that your hurt is incurable?
It is because your guilt is great, your sins are flagrant,
that I have done these things
to you.
Therefore all who devour you shall be 16
devoured,
And all your enemies shall go into exile;
Those who despoil you shall become a
spoil,

- And all who prey on you will I give as a prey.
- 17 For I will bring recovery to you,
And will heal you of your wounds,' is the oracle of the LORD;
'Because they have called you "Outcasts," O Zion, for whom none cares.' "
- 18 "Thus says the LORD:
'Behold, I am restoring the tents of Jacob,
And I will have pity upon his homes;
The city shall be built over its own mound,
And the palace shall stand upon its rightful site.
- 19 Out of them shall go songs of thanksgiving,
And the voices of those who make merry.
I will multiply them, and they shall not diminish;
I will increase them, and they shall not dwindle away.
- 20 Their children shall be as in days of old,
And their congregation shall be established before me,
While I will punish all those who oppress them.
- 21 Their prince shall be one of themselves,
Their ruler shall come from the midst of them;
And I will allow him to draw near and approach me,
For who else would dare to approach me?'
- Is the oracle of the LORD.
- 22 'And you shall be my people,
And I will be your God.' "

THE STORM OF VENGEANCE,
30:23-24

- 23 See! the storm of the LORD has gone out in fury,
A sweeping storm, that will whirl on the head of the wicked.
- 24 The fierce anger of the LORD will not turn back,
Until he has fully accomplished the designs of his mind;
In the end of the days you will understand it.

THE RESTORATION OF ISRAEL
AND JUDAH, 31:1-26

- 31 "At that time," is the oracle of the LORD, "I will be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people."

Thus says the LORD:
"The people that escapes from the sword
Shall find grace in the wilderness;
When Israel goes to seek rest,
The LORD from afar shall appear to him.
With an everlasting love have I loved you,
Therefore with kindness will I draw you to me.
Once more will I build you, and you shall be built,
O virgin of Israel!
Once more shall you take your timbrels,
And go out in the dances of those who make merry.
Once more shall you plant your vineyards
On the hills of Samaria;
The planters shall plant, and shall raise their praises;
For a day shall come when the vintagers shall call On the hills of Ephraim:
'Arise, and let us go up to Zion,
To the LORD our God!'"

For thus says the LORD:
"Raise a peal of gladness for Jacob,
And shout on the top of the mountains;
Publish, praise, and say,
'The LORD has saved his people,
The remnant of Israel.'
Behold, I am bringing them out of the north land,
And will gather them from the uttermost parts of the earth,
Among them the blind and the lame,
The woman with child, and her that is about to give birth—
A great company shall they return hither.
With weeping they went away, but with consolation will I bring them back;
I will lead them to streams of water,
By a level way on which they shall not stumble;
For I have become a father to Israel,
And Ephraim is my first-born.

"Hear the word of the LORD, O you nations,

- And announce it in distant coast-lands;
Say, 'He who scattered Israel shall gather him,
And shall keep him as a shepherd keeps his flock.'
- 11 For the LORD has ransomed Jacob,
He has redeemed him from the hand of those that were stronger than he.
- 12 They shall come and be jubilant on the height of Zion,
They shall be radiant at the goodness of the LORD—
At the grain, the wine, and the oil,
At the young of the flock and the herd.
They shall be like a well-watered garden,
And they shall languish no more.
- 13 Then shall the maiden rejoice in the dance,
And the young men and the old shall make merry;
For I will turn their mourning to joy,
I will comfort them, and will give them gladness instead of grief.
- 14 I will satisfy the priests with fat things,
And my people shall have their fill of my goodness,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.
- 15 Thus says the LORD:
"Hark! in Ramah is heard lamentation, bitter weeping!
It is Rachel weeping for her children,
Refusing to be comforted for her children, because they are not."
- 16 Thus says the LORD:
"Restrain your voice from weeping,
And your eyes from tears!
For your labor shall have its reward,"
Is the oracle of the LORD;
"And they shall return from the land of the enemy,
- 17 There is hope for your future,"
Is the oracle of the LORD;
"And your children shall return to their own domain.
- 18 "Truly have I heard Ephraim bemoaning:
"Thou hast chastened me, and I let myself be chastened,
Like an untrained calf;
O restore me, that I may be restored!
For thou art the LORD my God.
- 19 Since I was exiled, I have repented,

And since I was disciplined, I have smitten upon my thigh;
I am ashamed and confounded,
For I bear the disgrace of my youth.'

'Is Ephraim my precious son? 20
Is he my darling child?
For as often as I speak of him,
I cherish his memory still.
Therefore my heart yearns for him,
I must have pity upon him,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.

"Set up waymarks for yourself, 21
Make yourself guideposts;
Pay heed to the highway,
The way by which you went.
Return, O virgin of Israel,
Return to these your cities!
How long will you hesitate, 22
O backturning daughter?
For the LORD has created a new thing
on the earth—
The woman woos the man!"

Thus says the LORD of hosts, the 23
God of Israel:

"Once more shall they use this speech,
In the land and the cities of Judah,
When I have restored their fortune:
'The LORD bless you, O home of
righteousness,
O holy mountain!
Yea, the people of Judah shall dwell 24
there,
And all her cities as well—
The plowmen, and those who wander with flocks.
For I shall have satisfied the weary 25
spirit,
And every drooping spirit I shall have filled."

Thereupon I awoke, and looked up; 26 and my dream was pleasant to me.

THE NEW COVENANT, 31:27-34

"Behold, days are coming," is the 27 oracle of the LORD, "when I will sow the house of Israel and the house of Judah with the seed of men and with the seed of cattle; and as once I watched 28 over them to root up and to pull down, to wreck, to ruin, and to harm, so will I watch over them to build and to plant," is the oracle of the LORD. "In 29
those days shall they say no more,
'The fathers have eaten sour grapes,
And the children's teeth are set on edge';

- 30 but everyone shall die for his own guilt—everyone who eats the sour grapes shall have his own teeth set on edge.
- 31 "Behold, days are coming," is the oracle of the LORD, "when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel
- 32 and with the house of Judah, not like the covenant which I made with their fathers on the day that I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt—that covenant of mine which they broke, so that I had to reject
- 33 them—but this is the covenant which I will make with the house of Israel after those days," is the oracle of the LORD: "I will put my law within them, and will write it on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be my
- 34 people. And they shall teach no more every one his neighbor, and every one his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD'; for all of them shall know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them," is the oracle of the LORD; "for I will pardon their guilt, and their sin will I remember no more."

THE CERTAINTY OF ISRAEL'S REDEMPTION, 31:35-37

- 35 Thus says the LORD,
Who gives the sun for a light by day,
And the fixed orbs of moon and stars
for a light by night,
Who stirs up the sea till its waters roar—
The LORD of hosts is his name:
36 "If these fixed orbs depart from my sight,"
Is the oracle of the LORD,
"Then shall the race of Israel cease from being a nation
Before me forever."
- 37 Thus says the LORD:
"If the heavens above can be measured,
Or the foundations of the earth below
can be fathomed,
Then will I too cast off all the race of Israel
For all that they have done," is the
oracle of the LORD.

THE REBUILDING OF JERUSALEM, 31:38-40

- 38 "Behold, days are coming," is the oracle of the LORD, "when the city shall be rebuilt for the LORD from the tower of Hananel to the corner-gate. And the line shall go straight on from 31. there to the hill Gareb, and snail then turn round to Goah. And all the valley 46. of Hinnom, with its dead bodies and ashes, and all the fields extending to the valley of Kidron, as far as the corner of the horse-gate on the east, shall be sacred to the LORD; it shall not be pulled up nor torn down any more forever."

JEREMIAH'S PURCHASE OF THE FAMILY INHERITANCE,

32:1-44

The word that came to Jeremiah from 38 the LORD in the tenth year of Zedekiah, king of Judah—which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar—at the time when the king of Babylon's 44. army was besieging Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was shut up in the guard-court of the palace of the king of Judah, because Zedekiah, king 41. of Judah, had shut him up, saying, "Why have you prophesied, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: Behold, I am giving this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall take it; and Zedekiah, king of Judah, shall not 41. escape from the hand of the Chaldeans, but shall most certainly be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and shall speak with him face to face, and shall see him eye to eye; and to Babylon 41. shall Zedekiah be led, and there shall he remain until I visit him,' is the oracle of the LORD; 'though you fight against the Chaldeans, you shall have no success.' "

Jeremiah said,

"The word of the LORD came to me, saying, 'Behold, Hanamel, the son of 41. your uncle Shallum, is coming to you, to say, 'Buy my field which is at Anathoth; for on you devolves the right of redemption through purchase.' " According 41. to the word of the LORD, then, Hanamel, my uncle's son, came to me in the guard-court, and said to me, 'Pray, buy my field which is at Anathoth, in the land of Benjamin; for yours is the right of possession, since on you devolves the right of redemption; buy it for yourself.' So I recognized that this was the word of the LORD, and I 41. bought the field which was at Anathoth.

from Hanamel, my uncle's son, and weighed him out the money—seventeen 10 shekels of silver. I signed the deed, and sealed it, got witnesses, and weighed 11 the money with the scales. Then I took the sealed deed of purchase, containing the terms and conditions, together with 12 an open copy of it, and handed them over to Baruch, the son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, in the presence of Hanamel, my uncle's son, and of the witnesses who had signed the deed of purchase, and of all the Jews who were seated 13 in the guard-court. Then I charged Baruch in their presence, saying, "Thus 14 says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Take these deeds—this deed of purchase which is sealed, and this copy of it which is open—and place them in an earthenware jar, so that they may last for a long time to come."
 15 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Houses and fields and vineyards shall once more be bought in this land." "
 16 Now after I had handed over the deed of purchase to Baruch, the son of Neriah, I prayed to the LORD, saying,
 17 "Ah Lord GOD! Thou hast made the heavens and the earth by thy great power and by thine outstretched arm; nothing is too hard for thee. Thou 18 showest kindness to thousands, and repayest the guilt of fathers upon the bosom of their children after them. Thou art the great and mighty God, whose name is the LORD of hosts—
 19 great in counsel and mighty in deed, whose eyes are open to all the ways of the children of men, rewarding each according to his ways and according to 20 the fruit of his doings. Thou didst perform signs and wonders in the land of Egypt both toward Israel and toward other men, which are remembered to this day, and so thou didst win for thyself the renown which thou hast this 21 day. Thou didst bring thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs and wonders, with a strong hand and an outstretched arm, and with great terror; and thou gavest them this land 22 which thou didst swear to their fathers to give them—a land flowing with milk and honey. But when they had entered into possession of it, they neither listened to thy voice, nor followed thine instruction; they did nothing that thou didst command them to do, and so thou hast brought all this trouble upon them. Lo! the siege-mounds for storming the 24 city have reached it; and through stress of sword, famine, and pestilence the city is as good as given into the hand of the Chaldeans who are fighting against it. What thou didst threaten has come, as thou seest. Yet thou, O Lord GOD, 25 hast said to me: "Buy the field for money, and get witnesses," when the city is as good as given into the hand of the Chaldeans!"

Then the word of the LORD came to 26 Jeremiah, saying,

"Since I am the LORD, the God of all 27 flesh, is anything too hard for me? Therefore thus says the LORD: "Behold, I am giving this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon; and he shall take it. And the Chaldeans who 29 are fighting against this city shall come and set this city on fire, and they shall burn it, with the houses on whose roofs men have offered sacrifices to the Baal and poured libations to other gods, so as to vex me. For the children of Israel
 30 and the children of Judah, from their youth up, have been doing nothing but what was evil in my sight—they have been doing nothing but vexing me with the work of their hands," is the oracle of the LORD. "For this city, from the day
 31 that they built it, even to this day, has roused my anger and my fury to the point of removing it from my presence, because of all the evil which the children
 32 of Israel and the children of Judah have done to vex me—they, their kings and their princes, their priests and their prophets, the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. They have 33 turned to me their back, and not their face; and though I taught them early and late, they would not listen and take warning, but have set up their detest-
 34 able things in the house which bears my name, to defile it, and have built the 35 high places of the Baal which are in the valley of Ben-Hinnom, to offer up their sons and their daughters as burnt-offerings to Molech, which I did not command them, nor did it enter my mind that they would commit this abomination, thus causing Judah to sin. Now, therefore, thus says the LORD, 36 the God of Israel, concerning this city of which you say, "Through stress of sword, famine, and pestilence it is as good as given into the hand of the king of Babylon": Behold, I will gather them from all the lands to which I have driven them in my anger, my fury, and my great wrath, and will bring them back to this place, and will settle them in security; and they shall be my people, and I will be their God; and I will give them a new heart and a new way, so that they may revere me always, for their own good, and for the good of their children after them; and I will make an everlasting covenant with them, never to swerve from doing them good; and I will put awe of me in their hearts, so that they may not turn aside from me; I will take delight in doing them good, and will plant them on this land with all the loyalty of my mind and heart.' For thus says the LORD: 'As I have brought upon this people all this great trouble, so will I bring upon them all the good that I promise them. And fields shall be bought in this land of which you say, "It is a desolation, abandoned by man and beast, given into the hand of the Chaldeans." Yes, men shall buy fields for money, and shall sign the deeds, seal them, and get witnesses, in the land of Benjamin, in the neighborhood of Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah—in the cities of the hill country, the cities of the Shephelah, and the cities of the Negeb—for I will restore their fortune,' is the oracle of the LORD."

FURTHER PROMISES OF RESTORATION, 33:1-26

83 A second time the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, while he was still shut up in the guard-court, saying, "Thus says the LORD, who made the earth and formed it to stand fast—the LORD is his name: 'Call to me, and I will answer you, and will tell you great and secret things, which you know not.' For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city and the houses of the kings of Judah, which have been broken down for bulwarks and ramparts against the Chaldeans who are coming to fight against them, and to fill them with the dead bodies of the men whom I will slay in my anger and my fury, and for whose manifold wickedness I will hide my face from this city: 'Behold, I will bring them complete recovery and healing, and will reveal to them abundance of peace and security. And I will restore the fortune of Judah and the fortune of Israel, and will build them up as at first; and I will cleanse them from all the guilt of their sin against me, and will pardon all the guilt of their sin and rebellion against me. Then this city shall be to me a joy and praise and glory among all the nations of the earth who shall hear of all the good that I will bring to her; and they shall fear and tremble because of all the good and all the prosperity that I will bring to her.'

"Thus says the LORD: 'In this place of which you say, "It is a ruin, abandoned by man and beast"—even in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, which are made a desolation, abandoned by man and beast—there shall once more be heard the sound of mirth and the sound of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of those who say, as they bring thank-offerings to the house of the LORD,

"Give thanks to the LORD of hosts, For the LORD is good, For his kindness is everlasting."

For I will restore the fortune of the land to its former state,' says the LORD.

"Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'In this place which is a ruin, abandoned by man and beast, and in all its cities, there shall once more be homesteads of shepherds, resting their flocks. In the cities of the hill country, the cities of the Shephelah, and the cities of the Negeb, in the land of Benjamin, in the neighborhood of Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, flocks shall once more pass under the hands of those who count them,' says the LORD.

"Behold, days are coming," is the oracle of the LORD, "when I will fulfill the gracious promise which I made concerning the house of Israel and the house of Judah.

"In those days, and at that time, I will raise up for David a righteous shoot, Who shall do justice and righteousness in the land.

In those days shall Judah be saved, And Jerusalem shall live in security; And this is the name that they shall give him:

'The LORD is our Vindicator.'

17 "For thus says the LORD: 'David shall never want a man to sit on the throne of the house of Israel; nor shall the Levitical priests want a man to offer up burnt-offerings, to burn cereal-offerings, or to make sacrifices in my presence for all time to come.' "

19 The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,

20 "Thus says the LORD: 'If you can break my covenant with the day and my covenant with the night, so that day and night shall no longer come at their appointed time; then also shall my covenant be broken with David my servant—so that a son of his shall no longer reign upon his throne—and with the Levitical priests my ministers. Like the host of the heavens which cannot be numbered, and the sand of the sea which cannot be measured, so will I multiply the descendants of David my servant and the Levites who minister to me.' "

23 The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,

24 "Have you not observed what this people have said, that 'the LORD has cast off the two families whom he chose, and has spurned his people so as to be no longer a nation before him'? Therefore thus says the LORD: 'If my covenant be not maintained with the day and the night, or if I do not uphold the fixed ordinances of the heavens and the earth, then also will I cast off the descendants of Jacob and of David my servant, so as to take none of his descendants to be rulers over the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; but I will restore their fortune, and will have pity upon them.' "

JEREMIAH WARNS ZEDEKIAH OF HIS FATE, 34:1-7

84 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, when Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and all his army, with all the kingdoms and nations of the earth that were under his sway, were fighting against Jerusalem and all its cities:

2 "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Go to Zedekiah, king of Judah, and say to him, 'Thus says the LORD: Behold, I am giving this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it; and you yourself shall not escape from his hand, but shall most certainly be seized and given into his hand, and shall see the king of Babylon eye to eye, and shall speak with him face to face; and to Babylon shall you go. Yet hear the word of the LORD, O Zedekiah, king of Judah! Thus says the LORD concerning you: You shall not die by the sword, but shall die in peace; and they shall burn sweet spices for you, as they burned them for your fathers, the former kings that were before you; and they shall lament for you with "Ah lord!" for I have spoken the word,' is the oracle of the LORD."

So Jeremiah the prophet spoke all these words to Zedekiah, king of Judah, in Jerusalem, when the king of Babylon's army was fighting against Jerusalem and all the cities of Judah that were left, namely, Lachish and Azekah, for these were the only cities of Judah that remained as fortified cities.

ON THE BROKEN PLEDGE TO THE SLAVES, 34:8-22

The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people that were in Jerusalem to make them a proclamation of liberty that each of them should liberate his Hebrew slaves, both male and female, so that none should hold his fellow-Jew in slavery—and after all the princes and people who had entered into the covenant to liberate their slaves, both male and female, so that none should hold them any longer in slavery, had obeyed the covenant and liberated them, but afterward turned round and brought back the slaves that they had liberated, both male and female, and reduced them once more to slavery; then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,

"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'On the day that I brought your fathers out of the land of Egypt, out of a state of slavery, I made a covenant with them, saying, "At the end of six years you shall liberate each one his fellow-Hebrew who has sold himself to you, and has served you for six years—you shall liberate him from your service." But your fathers neither listened nor inclined their ears to me. 15 Just now you turned round, and did what was right in my sight, by making a proclamation of liberty to one another, and entering into a covenant to this effect before me in the house which bears my name. But you have again turned round and dishonored my name by bringing back the slaves you had liberated, both male and female, and reducing them once more to slavery.' 17 Therefore thus says the LORD: 'Since you have not listened to me in regard to the proclamation of liberty to one another, behold, I am making for you,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'a proclamation of liberty to sword, pestilence, and famine; and I will make you a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth. And as for the men who have broken my covenant—the men who have not carried out the terms of the covenant which they made in my presence, when they cut the calf in two and passed between the parts of it—even the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, the eunuchs, the priests, and all the people of the land, who passed between the parts of the calf—I will give them into the hand of their enemies, into the hand of those who seek their lives, and their dead bodies shall be food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth. And Zedekiah, king of Judah, and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, into the hand of those who seek their lives—into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which has meanwhile gone away from you. Behold, I am issuing orders,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'and will bring them back to this city; and they shall fight against it, and shall take it, and shall burn it; and the cities of Judah will I make a desolation, without an inhabitant.'

THE FIDELITY OF THE RECHABITES, 35:1-19

35 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the days of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, king of Judah, as follows:
2 "Go to the household of the Rechabites, and talk with them, and bring them to one of the chambers in the house of the LORD, and offer them wine to drink."

So I took Jaazaniah, the son of Jeremiah, the son of Habazziniah, with his brothers and all his sons, even the whole household of the Rechabites, and brought them to the house of the LORD, to the chamber of the sons of Hanan, the son of Igdaliah, the man of God, which adjoined the chamber of the princes, above the chamber of Maaseiah, the son of Shallum, the keeper of the threshold; and I set before the Rechabites a bowl full of wine, with drinking cups, and said to them,

"Drink wine!"

But they said,

"We will drink no wine; for Jonadab, the son of Rechab, our ancestor, laid a charge upon us, saying, 'You shall drink no wine, neither you nor your sons forever; and you shall build no house, nor sow seed, nor plant or own a vineyard, but shall live in tents all your days, so that you may live long in the land where you pass your days.' And we have obeyed in every respect the charge which Jonadab, the son of Rechab, our ancestor, laid upon us, drinking no wine all our lives—neither we, nor our wives, nor our sons, nor our daughters—building no houses to live in, nor owning vineyard, field, or seed, but living in tents, acting in obedience to all the charge which Jonadab our ancestor laid upon us. It was only when Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, invaded the land that we said, 'Come and let us go up to Jerusalem before the advance of the Chaldean and Syrian armies'; and so we are living in Jerusalem."

Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,

"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Go and say to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Will you not learn the lesson of obedience to my words?' is the oracle of the LORD. 'The charge which Jonadab, the son of Rechab, laid upon his sons, to drink no wine, has been observed; and in obedience to their ancestor's charge they have drunk no wine to this day. But though I spoke to you early and late, you have not listened to me; and though I sent all my servants the prophets to you early and late, saying, "Turn, I pray you, each from his evil way, and amend your doings, and do not run after other gods, to serve them, that you may live in the land which I gave to you and your fathers," you have neither listened nor inclined your ears to me. Therefore, because the sons of Jonadab, the son of Rechab, have observed the charge which their father laid upon them, while this people has not listened to me, thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: Behold, I am bringing upon Judah and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the evil which I pronounced against them, because I spoke to them, but they did not listen, and I called to them, but they did not answer.' "

18 But to the household of the Rechabites, Jeremiah said,

"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Because you have been obedient to the charge of Jonadab your ancestor, and have kept all his instructions, and have done just as he charged you, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Jonadab, the son of Rechab, shall not want a man to stand in my presence forever.' "

THE BURNING OF THE SCROLL,

36:1-32

36 In the fourth year of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, king of Judah, came this word to Jeremiah from the LORD:

2 "Take a scroll, and write on it all the words that I have spoken to you against Israel, and Judah, and all the other nations, from the day that I first spoke to you in the days of Josiah even to this day. Perhaps when the house of Israel hears of all the evil that I am planning to bring upon them, they will turn each from his evil way, and will receive my pardon for their guilt and their sin."

4 So Jeremiah called Baruch, the son of Neriah; and at Jeremiah's dictation Baruch wrote on a scroll all the words that the LORD had spoken to him.

5 Then Jeremiah instructed Baruch, saying,

6 "I am debarred from going to the house of the LORD. Go you, then, and from the scroll which you have written at my dictation read the words of the LORD in the hearing of the people gathered in the house of the LORD on a fast day, as well as in the hearing of all Judah who come from their cities.

7 Perhaps, as they present their supplication before the LORD, they will turn each from his evil way, when they realize how great is the anger and fury which the LORD has expressed against this people."

8 So Baruch, the son of Neriah, did just as Jeremiah the prophet instructed him, reading from the book the words of the LORD in the house of the LORD. It was in the fifth year of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, king of Judah, the ninth month, the first day of the month, when all the people in Jerusalem and all those who came to Jerusalem from the cities of Judah had proclaimed a fast before the LORD, that Baruch in the hearing of all the people read from the book the words of Jeremiah in the house of the LORD, from the chamber of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, the secretary, which was in the upper court, at the entrance to the new gate of the house of the LORD.

11 Now when Micaiah, the son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, had heard all the words of the LORD read from the book, he went down to the palace, to the secretary's chamber, where he found all the princes seated—Elishama the secretary, Delaiah, the son of She-maiah, Elnathan, the son of Achbor, Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, Zedekiah, the son of Hananiah, and all the other princes. And Micaiah reported 13 to them all the words that he had heard Baruch read from the book in the hearing of the people. Then all the princes 14 sent Jehudi, the son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi, to Baruch with this message,

"Take with you the scroll from which you have read in the hearing of the people, and come to us."

15 So Baruch, the son of Neriah, took the scroll with him, and went to them. And they said to him,

"Read it once more in our hearing."

16 So Baruch read it in their hearing. And when they had heard all the words, 16 they turned in alarm to one another, and said to Baruch,

"We must certainly report all this to the king."

17 Then they asked Baruch,

"Pray, tell us! How did you write all these words? Was it at his dictation?"

18 And Baruch answered them,

"Yes! He dictated all these words to me, and I wrote them with ink on the scroll."

19 Then the princes said to Baruch,

"Go into hiding, you and Jeremiah, and let no one know where you are."

- 20 When they had deposited the scroll in the chamber of Elishama the secretary, they went to the king in his court, and reported the whole matter in his
- 21 hearing. The king then sent Jehudi to bring the scroll; and when he had brought it from the chamber of Elishama the secretary, Jehudi read it in the hearing of the king and of all the princes who stood in attendance upon the king.
- 22 Since it was the ninth month, the king was seated in the winter house, with a
- 23 fire burning in a brazier before him. As Jehudi read three or four columns, the king would cut it up with his penknife and fling it into the fire that was in the brazier, until the whole scroll was consumed in the fire that was in the
- 24 brazier. Yet neither the king nor any of his servants showed any alarm, nor did they tear their clothes, as they heard
- 25 all these words. Even though Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah entreated the king not to burn the scroll, he did not
- 26 listen to them. The king then ordered Jerahmeel the royal prince, Seraiah, the son of Azriel, and Shelemiah, the son of Abdeel, to arrest Baruch the secretary and Jeremiah the prophet. But the LORD kept them concealed.
- 27 Now after the king had burned the scroll containing the words that Baruch had written at Jeremiah's dictation, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,
- 28 "Take another scroll, and write on it all the words that were on the first scroll, which Jehoiakim, the king of
- 29 Judah, burned. And concerning Jehoiakim, king of Judah, you shall say, 'Thus says the LORD: You have burned this scroll, saying, "Why have you written on it these words, "The king of Babylon will certainly come and destroy this land, and will annihilate from it man
- 30 and beast?'" Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim, king of Judah: "No descendant of his shall sit on the throne of David; and his dead body shall be flung out to the heat by
- 31 day and to the cold by night. And I will punish him, his family, and his servants, for their guilt; and I will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and upon the men of Judah, all the evil that I pronounced against them, though they did not listen."'"

So Jeremiah took another scroll, and gave it to Baruch, the son of Neriah, the secretary, who wrote on it at Jeremiah's dictation all the words of the book which Jehoiakim, king of Judah, had burned in the fire; and many words of like nature were added to them.

A FURTHER WARNING TO ZEDEKIAH, 37:1-10

Zedekiah, the son of Josiah, whom Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon had made king in the land of Judah, reigned as king in the place of Coniah, the son of Jehoiakim. But neither he, nor his servants, nor the people of the land, listened to the words of the LORD which he spoke through Jeremiah the prophet. King Zedekiah, however, sent Jehucal, the son of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah, the son of Maaseiah the priest, to Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "Pray, intercede on our behalf with the LORD our God." (For Jeremiah had not yet been put in prison, but was still coming and going freely among the people; and when Pharaoh's army advanced out of Egypt, the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem, on hearing the news, raised the siege of Jerusalem.) Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Thus shall you say to the king of Judah, who has sent you to consult me: Behold, Pharaoh's army, which is advancing to your aid, shall return to the land of Egypt; and the Chaldeans shall come back to fight against this city, and take it, and burn it.' Thus says the LORD: 'Do not delude yourselves by saying, "The Chaldeans are leaving us for good"; for they shall not leave you. Even if you defeated the whole Chaldean army that is fighting against you, leaving but a few wounded men of them in their several tents, they would rise up and burn this city.'

JEREMIAH ARRESTED AND IMPRISONED, 37:11-21

Now when the Chaldean army had raised the siege of Jerusalem, because of the advance of Pharaoh's army, Jeremiah set out from Jerusalem on a journey to the land of Benjamin, to take possession of the property that belonged to him among the people there.

13 But just as he reached the Benjamin Gate, a sentry who was posted there, named Irijah, the son of Shememiah, the son of Hananiah, arrested Jeremiah the prophet, saying,

"You are deserting to the Chaldeans."

14 Jeremiah replied,

"It is false; I am not deserting to the Chaldeans."

But he would not listen to him. So Irijah arrested Jeremiah, and brought 15 him to the princes. And the princes were so angry with Jeremiah that they beat him and put him in prison in the house of Jonathan the secretary, which 16 had been turned into a prison. Having thus come to the dungeon-cells, Jeremiah remained there for a number of days.

17 Then King Zedekiah sent for him, and received him; and the king asked him secretly in his palace, "Is there any word from the LORD?"

And Jeremiah said,

"There is. You shall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon."

18 Then Jeremiah said to King Zedekiah,

"What wrong have I done to you, or to your servants, or to this people, that 19 you have put me in prison? Where are your prophets who prophesied to you, saying, 'The king of Babylon shall not come against you, nor against this 20 land?' So now, pray, listen to me, O my lord the king; and give a favorable hearing to my supplication, that I may not be sent back to the house of Jonathan the secretary, and left to die there!"

21 King Zedekiah then gave orders, and Jeremiah was committed to the guard-court, and given a loaf of bread daily from the bakers' street, until all the bread in the city was consumed. So Jeremiah remained in the guard-court.

JEREMIAH RESCUED BY EBEDMELECH, 38:1-13

22 Now Shephatiah, the son of Mattan, and Gedaliah, the son of Pashhur, and Jucal, the son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur, the son of Malchiah, heard Jeremiah addressing all the people in these terms,

"Thus says the LORD: 'He who re- 2 mains in this city shall die by sword, famine, and pestilence; but he who surrenders to the Chaldeans shall have his life given to him as a prize of war.' For 3 thus says the LORD: 'This city shall certainly be given into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, and they shall take it.'"

So they said to the king;

4 "Pray, have this man put to death; for he is disheartening the soldiers that are left in this city, and all the people as well, by addressing such words to them; for this man is seeking not the welfare of this people, but their ruin."

Whereupon King Zedekiah said, 5 "See! he is in your hand; for the king can do nothing against you."

So they took Jeremiah, and cast him 6 into the cistern of Malchiah, the royal prince, which was in the guard-court, letting Jeremiah down with ropes. And as there was no water in the cistern, but only mud, Jeremiah sank in the mud.

But Ebedmelech the Ethiopian, a 7 eunuch in the service of the palace, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the cistern. The king being seated at the Benjamin Gate, Ebedmelech set 8 out from the palace, and addressed the king, saying,

"My lord the king, these men have 9 done wrong in treating Jeremiah as they have done, casting him into the cistern, to die where he is of famine, because there is no more bread in the city."

The king then gave orders to Ebed- 10 melech the Ethiopian, saying,

"Take with you three men from here, and draw Jeremiah the prophet out of the cistern, before he die."

So Ebedmelech took the men with 11 him, and went to the wardrobe of the palace, and took from there some torn and tattered rags, and let them down by ropes to Jeremiah in the cistern. Then Ebedmelech the Ethiopian said 12 to Jeremiah,

"Pray, put these torn and tattered rags below your armpits under the ropes."

Jeremiah did so, and then they drew 13 Jeremiah up with the ropes, and brought him up from the cistern. And Jeremiah remained in the guard-court.

THE SECRET MEETING WITH ZEDEKIAH, 38:14-28a

- 14 Then King Zedekiah sent for Jeremiah the prophet, and received him at the third entrance to the house of the LORD; and the king said to Jeremiah, "I am going to ask you a question, and you must conceal nothing from me."
- 15 Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "If I tell you the truth, are you not sure to put me to death? And if I give you advice, you will not listen to me."
- 16 So King Zedekiah swore an oath in secret to Jeremiah, saying, "As the LORD lives, who made this life of ours, I will neither put you to death, nor hand you over to these men who are seeking your life."
- 17 Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "Thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: 'If you but surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, your life shall be spared, and this city shall not be burned; both yourself and your household shall be spared.'"
- 18 But if you do not surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, this city shall be handed over to the Chaldeans, who shall burn it; and you yourself shall not escape from their hand."
- 19 Then King Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "I am afraid of the Jews who have gone over to the Chaldeans, lest I be handed over to them, and they subject me to indignity."
- 20 But Jeremiah said, "You shall not be handed over. Pray, then, listen to the voice of the LORD, as I declare it to you, that your life may be spared, and all may be well with you."
- 21 But if you refuse to surrender, this is the word that the LORD has revealed
- 22 to me: all the women who are left in the palace of the king of Judah shall be led out to the officers of the king of Babylon, saying, "Your bosom friends have deceived you, and have overreached you; They have sunk your feet in the mire, and have turned away from you."
- 23 All your wives and children shall be led out to the Chaldeans, while you yourself shall not escape from their hand, but shall be captured by the king of Babylon; and this city shall be burned."
- 24 Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "Let no one know of this conversation, on pain of death. And if the princes hear that I have been talking with you, and come and say to you, 'Pray, tell us what you said to the king, and what the king said to you; conceal nothing from us, on pain of death,' you shall say to them, 'I was presenting my petition to the king, that he would not send me back to Jonathan's house, to die there.'"

So when all the princes came to Jeremiah, and questioned him, he answered them in accordance with all these instructions that the king had given; and they pressed him no further, for the conversation had not been overheard. Jeremiah then remained in the guard-courtyard till the day that Jerusalem was taken.

THE CAPTURE OF JERUSALEM,

39:1-2, 4-10<sup>1</sup>

In the ninth year of Zedekiah, king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and all his army advanced against Jerusalem and besieged it; and in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, the city was breached. When Zedekiah, king of Judah and all the soldiers saw what had happened, they left the city by night, and fled by way of the king's garden, through the gate between the two walls, and made for the Jordan valley. But the Chaldean army pursued them, and overtook Zedekiah in the steppes of Jericho; and they arrested him, and brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, at Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he pronounced judgment against him. And the king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah at Riblah before his eyes. The king of Babylon likewise slew all the nobles of Judah. Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bound him with chains, to carry him to Babylon. The Chaldeans also burned the house of the king and the houses of the people, and demolished the walls of Jerusalem. Then Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, carried captive to Babylon the rest of the people that were left in the city, and the deserters who had surrendered to him, together with the artisans that were left. But Nebuzaradan dan, the commander of the guard, left in the land of Judah a number of the poor people, who had nothing, and at the same time gave them vineyards and fields.

THE RELEASE OF JEREMIAH, 38:28b, 39:3, 11-14

38:28b When Jerusalem had been taken, all the officials of the king of Babylon—
39:3 Nergal-sharezer, the chief counselor, Nebushazban, the chief eunuch, and all the rest of the officials of the king of Babylon—came and took their seats at 11 the middle gate. Now Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, had given orders regarding Jeremiah to Nebuzaradan, the 12 commander of the guard, saying, "Take him, and look well after him; do him no harm, but treat him as he tells you."
13 So Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, issued orders, and Nebushazban, the chief eunuch, Nergal-sharezer, the chief counselor, and all the chief officials
14 of the king of Babylon sent and took Jeremiah out of the guard-court, and handed him over to Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, to have him conveyed to his home. So he stayed among the people.

THE PROMISE TO EBEDMELECH, 39:15-18

15 While Jeremiah was still shut up in the guard-court, the word of the LORD came to him saying,
16 "Go and say to Ebedmelech the Ethiopian, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Behold, I am about to fulfil the words that I have spoken concerning this city—for evil and not for good—and you shall see
17 them fulfilled on that day. But I will deliver you on that day,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'and you shall not be handed over to the men of whom you 18 stand in dread. For I will most certainly save you from falling by the sword, and your life shall be given to you as a prize of war, because you have put your trust in me,' is the oracle of the LORD."

JEREMIAH WITH GEDALIAH, 40:1-12

10 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after his release from Ramah

by Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, who had found him bound with chains among all the exiles of Jerusalem and Judah who were being carried captive to Babylon.

Now the commander of the guard 2 had taken Jeremiah and said to him,

"The LORD your God pronounced 3 this doom upon this place, and the LORD has fulfilled his word, and has done as he said, because you sinned against the LORD, and did not listen to his voice—therefore this thing has come upon you. But now, see! I release you 4 this day from the chains that are upon your hands. If you are disposed to come with me to Babylon, come, and I will look well after you; but if you are not disposed to come with me to Babylon, think no more of it. See! the whole land is before you. Go wherever you think right and proper. Go back, if you 5 wish, to Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has appointed governor over the cities of Judah, and stay with him among the people; or go wherever else you please."

The commander of the guard then gave him an allowance of victuals and released him. So Jeremiah came to Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, at Mizpeh, and stayed with him among the people that were left in the land.

Now when all the commanders of the 7 forces that were in the field, together with their men, heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, governor of the land, and that he had intrusted to his charge the men, women, and children, of the poorest classes of the land, who had not been carried captive to Babylon, they 8 came to Gedaliah at Mizpeh—Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, Johanan, the son of Kareah, Seraiah, the son of Tanhumeth, the sons of Ephai of Netophah, and Jezaniah, the son of the Maacathite—together with their men. Then 9 Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, swore an oath to them and their men, saying,

"Do not be afraid of the Chaldean officials. If you stay in the land, and serve the king of Babylon, all shall be well with you. As for myself, I intend 10 to stay at Mizpeh, to represent your interests before the Chaldeans who may visit us; but you may gather wine, fruit, and oil, store them in your vessels, and stay in the cities which you choose to occupy."

- 11 Likewise, all the Jews who were in Moab, Ammon, Edom, and all the other countries, when they heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant in Judah, and that he had appointed Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, governor over them, returned from all the places to which they had been driven, and came to the land of Judah—to Gedaliah at Mizpeh—and gathered wine and fruit in great abundance.

MURDER OF GEDALIAH,

40:13—41:18

- 13 Now Johanan, the son of Kareah, and all the commanders of the forces that were in the field, came to Gedaliah at Mizpeh, and said to him, "Are you at all aware that Ballis, king of the Ammonites, has sent Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, to take your life?"
- But Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, did not believe them.
- 15 Then Johanan, the son of Kareah, spoke secretly to Gedaliah at Mizpeh, saying, "Pray, let me go and slay Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, without anyone knowing it. Why should he take your life, and cause all the Jews who are gathered round you to be scattered, and the remnant of Judah to perish?"
- 16 But Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, said to Johanan, the son of Kareah, "You shall do no such thing. For you are speaking falsely of Ishmael."
- 41 In the seventh month, however, Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, a member of the royal family, accompanied by ten men, came to Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, at Mizpeh.
- 2 As they dined together at Mizpeh, Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, and the ten men who were with him arose, and smote with the sword, and slew Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon had appointed governor over the land. Ishmael also smote all the Jews who were with him at Mizpeh, as well as the Chaldean soldiers who happened to be there.
- 4 The day after the murder of Gedaliah, 5 before anyone was aware of it, certain men from Shechem, Shiloh, and Samaria—eighty in all—with their beards shaved, their clothes rent, and their bodies gashed, came bearing cereal-offerings and frankincense, to present them in the house of the LORD. Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, went out from Mizpeh to meet them, as they came along weeping; and when he met them, he said to them,

"Come to Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam."

When they reached the middle of the city, Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, and the the men who were with him slew them, and cast them into a cistern. There were ten of their number, however, who said to Ishmael,

"Do not put us to death; for we have stores of wheat, barley, oil, and honey, buried in the fields."

So he let them alone, and did not put them to death with their fellows.

Now the cistern into which Ishmael cast all the dead bodies of the men whom he had slain was a great cistern which King Asa had made as a means of defense against Baasha, king of Israel; this cistern Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, filled with the slain.

Ishmael then carried away captive all the rest of the people that were at Mizpeh—the king's daughters, and all the people that remained at Mizpeh, whom Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, had committed to the charge of Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam—all these Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, carried away captive, and started to cross over to the Ammonites. But when Johanan, the son of Kareah, and all the commanders of the forces that were with him, heard of all the crimes that Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, had committed, they took all their men, and set out to fight with Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, overtaking him by the great waters that are at Gibeon. And when all the people that were with Ishmael saw Johanan, the son of Kareah, and all the commanders of the forces that were with him, they were filled with joy; and all the people whom Ishmael had carried captive from Mizpeh turned round and went back to Johanan, the son of Kareah. But Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, with eight men, escaped from Johanan, and made his way to the Ammonites.

16 Then Johanan, the son of Kareah, and all the commanders of the forces that were with him, took all the remnant of the people whom Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, had carried captive from Mizpeh, after he had slain Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam—men, women, children, and eunuchs, whom he had brought back from Gibeon—and they went and stayed at Chimham's Inn, in the neighborhood of Bethlehem, intending to go on to Egypt, through fear of the Chaldeans; for they were afraid of them, because Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, had slain Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon had appointed governor over the land.

THE MIGRATION TO EGYPT,

42:1—43:13

42 Then all the commanders of the forces, including Johanan, the son of Kareah, and Azariah, the son of Hoshai, with all the people from the least to the greatest, approached Jeremiah the prophet, and said to him,

"Give a favorable hearing to our supplication, and pray to the LORD your God for us, even for all this remnant—for we are left but a few out of many, as you can see with your own eyes—that the LORD your God may show us the way we should go and the thing we should do."

4 Then Jeremiah the prophet said to them,

"I have heard your petition. I will pray to the LORD your God, as you request; and whatever answer the LORD may give you, I will tell you—I will hold nothing back from you."

5 They said to Jeremiah,

"The LORD be a true and faithful witness against us, if we do not act in accordance with all the word which the LORD your God may send to us! Whether it be pleasant or unpleasant, we will obey the voice of the LORD our God, to whom we are sending you, that we may prosper through obeying the voice of the LORD our God."

7 At the end of ten days the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. So he summoned Johanan, the son of Kareah, and all the commanders of the forces that were with him, and all the people from the least to the greatest; and he said to them,

"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your supplication before him: 'If you 10 stay on in this land, I will build you up and not tear you down, and I will plant you and not uproot you; for I regret the harm that I have done to you. Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon, of whom you are afraid; do not be afraid of him,' is the oracle of the LORD; 'for I am with you to save you, and to deliver you out of his hand. I will have 12 pity upon you, and will inspire him with pity for you, so that he may allow you to stay in your own land. But if 13 you say, "We will not stay in this land," refusing to obey the voice of the LORD your God, and saying, "No, we 14 will go to the land of Egypt, where we shall see no war, and shall hear no sound of trumpet, and shall have no hunger for bread; and there will we stay," then hear the word of the LORD, 15 O remnant of Judah! Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'If you are determined to go to Egypt, and if you go to settle there, the sword 16 which you fear shall overtake you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine which you dread shall cling to your heels there in Egypt; and there shall you die. All the men who are deter- 17 mined to go to Egypt, to settle there, shall die by sword, famine, and pestilence, not one of them surviving or escaping from the doom that I am bringing upon them.' For thus says the 18 LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'As my anger and my fury have been poured out upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so shall my fury be poured out upon you when you enter Egypt; and you shall be an execration and a horror, a curse and a scorn; and you shall see this place no more.' So this is the word 19 that the LORD has spoken to you, O remnant of Judah: 'Do not go to Egypt!' And be certain of this—for I 20 warn you this day that you will wrong your own selves if, after sending me to the LORD your God, saying, 'Pray to the LORD our God for us; and whatever the LORD our God may say, tell us, and we will do it,' and if, after I have told it 21 to you this day, you do not listen to the voice of the LORD your God in regard to anything that he has sent me to tell you—now be certain of this, that you 22 shall die by sword, famine, and pestilence, in the place where you desire to go to settle there."

43 When Jeremiah had finished speaking to all the people all the words of the LORD their God, even all these words which the LORD their God had sent 2 him to speak to them, Azariah, the son of Hoshaiah, Johanan, the son of Kareah, and all the proud and defiant men said to Jeremiah,

"You are telling a lie. The LORD our God did not send you to say, 'You shall not go to Egypt to settle there'; 3 but Baruch, the son of Neriah, has been egging you on against us, to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they may put us to death, or carry us captive to Babylon."

4 So Johanan, the son of Kareah, and all the commanders of the forces, and all the people, did not listen to the voice of the LORD by staying in the 5 land of Judah; but Johanan, the son of Kareah, and all the commanders of the forces, took all the remnant of Judah that had returned from all the nations to which they had been driven, to settle 6 in the land of Judah—the men, women, and children, the king's daughters, every person whom Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, had left with Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, including Jeremiah the prophet 7 and Baruch, the son of Neriah—and, not listening to the voice of the LORD, they came to the land of Egypt, and arrived at Daphne.

8 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah at Daphne, saying,

9 "Take some large stones, and bury them among the mortar under the pavement in the gateway of Pharaoh's palace at Daphne, in the sight of 10 certain Jews. Then say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Behold, I am sending for Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, my servant, who shall set his throne above these stones which you have buried, and shall spread his royal pavilion over 11 them. And he shall come and smite the land of Egypt, devoting to death those who are doomed to death, to exile those who are doomed to exile, and to the sword those who are doomed to the 12 sword. And he shall kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and shall burn them and carry them away captive; and he shall purge the land of Egypt as a shepherd purges his mantle of vermin, and shall go from it unmolest. Also he shall break in pieces the 13 obelisks at Heliopolis, in the land of Egypt, and shall burn the houses of the gods of Egypt.' "

JEREMIAH'S LAST APPEAL TO HIS PEOPLE,

44:1-30

The word that came to Jeremiah 44 concerning all the Jews living in the land of Egypt—at Migdol, Daphne, Memphis, and in the land of Pathros—as follows:

"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the 2 God of Israel: 'You have seen all the trouble that I have brought upon Jerusalem and all the other cities of Judah, so that they are now an uninhabited waste, because of the wickedness by 3 which they vexed me, by going off to sacrifice and render worship to other gods, whom neither they nor you nor your fathers knew. Though I sent all my servants the prophets to you early and late, saying, "Pray, do not do this abominable thing which I hate," they 4 neither listened nor inclined their ears, to turn from their wickedness by not offering sacrifices to other gods, so that 5 my fury and my anger were poured out and blazed in the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem, and they became a waste and a desolation, as they are this day.' And now thus says the 6 LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Why are you doing yourselves a great wrong, cutting off man and woman, child and suckling, from the midst of Judah, without leaving a remnant behind you, by vexing me with the work of your hands, in offering sacrifices to other gods in the land of Egypt, where you have gone to settle, and so making yourselves a curse and a scorn among all the nations of the earth? Have you forgotten the crimes of your 7 fathers, the crimes of the kings of Judah, the crimes of your princes, the crimes of yourselves, and the crimes of your wives, which they committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? To this day they have 8 neither humbled themselves, nor been afraid, nor followed my law and my statutes which I set before you and 11 your fathers.' Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'I am determined to bring ruin upon you, and 12 to cut off the whole of Judah. So I will take the remnant of Judah that were determined to go to the land of Egypt to settle there, and they shall all be consumed in the land of Egypt; they shall fall by the sword and be consumed by famine; from the least to the greatest shall they die by sword and famine, and they shall be an execration 13 and a horror, a curse and a scorn. I will punish those who live in the land of Egypt, as I punished Jerusalem, by 14 sword, famine, and pestilence, so that none of the remnant of Judah that have gone to the land of Egypt to settle there shall escape or survive to return to the land of Judah where they long to return to live there; for none shall return but a handful of fugitives.' "

15 Then all the men who knew that their wives were offering sacrifices to other gods, and all the women who stood by—even all the people who lived in the land of Egypt and in Path-ros, a great multitude—answered Jeremiah, saying,

16 "As regards the word that you have spoken to us in the name of the LORD, 17 we will not listen to you, but will as-surely carry out every word that has gone from our own mouths, by offering sacrifices to the queen of the heavens, and by pouring libations to her, as we did, both we and our fathers, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem. For then we had plenty to eat, and were 18 well, and met with no trouble; but since we gave up offering sacrifices to the queen of the heavens, and pouring libations to her, we have been destitute of all things, and have been consumed by sword and famine.' "

19 The women also said,

"And when we were offering sacrifices to the queen of the heavens, and pouring libations to her, was it without the approval of our husbands that we made for her cakes stamped with her image, and poured libations to her?"

20 Then Jeremiah spoke to all the people, both men and women—all the people that had given him this answer—
 saying,

"As regards the sacrifices that you 21 offered in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, you and your fathers, your kings and your princes, as well as your common people, did they not rankle in the mind and thought of the LORD, so that the LORD could no longer bear your wicked and abomi- 22 nable deeds, and so your land became an uninhabited waste, horror, and curse, as it is this day? It is just because you offered these sacrifices, and sinned 23 against the LORD, by not listening to the voice of the LORD, nor following his law, his statutes, and his decrees, that this present trouble has befallen you."

Jeremiah further said to all the peo- 24
 ple, and to all the women,

"Hear the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah who are in the land of Egypt! Thus says the LORD of hosts, 25 the God of Israel: 'You and your wives have pledged your word, and have fulfilled it in actual deed, saying, "We will assuredly carry out the vows we have taken, to offer sacrifices to the queen of the heavens, and to pour libations to her." By all means keep your word, and carry out your vows! Hear, how- 26 ever, the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah who live in the land of Egypt! I have sworn by my great name,' says the LORD, 'that never more shall my name be invoked by any man of Judah in all the land of Egypt, saying, "As the Lord GOD lives!" Be- 27 hold, I am watching over them for evil and not for good; and all the men of Judah who are in the land of Egypt shall be consumed by sword and famine, until an end is made of them. And 28 those who escape from the sword—few in number—shall return from the land of Egypt to the land of Judah. Then all the remnant of Judah, who came to the land of Egypt to settle there, shall know whose word shall stand—mine, or theirs! And this is the sign for you,' is 29 the oracle of the LORD, 'that I will punish you in this place, so that you may know that my words shall stand against you for evil. Thus says the LORD: Be- 30 hold, I am giving Pharaoh Hophra, king of Egypt, into the hand of his enemies, into the hand of those who seek his life, as I gave Zedekiah, king of Judah, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, his enemy, who sought
 his life.' "

THE ORACLE TO BARUCH,

45:1-5

- 46 The word that Jeremiah the prophet spoke to Baruch, the son of Neriah, when he had written these words on a scroll at the dictation of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, king of Judah.
- 2 Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning you, O Baruch:
- 3 "You have said, 'Woe to me! For the LORD has added sorrow to my pain;
I am weary with my groaning,
I can find no rest.'
4 Say to him, 'Thus says the LORD: Behold, I am tearing down what I have built,
And I am rooting up what I have planted.
[That is the whole earth.]
5 Do you seek great things for yourself? Seek them not; for behold, I am bringing trouble Upon all flesh,' is the oracle of the LORD.
'But your life will I give to you as a prize of war
In every place where you go.'"

ORACLES ON EGYPT,

46:1-28

- 46 The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the nations.
- 2 On Egypt: concerning the army of Pharaoh Necho, king of Egypt, encamped at Carchemish by the River Euphrates, which was defeated by Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, king of Judah.
- 3 "Set buckler and shield in array,
And advance to battle;
4 Harness the steeds, and mount, you horsemen,
Stand forth with your helmets;
Unsheathe the spears, don the breast-plates!
5 Why do I see them dismayed, turned back,
And their warriors beaten?
Why have they fled apace, without looking back,
With terror on every side?"
Is the oracle of the LORD.
- 6 "The swift cannot flee,

Nor the strong man escape;
To the north, by the River Euphrates,
They stumble and fall.

- "Who is this rising up like the Nile, 7
Like rivers whose waters toss?
Egypt rises up like the Nile, 8
Like rivers whose waters toss.
He says, 'I will rise up, I will cover the earth,
I will destroy its inhabitants.'
Up, you steeds; rage, you chariots; 9
March forth, you warriors—
Cush and Put, that handle the shield,
And the Lydians, that bend the bow.
- "But that day shall be for the Lord, the 10
GOD of hosts,
A day of vengeance, to avenge himself
on his enemies;
And the sword shall devour till it is sated,
And shall drink its fill of their blood.
For the Lord, the GOD of hosts, shall hold a sacrifice
In the north land, by the River Euphrates.
Go up to Gilead, and take balm, 11
O virgin daughter of Egypt!
In vain do you multiply medicines;
For you there is no healing.
The nations have heard your cry, 12
The earth is full of your wailing;
For warrior stumbles on warrior,
Both of them fall together."

- The word that the LORD spoke to 13
Jeremiah the prophet, in regard to the coming of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, to smite the land of Egypt:
"Tell it in Migdol, 14
And publish it in Memphis;
Say, 'Stand to arms, and make ready,
For the sword devours round about
you.'
Why has Apis fled, and your bull god 15 not held his ground?
Because the LORD has thrust him
down.
The foreigners among you stumble 16
and fall,
They say to one another,
'Up, and let us return to our people,
To the land of our birth, before the deadly sword.'
"Call Pharaoh, king of Egypt, 'Bluster- 17
er,
Who has let the hour go by!'

- 18 As I live," is the oracle of the King,
Whose name is the LORD of hosts,
"One shall come like Tabor among the
mountains,
Or like Carmel by the sea.
- 19 Get ready your baggage for exile,
O daughter that dwells in Egypt!
For Memphis shall become a desolation,
A waste without an inhabitant.
- 20 "A graceful heifer is Egypt;
But a wasp from the north has attacked her.
- 21 Even the hired soldiers within her are like calves of the stall—
Even they have turned and fled together,
Without making a stand;
For their day of doom has come upon them,
Their time of reckoning.
- 22 She hisses like a serpent,
As her enemies advance in force;
With axes they come against her,
Like fellers of trees.
- 23 They shall cut down her forest," is the
oracle of the LORD,
"Although it is impenetrable;
For they are more in number than locusts,
They cannot be counted.
- 24 "Put to shame is the daughter of Egypt,
Handed over to the people of the north.
- 25 Says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:
'Behold, Amon of Thebes will I punish,
And Pharaoh, and those who trust in him.
- 26 I will hand them over to those who seek their lives,
To Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon,
and his servants;
Though afterward she shall be inhabited,
As in the days of old,' " is the oracle
of the LORD.
- 27 "So fear not, O Jacob my servant,
Nor be dismayed, O Israel!
For behold, I will save you from afar,
And your race from the land of their exile.
Then shall Jacob have once more
quiet and ease,
With none to make him afraid.

Fear not, O Jacob my servant," is the 2<sup>d</sup>
oracle of the LORD,
"For I am with you;
And I will make a full end of all the nations
Among whom I drove you away,
But of you will I not make a full end;
But I will correct you in just measure,
Not leaving you wholly unpunished."

ON THE PHILISTINES,

47:1-7

The word of the LORD that came to 4<sup>7</sup>
Jeremiah the prophet concerning the Philistines, before Pharaoh smote Gaza.
Thus says the LORD: 2
"Behold, waters are rising from the north,
And shall become a raging torrent;
They shall overflow the land and all that fills it,
The cities and those who dwell in
them.
Men shall cry out,
All the inhabitants of the land shall wail.
At the noise of the gallop of the hoofs 3
of his steeds,
At the rush of his chariots, the rumble of his wheels,
The fathers look not back to their children,
So slack are their hands;
Because of the day that is coming 4
To despoil all the Philistines,
To cut off from Tyre and Sidon
Every helper that remains;
For the LORD is about to despoil the Philistines,
The remnant of the coast-land of Capthor.
Baldness has come upon Gaza, 5
Ruined is Askelon;
How long must you gash yourselves,
O remnant of the Anakim?
Ah, sword of the LORD! when will you 6
be at peace?
Get back to your scabbard; rest and be still!
But how can it be at peace, 7
Since the LORD has given it a charge,
Has made it an appointment Against Askelon and the seashore?"

ON MOAB, 48:1-46

48

Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:

- "Woe to Nebo! because it is despoiled;
 Kirjathaim is shamed, is taken;
 The bulwark is shamed, is discomfited.
 2 No more is the fame of Moab,
 In Heshbon they plotted her ruin:
 'Come, let us cut her off from her place among nations!'
 You also, O Madmen, shall be silenced;
 The sword shall pursue you.
- 3 "Hark! a cry from Horonaim,
 'Havoc and dire destruction!'
 4 Moab is ruined;
 As far as Zoar they send out the cry.
 5 For up the ascent of Luhith weeping
 they go;
 And down the pass to Horonaim the cry of ruin they raise:
 6 'Flee, save yourselves, Though you be like a scrub in the desert!'
- 7 "Because you trusted in your works and in your treasures,
 You also shall be taken;
 And Chemosh shall go into exile,
 Along with his priests and his princes.
 8 The despoiler shall come upon every city,
 And no city shall escape;
 The valley shall perish, and the plateau shall be destroyed,
 As the LORD has said.
- 9 "Give wings to Moab,
 For fain would she fly away,
 While her cities become a desolation,
 With none to dwell in them.
 10 Cursed be he who does the work of the LORD with slackness,
 And cursed be he who holds back his sword from bloodshed!
- 11 "Moab has been at ease from his
 youth,
 He has settled on his lees;
 He has not been emptied from vessel to vessel,
 Nor has he gone into exile;
 So his taste remains in him,
 And his scent is unchanged.
 12 Therefore behold, days are coming,"
 is the oracle of the LORD,
 "When I will send tilters to him, who shall tilt him,
 And empty his vessels, and dash his jars in pieces.
- Then shall Moab be put to shame 13
 through Chemosh,
 As the house of Israel was put to shame
 Through Bethel, in whom they trusted.
- "How can you say, 'We are heroes, 14
 And mighty men of war,'
 When the despoiler of Moab has come 15 up against him,
 And the flower of his youth has gone down to the slaughter?"
 Is the oracle of the King, whose name is the LORD of hosts.
- "Near at hand is the doom of Moab, 16
 And his fate speeds on apace.
 Bemoan him, all you who are round 17
 about him,
 All you who know his name;
 Say, 'How is the strong staff broken,
 The beautiful rod!'
- "Come down from your throne of 18 glory, and sit in the mire,
 O daughter that dwells in Dibon;
 For the despoiler of Moab has come up against you,
 has destroyed your fortresses.
 Stand by the wayside, and watch, 19
 you who dwell in Aroer;
 Ask him that flees, and her that escapes,
 "What has happened?"
 Moab is shamed, is discomfited; 20
 wail and cry!
 Tell the news in Arnon,
 that Moab is despoiled.
 So judgment has come on the table- 21 land: on Holon, Jahzah, and Mephaath; on Dibon, Nebo, and Beth- 22 diblathaim; on Kirjathaim, Beth- 23
 gamul, and Beth-meon; on Kerioth and 24 Bozrah, and on all the cities of the land of Moab, far and near.
 "Hewn off is the horn of Moab, 25
 And broken is his arm," is the oracle
 of the LORD.
- "Make him drunk, for against the 26
 LORD has he magnified himself;
 Moab has clapped his hands,
 So he too shall be held in derision.
 Was not Israel a derision to you? 27
 Was he found in the company of thieves,
 That as often as you speak of him,
 you shake your head?
 Leave the cities, and occupy the 28
 crags,
 You who dwell in Moab;

Be like the doves that nest
In the sides of the cavern's mouth!

20 "We have heard of the pride of Moab—
How very proud he is—
Of his haughtiness and pride and arrogance—

The lordliness of his mind.

30 I know his insolence," is the oracle of
the LORD,

"How baseless are his boastings, accomplishing nothing.

31 Therefore I wail for Moab,
I cry for all Moab,
I moan for the men of Kir-heres.

32 "With Jazer I weep for you,
O vine of Sibmah!
Your branches passed over the sea,
reached as far as Jazer;
Now on your fruits and your vintage
the despoiler has fallen,

33 And joy and gladness vanish from the garden land of Moab,
The wine have I stopped from the winepresses,
no grape-treader treads them,
The shout is the shout of battle,
not the shout of joy.

34 "Heshbon and Elealeh cry out,
As far as Jahaz they send forth their
voice,
From Zoar to Horonaim and the third Eglath;
For even the waters of Nimrim are a desolation.

35 And I will bring to an end in Moab,"
is the oracle of the LORD,
"Him that goes up to the high place,
and offers sacrifices to his god.

36 Therefore my heart for Moab moans like a flute,
My heart for the men of Kir-heres
moans like a flute,
Because the gain that they acquired has perished.

37 "Every head is bald, and every beard is clipped;
On every hand are gashes, and on every loin is sackcloth.

38 On all the housetops of Moab, and on all its squares,
There is universal mourning;
For I have broken Moab like a worthless vessel,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.

"How is Moab discomfited! how he 39
wails!

How he turns his back in shame!
So shall Moab become a derision and a horror
To all who are round about him."

For thus says the LORD: 40

"One like a vulture shall swoop down,
And spread his wings against Moab.
The cities shall be taken, and the 41
strongholds be seized;

And the heart of the warriors of Moab
on that day
Shall be like the heart of a woman in travail.

And Moab shall be destroyed from be- 42
ing a people,

Because he has magnified himself against the LORD.

Terror, and pit, and snare 43
Are upon you, O inhabitants of

Moab."

Is the oracle of the LORD.

"And he who flees from the terror shall 44
fall into the pit,

And he who escapes from the pit shall be caught in the snare;

For these things will I bring upon
Moab

In their year of reckoning," is the oracle of the LORD.

"In the shadow of Heshbon there stand 45
Fugitives without strength;

For a fire has gone out of Heshbon,
A flame from the city of Sihon;

It devours the brow of Moab,
The crown of the sons of tumult.

Woe to you, O Moab! 46
The people of Chemosh is perished.

Your sons have been taken captive,
And your daughters have been led into exile;

Though I will restore the fortune of 47
Moab

In the end of the days," is the oracle
of the LORD.

Thus far is the judgment on Moab.

ON THE AMMONITES, 49

49:1-6

Thus says the LORD:

"Has Israel no sons?

Has he no heir?

Why, then, has Milcom taken over the inheritance of Gad?

- And why do his people dwell in its cities?
 2 Therefore behold, days are coming,"
 is the oracle of the LORD,
 "When I will cause the shout of battle to be heard Against Rabbah of the children of Ammon;
 And she shall become a desolate mound,
 And her daughter cities shall be burned;
 Then shall Israel take over the inheritance of those who took over his inheritance,"
 Says the LORD.
- 3 "Wail, O Heshbon!
 for the city has been despoiled.
 Cry, O daughters of Rabbah!
 gird on sackcloth, lament, and lacerate yourselves with gashes;
 For Milcom shall go into exile, along with his priests and princes.
- 4 "Why do you boast of your valleys,
 O daughter that lives at ease,
 Trusting in your treasures, and say-
 ing,
 'Who shall come against me?'
 Behold, I am bringing terror upon
 you,"
 is the oracle of the Lord, the GOD of hosts,
 "from all who are round about
 you;
 And you shall be driven each one in headlong flight,
 with none to rally the fugitives;
- 6 Though afterward I will restore the fortune of the children of Ammon,"
 is the oracle of the LORD.
- 7           ON EDOM, 49:7-22
- Thus says the LORD of hosts:
 "Is wisdom no more in Teman?
 Is the counsel of the sages gone?
 Is their wisdom scattered to the winds?
 8 Flee, hide yourselves in inaccessible haunts,
 You who live in Dedan!
 For the doom of Esau am I bringing
 upon him,
 His time of reckoning.
- If grape-gatherers came to you,           9
 They would leave no gleanings behind;
 If robbers came by night,
 They would destroy to their heart's content.
 So I strip Esau bare,           10
 His retreats I uncover,
 So that he cannot conceal himself.
 He is despoiled by the arm of his brothers and neighbors,
 With none to help him.
 Leave your orphans, I will keep them 11
 alive;
 And your widows—let them put their trust in me!"
- For thus says the LORD:           12
 "If those who did not deserve to drink the cup must yet drink it, shall you go unpunished? You shall not go unpunished, but drink you shall. For 13 by myself have I sworn," is the oracle of the LORD, "that Bozrah shall become a horror and a scorn, a waste and a curse, and all her daughter cities shall become perpetual wastes."
- A message have I heard from the 14
 LORD,
 And an envoy is sent through the nations:
 "Gather, and go against her,
 And advance to the battle!
 For behold, I make you small among 15
 the nations,
 And despised among men.
 The terror you inspired has deceived 16
 you,
 Your pride of heart—
 You who dwell in the clefts of the crags,
 Who hold the heights of the hills!
 Though you build your nest as high as
 the eagle,
 Even thence will I bring you down,"
 is the oracle of the LORD.
 "Then shall Edom become a horror; 17 Everyone who passes by her shall hiss with horror
 At all her wounds.
 As when Sodom and Gomorrah were 18
 overthrown,
 Along with their neighbors," says the
 LORD,
 "No man shall dwell there,
 No mortal man shall stay in her.
 Like a lion coming up from the jungle 19
 of Jordan

- Against the peaceful sheepfold,
 So will I chase them in a moment from their place,
 And whom I choose I will set upon it.
 For who is like me? and who will challenge me?
 What shepherd is there who will face
 me?
- 20 Therefore hear the purpose that the LORD has formed against Edom,
 And the plans that he has laid against the inhabitants of Teman!
 Even the youngest of the flock shall be dragged away,
 And their fold shall be shocked at their fate.
- 21 At the sound of their fall the earth shall quake,
 And the noise of their crying shall be heard as far as the Red Sea.
- 22 Behold, one like a vulture shall mount up and swoop down,
 And spread his wings against Bozrah;
 And the heart of the warriors of Edom
 on that day
 Shall be like the heart of a woman in travail."
- 23 ON DAMASCUS, 49:23-27
 Hamath and Arpad are put to shame,
 For bad news have they heard;
 They melt in fear, they are in turmoil
 like the sea,
 Which cannot rest.
- 24 Damascus is unstrung, she turns to flee,
 Trembling seizes her;
 Anguish and pangs lay hold on her,
 Like a woman in travail.
- 25 How forlorn is the famous city,
 The joyous town!
- 26 So her young men shall fall in her squares,
 And all her warriors shall be silenced
 on that day,"
 Is the oracle of the LORD of hosts.
- 27 "And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
 Which shall devour the palaces of Benhadad."
- 28 ON KEDAR AND THE KINGDOM OF HAZOR, WHICH NEBU-CHADREZZAR KING OF BABY-LON SMOTE, 49:28-33
 Thus says the LORD:
 "Arise, go up against Kedar,

- And despoil the Kedemites.
 Their tents and their flocks shall be 29
 taken,
 Their curtains and all their goods;
 Their camels also shall be borne away, While men shout at them, "Terror all around!"
 Scatter in flight to inaccessible 30
 haunts,
 You inhabitants of Hazor," is the oracle of the LORD;
 "For Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, has formed a purpose against you,
 And has laid a plan against you.
- "Arise, go up against a nation at ease, 31
 That dwells in security," is the oracle
 of the LORD,
 "A nation that has neither gates nor bars,
 That lives alone.
 Their camels shall fall a prey, 32
 And their throngs of cattle shall become a spoil;
 I will scatter to all the winds those who have the corners of their hair
 clipped,
 And from every side of them will I bring doom upon them,"
 Is the oracle of the LORD.
 "And Hazor shall become a haunt of 33 jackals,
 A desolation forever;
 No man shall dwell there,
 No mortal man shall stay in her."

ON ELAM, 49:34-39

- The word of the LORD that came to 34
 Jeremiah the prophet concerning Elam, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah, king of Judah.
 Thus says the LORD of hosts: 35
 "Behold, I am breaking the bow of Elam,
 The mainstay of their might;
 And I will bring upon Elam four winds 36
 From the four quarters of the heavens,
 And will scatter them to all these winds,
 So that there shall be no nation
 To which the outcasts of Elam shall not come.
 And I will discomfit Elam before their 37
 enemies,
 Before those who seek their lives;
 And I will bring trouble upon them, Even my fierce anger," is the oracle
 of the LORD.

- 36 "And I will send the sword after them,
Until I have consumed them;
And I will set my throne in Elam,
And thence will I destroy both king and princes,"
Is the oracle of the LORD;
- 39 "Though in the end of the days I will restore the fortune of Elam,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.

ON BABYLON, 50:1—51:58

- 60 The word that the LORD spoke concerning Babylon and the land of the Chaldeans by Jeremiah the prophet:
- 2 "Tell among the nations, publish the news,
Raise a signal, publish without concealment;
Say, 'Babylon is taken,
Bel is put to shame, Merodach is discomfited,
Her images are put to shame, her idols are discomfited.'
- 3 For against her has come up a people from the north,
That shall make her land a desolation,
So that none shall dwell in it—
Both man and beast shall have fled and gone.
- 4 "In those days, and at that time,"
Is the oracle of the LORD,
"The children of Israel shall come,
Along with the children of Judah,
Weeping as they go,
To seek the LORD their God.
- 5 They shall ask the way to Zion,
With their faces turned to it,
And they shall come and join themselves to the LORD
In an everlasting covenant that shall not be forgotten.
- 6 "Lost sheep have my people been,
Their shepherds have misled them,
They have turned them astray on the
mountains;
From mountain to hill have they gone,
Forgetting their fold.
- 7 All who found them devoured them—While their enemies said, 'We are guiltless'—
Because they sinned against the LORD, the fold of righteousness, Against the LORD, the hope of their fathers.
- 8 "Flee from the midst of Babylon,
Go out of the land of the Chaldeans,

Like he-goats before the flock.
For behold, I am rousing and raising <sup>w</sup> against Babylon
A muster of mighty nations from the north land,
Who shall set themselves in array against her,
Till she is taken from her place.
Their arrows shall be like those of a skilful warrior,
Who returns not with empty hands;
And Chaldea shall be a spoil— <sup>10</sup>
All who despoil her shall have their fill,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.

"Though you rejoice and exult, <sup>11</sup>
you who plunder my heritage.
Though you gambol like calves at grass,
and neigh like stallions,
Your mother shall be bitterly <sup>12</sup>
ashamed,
she who bore you shall be abashed;
Behold, the last of the nations shall become a wilderness,
a dry land, and a desert;
Through the wrath of the LORD she <sup>13</sup> shall not be inhabited, but shall become an utter desolation;
Everyone who passes by Babylon shall hiss in horror
at all her wounds.

"Set yourselves in array against Baby- <sup>14</sup> lon round about,
all you who bend the bow;
Shoot at her, spare not your arrows, for she has sinned against the
LORD.
Shout against her round about, <sup>15</sup>
'She gives way,
Her buttresses have fallen,
her walls are torn down!'
Because it is the vengeance of the
LORD,
therefore take vengeance upon
her,
do to her as she has done.
Cut off from Babylon both him that <sup>16</sup> sows
and him that wields the sickle in time of harvest;
While from the presence of the deadly
sword
they turn everyone to his people, and flee everyone to his land.

17 "A scattered flock is Israel,
Chased away by lions.
First the king of Assyria devoured
him,
And now at the last Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, has gnawed his bones."

18 Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:
"Behold, I am punishing the king of Babylon and his land,
As I punished the king of Assyria;
19 And I will bring back Israel to his fold,
And he shall pasture on Carmel and Bashan,
And shall browse to his heart's content on Mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those days, and at that time,"
Is the oracle of the LORD,
"Men shall search for the guilt of Israel, but shall find none,
And for the sins of Judah, but shall discover none;
For I will pardon those whom I leave as a remnant.

21 "Go up against the land of Merathaim,
And against the inhabitants of Pekod;
Slay and destroy them utterly,"
Is the oracle of the LORD;
"Do just as I have commanded you.

22 Hark! the sound of battle in the land,
The sound of dire destruction!
23 How the hammer of all the earth
Is hewn and broken in pieces!
How Babylon is become
A horror among the nations!
24 I set a snare for you, O Babylon,
And you have been taken unawares;
You have been found, you have been caught,
Because you have challenged the
LORD.

25 The LORD has opened his armory,
And has brought forth his weapons of
wrath;
For the Lord, the GOD of hosts,
Has a work to do in the land of the Chaldeans.

26 "Come upon her from every quarter, throw open her granaries, Pile her up like heaps of grain, destroy her utterly,
Let nothing of her be left!
27 Slay all her bullocks, let them go down to the slaughter;

Woe to them! for their day has come,
Their time of reckoning.
Hark! they flee, they escape from the 28
land of Babylon,
To tell in Zion of the vengeance which the LORD our God has taken,
The vengeance he has taken for his temple.

"Summon against Babylon archers, 29
All who bend the bow;
Encamp against her round about,
Let none of her escape!
Repay her for her deeds,
Do to her just as she has done;
For she has been insolent to the
LORD,
The Holy One of Israel.
Therefore her young men shall fall in 30
the squares,
And all her warriors shall be silenced
on that day,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.

"Lo! I am against you, O Insolence!" 31
Is the oracle of the Lord, the GOD of
hosts;
"For your day has come, your time of reckoning.
Insolence shall stumble and fall, 32
With none to lift him up;
And I will kindle a fire in his cities,
Which shall devour all who are round
about him."

Thus says the LORD of hosts: 33
"The children of Israel are crushed,
Along with the children of Judah;
And all who took them captive hold them fast,
They refuse to let them go.
But their vindicator is strong, 34
He whose name is the LORD of hosts;
He will surely defend their cause,
That he may bring rest to the earth,
But unrest to the inhabitants of Babylon.

"A sword upon the Chaldeans," is the 35
oracle of the LORD,
"Upon the inhabitants of Babylon, upon her princes and her sages;
A sword upon her soothsayers, that 36
they may become fools,
A sword upon her soldiers, that they may be discomfited:
A sword upon her horses, and upon 37
her chariots,

- And upon all the foreign people in the midst of her, that they may be turned into women;
 A sword upon her treasures, that they may be plundered,
- 38 A sword upon her waters, that they may be dried up;
 For she is a land of images,
 And with idols they make themselves mad.
- 39 "Therefore desert demons and goblins shall dwell there,
 And ostriches shall inhabit her;
 She shall be peopled no more forever,
 Nor occupied throughout the ages.
- 40 As when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, Along with their neighbors," is the oracle of the LORD,
 "No man shall dwell there,
 No mortal man shall stay in her.
- 41 "Behold, a people is coming from the north,
 A great nation and mighty kings are stirring from the ends of earth;
 42 They lay hold on bow and javelin,
 They are cruel and pitiless;
 The sound of them is like that of the sea when it roars,
 And they ride upon horses—
 Arrayed as a man for the battle Against you, O daughter of Zion!
- 43 The king of Babylon has heard the report of them,
 And his hands fall helpless;
 Anguish lays hold on him,
 Pain like that of a woman in travail.
- 44 "Behold, like a lion coming up from the jungles of Jordan,
 Against the peaceful sheepfold,
 So will I chase them in a moment from their place,
 And whom I choose I will set over it.
 For who is like me? and who will challenge me?
 What shepherd is there who will face me?
- 45 Therefore hear the purpose that the LORD has formed against Babylon,
 And the plans that he has laid against the land of the Chaldeans!
 Even the youngest of the flock shall be dragged away,
 And their fold shall be shocked at their fate.
- At the sound of the capture of Babylon the earth shall quake,
 And her cry shall be heard through the nations."
- Thus says the LORD: 5
 "Behold, I am rousing against Babylon,
 And against the people of Leb-kamai,
 the spirit of a destroyer;
 And I will send to Babylon winnowers who shall winnow her,
 and shall clean her land bare;
 Then woe betide her on every side on her day of trouble!
 Let the archer bend his bow,
 and stand up in his coat of mail;
 Spare not her young men,
 but utterly destroy all her host;
 Let them lie down slain in the land of the Chaldeans, thrust through in her streets!
 For their land is full of guilt against the Holy One of Israel: But Israel and Judah have not been left widows
 by their God, the LORD of
 hosts.
- "Flee from the midst of Babylon,
 save everyone his life;
 Perish not through her guilt, for this is the LORD'S time of vengeance—
 due recompense is he repaying to her.
- Babylon was a cup of gold in the hand
 of the LORD,
 that made all the earth drunk;
 Of her wine the nations drank,
 so that the nations went mad.
 Suddenly Babylon falls and is broken;
 wail over her!
 Take balm for her wound;
 perhaps she may be healed!
 We would fain have healed Babylon,
 but she is not healed.
 Leave her, and let us go
 each to his land;
 For her judgment touches the heavens,
 and reaches the skies.
 The LORD has vindicated our rights;
 Come, and let us recount in Zion
 What the LORD our God has done.
- "Polish the arrows, prepare the shields;
 For the LORD has roused the spirit of the king of the Medes,

- He has formed a design against Babylon, to destroy it;
 For such is the vengeance the LORD will take,
 The vengeance he will take for his temple.
- 12 Against the walls of Babylon raise a signal, Strengthen the blockades, set blockaders,
 Prepare the ambushes;
 For the LORD has both designed and done
 What he spoke concerning the inhabitants of Babylon.
- 13 O you who dwell by many waters,
 And are rich in treasures,
 Your end has come, your ill-gotten gains are gone;
- 14 For the LORD of hosts has sworn by himself:
 'I will fill you with men, swarming like locusts,
 Who shall raise against you the shout of victory.'
- 15 "It is he who made the earth by his power,
 Who established the world by his wisdom,
 And stretched out the heavens by his skill.
- 16 When he thunders, there is a storm of waters in the heavens,
 And he causes vapors to rise from the ends of the earth;
 He makes lightnings for the rain,
 And brings out the wind from his storehouses.
- 17 Every man is stupid and senseless,
 Every goldsmith is put to shame through his images;
 For his idols are frauds, which have no breath in them,
- 18 They are a mockery, a delusion,
 Which will break down in their time of trial.
- 19 Not such is the Portion of Jacob,
 But he is the framer of all things,
 And Israel is the tribe of his inheritance—
 The LORD of hosts is his name.
- 20 "You are my maul, my weapon of war,
 With you I shatter nations,
 With you I destroy kingdoms;
- 21 With you I shatter horse and rider,
 With you I shatter chariot and driver;
- 22 With you I shatter man and woman,
 With you I shatter old man and boy,
 With you I shatter young man and maiden;
 With you I shatter shepherd and flock,
 With you I shatter plowman and team,
 With you I shatter governor and deputy.
- And I will requite Babylon and all the inhabitants of Chaldea, before your eyes, for all the wrong that they have done in Zion," is the oracle of the LORD.
- "Behold, I am against you, O destroying mountain,
 That destroyed all the earth," is the oracle of the LORD;
- "I will stretch out my hand against you,
 And will roll you down from the crags,
 And will make you a burning mountain.
 No cornerstone shall be taken from you,
 No foundation stone;
 But you shall be a perpetual desolation,"
- Is the oracle of the LORD.
- "Raise a signal on the earth,
 Blow a trumpet among the nations;
 Prepare the nations for war against her,
 Summon against her the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni and Ashkenaz;
 Appoint a field marshal against her,
 Bring up horses like bristling locusts.
 Prepare the nations for war against her,
 The king of the Medes, his governors,
 and all his deputies,
 With all the land which he rules.
 The earth quakes and writhes in pain,
 For the purposes of the LORD against Babylon stand,
 To make the land of Babylon a desolation,
 Without an inhabitant.
- "The warriors of Babylon have ceased to fight,
 They stay in their strongholds;
 Their strength is exhausted, they are turned into women;
 Her dwellings are ablaze, her bars are broken.
 Runners run to meet runner,

- Messenger to meet messenger,
 To tell the king of Babylon
 That his city is taken from end to end, 32 That the fords have been seized,
 That the outworks are burned,
 And that the men of war are discom-fitted.
 33 For thus says the LORD of hosts,
 the God of Israel:
 'The daughter of Babylon is like a threshing-floor
 after it has been trodden,
 And in a little while the time of harvest shall come for her.'
- 34 "Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, has devoured me,
 he has consumed me;
 He has set me down as an empty vessel,
 he has swallowed me like a monster;
 He has filled his maw with my dainties,
 he has rinsed me out.
 35 'The violence done to my flesh be upon Babylon!'
 let the inhabitants of Zion say;
 'My blood be upon the inhabitants of Chaldea!'
 let Jerusalem say.
 36 Therefore thus says the LORD:
 'Behold, I am defending your cause,
 and will take vengeance for you;
 I will dry up her sea,
 and will drain her fountain.
 37 And Babylon shall become a heap of ruins,
 a haunt of jackals,
 A horror and a hissing,
 without an inhabitant.'
- 38 "Though they roar together like young
 lions,
 And growl like lions' whelps, 39 With poison will I prepare them a feast,
 And I will make them drunk till they swoon away,
 And sleep a perpetual sleep,
 And never awake," is the oracle of the
 LORD.
 40 "I will bring them down to the slaughter like lambs,
 Like rams and he-goats.
 41 "How is Sheshach taken,
 The praise of the whole earth seized!
- How has Babylon become
 A horror among the nations!
 The sea has come up on Babylon, 42
 With the surge of its waves is she covered;
 Her cities have become a waste, 43
 A dry land, and a desert,
 A land where no man dwells,
 Through which no mortal passes.
 Bel also will I punish in Babylon, 44
 And out of his mouth will I bring forth what he has swallowed;
 Then no more shall the nations stream
 to him,
 For the wall of Babylon is fallen.
- "Go out of the midst of her, O my peo- 45
 ple!
 Save everyone his life
 From the fierce anger of the LORD.
 Be not downhearted or fearful 46
 At the rumors heard in the land;
 When one rumor comes in one year,
 And another in the next;
 When violence reigns in the land,
 And ruler stands against ruler.
 Therefore behold, days are coming, 47
 When I will punish the images of Babylon,
 And all her land shall be put to shame,
 And all her slain shall lie in the midst of her.
 Then the heavens and the earth, and 48
 all that is in them,
 Shall ring out their joy over Babylon;
 For out of the north shall the despoilers come to her,"
 Is the oracle of the LORD;
 "And Babylon also must fall for the 49
 slain of Israel,
 As for Babylon have fallen the slain of all the earth.
- "You that escape from the sword, 50 Go, stand not still;
 Remember the LORD from afar,
 And think of Jerusalem:
 'We are put to shame, for reproach 51
 have we heard;
 Confusion has covered our faces,
 For strangers have entered the sanctuary
 Of the house of the LORD.'
 Therefore behold, days are coming," 52
 Is the oracle of the LORD,
 "When I will punish her images,
 And all through her land the slain shall lie.
 Though Babylon scale the heavens, 53

And fortify her stronghold on high, Yet from me shall despoilers come to
her,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.

- 54 "Hark! a cry from Babylon,
The sound of dire destruction from the land of the Chaldeans!
55 For the LORD is despoiling Babylon,
And stills her mighty voice.
They roar like many waters,
The din of their voice is raised;
56 For the despoiler has come upon Babylon,
And her warriors are taken, their bows are broken in pieces;
For the LORD is a God of recompense,
He will surely requite.
57 Her princes and her sages will I make drunk,
Her governors, her deputies, and her soldiers;
And they shall sleep a perpetual sleep,
And shall never awake," is the oracle
of the King,
Whose name is the LORD of hosts.

- 58 Thus says the LORD of hosts:
"The broad wall of Babylon shall be razed to the ground,
And her lofty gates shall be burned;
So the peoples shall toil for nought,
And the nations shall weary themselves for the fire."

THE MESSAGE TO SERAIAH, 51:59-64

- 59 The word with which Jeremiah the prophet charged Seraiah, the son of Neriaah, the son of Mahseiah, when he went with Zedekiah, king of Judah, to Babylon in the fourth year of his reign,
Seraiah being quarter-master.
60 When Jeremiah had written on a special scroll a record of all the trouble that was to come upon Babylon—even all these words that he had written concerning Babylon—Jeremiah said to Seraiah,
"When you reach Babylon, see that you read all these words, and say,
'Thou, O LORD, hast declared concerning this place, that thou wilt cut it off, so that neither man nor beast may dwell in it, but that it will be a perpetual desolation.' And when you have finished reading this scroll, tie a stone to it, and throw it into the middle of the Euphrates, and say, 'Thus shall Baby- 64 lon sink, to rise no more, because of the trouble that I am bringing upon her.' "

Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

THE FALL OF JERUSALEM, 52:1-30

Zedekiah was twenty-one years old 52
when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem for eleven years. His mother's name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. He 2 did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, just as Jehoiakim had done; and 3
the anger of the LORD blazed against Jerusalem and Judah until he had cast them out of his presence.

Then Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. Accordingly, in the 4 ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, with all his army came against Jerusalem, encamped against it, and built a siegewall against it round about; and the 5 city remained under siege till the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. In the 6 fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, when the famine in the city was so severe that there was no food for the common people, the city was breached, 7 and the king and all the soldiers fled and left the city by night by way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the king's garden, while the Chal-deans were beleaguering the city, and went in the direction of the Arabah.
But the Chaldean army pursued the 8 king, and overtook Zedekiah in the steppes of Jericho, his whole army having scattered from him. Then they 9 took the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon at Riblah in the land of Hamath, and he pronounced judgment against him. Also the king of 10 Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes. He likewise slew all the princes of Judah at Riblah. Then the 11 king of Babylon put out the eyes of Zedekiah, bound him in fetters, carried him to Babylon, and put him in prison, where he remained till the day of his death.

In the fifth month, on the tenth day 12 of the month—this was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon—Nebuzaradan, the com-

13 mander of the guard, a minister in attendance on the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem, and burned the house of the LORD and the king's house; and all the houses of Jerusalem, even every great house, he burned. The whole Chaldean army that was with the commander of the guard broke down all the walls of Jerusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, carried captive the rest of the people that were left in the city, and the deserters who had deserted to the king of Babylon, together with the artisans that were left. But some of the poorest of the land Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, left as vine-dressers and plowmen. Moreover, the bronze pillars, the stands, and the bronze sea that were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke up and carried all the bronze from them to Babylon. Also the pots, the shovels, the snuffers, the basins, the pans, and all the vessels of bronze with which the service was conducted, they took away.

19 Likewise the cups, the firepans, the basins, the pots, the lampstands, the pans, and the bowls, what was of gold, the commander of the guard took away as gold, and what was of silver, as silver—

20 besides the two columns, the sea, the twelve bronze bulls that were under the sea, and the stands, which King Solomon had made for the house of the LORD, the bronze of all these vessels being beyond weight. The columns were each eighteen cubits in height, twelve cubits in circumference, and four fingers in diameter, the center being hollow. A bronze capital surmounted each, and the height of each capital was five cubits, with network and pomegranates round about the capital, all of bronze; and the second column had the same network and pomegranates. On the network round about there were ninety-six pomegranates on the outside, one hundred in all.

24 Then the commander of the guard took Seraiah, the chief priest, and

Zephaniah, the second priest, with the three keepers of the threshold; he took also from the city a eunuch who had charge of the soldiers, and seven of the personal companions of the king who were found in the city, the scribe of the commander of the army who mustered the people of the land, and sixty of the people of the land who were found in the city. Having taken them, Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. Then the king of Babylon struck them down and put them to death at Riblah in the land of Hamath. Thus was Judah carried captive from its land.

This is the sum-total of the people whom Nebuchadrezzar carried captive: in the seventh year, three thousand and twenty-three Jews; in the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar, eight hundred and thirty-two persons from Jerusalem; in the twenty-third year of Nebuchadrezzar, seven hundred and forty-five Jews, carried captive by Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard; in all, four thousand six hundred persons.

THE DELIVERANCE OF JEHOIACHIN,

52:31-34

In the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin, king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-fifth day of the month, Evil-Merodach, king of Babylon, in the first year of his reign, summoned Jehoiachin and brought him from prison. He spoke kindly to him, and set his throne above that of the other kings who were with him in Babylon. So he changed his prison dress, and dined in his presence regularly all the days of his life; and for his provision, a regular allowance was given him from the king of Babylon, a portion for each day, all the days of his life, till the day of his death.

THE BOOK OF LAMENTATIONS

THE DESOLATION AND MISERY OF CONQUERED JERUSALEM, 1:1-22

- ⋈
- 1 How lonely the city sits,
once so crowded with people!
She has become like a widow, once so great among the nations;
She that was a princess among the cities
has become a vassal.
- ⋉
- 2 She weeps bitterly by night,
with her tears upon her cheeks;
She has no comforter
out of all her lovers;
All her friends have betrayed her;
they have become her enemies.
- ⋊
- 3 Judah has been carried into exile, to suffer tribulation and hard servitude;
She has to live among the nations,
she can find no home;
Her pursuers have all overtaken her in the midst of her troubles.
- ⋋
- 4 The roads to Zion mourn, without pilgrims to the feasts;
All her gates are desolate;
her priests moan;
Her maidens have been dragged off, while she is left disconsolate.
- ⋌
- 5 Her oppressors have become supreme;
her enemies have triumphed;
For the LORD has afflicted her for the multitude of her sins;
Her children have gone forth, as captives before the oppressor.
- ⋍
- 6 Gone too from the daughter of Zion
is all her splendor;

Her princes have become like stags,
that can find no pasture,
But flee exhausted
before the hunter.

Jerusalem recalls, 7 in the time of her affliction and misery,
All her glory,
which she had in days of old,
Now that her people have fallen at the hands of the oppressor, with none to help her;
The oppressors gaze at her,
they laugh at her downfall.

Jerusalem sinned greatly, 8
and so has become filthy;
All her late admirers despise her,
because they see her condition;
Whereas she herself moans, and turns away.

⋎

Her uncleanness clung to her skirts; 9 she took no thought of her future;
So she has fallen most horribly,
with none to comfort her.
"See, O LORD, my affliction, how the enemy triumphs."

⋏

The oppressor has laid his hand 10
upon all her treasures;
For she has seen the nations
enter her sanctuary,
Those whom thou didst command not to enter thine assembly place.

⋐

Her people are all moaning, 11
in their search for bread;
They give of their treasures for food,
to keep themselves alive.
"See, O LORD, and behold,
how abased I am."

12 "Ho, all you who pass along the road,
look and see,
If there is any pain like my pain,
which has been dealt to me,
With which the LORD has afflicted me in the day of his fierce anger.

13 "From above he has hurled fire; into my bones he has made it descend;
He has spread a net for my feet;
he has tripped me up;
He has made me desolate,
miserable all the time.

14 "Watch has been kept over my transgressions;
by his hand they are bound together;
They have come upon my neck;
he has shattered my strength;
The Lord has delivered me into the power of those that I cannot withstand.

15 "The Lord in my midst has set at nought all my warriors;
He has called an assembly against me,
to crush my young men;
The Lord has trodden as in a winepress
the virgin daughter of Judah.

16 "For all these things I weep;
my eyes shed tears;
For a comforter is far from me,
someone to console me;
My children are distraught,
for the enemy has prevailed."

17 Zion spreads out her hands,
with none to comfort her;
The LORD has given command regarding Jacob, that his neighbors are to be his oppressors;
Jerusalem has become abhorrent to them.

18 "The LORD is right, for I have rebelled against his word

Yet hear, all you peoples, and look at my pain:
How my youths and maidens have gone into captivity.

"I called on my lovers,
but they repudiated me;
My priests and elders perished in the city,
When they sought food
to keep themselves alive.

"See, O LORD, how I am in distress, how my spirits are troubled;
How my heart is upset within me, because I have been so rebellious.
On the street the sword has caused bereavement,
even as death in the house.

"They hear how I moan, with none to comfort me;
All my enemies have heard of my plight;
they rejoice that thou hast
done it;
That thou hast brought the day which thou didst announce;
but they are like me.

"Let all their wickedness come before ::
thee,
and do unto them,
As thou hast done unto me
for all my transgressions;
For my sorrow is great,
and my heart is miserable."

GOD'S JUDGMENT ON JERUSALEM, 2:1-22

How the Lord in his anger has brought disgrace
upon the daughter of Zion!
He has cast down from heaven to
earth
the glory of Israel;
And has given no heed to his footstool
in the day of his anger.

The Lord has consumed without mercy :
all the habitations of Jacob;

He has thrown down in his wrath
the strongholds of the daughter of Judah;

He has struck to the ground,
he has degraded her king and her princes.

י

He has cut off in fierce anger
all of Israel's strength;
He has drawn back their right hand
from the enemy;
And has burned throughout Jacob, like a flaming fire which consumes the neighborhood.

י

He has bent his bow like an enemy, with his right hand set like an adversary;
And he has slain all the notables in the tents of the daughter of Zion;
He has vented his fury like fire.

י

The Lord has become like an enemy;
he has consumed Israel;
He has consumed all his palaces;
he has demolished his fortresses;
And he has heaped on the daughter of Judah
mourning and moaning.

י

He has torn down his pavilion like that of a garden;
he has demolished his meeting
place;
The LORD has abolished in Zion festival and sabbath;
And he has repudiated in the heat of his anger
king and priest.

י

The Lord has spurned his altar;
he has rejected his sanctuary;
He has surrendered into the power of the enemy
the walls of her palaces;
There was shouting in the temple of
the LORD,
as on a day of festival.

י

The LORD had determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion;

He stretched out a line;
he did not restrain his hand
from consuming;
So rampart and wall mourn;
they lament together.

י

Her gates are sunk to the ground;
he has destroyed and broken
her bars;
Her king and princes are among the
nations;
government has ceased;
Neither do her prophets receive any visions from the LORD.

י

Silent on the ground sit the elders of the daughter of Zion;
They have thrown dust on their heads;
they have put on sackcloth;
The maidens of Jerusalem hang their heads to the ground.

י

My eyes are spent with tears;
my spirits are troubled.
My grief is poured out on the ground,
over the downfall of the daughter of my people;
Because of the swooning of babes and sucklings
in the city squares.

י

To their mothers they keep saying,
"Where is there grain and wine?"
While they swoon like one wounded
in the city squares;
While their lives ebb away on their mother's bosoms.

י

To what can I liken you;
what can I compare with you,
O daughter of Jerusalem?
What can I liken to you, that I may comfort you, O virgin daughter of Zion?
For your ruin is as vast as the sea;
who can heal you?

י

Your prophets have divined for you stuff and nonsense;

And instead of denouncing your iniquity,
to restore your fortune,
They have divined for you oracles, vain and misleading.

D

- 15 All who pass along the road
clap their hands at you;
They hiss and wag their heads
at the daughter of Jerusalem:
"Is this the city that was called perfect in beauty,
the joy of all the earth?"

D

- 16 All your enemies
revile you;
They hiss and gnash their teeth;
they say, "We have consumed
her;
This is indeed the day that we looked for;
we have found it; we see it."

J

- 17 The LORD has done what he planned;
he has carried out his word,
As he decreed long ago;
he has devastated without
mercy,
And he has let the enemy rejoice over
you;
he has exalted the strength of your oppressors.

Z

- 18 Cry unto the Lord;
wail, O daughter of Zion;
Weep tears like a torrent,
day and night;
Give yourself no respite;
let your tears cease not.

P

- 19 Rise, cry out in the night, at the beginning of the watches;
Pour out your heart like water
in the presence of the Lord;
Lift up your hands to him for the life of your children, Who faint for hunger
at the head of every street.

T

- 20 See, O LORD, and behold;
to whom else hast thou done
thus:

Whether it be women devouring their own offspring, their petted children;
Or priest and prophet slain in the sanctuary of the LORD?

W

Prostrate on the ground in the streets:
lie
both the young and the old;
My youths and maidens have fallen by the sword;
Thou hast slain them in the day of thine anger;
thou hast slaughtered them without mercy.

T

Thou didst invite them as though it were a feast day,
to my guest chamber from the neighborhood;
But in the day of the LORD's anger
there was none
that escaped or survived;
Those whom I fondled and reared,
my enemy exterminated.

JERUSALEM'S LAMENT AND PRAYER, 3:1-66

Z

"I am a person who has seen affliction:
by the rod of his wrath;
He has led me and made me walk in darkness and not light.
Against me alone he has repeatedly turned his hand all the time.

C

"He has wasted my flesh and my skin;
he has broken my bones.
He has fenced me in,
and encompassed me with bitterness and hardship.
He has made me live in the dark,
like those long dead.

J

"He has walled me in so that I cannot get out;
he has loaded me with chains.
Also, whenever I have cried, and called for help,
he has ignored my prayer.

9 He has walled up my ways with hewn stones;
he has made my paths crooked.

10 "He has been a lurking bear to me, a lion in ambush.
11 He has waylaid me, and mangled me;
he has made me desolate.
12 He has bent his bow,
and set me up as a target for his arrows.

13 "He has driven into my vitals
the shafts of his quiver;
14 I have become the butt of all peoples, their taunt-song all the time.
15 He has filled me with bitterness;
he has sated me with anguish.

16 "He has broken my teeth with gravel stones;
he has made me cower in ashes;
17 And he has robbed me of happiness;
I have forgotten what prosperity is;
18 So I said, 'Gone is my strength, and my hope in the LORD.'

19 "The thought of my affliction and bitterness is anguish and misery.
20 I am indeed thinking of it, and I am crushed in spirit.
21 But this I call to mind,
and so I have hope:

22 "That the gracious deeds of the LORD never cease,
his compassion never fails;
23 They are fresh every morning;
great is his faithfulness.
24 'The LORD is my heritage,' I said;
'therefore will I hope in him.'

25 "The LORD is good to him who craves him, to the person who seeks him.
26 It is good that one should wait quietly for help from the LORD; 27 It is good for a man, that he should bear the yoke in his youth.

"Let him sit alone in silence,
since it has been laid upon him. 28
Let him lay his mouth in the dust;
perhaps there may be hope. 29
Let him offer his cheek to the smiter;
let him be sated with disgrace; 30

31 "For the LORD forever will not spurn him.
32 Though he cause grief,
he will have compassion in accordance with his abundant kindness;
33 For he does not willingly afflict, nor grieve mankind.

34 "To crush under foot
all prisoners of the earth, 35 To deprive a man of his rights,
in the face of the Almighty, 36 To subvert man in his cause,
the LORD does not countenance.

37 "Who is there that can order anything into being,
when the LORD has not decreed it?
38 Is it not by decree of the Most High,
that good and evil come?
39 Of what can living man complain, each one because of his sins?

40 "Let us search, and examine our ways,
and return to the LORD;
41 Let us lift up our hearts with our hands to God in the heavens:
42 'We have transgressed and rebelled;
but thou hast not pardoned.

43 "Thou hast enveloped thyself in anger, and pursued us;
thou hast slain without mercy;
44 Thou hast enveloped thyself in a cloud,
so that no prayer can pass through;
45 Thou hast made us scum and refuse among the peoples.

- D
- 46 "All our enemies have reviled us;
- 47 Desolation and destruction have become terror and calamity to us.'
- 48 My eyes shed torrents of water, over the downfall of the daughter of my people.
- Y
- 49 "My eyes will flow unceasingly, without any respite,
- 50 Until the LORD from the heavens looks down, and sees.
- 51 My eyes give me pain, because of all the maidens of my city.
- X
- 52 "They who had no reason to be my enemies
hunted me like a bird;
- 53 They threw me into a pit to die,
and cast stones on me.
- 54 Water flowed over my head;
I said, 'I am lost.'
- P
- 55 "I called on thy name, O LORD, out of the depths of the pit.
- 56 Thou didst hear my cry,
'Close not thine ear to my supplication, to my cry';
- 57 Thou didst draw near when I called on thee;
thou didst say, 'Fear not.'
- T
- 58 "O LORD, thou didst plead my cause, thou didst redeem my life.
- 59 O LORD, thou hast seen the wrong done me;
give me justice.
- 60 Thou hast seen all their vengeance,
all their plots against me.
- W
- 61 "Thou hast heard their insults, O
LORD,
all their plots against me,
- 62 The utterances of my assailants, and their muttering against me all day long.
- 63 Whether they are idle or busy,
see how I am their taunt-song.
- N
- 64 "Repay them, O LORD,
as their deeds deserve;

Give them blindness of heart; 65
let thy curse be on them; Pursue them in anger, 66 and destroy them from under thy heavens, O LORD!"

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN JERUSALEM'S PAST AND PRESENT, 4:1-22

N

How dim the gold has become, 4 how changed the finest gold!
The sacred stones are being thrown out
at the head of every street.

D

The precious children of Zion, comparable to fine gold,
Count, alas, as earthen pots,
the work of a potter's hands!

D

Even the jackals present their breasts, they suckle their young;
But the daughter of my people has become cruel,
like the ostriches of the desert.

T

The tongue of the suckling child cleaves
to his palate for thirst;
The children are begging bread,
with none to offer it to them.

T

They that did feast on dainties are perishing in the streets;
They that were reared amid purple have to take to dunghills.

T

So the iniquity of the daughter of my people must be greater than the sin of Sodom,
That was overthrown as in a moment, without any hands being laid on her.

T

Her princes were purer than snow;
they were whiter than milk;
They were ruddier in body than cor-
als;
a sapphire was their form.

- 6 But their appearance has become blacker than coal;
 they are not recognized on the streets;
 Their skin has shriveled on their
 bones;
 it has become as dry as a stick.
- 9 Better off are those stricken by the sword
 than those stricken by hunger;
 For they can eat, even though wounded,
 of the fruits of the field.
- 10 Tender-hearted women with their own hands
 have cooked their children;
 They became their food,
 at the downfall of the daughter
 of my people.
- 11 The LORD has spent his fury;
 he has vented his fierce anger;
 And he has kindled a fire in Zion, that has consumed her founda-
 tions.
- 12 No kings of the earth believed, nor any of the inhabitants of the world,
 That the oppressor and enemy could enter the gates of Jerusalem.
- 13 It was for the sins of her prophets,
 the iniquities of her priests,
 Who shed in her midst
 the blood of the righteous.
- 14 They stagger blindly through the streets;
 they are defiled with blood;
 That which they should not,
 they touch with their clothes.
- 15 "Away! Unclean!" they cry of themselves;
 "Away! Away! Touch not!"
 For they are fugitives, wanderers
 among the nations;
 they no longer have a home.

D
 Those whose heritage was the LORD, 16
 he no longer notices;
 He does not honor the priests;
 he does not respect the prophets.

J
 Our eyes still strain 17
 after help for us that is vain;
 In our watching we have watched for a nation that will not save.

Z
 Men dog our footsteps, 18 so that we cannot walk in our public squares;
 Our end is near; our days are finished;
 for our end has come.

P
 Our pursuers were swifter 19 than the eagles of the heavens;
 They chased us on the mountains:
 they lay in wait for us in the wilderness.

7
 Our breath of life, the LORD'S anoint- 20
 ed,
 was captured in their pits,
 Of whom we had said,
 "Under his protection we shall live among the nations."

W
 Rejoice and be glad, O daughter of 21
 Edom,
 living in the land of Uz!
 To you also shall the cup pass;
 you shall become drunk, and be stripped naked.

7
 Your iniquity is absolved, O daughter 22 of Zion;
 he will no longer keep you in captivity.
 He will punish your iniquity, O daughter of Edom;
 he will lay bare your sins.

THE NATION'S PRAYER FOR COMPASSION, 5:1-22

THE BOOK OF EZEKIEL

THE CALL OF THE PROPHET, 1:1—3:15

IN THE thirtieth year, in the fourth month, on the fifth day of the month, as I was among the exiles by the river Chebar, the heavens opened, and I saw visions of God. [It was on the fifth day of the month, in the fifth year of the exile of King Jehoiachin, that the word of the LORD came to Ezekiel, the son of Buzi, the priest, in the land of the Chaldeans, by the river Chebar, and the hand of the LORD was upon him there.]

I looked, and lo! there came from the north a violent gale, accompanied by a great cloud, with fire flashing through it, and a radiance round about it, while out of the midst of it gleamed something with a luster like that of shining metal. Out of the midst of it emerged the semblance of four living creatures, and this was their appearance: their form was like that of a man. Each, however, had four faces and four wings. Their legs, too, were straight, while the soles of their feet resembled the sole of a calf's foot; and they sparkled like burnished bronze. Under their wings, on their four sides, were the hands of a man. The wings of the four of them were linked one to another; and their faces turned not as they went, but each went straight forward. As for the appearance of their faces, the four of them had the face of a man in front, the face of a lion on the right, the face of an ox on the left, and the face of an eagle behind. The wings of the four of them were outstretched, one pair being linked to those of the next creature, and the other pair covering the body. Each went straight forward; wherever the spirit wished to go, they went, not turning as they went. And in the midst of the creatures was an appearance like burning coals of fire, resembling torches, moving to and fro among the creatures; and the fire had a radiance, while out of the fire went lightning, running to and fro.

As I looked at the creatures, lo! there was a wheel on the ground beside each of the four of them. The color of the wheels was like topaz; and the four of them had the same shape, their construction being as if one wheel were within another. When they went, they went on their four sides, not turning as they went. The wheels had felloes; and as I looked at them, lo! the felloes of the four of them were full of eyes round about. When the creatures went, the wheels went beside them; and when the creatures rose from the earth, the wheels also rose. Wherever the spirit wished to go, they went; for the spirit of the creatures was in the wheels. When these went, they went; and when these stood still, they stood still; and when these rose from the earth, the wheels rose along with them; for the spirit of the creatures was in the wheels.

Over the heads of the creatures was the semblance of a firmament, glittering like transparent ice, stretched above their heads. Under the firmament one pair of their wings touched those of the next creature, while the other pair covered the body. And when they went, the sound of their wings sounded to me like the sound of mighty waters, or like the voice of the Almighty—it was a sound of tumult like that of an armed camp—and when they stood still, they let down their wings. Above the firmament that was over their heads was the semblance of a throne, colored like sapphire; and upon the semblance of the throne was a semblance like that of a man sitting above it. From the appearance of his loins upward I saw something with a luster like that of shining metal; and from the appearance of his loins downward I saw something resembling fire, with a radiance round about it, resembling the bow that appears in the clouds on a rainy day.

Such was the semblance of the glory of the LORD, as it appeared to me. And when I saw it, I fell upon my face. Then

I heard the voice of someone speaking.

2 And he said to me,
"O mortal man, stand upon your feet, that I may speak with you!"

2 As he spoke to me, a spirit entered
3 me, and set me upon my feet. And I heard him that spoke to me saying,

"O mortal man, I am sending you to the children of Israel, that nation of rebels who have rebelled against me—they and their fathers have sinned

4 against me to this very day, the children also are hard-faced and stubborn—I am sending you to them, and you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD!'

5 And whether they listen or decline to listen—for they are a rebellious house—they shall know that there is a

6 prophet among them. And you, O mortal man, fear them not, nor be dismayed at them; even when thistles and thorns are round about you, and you dwell among scorpions, fear not their words, nor be dismayed at their looks—

7 for they are a rebellious house. You shall speak what I say to them, whether they listen or decline to listen—for they

8 are a rebellious house. And you, O mortal man, hear what I say to you; be not rebellious like that rebellious house. Open your mouth, and eat what I give you!"

9 Then I looked, and lo! there was a hand stretched out to me; and lo! there 10 was in it a scroll. And he unrolled it before me; and it was covered with writing on both sides—words of lamentation, mourning, and woe were written

3 on it. Then he said to me,
"O mortal man, eat what you find here; eat this scroll, then go and speak to the house of Israel!"

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gave 3 me the scroll to eat, saying to me,

"O mortal man, eat and digest this scroll which I am giving you!"

4 And when I ate the scroll, it was as sweet as honey in my mouth. Then he said to me,

• "O mortal man, go to the house of Israel, and speak what I say to them.

5 For it is not to a people of unintelligible speech or difficult language that you are

6 sent, but to the house of Israel—not to many peoples of unintelligible speech or difficult language, whose words you cannot understand. If I sent you to them, they would certainly listen to

7 you. But the house of Israel will not listen to you; for they will not listen to me; for the whole house of Israel is hard-faced and stubborn. But I will make you as hard-faced and stubborn as they; I will make you like adamant, harder than flint. Fear them not, nor be dismayed before them—for they are a rebellious house."

He said further to me,

"O mortal man, all the words that I shall speak to you receive and attend to. Then go to the exiles, your fellow-countrymen, and speak to them, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD!' whether they hear or decline to hear."

Then a spirit lifted me up (and as the glory of the LORD rose from its place, I heard behind me the sound of a great rustling; it was the sound of the wings of the creatures as they touched one another, and the sound of the wheels beside them, that caused the great rustling), a spirit lifted me up and carried me away, and I went with my spirit in a fierce glow—the hand of the LORD pressing hard upon me—and came to the exiles who lived at Tel-abib, by the River Chebar, and stayed with them there for seven days in a state of stupor.

THE PROPHET AS WATCHMAN, 3:16-21

At the end of seven days the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

"O mortal man, I appoint you a watchman to the house of Israel; and whenever you hear a word from my mouth, you shall warn them from me.

If I say to the wicked, 'You shall surely die,' and you fail to warn him—if you say nothing to warn the wicked man from his wicked way, in order to save his life—he being wicked shall die for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at your hand. If, however, you warn the wicked man, and he turn not from his wicked conduct and his wicked way, he shall die for his iniquity, but you will have saved yourself. Or if a righteous man turn from his righteousness, and do what is wrong, and I make that the occasion for bringing about his downfall, he shall die; because you did not warn him, he shall die for his sin, and the righteous deeds which he has done shall not be remembered, but his blood will I require at your hand. If, however, you warn the righteous man not to sin, and he do not sin, he shall live, because he took warning; and you will have saved yourself."

THE SEALING OF THE PROPHET'S LIPS, 3:22-27

22 Then the hand of the LORD came there upon me, and he said to me, "Arise, go out to the plain, and there will I speak with you."

23 So I arose, and went out to the plain; and lo! there stood the glory of the LORD, like the glory which I had seen by the River Chebar; and I fell upon my face. But a spirit entered me, and set me upon my feet; and he spoke with me, and said to me,

"Go, shut yourself up in your house. 25 And see! O mortal man, I will place cords upon you, and will bind you with them, so that you cannot go out in public. And I will make your tongue cleave to your palate, so that you shall be dumb, and unable to reprove them—for 27 they are a rebellious house. But when I speak with you, I will open your mouth, and you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD'—let him hear who will, and let him decline to hear who will—for they are a rebellious house."

SYMBOLS OF THE SIEGE AND FALL OF JERUSALEM, 4:1-5:17

14 "And you, O mortal man, take a brick, and place it before you, and trace 2 upon it a city—Jerusalem—and lay entrenchments against it, build a siege-wall against it, throw up a mound against it, pitch camps against it, and set battering-rams against it round 13 about. Then take an iron griddle, and place it as an iron wall between you and the city; and set your face toward it, bringing it under a state of siege, and press on the siege against it. This is a sign for the house of Israel.

14 "Then lie upon your left side, and bear upon it the guilt of the house of Israel—as many days as you lie upon it 15 you shall bear their guilt. For the years of their punishment I assign you an equal number of days—three hundred and ninety days—during all of which you shall bear the guilt of the house of Israel. And when you have completed 6 these, you shall next lie upon your right side, and shall bear the guilt of the house of Judah—forty days I assign you, each day representing a year. 7 And you shall set your face and your bared arm toward the siege of Jerusalem, and shall prophesy against it. And behold, 8 I will place cords upon you, and you shall not turn from side to side until you have completed the days of your siege.

"Then take wheat, barley, beans, 9 lentils, millet, and spelt; put them into a pot, and make them into bread; and during all the days that you are lying upon your side—three hundred and ninety days—you shall eat it. And the food that you eat shall be weighed out, 10 twenty shekels a day, to be eaten at a fixed hour each day. Water also shall 11 you drink by measure, a sixth of a hin a day, to be drunk at a fixed hour each day. And your food shall be in the form 12 of barley-cakes, which you shall bake on human excrement in the presence of the people."

Then the LORD said, 13 "So shall the children of Israel eat their bread unclean among the nations to which I will drive them."

Whereupon I said, 14 "Ah Lord GOD! I have never yet defiled myself with uncleanness; from my boyhood up till now I have not eaten what died a natural death or was torn by wild beasts, nor has unclean flesh entered my mouth."

So he said to me, 15 "See! I allow you cow's dung instead of human excrement, on which to prepare your food."

He said further to me, 16 "O mortal man, behold, I am breaking the staff of bread in Jerusalem; and they shall eat bread by weight, in anxious fear, and shall drink water by measure, in dire dismay, till from want 17 of bread and water they fall together into a stupor, and pine away under their punishment.

"And you, O mortal man, take a 5 sharp sword, and use it as a barber's razor, passing it over your head and beard; then take scales for weighing, and divide the hair. One-third you shall 2 burn in the fire that will rage within the city when the days of the siege are over;

one-third you shall smite with the sword round about the city; and one-third you shall scatter to the wind. But take a few of these, and wrap them in the skirts of your robe; and take some of these again, and cast them into the midst of the fire, and burn them in the fire; and say to the whole house of Israel,

5 "Thus says the LORD: 'This is a symbol of the fate of Jerusalem. I set her in the midst of the nations, with 6 lands round about her. Yet she has wickedly rebelled against my ordinances and statutes more than the nations and lands that are round about her; for her people have scorned my ordinances and have not followed my statutes.' Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you have been more rebellious than the nations that are round about you, by not following my statutes, nor obeying my ordinances, nor even conforming to the practices of the nations that are round about you'— 8 therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, I am against you—even I—and I will execute judgments in the midst of 9 you in the sight of the nations. Because of all your abominable deeds I will do among you what I have never done before, and the like of which I will never 10 do again. On this account fathers shall eat their sons and sons shall eat their fathers in the midst of you; and I will execute judgments among you, and will scatter to all the winds all who remain 11 of you. As I live,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD, 'because you have defiled my sanctuary with all your detestable and abominable deeds, I will cut you 12 down without mercy or pity. One-third of you shall die of pestilence or perish with famine in the midst of you; one-third shall fall by the sword round about you; and one-third will I scatter to all the winds, and after them will I 13 draw the sword. So shall my anger spend itself, and my fury will I satisfy upon you, and be appeased; and you shall know that I the LORD have spoken—through my zeal when I spend my 14 fury upon you. I will make you also a waste among the nations that are round about you, and a reproach in the sight 15 of every passer-by. You shall be a reproach and a contempt, a warning and a horror, to the nations that are round about you, when I execute judgments among you with furious chastisements—I the LORD have spoken. And I will send my deadly arrows against you—the arrows intended for destruction which I will send to destroy you—and I will bring repeated attacks of famine upon you, and break your staff of bread. I will send against you famine and wild beasts to rob you of your children; and pestilence and bloodshed shall pass through you; and I will bring the sword upon you—I the LORD have spoken.' "

A PROPHECY AGAINST THE MOUNTAINS OF ISRAEL,

6:1-14

The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

"O mortal man, set your face toward the mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them, and say, 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD! Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains and the hills, the ravines, and the valleys: Behold, I am bringing a sword upon you, and I will destroy your high places; your altars shall be demolished, and your incense altars broken; and I will bring down your slain before your idols; I will lay the dead bodies of the children of Israel before their idols, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars. In all your settlements the cities shall be laid waste and the high places demolished, so that your altars may be laid waste and made desolate, your idols broken and annihilated, your incense altars cut down, and your works blotted out. Your slain also shall fall in the midst of you; and you shall know that I am the LORD, when I leave but a few of you who escape from the sword among the nations, scattered through the lands. Then those of you who escape shall remember me among the nations to which they are carried captive, when I have broken their heart which has apostatized from me, and blinded their eyes which have run wantonly after their idols; and they shall loathe themselves for the evil deeds they have done—even for all their abominations—and they shall know that it was not without purpose that I the LORD threatened to do all this evil to them.' "

11 Thus says the Lord GOD:

12 "Clench your fists, stamp your feet, and say, 'Alas!' over all the vile abominations of the house of Israel, for which they shall fall by sword, famine, and pestilence. He who is far off shall die of pestilence; he who is near at hand shall fall by the sword; and he who remains under siege shall perish with famine—so will I spend my fury upon them.

13 And they shall know that I am the LORD, when their slain lie among their idols round about their altars, on every high hill, and on every mountain top, under every spreading tree, and under every leafy terebinth—the sanctuaries where they offered soothing odors to all their idols. And I will stretch out my hand against them, and will make the land a desolation and a waste, through the whole extent of their settlements, from the desert to Riblah; so shall they know that I am the LORD."

THE DAY OF DOOM, 7:1-27

17 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "And you, O mortal man, say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD to the land of Israel: An end has come—the end has come—upon the four corners of the land. Now has the end come upon you; I will send my anger against you, and will judge you in accordance with your ways, and repay you for all your abominations. My eye shall not spare you, nor will I pity; but I will repay you for your ways, while your abominations are right in the midst of you; and you shall know that I the LORD am smiting.'

5 "Thus says the Lord GOD: 'Woe upon woe! See, it comes! An end has come—the end has come—it awakes against you. See, it comes! Doom comes upon you, O inhabitants of the land! The time has come, the day is near—it shall not tarry, nor delay.

8 Soon will I pour out my fury upon you, and spend my wrath upon you; I will judge you in accordance with your ways, and repay you for all your abominations. My eye shall not spare you, nor will I pity; but I will repay you for your ways, while your abominations are right in the midst of you; and you shall know that I the LORD am smiting.'

"Behold, the day! See, it comes! Doom advances. Pride has blossomed, insolence has budded, violence has grown into a shoot of wickedness; yet nothing comes of them, their tumult, or their turmoil—there is no commanding power among them.

"The time has come, the day draws near! Let not the buyer rejoice, nor the seller lament; for wrath falls upon all their teeming multitude. The seller shall not recover what he has sold, nor the buyer secure what he has bought. They have sounded the trumpet, they have made all ready; but none advances to the battle, for my wrath falls upon all their teeming multitude. Without is the sword, and within are pestilence and famine; he who is in the open field shall die by the sword, and he who is in the city shall be devoured by famine and pestilence; and if any survivors escape, they shall be like doves of the valleys upon the mountains, all of them moaning over their guilt. All hands shall fall helpless, and all knees shall run with water. They shall gird on sackcloth, and be covered with dismay; shame shall be on every face, and baldness on every head. Their silver shall they fling into the streets, and their gold shall become to them as an unclean thing; for their silver and their gold shall not be able to save them on the day of the LORD'S wrath; it shall neither satisfy their craving, nor stay their hunger, because it was the temptation that led them into sin. They prided themselves on its beauty, and made of it images of their abominable and detestable things, on which account I will make it an unclean thing to them. And I will hand it over to aliens as a prey, to the most goddess of the earth as a spoil; and they shall make a common chain of it. And I will turn my face from them, and my treasured place shall be profaned; robbers shall enter it, and profane it. For the country is full of bloody crimes, and the city is full of violence. Therefore I will bring in the worst of the nations, and they shall take possession of their houses; I will also silence the stronghold on which they prided themselves, and their sanctuaries shall be profaned. Panic shall come; and they shall seek peace, but in vain. Woe upon woe shall come, rumor upon rumor; and they shall seek a vision from the prophet, but in vain. Instruction also shall pass from the priest, and 27 counsel from the aged. The king shall go into mourning, and the prince shall clothe himself with garments of despair, while the hands of the common people shall be palsied with terror; for in accordance with their ways will I treat them, and in accordance with their practices will I judge them; so shall they know that I am the LORD."

VISIONS OF IDOLATRY IN JERUSALEM, 8:1-18

8 In the sixth year, in the sixth month, on the fifth day of the month, as I was sitting in my house, with the elders of Judah sitting before me, the hand of 2 the Lord GOD fell upon me there. I looked, and lo! there was a form of the appearance of a man, from his loins downward of the appearance of fire, and from his loins upward of the appearance of a luster like that of shining 3 metal. He reached out the form of a hand, and caught me by a lock of my hair; and a spirit lifted me up between earth and heaven, and brought me in visions of God to Jerusalem, to the door of the north gate leading into the inner court, where stood the image of resent- 4 ment, that arouses resentment. And lo! there was the glory of the God of Israel, in the same appearance as I had 5 seen it in the plain. And he said to me, "O mortal man, raise your eyes to the north."

So I raised my eyes to the north, and lo! north of the altar-gate, at the entrance, stood this image of resentment.

6 Then he said to me,

"O mortal man, do you see what they are doing? Do you see the great abominations which the house of Israel are doing here, forcing me away from my sanctuary? You shall see still greater abominations than these."

7 So he brought me to the door of the court. And I looked, and lo! there was 8 a hole in the wall. Then he said to me, "O mortal man, dig through the wall."

So I dug through the wall. And lo! 9 there was a door. Then he said to me, "Go in, and see the vile abominations which they are doing here."

10 So I went in, and looked, and lo! there were all sorts of loathsome forms of reptiles and beasts, together with all the idols of the house of Israel, depicted upon the wall all around. And there 1 were seventy of the elders of the house of Israel, with Jaazaniah, the son of Shaphan, in the midst of them, standing in front of the pictures, each with his censer in his hand, from which rose the odor of a cloud of incense. Then he 11 said to me,

"O mortal man, do you see what the elders of the house of Israel are doing in the dark, each in his picture-chamber, thinking, 'The LORD cannot see us, for the LORD has forsaken the land?'"

Then he said to me,

"You shall see still greater abominations which they are doing."

So he brought me to the door of the 1 northward gate of the house of the LORD. And lo! there sat women weeping for Tammuz. Then he said to me, 1

"Do you see this, O mortal man? You shall see still greater abominations than these."

So he brought me to the inner court 1 of the house of the LORD. And lo! at the door of the temple of the LORD, between the vestibule and the altar, there were about twenty-five men, with their backs to the temple of the LORD, and their faces to the east, worshipping the sun in the east. Then he said to me, 1

"Do you see this, O mortal man? Is it too slight a thing for the house of Judah to do the abominations which they are doing here, that they must needs fill the land with lawlessness, and vex me still more? See! they are thrusting their obscenity against my very nostrils. Therefore will I on my part act in 1 fury. My eye shall not spare, nor will I pity; even though they call aloud in my hearing, I will not listen to them."

THE DESTRUCTION OF THE IDOLATERS, 9:1-11

Then he called aloud in my hearing, 1 and said,

"Come forward, you officers of the city, armed each with his weapon of destruction!"

And lo! there came from the direction of the upper gate, facing the north, six men armed each with his weapon for slaughter, and in the midst of them another man clothed in linen, with a writer's inkhorn at his side. And they came and stood beside the bronze altar.

 3 Now the glory of the God of Israel had gone up from the cherubim on which it rested to the threshold of the house. Then he called to the man clothed in linen, with the writer's inkhorn at his side, and said to him,

4 "Pass through the city—through Jerusalem—and set a mark upon the foreheads of the men who sigh and cry for all the abominations that are done in the midst of it."

5 And to the others he said in my hearing,

6 "Pass through the city after him, and slay without mercy or pity. Old men, young men and maidens, little children and women—strike them all dead! But touch no one on whom is the mark. And begin at my sanctuary!"

7 So they began with the elders in front of the house. Then he said to them,

"Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slain. Then go out, and slay in the city!"

8 As they went on slaying, and I was left alone, I fell upon my face, and cried out, saying,

"Ah Lord GOD! wilt thou destroy all that remains of Israel, in this outpouring of thy fury upon Jerusalem?"

9 So he said to me,

10 "The guilt of the house of Israel and Judah is immeasurable. The land is full of bloodshed, and the city is full of oppression; for they think, 'The LORD has forsaken the land, and the LORD does not see us.' Therefore I on my part will show no mercy or pity; I will requite their doings upon their heads."

11 And lo! the man clothed in linen, with the inkhorn at his side, brought back the report,

"I have done as thou didst command me."

THE DEPARTURE OF THE GLORY OF THE LORD,

10:1-22

10 Then I looked, and lo! upon the firmament that was over the head of the cherubim there appeared the semblance of a throne, colored like sapphire. And he spoke to the man clothed in linen, and said,

"Go in among the wheelwork under the cherubim, and fill both your hands with blazing coals from between the cherubim, and scatter them over the city."

So he went in before my eyes. Now, 3 as the man went in, the cherubim were standing on the right side of the house, and the cloud filled the inner court; for 4 when the glory of the LORD had gone up from the cherubim to the threshold of the house, the house was filled with the cloud, while the court was filled with the radiance of the glory of the LORD. And the sound of the wings of 5 the cherubim was heard as far as the outer court, as loud as the voice of God Almighty when he speaks. So, when he 6 had commanded the man clothed in linen, saying, "Take fire from among the wheelwork, from between the cherubim," the man went and stood beside a wheel. Then he reached out his hand to 7 the fire that was between the cherubim, and took some of it, and went out. (And there appeared among the cheru- 8 bim the form of a man's hand under their wings.) Then I looked, and lo! 9 there were four wheels beside the cherubim—one wheel beside one cherub, and another wheel beside another cherub—and the color of the wheels was like topaz. The four of them were similar in 10 appearance, as if one wheel were within another. When they went, they went 11 upon their four sides, not turning as they went; for they followed the direction where their front faced, not turning 12 as they went. And the whole bodies of the four of them, their backs and hands and wings, together with the wheels, were full of eyes round about. And their wheels were called wheel- 13 work in my hearing. And each of the cherubim had four faces: the first face 14 that of an ox, the second that of a man, the third that of a lion, and the fourth that of an eagle. They were the same 15 creatures that I had seen by the River Chebar. And when the cherubim went, 16 the wheels went beside them; and when the cherubim lifted their wings to rise from the earth, the wheels never left their side; when these stood still, they 17 stood still; and when these rose, they rose with them; for the spirit of the creatures was in them.

Then the glory of the LORD left the 18 threshold of the house, and stood over the cherubim. And the cherubim lifted 19 their wings, and rose from the earth before my eyes, the wheels remaining beside them as they went on their way. And they stood at the door of the east gate of the house of the LORD, the glory of the God of Israel resting above them.

- 20 They were the same creatures that I had seen underneath the God of Israel by the River Chebar; and I recognized 21 them as cherubim. Each had four faces and four wings; and underneath their wings was the semblance of human 22 hands. As for the semblance of their faces, they were the same faces that I had seen by the River Chebar; and each went straight forward.

DENUNCIATION OF THE FALSE COUNSELORS OF ISRAEL, 11:1-12

- 11 Then a spirit lifted me up, and brought me to the east gate of the house of the LORD, looking east; and lo! at the door of the gate there were twenty-five men, among whom I saw Jaazaniah, the son of Azzur, and Pelatiah, the son of Benaiah, princes of the people.

2 Then the LORD said to me,

"O mortal man, these are the men who are planning mischief and offering 3 evil counsel in this city, saying, 'Is it not full time for us to build houses? This city is the pot, and we are the 4 flesh.' Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, O mortal man!"

5 Then the spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and he said to me,

- "Say, Thus says the LORD: 'So you think, O house of Israel, and I know 6 your thoughts. You have slain many a man in this city, and have filled its 7 streets with the slain.' Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Your slain men whom you have laid in the midst of it—they are the flesh, and it is the pot; but 8 as for you, I will take you out of the midst of it. You are afraid of the sword, and the sword will I bring upon you,' is 9 the oracle of the Lord GOD. 'I will take you out of the midst of it, and will hand you over to strangers, and execute judgments upon you. By the sword shall 10 you fall, and over all the borders of Israel will I execute judgments upon you; so shall you know that I am the LORD.
11 This city shall be no pot for you, and you shall be no flesh in the midst of it. Over all the borders of Israel will I execute

12 judgments upon you; and you shall know that I am the LORD, whose statutes you have not followed, and whose ordinances you have not obeyed, but have conformed to the practices of the nations that are round about you.'"

A PROMISE OF RESTORATION, 11:13-21

As I delivered this prophecy, Pelatiah, the son of Benaiah, died; whereupon I fell upon my face, and cried aloud, saying,

"Ah Lord GOD, wilt thou make a complete end of the remnant of Israel?"

Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

"O mortal man, the inhabitants of Jerusalem say of your kinsmen, your fellow-exiles, even the whole house of Israel, 'They are far from the LORD; to us the land is given as a possession.' Therefore say, 'Thus says the Lord 10 GOD: Though I have sent them afar among the nations, and though I have scattered them over the lands, and have been but little of a sanctuary to them among the lands where they have gone, yet will I gather them from the peoples, 11 and assemble them from the lands where they have been scattered; I will give them the land of Israel, and they shall 12 return there, and shall remove from it all its loathsome and abominable impurities; and I will give them a 13 new heart, and will put a new spirit within them; I will remove the heart of stone from their flesh, and will give them a heart of flesh, so that they may 14 follow my statutes, and keep my ordinances, and obey them; then shall they be my people, and I will be their God. But as for those whose heart is set upon 15 their loathsome and abominable impurities, I will requite their doings upon their heads,' is the oracle of the LORD."

THE GLORY OF THE LORD LEAVES THE CITY,

11:22-25

Then the cherubim lifted their wings 2:—the wheels remaining beside them, and the glory of the LORD resting above 22 them—and the glory of the LORD rose from the midst of the city, and stood upon the mountain east of the city.

24 And the spirit lifted me up, and brought me in visions of God back to the exiles in Chaldea. So the vision 25 that I had seen passed from me. Then I told the exiles all that the LORD had shown me.

SYMBOLS OF EXILE, 12:1-20

12 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "O mortal man, you are living in the midst of the rebellious house, who have eyes to see but see not, and have ears to hear but hear not—for they are a rebellious house. Therefore, O mortal man,
3 prepare yourself baggage for exile in the daytime before their eyes; then go like an exile from your own place to another before their eyes—perhaps they will see that they are a rebellious house.

4 Carry out your baggage, as though it were real baggage for exile, in the daytime before their eyes; then go out yourself, as though you were really going into exile, in the evening before
5 their eyes. Dig a hole through the wall before their eyes, and go out by it; carry your baggage upon your shoulders before their eyes, and take it out in the dark; cover your face, so that you may not see the ground; for I am making you an omen to the house of Israel."

7 So I did as I had been commanded. I brought out my baggage, as though it were real baggage for exile, in the daytime; then in the evening I dug a hole through the wall with my hand, and went out in the dark, carrying my baggage upon my shoulders before their eyes.

8 Next morning the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

9 "O mortal man, has not the house of Israel—that rebellious house—been asking you, 'What are you doing?'

10 Say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: This sign applies to Jerusalem and the whole house of Israel who are in the 11 midst of it.' Say, 'I am an omen to them. As I have done, so shall they have to do; they shall go into exile—
12 into captivity. And the prince who is in the midst of them shall carry his baggage upon his shoulders, and go out in the dark; he shall dig a hole through the wall, to go out by it; he shall cover his face, so that he may not see the ground
13 with his eyes. And I will spread a net for him, and he shall be caught in my toils; and I will bring him to Babylon, in the land of the Chaldeans—though he shall not see it—and there shall he die. And all his retinue, his supporters, 14 and all his troops, will I scatter to every wind; and after them will I draw the sword. And they shall know that I am

15 the LORD, when I have scattered them among the nations, and dispersed them over the lands. But a few of them will I 16 save from sword, famine, and pestilence, that they may recount all their abominable deeds among the nations where they go; so shall they know that I am the LORD.' "

Again the word of the LORD came to 17 me, saying,

"O mortal man, eat your bread with 18 quaking, and drink your water with trembling and anxiety; and say to the 19 people of the land, 'Thus says the Lord GOD concerning the inhabitants of Jerusalem, in the land of Israel: They shall eat their bread with anxiety, and shall drink their water with dismay; for the land shall be stripped bare of all that it contains, because of the lawlessness of all those who live in it, and the 20 inhabited cities shall be laid waste, and the land shall become a desolation; so shall you know that I am the LORD.' "

PROPHECY AND FULFILLMENT, 12:21-28

The word of the LORD came to me, 21 saying,

"O mortal man, what is this proverb
22 which you have in the land of Israel, 'The days go on, and every vision comes to nothing'? Therefore say to 23 them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: I will put an end to this proverb, and they shall no longer repeat it in Israel.' Instead of it, say to them, 'The days are at hand when every vision shall be fulfilled. No longer shall there be any 24 empty vision nor any flattering divination in the midst of the house of Israel. For I the LORD will speak a word, and 25 it shall be fulfilled—it shall no longer be delayed—for in your days, O rebellious house, I will both speak a word and fulfill it,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

Again the word of the LORD came to 26 me, saying,

"O mortal man, the house of Israel 27 keep saying to themselves, 'The vision which he sees is for many days hence; he is prophesying of times far off.'

28 Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: None of my words shall be any longer delayed; when I speak a word, it shall be fulfilled,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD.'

PROPHECIES AGAINST THE PROPHETS OF ISRAEL,

13:1-23

13 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "O mortal man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel, prophesy and say to them, 'Hear the word of the LORD!

3 Thus says the Lord GOD: Woe to the fools of prophets who follow the promptings of their own spirits, without seeing a vision! O Israel, your prophets are like jackals among ruins.

5 They have not mounted the breaches, nor built a wall for the house of Israel, that they may stand fast in battle on

6 the day of the LORD. They see empty visions and lying divinations, who say, "It is the oracle of the LORD," when the LORD has not sent them. Yet they 7 expect the word to be fulfilled! Is it not an empty vision which you see, and a lying divination which you speak, when you say, "It is the oracle of the LORD,"

8 and I have not spoken? Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because you have spoken empty words, and have seen lying visions, therefore behold, I am against you,' is the oracle of the LORD,

9 'and my hand shall be against the prophets who see empty visions and utter lying divinations; they shall have no place in the council of my people, nor be enrolled in the register of the house of Israel, nor be allowed to enter the land of Israel; so shall you know that I

10 am the Lord GOD. Because they mislead my people, saying, "All is well," when nought is well—and if anyone build a flimsy wall, they daub it with

11 whitewash—therefore say to those who daub the wall with whitewash, "A lashing rain shall come, and hailstones shall fall, and a violent gale shall break out; 12 and lo! the wall shall fall, and then you shall be asked, Where is the daubing 13 with which you daubed it?" Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: I will let loose a violent gale in my wrath, and there shall come a lashing rain in my anger, and hailstones shall fall in my fury; and 14 I will break down the wall which you daubed with whitewash, and will bring it to the ground, so that its foundations may be laid bare; and when it falls, you shall perish in the midst of it; so shall you know that I am the LORD. Thus 15 will I spend my fury upon the wall, and upon those who daubed it with whitewash; and you shall be asked, "Where is the wall? And where are those who daubed it, the prophets of Israel who 16 prophesied of Jerusalem, and who saw for her visions of welfare when nought was well?" is the oracle of the LORD.

"Also, O mortal man, set your face 17 against the daughters of your people, who prophesy out of their own imagination, prophesy against them, and say, 18 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Woe to the women who sew bands on everyone's wrists, and make veils for the heads of people of every stature—hunting for lives! Would you hunt for the lives of my people to make a living for yourselves, by profaning my name among 19 my people for handfuls of barley and morsels of bread, by bringing death to those who ought not to die, and life to those who ought not to live, through the lies which you tell to my people who listen to your lies? Therefore thus 20 says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am against your bands with which you hunt for lives, and I will tear them from their arms, and will set free the lives for which you hunt; I will likewise tear off 21 your veils, and will rescue my people from your hands, that they may no longer remain in your hands to be hunted; so shall you know that I am the LORD. Because with your lies you have 22 disheartened the righteous, when I did not dishearten him, and have encouraged the wicked, that he might not turn from his evil way and be saved alive, therefore you shall no longer see empty 23 visions nor utter lying divinations; and I will rescue my people from your hands; so shall you know that I am the LORD.' "

THE PUNISHMENT OF IDOL- ATERS, 14:1-11

Then certain of the elders of Israel 14 came to me, and sat down in front of

2 me. And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

3 "O mortal man, these men have set up idols in their minds, and have placed temptations to sin in front of them; what right have they to consult me?

4 Therefore speak with them, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: If anyone of the house of Israel who sets up idols in his mind, and places temptations to sin in front of him, go to a prophet, that he may consult me through him, I the LORD will answer him myself according to the number of

5 his idols, that I may catch the house of Israel in their own devices, because they have all become estranged from me by their idols.' Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Repent, and turn from your idols, and from all your abominations!

7 For if anyone of the house of Israel, or of the aliens residing in Israel, who severs himself from allegiance to me, and sets up idols in his mind, and places temptations to sin in front of him, go to a prophet, that he may consult me through him, I the LORD will answer

8 him myself; I will set my face against that man, and make him a sign and a byword, and cut him off from the midst of my people; so shall you know that I

9 am the LORD. And if the prophet be enticed into speaking a word, I the LORD have enticed that prophet; and I will stretch out my hand against him, and destroy him from the midst of my

10 people Israel. They shall both suffer for it—the punishment of the prophet shall be like the punishment of the man

11 who consulted him—that the house of Israel may no longer apostatize from me, nor any longer defile themselves with all their transgressions, but may become my people, and I their God,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

THE INEXORABLE DOOM OF JERUSALEM, 14:12-23

12 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

13 "O mortal man, if a land sin against me by acting treacherously, and I stretch out my hand against it, and break its staff of bread, and send famine upon it, and cut off from it man and beast, even though these three men were in the midst of it—Noah, Daniel, and Job—they would by their righteousness save but themselves," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

"Or if I send wild beasts over the 15 land, and they depopulate it, so that it becomes a desolation, with none passing through it because of the wild beasts, even though these three men were in 16 the midst of it, as I live," is the oracle of the Lord GOD, "they would save neither sons nor daughters—they would save but themselves alone—and the land would be left a desolation.

"Or if I bring a sword upon that land, 17 saying, 'Let the sword pass through the land!' and cut off from it man and beast, even though these three men 18 were in the midst of it, as I live," is the oracle of the Lord GOD, "they would save neither sons nor daughters—they would save but themselves alone.

"Or if I send pestilence into that 19 land, and pour out my fury upon it in bloodshed, cutting off from it man and beast, even though Noah, Daniel, and 20 Job were in the midst of it, as I live," is the oracle of the Lord GOD, "they would save neither son nor daughter—they would by their righteousness save but themselves.

"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 21 How much more when I send against Jerusalem my four deadly judgments—sword, famine, wild beasts, and pestilence—to cut off from it man and beast! Nevertheless, if there be any survivors 22 left in it, sons and daughters who shall make good their escape to you, you shall be consoled for the trouble that I have brought upon Jerusalem—even for all that I have brought upon it—when you see their ways and their doings; they shall console you when you 23 see their ways and their doings, and you shall know that it was not without cause that I did all that I have done in it," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

THE ALLEGORY OF THE WORTHLESS VINE,

15:1-8

The word of the LORD came to me, 15 saying,

"O mortal man, in what respect is 2 the wood of the vine better than the rank growth from any other tree of the 3 forest? Is timber taken from it to make anything? Is even a peg taken from it

 4 to hang any kind of vessel on? No! It is thrown into the fire as fuel; and when its two ends are devoured by the fire, and the middle of it is burned black, is 5 it good for anything? Even when it was whole, it was good for nothing; how much less when the fire has devoured it, and it is burned black!
 6 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: As the wood of the vine is that of one of the trees of the forest which I give up to the fire as fuel, so do I give up the inhabitants of Jerusalem. I will set my face against them; and though they have come out of the fire, the fire shall consume them; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I set my face
 8 against them. And I will make the land a desolation, because they have acted treacherously," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

THE ALLEGORY OF THE FAITHLESS WIFE,

16:1-63

16 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "O mortal man, acquaint Jerusalem with her abominable deeds, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD to Jerusalem: By origin and birth you belong to the land of the Canaanites. Your father was an Amorite, and your mother a
 4 Hittite. But as for your birth, on the day you were born your navel-string was not cut, nor were you washed with water to cleanse you, nor were you salted or wrapped in swaddling clothes
 5 —no eye had pity enough upon you to do any of these things out of compassion for you—but you were cast upon the open field, with no regard for your
 6 life, on the day you were born. Then I passed by you, and saw you weltering in your blood; and I said to you, as you
 7 lay weltering in your blood, 'Live, and grow like a plant of the field!' So you grew big and strong, till you reached the time of your maturity. Your breasts were formed, and your hair appeared; yet you remained naked and 8 bare. Again I passed by you, and saw that you had reached the age of love; so I spread the skirts of my robe over you, and covered your nakedness; and I plighted my troth to you, and entered into a covenant with you," is the oracle of the Lord GOD. "So you became mine. Then I bathed you with water, and washed your blood from you; and I anointed you with oil. I clothed you with embroidered robes, shod you with shoes of porpoise skin, wrapped you in fine linen, and swathed you in silk. I adorned you with ornaments, putting bracelets upon your arms, and a chain round your neck, a ring upon your nose, pendants upon your ears, and a splendid crown upon your head. Thus were you adorned with gold and silver, and clothed with fine linen, silk, and embroidery; you lived on choice flour, honey, and oil; you grew very, very beautiful, and became fit for a throne; and your reputation for beauty went out through the nations, for your beauty was perfect because of the splendor that I had bestowed upon you," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

"But you trusted in your beauty, and played the harlot on your reputation; you lavished your harlotries on everyone who passed by. You took off your garments, and made yourself gaily decked shrines, on which you played the harlot. You took also your splendid ornaments of gold and silver, which I had given you, and made yourself images of men, with which you played the harlot. And you took your embroidered robes, and wrapped them in these. My oil and my incense you set before them; my bread which I had given you—the choice flour, oil, and honey with which I had fed you—you set before them as a soothing odor," is the oracle of the Lord GOD. "And you took your sons and daughters, whom you had borne to me, and offered them as sacrifices to be devoured by them. Was your harlotry so slight a thing that you must also slaughter my children, and offer them up as burnt-offerings to them? And with all your abominable harlotries you did not remember your youthful days, when you were naked and bare, and lay weltering in your blood.

"After all your wickedness—woe, woe to you!" is the oracle of the Lord GOD—"you built yourself a shrine, and made yourself a public resort in every street; you built your resorts at every street corner, and there you prostituted your beauty, offering yourself to every passer-by, and multiplying your harlotries. You played the harlot with your gross neighbors, the Egyptians, multiplying your harlotries to vex me. So I stretched out my hand against you, reduced your allowance, and handed you over to the will of your enemies, the daughters of the Philistines, who were ashamed of your lewd conduct. But you played the harlot with the Assyrians, being still unsated; and when you had played the harlot with them, you were still unsated. So you multiplied your harlotries with that land of traders, Chaldea, and even then you were unsated. What name can I find to describe your conduct," is the oracle of the Lord GOD, "in doing all these things, acting like an abandoned harlot, building your shrines at every street corner, and making your resorts in every open space, though you were not like a harlot in collecting hire—adulterous wife that you are, preferring strangers to your husband! To every harlot men give a gift; but you gave your gifts to all your lovers, bribing them to come from every quarter to indulge in harlotry with you. In this respect, then, you were in contrast to other women, that you solicited men to harlotry, while you were not solicited, and that you paid hire to them, while no hire was paid to you—in this respect you were a contrast.

"Therefore, O harlot, hear the word of the LORD! Thus says the Lord GOD: For the pouring out of your effrontery, and for the exposing of your nakedness in harlotry with your lovers, for the worship of all your abominable idols, and for the bloodshed of your children whom you gave to them, behold, I am assembling all your lovers, whose embraces you have enjoyed—all whom you loved, as well as all for whom you cared nothing—I will assemble them against you from every quarter, and will expose your nakedness for them to gaze at. I will judge you, as women are judged who break wedlock and shed blood, and I will turn you over to my bloody fury and indignation; I will hand you over to your lovers, and they shall tear down your shrines and demolish your resorts; they shall strip you of your clothing, and take away your splendid ornaments, leaving you naked and bare; they shall bring an assemblage of people against you, who shall stone you and slash you with their swords; and they shall burn your houses, and execute judgments upon you in the sight of many women; so will I put a stop to your harlotry, and you shall no longer pay hire to your lovers; then I will stay my fury against you, and my indignation shall pass from you; I will be quiet, and no longer angry. Because you did not remember your youthful days, but roused me to wrath with all these things, I on my part will require your doings upon your head," is the oracle of the Lord GOD, "because you have added lewdness to all your other abominations.

"Behold, everyone who quotes proverbs shall quote this proverb against you, 'As the mother, so her daughter!' You are the daughter of a mother who loathed her husband and her children; and you are the sister of sisters who loathed their husbands and their children. Your mother was a Hittite, and your father an Amorite; your elder sister was Samaria, who lived with her daughters to the north of you; and your younger sister was Sodom, who lived with her daughters to the south of you. But you were not content to follow their ways, nor to copy their abominations—that were too slight a thing for you!—but you acted more corruptly in all your ways than they. As I live," is the oracle of the Lord GOD, "your sister Sodom and her daughters have not done as you and your daughters have done. Behold, this was the sin of your sister Sodom: she and her daughters lived in pride, plenty, and thoughtless ease; they supported not the poor and needy; they grew haughty, and committed abomination before me; so I swept them away, as you have seen. Nor was Samaria guilty of half your sins. You have committed more abominations than they; and through all the abominations which you have committed you have placed your sisters in the right. In thus giving judgment in favor of your sisters, you must bear the burden of your shame; through the more abominable sins which you have committed, they are more in the right than you; and because you have placed your sisters in the right, you must bear the burden of your ignominy and shame.

"But I will restore their fortune—the 53 fortune of Sodom and her daughters, and the fortune of Samaria and her daughters—and I will restore your fortune along with theirs, that you may feel ashamed and abashed for all that you did to rouse me to wrath. Then your sisters, Sodom with her daughters, and Samaria with her daughters, shall return to their former state; and you with your daughters shall return to your former state. As the name of your sister Sodom was never heard on your lips in your heyday of pride—before your nakedness was exposed—so have you now become the reproach of the daughters of Edom, and all who are round about her, together with the daughters of the Philistines, and all those round about them who hold you in contempt. You are bearing the consequences of your abominable lewdness," is the oracle of the LORD.

59 "But thus says the Lord GOD: Though I must repay you for what you have done, in scorning the oath and breaking the covenant with me, yet will I remember the covenant which I made with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish an everlasting covenant with you. Then shall you also remember your ways, and shall feel ashamed when I take your sisters, the elder and the younger, and give them to you as daughters—but not because of your covenant with me. And I will establish my covenant with you; and you shall know that I am the LORD, so that you may remember, and feel ashamed, and never again open your mouth for shame, when I forgive you for all that you have done," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

THE ALLEGORY OF THE EAGLES AND THE VINE, 17:1-24

- 17 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,
- 2 "O mortal man, put a riddle, and propound an allegory, to the house of Israel; and say, 'Thus says the LORD:
- 3 "A great eagle, with great wings,
And long pinions,
In full plumage, of diverse colors,
Came to Lebanon;
He took the tip of a cedar,
Plucked the topmost of its twigs,
- 4 And carried it to a land of traders,
Set it in a city of merchants;

He took also of the seed of the land, 5
And planted it in a fertile field;
He placed it beside many waters,
Set it as a slip,
That it might sprout, and become a 6 spreading vine
Of lowly height,
Whose tendrils might turn toward him,
And its roots be under him.
So it became a vine, and put forth
branches,
And sent out boughs.

"But there was another great eagle, 7
with great wings,
And thick plumage;
And lo! this vine bent its roots
In his direction—
It sent out its tendrils for him to water,
From the bed in which it was planted;
Yet it was planted on good soil, 8
Beside many waters,
That it might put forth branches, and bear fruit,
And become a noble vine."
Say, then, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: 9
Can it prosper?
Shall he not pluck up its roots,
And strip off its fruit,
That all its sprouting leaves may with-
er?
Nor will it require much strength or many people
To heave it from its roots.
It is planted, indeed, but can it pros- 10 per?
As soon as the east wind strikes it, shall it not wither away—Wither away on the bed in which it grows?'"

Then the word of the LORD came to 11
me, saying,
"Say to the rebellious house, 'Do you 12 not know what these things mean?'
Then say, 'Lo! the king of Babylon came to Jerusalem, and took its king and its princes, and carried them home with him to Babylon. And he took one 13 of the royal family, and made a covenant with him, and put him under an oath—while he carried away the leading men of the land—so that the king- 14 dom might be a lowly one, not daring to lift up its head, but holding its ground by keeping the covenant. But he re- 15 belled against him, and sent ambassadors to Egypt, asking for horses and a strong army. Now can a man who does these things prosper? Can he escape his doom? Can he break a covenant, and yet escape? As I live,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD, 'in the land of the king who made him king—of the king whose oath he scorned and whose covenant he broke—at his home in Babylon shall he die. And Pharaoh with his great army and strong force shall do nothing for him on the day of battle, when mounds are thrown up and siege-walls built to cut off many a life. He scorned the oath, and broke the covenant; he pledged his word, and yet did all these things. Therefore he cannot escape.' Thus says the Lord GOD: 'As I live, my oath which he scorned, and my covenant which he broke—I will requite upon his own head. I will spread my net for him, and he shall be taken in my toils; I will carry him to Babylon, and there will I take proceedings against him for the treason which he has committed against me. And all the flower of all his ranks shall fall by the sword, and those who remain shall fly to every wind; so shall you know that I the LORD have spoken.

22 "Thus says the Lord GOD: 'I too will take from the tip of the cedar,
From its topmost twigs will I pluck a tender one,
And will plant it on a high and commanding mountain,
23 On the lofty mountain of Israel will I plant it;
And it shall put forth branches, and bear fruit,
And shall become a noble cedar;
Under it shall nestle birds of every feather,
In the shadow of its branches shall they nestle.

24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I the LORD
Bring down the tall tree, raise up the low tree,
Dry up the green tree, bring blossom to the dry tree—
I the LORD have spoken, and I will do it.'"

THE PRINCIPLE OF PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY,

18:1-32

The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

"What mean you by quoting this proverb in the land of Israel:

'The fathers eat sour grapes, And the children's teeth are set on edge?'

As I live," is the oracle of the Lord GOD, "you shall have no more occasion to quote this proverb in Israel. Behold, all lives are mine—the life of the son is mine equally with that of the father—the person who sins shall die.

"If a man be righteous, and do what is lawful and right—if he eat no flesh with the blood in it, nor lift up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel; if he defile not his neighbor's wife, nor approach a woman in her time of uncleanness; if he oppress no one, but conscientiously restore the debtor's pledge; if he commit no robbery, but share his bread with the hungry, and cover the naked with a garment; if he lend no money at interest, nor take increase for himself; if he withhold his hand from crime, observe strict justice between man and man, follow my statutes, and be careful to observe my ordinances—he is righteous, and shall surely live," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

"If he beget a son, a violent man, and a shedder of blood, who does none of these things, but eats flesh with the blood in it, defiles his neighbor's wife, oppresses the poor and needy, commits robbery, does not restore the debtor's pledge, lifts up his eyes to the idols, commits abomination, lends on interest and takes increase—that son shall by no means live; because he commits all these abominations, he shall surely die, and his blood shall be upon his own head.

"But if this man beget a son who sees all the sins that his father has done, and is afraid, and does not act likewise—does not eat flesh with the blood in it, nor lift up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, does not defile his neighbor's wife, oppresses no one, exacts no pledge, commits no robbery, shares his bread with the hungry, and covers the naked with a garment, withholds his hand from crime, takes no interest or increase, obeys my ordinances, and follows my statutes—that son shall not die for the iniquity of his father, but shall surely live. His father died for his iniquity, because he practiced oppression, robbed his fellow-man, and did what was evil among his people; and you ask, 'Why should not the son bear the consequences of his father's iniquity?' If the son do what is lawful and right by being careful to observe all my statutes, he shall surely live. He who sins shall die; the son shall not bear the consequences of the father's iniquity, nor the father bear the consequences of the son's iniquity; the righteousness of the righteous shall be put to his own account, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be put to his.

21 "Or if the wicked man turn from all the sins which he has committed, and keep all my statutes, and do what is lawful and right, he shall surely live, and not die. None of the transgressions which he has committed shall be remembered against him; for the righteousness which he has done he shall live. Have I any pleasure at all in the death of the wicked?" is the oracle of the Lord GOD; "and not rather in this, that he turn from his way and live?"

24 "But if the righteous man turn from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, acting in accordance with all the abominations which the wicked man practices, none of the righteous deeds which he has done shall be remembered; for the treason which he has committed, and the sin which he has done, he shall die. Yet you say, 'The way of the Lord is not fair.' Hear, then, O house of Israel! Is my way not fair? Is it not your ways that are not fair? If a righteous man turn from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, he shall die; for the iniquity which he has committed he shall die. But if a wicked man turn from the wickedness which he has committed, and do what is lawful and right, he shall save his life; because he is afraid, and turns from all the transgressions which he has committed, he shall surely live, and not die. Yet the house of Israel says, 'The way of the Lord is not fair.' Are my ways not fair, O house of Israel? Is it not your ways that are not fair? Therefore, O house of Israel, I will judge you each in accordance with his ways," is the oracle of the Lord GOD. "Repent, then, and turn from all your transgressions, lest your iniquity bring you to ruin. Cast away from you all the transgressions which you have committed against me;

and get yourselves a new heart and a new spirit. Why should you die, O house of Israel? For I have no pleasure in the death of anyone who dies," is the oracle of the Lord GOD. "Turn, then, and live!"

LAMENT FOR THE ROYAL PRINCES, 19:1-9

And you, raise a dirge over the 1 princes of Israel, and say,
"Ah! your mother was a lioness in the midst of lions;
She couched among young lions,
she reared her whelps.
She brought up one of her whelps,
a young lion he became;
He learned to catch the prey,
mankind he devoured.
The nations raised a clamor against
him,
in their pit was he taken;
They led him away with hooks to the land of Egypt.

"When she saw that she was foiled,
that her hope was gone,
She took another of her whelps,
a young lion she made him.
He stalked among lions,
a young lion he became;
He learned to catch the prey,
mankind he devoured.
He ravaged their palaces,
and their cities he laid waste;
The land was awed and all who were in
it,
at the sound of his roaring.

"Against him the nations placed their snares round about;
They spread their net for him,
in their pit was he taken.
They placed him in a cage,
they brought him under guard;
And they led him away with hooks
to the king of Babylon;
That his voice might be heard no
more on the mountains of Israel."

LAMENT FOR THE MOTHER, 19:10-14

"Your mother was like a vine in a vineyard,
planted by waters;

- She was fruitful, and full of branches, because of waters many.
- 11 A strong branch she had for a royal scepter;
It rose in its height
among the thick foliage,
And was seen in its stateliness with a mass of tendrils.
- 12 But she was plucked up in fury,
she was cast to the ground;
The east wind parched her,
tore off her fruit;
And her strong branch withered away,
the fire devoured it.
- 13 Now she is planted in the desert,
in a dry and thirsty land;
- 14 And fire has gone out from her branch,
has devoured her boughs;
And she has no strong branch
as a royal scepter."

This is a dirge, and it became current as a dirge.

PUNISHMENT AND PARDON, 20:1-44

- 10 In the seventh year, in the fifth
month, on the tenth day of the month, certain of the elders of Israel came to consult the LORD, and sat down before 2 me. Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,
- 3 "O mortal man, speak to the elders of Israel, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Have you come to consult me? As I live, I will not be consulted by you,' is the oracle of the Lord 4 GOD. Would you pass judgment upon them, O mortal man? Would you pass judgment upon them? Then acquaint them with the abominable deeds of 5 their fathers, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: On the day that I chose Israel, and swore by uplifted hand to the descendants of the house of Jacob, revealing myself to them in the land of Egypt, and swearing by uplifted hand to them, saying, 'I am the LORD 6 your God'—on that day I swore by uplifted hand to them, that I would bring them out of the land of Egypt to a land that I had given to them, a land flowing with milk and honey, a land which is 7 the glory of all lands; and I said to them, 'Cast away each of you the detestable things which you love, and do not defile yourselves with the idols of Egypt, since I am the LORD your God.'" But they rebelled against me, 8 and would not listen to me; they did not cast away each one the detestable things which they loved, nor did they forsake the idols of Egypt. So I resolved to pour out my fury upon them, to vent my anger against them in the midst of the land of Egypt. But in deal- 9

ing with them I had regard for my honor, that it might not be profaned in the sight of the nations among whom they lived, and in whose sight I had revealed myself to them, promising to bring them out of the land of Egypt. So I 10 brought them out of the land of Egypt, and led them into the desert. I gave 11 them my statutes, and taught them my ordinances, by observing which man may enjoy life. I gave them also my 12 sabbaths, as a sign between me and them, that they might know that it was I the LORD that set them apart for myself. But the house of Israel rebelled 13 against me in the desert; they did not follow my statutes, but scorned my ordinances, by observing which man may enjoy life; my sabbaths also they grossly profaned. So I resolved to pour out my fury upon them in the desert by making a complete end of them. But 14 in dealing with them I had regard for my honor, that it might not be profaned in the sight of the nations in whose sight I had brought them out. I 15 did, however, swear by uplifted hand to them in the desert, that I would not bring them to the land that I had given to them—a land flowing with milk and honey, a land which is the glory of all lands—because they had scorned my 16 ordinances, and did not follow my statutes, but profaned my sabbaths; for their hearts were set upon their idols.
But I took pity upon them by refrain- 17
ing from destroying them, and I did not make a complete end of them in the desert. Then I said to their children in 18 the desert, "Do not follow the statutes of your fathers, nor keep their ordinances, nor defile yourselves with their idols! Since I am the LORD your God, 19 follow my statutes, and be careful to observe my ordinances; keep my sab- 20 baths holy, and let them be a sign between me and you, that you may know that I am the LORD your God." But 21 the children rebelled against me; they did not follow my statutes, nor were they careful to observe my ordinances, by obeying which man may enjoy life; they profaned my sabbaths. So I resolved to pour out my fury upon them, to vent my anger against them in the 22 desert. But I withdrew my hand, and in dealing with them I had regard for my name, that it might not be profaned in the sight of the nations in whose 23 sight I had brought them out. I did, however, swear by uplifted hand to them in the desert, that I would scatter them among the nations, and disperse 24 them over the lands, because they had not obeyed my ordinances, but had scorned my statutes, and profaned my sabbaths, and kept their eyes upon the 25 idols of their fathers. I gave them also statutes that were not good, and ordinances by which they could not enjoy 26 life; and I made them defile themselves by their very gifts—the sacrifice of their first-born children as burnt-offerings—that I might destroy them, and they might know that I am the LORD.’

27 “Therefore, O mortal man, speak to the house of Israel, and say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord GOD: In still another way did your fathers blaspheme me—by dealing treacherously with me. 28 When I brought them to the land that I had sworn by uplifted hand to give to them, as often as they saw any high hill or any leafy tree, there they offered their sacrifices, and there they presented their offensive gifts; there they set forth their soothing odors, and there 29 they poured their libations. Then I said to them, “What kind of high place is this to which you go?” So it has been called “high place” to this day.’

30 “Therefore say to the house of Israel, ‘Thus says the Lord GOD: When you pollute yourselves after the manner of your fathers by running wantonly 31 after their detestable things, and when, in offering your gifts, in making your sons pass through the fire, you continue to pollute yourselves with all your idols down to this very day—shall I be consulted by you, O house of Israel? As I live’ is the oracle of the Lord GOD, ‘I 32 will not be consulted by you. And when you say, “We will be like the nations, the races of the lands, in serving wood and stone,” what you have in 33 mind shall not be. As I live,’ is the oracle of the Lord GOD, ‘with a strong hand, with an outstretched arm, and with outpoured fury, will I be king over you. And with a strong hand, with an 34 outstretched arm, and with outpoured fury, will I bring you out of the peoples, and gather you from the lands over which you are scattered; and I will 35 bring you into the desert of the peoples, and there take proceedings against you face to face. As I took proceedings 16 against your fathers in the desert of the land of Egypt, so will I take proceedings against you,’ is the oracle of the LORD GOD. ‘I will make you pass 37 under the rod, and bring you into the purging-trough; and I will purge from 38 among you the rebels, and those who transgress against me. I will bring them out of the land where they sojourn, but they shall not enter the land of Israel; so shall you know that I am the LORD. And as for you, O house of Israel, 39 thus says the Lord GOD: Go, destroy each his idols; and afterwards you shall surely listen to me, and no longer profane my holy name by your gifts and your idols. But on my holy mountain, 40 on the mountain of the height of Israel,’ is the oracle of the Lord GOD, ‘there shall all the house of Israel worship me in the land; there will I accept you, and there will I ask for your contributions, and for the choicest of your gifts, in all your sacred things. As a soothing odor 41 will I accept you when I bring you out from the peoples, and gather you from the lands over which you are scattered; and through you will I reveal my holiness in the sight of the nations. And 42 you shall know that I am the LORD, when I bring you to the land of Israel, to the land which I swore by uplifted hand to give to your fathers. And there 43 shall you remember your ways, and all those doings of yours by which you have polluted yourselves; and you shall loathe yourselves for all the evil things that you have done. And you shall 44 know that I am the LORD, when I have dealt with you for my name’s sake, and not in accordance with your evil ways and your corrupt doings, O house of Israel,’ is the oracle of the Lord GOD.’

FIRE AND SWORD,

20:45—21:32

The word of the LORD came to me, 41 saying,

46 "O mortal man, set your face toward the south, and inveigh against the 47 south; prophesy against the forest land of the south, and say to the forest of the south, 'Hear the word of the LORD!
Thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am kindling a fire in you, which shall devour every green tree and every dry tree in you; the flaming flame shall not be quenched, and every face from south 48 to north shall be scorched by it. And all flesh shall see that I the LORD have kindled it, so that it may not be quenched.'"

49 Then said I,
"Ah Lord GOD! they say of me, 'Is he not a maker of allegories?'"

1 Then the word of the LORD came to
me, saying,

2 "O mortal man, set your face toward Jerusalem, and inveigh against her sanctuaries; prophesy against the land 3 of Israel, and say to the land of Israel,
'Thus says the LORD: Behold, I am against you, and I will draw my sword from its sheath, and will cut off from 4 you righteous and wicked alike. And because I cut off from you righteous and wicked alike, my sword shall go out from its sheath against all flesh from 5 south to north; and all flesh shall know that I the LORD have drawn my sword from its sheath, to return no more.'

6 Sigh, therefore, O mortal man; sigh before them with heartbreaking, bitter 7 grief. And when they ask you, 'Why do you sigh?' say, 'Because of news, at the coming of which every heart shall melt, every hand shall fall helpless, every spirit shall be faint, and every knee shall run with water; lo! it comes, and it shall be,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

8 Again the word of the LORD came to
me, saying,

9 "O mortal man, prophesy, and say,
'Thus says the LORD:

"A sword, a sword,
Is whetted and polished;
10 It is whetted for slaughter,
It is polished to flash as lightning.
[Or shall we make mirth, O rod of my son, despising every tree?]

11 It is given to the slayer,
To grasp with the hand;
The sword is whetted and polished,
To be put in the hand of the slayer.'"

12 "Cry, and wail, O mortal man!
For it has fallen upon my people,

And upon all the princes of Israel;
Together with my people have they been handed over to the sword.
Smite, therefore, upon your thigh,
For there is a trial in store; 13
And who can despise the rod of my wrath?"

Is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

"Prophesy, therefore, O mortal man, 14
And clench your fists;

Let the sword come down a second time, let it come down a third time,

The sword of the slain, the great sword of the slain!

Bring terror upon them, till their 15 hearts melt,

And many of them fall dead at all their gates,

Given over to the point of the sword,
Which is made to flash as lightning,
and is whetted for slaughter!

Turn, O sword, to the rear, to the 16 right, to the front, to the left,

Wherever your face is set!

I also will clench my fists, 17
And I will sate my fury—
I the LORD have spoken."

Again the word of the LORD came to 18
me, saying,

"And you, O mortal man, set two 19 roads for the sword of the king of Babylon to take—both of them starting from the same country—and make a sign- 20 post, to guide the sword on its way, at the fork of the roads leading on the one hand to Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and on the other to Jerusalem in the heart of Judah. For the king of 21 Babylon stands at the parting of the ways, at the fork of the two roads, practicing divination; he shakes the arrows, he consults the teraphim, he inspects the liver. Into his right hand 22 falls the lot marked 'Jerusalem,' calling for slaughter, for the shout of battle, for the planting of battering-rams against the gates, for the throwing up of mounds, for the building of a siege-wall.
To them, indeed, it will seem a false 23 divination—for they count on weeks upon weeks—but it keeps me in remembrance of their guilt, so that they may be taken.

"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 24
'Because you keep me in remembrance of your guilt, through your flagrant transgressions, and the sins that are mani-

- fest in all your doings—because you are kept in remembrance through them, 25 you shall be taken by force.” And as for you, who are destined to be slain, your wicked one, the prince of Israel, whose hour has come, on the final day 26 of doom, thus says the Lord GOD: ‘Away with the diadem; off with the crown! Leave nothing alone; lift up what is low, bring down what is high! 27 A ruin, a ruin, a ruin, will I make it; and nothing shall be changed until he comes to whom it rightfully belongs—to him will I give it.’
- 28 “And you, O mortal man, prophesy, and say, ‘Thus says the Lord GOD concerning the Ammonites and their reviling:
 “A sword, a sword,
 Is unsheathed for slaughter,
 Is polished to flash as lightning;
 29 Because men showed you false visions, gave you lying divinations,
 Commanding you to wield it on the necks of wicked men destined to be slain,
 Whose hour had come, on the final day of doom.
- 30 Return it to its sheath!
 For in the place of your birth,
 In the land of your origin will I judge you.
- 31 I will pour out my fury upon you,
 With the fire of my wrath will I blow upon you;
 And I will hand you over to barbarous men,
 Who are forgers of destruction.
- 32 You shall be food for the fire,
 And your blood shall fill the land;
 You shall be remembered no more,
 For I the LORD have spoken.” ’ ’ ’

THE CITY OF BLOOD,

22:1-31

- 22 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,
 2 “O mortal man, would you pass judgment, would you pass judgment, upon the city of blood? Then acquaint 3 her with all her abominable deeds, and say, ‘Thus says the Lord GOD: O city, that sheds blood in the midst of her, so that her time of doom may come upon her, and that makes idols for herself, so that she may 4 be defiled! You have become guilty of the blood which you have shed, and have become defiled through the idols which you have made; you have brought near your day of doom, and have drawn forward your time of reckoning; therefore I make you a reproach to the nations, and a ridicule to all the lands. Both those who are near you and those who are far from you shall ridicule you, O infamous one, rank with disorder. Behold, the princes of Israel within you give all their strength to the shedding of blood; father and mother within you men despise, the resident alien within you they treat oppressively, the orphan and widow they wrong. My holy things you despise, and my sabbaths you profane. There are those within you who slander in order to shed blood, those within you who eat flesh with the blood in it, those within you who commit lewdness; within you men take their fathers’ concubines, within you they lie with women in their time of uncleanness; within you they commit abomination each with his neighbor’s wife, within you they loudly defile each his daughter-in-law, and lie each with his sister, his father’s daughter; within you men take bribes in order to shed blood; they take interest and increase; they oppress their neighbors by extortion. And me you forget!” is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

“Behold, I clench my fists in anger at the extortion which you practice, and at the bloodshed which is in the midst of you. Will your heart remain firm, and your hands keep strong, in the days when I deal with you? I the LORD have spoken the word, and I will do it. I will scatter you among the nations, and disperse you over the lands; I will consume your uncleanness out of you, and you shall be dishonored in the sight of the nations; so shall you know that I am the LORD.”

Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

“O mortal man, the house of Israel has become dross to me; they are all of them bronze, tin, iron, and lead, in the midst of the furnace—dross of silver they are. Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because you have all become dross, behold, I will gather you into the midst of Jerusalem. As one gathers silver, bronze, iron, lead, or tin into the midst of the furnace, to blow fire upon it, and melt it, so will I gather you in my anger and fury, and I will cast you in, and melt you; I will gather you together, and will blow upon you with the fire of my wrath, and you shall be melted in the midst of the city. As silver is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shall you be melted in the midst of it; and you shall know that I the LORD have poured out my fury upon you."

23 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

24 "O mortal man, say to her: 'You are a land on which no rain or shower shall fall on the day of my indignation. For the rulers in the midst of the land are like a roaring lion that rends his prey; they devour men's lives, they seize treasure and wealth, they make many widows in the midst of her. Her priests also violate my law, and profane my holy things; they make no difference between sacred and secular, and teach no difference between unclean and clean; they shut their eyes to my sabbaths, so that I am profaned among them. The princes in the midst of her are like wolves that rend the prey, shedding blood, and destroying lives, to get dishonest gain. Her prophets also daub their walls with whitewash, showing them empty visions, and giving them lying divinations, saying, "Thus says the Lord GOD," when the LORD has not spoken. The common people practice oppression, and commit robbery; they wrong the poor and needy, and treat the resident alien with injustice. When I sought among them for a man who would build up the wall, and hold the breach before me in defense of the land, to prevent my destroying it, I found no one. Therefore I pour out my indignation upon them; with the fire of my wrath I consume them; their ways I requite upon their heads!'" is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

THE ALLEGORY OF THE TWO SISTERS, 23:1-49

25 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

26 "O mortal man, there were two women, daughters of one mother. In their girlhood they played the harlot, they played the harlot in Egypt. There men pressed their bosoms, there men bruised their virgin breasts. Their names were Oholah, the elder, and Oholibah, her sister. They became my wives, and bore sons and daughters. The name Oholah signifies Samaria, and Oholibah Jerusalem.

"Although she was my wife, Oholah played the harlot, and doted on her lovers the Assyrians—lords clothed in purple, governors and deputies, all of them handsome young men, knights riding on horseback—she bestowed her favors on them, the flower of the Assyrians all of them, and defiled herself with all the idols of all on whom she doted, not giving up the harlotries she committed in Egypt, since in her girlhood men lay with her, and bruised her virgin breasts, and lavished their lust upon her. So I handed her over to her lovers the Assyrians, on whom she doted. They uncovered her nakedness, they took away her sons and daughters, her own self they slew with the sword; and by reason of the judgments which they executed upon her, she became a byword among women.

"But although her sister Oholibah saw this, she carried on her doting and her harlotries worse than her sister. She doted on the Assyrians, governors and deputies, lords clothed in purple, knights riding on horseback, all of them handsome young men. And although I saw how she defiled herself—how both of them took the same way—she went still further in her harlotries. For she saw portraits of men on the wall, figures of Chaldeans portrayed in vermilion, with girdles round their loins, and flowing turbans upon their heads, all of them looking like officers, portraits of Babylonians, whose native land was Chaldea; and when she saw them, she doted on them, and sent messengers to them in Chaldea. And the Babylonians came to visit her on the bed of love, and defiled her with their lust, till she was sated, and became disgusted with them. And because she flaunted her harlotries, and exposed her nakedness, I became disgusted with her, as I had become disgusted with her sister. Yet she went on with her harlotries, remembering the days of her girlhood, when she played the harlot in the land of Egypt. She doted on her paramours, whose lust was as gross as that of asses or stallions, repeating the lewdness of her youth, when the Egyptians bruised her breasts, and pressed her girlish bosom.

- 22 "Therefore, O Oholibah, thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, I am rousing your lovers against you—the lovers with whom you became disgusted—and I will bring them against you from every side: the Babylonians, and all the Chaldeans, men of Pekod, Shoa, and Koa, together with all the Assyrians, handsome young men, all of them governors and deputies, officers and counselors, all of them riding on horseback. 24 And they shall come against you with an army of chariots and wheels, and with a host of men on foot; they shall array themselves against you on every side with buckler, shield, and helmet; I will intrust to them the execution of judgment, and they shall execute their judgments upon you. I will stamp you with the seal of my indignation, and they shall deal with you in fury; they shall cut off your nose and ears, and what remains of you shall fall by the sword; they shall take away your sons and daughters, and what remains of you shall be devoured by fire; they shall strip you of your clothes, and shall take away your splendid jewels. Thus will I put a stop to your lewd harlotries, committed ever since you were in the land of Egypt, so that you may no longer set your eyes upon them, nor remember Egypt any more.'
- 28 "For thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, I am handing you over to those whom you hate—those with whom you became disgusted—and they shall deal with you in hatred, and shall take away all the fruits of your labor, leaving you naked and bare. So shall the shame of your harlotry be exposed—your lewd harlotry. It shall bring these things upon you, because you have played the harlot with the nations in defiling yourself with their idols. You have gone the same way as your sister; so I will hand her cup over to you.'
- 32 "Thus says the Lord GOD: 'You shall drink your sister's cup, Which is deep and large; You shall become a scorn and derision, For it is full to the brim. 33 You shall be filled with pain and sorrow, For a cup of horror and awe Is the cup of your sister Samaria.

You shall drink it, and drain it— 34
You shall drain it to the dregs;
And your breasts you shall tear,
For I have spoken,'

Is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 35
'Because you have forgotten me, and cast me behind your back, you must bear the consequences of your lewd harlotries.'

The LORD further said to me, 36

"O mortal man, would you pass judgment upon Oholah and Oholibah? Then acquaint them with their abominable deeds! For they have committed 37 adultery, and there is bloodshed upon their hands; with their idols have they committed adultery, and to them have they sacrificed as burnt-offerings the sons whom they bore to me. This also 38 have they done to me: they have defiled my sanctuary, and have profaned my sabbaths. For when they had sacri- 39 ficed their sons to their idols, they went that same day to my sanctuary to profane it. This was what they did within my house. Still worse, you sent for men 40 from a far country—you sent a messenger to them, and they came—and for them you bathed yourself, painted your eyes, adorned yourself with ornaments, and sat on a stately couch, with 41 a table spread in front of it, on which you set my incense and my oil. Sounds 42 of revelry were heard there, the revelry of thoughtless men, including drunkards from the desert, who had been brought together in hosts, and who had bracelets placed upon their arms, and splendid crowns upon their heads. I 43 said, 'Now will they commit adultery and play the harlot with them.' And 44 they went in to them, as one goes in to a harlot; so they went in to those lewd women, Oholah, and Oholibah. But 45 honest men shall condemn them to the punishment due to adulterous women, and such as shed blood; for they have committed adultery, and there is bloodshed upon their hands.

"For thus says the Lord GOD: 46
'Bring up an assemblage against them, and give them over to pillage and spoil. Let the assemblage stone them, and cut 47 them off with the sword; let them slay their sons and daughters, and burn their houses. Thus will I put a stop to 48 lewdness in the land; and all women shall take warning, and not follow your 49 lewd example. Your lewdness shall be brought home to you, and you shall bear the consequences of your sinful idolatry; so shall you know that I am the Lord GOD.'"

THE ALLEGORY OF THE RUSTY POT,

24:1-14

4 In the ninth year, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "O mortal man, write down the name of this day; for on this very day the king of Babylon has invested Jerusalem. And propound an allegory to the rebellious house, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Set on the pot, set it on,
And pour water into it;

4 Put into it the pieces,
All the good pieces, the thigh and the shoulder;

Fill it with the choicest bones,

5 Taken from the choicest of the flock;
Pile wood under it, let it boil well,
That the bones also may be seethed in the midst of it.'"

16 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Woe to the bloody city, a pot full of filth, whose filth never leaves her! On each of her pieces she sets her stain, without a lot falling upon them. For she has blood in the midst of her; and on the bare rock she places it, instead of pouring it upon the ground, so that it may be covered with dust; to stir up fury, to bring on vengeance, she has put blood on the bare rock, so that it may not be covered.'

10 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Woe to the bloody city! I myself will make the pile great; I will heap on the wood, and kindle the fire; I will cook the flesh, and brew the broth, till the bones are burned. Then I will set it empty upon the embers, so that it may be heated, and its bottom may glow, that its impurity may be melted in the midst of it, and its filth may be consumed. But however hotly it burns, its thick filth will not leave it. Therefore, O filthy one, defiled by impurity, because I sought to cleanse you, and you would not be cleansed, you shall no more be cleansed from your impurity till I have spent my fury upon you. I the LORD have spoken the word, and I will do it. I will not hold back, nor pity, nor relent; in accordance with your ways and your doings will I punish you,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

DEATH OF THE PROPHET'S WIFE, 24:15-27

The word of the LORD came to me, 15 saying,

"O mortal man, behold, I am taking 16 away from you the delight of your eyes by a stroke; but you shall neither lament, nor weep, nor drop a tear. Sigh 17 in silence; make no mourning for the dead; wind your turban round your head, and put your sandals upon your feet; cover not your beard, and eat no mourning bread."

That evening my wife died; and in 18 the morning I did as I had been commanded. The same morning I spoke to the people; and the people said to me, 19

"Will you not tell us what these things mean? Is it for us that you are acting so?"

Then I said to them,

20 "The word of the LORD came to me, saying, 'Say to the house of Israel, Thus 21 says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am about to profane my sanctuary, the pride of your strength, the delight of your eyes, and the pride of your heart; and the sons and daughters whom you leave behind you shall fall by the sword. Then shall you do as I have done: you 22 shall not cover your beards, nor eat mourning bread; your turbans shall remain upon your heads, and your sandals upon your feet; you shall not lament or weep, but shall pine away in your sins, and shall moan to one another. Ezekiel shall be a sign to you: 23 just as he has done shall you do when the time comes; so shall you know that I am the Lord GOD.

"And as for you, O mortal man, on 25 the day when I take from them their stronghold, their proud joy, the delight of their eyes, that upon which their heart is set, together with their sons and daughters, on that day shall a fugitive come to you with news, and on the 27 same day that the fugitive comes your mouth shall be opened, and you shall speak, and shall no longer be dumb. So shall you be a sign to them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.'"

ORACLES AGAINST AMMON, MOAB, EDMO, AND THE PHILISTINES, 25:1-17

- 25 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,
- 2 "O mortal man, set your face toward the Ammonites, and prophesy against them, and say to the Ammonites, 'Hear the word of the Lord GOD!' Thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you cried "Aha!" over my sanctuary when it was profaned, and over the land of Israel when it was made desolate, and over the house of Judah when it went into exile, behold, I am handing you over as a possession to the Kedemites, and they shall pitch their camps and make their settlements in you, they shall eat your fruit and drink your milk. And I will make Rabbah a pasture for camels, and the cities of Ammon a fold for flocks; so shall you know that I am the LORD.' For thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you clenched your fists and stamped your feet and rejoiced with all the maliciousness of your heart over the land of Israel, behold, I stretch my hand over you, and will give you as a spoil to the nations, I will cut you off from the peoples, and will blot you out from the lands—I will destroy you utterly; so shall you know that I am the LORD.'
- 8 "Thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because Moab said, "Behold, the house of Judah has become like other nations," behold, I am laying open the flank of Moab, from the cities on its frontier to Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kirjathaim, the glory of the land, and I will give Moab along with Ammon as a possession to the Kedemites, so that it may no longer be remembered among the nations. Thus will I execute judgments upon Moab; and they shall know that I am the LORD.'
- 12 "Thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because Edom acted revengefully against the house of Judah, and incurred grievous guilt by taking revenge upon them, therefore thus says the Lord GOD: I will stretch my hand over Edom, and will cut off from it man and beast; I will make it a waste from Teman, and to Dedan shall they fall by the sword. I will wreak my vengeance upon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall deal with Edom in accordance with my anger and fury; and they shall know my vengeance," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

"Thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because the Philistines acted revengefully against the house of Judah, and took malicious revenge upon them, seeking to destroy them by a perpetual enmity, therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am stretching my hand over the Philistines, and I will cut off the Cherethites, and destroy the people of the seacoast to the last remnant; I will wreak upon them sore vengeance, by acts of furious chastisement; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I carry out my vengeance upon them.'"

ORACLE AGAINST TYRE,

26:1-21

In the eleventh year, in the eleventh month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

"O mortal man, because Tyre has said against Jerusalem,

'Aha! the gate of the peoples is broken, She is thrown open to me;

I shall be filled, while she is laid waste,'

Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, I am against you, O Tyre, And will bring up many nations

against you,

As the sea brings up its waves;

They shall destroy the walls of Tyre, And shall tear down her towers.

I will scrape her very dust from her, And will make her a bare rock;

She shall be a place for the spreading of nets

In the heart of the sea;

For I have spoken it,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD,

'And she shall become a spoil to the nations.

Her daughters also on the mainland shall be slain by the sword,

And they shall know that I am the LORD.'

"For thus says the Lord GOD:

'Behold, I am bringing upon Tyre from the north

Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, king of kings,

With horses and chariots, horsemen, and a host of men on foot.

8 Your daughters on the mainland shall he slay by the sword;
And a siege wall shall he place against
you,
And a mound shall he throw up against
you,
And a buckler shall he set up against
you;
9 His battering-rams shall he place against your walls,
And with his axes shall he break down
your towers.
10 From the multitude of his horses the dust shall cover you,
And with the noise of his horsemen,
his wheels, and his chariots,
Your walls shall shake when he enters your gates,
As one enters a city that is breached.
11 With the hoofs of his horses shall he trample all your streets,
Your people shall he slay by the sword,
And your strong pillars shall he bring to the ground.
12 Your wealth shall be plundered, and your merchandise made a prey;
Your walls shall be torn down, and your happy homes destroyed;
Your stones and timber and dust shall be sunk in the heart of the waters.
13 I will silence the noise of your songs,
And the sound of your harps shall be heard no more.
14 I will make you a bare rock,
You shall be a place for the spreading of nets,
You shall be built no more;
For I the LORD have spoken it,
Is the oracle of the Lord GOD.
15 "Thus says the Lord GOD to Tyre:
'Shall not the coast-lands quake at the sound of your downfall, when the wounded groan, and slaughter is rife in the midst of you? Then shall all the princes of the sea come down from their thrones, and lay aside their robes, and strip off their embroidered garments;
they shall clothe themselves in mourning weeds; they shall sit upon the ground, and tremble every moment, and shudder over you. And they shall raise a dirge over you, and say to you:
'How you have perished, have vanished from the sea,
O city renowned,
That was strong upon the sea,
herself and her people,
That struck the terror of her might upon all who dwelt there!

Now the coast-lands quake 18
on the day of your downfall,
The coast-lands by the sea are dismayed at your passing.'"

"For thus says the Lord GOD: 'When 19
I make you a desolate city, like the cities that are uninhabited, when I bring the deep over you, and the mighty waters cover you, then will I thrust 20 you down, with those who go down to the Pit, to the people of ancient times, and will make you dwell in the underworld, in the primeval wastes, with those who go down to the Pit, so that you may remain uninhabited, and may no more take your place in the land of the living; I will bring you to an awful 21 end, and you shall be no more; though you be sought for, you shall be found no more,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

LAMENT OVER TYRE, 27:1-36

The word of the LORD came to me, 27
saying,

"And you, O mortal man, raise a 2 dirge against Tyre, and say to Tyre, 3 that sits at the gateway of the sea, the merchant of the peoples along many a coast-land, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:
'O Tyre, you have said,

'I am perfect in beauty';

Your domain was in the heart of the 4
seas,

your builders made you perfect in beauty.

Of cypresses from Senir 5
they fashioned all your planks;
A cedar they took from Lebanon to make you a mast.

Of oaks from Bashan 6
they made your oars;
Your deck they made of larch
from the coast-lands of Cyprus.

Of fine linen from Egypt, richly em- 7
brodered,
was your sail,
serving you as an ensign;

Your awning was of blue and purple
from the coast-lands of Elishah.
The inhabitants of Sidon and Arvad 8 were rowers for you;

Your skilled men, O Tyre, were in you, serving as your steersmen.
The elders of Gebel and her skilled 9 men were in you,
repairing your leaks;

- All the ships of the sea with their sailors were in you,
to handle your wares.
- 10 Men of Persia, Lud, and Put were in your army,
serving as your soldiers;
Shield and helmet they hung on you,
they displayed your glory.
- 11 The sons of Arvad and Helech manned your walls round about,
And the men of Gammad were in your
towers;
They hung their shields upon your walls round about,
they made perfect your beauty.
- 12 "Tarshish traded with you because of your abundant wealth of every kind;
she bartered with you silver, iron, tin, 13 and lead. Javan, Tubal, and Meshech traded with you; they supplied you with 14 slaves and bronze utensils. Those of the house of Togarmah bartered with 15 you horses, horsemen, and mules. The men of Rhodes traded with you; the people of many a coast-land were at your service; ivory tusks and ebony 16 they brought you as tribute. Edom traded with you because of your abundant resources; she bartered with you garnets, purple dyes, embroidered work, 17 fine linen, coral, and rubies. Judah and the land of Israel traded with you; they supplied you with wheat from Minnith, 18 wax, honey, oil, and balsam. Damascus traded with you because of your abundant resources, your abundant wealth of every kind; she bartered with you wine from Helbon and white wool.
- 19 The men of Uzal supplied you with 20 wrought iron, cassia, and calamus. De-dan sold you saddlecloths for riding.
- 21 Arabia and all the chiefs of Kedar were at your service; they sold you lambs, 22 rams, and goats. The merchants of Sheba and Raamah traded with you;
they bartered with you the finest of all kinds of spices, and the finest of all 23 kinds of precious stones and gold. Harran, Canneh, and Eden, Assyria, and all 24 the Medes traded with you; they sold you choice fabrics, richly embroidered mantles of blue, stuffs of various colors, 25 and strongly twisted skeins. Ships of Tarshish carried your merchandise.

"So you were filled, and became heavily laden,
in the heart of the seas.

- Your rowers brought you into deep waters; 26
The east wind wrecked you
in the heart of the seas.
Your wealth, your wares, and your 27
merchandise,
your sailors and your steersmen,
Your caulkers, your traders, and all your soldiers aboard you—even all the crowd within you—Shall sink in the heart of the seas on the day of your downfall.
At the sound of your steersmen's cry 28
the pasture-lands shall quake;
And all oarsmen and sailors, 29
all steersmen of the deep,
Shall come down from their ships,
and shall stand upon the shore;
They shall raise their voices over you, 30
and shall cry out bitterly;
They shall cast up dust on their heads,
they shall wallow in ashes;
They shall shave their heads for you, 31
and gird on sackcloth;
They shall weep for you in bitterness of heart,
with bitter lamentation;
Their daughters shall raise a dirge for 32
you,
and lament over you:
'Who has been ruined like Tyre
in the heart of the sea?
When your merchandise came from 33
the seas,
you supplied many peoples;
With the abundance of your wealth and your wares
you enriched the kings of the
earth.
Now you are wrecked in the seas, 34
in the depths of the waters;
Your cargo and all your crew are sunk in the heart of you.
All the inhabitants 35
are appalled at your fate;
Their kings are aghast with horror,
their faces are convulsed;
The merchants among the peoples hiss 36
you to scorn,
for you have come to an awful
end,
and shall be no more for-
ever.' " " "

ORACLE AGAINST THE KING OF TYRE, 28:1-10

The word of the LORD came to me,
saying,

2 "O mortal man, say to the prince of Tyre, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because you are puffed up with pride, And have said, 'I am a god, I sit in the seat of the gods In the heart of the seas,' When you are but a man, and no god, Though you count yourself wise as a god—

3 You are wiser, forsooth, than Daniel, No secret thing can they hide from you!

4 By your shrewdness and your skill you have won yourself wealth, You have gathered gold and silver into your treasuries;

5 By your great shrewdness in trade you have increased your wealth, And because of your wealth you are puffed with pride"—

6 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Because you count yourself wise as a god,

7 Behold, I am bringing aliens against you, The most ruthless of nations; And they shall draw their swords against your subtle beauty, And shall stain your splendor.

8 They shall bring you down to the Pit, And you shall die the death of the slain In the heart of the seas.

9 Will you then venture to say, 'I am a god,' In the presence of those who slay you, When you are but a man, and no god, In the hands of those who pierce you?

10 You shall die the death of the uncircumcised By the hands of aliens; For I have spoken it,"' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

DIRGE OVER THE KING OF TYRE, 28:11-19

11 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

12 "O mortal man, raise a dirge over the king of Tyre, and say of him, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: You were the seal of perfection, full of wisdom, and complete in beauty. You dwelt in Eden, the garden of God. You had a shield of every kind of precious stone, the ruby, topaz, and emerald, the beryl, onyx, and jasper, the sapphire, garnet, chrysolite, and gold; and on your clothing was a wealth of fine gold. On the day when you were created, I placed you with the 14 guardian cherubim on the holy hill of God; and you walked amidst stones of fire. You were perfect in your ways 15 from the day when you were created, till guilt was discovered in you. Through 16 the greatness of your trade you filled your mind with lawlessness, and you fell into sin; therefore I cast you out as a profane thing from the hill of God, and the guardian cherubim drove you from the midst of the stones of fire. You were puffed up with pride through 17 your beauty, you ruined your wisdom by reason of your splendor; therefore I flung you to the ground, and exposed you for kings to gaze at. Through the 18 greatness of your guilt, through the sins of your trade, you profaned your sacredness; therefore I brought forth fire from the midst of you, and I reduced you to ashes upon the ground in the sight of all who saw you. All who knew you among 19 the nations are appalled at your fate; for you have come to an awful end, and shall be no more forever.'"

ORACLE AGAINST SIDON, 28:20-26

The word of the LORD came to me, 20 saying,

"O mortal man, set your face toward 21 Sidon, and prophesy against her, and 22 say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am against you, O Sidon, And will reveal my glory in the midst of you; Then shall you know that I am the LORD, When I execute judgments in the midst of you, And reveal my holiness through you. For I will send pestilence into you, 23 And bloodshed into your streets; And the slain shall fall in the midst of you, By the sword that descends upon you from every side; And you shall know that I am the LORD.

"Then the house of Israel shall no 24 more find a pricking brier or a piercing thorn among all the malicious peoples that surround them on every side; and they shall know that I am the Lord GOD."

- 25 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "When I have gathered the house of Israel from the peoples among whom they are scattered, and have revealed my holiness through them in the sight of the nations, then shall they live in their own land, which I gave to my servant Jacob; 26 they shall live securely in it, and shall build houses and plant vineyards; they shall live securely in it, when I have executed judgments upon all the malicious peoples that surround them on every side; and they shall know that I am the LORD their God." ' "

ORACLE AGAINST PHARAOH,
29:1-16

- 29 In the tenth year, in the tenth month, on the twelfth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,
2 "O mortal man, set your face against Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and prophesy against him, and against Egypt, the 3 whole of it; speak, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:
"Behold, I am against you, O Pharaoh, King of Egypt,
The great crocodile that lies
In the midst of its streams,
That say, 'This stream of mine is my own—
It was I that made it.'
4 I will put hooks in your jaws,
And will make the fish of your streams cleave to your scales;
And I will draw you out of the midst of your streams,
With all the fish of your streams that cleave to your scales.
5 And I will cast you into the desert, Yourself and all the fish of your streams;
On the open field shall you lie, Ungathered and unburied;
To the beasts of the earth and the birds of the air
Will I leave you for food.
6 Then all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know That I am the LORD,
Because you have been a staff of reed To the house of Israel—
7 When they grasped you by the hand, you snapped,
And tore all their hand;
And when they leaned upon you, you broke,
And made all their loins quake." ' "

'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 1 "Behold, I am bringing a sword upon you, and I will cut off from you man and beast, and the land of Egypt shall be a desolation and a waste; so shall they know that I am the LORD. Be- 5 cause you have said, 'The stream is my own; it was I that made it,' therefore 10 behold, I am against you, and against your stream; and I will make the land of Egypt a waste and a desolation, from Migdol to Syene, even to the border of Ethiopia. No foot of man shall cross it, 11 no foot of beast shall cross it; for forty years shall it remain uninhabited. I will 12 make the land of Egypt a desolation in the midst of lands that are made desolate, and for forty years shall her cities remain a desolation in the midst of 13 cities that are laid waste; and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them over the lands."

'Thus says the Lord GOD: "At the 14 end of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the peoples among whom they are scattered; and I will re- 15 store the fortune of Egypt, and will bring them back to their native land of Pathros, and there shall they form a lowly kingdom. It shall be the lowliest 16 of all kingdoms, and shall no more raise its head above the nations; for I will keep them so small that they shall not be able to rule over the nations. And 17 they shall no more be a ground of confidence to the house of Israel, recalling sin to mind when they turn to them; and they shall know that I am the Lord GOD." ' "

EGYPT AS WAGES FOR NEBU-CHADREZZAR, 29:17-21

In the twenty-seventh year, in the 18 first month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,
"O mortal man, Nebuchadrezzar, 19 king of Babylon, engaged his army in a great campaign against Tyre. Every head was rubbed bald, and every shoulder was peeled bare; yet neither he nor his army won any return from the campaign which he directed against Tyre. Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 20 'Behold, I am giving the land of Egypt to Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon; and he shall carry off her abundance, and shall despoil her and prey upon her,

20 to pay his army. As a return for the campaign which he directed against Tyre, I am giving him the land of Egypt, because they rendered a service to me,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

21 "On that day will I cause a horn to sprout for the house of Israel; and I will enable you to speak freely in the midst of them; and they shall know that I am the LORD."

THE DESOLATION OF EGYPT,

30:1-26

80 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "O mortal man, prophesy, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: 'Wail, 'Woe for the day!'

3 For the day is near, The day of the LORD is near, A day of clouds, the time of doom for the nations.

4 A sword shall descend upon Egypt, And there shall be writhing in Ethiopia, When the slain fall in Egypt, And her abundance is carried off, And her foundations are torn up.'

5 [Ethiopia, Put, and Lud, all the Arabians, the Lybians, and the Cherethites with them, shall fall by the sword.] "Thus says the LORD:

6 "Those who uphold Egypt shall fall, And her proud strength shall come down; From Migdol to Syene shall they fall by the sword in her," Is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

7 "She shall be desolate in the midst of lands that are made desolate, And her cities shall lie in the midst of cities that are laid waste.

8 And they shall know that I am the LORD, When I have kindled a fire in Egypt, And all her helpers are shattered.

9 On that day shall messengers go forth from my presence in ships, To strike terror upon Ethiopia in its security; And writhing shall seize them on the day of Egypt's doom; For lo! it comes."

10 Thus says the Lord GOD: "I will make an end of the abundance of Egypt By the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon.

He and his people with him, the most 11 ruthless of nations, Shall be brought in to destroy the land; They shall draw their swords against Egypt, And shall fill the land with the slain. I will make the streams a waste, 12 And I will sell the land to evil men; I will make the land and all that is in it a desolation, By the hand of aliens— I the LORD have spoken it." .

Thus says the Lord GOD: 13 "I will destroy the magnates of Memphis, And no more shall there be a prince in the land of Egypt; I will put fear on the land of Egypt, And will make Pathros a desolation, 14 And will kindle a fire in Zoan, And will execute judgments upon Thebes; I will pour out my fury on Pelusium, 15 the stronghold of Egypt, And I will cut off the teeming multitude of Thebes; I will kindle a fire in Egypt, 16 And Pelusium shall writhe in anguish, Thebes shall be split asunder, and Memphis reduced to gravel; The young men of On and Eubastis 17 shall fall by the sword, And their maidens shall go into exile; At Daphne the day shall be dark, 18 When I break there the scepter of Egypt; And her proud strength shall fail her, A cloud shall cover her, While her daughters go into exile. Thus will I execute judgments upon 19 Egypt; And they shall know that I am the LORD. ' ' "

THE BREAKING OF PHARAOH'S ARMS, 30:20-26

In the eleventh year, in the first 20 month, on the seventh day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying, "O mortal man, I have broken the 21 arm of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and behold, it shall not be bound up, so that healing applications may be used and bandages put on, to make it strong enough to grasp the sword. "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 22

'Behold, I am against Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and will break his arms, both the strong one and the broken one, and I will make the sword fall from his hand. And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them over the lands. And I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and will put my sword in his hand, while I break the arms of Pharaoh, making him groan before him like a man mortally wounded. I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, while the arms of Pharaoh fall; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I put my sword into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he stretches it over the land of Egypt. So I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them over the lands; and they shall know that I am the LORD.' "

THE CEDAR OF EGYPT, 31:1-18

- 31 In the eleventh year, in the third month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,
- 2 "O mortal man, say to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and to his teeming multitude: 'Whom are you like in your greatness?
- 3 Like a stately cedar in Lebanon,
With graceful branches, and a thick shade of foliage,
Lofty in height, with its top among the clouds.
- 4 Waters nourished it, the deep made it grow,
Pouring her streams round its plantation,
And sending her channels to all the trees of the field.
- 5 So it towered aloft above all the trees of the field,
Its boughs increased in number, and its branches in length,
Through the wealth of water in its rills.
- 6 Among its boughs all the birds of the air made their nests,
And under its branches all the beasts of the field bore their young,
While within its shadow all mighty nations lived.
- 7 It was fair in its greatness, with the length of its branches;
For its root was by many waters.
- 8 The cedars in the garden of God could not eclipse it,

The cypresses could not match it in boughs,
Nor the plane-trees compare with it in branches;
There was no tree in the garden of God to match it in beauty.
By the wealth of its branches I made it fair,
So that all the trees of Eden, in the garden of God, envied it.'

"Therefore thus says the LORD GOD: 'Because it towered aloft, and raised its top to the clouds, and prided itself on its height, I am handing it over to the mightiest of the nations, who shall surely deal with it in accordance with its wickedness; and aliens, the most ruthless of the nations, shall cut it down, and cast it upon the mountains; and its branches shall fall into all the valleys, and its boughs shall lie broken in all the ravines of the land; and all the peoples of the earth shall depart from its shadow in terror. Upon its fallen trunk shall all the birds of the air nestle, and upon its branches shall all the beasts of the field be found, in order that no trees nourished by water may tower aloft, or raise their tops to the clouds—that no trees feeding on water may rival them in height—for all of them are doomed to death, doomed to descend to the underworld, in the midst of the children of men, with those who go down to the Pit.'

"Thus says the Lord GOD: 'On the day when it goes down to Sheol, I will darken the deep, and check its streams till the mighty waters are stayed; I will clothe Lebanon in black for it, and all the trees of the field shall droop in sorrow for it. I will make the nations quake at the sound of its downfall, when I bring it down to Sheol with those who go down to the Pit. And all the trees of Eden, the choicest and best trees of Lebanon, all that feed on water, shall be comforted in the underworld; they also shall go down with it to Sheol, to those who are slain by the sword, while those who lived under its shadow among the nations, shall likewise perish.

"Whomsoever, then, among the trees of Eden you may resemble in glory and greatness, you shall be brought down to the underworld with the trees of Eden, and shall lie in the midst of the uncircumcised with those who are slain by the sword. Such shall be the fate of Pharaoh and all his teeming multitude,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

DIRGE OVER PHARAOH, 32:1-16

2 In the eleventh year, in the twelfth month, on the first day of the month, 'he word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "O mortal man, raise a dirge over Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and say to him: 'To a young lion of the nations you likened yourself,

When you are nought but a dragon in the seas,

spouting water from your nostrils,

Troubling the waters with your feet, and fouling their streams.'

3 "Thus says the Lord GOD:

'I will spread my net over you, With a host of mighty peoples,

And I will draw you up in my seine,

4 And will cast you on the ground;

On the open field will I toss you.

I will cause all the birds of the air to settle upon you,

And with you will I glut all the beasts of the earth;

5 I will lay out your flesh on the mountains,

And with your bones will I fill the valleys;

6 I will drench the earth, to the mountain tops, with your flowing blood, And the ravines shall be full of you.

7 And when I have done with you, I will veil the heavens,

And will darken their stars;

I will veil the sun with a cloud,

And the moon shall not give her light;

8 All the shining lights of the heavens will I darken over you,

And I will throw blackness upon your land,'

Is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

9 "I will trouble the hearts of many peoples when I announce your downfall among the nations, to lands which you

10 never knew. I will make many peoples appalled at your fate; and their kings shall shudder with terror over you, when I brandish my sword in their sight. They shall tremble every moment, each for his own life, on the day of your downfall.

"For thus says the Lord GOD: 11
'The sword of the king of Babylon shall descend upon you,

And your teeming multitude will I 12
cause to fall by the swords of warriors,

All of them the most ruthless of nations.

They shall despoil the pride of Egypt,

And all her teeming multitude shall be destroyed.

I will destroy likewise all her beasts 13
From beside many waters;

And no foot of man shall trouble them any more,

Nor shall hoof of cattle trouble them.

Then will I cause their waters to settle, 14

And their rivers to flow with oil,'

Is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

'And when I have made the land of 15
Egypt a desolation,

When the land has been stripped of all that fills it,

When I have smitten all who dwell in it,

They shall know that I am the LORD.

This is the dirge which they shall chant, 16

Which the daughters of all the nations shall chant,

Which they shall chant over Egypt and all her teeming multitude,'

Is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

DIRGE OVER EGYPT, 32:17-32

In the twelfth year, in the first 17 month, on the fifteenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

"O mortal man, wail over the teem- 18
ing multitude of Egypt, and with this dirge send them down, you and the daughters of mighty nations, to the underworld, with those who go down to the Pit:

'Though you are incomparable in 19
beauty,

Go down, and be laid with the uncircumcised;

In the midst of those who are slain by 20
the sword

Lie down, you and all your teeming multitude!'

Then out of the midst of Sheol shall the 21
mightiest of warriors speak of her and her helpers:

'They have come down, and lie with the uncircumcised

In the midst of those who are slain by the sword.'

22 There is Assyria, with all her company round about her grave, all of them slain,
 23 fallen by the sword; her grave was made in the recesses of the Pit, and her company is round about her grave, all of them slain, fallen by the sword, who struck terror into the land of the living.
 24 There is Elam, with all her teeming multitude round about her grave, all of them slain, fallen by the sword, gone down uncircumcised to the underworld, who struck terror into the land of the living; and they bear the burden of their shame with those who go down to the Pit. In the midst of the slain a bed was made for her and all her teeming multitude round about her grave, all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword, because they struck terror into the land of the living; and they bear the burden of their shame with those who go down to the Pit; in the midst of the slain are 26 they placed. There are Meshech and Tubal, with all their teeming multitude round about their graves, all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword, because they struck terror into the land of the living. They lie not with the fallen warriors of old, who went down to Sheol with their weapons of war, whose swords were laid under their heads, and their shields upon their bodies, because the terror of their might was on the land 28 of the living. So shall you also lie among the uncircumcised, with those 29 who are slain by the sword. There is Edom, her kings and all her princes, who for all their might are laid with those who are slain by the sword; they lie with the uncircumcised, with those 30 who go down to the Pit. There are all the princes of the north, and all the Sidonians, who have gone down with the slain, in shame, for all the terror of their might, and lie uncircumcised with those who are slain by the sword, and bear the burden of their shame with 31 those who go down to the Pit. These shall Pharaoh see, and be comforted for all his teeming multitude who are slain by the sword, even Pharaoh and all his army," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.
 32 "Because he struck terror into the land of the living, he shall be laid in the midst of the uncircumcised, with those who are slain by the sword, even Pharaoh and all his teeming multitude," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

THE PROPHET AS WATCHMAN,

33:1-20

The word of the LORD came to me, 31 saying,

"O mortal man, speak to your fellow- 2 countrymen, and say to them: 'If, when I bring the sword upon a land, the people of the land take one of their number, and appoint him their watchman; and if, when he sees the sword 3 coming upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people; then 4 whosoever hears the sound of the trumpet but does not take warning—when the sword does come and take him away, his blood shall be upon his own head. He heard the sound of the trumpet but did not take warning, therefore 5 his blood shall be upon his own head; whereas, if he had taken warning, he would have saved himself. But if the 6 watchman, when he sees the sword coming, blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned—when the sword does come and take away one of their number, that man is taken away for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand. So you, O mortal 7 man, I appoint as a watchman to the house of Israel; and whenever you hear a word from my mouth, you shall warn them from me. If I say to the 8 wicked, 'O wicked man, you shall surely die,' and you say nothing to warn the wicked man from his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at your hand. If, 9 however, you warn the wicked man to turn from his way, and he turn not from his way, he shall die for his iniquity, but you shall have saved yourself.'

"Therefore, O mortal man, say to the 10 house of Israel: 'Because you say, "Our transgressions and our sins lie upon us, and under them we waste away; how then can we live?" as I live,' is the 11 oracle of the Lord GOD, 'I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but rather in this, that the wicked man turn from his way and live. Turn, O turn, from your evil ways! Why should you die, O house of Israel?'

"And you, O mortal man, say to your 12 fellow-countrymen: 'The righteousness of the righteous man shall not save him on the day of his transgression; and the wickedness of the wicked man shall not bring about his downfall on the day when he turns from his wickedness. The righteous man shall not be able to save himself by his righteousness on the 13 day when he falls into sin. If I say to the righteous man, "You shall surely live," and he trust in his righteousness, and do wrong, none of his righteous deeds shall be remembered, but for the wrong which he has done he shall die. 14 And if I say to the wicked man, "You shall surely die," and he turn from his sin, and do what is lawful and right— 15 if the wicked man restore the pledge, repay what he has taken by robbery, follow the statutes that lead to life, and do no wrong, he shall surely live, and 16 not die. None of the sins which he has committed shall be remembered against him; because he has done what is lawful 17 and right, he shall surely live. Yet your fellow-countrymen say, "The way of the Lord is not fair," when it is their 18 way which is not fair! If the righteous man turn from his righteousness, and 19 do wrong, he shall die for it. And if the wicked man turn from his wickedness, and do what is lawful and right, he shall 20 live by it. Yet you say, "The way of the Lord is not fair." O house of Israel, I will judge you each according to his ways."

NEWS OF THE CAPTURE OF JERUSALEM, 33:21-33

21 In the eleventh year of our exile, in the tenth month, on the fifth day of the month, a fugitive from Jerusalem came to me, saying,

"The city is smitten."

22 Now the hand of the LORD had been upon me the evening before the fugitive came; but he opened my mouth at the moment when he came to me in the morning, and when my mouth was 23 opened I was no longer dumb. Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 24 "O mortal man, those who inhabit these ruins in the land of Israel keep on saying, 'Abraham was but one man, yet he received possession of the land; now, we being many, the land will surely be given to us as a possession.' 25 Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: You eat flesh with the blood in it, you lift up your eyes to your idols, you shed blood, and shall you 26 have possession of the land? You resort to the sword, you commit abominations, you defile one another's wives, and shall you have possession of the land?' Say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: 27 As I live, those in the ruins shall fall by the sword, and those in the open field will I give to the beasts as food, and those in the fastnesses and caves shall die of pestilence. And I will make the 28 land a desolation and a waste; its proud strength shall fail, and the mountains of Israel shall be desolate, with none to cross them. And they shall know that 29 I am the LORD, when I make the land a desolation and a waste, because of all the abominations which they have committed.'

"As for you, O mortal man, your fel- 30 low-countrymen who talk of you by the walls and at the doors of the houses say to one another, 'Come and hear what the word is that comes from the LORD!' They come to you, as my people used to 31 come; and they sit before you, as if they were still my people: they listen to your words, but they will not obey them; for with their mouths they make a show of love, but their minds are set upon their own selfish gain. You are to them like 32 a singer of love songs, with a beautiful voice, and able to play well on the instrument; they listen to your words, but they will not obey them. Only when 33 the hour comes—and it is coming—they shall know that a prophet has been in the midst of them."

PROPHECY AGAINST THE SHEPHERDS OF ISRAEL, 34:1-31

The word of the LORD came to me, 34 saying,

"O mortal man, prophesy against the 2 shepherds of Israel; prophesy, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Woe to the shepherds of Israel, who have attended to themselves! Should not shepherds attend to the flock? But 3 you have fed on the milk, and have clothed yourselves with the wool; you have slaughtered the fatlings, and have not tended the flock. You have neither 4 strengthened the weak, nor healed the sick, nor bound up the wounded, nor brought back the strayed, nor sought out the lost; and with rigor have you ruled the strong. So my flock was scat- 5 tered for want of a shepherd, and became food to all the beasts of the field;

6 my flock wandered over all the mountains, and over every high hill; my flock was scattered over all the face of the earth, with none to seek or search for them.'

7 "Therefore, O shepherds, hear the 8 word of the LORD! 'As I live,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD, 'since my flock has become a prey, and my flock has become food to all the beasts of the field, for want of a shepherd—because the shepherds did not care for my flock, but attended to themselves, and did not attend to my flock'—therefore, O shepherds, hear the word of the LORD!
10 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am against the shepherds, and will require my flock at their hand; I will stop them from attending to my flock, so that the shepherds may no longer attend to themselves; and I will save my flock from their mouths, so that they may not be food to them.'

11 "For thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, here am I, and I will seek and 12 search for my flock. As a shepherd searches for his flock on a day of whirlwind, when his sheep are scattered, so will I search for my flock, and rescue them from all the places to which they have been scattered on the day of clouds
13 and thick darkness. I will lead them out of the nations, and gather them from the lands; and I will bring them to their own country, and tend them on the mountains of Israel, in the valleys, 14 and in all the best places of the land. In good pasture will I tend them, and on the high mountains of Israel shall be their fold; there shall they lie down in a good fold, and on rich pasture shall they 15 graze on the mountains of Israel. I myself will tend my flock, and I myself will lead them to their pasture,' is the 16 oracle of the Lord GOD. 'I will seek out the lost, I will bring back the strayed, I will bind up the wounded, I will strengthen the sick; and I will watch over the fat and strong ones, tending 17 them rightly.' And as for you, O my flock, thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, I will judge between sheep and 18 sheep. But as for the rams and he-goats, is it not enough for you to graze on the good pasture, that you must trample the rest of the pasture beneath your feet; and to drink of the clear water, that you must foul the rest with your feet, compelling my flock to graze on that which you have trampled beneath your feet, and to drink that which you have fouled with your feet?'

"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD
20 to them: 'Behold, here am I, and I will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep. Because you push with side 21 and shoulder, and butt at all the weak ones with your horns, till you have scattered them abroad, I will save my sheep,
22 so that they may no longer be a prey, and I will judge between sheep and sheep. And I will set up one shepherd
23 over them, to tend them, even my servant David, who shall tend them, and be a shepherd to them. I the LORD 24 will be their God, and my servant David shall be prince among them—I the LORD have spoken it. I will make 25 with them a covenant of peace, and I will remove wild beasts out of the land, so that they may live securely in the steppes, and sleep in the woods. And I
26 will bless them round about my hill, and will send down the showers in their season—showers of blessing shall they be. Then the trees of the field shall 27 yield their fruit, and the earth shall yield her produce; they shall live securely on their land; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I
28 break the bars of their yoke, and rescue them from the hands of those who enslaved them. And they shall no longer 29 be a prey to the nations, nor shall the beasts of the earth devour them; but they shall live securely, with none to make them afraid. I will provide for 30 them a soil renowned for fruitfulness, and they shall no longer be consumed with hunger in the land, and no longer bear the reproach of the nations. Thus 31 they shall know that I, the LORD, am their God, and that they, the house of Israel, are my people,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD. 'And you my flock are 32 the flock of my pasture, and I the LORD am your God,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

PROPHECY AGAINST MOUNT SEIR, 35:1-15

The word of the LORD came to me,
31 saying,

"O mortal man, set your face against 32 Mount Seir, and prophesy against it, and say to it, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:
33

Behold, I am against you, O Mount Seir; and I will stretch out my hand against you, and make you a desolation and a waste; your cities will I lay waste, and you shall be a desolation; so shall you know that I am the LORD. Because you kept up a perpetual enmity against the children of Israel, and handed them over to the sword at the time of their calamity—the time of their final doom; therefore as I live, is the oracle of the Lord GOD, 'I will hold you guilty of bloodshed, and blood shall pursue you. I will make Mount Seir a desolation and a waste; I will cut off from it him that comes and him that goes, and will fill its mountains with its slain; over your hills and valleys, and over all your ravines, shall men fall slain by the sword. I will make you a perpetual desolation, and your cities shall remain uninhabited; so shall you know that I am the LORD. Because you said, "The two nations and the two lands shall be mine, and I will take possession of them"—when the LORD was in them; therefore as I live, is the oracle of the Lord GOD, 'I will treat you in accordance with the anger and indignation with which you treated them in your hatred against them, and I will reveal my character among you when I punish you. And you shall know that I the LORD have heard all the insults which you have uttered against the mountains of Israel, saying, "They are our possession; they are given to us as food." And because you spoke many boastful words against me with your mouth—and I heard them—therefore thus says the Lord GOD: When the whole earth rejoices, I will make you a desolation. As you rejoiced over the heritage of the house of Israel, because it was a desolation, so will I deal with you. A desolation shall you be, O Mount Seir, and the whole of Edom a ruin; so shall they know that I am the LORD.'

THE RESTORATION OF THE LAND OF ISRAEL, 36:1-15

"And you, O mortal man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel, and say, 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD! Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because the enemy jeered over you, saying, 'Aha! the ancient heights have become our possession,' " ' therefore prophesy and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Because you have been snarled and snapped at from every side, to become the possession of the rest of the nations, and made the subject of talk and gossip to the people, therefore, O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD! Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains and the hills, the ravines and the valleys, the desolate wastes and the deserted cities, which have become a prey and derision to the rest of the nations that are round about: In the fire of my indignation I speak against the rest of the nations, and against Edom, the whole of it, who with intense glee and maliciousness of heart took over my land as a possession for themselves, to hold it as a prey.' Therefore prophesy over the land of Israel, and say to the mountains and the hills, the ravines and the valleys, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I speak in my indignation and fury, because you have borne the reproach of the nations. Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: I swear by uplifted hand that the nations which are round about you shall bear their reproach. But you, O mountains of Israel, shall put forth your branches and bear your fruit for my people Israel, because they shall shortly come. For behold, I am for you, and will look to you, and will see that you are tilled and sown. And I will plant upon you a large population, even the whole house of Israel, so that the cities may be re-peopled and the waste places rebuilt. I will plant upon you a large population of men and beasts, who shall increase and be fruitful; and I will settle you as in former days, and treat you better than at first; so shall you know that I am the LORD. And I will cause men to be born upon you, my people Israel, and they shall have possession of you, and you shall be their heritage, and shall no longer make them childless. Thus says the Lord GOD: Because men keep saying to you, 'You are a devourer of men, you make your people childless,' therefore you shall no longer devour men, and shall no longer make your people childless," ' is the oracle of the Lord GOD; 'and I will no longer permit the taunts of the nations to be heard against you, and no longer shall you have to bear the reproach of the peoples, for no longer shall you make your people childless,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

THE REGENERATION OF THE PEOPLE, 36:16-38

- 16 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,
- 17 "O mortal man, when the house of Israel lived in their own land, they defiled it by their ways and their doings; like the foulness of a woman in her time of uncleanness were their ways in my sight. So I poured out my fury upon them for the blood which they had shed upon the land, and for the defilement which they had brought upon it through their idols. I scattered them among the nations, and dispersed them over the lands: in accordance with their ways and their doings I punished them. But when they arrived among the nations to which they came, and caused my holy name to be profaned, in that men said of them, 'These are the people of the LORD, and they have gone out of his land,' I was grieved for my holy name which the house of Israel had caused to be profaned among the nations to which they came. Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: It is not for your sake that I am about to act, O house of Israel, but for my holy name which you have caused to be profaned among the nations to which you came. I will restore the holiness of my great name which has been profaned among the nations—the name which you have caused to be profaned in the midst of them—and when I restore my holiness in their sight, through my dealings with you, the nations shall know that I am the LORD,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD. 'For I will take you out of the nations, and gather you from all the lands; and I will bring you to your own land. I will sprinkle pure water over you, and you shall be pure: from all your impurities, and from all your idolatries, will I purify you. I will give you a new heart, and will put within you a new spirit; I will remove the heart of stone out of your flesh, and will give you a heart of flesh; and I will put my spirit within you, and make you follow my statutes and be careful to observe my ordinances. You shall live in the land which I gave to your fathers; and you shall be my people, and I will be your God. I will save you from all your impurities. And I will call to the grain, and make it abundant, allowing no famine to come upon you. I will also make the fruit of the trees and the produce of the fields abundant, so that you may no longer bear among the nations the reproach of famine. Then shall you remember your evil ways, and your doings that were not good; and you shall loathe yourselves for your sinful and abominable deeds. But be it known to you, it is not for your sake that I am doing this,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD; 'therefore be ashamed and abashed for your ways, O house of Israel!'

"Thus says the Lord GOD: On the day when I purify you from all your iniquities, I will have the cities re-peopled, and the waste places rebuilt. And the land that was desolate shall be tilled once more, instead of lying a desolation under the eyes of every passer-by; and men shall say, 'Yonder land that was desolate has become like the garden of Eden; and the cities that were waste, desolate, and ruined are now fortified and inhabited.' Then the nations that are left round about you shall know that I the LORD have rebuilt the ruined cities, and replanted the desolate wastes. I the LORD have spoken it, and I will do it.

"Thus says the Lord GOD: This also will I let the house of Israel ask me to do for them—to make their people as numerous as a flock. Like the flock for a sacrifice, like the flock at Jerusalem during her festivals, so shall the cities that were laid waste be filled with a flock of men; and they shall know that I am the LORD."

THE VISION OF THE VALLEY, 37:1-14

The hand of the LORD was upon me; and the LORD carried me out by the spirit, and set me down in the midst of a valley which was full of bones. He led me all round them, and lo! there were very many of them on the surface of the valley, and lo! they were very dry. Then he said to me,

"O mortal man, can these bones live?"

And I answered,

"O Lord GOD, thou knowest."

- 4 Then he said to me,
 "Prophesy over these bones, and say to them, 'O dry bones, hear the word of 5 the LORD! Thus says the Lord GOD to these bones: Behold, I am causing breath to enter you, and you shall live.
 6 I will put sinews upon you, and will clothe you with flesh, and cover you with skin; then I will put breath into you, and you shall live; and you shall know that I am the LORD.' "
- 7 So I prophesied as I had been commanded; and as I prophesied, there was a sound; and lo! there followed a rustling; and the bones came together, bone 8 to its bone. And as I looked, lo! there were sinews upon them, and flesh came up, and skin covered them over; but 9 there was no breath in them. Then he said to me,

"Prophesy to the breath; prophesy,
 O mortal man, and say to the breath,
 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe into these slain men, that they may live!' "

- 10 So I prophesied as he had commanded me; and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood upon their 11 feet—an exceedingly great host. Then he said to me,

- "O mortal man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they keep saying, 'Our bones are dried up, and our hope is lost; we are completely 12 cut off.' Therefore prophesy, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am opening your graves, and will raise you out of your graves, O my people, and will bring you into the land 13 of Israel. And when I open your graves, and raise you out of your graves, O my people, you shall know that I am the 14 LORD. Then I will put my spirit into you, and you shall live; and I will settle you on your own land; and you shall know that I am the LORD. I have spoken it, and I will do it,' is the oracle
 of the LORD."

THE ALLEGORY OF THE ### TWO STICKS,

37:15-28

- 15 The word of the LORD came to me,
 saying,

"O mortal man, take a stick, and 10
 write on it, 'Of Judah and the children of Israel associated with him'; then take another stick, and write on it, 'Of Joseph and all the house of Israel associated with him.' Join them together, so 17 as to form a single stick in your hand.
 And when your fellow-countrymen ask 18
 you, 'Will you not tell us what you mean by these things?' say to them, 'Thus 19 says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am taking the stick of Joseph (which is in the hand of Ephraim) and the tribes of Israel associated with him, and I will unite it with the stick of Judah, making them a single stick in my hand.' And, 20 keeping the sticks on which you have written in your hand before their eyes, say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: 21 Behold, I am taking the children of Israel from the midst of the nations to which they have gone, and I will gather them from every side, and bring them into their own land; and I will make 22 them a single nation in the land, upon the mountains of Israel; and a single king shall be king over them all—they shall no longer be two nations, and shall no longer be divided into two kingdoms. And they shall no longer defile 23 themselves with their idolatries, their foul practices, and all their other transgressions; for I will save them from all their sinful apostasies, and will keep them pure; so shall they be my people, and I will be their God. And my serv- 24 ant David shall be king over them—there shall be a single shepherd for all of them—and they shall follow my ordinances and be careful to observe my statutes. And they shall live on the 25 land that I gave to Jacob my servant,
 the land in which their fathers lived;
 they and their children and their children's children shall live on it forever, and David my servant shall be their prince forever. I will make with them a 26 covenant of peace—an everlasting covenant shall it be with them—and I will bless them and multiply them. I will set my sanctuary in the midst of them forever, and my dwelling-place shall be 27 with them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And when my 28 sanctuary is set in the midst of them forever, the nations shall know that I the LORD am setting Israel apart for myself.' "

THE OVERTHROW OF GOG,

38:1—39:29

98 The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "O mortal man, set your face toward Gog, of the land of Magog, the great prince of Meshech and Tubal, and
3 prophesy against him, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the great prince of 4 Meshech and Tubal; I will turn you round, and put hooks in your jaws; and I will lead you out, with all your army, horses, and horsemen, all of them in full panoply, a mighty host, equipped with buckler and shield, all of them
5 wielding the sword—Persia, Cush, and Put, all of them equipped with shield
6 and helmet, together with Gomer and all his hordes, the house of Togarmah and all their hordes, from the farthest
7 north—many a people with you. Be ready, and keep ready, you and all your host mustered about you; keep yourself
8 in reserve for me. For after many days you shall be called up for service, in the end of the years you shall march against a land restored from desolation, and inhabited by a people gathered from many a nation, against the mountains of Israel that were once a perpetual waste, but are now inhabited by a people brought home from the nations,
9 all of them living in security—you shall advance like a storm, you shall come like a cloud covering the land, you and all your hordes, and many a people with you.

10 "Thus says the Lord GOD: On that day shall thoughts come into your mind, and you shall plan a mischievous
11 scheme, saying, 'I will march against this land of open villages, I will fall upon these quiet people who live in security, all of them undefended by wall or 12 bar or gates,' to despoil them, and prey upon them, to bring down your hand against the re-inhabited wastes, and against the people gathered from the nations, who are peacefully acquiring cattle and goods, as they live at the 13 center of the earth. Sheba and Dedan, the merchants of Tarshish, and all her magnates, shall say to you, 'Was it to despoil them that you came? Was it to prey upon them that you mustered your host? Was it to carry off silver and gold, to seize cattle and goods, to take great spoil?' Therefore prophesy, 14

O mortal man, and say to Gog, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: On that day when my people Israel are living in security, shall you not bestir yourself and come 15 from your place in the farthest north—you and many a people with you, all of them riding on horseback, a great host, a mighty army—and fall upon my people 16
Israel like a cloud covering the land? It shall come to pass in the end of the days that I will bring you against my land, so that the nations may know me, when I reveal my holiness in their sight, through my dealings with you, O Gog.'

"Thus says the Lord GOD: 'You are 17 the one whom in former days, through my servants the prophets of Israel, who prophesied in those days, I threatened to bring against them. But on 18 that day when Gog shall invade the land of Israel,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD, 'my fury shall rise in my nostrils. In my indignation and the fire of my 19 wrath, I swear: On that day there shall be an earthquake in the land of Israel, so great that the fish of the sea, the 20 birds of the air, the beasts of the field, all the reptiles that creep upon the ground, and every human being upon the surface of the earth, shall tremble at my presence, the mountains shall be torn down, the cliffs shall tumble, and every wall shall fall to the ground. I 21 will summon against him every kind of terror,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD, 'and every man's sword shall be against his brother; I will proceed against him 22 also with pestilence and bloodshed; and I will rain upon him and his hordes, and upon the many peoples that are with him, a lashing rain, accompanied by hailstones, fire, and brimstone. So will 23
I reveal my greatness and my holiness, and will make myself known in the sight of many nations; and they shall know that I am the LORD.'

"And you, O mortal man, prophesy 31 against Gog, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the great prince of Meshech and Tubal; I will turn you round, and drive 2 you on; I will bring you up from the farthest north, and lead you against the mountains of Israel; then I will strike 3 your bow from your left hand, and spill your arrows from your right hand. You 4 shall fall upon the mountains of Israel, you and all your hordes, and the peoples that are with you; to ravenous birds of every sort, and to the beasts of the field, will I leave you as food. On the open field shall you lie; for I have spoken it,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD. 'And I will send fire against Magog, and against those who live securely in the coast-lands; so shall they know that I am the LORD. I will reveal my holy name in the midst of my people Israel, and no longer allow my holy name to be profaned; so shall the nations know that I am the LORD, the Holy One of Israel. Lo! it comes, and it shall be,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD: 'this is the day of which I spoke. Then shall those who live in the cities of Israel go out and make firewood of the weapons—the shields and bucklers, the bows and arrows, the handpikes and spears—for seven years shall they make firewood of them, and shall not need to take wood from the fields, nor to cut it from the forests, because they shall make firewood of the weapons; so shall they despoil those who despoiled them, and prey upon those who preyed upon them,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

11 "And on that day will I give Gog a burial place that shall bear his name in Israel, even the valley of Abarim, east of the Dead Sea: men shall stop up the valley of Abarim, and there shall they bury Gog and all his mob; and they shall call it, 'The Valley of Gog's mob.'

12 For seven months shall the house of Israel be engaged in burying them, in order to purify the land—all the people of the land shall be engaged in burying them—and it shall bring them fame on the day when I reveal my glory," is the oracle of the Lord GOD. "And they shall set apart a standing commission of men who shall pass through the land, searching for those who remain unburied on the surface of the land, to purify it. At the end of seven months shall they begin the search. And when they pass through the land, and one of them sees a man's body, he shall set up a mark beside it, till the burial parties have buried it in the valley of Gog's mob. There shall they bury the whole mob, and thus purify the land.

17 "And as for you, O mortal man, thus says the Lord GOD: Say to the birds of every sort, and to all the beasts of the field, 'Assemble and come, gather from every quarter, to the sacrificial feast which I am preparing for you upon the mountains of Israel, a great sacrificial feast, at which you shall eat flesh and drink blood; you shall eat the flesh of warriors, and drink the blood of princes of the earth, all of them rams, lambs, and he-goats, bullocks, and fatlings of Bashan; you shall eat fat till you are glutted, and drink blood till you are drunk, at the sacrificial feast. which I prepare for you; at my table you shall be glutted with horses and horsemen, warriors and soldiers of every sort,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD. Thus will I manifest my glory among the nations; and all the nations shall see the judgments that I execute, and the hand that I lay upon them. And from that day onward the house of Israel shall know that I am the LORD their God. The nations also shall know that the house of Israel went into exile for their iniquity, because they dealt treacherously with me, for which reason I hid my face from them, and handed them over to their adversaries, and they fell all of them by the sword; in accordance with their uncleanness and their transgressions I dealt with them, and hid my face from them. Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Now will I restore the fortune of Jacob, and have pity upon the whole house of Israel, and be zealous for my holy name. They shall forget their shame, and all the treason which they committed against me, when they live securely on their own land, with none to make them afraid, when I have brought them back from the peoples, and have gathered them out of the lands of their enemies, and have revealed my holiness in the sight of many nations through my dealings with them. And they shall know that I am the LORD their God in that I sent them into exile among the nations, but now have gathered them into their own land, and will no longer leave any of them in exile, nor any longer hide my face from them; for I have poured out my spirit upon the house of Israel,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

THE NEW TEMPLE,

40:1—42:20

In the twenty-fifth year of our exile. In the first month of the year, on the tenth day of the month—this was the fourteenth year after the city had been smitten—on that very day the hand of 2 the LORD was upon me, and he brought me in visions of God to the land of Israel, and set me on a very high mountain, 3 like a city over against me. He brought me there, and lo! there was a man whose appearance was like bronze, with a line of flax and a measuring rod 4 in his hand, standing at the gate. And the man said to me,

"O mortal man, look, listen, and attend to all that I show you—for you were brought here in order that I might show them to you—then tell the house of Israel all that you see."

5 And lo! there was a wall running all round the outside of the building. And the man measured it with the measuring-rod in his hand, which was six cubits long, each cubit being equivalent to a cubit and a handbreadth; and he found it one rod in breadth and one rod in height.

6 Then he brought me to the gate looking east; and when he had climbed the steps of it, he measured the threshold of the gate, which was one rod broad.
 7 Each of the guard-rooms was one rod long, and one rod broad; and between the guard-rooms was a space of five 8 cubits. The threshold also of the gate at the vestibule leading into the building 9 was one rod. Then he measured the vestibule, which was eight cubits broad, with its jambs each two cubits broad.
 10 The guard-rooms of the east gate were three on each side, all of the same size;
 while the jambs on each side were also 11 of the same size. Then he measured the breadth of the gateway, ten cubits; and the length of the gateway, thirteen 12 cubits. In front of each guard-room was a platform, one cubit square, the guard-rooms themselves being six cubits 13 square. Then he measured the gate from the back of one guard-room to the back of the other, a breadth of twenty-14 five cubits, from door to door. Then he measured the length of the vestibule, twenty cubits, where the inner court 15 abutted on the vestibule. Thus from the outside front of the gate to the inside front of the vestibule were fifty 16 cubits. And the guard-rooms had latticed windows on the inside of the gateway round about; the vestibule also had windows on the inside round about; while on each jamb were palm trees.

Then he brought me to the outer 17 court; and lo! there was a pavement round about the court, with thirty chambers fronting on it. The pavement 18 ran along the sides of the gates, and was as broad as they were long—this was the lower pavement. And he meas-19 ured the breadth from the inside front of the outer gate to the outside front of the inner court, a hundred cubits.

Then he brought me to the north 20 gate of the outer court, and measured its length and its breadth. This gate 21 had three guard-rooms on each side, with jambs and vestibule, of the same size as those of the first gate. It was fifty cubits in length, and twenty-five cubits in breadth. It had windows, ves-22 tibule, and palm trees, of the same size as those of the east gate. It was reached by a stairway of seven steps; and its vestibule was on the inside. And 23 the inner court had a gate opposite this north gate, corresponding to the gate on the east; and he measured from gate to gate, a hundred cubits.

Then he led me southward; and lo!
 24 there was a gate looking south. He measured its jamb and vestibule, and found them of the same size as the others. The gate and its vestibule had 25 windows round about, of the same size as the others. It was fifty cubits in length, and twenty-five cubits in breadth. It also had a stairway of sev-26 en steps; and its vestibule was on the inside. It had palm trees on its jambs, one on each side. And the inner court 27 had a gate opposite this south gate; and he measured from gate to gate, a hundred cubits.

Then he brought me to the inner 28 court by the south gate; and he measured the south gate, with its guard-29 rooms, jambs, and vestibule, and found them of the same size as the others.
 The gate and its vestibule had windows round about; and it was fifty cubits
 in length, and twenty-five cubits in breadth. Its vestibule was twenty cu-30 bits long, and five cubits broad; and the 31 vestibule faced the inner court. Palm trees were on its jambs; and its stairway had eight steps.

Then he brought me to the inner 32 court on the east side; and he measured the gate, with its guard-rooms, jambs, 33 and vestibule, and found them of the same size as the others. The gate and its vestibule had windows round about; and it was fifty cubits in length, and twenty-five cubits in breadth. Its vestibule faced the outer court; and palm trees were on its jambs, on each side; and its stairway had eight steps.

Then he brought me to the north gate, and measured it, with its guard-rooms, jambs, and vestibule, and found them of the same size as the others. It also had windows round about. It was fifty cubits in length, and twenty-five cubits in breadth. Its vestibule faced the outer court; and palm trees were on its jambs, on either side; and its stairway had eight steps.

There was a chamber opening into the vestibule of the gate, in which they were to wash the burnt-offerings. And in the vestibule of the gate there were two tables on each side, for the purpose of slaughtering the burnt-offerings, the sin-offerings, and the guilt-offerings; and outside the vestibule, as one approached the entrance of the north gate, there were two tables on each side—that is, four tables inside, and four tables outside the gateway—eight tables in all, on which they were to slaughter the sacrifices. In addition, there were four tables of hewn stone, each a cubit and a half long, a cubit and a half broad, and a cubit high, on which they were to lay the instruments for slaughtering the burnt-offerings and the sacrifices. And pegs, a handbreadth long, were fastened on the walls round about, on which to hang the flesh of the sacrifices.

Then he brought me through the gate to the inner court; and lo! there were two chambers in the inner court, one by the north gate, facing south, and the other by the south gate, facing north. And he said to me,

“This chamber, facing south, is for the priests who have charge of the house; and the other chamber, facing north, is for the priests who have charge of the altar, that is, for the sons of Zadok, who alone among the sons of Levi may approach the LORD, to minister to him.”

Then he measured the court, and found it a hundred cubits long, and a hundred cubits broad—a square. And the altar stood in front of the house.

Then he brought me to the vestibule of the house, and measured the jambs of the vestibule, which were five cubits broad on each side. The gate was four-teen cubits broad, and the sides of the gate were each three cubits broad. The length of the vestibule was twenty cubits, and the breadth twelve cubits. It was reached by a stairway of ten steps. And pillars stood beside the jambs, one on each side.

Then he brought me to the nave of the house, and measured the jambs, which were six cubits broad on each side. The breadth of the door was ten cubits, the leaves of the door being five cubits each. Then he measured the nave, which was forty cubits long and twenty cubits broad.

Then he entered the inner room, and measured the jambs of the door, which were two cubits each; while the breadth of the door was six cubits, the leaves of the door being three cubits each. Then he measured the room, which was twenty cubits long, and twenty cubits broad, in front of the nave. And he said to me,

Then he measured the wall of the house, which was six cubits broad, with side chambers four cubits broad all round the house. These side chambers were in three stories, thirty in each story; and there were rebatements in the wall, all round the house, for the chambers to rest on, so that they might not rest on the flat wall of the house. The side chambers increased in breadth as they rose upward; for the rebatements round about the house increased in depth as they rose upward, causing the wall of the house to contract in breadth as it rose upward. From the lowest story one rose through the middle story to the upper. And round about the house ran a raised platform, a full rod of six cubits and six handbreadths high, which formed the foundation of the side chambers. The outside wall of the side chambers was five cubits broad; and between the side chambers of the house and the row of chambers in the court lay a yard, twenty cubits broad, all round the house. The doors of the side chambers opened on a free space, one door to the north, and another to the south; and the free space was five cubits broad round about. On the west side of the yard was a building seventy cubits broad; and the wall surrounding the building was five cubits broad, and ninety cubits long.

- 13 Then he measured the house, a hundred cubits long; and the yard, with its building and walls, a hundred cubits
14 long; while the east front of the house, with the yard, was a hundred cubits
15 broad. Then he measured the building on the west side of the yard, with its walls on either side, a hundred cubits long.
- 16 The nave, the inner room, and the vestibule were roofed over; and all three had latticed windows round about. The inside walls of the house were paneled with wood round about, from the floor to the windows, and 17 from the windows to the roof, as well as over the door leading to the inner room, within and without. And on all the walls round about, in the inner 18 room and in the nave, there were carved cherubim and palm trees, palm tree alternating with cherub, and each 19 cherub with two faces, a man's face looking to the palm tree on one side, and a lion's face to the palm tree on the other side. These were carved all round 20 the house; from the floor to the roof there were carved cherubim and palm 21 trees. The wall of the shrine was a square; and in front of the shrine was 22 something resembling an altar of wood, three cubits high, two cubits long, and two cubits broad, its corners, base, and sides being all of wood. And he said to me,

"This is the table which stands before the LORD."

- 23 The nave and the shrine had each a 24 double door, each door having two swinging leaves, one pair for each door.
25 Cherubim and palm trees were carved on these, as they were carved on the walls. There was also a canopy of wood 26 outside in front of the vestibule. And there were cherubim and palm trees on both side walls of the vestibule, and on the canopy.
- 42 Then he led me to the inner court on the north, and brought me to a row of chambers facing the yard and its buildings on the north. Their length was a hundred cubits, and their breadth fifty 3 cubits. On opposite sides of the row, facing respectively the yard of twenty cubits in the inner court, and the pavement in the outer court, galleries rose
4 in three stories. In front of the chambers was a passage, ten cubits broad, and a hundred cubits long; and the doors of the chambers opened on it to the north. The chambers in the upper story were narrower than the others; for the galleries detracted their size as compared with those in the lower and middle stories of the building. For they were built in three stories, and had no pillars like those in the outer court; hence more room was taken from the chambers in the upper and middle stories than from those on the ground floor. The outer wall, bounding the chambers along the side of the outer court, was fifty cubits in length; for the length of the row of chambers in the outer court was fifty cubits, while in front of the temple it was a hundred cubits. And below these chambers, as one approached them from the outer court, was the eastward entrance, at the head of the outer wall.

On the south side, in front of the yard and its buildings, was another row of chambers, with a passage in front of them, similar to the chambers on the north, of the same length and breadth, with the same exits and arrangements, and with doors corresponding to theirs, only facing the south. There was likewise a door at the head of the passage, in front of the outer wall, as one approached it on the east. And he said to me,

"The north and the south chambers facing the yard are the sacred chambers where the priests who approach the LORD shall eat the most sacred things, and where they shall lay the most sacred things, the cereal-offerings, the sin-offerings, and the guilt-offerings; for the place is sacred. When the priests enter the sacred place, they shall not pass from it to the outer court without laying there the robes in which they have ministered (for they are sacred), and putting on other garments in which they shall approach the part of the building that is open to the people."

When he had finished measuring the inner house, he brought me out by the gate looking east, and measured the whole building round about. First he measured the east side, five hundred cubits by the measuring-rod. Then he turned to the north side, and measured it, five hundred cubits by the measuring-rod. Then he turned to the south side, and measured it, five hundred cubits by the measuring-rod. Then he turned to the west side, and measured it, five hundred cubits by the measuring-rod. On all four sides he measured the building, which had a wall round about it, five hundred cubits in length, and five hundred cubits in breadth, to separate the sacred from the secular.

THE RETURN OF THE GLORY OF THE LORD, 43:1-4

13 Then he brought me to the gate looking east; and lo! the glory of the God of Israel came from the direction of the east. The sound of his coming was like the sound of many waters; and the earth shone with his glory. The appearance which I saw was like the appearance which I had seen when he came to destroy the city, or like the appearance which I had seen by the River Chebar; and I fell upon my face. And the glory of the LORD entered the house by the gate looking east.

REGULATIONS FOR THE TEMPLE AND ITS WORSHIP,

5 Then a spirit raised me up, and brought me into the inner court; and lo! the glory of the LORD filled the house. And while the man still stood beside me, I heard one speaking to me from the house, and saying to me,

"O mortal man, this is the place of my throne, and this is the place for the soles of my feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel forever. And the house of Israel shall no longer defile my holy name, neither they, nor their kings, by their idolatry, and by the dead bodies of their kings, by placing their threshold against my threshold, and their doorpost beside my doorpost, with only a wall between me and them, and by defiling my holy name by the abominations which they have committed, and on account of which I have devoured them in my anger. Now let them put far from me their idolatry, and the dead bodies of their kings; and I will dwell in the midst of them forever.

10 "And you, O mortal man, show the house of Israel the house, its plan and its pattern, that they may be ashamed of all that they have done; acquaint them with the form and structure of the house, its exits and entrances, and all its forms, regulations, and rules; and write it all down in their sight, so that they may observe all its forms and regulations, and follow them.

"This is the rule for the house: The whole territory round about the top of the mountain shall be most sacred. Lo! this is the rule for the house.

"And these are the dimensions of the altar in cubits of a cubit and a handbreadth: Its pedestal shall be one cubit high, and one cubit broad, with a rim round its edge one span broad—this shall be the base of the altar. And from the top of the pedestal to the lower ledge shall be two cubits, and the breadth one cubit; and from the smaller ledge to the greater ledge shall be four cubits, and the breadth one cubit. And the altar-hearth shall be four cubits high; and above the altar-hearth shall be four horns, each one cubit long. The altar-hearth shall be square on all four sides—twelve cubits long by twelve cubits broad. The upper ledge also shall be square on all four sides—fourteen cubits long by fourteen cubits broad—with a rim round it half a cubit broad. And the pedestal shall be one cubit square. And the steps of the altar shall look east."

Then he said to me,

O mortal man, thus says the Lord GOD: "These are the regulations for the altar: On the day when it is erected, for the purpose of offering burnt-offerings and splashing blood upon it, you shall give a young bullock as a sin-offering to the Levitical priests who belong to the family of Zadok, and who alone may approach my presence to minister to me," is the oracle of the Lord GOD. "You shall take some of the blood, and apply it to the four horns of the altar, to the four corners of the ledge, and to the rim round about it; thus you shall cleanse and purify the altar. Then you shall take the bullock for the sin-offering, and have it burned at the proper place in the temple grounds, outside the sanctuary. Then on the second day you shall offer an unblemished he-goat as a sin-offering, and thus the altar shall be cleansed as it was cleansed by the bullock. And when you have finished cleansing it, you shall offer an unblemished bullock and an unblemished 24 ram from the flock. When you offer them before the LORD, the priests shall sprinkle salt upon them, and offer them up as a burnt-offering to the 25 LORD. For seven days shall you provide daily a he-goat as a sin-offering, also an unblemished bullock and an unblemished 26 ram from the flock. Thus for seven days shall they continue purifying and cleansing the altar, consecrating it for worship. At the end of 27 these days, from the eighth day onward, the priests shall offer your burnt-offerings and your thank-offerings upon the altar; and I will accept you,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD."

44 Then he brought me back to the outer gate of the sanctuary, looking east, which was closed. And the LORD said to me,

"This gate shall remain closed: it shall not be opened, nor shall any man enter by it; for the LORD, the God of Israel, has entered by it; therefore it shall remain closed. The prince alone may sit in it, to eat bread before the LORD; he shall enter by way of the vestibule of the gate, and shall depart the same way."

4 Then he brought me by way of the north gate to the front of the house; and I looked, and lo! the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD; and I fell upon my face. And the LORD said to me,

"O mortal man, mark, see, and hear all that I say to you regarding all the rules and regulations of the house of the LORD; mark also the entrances and exits of the sanctuary. And say to these rebels of the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: Let us have no more of the abominations which you
 7 have committed, O house of Israel, by introducing into my sanctuary aliens uncircumcised in heart and flesh, to profane my house, when you offered me the fat and blood that are my food! You have broken my covenant with all
 8 your abominations, and have not kept charge of my sacred things, but have introduced these aliens to keep charge
 9 in my sanctuary. Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: No alien, uncircumcised in heart and flesh, of all the aliens that are in the midst of the children of Israel, shall enter my sanctuary. And the Levites, who went far from me when Israel went astray—who went astray from me after their idols—shall bear the consequences of their guilt, by 11 being ministers in my sanctuary, having oversight at the gates of the house, and ministering in the house, slaughtering the burnt-offerings and sacrifices for the people, and standing before the people to minister to them. Because they

 12 ministered to them before their idols, and thus caused the house of Israel to fall into sin, I have sworn by uplifted hand concerning them,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD, 'that they shall bear the consequences of their guilt by no longer
 13 approaching me, to act as priests to me, or to touch any of my sacred things, my most sacred things—so shall they bear the burden of their shame for the abominations which they have committed—but I will give them charge of 14 the house, to do all the service and all the work that is to be done in it. But 15 the Levitical priests, the sons of Zadok, who kept charge of my sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall approach me to minister to me, and shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood,' is the oracle of the Lord GOD; 'they shall 16 enter my sanctuary, and shall approach my table to minister to me, and shall keep my charge. And when they enter
 17 the gates of the inner court, they shall wear linen garments; they shall have no wool upon them while they are ministering within the gates of the inner court, or anywhere in the sanctuary; they shall have linen turbans upon 18 their heads, and linen breeches upon their loins; they shall cover themselves with nothing that causes sweat. And 19 when they go out to join the people in the outer court, they shall put off the garments in which they have been ministering, and lay them in the sacred chambers; and they shall put on other garments, lest they make the people taboo by their garments. And they shall 20 neither shave their heads, nor let their hair grow long; they shall only clip their hair. No priest shall drink wine 21 when he enters the inner court. And 22 none shall marry a layman's widow, or a divorced woman, but only a virgin of the stock of the house of Israel, or the widow of a priest. They shall teach my 23 people the difference between the sacred and the secular, and show them how to distinguish between the unclean and the clean. In a case at court they shall act as judges, and shall decide the case according to my laws; and they shall observe my rules and regulations at all my festivals, and shall maintain the sacredness of my sabbaths. No priest shall defile himself by approaching a dead person, except in the case of a father or mother, a son or daughter, a brother or unmarried sister; and if he should suffer defilement in this way, he shall let seven days elapse, after which he shall be clean; and when he enters the inner court, to minister in the sanctuary, he shall offer a sin-offering for himself," is the oracle of the Lord GOD. "And the priests shall have no heritage, since I am their heritage; and no property shall be given to them in Israel, since I am their property. The cereal-offerings, the sin-offerings, and the guilt-offerings shall be their food; and everything devoted to the LORD in Israel shall go to them. The best of all the firstfruits of everything, and all the contributions of everything which you offer, shall be for the priests; and your first batch of baking shall you give to the priest, so that a blessing may rest on your homes. But of nothing that dies a natural death, or has been torn to pieces, whether bird or beast, shall the priests eat.

15 "And when you allot the land for inheritance, you shall set apart as an allotment to the LORD a sacred portion of the land, twenty-five thousand cubits long, and twenty thousand cubits broad, which shall be sacred through its whole extent. And from this area you shall measure off a section, twenty-five thousand cubits long, and ten thousand cubits broad, as the most sacred portion of the land; it shall be for the priests who minister in the sanctuary, and approach the LORD to minister to him, providing room for their houses and grounds. Of this section there shall be reserved for the sanctuary a square block, five hundred cubits in length by five hundred cubits in breadth, with an open space of fifty cubits round about it. Another section, twenty-five thousand cubits long, and ten thousand cubits broad, shall be for the Levites who minister in the sanctuary; it shall be theirs for houses to live in. And alongside of the sacred allotment you shall provide the city property, five thousand cubits broad and twenty-five thousand cubits long, which shall belong to the whole house of Israel. And the prince shall have the land on both sides of the sacred allotment and the city property, facing the sacred allotment and the city property west and east, along a length equal to that of one of the tribal lots, from the west to the east border of the land; this shall be his property in Israel. And my princes shall no longer oppress my people, but shall assign the land to the house of Israel according to their tribes."

Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Enough, O princes of Israel! Have done with violence and spoil; practice justice and right; cease evicting my people from their homes," is the oracle of the Lord GOD. "You shall have just scales, a just ephah, and a just bath. The ephah and the bath shall be of the same measure—the bath containing the tenth of a homer, and the ephah the tenth of a homer, the homer being the standard of measurement. And the shekel shall be twenty gerahs (five shekels shall be five shekels, and ten shekels shall be ten shekels), and your mana shall be twenty shekels.

"This is the contribution which you shall offer: the sixth of an ephah out of every homer of wheat, and the sixth of an ephah out of every homer of barley; a proportion of oil amounting to the tenth of a bath out of every kor, ten baths making a kor; and one sheep out of every flock of two hundred—from all the families of Israel—to provide for the cereal-offering, the burnt-offering, and the thank-offerings, that atonement may be made for them," is the oracle of the Lord GOD. "All the people of the land shall offer this contribution to the prince in Israel. And it shall be the prince's duty to provide the burnt-offering, the cereal offering, and the libation, at the various festivals—the new moons, the sabbaths, and all the other fixed festivals of the house of Israel—at which he shall provide the sin-offering, the cereal-offering, the burnt-offering, and the thank-offerings, to make atonement for the house of Israel."

Thus says the Lord GOD:

"In the first month, on the first day of the month, you shall take an unblemished bullock, and purify the sanctuary. And the priest shall take part of the blood of the sin-offering, and apply it to the doorposts of the house, the four corners of the ledge of the altar, and the posts of the gate of the inner court. In the seventh month, on the first day of the month, you shall do the same for anyone who has sinned through error or ignorance, and purify the house. And in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the month, you shall hold the festival of Passover; and for seven days you shall eat unleavened bread. On that day the prince shall provide for himself and all the people of the land a bullock as a sin-offering; and during the seven days of the festival he shall provide seven unblemished bullocks and seven unblemished rams daily as a burnt-offering to the LORD, with a he-goat daily as a sin-offering. And as a cereal-offering he shall provide an ephah for each bullock, and an ephah for each ram, with a hin of oil for each ephah. In the seventh month, on the fifteenth day of the month, and during the seven days of the festival, he shall make the same provision, alike for the sin-offering, the burnt-offering, the cereal-offering, and the oil."

46 Thus says the Lord GOD:

"The gate of the inner court looking east shall remain closed during the six working days; but it shall be opened on the sabbath day and the day of the new moon. And the prince shall enter from without by way of the vestibule of the gate, and shall remain standing by the post of the gate, while the priests offer his burnt-offering and his thank-offerings; he shall worship at the threshold of the gate, and then go out, though the gate shall not be closed till evening. The common people also shall worship before the LORD at the door of the same gate on the sabbaths and at the new moons. The burnt-offering which the prince shall offer to the LORD on the sabbath day shall be six unblemished lambs and one unblemished ram, the cereal-offering being an ephah for the ram, and as much as he can afford for the lambs, with a hin of oil for each ephah. On the day of the new moon it shall be an unblemished bullock, six unblemished lambs, and one unblemished ram; and as a cereal-offering he shall provide an ephah for the bullock, an ephah for the ram, and as much as he can afford for the lambs, with a hin of oil for each ephah. When the prince enters, he shall do so by way of the vestibule of the gate; and he shall go out the same way. But when the common people enter the presence of the LORD, at the fixed festivals, he who enters for worship by way of the north gate shall go out by the south gate, while he who enters by way of the south gate shall go out by the north gate; he shall not return by way of the gate by which he entered, but shall go straight ahead of him. When they enter, the prince shall enter in the midst of them; and when they go out, he shall go out with them. At the feasts and fixed festivals the cereal-offering shall be an ephah for the bullock, an ephah for the ram, and as much as he can afford for the lambs, with a hin of oil for each ephah. And when the prince offers a voluntary offering (a burnt-offering or thank-offerings as a voluntary offering to the LORD) the eastward gate shall be opened for him, and he shall offer his burnt-offering or his thank-offerings as he does on the sabbath day; then he shall go out, and the gate shall be closed after him. And each day he shall provide an unblemished lamb, one year old, as a burnt-offering to the LORD; morning by morning shall he provide it. And as a cereal-offering he shall provide with it morning by morning the sixth of an ephah of fine flour, with the third of a hin of oil to moisten it, as a cereal-offering to the LORD. This shall be a standing order for the regular burnt-offering; he shall provide the lamb, the cereal-offering, and the oil, morning by morning, for the regular burnt-offering."

Thus says the Lord GOD:

"If the prince make a gift of part of his inheritance to one of his sons, it shall belong to that son; it is his property by right of inheritance. But if he make a gift of part of his inheritance to one of his servants, it shall remain in his possession till the year of release, when it shall return to the prince; whereas the inheritance that goes to a son shall belong to him. And the prince shall not rob the people of their property, by taking any part of their inheritance; out of his own property shall he endow his sons, so that none of my people may be driven out of his property."

19 Then he brought me, through the entrance beside the gate, to the north row of the priests' sacred chambers; and lo! there was a place at the extreme west of it. And he said to me,

20 "This is the place where the priests shall boil the guilt-offering and the sin-offering, and where they shall bake the cereal-offering, to prevent their bringing them into the outer court, and thus making the people taboo."

21 Then he brought me to the outer court, and led me past the four corners of the court; and lo! at each corner of the court there was another court—at the four corners of the court four small courts, all four of the same size, each forty cubits long, and thirty broad.

22 Round each of the four of them ran a row of masonry, with boiling-ranges built under each of the rows round about. And he said to me,

23 "These are the boilers where the ministers of the temple shall boil the sacrifices for the people."

THE STREAM FROM THE TEMPLE, 47:1-12

17 Then he brought me back to the door of the house; and lo! there was water flowing from under the threshold of the house eastward—for the front of the house was eastward—and the water came down on the south side of the house, south of the altar. Then he brought me out by way of the north gate, and led me round the outside of the building to the outer gate looking east; and lo! the water was trickling down on the south side. Passing eastward, with the measuring-line in his hand, the man measured a thousand cubits, and made me cross the water, which came up to my ankles. Again he measured a thousand, and made me cross the water, which came up to my knees. Again he measured a thousand, and made me cross the water, which came up to my loins. Again he measured a thousand and it was a stream which I could not cross; for the water had risen deep enough to swim in; it was a stream which could not be crossed. Then he said to me,

"Do you see this, O mortal man?"

Then he led me back along the bank of the stream; and as I went back, lo! on the bank of the stream, along both sides of it, there were very many trees. Then he said to me,

8 "These waters are going out to the eastern region—and they shall descend upon the Arabah; and when they enter the Sea, with its brackish water, the water shall become fresh. Wherever the stream goes, all sorts of swarming creatures shall live in it, and fish shall be there in very great numbers; for this stream goes there for the very purpose that, wherever it goes, the water may become fresh, and creatures may live in it. And fishermen shall stand on its shore, all the way from Engedi to Engelaim, and shall spread their nets on it; and its fish of all sorts shall be very plentiful, like those of the Great Sea. Only its marshes and swamps shall not become fresh; they shall be left for the supply of salt. On the bank of the stream, along both sides of it, there shall grow all sorts of trees for food, the leaves of which shall not wither, nor their fruit fail, but they shall bear fresh fruit every month, because the water that feeds them flows from the sanctuary: and their fruit shall serve for food, and their leaves for healing."

THE DIVISION OF THE LAND, 47:13-48:35

Thus says the Lord GOD:

13 "These are the frontiers by which you shall divide the land for inheritance among the twelve tribes of Israel. Except that a double portion shall go to Joseph, you shall divide it equally. As I swore by uplifted hand to give this land to your fathers, it shall fall to you as a heritage. These, then, are the frontiers of the land:

14 "On the north: from the Great Sea, by way of Hethlon, to the pass of Hamath, as far as Zedad, thence to Berothah, Sibraim, on the frontier between Damascus and Hamath, and Hazer-enon, on the frontier of Hauran. The frontier, then, shall run from the sea to Hazer-enon, on the frontier of Damascus, and to Ziphron on the north and the frontier of Hamath. This is the northern frontier.

15 "On the east: the Jordan, from the frontier between Hauran and Damascus, and along between Gilead and Israel, that is, from the northern frontier to the Eastern Sea, as far as Tamar. This is the eastern frontier.

- 19 "On the south: from Tamar to the waters of Meribath-kadesh, thence along the Brook to the Great Sea. This is the southern frontier.
- 20 "On the west: the Great Sea, from the southern frontier to a point opposite the pass of Hamath. This is the western frontier.
- 21 "So shall you divide this land among you according to the tribes of Israel.
- 22 And you shall allot it as a heritage for yourselves, and for the aliens who reside among you and have begotten children among you, since they are to be treated by you like native-born children of Israel, and are to be allotted a heritage along with you among the
- 23 tribes of Israel. In whatever tribe the alien resides, there shall you assign him his heritage," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.
- 48 "These are the names of the tribes:
 "At the northern end, from the Sea, by way of Hethlon, to the pass of Hamath, as far as Hazer-enon, bordering on the territory of Damascus, near Hamath, on the north, running from east to west, Dan—one portion.
- 2 "Bordering on Dan, from east to west, Asher—one portion.
- 3 "Bordering on Asher, from east to west, Naphtali—one portion.
- 4 "Bordering on Naphtali, from east to west, Manasseh—one portion.
- 5 "Bordering on Manasseh, from east to west, Ephraim—one portion.
- 6 "Bordering on Ephraim, from east to west, Reuben—one portion.
- 7 "Bordering on Reuben, from east to west, Judah—one portion.
- 8 "Bordering on Judah, from east to west, shall be the allotment which you shall set apart—twenty-five thousand cubits broad, and in length equal to one of the tribal portions, from east to west—with the sanctuary in the midst
- 9 of it. The allotment which you shall set apart for the LORD shall be twenty-five thousand cubits in length, and
- 10 twenty thousand cubits in breadth. Of this sacred allotment the priest shall have a section, twenty-five thousand cubits in length from east to west, and ten thousand cubits in breadth from north to south, with the sanctuary of the LORD in the midst of it; this section shall be for the holy priests, the sons of Zadok, who kept my charge, and did not go astray, as the Levites did, when the children of Israel went astray; it shall be a special allotment to them, out of the total allotment of the land, a most sacred place, adjoining the frontier of the Levites. And alongside the border of the priests, the Levites shall have a section, twenty-five thousand cubits in length, and ten thousand cubits in breadth. Thus the whole shall be twenty-five thousand cubits in length, and twenty thousand cubits in breadth. And none of this choice portion of the land shall be sold, or exchanged, or alienated; for it is sacred to the LORD. The five thousand cubits, which remain in breadth of the twenty-five thousand, shall be common land, for the city, for dwellings, and for pasture-lands, with the city lying in the midst of it. And these shall be the dimensions of the city: four thousand five hundred cubits on the north, four thousand five hundred on the south, four thousand five hundred on the east, and four thousand five hundred on the west. And the city shall have pasture-lands extending two hundred and fifty cubits to the north, two hundred and fifty to the south, two hundred and fifty to the east, and two hundred and fifty to the west. The remaining length of ten thousand cubits to the east, and ten thousand to the west, alongside the sacred allotment, shall belong to the city; its produce shall supply food for the workers in the city, and it shall be cultivated by the workers in the city from all the tribes of Israel. The whole allotment—that is, the sacred allotment, together with the city property—you shall make twenty-five thousand cubits square. What remains shall belong to the prince; that is, the land on either side of the sacred allotment and the city property, extending east of the allotment of twenty-five thousand cubits as far as the eastern border, and west of the allotment of twenty-five thousand cubits as far as the western border, parallel to the tribal portions, shall belong to the prince. Thus the sacred allotment—that is, the temple sanctuary and the Levites' property—together with the city property shall be in the midst of the prince's portion. And the prince's portion shall be between the frontiers of Judah and Benjamin.

23 "And the rest of the tribes:
"From east to west, Benjamin—one portion.

24 "Bordering on Benjamin, from east to west, Simeon—one portion.

25 "Bordering on Simeon, from east to west, Issachar—one portion.

26 "Bordering on Issachar, from east to west, Zebulun—one portion.

27 "Bordering on Zebulun, from east to west, Gad—one portion.

28 "And to the south of Gad the frontier shall run from Tamar to the waters of Meribath-kadesh, thence along the Brook to the Great Sea. This is the land which you shall allot as a heritage to the tribes of Israel; and these are their portions," is the oracle of the Lord GOD.

"And these shall be the gates of the 30 city, each gate being named after one of the tribes of Israel:

"On the north side, four thousand 31 five hundred cubits by measure, three gates—the gate of Reuben, the gate of Judah, and the gate of Levi.

"On the east side, four thousand five 32 hundred cubits, three gates—the gate of Joseph, the gate of Benjamin, and the gate of Dan.

"On the south side, four thousand 33 five hundred cubits, three gates—the gate of Simeon, the gate of Issachar, and the gate of Zebulun.

"On the west side, four thousand five 34 hundred cubits, three gates—the gate of Gad, the gate of Asher, and the gate of Naphtali.

"The circumference shall be eighteen 35 thousand cubits. And the name of the city from that day onward shall be 'The LORD is there.' "

THE BOOK OF DANIEL

THE FOUR JEWISH YOUTHS,

1:1-21

- 1 IN THE third year of the reign of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem, and besieged it.
- 2 And the Lord gave Jehoiakim, king of Judah, into his hand, with the choicest of the vessels of the house of God; and he brought them to the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and placed the
- 3 vessels in the treasury of his god. Then the king instructed Ashpenaz, the chief of his eunuchs, to bring certain of the Israelites, who belonged to the royal
- 4 family and the nobility—youths who had no defect in them, but were handsome in appearance, and skilled in all branches of learning, equipped with knowledge, and endowed with intelligence, such as were capable of standing in the palace of the king—and to teach them the literature and language of the
- 5 Chaldeans. And the king assigned them a daily portion of the king's delicacies, and of the wine which he drank. For three years they were to be trained, and at the end of that time they were to stand in the presence of the king.
- 6 Among them were certain Jews, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.
- 7 And the chief of the eunuchs gave names to them, naming Daniel Belteshazzar, Hananiah Shadrach, Mishael Meshach, and Azariah Abednego.
- 8 Now Daniel determined that he would not defile himself with the king's delicacies, nor with the wine which he drank; so he asked permission of the chief of the eunuchs not to defile himself.
- 9 But though God had given Daniel favor and sympathy in the eyes of the chief of the eunuchs, the chief of the eunuchs said to Daniel,

"I am afraid of my lord, the king, who has assigned your food and your drink, lest he find you looking more haggard than the youths of your own age, in which case you would forfeit my head to the king."

Then Daniel said to the steward, whom the chief of the eunuchs had placed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah,

"Pray, try your servants for ten days, letting us have vegetables to eat, and water to drink; then compare our appearance with the appearance of the youths who eat of the king's delicacies, and deal with your servants in accordance with what you see."

So he listened to them in this regard, and tried them for ten days. And at the end of ten days they were better in appearance, and fatter in flesh, than all the youths who ate of the king's delicacies. So the steward removed their delicacies, and the wine that they were to drink; and he gave them vegetables.

As for these four youths, God gave them knowledge and skill in all branches of literature and learning, while Daniel was accomplished in all kinds of visions and dreams. Now at the end of the days which the king had appointed for bringing them in, the chief of the eunuchs brought them in to the presence of Nebuchadnezzar; and when the king conversed with them, he found none among them all like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah. So they became attendants of the king. And in all matters of learning and knowledge, about which the king questioned them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and enchanters that were in all his kingdom. And Daniel retained his position till the first year of King Cyrus.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR'S DREAM,

2:1-49

In the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed a dream; and his spirit was disturbed, and his sleep left him. Then the king gave orders to summon the magicians, the enchanters, the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans, that they might tell the king his dream. So they came and stood before the king, whereupon the king said to them,

"I have dreamed a dream; and my spirit is troubled in the effort to understand the dream."

4 Then the Chaldeans spoke to the king in Aramaic,

"O king, live forever! Tell your servants the dream, and we will give the interpretation."

5 The king answered the Chaldeans, saying,

"I am fully resolved that, if you do not make known to me the dream and its interpretation, you shall be hewn limb from limb, and your houses shall be made a dunghill. But if you tell me the dream and its interpretation, you shall receive from me gifts and rewards and great honor. So tell me the dream and its interpretation."

7 A second time they answered, saying,

"Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will give the interpretation."

8 The king answered, saying,

"I know quite well that you are trying to gain time, because you see how fully resolved I am that, if you do not make known to me the dream, there is but one fate for you; and you have conspired together to speak false and deceitful words to me, hoping that a change may come. So tell me the dream, and I shall know that you can give me its interpretation."

10 The Chaldeans answered the king, saying,

"There is not a man on the earth who can tell the king what he asks; for no king, however great and mighty, has asked such a thing of any magician, enchanter, or Chaldean. The king is asking a hard thing, and none can tell the king what he asks, except the gods whose dwelling is not with mortal flesh."

12 At this answer the king became so angry and so very furious that he gave orders to destroy all the wise men of Babylon. So the decree went forth that the wise men were to be slain; and Daniel and his companions would have been slain.

14 Then Daniel made a wise and tactful answer to Arioch, the captain of the king's guard, who had gone to slay the wise men of Babylon; he answered Arioch, the king's captain, saying,

"Why is the king's decree so harsh?"

When Arioch had explained the matter to Daniel, Daniel went in, and asked the king to grant him time, and he would give the king the interpretation.

Then Daniel went home, and explained 17 the matter to his companions, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, in order that 18 they might ask mercy of the God of the heavens concerning this secret, and so Daniel and his companions might not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon. Then the secret was revealed 19 to Daniel in a vision of the night. Then Daniel blessed the God of the heavens; Daniel spoke, saying,

"Blessed be the name of God from everlasting to everlasting,

For wisdom and might are his!

He changes the seasons and times,

He removes kings, and he sets up 21 kings;

He gives wisdom to the wise, And knowledge to those who are endowed with understanding.

He reveals things deep and secret, 22 He knows what is in the darkness, And with him dwells the light.

I thank thee, and praise thee, O God 23 of my fathers,

Who hast given me wisdom and might, And hast now made known to me what we asked of thee,

For thou hast made known to us the concern of the king."

So Daniel went to Arioch, whom the 24 king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon; he went and spoke to him as follows:

"Do not destroy the wise men of Babylon; bring me before the king, that I may give the king the interpretation."

Then Arioch brought Daniel before 25 the king in haste, and spoke to him as follows:

"I have found a man, among the exiles of Judah, who can make known the interpretation to the king."

The king spoke to Daniel, whose 26 name was Belteshazzar, saying,

"Are you able to make known to me the dream that I have seen, and its interpretation?"

Daniel answered the king, saying, 27

"No wise men, enchanters, magicians, or astrologers are able to tell the king the secret which the king has asked; but there is a God in the heavens who 28 reveals secrets, and he makes known to

King Nebuchadnezzar what shall be in the end of the days. Your dream, and the visions of your head on your bed, were as follows:

- 29 "You, O king, lay in bed, wondering what should be in the future; and he who reveals secrets makes known to you what shall be. As for myself, this secret has not been revealed to me by virtue of any wisdom that I possess more than any other living man, but in order that the interpretation may be made known to the king, and that you may understand the thoughts of your mind.
- 31 "You, O king, looked, and lo! there was a great image. This image, which was of vast size and surpassing brightness, stood before you; and its appearance was terrible. As for that image, its head was of fine gold, its breast and arms were of silver, its belly and thighs of bronze, its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron, and partly of clay. You looked till you saw a stone hewn from a mountain without hands, which smote the image on its feet of iron and clay, breaking them in pieces. Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver, and the gold were broken in pieces together, and became like chaff from summer threshing-floors, and were carried away by the wind, so that no trace of them could be found; while the stone that smote the image became a great mountain, filling all the earth. This was the dream, and we will tell the king the interpretation of it.
- 37 "You, O king, the king of kings, to whom the God of the heavens has given the kingdom, the power, the strength, and the glory, and into whose hand he has put the children of men, the beasts of the field, and the birds of the air, wherever they dwell, making you rule over them all—you are the head of gold. After you shall arise another kingdom, inferior to you; then a third kingdom, of bronze, which shall rule over all the earth. And the fourth kingdom shall be as strong as iron; for as iron breaks in pieces and beats down all things, and as iron crushes all things, so shall it break in pieces and crush. And as you saw the feet and toes partly of potter's clay, and partly of iron, it shall be a divided kingdom; there shall be something of the firmness of iron in it, as you saw iron mixed with muddy clay; but as the toes of the feet were partly iron, and partly clay, the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly brittle. As you saw iron mixed with muddy clay, they shall mix together in marriage; but they shall not hold together, as iron does not mix with clay. In the days of those kings the God of the heavens shall set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed, nor shall the kingdom be left to another people; it shall break in pieces and annihilate all these kingdoms, but it shall stand forever, as you saw how a stone was hewn from a mountain without hands, which broke in pieces the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver, and the gold. A great God makes known to the king what shall be in the future; the dream is certain, and its interpretation sure."

Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face, and prostrated himself before Daniel, and commanded sacrifice and soothing odors to be offered to him. And the king spoke to Daniel, saying,

"Truly, your God is the God of gods, and the Lord of kings; and he is a revealer of secrets, inasmuch as you have been able to reveal this secret."

Then the king promoted Daniel, and gave him many great gifts; he made him ruler over the whole province of Babylon, and chief prefect over all the wise men of Babylon. At Daniel's request, the king appointed Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in charge of the affairs of the province of Babylon; but Daniel remained at the gate of the king.

THE FURNACE OF FIRE,

3:1-30

King Nebuchadnezzar made an image of gold, sixty cubits in height, and six cubits in breadth, which he set up on the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon. Then King Nebuchadnezzar sent to assemble the satraps, the prefects, the governors, the councilors, the treasurers, the judges, the justices, and all the officials of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which King Nebuchadnezzar had set up. And when the satraps, the prefects, the governors, the councilors, the treasurers, the judges, the justices, and all the officials of the provinces were assembled for the dedication of the image which 4 King Nebuchadnezzar had set up, the herald called aloud,

"To you is given a command, O 5 peoples, nations, and tongues, that as soon as you hear the sound of the horn,
 the pipe, the lyre, the trigon, the harp, the bagpipe, and every other kind of musical instrument, you shall fall down and prostrate yourselves before the image of gold which King Nebuchad-6 nezzar has set up; and whoever does not fall down and prostrate himself shall forthwith be cast into the midst of a furnace of flaming fire."

7 As soon, then, as all the peoples heard the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lyre, the trigon, the harp, and every other kind of musical instrument, all the peoples, nations, and tongues fell down and prostrated themselves before the image of gold which King Nebu-8 chadnezzar had set up. Thereupon certain Chaldeans came forward, and laid 9 an accusation against the Jews, saying to King Nebuchadnezzar,

10 "O king, live forever! You, O king, have made a decree that every man who hears the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lyre, the trigon, the harp, the bagpipe, and every other kind of musical instrument, shall fall down and prostrate himself before the image of 11 gold; and whoever does not fall down and prostrate himself shall be cast into the midst of a furnace of flaming fire.
 12 Now there are certain Jews whom you have appointed in charge of the affairs of the province of Babylon, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego; these men, O king, pay no regard to you; they do not serve your gods, nor do they prostrate themselves before the image of gold which you have set up."

13 Then Nebuchadnezzar, in rage and fury, ordered Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego to be brought; and when these men were brought before the king, 14 Nebuchadnezzar addressed them, say-
 ing,

"Is it true, O Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, that you do not serve my gods, nor prostrate yourselves before the image of gold which I have set 15 up? Now if you are ready, as soon as you hear the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lyre, the trigon, the harp, the bagpipe, and every other kind of musical instrument, to fall down and prostrate yourselves before the image which I have made, well and good; but if you will not prostrate yourselves, you shall forthwith be cast into the midst of a furnace of flaming fire; and what god is there who shall deliver you out of my hands?"

Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego 16
 answered the king, saying,

"O Nebuchadnezzar, we need not waste words in discussing this matter with you. If our God, whom we serve, 17 is able to deliver us, he will deliver us out of the furnace of flaming fire, and out of your hand, O king; but even if 18 not, be it known to you, O king, we will not serve your gods, nor prostrate ourselves before the image of gold which you have set up."

At these words Nebuchadnezzar was 19 filled with fury, and his face was distorted with rage against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. He ordered the furnace to be heated seven times more than it was usual for it to be heated;
 then he ordered certain of the strongest 20 men in his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the furnace of flaming fire. There- 21 upon these men were bound in their cloaks, their tunics, their hats, and their other clothes, and were cast into the midst of the furnace of flaming fire. So 22 sharp was the king's order, and so very hot was the furnace, that the flame of the fire slew the men who took up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.
 But these three men, Shadrach, Me- 23 shach, and Abednego, fell down bound into the midst of the furnace of flaming fire.

Then King Nebuchadnezzar became 24 alarmed; and he rose up hastily, and addressed his ministers, saying,

"Did we not cast three men bound into the midst of the fire?"

They answered the king, saying,

"Certainly, O king."

He answered, saying,

25 "Well, I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire, quite unscathed; and the appearance of the fourth resembles one of the gods."

Then King Nebuchadnezzar ap- 26 proached the mouth of the furnace of flaming fire, and spoke, saying,

"O Shadrach, Meshach, and Abedne-go, servants of the Most High God, come out, and come here!"

Then Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came out of the midst of the fire; and when the assembled satraps, prefects, governors, and king's ministers saw that the fire had had no effect on the persons of these men, that the hair of their heads had not been singed, nor their cloaks damaged, and that no smell of burning had settled on them, Nebuchadnezzar spoke, saying,

"Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who has sent his angel to deliver his servants who trusted in him, and frustrated the king's order, by surrendering their own persons, rather than serve and worship any god, except their own God! Therefore I make a decree that any people, nation, or tongue, that speaks a word against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be hewn limb from limb, and their houses made a dunghill; for there is no other god who is able to deliver in this manner."

Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the province of Babylon.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR'S MADNESS, 4:1-37

King Nebuchadnezzar to all the peoples, nations, and tongues, that live in all the earth: Peace be multiplied to you! It is my pleasure to tell of the signs and wonders that the Most High God has wrought toward me.

How great are his signs,
And how mighty his wonders!
His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
And his dominion endures throughout the ages.

I, Nebuchadnezzar, was living at ease in my house, enjoying prosperity in my palace, when I saw a dream that alarmed me, fancies upon my bed and visions of my head that upset me. So I made a decree that all the wise men of Babylon should be brought before me, to make known to me the interpretation of the dream. Then came in the magicians, the enchanters, the Chaldeans, and the astrologers; but when I told them the dream, they could not make known to me the interpretation of it. At last there came in before me Daniel, whose name is Belteshazzar—after the name of my god—a man in whom is the spirit of the holy gods; and I told him my dream, as follows:

"O Belteshazzar, chief of the magicians, inasmuch as I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in you, and that no secret is a trouble to you, I will tell you the visions that I have seen in my dream, and you shall give me the interpretation of them. As for the visions of my head that I saw in bed,

I looked, and lo! there was a tree in the midst of the earth,

And its height was great;

The tree had grown great and strong,
So that its height reached to the heavens,

And its bound of vision to the end of the earth.

Its leaves were fair, and its fruit was abundant,

Providing food for all;

The beasts of the field were sheltering under its shadow,

And the birds of the air were nestling among its branches,

And all flesh was fed from it.

"In the visions of my head on my bed I looked, and lo! there was a guardian, a holy one, who came down from the heavens, and called aloud, saying,
'Hew down the tree, and lop off its branches,

Shake off its leaves, and scatter its fruit;

Drive away the beasts from under its shadow,

And the birds from among its branches.
Yet leave the stump of its roots in the

earth,
Secured by a band of iron and bronze,

Among the tender grass of the field;
Let him be drenched by the dew of the

heavens,
And let him have his share with the beasts of the field;

Let his mind be changed from a man's,

And the mind of a beast be given to him,

And let seven years pass over him.

By the decision of the guardians is the decree,

And through the instruction of the holy ones is the sentence,

In order that all who live may know
That the Most High rules the kingdom

of men,
Giving it to whomsoever he will,

And setting up over it the lowliest of men.'

18 "I, King Nebuchadnezzar, saw this dream; and you, O Belteshazzar, tell me the interpretation of it, inasmuch as all the wise men of my kingdom are unable to make known to me the interpretation of it, but you are able, because the spirit of the holy gods is in you."

19 Then Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, was stunned for a moment, as his thoughts upset him. But the king addressed him, saying,

"O Belteshazzar, let not the dream and its interpretation upset you!"

Belteshazzar answered, saying,

"My lord, may the dream be for those who hate you, and its interpretation for your enemies! The tree which you saw, which grew great and strong; whose height reached to the heavens, and its bound of vision to the very end

20 of the earth; whose leaves were fair, and whose fruit was abundant, providing food for all; under whose shadow the beasts of the field were sheltering, and among whose branches the birds of

21 the air were nesting—it is yourself, O king, who have grown so great and strong, that your greatness reaches to the heavens, and your dominion to the

22 very end of the earth. And as the king saw a guardian, a holy one, coming down from the heavens, and saying, 'Hew down the tree, and destroy it; yet leave the stump of its roots in the earth, secured by a band of iron and bronze, among the tender grass of the field; and let him be drenched by the dew of the heavens, and let him share with the

23 beasts of the field, till seven years pass over him"—this is the interpretation, O king, that there is a decision of the Most High, which has gone out against

24 my lord the king, that you shall be driven from among men, and shall have your dwelling with the beasts of the field, and shall be forced to eat grass like an ox, and shall be drenched by the dew of the heavens, till seven years pass over you, and you learn that the Most High rules the kingdom of men, giving it

25 to whomsoever he will. And as instructions were given to leave the stump of the roots of the tree, your kingdom shall be assured to you from the moment you learn that it is the Heavens who rule. Therefore, O king, be pleased to accept my advice, and break off your

26 sins by practicing almsgiving, and your guilt by showing mercy to the poor; then perhaps your prosperity may be prolonged."

Now all this befell King Nebuchadnezzar. At the end of twelve months, 28 as he was walking on the roof of the royal palace of Babylon, the king said 30 to himself,

"Is not this great Babylon, which I have built as a royal residence, by my own mighty power, and for my own glorious majesty?"

While the words were still in the 31 king's mouth, a voice fell from the heavens:

"O King Nebuchadnezzar, sentence is passed upon you; the kingdom is gone from you! You shall be driven 32 from among men, and shall have your dwelling with the beasts of the field; you shall be forced to eat grass like an ox, and seven years shall pass over you, till you learn that the Most High rules the kingdom of men, giving it to whomsoever he will."

Forthwith the sentence upon King 33 Nebuchadnezzar was executed. He was driven from among men, and had to eat grass like an ox; his person was drenched by the dew of the heavens, till his hair grew as long as the feathers of an eagle, and his nails as the claws of a bird.

At the end of the days I, Nebuchadnezzar, 34 lifted my eyes to the heavens, and my reason returned to me; then I blessed the Most High, praising and honoring him who lives forever:

"For his dominion is an everlasting dominion,

And his kingdom endures throughout the ages;

All the inhabitants of the earth are 35 persons of no account to him;

He does what he will among the host of the heavens,

And among the inhabitants of the earth;

And there is none who can stay his hand,

Or say to him, "What doest thou?" "

At that very moment my reason 36 returned to me; and for the glory of my kingdom, my majesty and my splendor returned to me, my ministers and my lords came to consult me, I was established in my kingdom, and surpassing greatness was added to me. Now I, 37 Nebuchadnezzar, praise and exalt and honor the King of the heavens; for all his works are right, and his ways are just; and those who walk in pride he is able to abase.

BELSHAZZAR'S FEAST, 5:1-31

5 King Belshazzar made a great feast for a thousand of his lords, and drank wine before the thousand. Inflamed by the taste of the wine, Belshazzar gave orders to bring in the vessels of gold and silver, which his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken away from the temple at Jerusalem, that the king and his lords, his consorts and his concubines, might drink out of them. So they brought in the vessels of gold and silver, which had been taken away from the temple at Jerusalem; and the king and his lords, his consorts and his concubines, drank out of them. As they drank the wine, they praised the gods of gold and silver, bronze, iron, wood, and stone. Forthwith there appeared the fingers of a man's hand, which wrote on the plaster of the wall of the king's palace, opposite the lampstand; and the king saw the palm of the hand as it wrote. Then the king's face changed color, as his thoughts upset him; the joints of his loins relaxed, and his knees knocked against each other. The king called aloud for the enchanters, the Chaldeans, and the astrologers to be brought in; and the king addressed the wise men of Babylon, saying,

"Whosoever reads this writing, and gives me the interpretation of it, shall be clothed with purple, and shall have a chain of gold round his neck, and shall be third ruler in the kingdom."

8 But when all the king's wise men came in, they could not read the writing, nor make known to the king the interpretation of it. Then was King Belshazzar greatly upset, and he changed color; his lords also were thrown into consternation. At the cries of the king and his lords, the queen-mother came into the banqueting-hall; and the queen-mother addressed him, saying,

"O king, live forever! Let not your thoughts upset you, nor your face change color. There is in your kingdom a man in whom is the spirit of the holy gods. In the days of your father there was found in him light, and understanding, and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, so that King Nebuchadnezzar, your father, made him chief of the magicians, enchanters, Chaldeans, and astrologers, because there was found in this Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar, surpassing ability, knowledge, understanding, and skill in interpreting dreams, solving riddles, and unraveling knots. Let Daniel be called in, then, and he will give the interpretation."

So Daniel was brought in before the king; and the king addressed Daniel, saying,

"You are Daniel, of the exiles of Judah, whom my father the king brought from Judah! I have heard of you, that the spirit of the gods is in you, and that light, and understanding, and surpassing wisdom are found in you. Now the wise men, the enchanters, have been brought in before me, that they might read this writing, and make known to me the interpretation of it; but they could not give the interpretation of the matter. I have heard of you, however, that you can give interpretations, and unravel knots. Now, if you can read the writing, and make known to me the interpretation of it, you shall be clothed with purple, and shall have a chain of gold round your neck, and shall be third ruler in the kingdom."

Then Daniel answered the king, saying,

"Keep your gifts for yourself, and give your rewards to another; but I will read the writing to the king, and make known to him the interpretation of it. O king, the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar your father the kingdom, with its greatness, its glory, and its majesty; and because of the greatness that he gave him, all the peoples, nations, and tongues trembled in fear before him; whom he would he slew, and whom he would he kept alive, whom he would he raised up, and whom he would he put down. But when his mind was lifted up, and his spirit became obstinate, so that he bore himself proudly, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and deprived of his glory, he was driven from among men, and his mind was made like that of the beasts, his dwelling was with the wild asses, he was given grass to eat like an ox, and his person was drenched by the dew of the heavens, till he learned that the Most High God rules the kingdom of men, setting over it whom he will.

22 And you his son, O Belshazzar, have not humbled yourself, though you knew all this, but have lifted yourself up against the Lord of the heavens, in that you have had the vessels of his house brought in before you, and have drunk wine out of them—you and your lords, your consorts and your concubines—and have praised the gods of silver and gold, bronze, iron, wood, and stone, which can neither see nor hear nor understand, and have not glorified the God in whose hand your breath is, and to whom belong all your ways. From him, then, has the palm of the hand been sent, and this writing inscribed.

25 This is the writing that has been inscribed: Mene, Tekel, and Peres. And this is the interpretation of the matter: Mene—God has numbered your kingdom, and brought it to an end; Tekel—you have been weighed in the scales, and found wanting; Peres—your kingdom is divided, and given to the Medes and Persians."

29 Then Belshazzar gave orders, and Daniel was clothed with purple, and had a chain of gold put round his neck, while a proclamation was made concerning him, that he should be third ruler in the kingdom.

30 That night Belshazzar, the king of Chaldea, was slain; and Darius, the Mede, received the kingdom, being then about sixty-two years of age.

THE DEN OF LIONS, 6:1-28

5 It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom a hundred and twenty satraps, to administer the whole kingdom, and over them three presidents, of whom Daniel was one, that the satraps might be responsible to them, and the king might suffer no loss. And Daniel distinguished himself above all the presidents and satraps, because surpassing ability was in him; and the king was disposed to set him over the whole kingdom.

9 Then the presidents and satraps sought to find some ground of complaint against Daniel in connection with his administration of the kingdom; but they could find no ground of complaint or fault, because he was faithful, and no error or fault was to be found in him. So these men said,

"We shall find no ground of complaint against this Daniel, unless we find it in connection with the law of his God."

Then these presidents and satraps thronged to the king, and addressed him as follows:

"O King Darius, live forever! All the presidents of the kingdom, the prefects and the satraps, the ministers and the governors, have agreed in council that the king should lay down a statute, and pass a strict interdict, to the effect that whosoever shall offer a petition to any god or man for thirty days, except to you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions. Now, O king, lay down the interdict, and sign the document, so that it may not be changed, in accordance with the law of the Medes and Persians, which is unalterable."

Accordingly, King Darius signed the document containing the interdict. Now, when Daniel learned that the document had been signed, he went to his house, which had windows in its upper chamber open toward Jerusalem, and three times a day he continued kneeling upon his knees, praying, and giving thanks before his God, as formerly he used to do. Then these men thronged in, and found Daniel offering petitions and supplications before his God. So they approached the king, and questioned him concerning the king's interdict,

"Did you not sign an interdict, to the effect that whosoever should offer a petition to any god or man for thirty days, except to you, O king, should be cast into the den of lions?"

The king answered, saying, "The thing stands fast, in accordance with the law of the Medes and Persians, which is unalterable."

Then they answered the king, saying, "This Daniel, of the exiles of Judah, pays no regard to yourself, O king, nor to the interdict which you have signed, but three times a day he continues offering his own petitions."

When the king heard these words, he was deeply grieved, and applied his mind to saving Daniel; till sunset he exerted himself to rescue him. Then these men thronged to the king, and said to the king,

"You are aware, O king, that it is a law of the Medes and Persians that no interdiction or statute which the king lays down can be changed."

- 16 So the king gave orders, and Daniel was brought forward, and cast into the den of lions. Then the king spoke to Daniel, saying,

"May your God, whom you worship so regularly, save you!"

- 17 Then a stone was brought forward, and laid upon the mouth of the den; and the king sealed it with his own signet, as well as with the signet of his lords, so that no change might be made in respect to Daniel. Then the king went to his palace, and spent the night fasting; no diversions were brought to him, and his sleep fled from him. Then at dawn, as soon as it was light, the king arose, and went in haste to the den of lions. When he came near the den, where Daniel was, the king cried out with a sorrowful voice, and spoke to Daniel, saying,

"O Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you worship so regularly, been able to save you from the lions?"

- 21 Then Daniel answered the king, saying,
- 22 "O king, live forever! My God has sent his angel, and has shut the mouths of the lions, so that they have not injured me; because I was found innocent before him, and before you also, O king, have I done no injury."

- 23 At these words the king was exceedingly glad, and gave orders that Daniel should be taken out of the den. And when Daniel was taken out of the den, no kind of injury was found on him, because he had trusted in his God.

- 24 Then the king gave orders, and the men who had accused Daniel were brought forward—they, and their children, and their wives—and cast into the den of lions; and before they had reached the bottom of the den, the lions fell upon them, and crushed all their bones to pieces. Then King Darius wrote as follows to all the peoples, nations, and tongues, that live in all the earth:

- 26 "Peace be multiplied to you! I hereby make a decree that throughout all the kingdom which I rule men shall tremble in reverence before the God of Daniel;
For he is the living God,
Immutable forever;

His kingdom is one that shall never be overthrown,
And his dominion is one that shall endure to the end;

He saves, and he delivers,

He does signs and wonders

In the heavens and in the earth;

It is he who has saved Daniel

From the power of the lions."

So this Daniel prospered during the reign of Darius, and during the reign of Cyrus the Persian.

THE VISION OF THE FOUR BEASTS, 7:1-28

In the first year of Belshazzar, king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream and visions of his head on his bed; then he wrote down the dream, and told the gist of the matter, as follows:

"In my visions by night I saw the four winds of the heavens stirring up the great sea. Then out of the sea rose four great beasts, different from one another. The first was like a lion, with the wings of an eagle; I watched till its wings were plucked off, and it was raised from the earth, and made to stand on two feet like a man, while the mind of a man was given to it. And lo! there was a second beast, like a bear, raised up on one side, with three ribs in its mouth between its teeth; and this order was given to it, 'Arise, devour much flesh!' Then I looked, and lo! there was another beast, like a leopard, with four wings of a bird on its sides; the beast had also four heads, and dominion was given to it. Then, in the visions of the night, I looked, and lo! there was a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, exceedingly strong, with great iron teeth, which devoured and tore in pieces, trampling what remained under its feet. It was different from all the beasts that were before it; and it had ten horns. As I watched the horns, lo! there came up among them another horn, a little one, before which three of the first horns were plucked up by the roots; and lo! in this horn there were eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth speaking great things. I watched Till thrones were placed,
And a Venerable One took his seat;
His clothing was white as snow,
And the hair of his head like pure wool;
His throne was a flame of fire,

Whose wheels were blazing fire;
 10 A stream of fire went forth,
 And flowed from before him;
 A thousand thousands ministered to him,
 And ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him;
 The court took its seat,
 And the books were opened.

11 "I watched till—on account of the great words that the horn had spoken—the beast was slain, and its body destroyed, and handed over to be burned 12 by fire. As for the rest of the beasts, their dominion was taken away, but their lives were spared for a season and 13 a time. Then in the visions of the night I looked,
 And lo! with the clouds of the heavens There came one like a man,
 Who advanced toward the Venerable One,
 And was brought near his presence.

14 To him was given dominion, and glory, and kingly power,
 That all peoples, and nations, and tongues should serve him;
 His dominion was to be an everlasting dominion, that should not pass away,
 And his kingdom one that should not be overthrown.

5 "As for me, Daniel, my spirit was distressed by these things; for the visions
 6 of my head upset me. So I approached one of those who stood by, and asked him to tell me the truth regarding all this. And he answered me, and made known to me the interpretation of the things, as follows:

7 "These great beasts, four in number, are four kings,
 Who shall arise out of the earth;
 8 But the saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom,
 And shall retain the kingdom forever, even forever and ever."

9 "Then I desired to know the truth regarding the fourth beast, which was different from all the others, exceedingly dreadful, with iron teeth and bronze claws, which devoured and tore in pieces, trampling what remained under 10 its feet; as well as regarding the ten horns which were on its head, and the other horn which came up, and before which three of them fell, the horn which had eyes, and a mouth speaking great things, which appeared greater than its fellows, the horn which I saw 21 waging war with the saints, and prevailing against them, till the Venerable 22 One came, and the court took its seat, and dominion was given to the saints of the Most High, and the time came for the saints to have possession of the kingdom. And he answered as follows: 23

 "The fourth beast shall be a fourth kingdom on the earth,
 Which shall be different from all the other kingdoms;
 It shall devour the whole earth,
 And shall trample it down, and tear it in pieces.
 As for the ten horns, out of this king- 24
 dom shall arise ten kings,
 And after them shall arise another king,
 Who shall be different from the former kings,
 And shall put down three of them.
 He shall speak words against the Most 25
 High,
 And shall wear out the saints of the Most High;
 He shall plan to change the sacred seasons and the law,
 And they shall be handed over to him for a year, two years, and half a year.
 Then the court shall take its seat, and 26
 his dominion shall be taken away,
 To be consumed and destroyed for all time;
 And the kingdom, the dominion, and 27
 the greatness of the kingdoms under the whole heavens
 Shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High;
 Their kingdom shall be an everlasting kingdom,
 And all dominions shall serve and obey them."

"This was the end of the matter. As 28 for me, Daniel, my thoughts greatly upset me, and my face changed color; but I kept the matter in my mind."

THE VISION OF THE RAM AND THE HE-GOAT, 8:1-27

In the third year of the reign of King 8 Belshazzar a vision appeared to me, Daniel, of the same nature as that which had previously appeared to me. In my vision I found myself at the 2 citadel of Susa, in the province of Elam, beside the stream Ulai. I raised my 3 eyes, and looked, and lo! standing in front of the stream there was a ram with two horns, both of them high, though one was higher than the other, and the higher came up behind the other. I saw the ram butting westward, northward, and southward; none of the beasts could stand before him, nor could anyone rescue from his power; he did as he pleased, and accomplished great exploits.

5 As I was considering the matter, lo! a he-goat from the west advanced over the whole face of the earth, without touching the earth; and the goat had a conspicuous horn between his eyes.

6 When he came to the ram with the two horns, which I had seen standing in front of the stream, he ran at him in the impetus of his might. As I saw him come close to the ram, he was moved by fierce rage against him, and he smote the ram, and broke his two horns; and as the ram had no power to stand before him, he cast him down to the ground, and trampled upon him, there being none to rescue the ram from his power.

8 Then the he-goat accomplished very great exploits; but when he had reached the height of his power, the great horn was broken, and in its place there came up four other horns, facing the four winds of the heavens.

9 Out of one of them there emerged another horn, a little one, which grew very great toward the south, the east, and the glorious land. It became as great as the host of the heavens; and some of the starry host it cast down to the ground, and trampled under foot.

11 It made itself even as great as the Prince of the host, whose regular offering was taken away from him, and the site of whose sanctuary was profaned.

12 Thus was the regular offering treated with criminal violence, and the truth cast down to the ground, while it worked its will, and prospered. Then I heard a holy one speak; and another holy one asked this one who spoke,

"How long shall be the vision of the regular offering taken away, the desolating crime put in its place, and the sanctuary and the host of the heavens trampled under foot?"

14 And he answered him,

"For two thousand three hundred evenings and mornings; then shall the wrongs of the sanctuary be righted."

Now when I, Daniel, had seen the vision, and was seeking to understand it, lo! there stood before me a human-like form, while from between the banks of the Ulai I heard a human voice, calling, and saying,

"O Gabriel, make this man understand the vision."

So he came near where I stood; and when he came, I was terrified, and fell upon my face. But he said to me,

"Understand, O mortal man! for the vision relates to the time of the end."

As he spoke with me, I remained in a swoon with my face to the ground. But he touched me, and set me upon my feet. Then he said,

"Behold, I am making known to you what shall be at the end of the time of wrath; for the vision relates to the appointed end of all. The ram which you saw, with the two horns, is the king of Media and Persia. The he-goat is the king of Greece; and the great horn between his eyes is the first king. As the horn was broken, and four others arose in its place, so four kingdoms shall arise from his nation, though not with a power like his. And at the close of these kingdoms, when crimes have reached their height, there shall arise a king of fierce countenance, with an understanding of secret wiles. He shall attain to great power, though not by his own power; he shall cause fearful destruction, and shall prosper in what he does, destroying powerful rivals. He shall form designs against the saints, and shall cause treachery to prosper under his hand; he shall devise great things in his own mind, and shall destroy many unawares; he shall even rise up against the Prince of princes, but shall be broken by no human hand. The vision which has been told of the mornings and evenings is true; but keep the vision a secret, for it relates to the distant future."

Thereupon I, Daniel, was faint and sick for a number of days; then I rose up, and carried on the king's business. But I was disquieted by the vision, for I did not understand it.

THE PROPHECY OF THE SEVENTY WEEKS, 9:1-27

In the first year of Darius, the son of Xerxes, of the race of the Medes, who had been made king over the realm of 2 the Chaldeans, in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, observed in the Scriptures the number of the years which the word of the LORD had revealed to Jeremiah, the prophet, for the full accomplishment of the desolations of Jerusalem, namely, seventy years. So I turned my face toward the Lord GOD, applying myself to prayer and supplications, 1 with fasting, sackcloth, and ashes; and I interceded with the LORD my God, and made confession, saying,

"Ah now, O Lord, the great and revered God, who keeps loving faith with those who love him and keep his com-5 mands, we have sinned, we have acted wrongfully and wickedly, we have rebelled and turned aside from thy com-6 mands and ordinances, and we have not listened to thy servants, the prophets, who spoke in thy name to our kings and princes, our leaders, and all the com-7 mon people. To thee, O Lord, pertains the right, but to us confusion of face, as at this day—to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, as well as to all Israel, near and far, in all the lands to which thou hast driven them, because of the treason which they com-8 mitted against thee. To us, O Lord, pertains confusion of face—to our kings, our princes, and our leaders, be-9 cause we have sinned against thee. But to the Lord our God pertain compassion and forgiveness, because we have 10 rebelled against him, and have not listened to the voice of the LORD our God in following the laws which he set before us by his servants the prophets.

1 All Israel, indeed, has broken thy law, and turned aside from listening to thy voice; therefore thou hast poured out upon us the curse embodied in the oath which is written in the law of Moses, 12 the servant of God. Because we have sinned against him, he has fulfilled his word, which he spoke against us, and against our rulers who ruled us, by bringing upon us a disaster so great that under the whole heavens there has not been done the like of what has been done in Jerusalem. All this disaster has come upon us, as it is written in the law of Moses; yet we have not sought the favor of the LORD our God by turning from our offenses and gaining discern-1 ment in thy truth. Therefore the LORD has been vigilant in bringing this disaster upon us; for the LORD our God is righteous in all the works that he has done, while we have not listened to his voice. And now, O Lord our God, who didst bring thy people out of the land of 15 Egypt by a mighty hand, and didst gain for thyself the renown which thou hast this day, we have sinned, we have done wickedly. O LORD, in accordance 16 with all thy righteous deeds, pray, let thine anger and fury turn from Jerusalem thy city, thy holy hill, because for our sins, and for the offenses of our fathers, Jerusalem and thy people have become a reproach to all who are round about us. And now, O our God, listen 17 to the prayer and supplications of thy servant, and for thine own sake, O Lord, make thy face shine upon thy sanctuary which is desolate. O my God! 18 Incline thine ear, and listen. Open thine eyes, and see our desolations—the city which bears thy name—for it is not on account of our own righteousness that we present our supplications before thee, but on account of thy great compassion. O Lord, hear; O Lord, forgive; 19 O Lord, attend, and act—do not delay—for thine own sake, O my God, because thy city and thy people bear

 thy name."

While I was still speaking, and pray- 20 ing, confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and presenting my supplication before the LORD my God for the holy hill of my God, while I was still 21 speaking in prayer, the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in the previous vision, being sped in swift flight, approached me about the time of the evening sacrice;
 and he came and spoke with me, 22
 saying,

"O Daniel, I have come expressly to enlighten you. While you were at the 23 beginning of your supplications, a word went forth, and I have come to make it known to you; for you are a man greatly beloved. Therefore pay heed to the word, and give attention to the vision:
 'Seventy weeks of years are destined 24 for your people and for your holy
 city,
 To finish the crime, to end the sin, to expiate the guilt,
 To bring in everlasting righteousness,
 to confirm prophetic vision,
 And to consecrate the most sacred
 place.'

"Learn, therefore, and understand: 25

- 'From the going forth of the word to restore and rebuild Jerusalem, Till there comes a prince, an anointed one, there shall be seven weeks; Then for sixty-two weeks it shall stay rebuilt, with its squares and streets;
- 26 And at the end of the times, after the sixty-two weeks, The anointed one shall be cut off, leaving none to succeed him; The city and the sanctuary shall be destroyed along with the prince, And the end shall come in a flood, with war raging to the end;
- 27 Then for one week the covenant shall be abandoned by many, And for half of the week sacrifice and offering shall cease, While in their place there shall be a desolating abomination, Till at the end the doom that is determined shall be poured out upon the desolating thing.'

THE CONFLICT OF KINGDOMS,

10:1—12:13

- 10 In the third year of Cyrus, king of Persia, a word was revealed to Daniel whose name was Belteshazzar—a true word concerning a great warfare—and he paid heed to the word, and gave attention to the vision.
- 2 In those days I, Daniel, continued in mourning for three whole weeks; I ate no appetizing food, no flesh or wine entered my mouth, nor did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were ended. Then, on the twenty-fourth
- 3 day of the first month, as I stood on the bank of the great river, the Tigris, I raised my eyes, and looked, and lo! there was a man clothed in linen, his
- 4 loins girded with fine gold of Ophir, his body flashing like a topaz, his face like lightning, and his eyes like torches of fire, his arms and legs gleaming like burnished bronze, and the sound of his
- 5 words like the sound of a multitude. I, Daniel, alone saw the vision; for the men who were with me did not see the vision, but a great trembling had fallen upon them, so that they fled to hide
- 6 themselves. So I was left alone to see this great vision, and no strength was left in me; my vigor was turned into weakness, and I retained no strength.

I heard the sound of his words; but as I heard the sound of his words, I fell in a swoon, with my face to the ground. And lo! a hand touched me, and set me tottering upon my knees and the palms of my hands. Then he said to me, "O Daniel, greatly beloved, stand upright, and pay heed to the words that I speak to you; for I have been sent expressly to you."

So when he had spoken this word to me, I stood up trembling. Then he said to me,

"Fear not, O Daniel! for ever since you applied your mind to gain understanding, and to humble yourself before your God, your prayers have been heard, and I have come in answer to your prayers. For twenty-one days, indeed, the guardian angel of the kingdom of Persia opposed me; but Michael, one of the archangels, came to help me, so I left him there with the angel of the kingdom of Persia, and have come to enlighten you as to what shall befall your people in the end of the days; for the vision relates to the still distant future."

When he had spoken to me in these terms, I bent my face to the earth, and remained dumb. Then lo! one like a man touched my lips; and I opened my mouth, and spoke to him who stood before me, saying,

"O my lord, by reason of the vision my pangs have come writhing upon me, and I retain no strength. So how can such a servant of my lord as I talk with such a one as my lord? As it is, no strength remains in me, and no breath is left in me."

Then the one like a man touched me again, and put strength into me. And I he said,

"Fear not, O greatly beloved! Peace be with you! Be strong, and be brave!"

When he had spoken to me, I felt strengthened, and said,

"Let my lord speak; for you have strengthened me."

Then he said,

"Do you know why I have come to you? Presently I must return to fight with the angel of Persia; and when I have done with him, the angel of Greece will come. There is none to support me against these, except your angel Michael, who stands up to support and defend me. However, I will tell you what is inscribed in the book of truth—

2 here and now I will tell you the truth:

“There shall arise three more kings in Persia, then a fourth, who shall be far richer than all of them; and when he has grown strong through his riches, he shall set all his forces in motion against 3 the kingdom of Greece. Then a warlike king shall arise, who shall rule with great power, and shall do as he pleases.
4 But when he has grown strong, his kingdom shall be broken up, and divided toward the four winds of the heavens;
it shall not pass to his posterity, nor shall it retain the power with which he ruled; but his kingdom shall be plucked up, and given to others than these.

5 “Then the king of the south shall be strong; but one of his captains shall be stronger than he, and shall rule over a 6 kingdom greater than his. After a number of years they shall form an alliance; and the daughter of the king of the south shall come to the king of the north, to seal the treaty of peace. But her influence shall be of no avail, nor shall her influence last; for she shall be given up, together with her suite, her son, and her husband.

7 “In those days there shall arise in his place a scion from her roots, who shall come with an army, and shall enter the stronghold of the king of the north, and shall throw him and his people into a panic, and shall overcome them, and 8 shall carry captive to Egypt their gods, their molten images, and their precious vessels of silver and gold. For a number of years he shall refrain from attacking 9 the king of the north. Then the latter shall invade the kingdom of the king of the south, though he shall return to his 10 own country. But his son shall bestir himself, and shall muster an array of great forces, and shall advance against him, sweeping along like an overwhelming flood, and in his turn shall press 11 forward to his stronghold. Then the king of the south, moved by fierce rage, shall march out and fight with him, that is, with the king of the north, who shall raise a great army. But the army shall be given into his hand, and shall 12 be carried away captive. Then his heart shall be lifted up, and he shall put down tens of thousands, though he shall not 13 make good his success. For the king of the north shall raise another army, greater than the former one, and after a number of years he shall advance against him in great force and with abundant supplies. In those days many 14 shall rise up against the king of the south, and violent men among your own people shall lift themselves up, in order to fulfil the vision; but they shall fall to the ground. Then the king of the 15 north shall come, and throw up a mound, and take a well-fortified city; and the forces of the south shall make no stand against him; even their picked troops shall have no strength to stand.

The invader shall do as he pleases, with 16 none to stand against him; he shall stand in the glorious land, holding it all in his hand. Then he shall set his face 17 to advance against the king of the south with the full strength of his kingdom, but shall have to make terms with him;
and he shall give him his daughter in marriage, so as to gain control of the land; but this also shall not stand, nor succeed with him. Then he shall turn 18 his face toward the coast-lands, and shall take many of them; but a certain commander shall put an end to his insolence, and shall repay his insolence sevenfold. Then he shall turn his face 19 toward the strongholds of his own land; but he shall stumble and fall, and shall be found no more.

“In his place there shall arise one 20 who shall send an exactor of tribute through the most glorious part of the kingdom; but within a few days he shall be crushed, though not by open violence, nor in battle.

“In his place there shall arise a con- 21 temptible person, on whom the royal dignity has not been conferred, but who shall come by stealth, and shall win the kingdom by intrigues. Armed forces 22 shall be utterly overwhelmed before him, and the prince of the covenant shall also be crushed. And as soon as 23 one makes an alliance with him, he shall practice treachery, and shall rise to great power, though he has but a handful of people, by means of stealth. Then 24 he shall assail the richest men of the provinces, and shall do what neither his fathers nor his fathers' fathers have done—he shall lavish among them plunder and spoil and goods; and he shall hatch his plots against fortresses, though only for a time. By means of a 25 great army he shall raise his might and courage against the king of the south;

and the king of the south shall bestir himself to battle against him with a very great and powerful army, but shall not make a stand, for plots shall be hatched against him; even those who eat of his delicacies shall crush him, and his army shall be swept away, and many shall fall down dead. Each of the kings shall have his mind bent on mischief, and shall speak lies at a common table; but it shall not avail, for an end awaits them at the time appointed.

Then he shall return to his own land laden with goods; and his mind being set against the holy covenant, he shall work his will, and return to his own land.

"At the time appointed he shall again invade the south; but this time it shall not be as in former times; for Roman ships shall come against him, and he shall be cowed. Then he shall be inflamed once more with rage against the holy covenant; and having come to an understanding with those who have forsaken the holy covenant, he shall once more work his will. Armed forces shall be raised by him, and they shall desecrate the stronghold of the sanctuary, and shall abolish the regular offering, and shall put in its place the desolating abomination. By his intrigues he shall corrupt those who have violated the covenant; but the people who know their God shall be steadfast, and shall accomplish exploits. Such as are wise among the people shall bring understanding to the multitude, though for many days they shall fall victims to sword and flame, to captivity and plunder. While they fall, they shall receive a little help; and many shall attach themselves to them in hypocrisy. But those of the wise who fall shall do so in order to be refined, and purified, and made white, with a view to the time of the end; for the time appointed is still to come. And the king shall do as he pleases; he shall uplift and exalt himself above every god, and shall speak monstrous things against the God of gods; and he shall prosper till the time of wrath is ended, for what is determined shall be done. He shall have no regard even for the gods of his fathers—no regard for the Delight of women, nor for any other god; for he shall exalt himself above all. Instead of them, he shall honor the god of strongholds; a god whom his fathers did not know he shall honor with gold and silver, precious stones and costly gifts. He shall man his strongest fortresses with worshippers of an alien god; and on those who acknowledge this god he shall bestow great honor, making them rulers over many, and allotting them land as a reward.

"At the time of the end the king of the south shall thrust at him; but the king of the north shall burst upon him like a whirlwind, with chariots, and horsemen, and many ships, and shall sweep through many lands like an overwhelming flood. He shall invade the glorious land, and myriads shall fall; but these shall escape from his hand—Edom, and Moab, and the remnant of the Ammonites. As he stretches his hand over the countries, the land of Egypt shall not escape, but he shall lay his hand upon the treasures of gold and silver, and upon all the precious things of Egypt, with the Lybians and Ethiopians in his train. Then news from the east and the north shall upset him, and he shall withdraw in great fury to destroy and annihilate many, and shall pitch his royal pavilion between the sea and the glorious holy mountain; and he shall come to his end, with none to help him.

"At that time shall Michael arise—the archangel who stands on guard over your fellow-countrymen—and there shall be a time of trouble such as there has never been since there was a nation; but at that time your people shall be delivered, even everyone whose name is found written in the book. And many of those who sleep in the land of dust shall awake, some to everlasting life, and others to everlasting reproach and contempt. Then those who are wise shall shine like the brightness of the firmament, those who have led the multitude to righteousness like the stars forever and ever. And now, O Daniel, bind up the words, and seal the book, till the time of the end; for many shall prove disloyal, and troubles shall be many."

Then I, Daniel, looked, and lo! two others were standing, one on this bank of the river, and one on that bank of the river. And I said to the man clothed in linen, who appeared above the waters of the river,

"How long shall it be till the end of these wonders?"

7 Then I heard the man clothed in linen, who appeared above the waters of the river, as he raised his right hand and his left hand toward the heavens, swear by him who lives forever, that it should be for a year, years, and half a year, and that after the power of him who shattered the holy people should be ended, all these things should be ended. I heard, but I did not understand. So I said,

"O my lord, what will the latter end of these things be?"

8 But he said,

"Go your way, O Daniel! for the words are bound up and sealed till the time of the end. Many shall purify 10 themselves, and make themselves white, and be refined; but the wicked shall carry on their wickedness, and none of the wicked shall understand; only the wise shall understand. From 11 the time that the regular offering is abolished, and the desolating abomination put in its place, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety days. Happy is he who waits till he reaches 12 the thousand three hundred and thirty-five days! So go your way, and rest till 13 the end comes; then you shall rise to enjoy your portion at the end of the days."

THE BOOK OF HOSEA

THE SUPERScription, 1:1

- 1 THE word of the LORD that came to Hosea, the son of Beeri, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam, the son of Joash, king of Israel.

THE MARRIAGE OF HOSEA, 1:2-9

- 2 In the beginning, when the LORD spoke through Hosea, then the LORD said to Hosea,
"Go, and take to yourself a harlotrous wife, and harlotrous children;
For the land has committed great harlotry, turning from following the LORD."
3 So he went and took Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, and she became 4 pregnant and bore him a son. Then the LORD said to him,
"Call him Jezreel; for but a little while, And I will demand the blood of Jezreel from the house of Jehu;
And I will bring to an end the dominion of the house of Israel."
5 And it shall come to pass on that day, That I will break the bow of Israel, in the valley of Jezreel."
6 When she became pregnant again and bore a daughter, he said to him, "Call her 'She-who-is-unpitied'; for I will not again
Have pit/ upon the house of Israel, that I should ever forgive them."
7 But upon the house of Judah I will have pity;
And I will deliver them through the LORD, their God;
And I will not deliver them by bow, Nor by sword, nor by war,
Nor by horses and horsemen."
8 Then she weaned "She-who-is-unpitied," and became pregnant, and bore 9 a son. And he said,
"Call him, 'Not-my-people';
For you are not my people,
And I am not your God."

GLIMPSES OF FUTURE GLORY, 1:10-2:1

- "Then the number of the children of Israel shall be like the sands of the sea,
Which can be neither measured nor numbered;
And whereas it was said to them, 'You are not my people,'
It shall be said to them, 'Sons of the living God.'
Then the children of Judah and the children of Israel shall be gathered together,
And they shall appoint over themselves one head;
And they shall go up from the land, for great shall be the day of Jezreel.
Say to your brother, 'My-people,'
And to your sister, 'She-that-is-pitied.'"

DENUNCIATION OF ISRAEL AS A FAITHLESS WIFE, 2:2-13

- "Reason with your mother, reason—
For she is not my wife,
And I am not her husband—
That she put away her harlotry from before her,
And her adultery from between her breasts;
Lest I strip her naked,
And place her as in the day she was born,
And make her like the desert,
And set her like a parched land,
And slay her with thirst.
And upon her children I will have no pity,
Because they are harlot's children.
For their mother played the harlot;
She who bore them acted shamelessly.
For she said, 'I will go after my lovers,
Who give me my bread and my water,
My wool and my flax, my oil and my drink.'
Therefore, lo, I am going to hedge up her way with thorns;

- And I will erect a wall against her,
So that she cannot find her paths.
7 And she shall run after her lovers,
But not overtake them,
And seek them, but not find them.
And she shall say, 'I will go back to my first husband,
For it was better with me then than now.'
- 8 But she did not know
That it was I who gave her
The grain and the wine and the oil,
And the silver, which I multiplied for
her,
And the gold, worked for the Baal.
- 9 Therefore I will hold back my grain in its time,
And my wine in its season;
And I will snatch away my wool and my flax,
So that she cannot cover her naked-
ness.
- 10 And now I will lay bare her shame to the eyes of her lovers,
And none shall rescue her from my
hand.
- 11 And I will bring to an end all her mirth,
Her festival, her new moon, her sabbath, and all her fixed festivals.
- 12 And I will lay waste her vine and her fig tree of which she said,
'They are my hire,
Which my lovers have given me.'
And I will make them a wilderness,
And the beasts of the field shall devour them.
- 13 So I will punish her for the days of the Baal's to whom she offered sacrifice,
And decked herself with nose-ring and necklace,
And went after her lovers,
But forgot me," is the oracle of the
LORD.

PICTURES OF RESTORATION AND BLESSING, 2:14-23

- 14 "Therefore I am going to persuade her,
And lead her to the wilderness,
And speak to her heart.
15 Then I will give back her vineyards
there,
And the valley of Achor as a door of
hope.
And she shall respond there as in the days of her youth,

- As in the day when she came up from the land of Egypt.
On that day it shall come to pass," is 16
the oracle of the LORD,
"That you will call me, 'My husband,'
And you will no longer call me, 'My Baal.'
For I will put away the names of the 17
Baal's from her mouth,
And they shall no longer be invoked
by their name.
On that day I will make a league for 18
them
With the beasts of the field, the birds of the air, and the reptiles of the ground;
And the bow, the sword, and war I will break off from the land;
And I will make them lie down in security."
- "And I will betroth you to myself for- 19
ever;
I will betroth you to myself in righteousness and justice,
And in kindness and mercy.
And I will betroth you to myself in 20
faithfulness;
And you shall know the LORD.
It shall come to pass on that day," is 21
the oracle of the LORD,
"That I will answer the heavens,
And they shall answer the earth;
And the earth shall answer the grain, 22
the wine, and the oil;
And they shall answer Jezreel;
And I will sow her for myself in the 23
land,
And I will pity 'Her-who-is-unpityed';
And I will say to 'Not-my-people,'
'You are my people';
And he shall say, 'My God.' "

HOSEA'S OWN ACCOUNT OF HIS MARRIAGE AND ITS MEANING, 3:1-5

- "The LORD said to me again, 3
'Go, love a woman that is beloved of a paramour, and is an adulteress;
even as the LORD loves the Israelites, though they turn to other gods and are lovers of raisin-cakes.'
'So I bought her for myself for fifteen 2 shekels of silver and a homer and a half of barley. Then I said to her, 3
'Many days you must dwell as mine;

You must not play the harlot, nor have a husband; nor will I myself come near you.'

- 6 "For the Israelites shall abide many days with no king, no prince, no sacrifice, no sacred pillar, no ephod, and no teraphim. Afterward, the Israelites shall return and seek the LORD, their God, and David their king; and they shall hasten eagerly toward the LORD, and his goodness in the days to come."

THE IDOLATROUS APOSTASY OF ISRAEL, 4:1-19

- 4 "Hear the word of the LORD, O Israelites!
For the LORD has a quarrel with the inhabitants of the land;
Because there is no fidelity, no kindness, and no knowledge of God in the land.
- 2 Cursing, lying, murder, theft, and adultery—
They break out, and one crime follows hard upon another.
- 3 Therefore the land mourns, and everything that dwells therein languishes,
Even to the beasts of the earth, and the birds of the air;
And the fish of the sea also are swept away.
- 4 "Yet, let no one make charges, and let no one accuse;
For with you is my quarrel, O priest;
And you shall stumble by day;
- 5 The prophet also shall stumble with you by night;
And I will destroy your people.
- 6 My people are destroyed for want of knowledge—
Because you have rejected knowledge, I will reject you from being my priest. Since you have forgotten the law of your God, I likewise will forgo your children.
- 7 "The more they increased, the more they sinned against me;
They have exchanged their glory for shame.
- 8 They feed on the sin of my people, And for their guilt they whet their appetite.
- 9 So it has become 'like people, like priest';

And I will visit his ways upon him, And requite his deeds to him.
And they shall eat, but not be satisfied;
They shall play the harlot, but not be fruitful;
Because they have forsaken the LORD, to practice harlotry.

"Wine and liquor take away the under- 11 standing.
My people inquire of their block of 12 wood,
And their staff instructs them.
For a harlotrous spirit has led them astray,
And they have become apostates from their God.
Upon the tops of the mountains they 13 sacrifice,
And upon the hills they make offerings,
Beneath oak, poplar, and terebinth,
Because their shade is good.

"Therefore your daughters play the harlot,
And your sons' wives commit adultery.
I will not punish your daughters when they play the harlot,
Nor your sons' wives when they commit adultery;
For they themselves go apart with harlots,
And sacrifice with temple-prostitutes,
And a people without insight must come to ruin.

"Though you play the harlot, O Israel, Let not Judah incur guilt.
Do not come to Gilgal,
Nor go up to Bethaven,
Nor take oath at Beersheba, 'As the LORD lives.'
But like a wild heifer, Israel is wild;
Can the LORD feed them now like a lamb at large?"

"A maker of images is Ephraim;
He has set up for himself a fat bull!
They have grossly apostatized;
They love shame more than their glory.
A wind shall carry them away in its wings;
And they shall be ashamed of their altars."

THE GUILT OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH AND ITS PUNISH-
MENT, 5:1-14

- 5 "Hear this, O priests!
Give heed, O house of Israel!
Listen, O house of the king!
For the judgment pertains to you;
For you have been a snare at Mizpeh,
And a net spread out upon Tabor.
2 And they have dug deep the pit of Shittim;
But I am a restraint to them all.
- 2 "I know Ephraim,
And Israel is not hidden from me.
For you have played the harlot, O
Ephraim;
Israel is defiled.
4 Their deeds will not permit them
To return to their God.
For an apostate spirit is within them,
And they do not know the LORD.
- 5 "The pride of Israel shall testify to his face;
And Israel and Ephraim shall stumble
in their guilt;
Judah, also, shall stumble with them.
6 With their flocks and their herds, they shall go To seek the LORD, but shall not find
him—
He has departed from them.
7 They have been faithless to the LORD;
For they have borne illegitimate children.
Now he will devour them,
The plowmen and their fields.
- 8 "Blow the horn in Gibeah,
the trumpet in Ramah;
Sound the alarm at Bethaven;
startle Benjamin!
9 Ephraim shall become a ruin on the day of punishment.
Among the tribes of Israel,
I announce what is sure.
- 10 "The princes of Judah have become Like those who move a boundary line.
Upon them I will pour out
My wrath like water.
11 Ephraim is oppressed, crushed in judgment,
Because Israel went after idols.
12 But I am like a moth unto Ephraim,
And like rottenness unto the house of Judah.

"When Ephraim saw his sickness, 13
And Judah his wound,
Then Ephraim went to Assyria,
And sent to the great king.
But he is not able to heal you;
Nor can he relieve you of your wound.
For I will be like a lion unto Ephra- 14
im,
And like a young lion to the house of Judah.
I will rend and be gone;
I will carry off, with none to rescue."

ISRAEL'S DEEP DEPRAVITY
BELIES HER FACILE RE-PENTANCE, 5:15-6:11a

"I will go back to my place, 15
Until they realize their guilt, and seek my face;
In their trouble they will seek me:
'Come, let us return unto the LORD; 6
For he has torn, but he will heal us;
He smote, but he will bind us up;
He will revive us in two or three days; 2
He will raise us up that we may live
before him.
Let us know, let us press on to know 3
the LORD;
As soon as we seek him, we shall find
him;
He will come to us like the winter rain,
Like the spring rain that waters the
land.'

"What shall I do with you, O Ephra- 4
im?
What shall I do with you, O Judah?
For your piety is like a morning cloud,
Or like the dew that leaves early.
Therefore will I hew them by the 5
prophets;
I will slay them by the words of my
mouth,
And my judgment will go forth like the light.
For I delight in piety, not sacrifice; 6
And in the knowledge of God, rather than burnt-offerings.

"But they broke the agreement at 7
Admah;
There they dealt faithlessly with me.
Gilead is a city of wrong-doers, 8
Tracked with bloody footprints.
Like troops of men lying in wait, 9
So the priests hid themselves;
On the way to Shechem they committed murder,

They practiced vice.

- 10 In Bethel, I saw a horrible thing;
There Ephraim played the harlot,
Israel was defiled.
11<sup>a</sup> For you too, O Judah, a harvest is appointed."

ISRAEL'S INTERNAL CORRUPTION, 6:11b—7:7

- 11<sup>b</sup> "When I would restore the fortune of my people, 7 When I would heal Israel,
The guilt of Ephraim is revealed,
And the sin of Samaria;
For they have wrought falsehood,
And the thief comes in;
Gangs prowl about.
2 But they never realize
That I shall remember all their wickedness,
That now their deeds encircle them,
That they are before my face.
3 Through their wickedness they rejoice the king,
And through their treachery princes.
4 They are all adulterers;
They are like a burning oven,
Whose baker ceases stirring,
From the time the dough is kneaded until it is leavened.
5 From the day he became king, the princes have made him sick with the heat of wine;
Worthless men have made him drunk.
6 For their heart glows like an oven, with their trickery;
All night through their anger sleeps;
In the morning it blazes like a flaming fire.
7 They are all hot like an oven,
And they devour their rulers.
All their kings have fallen;
There is no one among them who calls upon me."

ISRAEL'S DISLOYAL FOREIGN POLICY, 7:8-16

- 8 "Ephraim wastes away among the peoples;
Ephraim is a cake unturned.
9 Strangers devour his strength, without his knowledge;
Gray hairs are scattered upon him, without his knowledge.
10 And the pride of Israel witnesses against him;

But they do not return to the LORD,
their God,
Nor seek him for all this.

"For Ephraim has become like a silly 11 dove, without sense;
They call to Egypt, they go to Assyria.
As they go, I will spread my net over 12 them;
Like birds of the air, I will bring them down;
I will bind them on account of their wickedness.
Woe to them that they have wandered 13 away from me!
Ruin to them that they have rebelled against me!
Can I redeem them,
While they speak lies against me?

"They do not cry unto me from their 14 hearts,
But wail upon their couches for grain and wine;
They cut themselves and rebel against me.
Yet it was I who trained and strength- 15 ened their arms,
While against me they plan wickedness.
They turn to the Baal; 16
They are like a treacherous bow.
Their princes shall fall by the sword,
Because of their stumbling speech in the land of Egypt."

IDOLATRY AND DISLOYALTY SPELL DESTRUCTION, 8:1-14

"Set the trumpet to your lips, 8
Like a watchman, against the house of the LORD!
Because they have broken my covenant,
And sinned against my law.
To me they shall cry, 'My God, we, Israel, know thee.'
Israel has abhorred the good;
An enemy shall pursue him.

"They made kings; but it was not of my doing;
They made princes; but without my knowledge.
Of their silver and their gold they made Idols for themselves, that they might be cut off.

- 5 I loathe your bull, O Samaria;
My anger blazes against them;
How long will they be incapable of innocence?
- 6 For from Israel is it;
A mechanic made it;
And it is not God.
Indeed, Samaria's bull
Shall become splinters.
- 7 "For they sowed the wind;
And they shall reap the whirlwind.
The standing grain which has no
sprout shall yield no meal;
If it should yield, foreigners would devour it.
- 8 Israel shall be devoured;
Soon shall they be among the nations
Like a worthless thing.
- 9 For they have gone up to Assyria,
Like a wild ass wandering by itself;
Ephraim gives love-gifts.
- 10 But though they hire among the nations,
I will soon gather them up;
And they shall cease a while from anointing a king and princes.
- 11 "Though Ephraim has multiplied altars,
They have become to him altars for sinning.
- 12 I will write him down as an opponent of my law;
He shall be considered as a foreigner.
- 13 They love sacrifice and they sacrifice
Flesh, and they eat it.
The LORD is not pleased with them;
Soon will he remember their guilt,
And punish their sin;
They shall return to Egypt.
- 14 For Israel forgot his maker and built palaces;
And Judah multiplied fortified cities;
But I will send a fire upon his cities,
And it shall devour his palaces."

ISRAEL MUST GO INTO EXILE, 9:1-9

- 9 "Do not rejoice, O Israel!
Do not exult, like the peoples!
For you have become apostates from your God;
You have loved a harlot's hire
Upon all threshing-floors for grain.
- 2 "But threshing-floor and wine-vat shall not know them,

And wine shall fail them.
They shall not remain in the land of
the LORD,
But Ephraim shall return to Egypt,
And in Assyria they shall eat unclean
food.

"They shall not pour libations of wine
to the LORD;
Nor shall they prepare their sacrifices
for him.
Their food shall be like mourners'
food,
In that all who eat of it will defile
themselves;
For their food is for themselves only;
It may not come into the house of the
LORD.

"What will you do on the festival day,
And on the day of the feast of the
LORD?
For lo, they shall go to Assyria;
Egypt shall gather them,
Memphis shall bury them.
Their desirable places nettles shall possess;
Thorns shall be in their tents.
The days of punishment will come;
The days of requital will come;
Israel shall know.

"The prophet is distracted,
The man of the spirit is crazed,
Because of your great guilt;
Great is the opposition to the watchman of Ephraim, the people of my God.
The prophet—the fowler's snare is upon all his ways;
Opposition is in the house of his God.
They have dug a deep pit for him,
As in the days of Gibeah.
He will remember their guilt,
He will punish their sins."

IRREPARABLE RUIN, 9:10-17

"Like grapes in the wilderness,
I found Israel.
Like the first ripe fig on the fig tree, in its first season,
I saw your fathers.
But they came to Baal-peor;
And dedicated themselves to the Baal,
And became an abhorrence like the thing which they loved.

- 11 "Ephraim's glory flies away like a bird,
So that there will be no births, no motherhood, no conception.
- 12 Even if they do rear their children,
I will bereave them to a man.
But woe, indeed, to them when I depart from them!
- 13 As I foresaw, Epiraim's sons must become a prey,
Ephraim must bring out his sons to the slaughter."
- 14 Give them—O LORD, what canst thou give?
Give them a miscarrying womb,
And dry breasts.
- 15 "All their wickedness is in Gilgal,
For there I conceived hatred for them.
Because of their wicked deeds,
I will drive them out of my house.
I will no longer love them,
Since all their princes are rebels.
- 16 "Ephraim is stricken;
Their root is dried up;
They shall bear no fruit.
Even if they do have children,
I will slay the darlings of their womb.
7 My God shall reject them, Because they have not listened to
him;
And they shall become wanderers
among the nations."

IDOLATRY AND ITS PUNISH- MENT, 10:1-8

- 10 "Israel is a spreading vine;
His fruit renders him confident;
The more his fruit increased,
The more altars he made;
The more prosperous his land became,
The finer did he make his sacred pillars.
- 2 Their heart is false; soon must they atone;
Their altars shall be desecrated,
And their sacred pillars destroyed.
- 3 "For they will soon be saying,
'We have no king;
For we do not revere the LORD;
And as for that, what could the king
do for us?'
- 4 They speak mere words; they swear false oaths;
They make leagues; and judgment will blossom forth,

Like weeds in the furrows of the field.
For the calf of Bethaven,
The inhabitants of Samaria shall be anxious;
His people and his priestlings shall mourn for him;
They shall wail for his honor,
Because it has gone into exile from
him.
He himself, too, shall be carried to Assyria,
As tribute to the great king.
Ephraim shall receive disgrace,
And Israel shall be ashamed of his idol.

"The king of Samaria shall be destroyed,
Like a chip upon the surface of the
water.
And the high places of Aven shall be destroyed,
The sin of Israel;
Thorn and thistle shall spring up upon their altars;
And they shall say to the mountains,
'Cover us';
And to the hills, 'Fall upon us.' "

MORAL FAILURE IS POLITI- CAL RUIN, 10:9-15

"From the days of Gibeah, you have sinned, O Israel;
There they said that war would not overtake them in Gibeah.
I will come against the wicked people and punish them;
And peoples shall be gathered together
against them,
When they are chastened for their two crimes.
Ephraim was a trained heifer that loved to thresh;
But I put a yoke upon her fair neck.
I harnessed Ephraim; Judah ploughed;
Jacob harrowed for himself.

"Sow for yourselves righteousness; 12
Reap the fruit of piety;
Break up your fallow ground;
For it is time to seek the LORD,
Till he come and rain righteousness
upon you.
You have ploughed wickedness, you have harvested wrong;
You have eaten the fruit of lies,
In that you trusted in your chariots, and in your great might.

- 14 "But revolt shall arise among your people,
And all your fortresses shall be destroyed,
As Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel on the day of battle;
The mother was dashed in pieces with the children.
- 15 Thus will I do to you, O house of Israel, because of your wickedness!
In the storm, the king of Israel shall be utterly destroyed."

GOD'S LOVE FOR ISRAEL
SPURNED BUT TRIUMPHANT,
11:1-11

- 11 "When Israel was a child, I came to love him,
And from Egypt I called him.
- 2 The more I called them,
The more they went away from me;
They sacrificed to the Baals,
And made offerings to idols.
- 3 "But it was I who taught Ephraim to walk;
I took them up in my arms;
But they did not know that I cared for them.
- 4 With human lines I led them,
With loving cords;
And I became for them like him who lifts the yoke from their jaws;
And I bent toward them and fed them.
- 5 "Ephraim shall return to Egypt,
And Assyria shall be his king,
Because they have refused to return to me.
- 6 The sword shall begin upon his cities,
And make an end of his fields,
And shall devour his fortresses.
- 7 For my people are dependent upon a change in me;
And if they call upon me because of the yoke,
Will I not, nevertheless, raise it up?
- 8 "How can I give you up, O Ephraim!
How surrender you, O Israel!
How can I treat you like Admah!
How make you like Zeboim!
My mind turns against me;
My sympathies also grow hot.
- 9 I will not carry out my fierce anger;
Nor will I again destroy Ephraim;
For I am God and not man,

The holy one in the midst of you;
And I will not destroy.

- "They shall go after the LORD; 10
Like a lion he will roar;
Yea, he will roar;
And his sons shall come trembling
from the west,
They shall come fluttering like a bird 11
from Egypt,
And like a dove from the land of Assyria;
And I will bring them back to their homes,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.

ISRAEL'S FAITHLESSNESS AND ITS PUNISHMENT, 11:12-12:14

- "Ephraim surrounds me with lies, 12
And the house of Israel with deceit;
But Judah still seeks after God,
And is loyal to the holy one.
- Ephraim feeds upon wind, 12
And pursues the east wind all the time;
They multiply lies and falsehood;
They make a treaty with Assyria,
And carry oil to Egypt.
- "The LORD has a quarrel with Judah; 2
And he will punish Jacob according to his ways;
According to his deeds will he requite him.
In the womb he seized his brother's 3 heel,
And in his full vigor he strove with God.
Then he fought against an angel and 4 prevailed;
He wept and entreated him for mercy.
At Bethel he found him,
And there he talked with him.
Then Jacob fled to the field of Aram, 12
And Israel worked for a wife,
And for a wife he watched sheep.
- "But the LORD, the God of hosts, 5
The LORD, is his name.
Therefore do you return to your God, 6
Practice kindness and justice,
And wait for your God continually.
- "A Canaanite, in whose hands are false 7 balances,
He loves to oppress.
But Ephraim says, 'Indeed, I am rich; 8

I have found power for myself.
 All his gain will not suffice
 For the guilt which he has incurred.

- 9 I am the LORD, your God,
 From the land of Egypt;
 I will again make you dwell in tents,
 As in the days of old.
- 10 "I spoke to the prophets,
 And I gave many visions,
 And through the prophets I gave parables.
- 11 Gilead, indeed, is wickedness; yea,
 they are falsehood;
 In Gilgal they sacrifice to demons;
 Their altars, also, are like heaps,
 Upon the furrows of the field.
- 13 By a prophet the LORD brought Israel up from Egypt,
 And by a prophet he was kept.
- 14 Ephraim has provoked him bitterly;
 So he will hurl his blood upon him;
 And his disgrace his Lord will requite
 to him."

ISRAEL'S DESTRUCTION NOT- WITHSTANDING IDOLS AND KINGS, 13:1-16

- 13 "Whenever Ephraim spoke there used to be awe;
 He was a prince in Israel.
 Then he transgressed through the Baal and died.
- 2 And now they sin more and more,
 In that they make for themselves
 molten images,
 And of their silver, through their skill,
 idols,
 Wholly the product of mechanics.
 'To such,' they say, 'sacrifice.'
 Men kissing calves!
- 3 Therefore they shall be like a morning
 cloud,
 Or like the dew which leaves early;
 Like the chaff that whirls up from the threshing-floor,
 Or like the smoke from the window.
- 4 "But I am the LORD, your God
 From the land of Egypt;
 And you know no God but me;
 And there is no deliverer, except me.
- 5 I fed you in the wilderness,
 In the land of drought;
- 6 But when they had fed themselves full,
 Their heart became arrogant,

And so they forgot me.
 So I will be unto them like a lion,
 Or like a leopard by the road I will lurk.
 I will rend them like a bear robbed of its cubs,
 And I will tear off the covering of their chest,
 And I will devour them there like a lion;
 The beast of the field shall mangle
 them.

"I am your destruction, O Israel;
 Who can help you?
 Where now is your king, that he may deliver you?
 And all your princes that they may rule you,
 Of whom you said,
 'Give me a king and princes?'
 I gave you a king in my anger,
 And I took him away in my wrath.
 The guilt of Israel is bound up;
 His sin is stored away.
 The pangs of a woman in child-birth shall come upon him,
 But he is a foolish son;
 For it is no time to stand
 In the mouth of the womb.

"Shall I rescue them from the power of Sheol?
 Shall I redeem them from death?
 Where are your plagues, O Death?
 Where is your destruction, O Sheol?
 Repentance is hid from my eyes.
 It indeed shall separate brothers;
 The east wind, a wind of the LORD,
 shall come from the wilderness;
 It shall come up and his fountain shall dry up,
 And his spring shall be parched.
 He shall spoil the treasury
 Of every desirable thing.
 Samaria must bear her guilt;
 For she has rebelled against her God;
 They must fall by the sword,
 Their children be dashed in pieces,
 And their pregnant women be ripped open."

AN INVITATION AND A PROMISE, 14:1-9

Return, O Israel, to the LORD, your
 God;
 For you have stumbled in your guilt.
 Take with you words,

- And return to the LORD.
 Say to him, "Wholly forgive guilt;
 And we will take what is good,
 And requite thee with the fruits of our lips.
- 3 Assyria shall not deliver us;
 Nor will we ride upon war-horses;
 Nor will we say any longer, 'Our God,'
 To the work of our own hands;
 For in thee the orphan finds mercy.
- 4 "I will heal their backsliding;
 I will love them voluntarily;
 For my anger has turned away from
 them.
- 5 I will be like the dew to Israel,
 So that he will blossom like the lily,
 And his roots will spread like the poplar;
- 6 His tendrils will spread out;
 And his beauty will be like the olive
 tree,
- And his fragrance like that of Lebanon.
 Those who shall again dwell beneath 7
 his shadow,
 Shall raise grain,
 And they shall blossom like a vine,
 Whose fragrance shall be like the wine of Lebanon.
- "What more has Ephraim any need of 8
 idols?
 I am his Anath and his Asherah;
 I am like a green fir-tree;
 From me is his fruit found."
- Whoever is wise, let him understand 9
 these things,
 Whoever is discerning, let him know
 them;
 That the ways of the LORD are right,
 And the righteous walk in them,
 While sinners stumble in them.

THE BOOK OF JOEL

THE LOCUST PLAGUE AND THE DROUGHT, 1:1-19

- 1 THE word of the LORD, which came to Joel, the son of Pethuel:
 2 Hear this, O elders;
 And listen, all you dwellers in the land!
 Has such a thing ever been in your days,
 Or in the days of your fathers?
 3 Tell of it to your sons,
 And your sons to their sons in turn,
 And their sons to the next generation.
- 4 What the shearer left, the locust ate,
 And what the locust left, the hopper ate,
 And what the hopper left, the stripper ate.
- 5 Rouse yourselves, you toppers, and weep;
 And wail, all you drinkers of wine,
 Because of the new wine; for it is cut off from your mouth.
- 6 For a nation has come up against my land,
 Strong and innumerable;
 His teeth are a lion's teeth,
 And the fangs of a lioness are his.
- 7 He has made my vine a waste,
 And blighted my fig tree;
 He has stripped off its bark and thrown it away;
 Its branches are whitened.
- 8 Wail, like a virgin girded with sackcloth
 For the bridegroom of her youth.
- 9 Cut off are the offering and the libation
 From the house of the LORD.
 The priests mourn,
 The ministers of the LORD.
- 10 The field is devastated;
 The ground mourns;
 Because the grain is laid waste,
 The wine is dried up,

The oil fails.
 The farmers are disappointed, 11
 The vine-dressers lament,
 For the wheat and the barley;
 Because the harvest of the field is lost.
 The vine withers, 1
 And the fig tree wilts.
 The pomegranate, palm, and apple—
 All the trees of the field dry up;
 So that mirth has withered away
 From the sons of men.

Gird yourselves with sackcloth and mourn, O priests;
 Wail, O ministers of the altar!
 Come, spend the night in sackcloth,
 O ministers of my God!
 Because the sacrifice and libation are withheld
 From the house of your God.
 Sanctify a fast; 1
 Call a convocation!
 Gather, O elders,
 All the inhabitants of the land
 Into the house of the LORD your God;
 And cry unto the LORD.
 Alas for the day! 1
 For the day of the LORD is near,
 And as destruction from the Almighty it comes.
 Has not food been cut off 1
 From before our eyes?
 From the house of our God,
 Gladness and joy?

The mules stamp at their stalls; 11
 The granaries are devastated;
 The barns are ruined;
 Because the grain has failed.
 What can we put in them? 11
 The herds of cattle wander about,
 Because they have no pasture;
 The flocks of sheep, also, are dismayed.

Unto thee, O LORD, do I cry, 11
 Because fire has consumed the pastures of the steppe,
 And flame has scorched all the trees of the field.

The beasts of the field, also, cry out unto thee;
Because the streams of water are dry,
And fire has consumed the pastures of
the steppe.

THE LOCUSTS AND THE DAY OF THE LORD, 2:1-11

- 2 Blow the trumpet in Zion;
Raise the alarm on my holy mountain!
Let all the inhabitants of the land
tremble;
For the day of the LORD comes!
2 For near is the day of darkness and gloom,
The day of clouds and deep darkness.

Like blackness spread over the mountains,
Is the great and powerful people.
The like of them has not been from of
old;
Nor will there be any again after them,
Throughout the years of successive generations.

- 3 Before them a fire devours,
And after them a flame scorches.
Like the garden of Eden was the land
before them,
And after them it is a desert waste;
And nothing escapes them.

- 4 They look like horses,
And they run like war-horses.
5 Like the rattle of chariots,
They leap on the tops of the mountains;

Like the crackling of a flame of fire,
That devours the stubble;
Like a mighty people,
Arrayed for battle.

- 6 Before them peoples are in anguish,
All faces grow pale.
7 Like warriors they run;
Like men of war they climb the wall.
They go each his own way,
And do not entangle their paths.
8 They do not push one another;
Each goes his own road.
And though they fall into a stream,
They do not sink.
9 They rush upon the city;
They run upon the wall;
They go up into the houses;
Through the windows they enter like a thief.

Before them the land trembles; 10
The heavens quake;
Sun and moon grow dark,
And the stars withhold their bright-
ness.

The LORD thunders at the head of his 11
army;

For very great is his host;
He that executes his command is powerful.

For great is the day of the LORD,
And exceedingly terrible; and who can withstand it?

A CALL TO PENITENCE, 2:12-17

"Yet even now," is the oracle of the 12
LORD,

"Return to me with your whole heart,
And with fasting, and weeping, and mourning."

And rend your heart and not your gar- 13
ments,

And return to the LORD, your God;
For he is gracious and merciful,
Slow to anger and abounding in kind-
ness,

And relenting of evil.

Who knows but that he will again re- 14
lent,

And leave behind him a blessing,
An offering and a libation
To the LORD, your God?

Blow the trumpet in Zion; 15
Order a sacred fast; call a holy assembly;

Assemble the people; order a holy con- 16
vocation;

Gather in the elders; collect the children,

And the infants at the breast!

Let the bridegroom go forth from his chamber,
And the bride from her pavilion!

Between the porch and the altar, 17
Let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep;

And let them say, "Spare thy people,
O LORD,

And make not thy heritage a reproach,

That they should become a by-word
among the nations.

Why should they say among the peoples,

'Where is their God?'

FORGIVENESS AND PROMISE,
2:18-27

- 18 Then the LORD became solicitous for his land,
And had pity upon his people.
- 19 And the LORD answered and said to his people,
"Lo, I am going to send you
The grain, the wine, and the oil,
And you will be satisfied therewith;
And I will no more make you a reproach among the nations.
- 20 And I will remove the Northerner far from you;
And I will drive him out into a parched and waste land;
His van into the eastern sea,
And his rear into the western sea;
And the stench of him will arise and the foul smell of him will ascend;
Though he has done great things.
- 21 "Fear not, O land;
Exult and rejoice;
For the LORD has done great things!
- 22 Fear not, O beasts of the field;
For the pastures of the steppe are green,
The tree bears its fruit,
The fig-tree and the grape-vine yield their increase.
- 23 "And do you, O sons of Zion, exult,
And rejoice in the LORD, your God;
For he gave you a warning,
Teaching righteousness;
And he has sent down to you rain,
The winter and the spring rains as of old.
- 24 "And the threshing-floors shall be full of grain;
And the wine-vats shall overflow with wine and oil;
- 25 And I will repay you for the years
Which the locust devoured,
The hopper, the stripper, and the shearer,
My great army, which I sent upon you.
- 26 "And you shall eat to the full and be satisfied,
And you shall praise the name of the LORD, your God,
Who has done wonders for you;
And my people shall never again be put to shame,

And you shall know that I am in the midst of Israel.
I, the LORD, am your God, and there is none else;
So my people shall never again be put to shame."

THE DAY OF THE LORD AND ITS MANIFESTATIONS, 2:28-32

- "It shall come to pass afterward,
That I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh;
Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy;
Your old men shall dream dreams,
And your young men shall see visions.
Furthermore, upon the male and female slaves,
In those days I will pour out my spirit.
- "And I will set portents in the heavens:
and on the earth,
Blood, and fire, and columns of smoke.
The sun shall be changed to darkness,
and the moon to blood,
Before the coming of the day of the LORD,
great and terrible.
But everyone that calls upon the name of the LORD shall be delivered;
For in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem there shall be those that escape";
As the LORD has said.
And the escaped will be those whom the LORD proclaims.

JUDGMENT UPON THE NATIONS, 3:1-8

"For behold, in those days and at that time, when I restore the fortune of Judah and Jerusalem, I will gather all the nations, and bring them down to the valley of Jehoshaphat; and I will enter into judgment with them there, on account of my people and my heritage, Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations. They have divided my land, and cast lots upon my people, and given a boy for a harlot, and sold a girl for wine, and drunk it.
"Moreover, what are you to me, O Tyre, and Sidon, and all the districts of Philistia? Are you paying me back for something I have done? Or are you doing something to me? Right speedily will I requite your deed upon your own head! For you have taken my silver and my gold; and my goodly treasures you have brought into your palaces.

 6 The people of Judah, and the people of Jerusalem, you have sold to the Greeks, so as to remove them far from their 7 own territory. Behold, I am going to rouse them up from the place into which you have sold them; and I will requite 8 your deed upon your own head. I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the people of Judah, and they will sell them to the Sabaeans, to a distant nation." For the LORD has spoken.

THE WORLD-JUDGMENT,

3:9-13

9 Proclaim this among the nations:
 Hallow war! Arouse the warriors!
 Let the fighting men approach and ascend!
 10 Beat your plowshares into swords,
 And your pruning hooks into lances!
 Let the weakling say, "I am a warrior."
 11 Haste and come, all you nations,
 And gather yourselves there from every side.
 Bring down thy warriors, O LORD!
 12 Let the nations rouse themselves and come up
 To the valley of Jehoshaphat;
 For there I will sit to judge
 All the nations from every side.
 13 Put in the sickle,
 For the harvest is ripe!
 Go in, tread;
 For the wine-press is full!
 The vats overflow!
 For their wickedness is great.

THE GOLDEN AGE, 3:14-21

14 Multitudes upon multitudes are in the valley of decision,

For the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.
 The sun and the moon are darkened, 15
 And the stars withhold their bright-
 ness.

For the LORD roars from Zion, 16
 And from Jerusalem he utters his voice;
 And the heavens and the earth quake.
 But the LORD is a refuge to his people,
 And a stronghold to the children of Israel.

"And you shall know that I, the LORD, 17
 your God,
 Am dwelling in Zion, my holy mountain.
 And Jerusalem shall be holy,
 And aliens shall not again pass through her.

"And it shall come to pass on that day, 18
 That the mountains shall drip sweet
 wine,
 And the hills shall flow with milk,
 And all the river-beds of Judah shall flow with water;
 And a spring shall go forth from the house of the LORD,
 And water the valley of Shittim.

"Egypt shall become a waste, 19
 And Edom shall be a barren steppe;
 Because of the wrong done to the children of Judah,
 In that they shed innocent blood in
 their land.
 But Judah shall abide forever, 20
 And Jerusalem throughout the ages.
 And I will avenge their blood; I will 21 not leave it unpunished."
 For the LORD dwells in Zion.

THE BOOK OF AMOS

TITLE AND PURPOSE OF THE BOOK, 1:1-2

- 1 THE words of Amos, who was one of the shepherds of Tekoa, which he received regarding Israel, in the days of Uzziah, king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam, the son of Joash, king of Israel, two years before the earthquake; saying,
- 2 "The LORD roars from Zion, And from Jerusalem he utters his voice; So that the pastures of the shepherds mourn, And the top of Carmel withers."

DOOM UPON THE SURROUND- ING NATIONS, 1:3-2:5

- 3 Thus says the LORD:
"For the three transgressions of Damascus,
And for the four, I will not turn it back;
Because they have threshed Gilead
With threshing-tools of iron.
- 4 So I will send a fire upon the house of Hazeael,
And it shall devour the palaces of Benhadad;
- 5 And I will break the bar of Damascus,
And cut off the inhabitants from the valley of Aven,
And the holder of the scepter from Beth-eden;
And the people of Syria shall go captive to Kir."
- Says the LORD.
- 6 Thus says the LORD:
"For the three transgressions of Gaza,
And for the four, I will not turn it back;
Because they carried into exile a whole people,
To hand them over to Edom.
- 7 So I will send a fire upon the wall of Gaza,
And it shall devour her palaces;

And I will cut off the inhabitants from Ashdod,
And the holder of the scepter from Askelon,
And I will turn my hand against Ekron,
And the remnant of the Philistines shall perish."

Says the Lord GOD.

Thus says the LORD:
"For the three transgressions of Tyre,
And for the four, I will not turn it back;
Because they handed over a whole people as captives to Edom,
And did not remember the covenant of brotherhood.
So I will send a fire upon the wall of Tyre,
And it shall devour her palaces."

Thus says the LORD:
"For the three transgressions of Edom,
And for the four, I will not turn it back;
Because he pursued his brother with the sword,
And stifled his pity,
So that his anger raged perpetually,
And his wrath stormed continually.
So I will send a fire upon Teman,
And it shall devour the palaces of Bozrah."

Thus says the LORD:
"For the three transgressions of the Ammonites,
And for the four, I will not turn it back;
Because they ripped up the pregnant women of Gilead,
That they might enlarge their boundary.
So I will kindle a fire upon the wall of Rabbah,
And it shall devour her palaces;
With shouting on the day of battle,
With a storm on the day of tempest;
And their king shall live in exile,
He and his princes together."

Says the LORD.

- 2 Thus says the LORD:
 "For the three transgressions of Moab,
 And for the four, I will not turn it
 back;
 Because he burned the bones
 Of the king of Edom to lime.
 2 So I will send a fire against Moab,
 And it shall devour the palaces of Kerioth;
 And Moab shall die with uproar, With shouting and the sound of the trumpet;
 3 And I will cut off the chieftain from the midst of her,
 And slay all her princes with him."
 Says the LORD.

- 4 Thus says the LORD:
 "For the three transgressions of Judah,
 And for the four, I will not turn it
 back;
 Because they have rejected the instruction of the LORD,
 And have not kept his statutes;
 But their lies have led them astray,
 After which their fathers walked.
 5 So I will send a fire upon Judah,
 And it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem."

THE SIN AND DOOM OF ISRAEL, 2:6-16

- 6 Thus says the LORD:
 "For the three transgressions of Israel,
 And for the four, I will not turn it
 back;
 Because they have sold the innocent
 for silver,
 And the needy in exchange for a pair
 of sandals;
 7 They who trample upon the heads of the poor,
 And thrust aside the humble from the
 way.
 A man and his father go in to the har-
 lots,
 Thereby profaning my holy name.
 8 Garments taken in pledge they spread
 out
 Beside every altar;
 And the wine of those who have been fined they drink
 In the houses of their gods.
 9 "Yet it was I who destroyed the Amo-rite from before them, Whose height was like that of the cedars,

- And he was as strong as the oaks;
 But I destroyed his fruit above,
 And his roots below.
 And it was I too who brought you up 10
 from the land of Egypt,
 And led you through the wilderness for forty years,
 That you might seize the land of the Amorites.
 Also I raised up some of your sons as 11
 prophets,
 And some of your young men as Nazirites.
 Is this not indeed so, O Israelites?"
 The oracle of the LORD.
 "But you made the Nazirites drink wine; 12
 And you laid command upon the prophets, saying, 'You shall not prophesy.'

- "Behold, I am going to make a groaning 13
 under you,
 As a wagon groans that is loaded with sheaves.
 Flight shall perish from the swift, 14
 And the strong shall not exert his
 strength,
 And the warrior shall not save himself;
 And he who handles the bow shall not 15
 stand firm,
 Nor shall the swift of foot save himself,
 Nor shall he who rides upon horseback
 save himself;
 And the stoutest of heart among the 16
 warriors
 Shall flee away naked on that day."
 The oracle of the LORD.

THE CATEGORICAL IMPERA- TIVE, 3:1-8

- Hear this word which the LORD 3 speaks against you, O Israelites, against the whole family that I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying,
 "You only have I known, 2 of all the families of the earth";
 Therefore will I punish you for all your wrongdoing.
 Do two men walk together, 3 unless they have made an appointment?
 Does a lion roar in the forest, 4
 when he has no prey?
 Does a young lion send forth his voice
 from his lair,
 unless he has seized something?

- 5 Does a bird fall to the ground,
when there is no snare for it?
Does a trap spring from the ground, when it has taken nothing at all?
- 6 If a trumpet be blown in a city,
do the people not tremble?
If there be disaster in a city,
has not the LORD caused it?
- 7 Surely, he will do nothing,
the Lord GOD,
Except he reveal his purpose to his servants the prophets.
- 8 When the lion roars,
who does not fear?
When the Lord GOD speaks, who will not prophesy?

THE DOOM OF SAMARIA,

3:9—4:3

- 9 Make proclamation over the palaces
in Assyria,
And over the palaces in the land of Egypt,
And say, "Assemble yourselves upon the mountains of Samaria And see the great confusion in the midst of her,
And the oppression within her."
10 "For they do not know how to do right," is the oracle of the LORD,
"Who treasure up violence and robbery in their palaces."
- 11 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:
"The foe shall surround the land,
And strip you of your strength;
And your palaces shall be plundered."
- 12 Thus says the LORD:
"Just as a shepherd rescues from the mouth of a lion two shank-bones or a piece of an ear, so will the Israelites be rescued, who dwell in Samaria, along with the corner of a couch, and the leg of a bed."
- 13 "Hear and testify against the house of Jacob,"
Is the oracle of the Lord GOD, the God of hosts,
14 "That on the day when I punish Israel
for its offenses,
I will inflict punishment upon the altars of Bethel,
And the horns of the altar shall be cut off and fall to the ground.

And I will smite both winter house
and summer house,
And the ivory houses shall be ruined;
And many houses shall come to an end."

The oracle of the LORD.

"Hear this word, you cows of Bashan,
You who are on the mount of Samaria,
Who oppress the weak, who crush the
needy,
Who say to their lords, 'Bring that we may drink.'

"The Lord GOD has sworn by his holiness,
That there are days coming upon you,
When they will drag you away with hooks,
And what is left of you with fish-
hooks;
And through the breaches you will go,
each straight ahead,
And you will be cast upon the refuse
heap."

The oracle of the LORD.

THE SACRILEGE OF SAC- RIFICE, 4:4, 5

"Come to Bethel, and—transgress!
To Gilgal, and multiply your trans-
gressions!
Bring your sacrifices every morning,
And every three days, your tithes!
Burn a thank-offering of leavened
bread,
And proclaim voluntary offerings;
publish them!
For so you love to do, O Israelites."
The oracle of the Lord GOD.

REPEATED CHASTISEMENTS ARE FUTILE, 4:6-11

"And yet, it was I that gave you Cleanness of teeth in all your cities,
And lack of bread in all your places.
But you did not return to me."
The oracle of the LORD.

"Still further, it was I that withheld from you the rain,
While there were yet three months till harvest;
And I sent rain upon one city,
But upon another I sent no rain;
One field was rained upon,

But the field upon which there was no rain dried up,

6 So that two or three towns went begging to one town,
That they might get water to drink,
and were not satisfied.

But you did not return to me."

The oracle of the LORD.

9 "I smote you with blight and mildew;
I laid waste your gardens and your vineyards;

And your fig trees and olive trees the locust devoured.

But you did not return to me."

The oracle of the LORD.

10 "I sent a pestilence among you after the manner of Egypt;

I slew your young men with the sword,

Together with your captured horses;
And I brought up the stench of your camp into your nostrils.

But you did not return to me."

The oracle of the LORD.

11 "I overthrew some of you,
As when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah;

And you were like a brand snatched from the burning.

But you did not return to me."

The oracle of the LORD.

12 "Therefore, thus will I do to you, O Israel.

Because I will do this to you,
Prepare to meet your God, O Israel."

13 For behold, he who formed the mountains and created the wind;

He who tells man what his thought is,
He who makes dawn and darkness,
And treads upon the heights of the earth;

The LORD, the God of hosts, is his name.

ISRAEL'S DESTRUCTION AND ITS CAUSES, 5:1-17

15 "Hear this word that I am taking up concerning you, a dirge, O house of Israel:

"Fallen, never to rise again,
is the virgin Israel;

2 Prostrate on her own soil, with none to raise her up."

For thus says the Lord GOD: "The city that sent forth a thousand shall have but a hundred left; and the one that sent forth a hundred shall have but ten left, for the house of Israel."

For thus says the LORD to the house of Israel:

"Seek me, that you may live;
And seek not Bethel. 5
You shall not go to Gilgal,
Nor cross over to Beersheba.
For Gilgal shall go into galling captivity,
And Bethel shall become a delusion."

Seek the LORD, that you may live; 6
Lest he set the house of Joseph on fire,
And it devour, with no one to quench it for Bethel;

You who turn justice to gall, 7
And cast down righteousness to the earth.

He who made the Pleiades and Orion, 8
Who turns dense darkness to dawn,
And darkens day into night;
Who summons the waters of the sea,
And pours them out upon the face of the earth—

The LORD is his name—

He who causes ruin to burst forth 9 upon the strong,
And brings destruction upon the fortress.

They hate him who reproves in the gate, 10

And loathe him who speaks the truth.
Therefore because you trample upon 11
the weak,

And take from him exactions of grain,
Though you have built houses of hewn stone,

You shall not dwell in them;
Though you have planted pleasant vineyards,

You shall not drink their wine.

For I know that your transgressions 12 are many,

And your sins countless,
You who oppress the innocent, take bribes,

And thrust aside the needy at the gate.
Therefore he who is prudent will be 13 silent at such time;

For it will be an evil time.

- 14 Seek good and not evil that you may live and that it may be so, that the LORD, the God of hosts, is with you, as you have said.
- 15 Hate evil, and love good
And establish justice at the gate;
Perhaps, the LORD, the God of hosts,
Will be gracious to a remnant of Joseph.
- 16 Therefore thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the Lord:
"In all squares shall be lamentation;
And in all the streets, they shall say,
'Woe! Woe!'
- 17 And they shall call the plowman to mourning,
And to lamentation, all who know how to wail.
And in all vineyards there shall be lamentation,
When I pass through the midst of you," says the LORD.

THE TERRORS OF THE DAY OF THE LORD, 5:18-27

- 18 "Woe to you who desire the day of the LORD!
What, then, does the day of the LORD mean to you?
It is darkness, and not light;
- 19 As though a man were fleeing from a lion,
And a bear should meet him!
Or as if he entered his house and rested his hand upon the wall,
And a serpent bit him!
- 20 Is not the day of the LORD darkness and not light,
And blackness, with no brightness in it?
- 21 "I hate, I spurn your feasts,
And I take no pleasure in your festal gatherings.
- 22 Even though you offer me burnt-offerings,
And your cereal-offerings, I will not accept them;
And the thank-offerings of your fatted beasts I will not look upon.
- 23 "Take away from me the noise of your songs,
And to the melody of your lyres I will not listen.
- 24 But let justice roll down like waters,

And righteousness like a perennial stream.
Was it sacrifices and offerings that you brought me
In the wilderness for forty years, O house of Israel?
But you have carried around Sakkuth, <sup>2</sup> your king,
And Kaiwan, the star of your god,
Your images which you have made for yourselves.
So I will carry you into exile beyond <sup>1</sup> Damascus,"
Says the LORD, whose name is the God of hosts.

DESTRUCTION TO SAMARIA, 6:1-14

"Woe to them who are at ease in Zion,
And self-confident on the mount of Samaria;
Distinguished as the chief of the nations,
To whom the house of Israel resorts.
Pass over to Calneh and see;
And go thence to Hamath, the great;
And go down to Gath of the Philistines!
Are they any better than these kingdoms?
Or is their territory greater than yours,
O, you who put off the evil day,
And bring near the seat of violence?"

"They who lie upon ivory couches,
And stretch themselves out upon divans;
And eat lambs from the flock,
And calves from the midst of the stall:
They who sing to the accompaniment of the lyre,
And compose songs for themselves like David;
They who drink chalices of wine,
And anoint themselves with the finest oils;
But they are not heart-sick over the ruin of Joseph.
Therefore they shall be the first of the exiles to go into exile,
And the shout of the revelers shall pass away,"
Is the oracle of the LORD, the God of hosts.

The Lord GOD has sworn by himself:

6 "I abhor the pride of Jacob,
And his palaces I hate;
So I will deliver up the city and everything in it."

9 And it shall be that if there be left ten men in one house, and they die, one being left over; then his uncle, who is to burn a sacrifice for him, will take him up, to bring forth the bones from the house, and will say to whoever may be in the rear of the house, "Is there still anyone with you?" and he will say,
"No one"; and he will say, "Silence," for one must not invoke the name of the
LORD.

1 For behold, the LORD is about to command
That the great house be smitten into ruins,
And the small house into fragments.
2 Can horses run upon rocks?
Or can one plow the sea with oxen,
That you should turn justice into poison,
And the fruit of righteousness into wormwood?
3 You who delight in that which is not,
Who say, "Have we not, by our own
strength,
Acquired power for ourselves?"
4 "For lo, I am raising up against you, O
house of Israel,"
Is the oracle of the LORD, God of hosts, "a nation;
And they shall crush you from the entrance of Hamath Unto the brook of the Arabah."

THREE VISIONS OF DESTRUCTION, 7:1-9

Thus the Lord GOD showed me; and lo, he was forming locusts, at the beginning of the coming up of the aftermath (now it was the aftermath after the king's mowings); and when they had finished eating the grass of the earth, I said,

"O Lord GOD, forgive, I pray;
How can Jacob stand?
For he is so small."

The LORD relented of this.
"It shall not be," said the LORD.

Thus the Lord GOD showed me; and lo, the Lord GOD was summoning to a trial by fire; and it had devoured the great deep, and was about to devour the plow-land.

Then I said, 5
"O Lord GOD, cease, I pray;
How can Jacob stand?
For he is so small."

The LORD relented of this. 6
"Neither shall it be," said the Lord
GOD.

Thus he showed me; and lo, the Lord 7 was standing upon a wall, with a plumb-line in his hand. Then the 8
LORD said to me,

"What do you see, Amos?"
And I said,
"A plumb-line."
Then the LORD said,
"Behold I am setting a plumb-line,
In the midst of my people Israel;
I will never again pass them by.
The high places of Isaac shall be laid 9
waste;
And the sanctuaries of Israel shall be ruined;
And I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the sword."

PRIEST AGAINST PROPHET, 7:10-17

Then Amaziah, the priest of Bethel, 10 sent to Jeroboam, king of Israel, say-
ing,

"Amos has conspired against you in the midst of the house of Israel. The land is unable to endure all his words.
For thus says Amos: 11

"By the sword shall Jeroboam die,
And Israel shall surely be carried into exile away from its soil."

Then Amaziah said to Amos, 12
"O seer, go away, off with you to the land of Judah,
And there earn your living, by prophe-sying there;

But never again prophesy at Bethel, 13
For this is the king's sanctuary, and the royal palace."

Then Amos replied to Amaziah, say- 14
ing,

"I am no prophet, nor am I a member of a prophetic order;
But I am a shepherd and a dresser of sycamores.
And the LORD took me from behind 15
the flock,

- And the LORD said to me,
 'Go, prophesy to my people Israel.'
 16 And now hear the word of the LORD.
 You are saying, 'You shall not prophesy against Israel,
 Nor drop a word against the house of Isaac.'
 17 Therefore thus says the LORD:
 'Your wife shall practice harlotry in
 the city,
 Your sons and your daughters shall fall by the sword,
 Your land shall be parceled out by measure,
 And you yourself shall die upon unclean soil,
 And Israel shall surely be carried into exile away from its soil.' "

SOCIAL WRONGS SPELL NA-TIONAL RUIN, 8:1-14

- 8 Thus the Lord GOD showed me;
 And lo, a basket of summer fruit!
 2 And he said, "What do you see, Amos?"
 And I said, "A basket of summer
 fruit."
 Then the LORD said to me,
 "The end has come to my people Israel;
 I will never again pass them by."
 3 The songs of the palace shall become dirges on that day."
 Is the oracle of the Lord GOD;
 "Many shall be the carcasses; in every place they shall be cast out." 4 Hear this, you who trample upon the
 needy,
 And would bring the poor of the land
 to an end,
 5 Saying, "When will the new moon pass
 That we may sell grain,
 And the Sabbath that we may offer wheat for sale,"
 Making the ephah small and the price
 great,
 And falsifying the scales;
 6 Buying the poor for silver,
 And the needy in exchange for a pair
 of sandals,
 And selling the refuse of the grain.
 7 The LORD has sworn by the pride of Jacob,
 "I will never forget all their deeds!"

Shall not the land tremble because of this,
 And all who dwell therein mourn;
 And all of it rise up like the Nile,
 And be shaken and sink like the Nile of Egypt?

"And it shall come to pass on that day,"
 Is the oracle of the Lord GOD,
 "That I will cause the sun to set at noon,
 And I will darken the earth in broad daylight;
 And I will turn your festivals into
 mourning,
 And all your songs into dirges;
 And I will put sackcloth upon all loins,
 And baldness on every head;
 And I will make it like the mourning for an only son,
 And the end of it like a bitter day."

"Behold days are coming."
 Is the oracle of the Lord GOD,
 "When I will send famine upon the
 land;
 Not a famine of bread,
 Nor a thirst for water,
 But for hearing the words of the
 LORD.
 And they shall wander from sea to sea,
 And run from north to east,
 To seek the word of the LORD;
 But shall not find it."

"On that day they shall faint,
 The fair maidens and the young men,
 for thirst;
 They who swear by Ashimah of Samaria,
 And say, 'As your god lives, O Dan,'
 And 'As your God lives, O Beersheba';
 They shall fall, never to rise again."

A VISION OF TOTAL DESTRU-CTION, 9:1-8

I saw the Lord, standing upon the altar,
 And he said, "Smite the capitals, so that the thresholds may shake,
 And smash them on the heads of them
 all;
 And what may be left of them I will slay with the sword;

Not a single one of them shall get away,
Nor shall a single one escape.

- 2 "Though they dig into Sheol,
Thence shall my hand take them;
And though they mount up to the heavens,
Thence will I bring them down;
3 Though they hide themselves on the top of Carmel,
Thence will I search them out and take them;
Though they hide themselves from my eyes on the floor of the sea,
There will I command the serpent, that it bite them;
4 Though they go into captivity before their foes,
There will I command the sword, that it slay them;
And I will set my eye upon them
For evil, and not for good."
5 For the Lord GOD of hosts
Is he who touches the earth and it melts,
And all who live therein mourn;
And it rises like the Nile,
And sinks like the Nile of Egypt;
6 The one who builds his chambers in the heavens,
And founds his vault upon the earth,
Who summons the waters of the sea,
And pours them out upon the surface of the earth;
The LORD is his name.
7 "Are you not like the Ethiopians to me, O Israelites?" is the oracle of the LORD.
"Did I not bring up Israel from the land of Egypt,
Also the Philistines from Caphtor, and the Syrians from Kir?
8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord GOD are upon the sinful kingdom;
And I will destroy it from off the face of the ground,
Except that I will not wholly destroy the house of Jacob."
The oracle of the LORD.

ULTIMATE RESTORATION,
9:9-15

- "For, behold, I am about to give command, 9
And I will shake the house of Israel among all the nations,
Just as one shakes the sieve,
But not a kernel shall fall to the ground.
By the sword all the sinners of my people shall die, 10
Those who say, 'Disaster shall not reach or overtake us.'
"On that day I will raise up the fallen 11 hut of David,
And I will wall up its ruins,
And raise up its breaches,
And rebuild it as in the days of old;
In order that they may possess the 12
remnant of Edom and all the nations, Over whom my name is called."
The oracle of the LORD,
who does this.
"Behold the days are coming," is the 13
oracle of the LORD,
"When the plowman shall overtake the reaper,
And the treader of grapes him who sows the seed;
And the mountains shall drip new wine,
And all the hills shall melt;
And I will restore the fortune of my 14
people Israel,
So that they shall rebuild the ruined cities,
And dwell in them and plant vineyards,
And drink their wine,
And make gardens, and eat their fruit;
And I will plant them upon their own 15
soil,
And they shall never again be rooted up
From off their soil which I have given them."
Says the LORD, your God.

THE BOOK OF OBADIAH

DIRE VENGEANCE UPON EDOM

1 The Vision of Obadiah

THUS says the Lord GOD regarding Edom:

"We have heard a message
from the LORD,

And a messenger has been sent forth
among the nations:

'Arise! Let us rise up against her for battle.'

2 Behold, I have set you as the least
among the nations,

Contemptible are you among men.

3 The pride of your heart has deceived
you,

You who dwell in the clefts of the cliff,
And set your dwelling on high,

And say to yourself,

'Who can bring me down to the earth?'

4 Though you build your nest high like
the eagle,

And set your nest even among the stars,

From there I will bring you down," is
the oracle of the LORD.

5 "If robbers came to you,
Or burglars by night—how you are ruined!

Would they not steal only what they could handle?

If grape gatherers came to you,
Would they not leave some gleanings?

6 How Esau is ransacked,
And his treasures plundered!

7 They have driven you to the very border;

All those who were in league with you have betrayed you.

The men who were at peace with you have overpowered you;

Your associates have put a foreign people in your place."

[There is no meaning in it.]

8 "On that day," is the oracle of the
LORD,

"I will surely destroy the wise men from Edom,

And intelligence from Mount Esau.
And your warriors shall be appalled, O
Teman,

So that every fighting man shall be cut off from Mount Esau.

For the violence done to your brother 1
Jacob,

Shame shall cover you and you shall be cut off forever.

On the day when you stood by, 11
While aliens carried off his goods,

And foreigners entered his gates,
And cast lots upon Jerusalem,
You, too, were as one of them."

"You should not have gloated over 1 your brother,
on the day of his adversity.

You should not have rejoiced over the Judeans,

on the day of their ruin.

You should not have made a wide
mouth,

on the day of trouble.

You should not have entered the gate 11
of my people,

on the day of their calamity.

You should not have gloated over his misfortune,

on the day of his calamity.

You should not have put forth your hand upon his goods,

on the day of his calamity.

Nor should you have stood at the 11 breach,

to cut off his fugitives,

Nor have delivered up his refugees,
on the day of his trouble.

"For the day of the LORD is near, 11
Upon all the nations.

As you have done, it shall be done to
you;

Your deed shall return upon your own
head.

For just as you have drunk upon my 11
holy mountain,

So all the nations shall drink wine;

They shall drink and gulp down,
And become as though they had not existed.

17 "But in Mount Zion there shall be a group of fugitives,
And it shall be holy;
And the house of Jacob shall possess their own possessions.
18 And the house of Jacob shall be a fire,
And the house of Joseph a flame;
And the house of Esau shall be stub-
ble,
And they shall lick them up and de-
vour them;
And there shall be no survivor to the house of Esau."
For the LORD has spoken.

They shall possess the Negeb (the 19 hills of Esau) and the Shephelah (the Philistines); and they shall possess the fields of Ephraim (the fields of Samaria and Benjamin) and Gilead; and the ex- 20 iles from Halah and Habor shall possess the land of the Canaanites as far as Zarephath; and the exiles of Jerusalem, who are in Sepharad, shall possess the cities of the Negeb; and conquerors shall go up into Mount Zion to rule over the hill country of Esau. For the LORD shall have dominion.

THE BOOK OF JONAH

THE GREAT REFUSAL, 1:1-16

1 THE word of the LORD came to Jonah, the son of Amittai, as follows:

2 "Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and preach against it; for their wickedness has come up before me."

3 But Jonah arose to flee to Tarshish, from the presence of the LORD. So he went down to Joppa, where he found a ship, bound for Tarshish. He paid his fare, and went aboard, to go with them to Tarshish, from the presence of the LORD.

4 But the LORD hurled a great wind upon the sea, so that there was a great storm on the sea; and it was thought 5 that the ship would be broken up. Then the sailors were frightened, and they cried each to his god; and they threw overboard the stuff that was in the ship, in order to lighten it.

6 But Jonah had gone down into the hold of the ship, and was lying fast asleep. So the captain approached him, and said to him,

"Why are you sleeping? Get up; call upon your god. Perhaps that god will bethink himself of us, that we perish not."

7 Then they said, one to another, "Come, let us cast lots, that we may know upon whose account this disaster has befallen us."

8 So they cast lots; and the lot fell upon Jonah. Then they said to him,

"Tell us, now, for what reason this disaster has befallen us. What is your business? Whence do you come? What is your country? And from what people are you?"

9 So he said to them,

"I am a Hebrew; and I stand in awe of the LORD, the God of the heavens, who made both the sea and the dry land."

10 Then the men were exceedingly terrified, and said to him,

"What a wicked thing you have done!"

For the men knew that he was fleeing from the presence of the LORD, because he had told them. Whereupon they said to him,

"What shall we do with you, that the sea may become calm for us?"

For the sea was running higher and higher. Then he said to them,

"Pick me up, and cast me into the sea, so that the sea may be calm for you; for I know that this great storm is upon you because of me."

But the men rowed hard to bring the ship back to the dry land, yet could not; for the sea was running higher and higher against them. So they cried unto the LORD, saying,

"O LORD, we beseech thee, let us not perish for this man's life; and lay not up against us innocent blood; for thou, O LORD, dost do as thou pleasest."

Then they picked up Jonah and threw him overboard; and the sea ceased from its raging.

Thereupon the men feared the LORD profoundly; and they sacrificed to the LORD and made vows.

JONAH'S REPENTANCE,

1:17-2:10

Now, the LORD had assigned a great fish to swallow up Jonah; and Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights. Then Jonah prayed to the LORD, his God, from the belly of the fish, saying,

"Out of my trouble I called unto the LORD, and he answered me;

From the heart of Sheol I called for help; thou didst hear my voice.

For thou hadst cast me into the depths, into the heart of the sea, And a flood encompassed me.

All thy breakers and thy waves passed over me.

Then I said, 'I am cast out of thy sight;

How shall I ever again look upon thy holy temple?'

The waters closed in over my life; the deep surrounded me:

- Sea-weed was wound around my head.
 6 To the roots of the hills I went down;
 The earth with its bars was against me
 forever.
 But thou didst bring up my life from the Pit, O LORD, my God!
 7 When I was losing consciousness, I remembered the LORD;
 And my prayer unto thee entered thy holy temple.
 8 Those who heed false vanities forsake their piety, 9 But I will sacrifice to thee with the voice of thanksgiving;
 What I have vowed, I will pay.
 Deliverance belongs to the LORD."
 10 Then the LORD commanded the fish, and it vomited Jonah forth upon the dry land.

JONAH'S MISSION AND ITS RESULT, 3:1-10

- 8 Then the word of the LORD came to Jonah a second time, as follows:
 2 "Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and proclaim unto it the proclamation which I am about to tell you."
 3 So Jonah arose, and went to Ninevah, as the LORD had said. Now Ninevah was an exceedingly great city,
 the walk through it requiring three days.
 4 Now Jonah had gone a day's journey into the city, when he made proclamation, saying,
 "Forty days more, and Nineveh shall be overthrown."
 5 Whereupon the men of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a fast, and clothed themselves in sackcloth, from the greatest unto the least of them.
 6 When the news reached the king of Nineveh, he rose from his throne, put off his robe, put on sackcloth, and sat 7 upon the ash-heap. He also sent messengers through Nineveh, saying,
 "By decree of the king and his nobles,
 as follows: Let neither man nor beast, cattle nor sheep, taste a thing; let them not feed, and let them not drink water.
 8 But let them put on sackcloth, both man and beast, and let them call aloud unto God; and let each one turn from his wicked way, and from whatsoever 9 violence he has in hand. Who knows but that God will turn and relent, turning from his fierce anger, so that we perish not."

Then God saw their actions, that 10
 they had turned from their wicked way.
 So God relented of the evil which he had said he would do unto them, and he did it not.

JONAH REBUKED, 4:1-11

But Jonah was greatly displeased 4 and very angry. So he prayed to the 2
 LORD, saying,

"O LORD, is not this what I said while I was still upon my own soil?
 Therefore I hastened to flee to Tarshish. For I knew that thou wast a gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and abounding in kindness, and relenting of evil. Now, therefore, O 3 LORD, take my life, I pray thee, from me. For I am better off dead than alive!"

Then the LORD said, 4
 "Are you so very angry?"

Then Jonah went forth from the city, 5 and sat down to the east of the city;
 and he made a booth for himself there, and sat under it in the shade, until he should see what would happen in the city. So the LORD God gave orders to 6 a gourd, and it grew up above Jonah so as to be a shade over his head, to save him from his discomfort; and Jonah was very glad because of the gourd.
 Then God ordered a worm, when the 7 dawn came up on the morrow, to smite the gourd, so that it wilted. And when 8 the sun arose, God ordered a burning east wind; and the sun smote down upon Jonah's head so that he fainted, and asked that he might die, and said,
 "I am better off dead than alive!"

Then God said to Jonah, 9
 "Are you so very angry over the gourd?"

And he replied,
 "I am angry enough to die!"

Then the LORD said, 10

"You have had pity on the gourd, for which you did not toil; nor did you raise it; which grew in a night, and perished in a night! And should not I, 11 indeed, have pity on Nineveh, that great city, in which are more than a hundred and twenty thousand infants, that cannot distinguish between their right hand and their left, and many cattle?"

THE BOOK OF MICAH

THE SUPERScription, 1:1

- 1 THE word of the LORD which came to Micah, the Morashtite, in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he received concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

THE DOWNFALL OF ISRAEL,

1:2-9

- 2 Hear, O peoples, all of you!
Give heed, O earth, and everything in it!
And let the Lord GOD be a witness against you,
The Lord from his holy temple.
- 3 For, lo, the LORD is coming forth from his place,
And he will descend and tread upon the heights of the earth;
- 4 And the mountains shall melt under him,
And the valleys be split asunder,
Like wax before the fire,
Like waters poured down a precipice.
- 5 For the transgression of Jacob is all this,
And for the sin of the house of Judah.
What is Jacob's transgression?
Is it not Samaria?
And what is Judah's sin?
Is it not Jerusalem?
- 6 So I will turn Samaria into a ruin of the field,
Into a planted vineyard.
And I will pour down her stones into the valley,
And lay bare her foundations.
- 7 All her carved images shall be smashed to pieces,
And all her images shall be burned;
And all her idols I will lay waste.
For from the harlot's hire they were gathered,
And unto the harlot's hire they shall return.

For this let me lament and wail,
Let me go barefoot and stripped.
Let me make lamentation like the jackals,
And mourning like the ostriches.

For her stroke is incurable;
For it has come even to Judah;
It reaches the gate of my people,
Even to Jerusalem.

A DIRGE FOR ISRAEL, 1:10-16

Tell it not in Gath!
Weep bitterly in Bethel;
roll yourselves in dust.
They sound the trumpet abroad for you,
O inhabitant of Shaphir.
From her city she comes not forth,
the inhabitant of Zaanan.
Beth-ezel is taken from its foundations,
from the site where it stood.
How can she hope for good,
the inhabitant of Maroth?
For disaster will come down from the LORD,
to the gate of Jerusalem.
Harness the steed to the chariot,
O inhabitant of Lachish—
The beginning of sin was she to the daughter of Zion—
For in you are found the transgressions of Israel.
Therefore you shall give parting gifts to Moresheth Gath.
Beth-achzib has become a snare
to the kings of Israel.
I will again bring the conqueror to you,
O inhabitant of Maresbah.
Unto Adullam shall come
the glory of Israel.
Make yourself bald, tear out your hair, for the children you delight in;
Enlarge your baldness like the eagle's,
for they will go into exile from you.

RICH OPPRESSORS SHALL BE
OPPRESSED, 2:1-11

- 2 Woe to them who devise wrong,
And work out wickedness upon their
beds.
In the morning light they do it,
Because it is in their power.
- 1 They covet fields and seize them,
And houses, and carry them off.
So they crush a yeoman and his house,
A man and his possessions.
- 3 Therefore thus says the LORD:
"Behold, I am planning evil against this family,
Which you will be unable to remove from your necks,
Nor will you be able to walk erect;
For it will be an evil time."
- 4 On that day a taunt-song shall be sung over you,
And a lamentation shall be wailed, as follows:
"The possession of my people is parceled out,
with none to restore it;
To our captors our soil is allotted;
we are utterly ruined."
- 5 Therefore you shall have no one stretching the line,
Or casting the lot, in the assembly of
the LORD.
- 6 "Do not keep on harping," they harp;
"One should not be harping upon such things;
Shame will not overtake us,"
- 7 Says the house of Jacob.
"Is the LORD'S spirit impatient,
Or are such things his deeds?
Do not his words mean good
To his people Israel?"
- 8 But you are my people's foe;
You rise against those who are at peace.
You strip off from those who pass through in confidence Spoils of war.
- 9 The women of my people you expel
From their comfortable homes.
From their children you take away
My glory forever.
- 10 Arise, and go!
For this is not your resting place!
For the sake of a mere trifle,
You take a heavy mortgage.

If a man, walking in a false spirit, 11
should lie,
"I will prophesy to you of wine and strong drink,"
He would be this people's prophet!

A WORD OF PROMISE, 2:12, 13

I will completely assemble Jacob, all 12
of him;
I will fully gather the remnant of Israel.
Moreover, I will make them like a flock of Bozrah,
Like a herd in the midst of the pasture;
And they shall go forth from Edom.
The breaker shall go up before them; 13
They shall break through the gate and go forth thereby;
Their king shall pass on before them,
With the LORD at their head.

THE DOWNFALL OF PROPH-ETS, PRIESTS, AND PRINCES, 3:1-12

Then I said, 3
"Hear now, you heads of Jacob,
And rulers of the house of Israel,
Is it not your place to know justice,
You who hate the good, and love wick- 2
edness,
Snatching their skin from upon them,
And their flesh from upon their bones?"

They eat the flesh of my people, 3
And strip them of their flesh,
And lay bare their bones and break
them,
Like meat in the pot and flesh within the cauldron.

Then shall they cry unto the LORD, 4
And he will not answer them,
But will hide his face from them, at
that time,
Inasmuch as they have done wicked
deeds.

Thus has the LORD said, 5 Regarding the prophets who lead my people astray,
Who preach prosperity when their mouth is filled;

But if one does not put something in
their mouths,
They declare war against him!

- 6 "Therefore, it shall be night for you,
without vision,
And darkness for you, without divination.
For the sun shall set upon the prophets,
And the day shall become dark over them.

- 7 "The seers shall be abashed,
And the diviners shall blush;
And they shall all cover the upper lip,
Because there is no answer from God."

- 8 But I am full of power,
The spirit of the LORD, justice, and strength,
To declare to Jacob his crimes,
And to Israel his sins.

- 9 Hear this, now, you heads of the house of Jacob,
And rulers of the house of Israel,
Who abhor justice,
And distort everything that is right;
10 Who build Zion with blood,
And Jerusalem with guilt.

- 11 Her chiefs pronounce judgment for a bribe,
And her priests declare oracles for hire,
And her prophets divine for cash.
Yet they lean upon the LORD, saying,
"Is not the LORD in the midst of us?
No misfortune can befall us."

- 12 Therefore, because of you,
Zion shall be plowed like a field,
And Jerusalem shall become a ruin,
And the temple hill a high place in a forest.

THE GOLDEN AGE, 4:1-5

- 4 It shall come to pass in days to come,
That the mountain of the LORD'S house will be Established as the highest mountain,
And elevated above the hills.
Peoples will stream unto it,
2 And many nations will come, and say:
"Come, let us go up to the mount of the LORD,
To the house of the God of Jacob;
That he may instruct us in his ways,
And that we may walk in his paths;
For from Zion goes forth instruction,

And the word of the LORD from Jerusalem."

Then shall he judge between many peoples,
And arbitrate for great nations, at a distance;
And they shall beat their swords into plowshares,
And their spears into pruning-hooks.
Nation shall not lift up sword against nation,
Nor shall they learn war any more.

And they shall sit each under his vine,
And under his fig tree, with none to frighten them;
For the mouth of the LORD of hosts has spoken.
For all the peoples walk,
Each in the name of his god;
But we will walk in the name of the LORD,
Our God, forever and ever.

EXILE AND RESTORATION,

4:6-10

"On that day," is the oracle of the LORD,

"I will gather the lame,
And assemble the outcast,
And her whom I have afflicted.
And I will make the lame a remnant;
And the sick, a strong nation,
And the LORD shall rule over them in Mount Zion,
From now on and forever.
And you, O tower of the flock,
Height of the daughter of Zion,
To you shall come the former dominion,
The kingdom of the daughter of Jerusalem.

Why, now, do you cry so loud?
Is there no king among you?
Or has your counselor perished,
That agony has laid hold of you like a woman in travail?
Writhe and bring forth,
O daughter of Zion, like a woman in travail;
For soon you must go forth from the city,
And dwell in the field,
And go to Babylon.
There you shall be rescued;
There the LORD will ransom you,
From the power of your foes."

THE DOWNFALL OF THE NATIONS, 4:11—5:1

- 11 Soon there shall be gathered against
you
Many nations, saying, "Let her be desecrated,
And let our eyes fasten upon Zion."
12 But they know not the purposes of the
LORD,
Nor do they understand his plan,
That he has gathered them like grain to the threshing-floor.
- 13 Arise and thresh, O daughter of Zion;
For I will make your horn iron,
And your hoofs will I make bronze.
You shall crush many peoples,
And devote their spoil to the LORD,
And their wealth to the Lord of all the earth.

- 5 Now you will cut yourselves deeply;
They will lay siege against us;
With the rod they will strike upon the cheek
The ruler of Israel.

THE MESSIANIC KING,
5:2-4

- 2 And you, O Bethlehem Ephrathah, Too little to be among the clans of Judah,
From you, one shall come forth for
me,
Who shall be ruler over Israei,
Whose origins are from of old,
From ancient days.
- 3 Therefore he will give them up Until the time when she who is with child shall have borne;
And the rest of his brothers shall return to the Israelites.
- 4 But he shall stand fast and feed his flock in the strength of the LORD,
In the majesty of the name of the LORD, his God.
And they shall endure;
For then shall he be great unto the ends of the earth.

ISRAEL'S PROTECTORS
AGAINST INVASION, 5:5-6

- 5 And this shall be our protection from Assyria:
When he comes into our land,
And treads upon our soil,

Then we will raise up against him seven shepherds
And eight princes of men;
And they shall shepherd the land of 6
Assyria with the sword,
And the land of Nimrod with the drawn sword;
And they shall rescue us from Assyria,
When he comes into our land,
And treads upon our border.

THE DIVINE ORIGIN AND IR-RESISTIBLE POWER OF THE REMNANT, 5:7-9

The remnant of Jacob shall be 7
In the midst of many peoples,
Like the dew from the LORD,
Like the showers upon the grass,
Which waits not for man,
Nor tarries for the sons of men.

And the remnant of Jacob shall be 8
among the nations,
In the midst of many peoples,
Like the lion among the beasts of the forest,
Like the young lion among the flocks of sheep,
Who, if he passes through,
Tramples and tears, with none to deliver.

Your hand shall be high above your 9
foes,
And all your enemies shall be cut off.

PUNITIVE PURIFICATION,
5:10-15

"It shall come to pass on that day," 10
Is the oracle of the LORD,
"That I will cut off your horses from the midst of you,
And destroy your chariots.
And I will cut off the cities of your 11
land,
And lay waste all your fortresses.
I will cut off the sorceries from your 12
hand,
And you shall have no soothsayers.
And I will cut off your images 13
And your sacred pillars from the midst of you;
And you shall bow down no more
To the work of your hands.
And I will uproot your sacred poles 14
from the midst of you,
And destroy your cities.

- 15 And I will wreak vengeance in anger and wrath, Upon the nations that have not hearkened."

THE CASE OF THE LORD
AGAINST ISRAEL, 6:1-5

- 6 Hear, now, what the LORD says,
"Arise, present your case before the mountains,
And let the hills hear your voice!
2 Hear, O mountains, the argument of the LORD,
And give ear, O foundations of the earth.
For the LORD has an argument with his people,
And a controversy with Israel.
- 3 "My people, what have I done to you?
And how have I wearied you? Answer me!
4 For I brought you up from the land of Egypt,
And delivered you from the prison house;
And I sent before you Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.
- 5 "My people, remember, now, what Balak, king of Moab, planned;
And what Balaam, son of Beor, answered him,
From Shittim to Gilgal;
That you may understand the righteous deeds of the LORD."

TRUE RELIGION, 6:6-8

- 6 With what shall I come before the LORD,
And bow myself before God most high?
Shall I come before him with burnt-offerings,
With calves a year old?
7 Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams,
With myriads of streams of oil?
Shall I give my first-born for my transgression,
The fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?
8 You have been told, O man, what is good,
And what the LORD requires of you:
Only to do justice, and to love kindness,
And to walk humbly with your God?

THE CITY'S SIN AND ITS PUNISHMENT, 6:9-16

Hark! the LORD calls to the city—
And "success" is fearing thy name!—
"Hear, O tribe, and assembly of the city, Whose rich men are full of violence; 11
Whose inhabitants speak falsehood, 11
And whose tongue is deceit in their mouths.

"Can I forget the wicked treasures in the house of the wicked,
And the short measure that is accused?
Can I treat as pure him with the wicked scales,
And with the bag of false weights?

"So I will begin to smite you, 11
To lay you in ruins because of your sins.
You shall eat, but not be satisfied. 11
You shall conceive, but not bear;
And what you may bear, I will give to the sword.
You shall sow, but not reap; 11
You shall trample the olives, but not anoint yourselves with oil;
And tread out the grapes, but drink no wine.

"For you have kept the decrees of 11
Omri,
And all the doings of the house of Ahab;
And you have walked by their counsels,
So that I may give you over to ruin,
And your inhabitants to scorn;
The mockery of the peoples you shall bear."

THE MORAL COLLAPSE OF
ISRAEL, 7:1-6

Woe is me! For I am become 11
Like those that gather summer fruit,
In the gleanings of the vintage,
When there is not a cluster to eat,
Nor an early fig that my appetite craves.

The godly has perished from the land,
And there is none righteous among men.
They all lie in wait for blood;
Each hunts his brother with a net.

- 3 They solemnly swear that bad is good;
The prince and the judge demand a bribe;
And the great man expresses his desire;
And so they pervert justice.
- 4 The best of them are like a brier;
The most upright of them are like a hedge.
The day of their watchmen, their punishment, is come;
Soon shall be their havoc.
- 5 Put no confidence in a friend;
Trust not an intimate.
From her who lies in your bosom
Guard the doors of your mouth.
- 6 For the son insults his father;
The daughter rises up against her
mother,
The daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law;
A man's foes are the members of his own household.

THE OVERTHROW OF ISRAEL'S ENEMIES, 7:7-10

- 7 But I shall wait confidently for the
LORD;
I shall hope for the God of my de-
liverance;
My God will hear me.
- 8 Rejoice not, O my foe, over me!
Though I have fallen, I shall arise.
Though I sit in darkness,
The LORD will be my light.
- 9 The anger of the LORD I must bear—
For I have sinned against him—
Until he shall take up my case,
And do me justice.
- He will bring me forth to the light;
I shall see his vindication.
- 10 My foe shall see,
And shame shall cover her.
- She that said unto me,
"Where is the LORD, your God?"
My eyes will gaze upon her;
Soon shall she be trampled upon,
Like the mud of the streets.

JERUSALEM RESTORED,
7:11-13

There shall be a day for rebuilding 11
your walls;
On that day the frontier shall be far distant.
A day there shall be when unto you 12
they will come
From Assyria even unto Egypt,
From Egypt even to the River;
From sea to sea,
And from mountain to mountain.
But the earth shall become a waste, 13
Because of its inhabitants,
On account of the fruit of their deeds.

A PRAYER FOR THE HELP
OF THE LORD, 7:14-20

Shepherd thy people with thy staff, 14
the flock of thine inheritance, That dwells alone, a jungle
in the midst of a garden.
May they feed in Bashan and in Gilead,
as in the days of old.
As in the days when thou didst come 15 forth from the land of Egypt, show us wonderful things.
May the nations see, and be ashamed 16
of all their power.
May they lay their hand upon their mouths,
and may their ears be deaf.
May they lick the dust like the ser- 17
pent,
like crawling things of the
earth.
May they come trembling from their dens unto the LORD, our God; may they quake and fear because of thee.

Who is god like thee, 18
forgiving iniquity,
and passing over transgression?
Against the remnant of his heritage,
he will not hold his anger forever,
for he delights in kindness.
He will again show us mercy, 19
he will tread down our iniqui-
ties.
Thou wilt cast into the depths of the sea all their sins.
Thou wilt show faithfulness to Jacob, 20
kindness toward Abraham,
As thou hast sworn to our fathers, from days of old.

THE BOOK OF NAHUM

THE SUPERScription, 1:1

- 1 An oracle on Nineveh: the book of the vision of Nahum, the Elkoshite.

THE AVENGING WRATH OF THE LORD, 1:2-10

- 2 A jealous and avenging God is the LORD;
The LORD is avenging and full of wrath.
The LORD takes vengeance upon his enemies,
And lays up wrath for his foes.
- 3 The LORD is slow to anger and great in power,
But the LORD will by no means leave guilt unpunished.
In storm and tempest is his way,
And clouds are the dust of his feet.
- 4 He rebukes the sea, and dries it up,
And all the rivers he makes dry.
Bashan and Carmel wither,
And the bud of Lebanon languishes.
- 5 The mountains quake at him,
And the hills melt.
The earth is laid waste before him,
The world with all its inhabitants.
- 6 Who can stand before his wrath?
Who can endure his fierce anger?
His fury is poured out like fire,
And the rocks are burst open by him.
- 7 The LORD is good to those that wait for him,
A stronghold on the day of trouble;
He knows those that take refuge in him.
- 8 But with an overflowing flood
He will make an end of his adversaries;
And his foes he will pursue into the darkness.
- 9 What are you planning against the LORD?
He is about to execute complete destruction;
He will not take vengeance twice upon his enemies.
- 10 They are thorns cut down and dried out;
They will be consumed like dry stubble.

THREATS AND PROMISES,

1:11-2:2

Did not one go forth from you plotting evil against the LORD, Counseling rascality?
Thus says the LORD:
"When many days are completed,
They shall be cut off and shall pass away.
I have afflicted you, but I will never again afflict you.
And now I will break his rod from upon you,
And burst asunder your bonds."
For the LORD has given command regarding you,
"There shall be sown of your name no longer.
From the house of your gods I will cut off the carved and the molten images.
I will make your grave a disgrace."

Behold, upon the mountains, the feet of a herald,
one proclaiming prosperity!
Celebrate your feasts, O Judah, fulfil your vows.
For never again will ruin pass through you;
he will be wholly cut off.
For the LORD will restore the vine of Jacob,
likewise, the vine of Israel;
Though devastators have devastated them,
and laid waste their branches.

THE SACK OF NINEVEH,

2:1, 3-13

The shatterer has come up against you;
Keep the rampart;
Watch the road; brace your loins;
Strengthen your forces to the utmost.

The shield of his warriors is reddened;
The mighty men are clothed in scarlet,
Like the flame of torches.

- They will make ready the chariot on that day,
And the chargers will prance.
- 4 The chariots will rage in the streets,
Dashing to and fro in the open spaces.
Their appearance will be like that of torches,
Darting about like lightning.
- 5 He summons his nobles; they stumble as they go.
They hasten to the wall,
And the battering ram is set up.
- 6 The gates of the rivers are opened,
And the palace melts away.
- 7 Its mistress is brought forth; she goes into captivity,
While her maidens mourn,
Moaning like the sound of doves,
Beating upon their breasts.
- 8 And Nineveh is like a pool of water,
Whose water escapes.
"Halt, halt!" they cry,
But no one turns back.
- 9 "Plunder silver, plunder gold;
For there is no end to the stores,
An abundance of all sorts of valuable articles."
- 10 There is emptiness, desolation, and waste,
And a melting heart and trembling knees;
And anguish is in all loins,
And the faces of all of them become livid.
- 11 Where is the den of the lions,
And the cave of the young lions,
Whither the lion went, bringing in prey,
The lion's cub, with none to disturb?
- 12 Where the lion tore enough prey for his cubs,
And rended for his lionesses,
Filling his den with prey,
And his lair with booty?
- 13 "Behold, I am against you,"
Is the oracle of the LORD of hosts;
"And I will burn up your chariots with smoke,
And the sword shall devour your young lions;
And I will cut off your prey from the land,
And the voice of your messengers shall be heard no more."

THE IMMINENT AND INEVITABLE END, 3:1-19

- Woe to the city, bloody throughout, 3
Full of lies and booty!
Prey ceases not.
The crack of the whip, and the noise 2
of the rumbling wheel,
And the galloping horse, and the jolting chariot;
The charging horseman, and the 3
flashing sword,
And the glittering spear, and a multitude of slain,
And a mass of bodies, and no end to the corpses!
They stumble over the corpses!
Because of the many harlotries of a 4
harlot
Of goody favor and a mistress of spells,
Who sells nations by her harlotries,
And clans by her spells.
- "Behold, I am against you," 5
Is the oracle of the LORD of hosts,
"And I will strip off your skirts to your face,
And I will show nations your nakedness,
And kingdoms your shame.
And I will throw vile things at you, 6
And treat you with contempt, and make you a horror;
So that everyone that sees you will 7
flee from you,
Saying, 'Nineveh is destroyed;
Who will mourn for her?
Whence can I seek comforters for her?'
- "Are you any better than Thebes, 8
That sat by the great Nile,
With water all around her,
Whose rampart was the sea,
Whose wall was water?
Ethiopia was her strength, and Egypt, 9
And there was no end to it;
Put and the Libyans were her help;
Yet even she became an exile; 10
She went into captivity;
Even her children were dashed in pieces
At the head of every street;
And upon her honored ones they cast lots,
And all her great men were bound in chains.

THE BOOK OF HABAKKUK

THE SUPERScription 1:1

- 1 The oracle which Habakkuk, the prophet, received.

THE PROPHET'S PROBLEM AND ITS ANSWER, 1:2—2:20

- 2 How long, O LORD, must I cry for help, and thou not hear?
Call out to thee, "Violence," and thou not save?
- 3 Why dost thou show me wrongdoing,
and make me look upon trouble?
Destruction and violence are before me,
and there is strife,
and opposition arises.
- 4 Therefore the law is paralyzed,
And judgment never goes forth.
But the wicked circumvent the innocent;
Therefore judgment goes forth perverted.
- 5 "Look out upon the nations and see,
And be utterly amazed!
For a deed is being done in your days
That you would not believe, were it told you.
- 6 For behold, I am raising up the Chaldeans,
That savage and impetuous nation,
That marches through the breadth of the earth,
To seize habitations that are not his own.
- 7 "Terrible and dreadful is he;
Judgment and destruction go forth from him.
- 8 Swifter than leopards are his horses,
And keener than wolves of the desert.
His horses prance,
And his horsemen come from afar;
They swoop down like a vulture hastening to devour.
- 9 "Wholly for violence does he come;
Terror marches before him;

And he gathers up captives like sand.
He makes scorn of kings, 10
And rulers are a joke to him!
He laughs at all fortresses,
And heaps up dirt and captures them.
Then he changes like the wind and 11 passes on,
And he makcs strength his god."

Art not thou from of old, 12
O LORD, my holy God?
Thou diest not!
O LORD, thou hast made him for judgment!
And thou, O Rock, hast established him for chastisement!
Too pure of eyes art thou to look 13
upon wickedness,
And thou canst not gaze upon wrongdoing.
Why then dost thou gaze upon faithless men,
And keep silent when the wicked swallows up
Him that is more righteous than himself?
For thou makest men like fish of the 14
sea,
Like reptiles, with no ruler.

He brings them all up with the hock; 15
He drags them away with his net,
And he gathers them up in his seine.
So he rejoices and exults;
So he sacrifices to his net, 16
And makes offerings to his seine;
For through them his portion is fat,
And his food is abundant.
Shall he keep on emptying his net forever,
And never cease slaying the nations?

I will take my stand upon my watch- 2
tower,
And station myself upon the rampart;
And watch to see what he will say to me,
And what answer he will make to my complaint.
Then the LORD answered me, saying, 2
"Write the vision clearly upon the tablets,

- That one may read it on the run.
- 3 For the vision is a witness for the appointed time,
And speaks of the end, and does not lie.
If it tarry, wait for it;
For it will surely come without delay.
- 4 "Verily, the wicked man—I take no pleasure in him;
But the righteous lives by reason of his faithfulness.
- 5 How much less shall the faithless man live,
And the arrogant man who is restless,
Who enlarges his appetite like Sheol,
And is as insatiable as death;
For he gathers to himself all nations,
And assembles to himself all peoples.
- 6 "Shall not all these take up a taunt-song against him,
And a sharp satire against him, saying,
'Woe to him who enriches himself with what is not his own—
How long?—and loads himself with debts!'
- 7 Will not your creditors rise up suddenly,
And those awake who will make you quake?
And you will become spoil for them.
- 8 Because you have despoiled many nations,
All the rest of the peoples shall despoil you;
Because of human bloodshed, and the violence done to the land,
The city and all that dwelt therein."
- 9 Woe to him who acquires unjust gain for his household, Setting his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of disaster.
- 10 You have devised disgrace for your household,
By cutting off many peoples, thus forfeiting your life.
- 11 For the stone from the wall cries out,
And the beam from the woodwork answers it.
- 12 Woe to him who builds a city by bloodshed,
And establishes a town by wrong!
- 13 Are not these things from the LORD of hosts,

That peoples exhaust themselves for the fire,
And nations wear themselves out for nought?
But the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD,
As the waters cover the sea.

Woe to him who makes his friend : drink

From the cup and the wineskin, till he makes him drunk,
So as to gaze upon his shame!
You shall be sated with shame rather than honor;

Drink yourself and be disgraced!
The cup of the right hand of the LORD shall come round to you,
And disgrace upon your glory.

For the violence done to Lebanon I shall cover you,
And the destruction wrought upon Harnath shall terrify you;
Because of human bloodshed, and the violence done to the land,
The city and all that dwelt therein.

Of what use is an idol when its designer has designed it,
Or a molten image, and a teacher of lies?

For he who designed his own image trusts in it,
So that he makes dumb nonentities!

Woe to him who says to wood, "Wake up,"

To a dumb stone, "Arise."
Can it give oracles?
Lo, it is encased with gold and silver;
And there is no breath within it!
But the LORD is in his holy temple;
Be silent before him, all the earth!

A PSALM, 3:1-19

[A prayer of Habakkuk, the prophet: upon Shigyonoth]

O LORD, I have heard the report of thee;

I have seen thy work, O LORD.
In the midst of the years, declare it!
In the midst of the years, make it known!

In wrath, remember to be merciful!

God went forth from Teman,
And the Holy One from Mount Paran.
Selah

His glory covered the heavens,
And his praise filled the earth.

4 A brilliance like light was under him;
Rays of light were at his side;
And he made them the veil of his majesty.

5 Before him went the pestilence,
And the plague ran at his heels.

6 He stood firm, and shook the earth;
He looked, and made the nations quake.

And the everlasting mountains were shattered,

And the ancient hills bowed low.
Such were his ways of old.

7 The tent-hangings of Cushan were torn to shreds;

The hangings of the land of Midian fluttered wildly.

8 Did thine anger burn against the rivers, O LORD,

Or against the mountains,
Or thy rage against the sea,
When thou didst ride upon thy steeds,
Upon thy victorious chariots?

9 Thou didst wholly uncover thy bow;
Thou didst fill thy quiver full of arrows. Selah

Thou didst split the earth with rivers;

10 The mountains saw thee; they writhed
with pain.

The clouds poured down water;
The abyss uttered its voice.

The sun forgot his appointments,

11 The moon stood still in its habitation,
At the light of thine arrows as they flew,

At the glittering flash of thy spear.

Thou didst bestride the earth in fury; 12
Thou didst trample the nations in anger.

Thou didst go forth to deliver thy peo- 13
ple,
To deliver thine anointed.

Thou didst smite the head from the house of the wicked,

Laying bare the foundation even to the rock. Selah

Thou didst pierce his head with thine 14 arrows;

His chargers were routed.

[The violent set nets so as to devour the lowly in secret.]

Thou didst tread the sea with thy 15 horses,

The turmoil of great waters.

I have heard and my body trembles; 16
My lips quiver at the sound.

Decay enters my bones,

And my steps totter beneath me.

I will wait for the day of trouble
To come upon the people that op-presses us.

Though the fig tree do not flourish, 17

And there be no fruit on the vines;

Though the product of the olive fail,
And the fields yield no food;

Though the flock be cut off from the fold,

And there be no cattle in the stalls;

Yet will I exult in the LORD; 18

I will rejoice in my victorious God!

GOD, the Lord, is my strength; 19

And he makes my feet like the feet of hinds,

And makes me walk upon my heights.

[For the director. On my stringed instruments]

THE BOOK OF ZEPHANIAH

THE SUPERScription, 1:1

- 1 THE word of the LORD which came to Zephaniah, the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hezekiah, in the days of Josiah, the son of Amon, king of Judah.

A DAY OF DOOM UPON THE WORLD, 1:2-6

- 2 "I will utterly sweep away everything From upon the face of the ground," is
the oracle of the LORD.
- 3 "I will sweep away man and beast;
I will sweep away the birds of the air,
and the fish of the sea.
And I will cause the wicked to stumble,
And I will cut off mankind from off
the face of the ground,"
Is the oracle of the LORD;
- 4 "And I will stretch out my hand against Judah,
And against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
And from this place I will cut off the Baal to the last remnant;
The name of the priestlings, along with the priests;
- 5 And those who prostrate themselves
upon the roofs
To the host of the heavens;
And those who prostrate themselves
before the LORD
And swear by Milcom;
- 6 And those who have withdrawn from following the LORD,
And those who have not sought the
LORD,
Nor inquired after him."

THE TERRORS OF THE DAY OF THE LORD, 1:7-18

- 7 Silence before the Lord GOD, For the day of the LORD is near at
hand!
For the LORD has prepared a sacrifice;
He has sanctified his guests!

It shall come to pass on the day of the LORD'S sacrifice,
That I will punish the princes and the king's sons,
And everyone that clothes himself in foreign garments.
And I will punish everyone that leaps over the threshold on that day, Those filling their master's house with violence and deceit.

"It shall come to pass on that day," is
the oracle of the LORD,
"That there will be the sound of a cry from the Fish-Gate,
And a wail from the New Town;
And there will be a great crash from the hills.
Wail, O inhabitants of the Mortar!
For all the people of Canaan shall be
ruined;
All who weigh out silver shall be cut off.

"At that time I will search Jerusalem with lamps,
And will punish those who are at ease, Thickened upon their lees, who say to themselves,
'The LORD does neither good nor bad.'
And their property shall become a ruin,
And their houses a desolation.
And they shall build houses, but not inhabit them;
And plant vineyards, but not drink their wine."

Near at hand is the great day of the
LORD;
Near and speeding fast!
Near at hand is the bitter day of the
LORD,
On which the warrior will cry in terror!
A day of wrath is that day;
A day of trouble and distress,
A day of desolation and waste,
A day of darkness and gloom,
A day of cloud and thunderclou;
A day of the trumpet and battle-cry,

Against the fortified cities,
And against the lofty battlements.

- 17 "And I will bring trouble upon mankind so that they shall walk like blind men";
Because they have sinned against the LORD.
And their blood shall be poured out like dust,
And their flesh like dung.
- 18 Neither their silver nor their gold
Will be able to rescue them.
On the day of the wrath of the LORD,
and in the fire of his zeal,
All the earth shall be consumed;
For a complete destruction, indeed a frightful one, will he make
Of all the inhabitants of the earth.

THE DAY OF DOOM UPON PHILISTIA, 2:1-7

- 2 Gather yourselves in crowds,
O nation without shame;
- 2 Before you move far off,
Like the chaff which passes away;
Before there come upon you
The fierce anger of the LORD;
Before there come upon you,
The day of the anger of the LORD!
- 3 Seek the LORD, all you meek of the earth,
Who do his will;
Seek righteousness, seek humility;
Perhaps you may be hidden on the day of the anger of the LORD.
- 4 For Gaza shall be deserted,
And Askelon a waste.
Ashdod—at noon they shall expel her,
And Ekron shall be uprooted.
- 5 Woe to those who dwell by the sea-coast,
The nation of the Cherethites!
The word of the LORD is against you,
O Canaan, land of the Philistines!
And I will destroy you so that there shall be no inhabitant.
- 6 And the sea-coast shall become pastures (with cisterns) for shepherds,
And folds for flocks;
- 7 And the sea-coast will belong to the remnant of the house of Judah.
By the sea shall they feed;

In the houses of Askelon at evening shall they lie down.
For the LORD, their God, shall visit them,
And restore their fortune.

VENGEANCE UPON MOAB AND AMMON, 2:8-11

"I have heard the taunts of Moab, 8
And the revilings of the Ammonites,
Wherewith they have taunted my people,
And vaunted themselves against their territory.
Therefore, as I live," is the oracle of 9
the LORD of hosts,
The God of Israel,
"Moab shall become like Sodom,
And the Ammonites like Gomorrah;
A land overrun by weeds and salt-pits,
And a desolation forever.
The remnant of my people shall prey upon them,
And the survivors of my nation shall possess them."

This shall be their lot in return for 10
their arrogance,
Because they taunted and vaunted themselves
Against the people of the LORD of hosts.
The LORD will be terrible against 11
them;
For he will famish all the gods of the earth,
So that there shall bow down to him,
each from its place,
All the coast-lands of the nations.

DOOM UPON ETHIOPIA AND ASSYRIA, 2:12-15

You, too, O Ethiopians, 12 shall be slain by my sword!
And he will stretch out his hand 13 against the north,
and destroy Assyria.
And he will make Nineveh a desolation,
a drought like the desert;
And herds shall lie down in the midst 14
of her,
every beast of the field.
Both jackdaw and hedgehog shall lodge in her capitals;

The owl shall hoot in the window,
the bastard on the threshold;
for I will destroy her city.

- 15 This is the exultant city,
that dwelt in security!
That said to itself,
"I am, and there is none else."
How she has become a ruin,
a lair for wild beasts!
Everyone that passes by her hisses, and shakes his fist!

SIN AND JUDGMENT, 3:1-7

- 3 Woe to the defiant and defiled one, the oppressing city!
2 She has listened to no voice;
She has accepted no correction!
In the LORD she has not trusted;
To her God she has not drawn near!
3 Her princes within her are roaring
lions;
Her judges are wolves of the night,
Who long not for the morning.
4 Her prophets are reckless, treacherous
men;
Her priests profane holy things;
They do violence to the law.
5 The LORD is righteous within her;
He will do no wrong.
Every morning he brings his judgment to light;
He does not fail;
But the wicked knows no shame.
6 I have cut off nations; their battlements are destroyed.
I have made their streets desolate, with none passing by.
Their cities have been laid waste, without a man, without an inhabitant.
7 I said, "Surely she will fear me; she will accept correction;
And there shall not be cut off from her sight
Anything which I have laid upon her.
But they have zealously made
All their doings corrupt."

JERUSALEM DELIVERED,

3:8-13

- 8 "Therefore wait for me," is the oracle
of the LORD,
"against the day when I arise
as a witness.

For it is my decision to gather nations,
to assemble kingdoms,
That I may pour out my wrath upon
them,
all the heat of my anger.
For in the fire of my zeal,
all the earth shall be consumed.

"For then I will turn the speech of the peoples
into a purified speech;
So that all of them may call upon the name of the LORD, and serve him with one accord.
From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia, 1 to the farthest regions of the north,
they shall bring offerings to me.

"On that day you shall not be put to shame by any of your deeds, wherein you have rebelled
against me;
For then I will remove from the midst of you
your proudly exulting ones;
And you shall no more be haughty
in my holy mountain;
For I will leave in the midst of you a people humble and poor.

"And in the name of the LORD shall they seek refuge—
the remnant of Israel.
They shall do no wrong,
nor shall they tell lies;
Nor shall there be found in their mouth
a deceitful tongue;
For they shall feed and lie down,
with none to disturb them."

ISRAEL'S WORLD-WIDE RE- NOWN, 3:14-20

Cry aloud, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel!
Be glad and rejoice with your whole
heart,
O daughter of Jerusalem!
The LORD has routed your opponents,
he has removed your foes.
The king of Israel, the LORD, is in the midst of you;
you shall see disaster no more.
On that day it shall be said to Jerusalem, "Fear not, O Zion;
let not your hands relax.

17 The LORD, your God, is in the midst
of you,
a victorious warrior.

He will rejoice over you with gladness,
he will renew you in his love.

18 He will exult over you with a shout,
as in the days of a festival.

"I will gather up those that smite you,
and those bringing reproach
upon you.

19 Lo, I will deal with all your oppressors at that time.

And I will deliver the lame,
and gather the outcast.
And I will make them renowned and praised
in all the earth.

"At that time I will bring you, 20
And at that time I will gather you;
For I will make you renowned and
praised
Among all the peoples of the earth;
When I restore your fortune before your very eyes,"
Says the LORD.

THE BOOK OF HAGGAI

BEGINNING THE REBUILDING OF THE TEMPLE,

1:1-15a

1 IN THE second year of Darius, the king, in the sixth month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came through Haggai, the prophet, to Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua, the son of Jehozadak, the chief priest, saying:

2 "Thus spoke the LORD of hosts, saying, 'This people say, "The time has not yet come to rebuild the house of the LORD."'"

3 The word of the LORD came through Haggai, the prophet, saying,

4 "Is it a time for you yourselves to live in your paneled houses, while this house lies waste?"

5 "But now," thus says the LORD of hosts, "give thought to your ways. You have sown much, but reaped little; you have eaten, but not to repletion; you have drunk, but not your fill; you have put on clothes, but there was no warmth in them; and he who earned wages put it into a bag with a hole in it."

7 Thus says the LORD of hosts:

8 "Give thought to your ways. Go up to the hills, and bring lumber, and rebuild the house, that I may be pleased with it and be honored," says the 9 LORD. "You expected much, and it was but little; and you brought it home, and I blew it away! For what reason?" is the oracle of the LORD of hosts. "Because of my house which lies waste, while you yourselves run each to his own house. Therefore the heavens above you withhold their dew, and the earth withholds its increase. For I called for a drought upon the land, and upon the hills, upon the grain and the wine and the oil, and upon everything that the ground yields; and upon man and beast, and every product of labor."

12 So Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua, the son of Jehozadak, the chief priest, and all the remnant of the people, listened to the voice of the LORD, their God, and to the words of the prophet Haggai, inasmuch as the LORD, their God, had sent him; and the people were afraid because of the LORD. Whereupon Haggai, the messenger of the LORD, with the message of the LORD to the people, spoke, saying,

" 'I am with you,' is the oracle of the LORD."

So the LORD aroused the spirit of Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua, the son of Jehozadak, the chief priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, so that they came and went to work upon the house of the LORD of hosts, their God, on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month.

WORDS OF ENCOURAGEMENT TO THE BUILDERS,

1:15b-2:9

In the second year of Darius, the king, in the seventh month, on the twenty-first day of the month, the word of the LORD came through Haggai, the prophet, saying,

"Say, now, to Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, the governor of Judah, and to Joshua, the son of Jehozadak, the chief priest, and to the remnant of this people, thus:

'Who is there left among you that saw this house in its ancient splendor? And how it looks to you now! Does it not seem to you like nothing at all? But now, be strong, O Zerubbabel,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'and be strong, O Joshua, the son of Jehozadak, the chief priest, and be strong, all the people of the land,' is the oracle of the LORD, 'and work; for I am with you,' is the oracle of the LORD of hosts; 'it is the promise that I made you when you came forth from Egypt; and my spirit is standing in the midst of you; fear not.'"

6 For thus says the LORD of hosts:
 "A little while longer, and I will shake the heavens and the earth, the sea and 7 the dry land. And I will shake all the nations, and the treasures of all the nations shall come in, and I will fill this house with splendor," says the LORD of 8 hosts. "Mine is the silver and mine is the gold," is the oracle of the LORD of 9 hosts. "The future splendor of this house shall be greater than the past," says the LORD of hosts; "and upon this place I will bestow prosperity," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts.

PROMISES OF AN IMMEDIATE CHANGE FOR THE BETTER,
 2:10-23

10 On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came through Haggai, the prophet, as follows:

1 "Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'Ask the priests, now, for a decision, saying, 2 "If a man carrying holy flesh in the skirt of his clothing touch with his skirt bread, or pottage, or wine, or oil, or any kind of food, will it become holy?'" "

And the priests answered, saying,
 "No!"

3 Then said Haggai, the prophet,
 "If one who is unclean through contact with a corpse touch any one of these, will it become unclean?"

And the priests answered, saying,
 "It will!"

4 Then Haggai responded, saying,
 "So is this people, and so is this nation before me," is the oracle of the LORD, "and so is all the work of their hands; and what they offer there is unclean.

"But, now, pray lay it to heart from 15
 this day and henceforth. Since the time when one stone was not yet laid upon another in the temple of the LORD, how have you fared? When one came 16 to a heap of twenty measures, there were but ten; and when one came to the wine-vat to draw off fifty measures from the wine-press, there were only twenty. I smote you with blight and 17 with mildew, and all the products of your hands with hail. And yet you did not return unto me," is the oracle of the LORD.

"Pray, lay it to heart; from this day 18 forward, from the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, from the day when the temple of the LORD was founded; lay it to heart. Is the seed yet in the 19 barn? And do the vine, the fig trees, the pomegranate, and the olive tree still yield nothing? From this day on I will bless you."

Then the word of the LORD came a 20 second time to Haggai, on the twenty-fourth of the month, saying,

"Say unto Zerubbabel, governor of 21 Judah, as follows: 'I will shake the heavens and the earth. And I will over- 22 turn the throne of the kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the nations; and I will overturn the chariot with its riders, so that the horses and their riders shall go down each by the sword of his fellow.' On 23 that day," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts, "I will take you, O Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, my servant," is the oracle of the LORD, "and I will make you like a seal ring; for I have chosen you," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts.

THE BOOK OF ZECHARIAH

A LESSON FROM THE PAST,

1:1-6

1 IN THE eighth month in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo, the prophet, saying,

2 "The LORD was very angry at your
3 fathers. Say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Return to me," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts, "that I may return to you," says the LORD of 4 hosts.' Be not like your fathers, to whom the former prophets preached, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Turn now from your wicked ways and from your wicked deeds."' But they did not hearken, nor did they give heed to me," is the oracle of the LORD.
5 "Your fathers—where are they? And the prophets—do they live forever?
6 Yet did not my words and my statutes with which I charged my servants, the prophets, overtake your fathers? So they turned and said, 'Even as the LORD of hosts had purposed to do to us, in accordance with our ways and our deeds, so has he treated us.'"

A VISION OF RESTORATION,

1:7-17

7 On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month (namely, the month of Shebat), in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo, the prophet, saying,
8 "I saw by night, and there was a man riding upon a red horse, and he was standing among the myrtle trees which are in the hollow, and behind him were 9 red, sorrel, and white horses. Whereupon I said, 'What are these, sir?' Then the angel that was talking with me said to me, 'I will show you what these are.'
10 And the man who was standing among the myrtles answered, saying, 'These are those whom the LORD sent forth to 11 patrol the earth.' Then they answered the angel of the LORD, who was standing among the myrtle trees, saying, 'We have patrolled the earth; and lo, the whole earth is resting peacefully.' Then the angel of the LORD spoke, saying, 'O LORD of hosts, for how long wilt thou have no mercy upon Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, with which thou hast been angry now for seventy years?' Then the LORD answered the angel who was talking with me, with gracious words, comforting words. So the angel who was talking with me said to me, 'Proclaim as follows: "Thus says the LORD of hosts: I am very greatly concerned about Jerusalem and Mount Zion, and I am exceedingly angry at the easy-going nations; for while I was angry but a little, they furthered the disaster.'

Therefore thus says the LORD:

"I will return to Jerusalem in mercy;

My house shall be rebuilt therein;"

Is the oracle of the LORD of hosts;

"And a line shall be stretched over Jerusalem."

"Again proclaim, saying,

"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"My cities shall again overflow with prosperity,

And the LORD shall again have pity upon Zion

And again choose Jerusalem." "

A VISION OF FOUR HORNS AND THEIR DESTROYERS, 1:18-21

I raised my eyes and looked; and lo, there were four horns! Then I said to the angel who was talking with me,

"What are these?"

And he said to me,

"These are the horns which dispersed Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem."

Then the LORD showed me four blacksmiths. Whereupon I said,

"What are these coming to do?"

And he spoke, saying,

"These are the horns which dispersed Judah, so that not a man raised his head; and these have come to terrify them, to cast down the horns of the nations, who lifted up the horn against the land of Judah in order to scatter it."

A VISION OF A MAN WITH A MEASURING-LINE, 2:1-5

- 2 I raised my eyes and looked, and lo, there was a man with a measuring-line
2 in his hand! Then I said,
"Where are you going?"
He said to me,
"To measure Jerusalem, to see how broad and how long it should be."
3 And lo, as the angel who talked with me was going away, another angel came 4 forth to meet him. And he said to him,
"Run, speak to that young man yonder, saying, 'Jerusalem shall be inhabited like unwalled villages, because of the mass of men and beasts within 5 her.' And I will be unto her," is the oracle of the LORD, "a wall of fire round about her, and I will be the splendor within her."

A SUMMONS TO THE EXILES, 2:6-13

- 6 "Ho, ho! flee from the land of the north,"
Is the oracle of the LORD;
"For like the four winds of the heavens, I will make you fly,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.
7 "Hol O Zion! Escape, O inhabitants of Babylon."
8 For thus says the LORD of hosts (hereafter he will send me forth with honor) regarding the nations that have plundered you (he who touches you touches the apple of his eye!):
9 "Verily I will wave my hand over them, and they shall become plunder for their slaves."
Thus you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me.
10 "Shout with joy, and rejoice, O daughter of Zion!
For lo, I am coming to dwell in the midst of you,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.
11 Many nations will attach themselves to the LORD on that day;
And they will become his people,
And he will dwell in the midst of you;

And you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent me unto you.
And the LORD will take possession of 12 Judah,
His portion upon the holy land;
And he will again choose Jerusalem.
Silence, all flesh, in the presence of the 13 LORD!
For he rouses himself from his holy dwelling.

JOSHUA ACCUSED BY SATAN AND VINDICATED BY THE LORD, 3:1-10

Then he showed me Joshua, the chief 3 priest, standing before the angel of the LORD; and the Satan was standing at his right hand in order to oppose him. So the angel of the LORD said to the 2 Satan,
"The LORD rebuke you, O Satan! May the LORD who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is not this a brand snatched from the fire?"

Now Joshua was dressed in dirty 3 clothes, as he stood before the angel. So he spoke, and told those standing 4 before him, as follows:

"Take away the dirty clothes from upon him."

Then he said to him,

"See! I have removed your guilt from upon you; and have clothed you with festal garments."

Then he said,

"Let them put a clean turban upon his head."

So they clothed him with clean garments while the angel of the LORD stood by. Then the angel of the LORD 6 warned Joshua, saying,

"Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'If 7 you walk in my ways, and if you keep my charge, then you shall rule my house and have charge of my courts; and I will give you free access among those who stand here.'

"Hear now, O Joshua, the chief 8 priest, you, and all your friends who sit in your presence, are men of good omen; for lo, I will bring in my servant, the Branch. For behold the stone which 9 I have set before Joshua; upon a single stone with seven facets I will engrave its inscription," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts. "And I will remove the guilt of that land on one day."

- 10 "On that day," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts, "everyone of you will invite his friend under the vine and under the fig tree."

THE VISION OF THE LAMP AND THE OLIVE TREES, 4:1-14

- 4 Then the angel who was talking with me roused me again like a man who is aroused from his sleep. Then he said to me,
 "What do you see?"
 And I said,
 "I see, and lo, a lampstand that is all gold; and a bowl upon the top of it; and seven lights upon it, and seven pipes to the right of the bowl, and one on its left."
 4 Then I spoke again to the angel who was talking with me, saying,
 "What are these, sir?"
 5 So the angel who was talking with me answered me, saying,
 "You do not know what these are?"
 And I said,
 "No, sir."
 6<sup>a</sup> Then he answered, saying to me,
 10<sup>b</sup> "These seven are the eyes of the LORD which range over the whole earth."
 11 Then I replied, saying to him,
 "What are these two olive trees, upon the right of the lampstand, and upon its left?"
 12 And I spoke a second time, and said to him,
 "What are the two olive branches which are held by the two golden pipes which empty into the golden bowl?"
 13 Then he answered me, saying,
 "Do you not know what these are?"
 And I said,
 "No, sir."
 14 So he said,
 "These are the two anointed ones who stand by the Lord of all the earth."

SPIRITUAL DELIVERANCE, 4:6b-10

- 6<sup>b</sup> This is the word of the LORD to Zerubbabel, saying,
 "Not by arms, nor by force, but by my spirit," says the LORD of hosts.

"What are you, O great mountain? Before Zerubbabel, become a plain! And he shall bring forth the top-stone With shouts of 'Grace, grace, to it.' "

The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

"The hands of Zerubbabel founded this house, and his hands shall complete it."

So you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me unto you. For who has despised a day of small things? They shall rejoice when they see the plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel.

VISIONS OF THE FLYING ROLL AND THE WOMAN IN THE MEASURE, 5:1-11

I raised my eyes again and looked; and lo, there was a flying roll!

He said to me,

"What do you see?"

I answered,

"I see a flying roll, the length of which is twenty cubits and its width ten cubits."

Then he said to me,

"This is the curse that is going forth over the surface of the whole land. For how long now have all thieves remained unpunished? And how long now have those forsworn remained unpunished? I will send it forth," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts, "and it shall enter the house of the thief and the house of him who swears falsely by my name, and it shall settle in the midst of his house and consume it with its woodwork and its stonework."

Then the angel that was talking with me went forth, and he said to me,

"Raise your eyes now and see what this is that goes forth."

And I said,

"What is it?"

Then he said,

"This is the ephah-measure that is going forth."

He also said,

"This is their guilt throughout all the earth."

Then a leaden lid was raised, and there sat a woman within the measure!

Then he said,

"This is Wickedness!"

And he pushed her down into the middle of the measure, and cast the leaden weight upon its opening. Then I raised my eyes and looked, and there were two women coming out, with the wind in their wings, having wings like those of a stork. And they lifted the measure up between the earth and the sky. Then I said to the angel that was talking with me,

"Where are they taking the measure?"

And he answered me, "To build a house for it in the land of Shinar. And when it is erected, they will set it down there upon its base."

THE VISION OF THE FOUR CHARIOTS, 6:1-8

I raised my eyes again, and looked; and there were four chariots coming out from between the two mountains; and the mountains were mountains of copper. In the first chariot, there were bay horses; in the second, black horses; in the third, white horses; and in the fourth, dappled horses. So I said again to the angel that was talking with me, "What are these, sir?"

The angel answered me, saying, "These are for the four winds of the heavens that are going out after standing before the LORD of all the earth. That wherein are the black horses will go to the north land; the white will go to the west; the dappled will go to the south land; and the bays will go to the land of the east."

They were straining to go forth to patrol the earth. So he said, "Go, patrol the earth."

So they patrolled the earth. Then he called me, and spoke to me saying, "Look at those going forth to the north land; they will give rest to the spirit of the LORD in the north land."

THE CORONATION OF ZERUBABEL, 6:9-15

The word of the LORD came to me, saying, "Take the offering from the exiles, from Heldai, Tobiah, and Jedaiah, who have come from Babylon; and do you go in on that day, and enter the house of Josiah, the son of Zephaniah; and 11 take silver and gold and make a crown and place it upon the head of Zerubabel, the son of Shealtiel, the governor. Then speak to them, saying, 'Thus spoke 12 the LORD of hosts, saying, "Behold a man whose name is Branch; and he shall branch forth from his place and shall rebuild the temple of the LORD. He shall rebuild the temple of the 13 LORD; and he shall bear the honor, and shall sit and reign upon his throne. And Joshua, the priest, shall be on his right hand; and there shall be peaceful counsel between them both."'

"The crown shall be for Heldai and 14 for Tobiah and for Jedaiah and for Josiah, the son of Zephaniah, as a memorial in the temple of the LORD. Also 15 those from afar shall come and rebuild the temple of the LORD, that you may know that the LORD of hosts has sent me unto you. And it shall come to pass if you hearken closely to the voice of the LORD your God. . . ."

A LESSON FROM THE PAST, 7:1-14

In the fourth year of Darius, the king, 7 on the fourth day of the ninth month, in Chislew, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah. Now Bethel-sar-czer had 2 sent Regem-melek and his men to propitiate the LORD; saying to the priests 3 that belonged to the house of the LORD of hosts, and to the prophets thus:

"Shall I weep in the fifth month and fast, as I have done now for many years?"

The words of the LORD of hosts came 4 to me, saying,

"Speak to all the people of the land 5 and to the priests, saying, 'When you fasted and mourned in the fifth and in the seventh months the past seventy years, was it for me that you fasted so strictly? And when you eat, and when 6 you drink, do you not yourselves eat and yourselves drink? Are not these 7 the words which the LORD proclaimed through the former prophets, when Jerusalem was inhabited and prosperous, with her towns round about her, and the Negeb and the Shephelah were inhabited?' "

Then the word of the LORD came to 8 Zechariah, saying, "Thus spoke the 9

LORD of hosts, saying, 'Render true judgments, and practice kindness and mercy each toward his brother. Do not oppress the widow and the orphan, the resident alien, and the poor; and let none of you devise in your heart wickedness against your brother.' But they refused to give heed, and turned a stubborn shoulder, and made their ears dull so that they could not hear; and they made their minds insensate so that they could not hear the teaching and the words which the LORD of hosts sent by his spirit, through the former prophets. So there was great wrath on the part of the LORD of hosts. As he called and they did not listen, so 'they shall call and I will not listen,' said the LORD of hosts. So he scattered them among all the nations that they had not known; and the land was desolate after them, so that none passed by and none returned; and they made the lovely land a ruin."

WORDS OF PROMISE, 8:1-17

- 8 The word of the LORD of hosts came, saying, "Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'I have been very indignant over Zion; I have been aroused to great wrath over her.' "
- 3 Thus says the LORD: "I will return to Zion, And I will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem; And Jerusalem shall be called, 'The faithful city,' And the mountain of the LORD of hosts, 'The holy mountain.' "
- 4 Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Aged men and women shall again dwell in the streets of Jerusalem, Each with his staff in his hand by reason of his great age; 5 And the streets of the city shall be filled With boys and girls, playing in its streets."
- 3 Thus says the LORD of hosts: "If it seem incredible in the sight of the remnant of this people in those days, In my sight also will it seem incredible?" Is the oracle of the LORD of hosts.
- 7 Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Behold, I am about to deliver my people

From the land of the rising, and the land of the setting sun;

And I will bring them in, and they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem.

And they shall be my people, and I will be their God,

In faithfulness and righteousness."

Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Let your hands be strong, you who are listening in these days to these words from the mouth of the prophets that were on the day when the foundation of the house of the LORD of hosts, the temple, was laid that it might be built. For before those days there was no wages for man or beast; nor was there safety from the foe either for him who went out or for him who came in; for I had sent forth every man, each against his fellow. But now, I am not as in the former days toward the remnant of this people," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts. "For I will sow prosperity; the vine shall yield its fruit, and the land shall yield its increase, and the heavens shall yield their dew; and I will make the remnant of this people possess all these things. And it shall come to pass that even as you have been a curse among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel, just so will I deliver you, and you shall become a blessing. Fear not; let your hands be strong!"

For thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Even as I purposed to do harm to you, when your fathers angered me, and I did not relent; so likewise will I purpose again in these days to do good to Jerusalem and to the house of Judah; fear not!

"These are the things that you must do. Speak truth one with another. Give true and just decisions in your courts. Let none of you devise evil in your thoughts against your friend, and do not love perjury. For all these things I loathe," is the oracle of the LORD.

THE WORLD-WIDE RENOWN OF THE JEWS, 8:18-23

The word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying, "Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall become for the house of Judah occasions of joy and gladness, and goodly festivals. So, love faithfulness and 20 peace.' Thus says the LORD of hosts:

 'Peoples shall yet come, even the citi-21 zens of many cities. And the citizens of one city shall go to another, saying,
 "Let us go at once to propitiate the LORD and to seek the LORD of hosts!" 18 "I certainly will go." Thus many peoples and strong nations shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem, 23 and to propitiate the LORD.' Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'In those days, ten men, from nations of every language, shall lay hold of him who is a Jew, saying, "Let us go with you; for we have heard that God is with you!" ' "

THE COMING DESTRUCTION OF JUDAH'S NEIGHBORS, 9:1-8

9 An Oracle.
 The word of the LORD is against the land of Hadrach,
 And Damascus will be its resting-place.
 For the cities of Syria belong to the
 LORD,
 As well as all the tribes of Israel;
 2 And Hamath, too, which borders there-
 on;
 Tyre and Sidon, though they be very clever.
 3 But Tyre built herself a stronghold,
 And heaped up silver like dust,
 And gold like the mud of the streets.
 4 The LORD, however, will dispossess her,
 And smite her wealth into the sea,
 And she shall be consumed by fire.
 5 Askelon shall see and be afraid;
 Gaza too, and shall be in great anguish; Ekron also, because her hope has been
 put to shame;
 And the king shall perish from Gaza.
 Askelon shall be uninhabited;
 6 And mongrels shall dwell in Ashdod;
 And I will cut down the pride of the Philistines.
 7 And I will take away its blood from its
 mouth,
 And its hateful things from between its teeth;
 It, too, shall remain for our God,
 And shall be like a family in Judah,
 And Ekron shall be like the Jebusites.
 8 Then I will encamp by my house as a guard, that none pass to and fro;
 So that an oppressor shall not pass over them again;
 For now have I seen with my own eyes.

THE MESSIAH AND HIS DO- MINION, 9:9-17

Exult greatly, O daughter of Zion; 9 Shout with joy, O daughter of Jerusalem.
 Lo, your king comes to you;
 Vindicated and victorious is he;
 Humble, and riding upon an ass,
 Even upon a colt, the foal of an ass.
 He shall cut off the chariot from 10
 Ephraim,
 And the horse from Jerusalem;
 And the bow of war shall be cut off,
 And he shall command peace upon the
 nations.
 His dominion shall be from sea to sea,
 And from the river to the ends of the
 earth.
 You, also—because of the blood of your 11 covenant,
 I will send forth your captives from the waterless pit.
 Return to the stronghold, you prisoners 12
 of hope;
 This very day do I announce that I will restore double to you.
 For I will bend Judah as my bow; 13
 I will fill it with Ephraim.
 And I will stir up your sons, O Zion, against your sons, O Greece;
 And I will make you like a warrior's
 sword.
 And the LORD shall be manifested over 14
 you,
 And his arrow shall go forth like lightning.
 For the Lord GOD will blow the trumpet,
 And will march forth amid the storms
 of the south.
 The LORD of hosts will protect them, 15
 And they shall devour and trample down the stone-slingers;
 And they shall drink their blood like
 wine,
 And they shall be filled, like the sacrificial basin, like the corners of the altar.
 For the LORD their God shall deliver 16
 them on that day;
 Like a flock shall he shepherd them
 upon his own land;
 For they shall be conspicuous like the stones of a diadem;
 For how good and how fair it shall be! 17
 Grain shall make the young men flourish,
 And wine the maidens.

THE TRIUMPHANT RESTORATION OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH,

10:1—11:3

- 10 "Ask rain from the LORD, in the season of the spring rain,
For the LORD who makes the lightning,
And gives them showers of rain,
To everyone grass in the field.
- 2 For the teraphim speak nonsense;
The soothsayers divine lies;
And the dreamers speak falsehoods,
And give empty consolation.
Therefore they move on like sheep;
They roam about because there is no shepherd.
- 3 "My wrath shall blaze forth against the shepherds,
And I will punish the leaders.
For the LORD of hosts will visit his flock, the house of Judah,
And will make them like his splendid steed in battle.
- 4 From them shall come the cornerstone,
from them the tent-pin,
From them the bow for war, and from them all the officers.
- 5 And they shall be like warriors trampling in the mire of the streets in battle;
And they shall fight because the LORD is with them,
And shall put to shame those riding upon horses.
- 6 "I will strengthen the house of Judah,
And deliver the house of Joseph.
I will bring them back because I have pity on them,
And they shall be as though I had not spurned them;
For I am the LORD, their God, and I will answer them.
- 7 And Ephraim shall be like a warrior;
And their hearts shall exult as with wine.
Their children shall see and rejoice,
And their hearts shall exult in the LORD.
- 8 "I will whistle for them and gather them in;
For I will rescue them, and they shall be as numerous as ever.
- 9 Though I sowed them among the peoples,
Yet in far-away places they shall remember me,

And shall rear their children and return.

For I will bring them back from the land of Egypt,
And from Assyria I will gather them;
And to the land of Gilead and Lebanon I will bring them in,
Till there be no more room for them.

"And they shall pass over the sea of Egypt,
And he will smite the waves in the sea.
And all the depths of the Nile shall be dried up,
And the pride of Assyria shall be brought low,
And the scepter shall depart from Egypt.
I will strengthen them in the LORD,
And they shall praise his name,"
Is the oracle of the LORD.

Open your doors, O Lebanon,
That the fire may devour your cedars!
Wail, O cypress, for the cedar has fallen;

For the glorious ones are laid low!
Wail, O oaks of Bashan,
For the impenetrable forest has fallen!
Hark! the cry of the shepherds,
Because their glory is ruined!
Hark! the roar of the young lions,
Because the pride of the Jordan is ruined!

THE FOOLISH SHEPHERDS,

11:4-17 and 13:7-9

Thus said the LORD, my God:
"Become a shepherd of the flock to be slaughtered. For those who buy them slay them, and are not condemned; and those who sell them say, 'Blessed be the LORD, for I have become rich!' And their own shepherds have no mercy on them. For I will have no mercy any more upon the inhabitants of the land," is the oracle of the LORD; "for lo, I will cause men to come each into the power of his shepherd, and each into the power of his king; and they shall subdue the land, and I will not deliver it from their power."

So I became a shepherd of the flock to be slaughtered for the merchants of the flock; and took for myself two rods. The one I called Delight; and the other I called Union. So I became a shepherd of the flock. (I destroyed the three shepherds in one month.) Then my wrath burned against them; and they loathed me. So I said,

"I will not be your shepherd. What is to die, may die; what is to be lost, may be lost; and those that are left shall devour each the flesh of her neighbor."

So I took my rod, Delight, and I cut it in two, thus breaking the contract I had made with all the peoples. So it was broken on that day. Then the merchants of the flock who were watching me knew that it was the word of the LORD. Then I said to them,

"If it seem good to you, pay me my wages, but if not, let it go!"

So they weighed out my wages, thirty shekels of silver. But the LORD said to me,

"Cast it into the treasury, that fine price at which you have been valued by them."

So I took the thirty shekels of silver, and cast it into the treasury in the house of the LORD. Then I broke my second rod, Union, to signify the breaking of the brotherhood between Judah and Israel. Then the LORD said to me,

"Take to yourself again the gear of a foolish shepherd. For lo, I am about to raise up in the land a shepherd; for that which is lost he will not search; that which is scattered, he will not seek; that which is wounded, he will not heal; and that which is vigorous, he will not nourish. But the flesh of the fatling he will devour, and their hoofs he will break off."

"Woe unto my foolish shepherd, who forsakes the flock!

A sword upon his arm,
and his right eye!

May his arm utterly wither,
and his right eye become wholly blind!

"Up, sword, against my shepherd,
And against the man, my associate!"
Is the oracle of the LORD of hosts.

"I will smite the shepherd, so that the sheep be scattered;

And I will turn my hand against the little ones.

And it shall come to pass in all the land,"
Is the oracle of the LORD,

"That two-thirds shall be cut off therein, and die,

And one-third shall survive therein.

And I will bring that third through fire,
And I will refine them as silver is refined,
And test them as gold is tested.
They will call upon my name,
And I will answer them.
I will say, "They are my people";
And they will say, "The LORD is my God."

ASPECTS OF JUDAH'S FUTURE,

12:1-14 and 13:1-6

The oracle of the word of the LORD against Israel.

The oracle of the LORD who spread out the heavens and laid the foundations of the earth and formed the spirit of mankind within them:

"Lo, I am about to make Jerusalem an intoxicating bowl unto all the peoples around. Moreover, the cities of Judah will be under siege along with Jerusalem. And it shall come to pass on that day, that I will make Jerusalem a heavy stone for all the peoples. All who try to lift it will hurt themselves seriously; and all the nations of the earth will be gathered against it. On that day," is the oracle of the LORD, "I will smite every horse with the staggers, and its rider with madness. But I will open the eyes of the house of Judah, while I smite all the horses of the peoples with blindness.

"Then the families of Judah shall say to themselves, 'There is strength for the inhabitants of Jerusalem in the LORD of hosts, their God.' On that day I will make the families of Judah like a pot of fire in the woods, and like a lighted torch among sheaves; and they shall devour upon the right hand and upon the left all the peoples around; while Jerusalem shall again be inhabited on its own site, namely, in Jerusalem. And the LORD will deliver the households of Judah first, in order that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem over Judah be not too great.

"On that day the LORD will protect the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and he who stumbles among them shall be, on that day, like David; and the house of David shall be like God, like the angel of the LORD before them.

"It shall come to pass on that day, that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem. And 10

I will pour out upon the house of David and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of favor and of prayer; and they shall look at him whom they have stabbed to death; and they shall mourn for him like the mourning for an only child, and they shall weep bitterly for him, like the bitter weeping over the first-born.

- 11 "On that day there shall be a great mourning in Jerusalem, like the mourning for Hadadrimmon in the plain of Megiddo. The clans shall mourn, each clan apart; the clan of the house of David apart, and their wives apart; the clan of the house of Nathan apart, and their wives apart; the clan of the house of Levi apart, and their wives apart; the clan of Shimei apart, and their wives apart; all the clans that are left, each one apart, and their wives apart.
- 13 "On that day a fountain shall be opened for the house of David and for the inhabitants of Jerusalem for the cleansing of sin and uncleanness. And it shall come to pass on that day," is the oracle of the LORD of hosts, "that I will cut off the names of the idols from the land, so that they will no longer be named. I will drive away the prophets and the spirit of uncleanness from the land. So it shall come to pass that if anybody still prophesies, his father and his mother who bore him will say to him, 'You shall not remain alive, for you have spoken lies in the name of the LORD.' So his father and his mother who bore him will stab him to death as he prophesies.
- 4 "It shall come to pass on that day, that the prophets will each be ashamed of his vision when he prophesies; nor will he clothe himself with a hairy mantle in order to deceive people. And he will say, 'No prophet am I I am a tiller of the soil. The land has been my occupation from my youth.' And when someone says to him, 'What mean these scars on your back?' He will say, 'I was wounded in the house of my lovers.'"<sup>1</sup>

JERUSALEM AND THE NATIONS,

14:1-21

- 14 Lo, a day is coming for the LORD, when your spoil will be divided in the midst of you. For I will gather all the nations against Jerusalem to battle, and the city shall be taken, and the houses plundered, and the women violated; and one-half of the city shall go into exile; but the rest of the people shall not be cut off from the city. Then the LORD shall go forth and fight against those nations, as on the day when he fought on the day of battle. His feet shall stand, on that day, upon the mount of Olives (which is in front of Jerusalem on the east); and the mount of Olives shall be split in two from east to west by a very wide valley; and half of the mountain shall move northward, and the other half southward. And the valley of Hinnom shall be blocked, for the valley of Hinnom shall touch its side. And you shall flee, just as you fled from before the earthquake in the days of Uzziah, king of Judah. Then the LORD, your God, shall come, and all the holy ones with him.

It shall come to pass on that day, that there shall be neither heat, nor cold, nor frost. And there shall be continuous day (it is understood of the LORD!), not day and night; but there shall be light at night-time.

It shall come to pass on that day, that living waters shall go forth from Jerusalem, half of them toward the Eastern Sea, and half toward the Western Sea, continuing in summer and in winter. Then the LORD shall become king over all the earth. On that day the LORD shall be one; and his name, one.

All the land shall be turned into a region like the Arabah, from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem. It, however, shall be high and be inhabited upon its site, from the gate of Benjamin unto the place of the former gate, unto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananel as far as the royal wine-press. And the people shall live there; and there shall be no more curse; but Jerusalem shall be inhabited in security.

This shall be the kind of plague with which the LORD will plague all the peoples who made war upon Jerusalem: their flesh he will cause to rot, as they stand upon their feet; their eyes shall rot in their sockets; and their tongues shall rot in their mouths.

So also, like this plague shall be the plague upon the horse, the mule, the camel, and the ass, and whatsoever beasts may be in those camps.

13 It shall come to pass on that day, that there will be a great terror from the LORD among them; and they will lay hold each of the hand of his fellow; and the hand of one will be lifted
14 against the hand of another. (Even Judah will fight against Jerusalem.) And the wealth of all the nations around shall be gathered together, gold, silver, and clothing in great abundance.

16 And it shall come to pass that any that are left of all the nations that went up against Jerusalem, shall go up from year to year to worship the king, the LORD of hosts, and to celebrate the 17 feast of booths. And it shall come to pass that if anyone of the clans of the earth does not go up to Jerusalem to worship the king, the LORD of hosts, there shall be no rain upon them. Also 18 if the clan of Egypt does not go up or enter, then upon them there shall fall the plague with which the LORD will plague the nations who do not go up to celebrate the feast of booths. This shall 19 be the punishment of Egypt and the punishment of all the nations that go not up to celebrate the feast of booths.

On that day there shall be upon the 20 bells of the horses, "Holy to the LORD." And the pots in the house of the LORD shall be like the sacrificial bowls before the altar, since every pot in Jerusalem 21 and in Judah shall be holy to the LORD of hosts; and all who sacrifice shall come and take of them to boil the flesh in them. And there shall no longer be a trader in the house of the LORD of hosts on that day.

THE BOOK OF MALACHI

THE SUPERScription, 1:1

- 1 The oracle of the word of the LORD to Israel through Malachi.

A PROOF OF GOD'S LOVE FOR ISRAEL, 1:2-5

- 2 "I have loved you," says the LORD. But you say, "How hast thou loved us?"
"Was not Esau the brother of Jacob?" is the oracle of the LORD.
- 3 "Yet I loved Jacob, but Esau I hated; And I have made his mountains a waste, And his heritage one for jackals of the steppe.
- 4 If Edom says, 'We are laid prostrate, But we will rebuild the ruins,'" Thus says the LORD of hosts: "They may build, but I will tear down; And they shall be called 'The wicked region,' And 'The people with whom the LORD is angry perpetually.'
- 5 And your eyes shall see and you yourselves shall say, 'The LORD is great beyond the region of Israel.'"

THE LORD HONORS THOSE WHO HONOR HIM, 1:6-2:9

- 6 "A son honors his father, and a servant his master. But if I be a father, where is my honor?
And if I be a master, where is my reverence?"
Says the LORD of hosts to you, O priests, who despise my name.
- 7 "But you say, 'How have we despised thy name?'
You bring upon my altar polluted food.
Then you say, 'How have we polluted it?'
In that you say, 'The table of the LORD is contemptible.'

"And when you bring the blind for sacrifice, is there no harm?
And when you bring the lame and the sick, is there no harm?
Bring it, now, to your governor; will he accept you,
Or receive you graciously?" says the LORD of hosts.
"But seek now the favor of God that he may be gracious to us—
From your hand has this come to be—
Will he be gracious toward you?"
Says the LORD of hosts.

"O that there were one among you that would close the doors,
That you might not kindle fire on my altar in vain.
I have no pleasure in you,"
Says the LORD of hosts;
"And I will accept no offering from your hand.

"For from the rising of the sun, even to its setting,
My name is great among the nations; And in every place an offering is made is presented to my name,
And a pure offering.
For my name is great among the nations,"
Says the LORD of hosts;
"But you are defiling it,
In that you say, 'The table of the LORD is defiled,
And his food, its product, is despicable.'
"And you say, 'What a weariness it is!' And you sniff at it," says the LORD of hosts;
"And you bring the mangled, the lame and the sick;
You bring it as an offering!
Can I accept it from your hand?"
Says the LORD.

"Cursed be the cheat, in whose flock there is a male,
And he vows it, but sacrifices a blemished victim to the LORD.

For a great king am I," says the LORD of hosts;

"And my name is feared among the nations.

"Now this command is for you, O
priests.

If you do not hearken, nor lay it to
heart,

To give honor to my name,"

Says the LORD of hosts;

"Then I will send the curse upon you,
And I will turn your blessing into a curse;

I will indeed make it a curse, because you pay no heed.

"Lo, I will rebuke posterity for you,
And I will strew dung upon your faces,
the dung of your feasts;

And I will carry you away from beside me,

That you may know that I sent this charge to you;

Seeing that my covenant was with Levi,"

Says the LORD of hosts.

"My covenant was with him;
Life and prosperity—I gave them to
him,

Fear, and he feared me,

And stood in awe of my name.

True instruction was in his mouth,

And no wrong was upon his lips.

In peace and uprightness he walked with me,

And many did he turn from guilt.

"For the lips of a priest should preserve
knowledge;

And instruction should they seek at his mouth;

For he is the messenger of the LORD
of hosts.

But you have turned aside from the
way;

You have made many stumble through the instruction;

You have violated the covenant of Levi,"

Says the LORD of hosts.

"So I too will make you Despised and abased before all the people;

Inasmuch as you are not keeping my
ways,

But are showing partiality through the oracle."

A PROTEST AGAINST DIVORCE, 2:10-16

Have we not all one father? 10
Did not one God create us?

Why then do we play one another false,

By violating the covenant of our fathers?

Judah has played false, and an abomi- 11
nable thing

Has been done in Israel and in Jerusalem.

For Judah has profaned the sanctuary of the LORD which he loved,

And has married the daughter of an alien god.

May the LORD cut off for the man 12
who does this,

Awaker and answerer from the tents
of Jacob,

And him who brings an offering to the LORD of hosts.

And this again you do: 13

You cover the altar of the LORD with tears, with weeping and groaning,

Because there is no longer any looking toward the offering,

Or any receiving of favor at your
hand.

And you say, "For what reason?" 14

Because the LORD is a witness between you

And the wife of your youth,

Whom you have played false,

Though she is your comrade and the wife of your youth.

But not one has done this 15

Who had a remnant of spirituality.

And what was that one seeking?

Godly offspring?

So take heed to your spiritual life,

And let none be faithless to the wife of his youth.

"For one who hates and divorces," 16

Says the LORD God of Israel,

"Covers his clothing with violence,"

Says the LORD of hosts.

"So take heed of your spiritual life, and do not be faithless."

THE NEAR APPROACH OF THE DAY OF JUDGMENT,

2:17-3:5

You have wearied the LORD with 17 your statements.

Yet you say, "How have we wearied him?"
 In that you say, "Everyone who does evil
 Is good in the eyes of the LORD,
 And he takes pleasure in them";
 Or "Where is the God of justice?"

3 "Behold, I will send forth my messenger,
 And he shall prepare the way before me!
 And suddenly to his temple shall come
 The Lord whom you are seeking!
 And the messenger of the covenant in whom you delight—Behold, he comes," says the LORD of
 hosts.

2 "Who can endure the day of his coming?
 And who can stand when he appears?
 For he shall be like a refiner's fire,
 And like fullers' soap.

3 And he shall sit down as a refiner and cleanser of silver,
 And shall cleanse the sons of Levi.

"He shall purify them like gold and silver,
 So that they shall become for the LORD men who bring him offerings in righteousness.

4 Then the offering of Judah and Jerusalem shall be pleasing to the
 LORD,
 As in days of old and as in former years.

5 "Then I will draw near to you for judgment,
 And I will be a swift witness Against the sorcerers and adulterers,
 And against those who swear to falsehood;
 And against those who oppress the hiring in his wages,
 The widow and the orphan;
 And those who defraud the resident alien,
 And do not fear me," says the LORD
 of hosts.

THE PAYMENT OF TITHES WINS THE FAVOR OF GOD,
 3:6-12

6 "Though I, the LORD, change not,
 You, O sons of Jacob, are not destroyed.

From the days of your fathers you have revolted
 From my statutes, and have not kept
 them.
 Return unto me, that I may return to
 you,"
 Says the LORD of hosts.

"But you say, 'How shall we return?'
 Should man rob God?
 Yet you are robbing me!
 But you say, 'How have we robbed
 thee?'"

In the tithe and the contribution!
 With a curse are you accursed;
 For you are robbing me; this whole nation!

Bring the whole tithe into the store-
 house,
 That there may be food in my house,
 And test me now in this way," says
 the LORD of hosts,

"And see if I will not open for you the windows of the heavens,
 And pour out for you a blessing until there is no more need.

"Then I will rebuke the devourer for
 you,
 So that he shall not destroy for you the products of the soil.

Nor shall the vine in the field cast its grapes for you,"
 Says the LORD of hosts.

"And all the nations shall call you blessed,
 For you shall be a land of delight,"
 Says the LORD of hosts.

THE FINAL TRIUMPH OF THE
 RIGHTEOUS, 3:13-4:6

"Your words have been stout against me," says the LORD.

"But you say, 'How have we spoken against thee?'"

You say, 'It is useless to serve God;
 And what profit is it that we have kept his charge,

And have walked in mourning before
 the LORD of hosts?

So now we are deeming the arrogant fortunate;

The doers of wickedness, indeed, are built up;

In fact, they test God, and escape!'"

Thus did those who reverence the LORD talk

To one another,
So that the LORD gave heed and listened,

And a book of remembrance was written before him,

Concerning those who revere the LORD and think upon his name.

17 So they shall be mine," says the LORD of hosts,

"On the day that I am about to make—my very own;

And I will spare them even as a man spares his son who serves him.

18 Then shall you again distinguish between the righteous and the wicked,

Between him who serves God, and him who serves him not.

19 "For behold, the day shall come burning like an oven,

And all the arrogant and every doer of wickedness shall be stubble,

And the day that comes shall burn them up," says the LORD of hosts,

"So that it will leave them neither root nor branch.

But for you who revere my name, 2 there will arise

The sun of righteousness, with healing in its wings.

And you shall go forth skipping like calves from the stall,

And you shall trample upon the wicked; 3

For they shall be dust under the soles of your feet,

On the day that I am about to make," says the LORD of hosts.

"Remember the law of Moses, my servant, 4

Which I commanded him in Horeb for all Israel—

Statutes and ordinances.

Behold, I will send you Elijah the 5 prophet,

Before the coming of the great and terrible day of the LORD;

And he shall turn the hearts of fathers 6 toward their sons,

And the hearts of sons toward their fathers,

Lest I come and smite the land with a curse."

THE APOCRYPHA
AN AMERICAN TRANSLATION

by

EDGAR J. GOODSPEED

PREFACE

THE Apocrypha formed an integral part of the King James Version of 1611, as they had of all the preceding English versions from their beginning in 1382. But they are seldom printed as part of it any longer, still more seldom as part of the English Revised Version, and were not included in the American Revision.

This is partly because the Puritans disapproved of them; they had already begun to drop them from printings of their Geneva Bible by 1600, and began to demand copies of the King James Version omitting them, as early as 1629. And it is partly because we moderns discredit them because they did not form part of the Hebrew Bible and most of them have never been found in any Hebrew forms at all.

But they were part of the Bible of the early church, for it used the Greek version of the Jewish Bible, which we call the Septuagint, and these books were all in that version. They passed from it into Latin and the great Latin Bible edited by St. Jerome about A.D. 400, the Vulgate, which became the Authorized Bible of western Europe and England and remained so for a thousand years. But Jerome found that they were not in the Hebrew Bible, and so he called them the Apocrypha, the hidden or secret books.

It must not be supposed, however, that Jerome gathered them into a group and put them at the end of his Old Testament version. On the contrary, they are scattered here and there through the Vulgate, much as they are through the Greek Bible. They are also scattered through the versions made from the Vulgate—the Wyclif-Purvey English translations and the old German Bible, both products of the fourteenth century. It remained for Luther to take the hint Jerome had dropped eleven hundred years before, and to separate them in his German Bible of 1534 from the rest of the Old Testament, and put them after it. This course was followed the next year by Coverdale, in the first printed English Bible, of 1535; and the English Authorized Bibles, the Great Bible, the Bishops' and the King James, all followed the same course. The Catholic English Old Testament of 1610, however, followed the Vulgate arrangement and left them scattered among the books which we include in our Old Testament. It still contains them, but on the Protestant side both British and American Bible societies more than a hundred years ago (1827) took a definite stand against their publication, and they have since almost disappeared.

Great values reside in the Apocrypha: the Prayer of Manasseh is a notable piece of liturgy; I Maccabees is of great historical value for its story of Judaism in the second century before Christ, the heroic days of Judas Maccabeus and his brothers, when Pharisaism had its rise. The additions to Esther impart a religious color to that romantic story; Judith, Susanna, and Tobit, while fascinating pieces of fiction, were meant by their writers to teach important lessons to their contemporaries. Wisdom and Ecclesiasticus are among the masterpieces of the Jewish sages.

But to us this appendix of the Old Testament is important as forming a very necessary link between the Old Testament and the New; and if we had no Old Testament at all, the Apocrypha would still be indispensable to the student of the New Testament, on which it forms the prelude and background. This is why I have prepared an American translation of the Apocrypha, to complete our American translation of the Bible, and to make its various books more intelligibly accessible to college and university student and to the general reader. The strong contrast they present in sheer moral values to the New Testament is most instructive. And they form an indispensable part of the historical Christian Bible, as it was known in the ancient Greek and Latin churches, in the Reformation and the Renaissance, and in all Authorized English Bibles, Catholic and Protestant.

The excellent critical Greek text of the Septuagint recently published at Stuttgart by Alfred Rahlfs has in general been followed in this translation, supplemented, of course, by other studies on the Apocrypha, especially the volumes edited by R. H. Charles at Oxford in 1913. For II Esdras, for which only a Latin text buttressed by oriental versions survives, I have made use of the critical labors of Bensly, James, Box, and Violet. The Revised Version and the translations of individual books by some of the contributors to Charles's volumes (Apocrypha and Pseudepigrapha) and others have greatly helped the translator. In the vexed matter of the numbering of the verses the King James Bible of 1611 has been followed. The bracketed verse-numbers in II Esdras 7:[36-105] mark the missing portion discovered by Bensly at Amiens and published in 1875. My brother Charles T. B. Goodspeed, has very kindly read the translation through in proof.

On the whole, the translation of the Apocrypha has been surprisingly neglected. The translators of the Septuagint, Thomson in 1808 and Brenton in 1844, studiously omitted the apocryphal books they encountered in it, and not all of Charles's associates in his impressive volumes made new translations. Single books have here and there been translated from the Greek by individual scholars, but, while Bissell ably revised the King James Apocrypha in 1880, I cannot find that the Apocrypha as a whole have been translated into English since Coverdale in 1535 and Gregory Martin in 1582 translated them from the Latin Vulgate (Martin's version remained unpublished until 1610); or that the Greek Apocrypha as a whole, that is, all the books except II Esdras, have ever before been directly translated from Greek into English.

Coverdale's translation of the Apocrypha in his Bible of 1535 was made from the Latin Vulgate, with the aid of Pagninus' Latin and of recent German translations, especially Luther's. Coverdale's Bible became the basis of successive revisions—Matthew's Great Bible, the Bishops', and the King James. The Geneva revisers of 1560, however, knew Greek, and contributed retranslations from the Greek of two of the books, along with revisions of the others. Revision of the translation in the light of the Greek continued to some degree in the Bishops' and the King James Bibles; in the English Revised Version of 1895 six more books appear virtually retranslated from the Greek and the rest revised. But even in it, five books remain revisions, however faithful. Coverdale's translation of the Vulgate, so that our standard versions of the Apocrypha (and aside from Bissell's revision there are no others), though three or four times revised, still to a substantial degree rest ultimately upon the Latin Vulgate.

In contrast with them, the translation here presented is, except for the Latin II Esdras, based directly upon the Greek text.

THE FIRST BOOK OF ESDRAS

WHEN Josiah celebrated the Passover festival in Jerusalem to his Lord, he sacrificed the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month, placing the priests in their divisions, clad in their vestments, in the temple of the Lord. And he ordered the Levites, the temple slaves of Israel, to consecrate themselves to the Lord, when they put the holy chest of the Lord in the house of the Lord, which Solomon the king, the son of David, had built; and he said, "You will not have to carry it on your shoulders any more; so now worship the Lord your God, and serve his people, Israel, and prepare yourselves by your families and kindreds, as David, king of Israel, wrote, and with all the magnificence of Solomon his son; and take your places in the temple, according to your ancestral groups as Levites before your brothers, the Israelites, in proper order, and sacrifice the Passover, and get the sacrifices ready for your brothers, and observe the Passover, in accordance with the Lord's command which was given to Moses." And Josiah gave the people that were present thirty thousand lambs and kids, and three thousand calves; these were given out of the king's revenues, as he promised, to the people and the priests and Levites. And Hilkiah and Zechariah and Jehiel, the rulers of the temple, gave the priests for the Passover two thousand, six hundred sheep and three hundred calves. And Jecooniah and Shemaiah and Nathanael, his brother, and Asabiah and Ochiel and Joram, colonels of regiments, gave the Levites for the Passover five thousand sheep and seven hundred calves. And it was done; the priests and Levites, with the unleavened bread, stood in proper order, according to their kindreds and their family divisions, before the people, to make the offering to the Lord, as it is prescribed in the book of Moses; this they did in the morning. They roasted the Passover with fire in the proper way, and boiled the sacrifices in caldrons and basins, with savory odors, and set them before all the people. Afterward they prepared some for themselves and their brothers the priests, the sons of Aaron; for the priests were offering the fat until late, so the Levites prepared meat for themselves and for their brothers the priests, the sons of Aaron. The sacred musicians, too, the sons of Asaph, were in their places, according to the regulations of David, with Asaph and Zechariah and Eddinus, who were of the king's circle, and the doorkeepers stood at each door. No one needed to interrupt his duties for the day, for their brothers, the Levites, prepared meat for them. So the things that had to do with the Lord's sacrifices were carried out that day, in celebrating the Passover and offering the sacrifices on the altar of the Lord, as King Josiah commanded. So the Israelites who were present at that time observed the Passover and the festival of Unleavened Bread for seven days. No such Passover had been celebrated in Israel since the times of the prophet Samuel, and none of the kings of Israel had celebrated such a Passover as Josiah and the priests and the Levites and the Jews celebrated with all the Israelites that were present in their dwellings in Jerusalem. It was in the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah that this Passover was observed. And the doings of Josiah were upright in the Lord's sight, for his heart was full of piety. And the events of his times have been recorded in the past about those who sinned and acted wickedly toward the Lord, beyond any other nation or kingdom, and how they grieved him keenly, so that the words of the Lord rose up to condemn Israel.

After all these doings of Josiah, it happened that Pharaoh, king of Egypt, came to make war at Carchemish on the Euphrates, and Josiah went out to encounter him. And the king of Egypt sent word to him, saying,

"What do you want of me, King of 27

Judah? I was not sent against you by the Lord God, for my war is on the Euphrates. And now the Lord is with me! The Lord is with me, urging me on; depart and do not oppose the Lord."

- 28 But Josiah would not turn back to his chariot, but tried to fight with him, disregarding the words of Jeremiah the prophet, spoken by the mouth of the Lord, and joined battle with him in the plain of Megiddo, and the leaders fought against King Josiah. And the king said to his servants,

"Take me away from the battle, for I am very sick."

- And his servants immediately took him out of the fray. And he got into his second chariot, and was taken back to Jerusalem, and departed this life, and was buried in the tomb of his forefathers. And they grieved for Josiah all over Judah, and Jeremiah the prophet lamented for Josiah, and the principal men, with the women, have mourned him to this day; and it was ordained that this should always be done, throughout all the nation of Israel.
- 33 This is recorded in the scroll of the histories of the kings of Judah; and every one of the deeds of Josiah, and his splendor, and his understanding of the Law of the Lord, and what he had done before, and these present deeds, are told in the scroll of the kings of Israel and Judah.

- 34 And the men of the nation took Jeconiah, the son of Josiah, and made him king, to succeed Josiah his father, when he was twenty-three years old.

- 35 And he reigned three months in Judah and Jerusalem. Then the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Jerusalem, and he assessed the nation a hundred talents of silver and one talent of gold. And the king of Egypt appointed Jehoiakim, his brother, king of Judah and Jerusalem. And Jehoiakim put the nobles in prison and seized his brother Zarius and brought him back from Egypt.

- 39 Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king of Judah and Jerusalem, and he did what was wrong in the sight of the Lord. And Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, came against him, and put him in chains of brass and took him to Babylon. (And Nebuchadnezzar took some of the sacred dishes of the Lord and carried them off and set them up in his temple in Babylon. But the stories about him and his uncleanness and his impious behavior are written in the chronicles of the kings.)

And Jehoiachin, his son, became king in his stead; for when he was made king, he was eighteen years old, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem, and did what was wrong in the sight of the Lord. And a year later, Nebuchadnezzar sent and removed him to Babylon, with the sacred dishes of the Lord, and appointed Zedekiah king of Judah and Jerusalem, when Zedekiah was twenty-one years old. And he reigned eleven years. And he did what was wrong in the sight of the Lord, and disregarded the words that were spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, from the mouth of the Lord. And although King Nebuchadnezzar had made him swear by the name of the lord, he broke his oath and rebelled, and he hardened his neck and his heart and transgressed the laws of the Lord, the God of Israel. And the leaders of the people and of the priests did many impious acts and surpassed in lawlessness all the unclean acts of all the heathen, and polluted the temple of the Lord that had been consecrated in Jerusalem. And the God of their forefathers sent by his messenger to call them back, for he would have spared them and his dwelling; but they mocked his messengers, and whenever the Lord spoke to them, they made sport of his prophets, until he grew angry with his people because of their ungodliness and ordered the kings of the Chaldeans to be brought against them. These killed their young men with the sword around their holy temple, and did not spare youth or maiden, old man or child, for he delivered them all into their hands. And all the sacred dishes of the Lord, great and small, and the chests of the Lord, and the royal treasures they took, and carried them off to Babylon. And they burned the house of the Lord, and tore down the walls of Jerusalem, and burned down their towers, and completely ruined all her glories. And those who survived the sword he removed to Babylon. And they were his servants; and those of his children, until the Persians began to reign; to fulfil what the Lord said by the mouth of Jeremiah.

58 "Until the land enjoys its sabbaths, all the time of her desolation she shall keep the sabbath, until the lapse of seventy years."

2 In the first year that Cyrus reigned over Persia, to fulfil what the Lord said by the mouth of Jeremiah, the Lord stirred the heart of Cyrus, king of Persia, and he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it in writing, saying,

"Thus speaks Cyrus, king of Persia: The Lord of Israel, the Lord Most High, has made me king of the world, and directed me to build him a house in Jerusalem, in Judah. So if any one of you is of his people, his Lord be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem, in Judah, and build the house of the Lord of Israel; he is the Lord who lives in Jerusalem. So let a man's neighbors, who live in each place, help him with gold and silver, with presents, with horses and cattle, beside the other things added as vows for the temple of the Lord in Jerusalem."

8 Then the heads of families of the tribe of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin arose, and the priests and the Levites, and all whose hearts the Lord had stirred to go up to build the house in Jerusalem for the Lord. And their neighbors helped them with everything, with silver and gold, with horses and cattle, and a great many vows from many whose hearts were stirred.

10 And King Cyrus brought out the sacred dishes of the Lord, which Nebuchadnezzar had carried off from Jerusalem, and deposited in the temple of his idols; but Cyrus, king of Persia, brought them out, and delivered them to his treasurer Mithridates, and they were turned over by him to Sheshbazzar, the governor of Judah. And this was the number of them: a thousand gold cups, a thousand silver cups, twenty-nine silver censers, thirty gold bowls, two thousand, four hundred and ten silver bowls, and a thousand other dishes. So all the dishes, gold and silver, five thousand, four hundred and sixty-nine, were taken and carried back by Sheshbazzar, along with those who had been in captivity, from Babylon to Jerusalem.

16 But in the times of Artaxerxes, king of Persia, Bishlam, Mithridates, Ta-beel, Rehum, the recorder, and Shimshai, the scribe, and the others associated with them, living in Samaria and other places, wrote him the following letter, against those who lived in Judah and Jerusalem:

"To King Artaxerxes our Lord, your servants Rehum, the recorder, and Shimshai, the scribe, and the other judges of their court in Coelesyria and Phoenicia; now be it known to our lord the king, that the Jews who have come up to us from you have reached Jerusalem and are rebuilding that rebellious and wicked city and repairing its bazaars and walls and laying the foundations of a temple. Now if this city is rebuilt and its walls completed, they will not submit to paying tribute, but will even resist the kings. And since the matter of the temple is now under way, we think it right not to neglect such a matter, but to address our lord the king, so that, if you approve, a search may be made in the records of your forefathers; for you will find in their chronicles what is written about them, and you will learn that this city was rebellious, troublesome to kings and towns, and that the Jews were rebels and organizers of warfare in it from ancient times; that was why the city was laid waste. We now therefore inform you, lord king, that if this city is rebuilt, and its walls restored, you will no longer have a way of access to Coelesyria and Phoenicia."

Then the king wrote in reply to Rehum, the recorder, and Shimshai, the scribe, and their associates, who lived in Samaria, Syria, and Phoenicia, as follows:

"I have read the letter which you sent me. I accordingly ordered search to be made, and it was found that this city from ancient times used to rebel against the kings, and the people created revolts and wars in it, and that stern and powerful kings ruled in Jerusalem, and took tribute from Coelesyria and Phoenicia. Therefore I have now given orders to prevent these men from rebuilding the city, and to take measures that nothing further be done and that these wicked undertakings go no farther, to the annoyance of the kings."

When the message of King Artaxerxes was read, Rehum and Shimshai, the scribe, and their associates proceeded in haste to Jerusalem, with horsemen and a crowd of troops and began to hinder the builders. So the rebuilding of the temple in Jerusalem was suspended until the second year of the reign of Darius, king of Persia.

- 3 Now King Darius made a great banquet for all his subjects, and all his domestics, and all the nobles of Media and Persia, and all the viceroys and provincial and district governors under his sway, in the hundred and twenty-seven provinces from India to Ethiopia.
- 3 And they ate and drank, and when they were satisfied, they went home, but Darius the king went to his bedroom,
- 4 and fell asleep, and then awoke. Then the three young men of his bodyguard, who kept guard over the person of the king, said to one another,
- 5 "Let us each say what one thing is strongest, and Darius the king will give rich presents and great honors to the one whose words seem the wisest, and have him dressed in purple, and drink from gold plate, and sleep on a gold bed, and give him a chariot with gold bridles, and a linen headdress, and a necklace around his neck, and because of his wisdom he shall sit next to Darius, and be called Darius' kinsman."
- 8 Then they each wrote his own answer and put his seal on it, and put them under the pillow of King Darius,
- 9 and said,
- "When the king wakes up, they will give him the writing, and the one whose choice the king and the three princes of Persia judge the wisest, shall be considered the victor in what he has written."
- 10 The first wrote,
"Wine is strongest."
- 11 The second wrote,
"The king is strongest."
- 12 The third wrote,
"Women are strongest, but truth prevails over everything."
- 13 So when the king awoke, they took the writing and gave it to him and he
- 14 read it. Then he sent and summoned all the nobles of Persia and Media, and the governors and officers and magistrates and officials, and he took his seat in the council chamber, and what was written was read before them.
- 16 And he said,

"Summon the young men, and let them show their reasons."

And they were summoned, and came in. And they said to them,

"Explain to us about what you have written."

So the first one, who had told of the strength of wine, began and said,

"Gentlemen, how supremely strong wine is! It leads the minds of all who drink it astray. It makes the mind of the king and the mind of the fatherless child alike; the mind of the menial and the freeman, of the poor and the rich. It turns every thought to mirth and merrymaking, and forgets all grief and debt. It makes all hearts rich, and forgets kings and governors, and makes everybody talk in thousands. And when they drink, they forget to be friendly to friends and brothers, and very soon they draw their swords. And when they recover from their wine, they cannot remember what they have done. Gentlemen, is not wine supremely strong, since it forces them to act so?"

When he had said this, he stopped.

Then the second, who had told of the king's might, began to speak:

"Gentlemen, are not men strongest, because they control land and sea, and all that is in them? But the king is supremely strong, and is lord and master of them, and every command he gives them they obey. If he orders them to make war on one another, they do so; and if he sends them out against the enemy, they go, and surmount mountains, walls, and towers. They kill and are killed, but they do not disobey the king's command. And if they are victorious, they bring everything to the king, the spoils they take and all the rest. And those who do not go to war or fight, but till the soil, again, when they sow and reap, bring it to the king, and they compel one another to pay taxes to the king. He is only one man; but if he orders them to kill, they kill; if he orders them to release, they release; if he orders them to strike down, they strike; if he orders them to lay waste, they lay waste; if he orders them to build, they build; if he orders them to cut down, they cut down; if he orders them to plant, they plant. So all his people and his troops obey him. Besides, he reclines at table, he eats and 11 drinks and sleeps, and they keep watch about him, and they cannot any of them go away and look after his own 12 affairs, or disobey him at all. Gentlemen, how can the king not be strongest, when he is so obeyed?"

And he stopped.

13 Then the third, who had spoken of women and of truth—his name was Zerubbabel—began to speak:

14 "Gentlemen, is not the king great, and are not men many, and is not wine strong? Who is it then that rules over them and masters them? Is it not 15 women? Women have borne the king and all the people, who are lords of 16 sea and land; from them they are sprung, and they brought them up, to plant the vineyards, from which the 17 wine comes. They make men's clothes, they make men's splendor, and men 18 cannot exist without women. Why, if men amass gold and silver, and everything of beauty, and then see one woman remarkable for looks and 19 beauty, they let all these things go, and gape at her, and stare at her with open mouths, and would all rather have her than gold or silver or any thing of 20 beauty. A man will leave his own father, who brought him up, and his own country, and be united to his wife. 21 With his wife he ends his days, and remembers neither his father nor his 22 mother nor his country. Hence you must recognize that women rule over men. Do you not toil and labor, and bring it all and give it to your wives?

23 A man takes his sword and goes out on expeditions to rob and steal, and to sail 24 the sea and the rivers; he faces the lion and walks in the darkness, and when he steals and robs and plunders, he brings 25 it back to the woman he loves. So a man loves his wife better than his father or 26 mother. Many have lost their heads completely for the sake of women, and 27 become slaves for their sakes. Many have perished, or failed, or sinned for 28 the sake of women. Now do you not believe me? Is not the king great in his power? Do not all lands fear even 29 to touch him? Yet I have seen him with Apame, the king's concubine, the daughter of the noble Bartacus, sitting 30 at the king's right hand, and taking the crown from the king's head, and putting it on her own, and she slapped the king 31 with her left hand. At this the king stared at her open-mouthed. If she smiled at him, he laughed; if she grew angry at him, he flattered her, so that she might be reconciled to him again. Gentlemen, how can women not be 32 mighty, when they act like that?"

Then the king and the nobles looked 33 at one another; and he began to speak about truth:

"Gentlemen, are not women mighty? 34 The earth is vast, and heaven is high, and the sun is swift in his course, for he circles about the heavens and hastens back to his own starting-point in a single day. Is he not great who does 35 these things? So truth is great, and mightier than all other things. The 36 whole earth calls upon truth, and heaven blesses her; all his works quake and tremble, there is no wrongdoing with him. Wine is not upright, the king 37 is not upright, women are not upright, all the sons of men are not upright, and all their doings, all such things, are not upright; there is no truth in them, and through their unrighteousness they will perish. But truth endures and is 38 strong forever, and lives and reigns forever and ever. There is no partiality or 39 preference with her, but she does what is right, rather than all that is wrong and wicked. All men approve her doings, and there is no injustice in her 40 judgment. To her belongs power and the royal dignity and authority and majesty in all the ages; blessed be the God of truth!"

When he stopped speaking, all the 41 people shouted and said,

"Truth is great and supremely strong."

Then the king said to him, 42

"Ask whatever you please, beyond what is written here, and we will give it to you, since you have been found the wisest. You shall sit next to me, and be called my kinsman,"

Then he said to the king, 43

"Remember the vow that you made, the day you succeeded to your throne, to rebuild Jerusalem and send back 44 the dishes taken from Jerusalem, which Cyrus set aside, when he vowed to destroy Babylon, and to send them back there. And you vowed to rebuild 45 the house, which the Edomites burned, when Jerusalem had been laid waste by the Chaldeans. So now, my lord the 46 king, that is what I ask and request of you, and this is the princely liberality to come from you: I beg you to carry out the vow that you vowed with your own lips to the King of Heaven that you would carry out."

47 Then Darius, the king, got up and kissed him, and he wrote letters for him to all his managers and magistrates and officers and governors, to escort him in safety with all who were going up with him to rebuild Jerusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the magistrates in Coelesyria and Phoenicia and to those in the Lebanon, to bring cedar timbers from the Lebanon to Jerusalem and that they should help

49 him to rebuild the city. And he wrote in the interest of all the Jews who were going up from his kingdom to Judah, to secure their freedom, that no noble or governor or magistrate or manager

50 should forcibly enter their doors, and that all the country which they were to occupy they should possess free from tribute; and that the Edomites should give up the Jewish villages which they

51 controlled, and that twenty talents a year should be given for the rebuilding of the temple, until it was completed,

52 and ten talents a year besides, to provide burnt offerings to be offered daily upon the altar, in accordance with the command they had to offer seventeen,

53 and that all who came up from Babylon to rebuild the city should have their freedom, they and their children

54 and all the priests who came up. He wrote providing their expenses also, and the priestly vestments in which

55 they officiate. And he wrote that the Levites' expenses should be provided until the day when the house should be

56 finished and Jerusalem rebuilt. And he wrote that lots of land and wages should be given to all who guarded the 57 city. And he sent back all the dishes from Babylon, which Cyrus had set aside; and all that Cyrus had ordered done he commanded them to do and to send back to Jerusalem.

58 When the young man went out, he lifted his face to heaven toward Jerusalem, and praised the King of Heaven, saying,

"From you comes victory, from you comes wisdom; to you belongs glory, and I am your servant. Blessed are you, who have given me wisdom; I praise you, Lord of my forefathers."

And he took the letters and went to Babylon, and reported it to all his brothers. And they blessed the God of their forefathers, because he had given them relief and liberty to go up and rebuild Jerusalem and the temple which was called by his name; and they banqueted with music and gladness for seven days.

After this the heads of families were chosen to go up, according to their clans, with their wives and sons and daughters, and their male and female slaves, and their cattle. And Darius sent with them a thousand horsemen, to escort them back to Jerusalem in peace, with music of drums and flutes (for all their brothers made merry); he made them go up with them.

These are the names of the men who went up, by their families within their tribes, for their priestly office: of the priests, the sons of Phineas, the son of Aaron; Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, the son of Seraiah, and Joakim, the son of Zerubbabel, the son of Salathiel, of the house of David, of the line of Phares, of the tribe of Judah, who uttered wise sayings before Darius, the king of Persia, in the second year of his reign, in the month of Nisan, the first month.

These are those from Judah who went up after their sojourn in captivity, whom Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had removed to Babylon, and who returned to Jerusalem and the rest of Judah, each one to his own town, going with Zerubbabel and Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Resaiah, Bigvai, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Reeliah, Rehum, and Baanah, their leaders; the numbers of those of the nation, and their leaders: the descendants of Parosh, two thousand, one hundred and seventy-two; of the descendants of Shephathiah, four hundred and seventy-two; the descendants of Arah, seven hundred and fifty-six; the descendants of Pahath-moab, of the descendants of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand, eight hundred and twelve; the descendants of Elam, one thousand, two hundred and fifty-four; the descendants of Zattu, nine hundred and forty-five; the descendants of Chorbe, seven hundred and five; the descendants of Binnui, six hundred and forty-eight; the descendants of Bebai, six hundred and twenty-three; the descendants of Azgad, one thousand, three hundred and twenty-14 two; the descendants of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty-seven; the descendants of Bigvai, two thousand and sixty-six; the descendants of Adin, four 15 hundred and fifty-four; the descendants of Ater, the son of Hezekiah, ninety-two; the descendants of Kilan and Azetas, sixty-seven; the descendants of Azuru, four hundred and 16 thirty-two; the descendants of Annias, one hundred and one; the descendants of Arom: the descendants of Bezai, three hundred and twenty-three; the descendants of Jorah, one hundred and 17 twelve; the descendants of Baiterus, three thousand and five; the descendants of Bethlehem, one hundred and 18 twenty-three; the men of Netophah, fifty-five; the men of Anathoth, one hundred and fifty-eight; the men of 19 Bethasmoth, forty-two; the men of Kirjath-jeirim, twenty-five; the men of Chephirah and Beeroth, seven hundred 20 and forty-three; the Chadiusans and Ammidians, four hundred and twenty-two; the men of Ramah and Geba, 21 six hundred and twenty-one; the men of Michmash, one hundred and twenty-two; the men of Bethel-Ai, fifty-two;

 the descendants of Magbish, one hun-22 dred and fifty-six; the descendants of the other Elam and Ono, seven hundred and twenty-five; the descendants of Jericho, three hundred and forty-23 five; the descendants of Senaah, three thousand, three hundred and thirty.
 24 Of the priests: the descendants of Jedaiah, of the house of Jeshua, among the descendants of Anasib, nine hundred and seventy-two; the descendants of Immer, one thousand and fifty-25 two; the descendants of Pashhur, one thousand, two hundred and forty-seven; the descendants of Harim, one thousand and seventeen.
 26 Of the Levites: the descendants of Jeshua and Kadmiel and Bannas and 27 Sudias, seventy-four; of the sacred singers: the descendants of Asaph, one hundred and twenty-eight; of the door-28 keepers: the descendants of Shallum, the descendants of Ater, the descend-the descendants of the servants of Solomon were three hundred and seventy-two.

These are those who went up from 36
 Telmelah and Telharsha, under the leadership of Cherub, Adan, and Immer, but were not able to show by their 37 families or lineage that they belonged to Israel: the descendants of Delaiah the descendant of Tobiah, the descendants of Nekoda, six hundred and fifty-two. And of those of the priests 38 who had assumed the priesthood but were not found registered: the descendants of Habaiah, the descendants

- of Hakkoz, the descendants of Jaddus who married Agia, one of the daughters of Barzillai, and was called by his name.
- 39 And when the ancestry of these men was looked for in the register, and could not be found, they were excluded from officiating as priests. And Nehemiah and the governor told them not to share in the consecrated things until a high priest should appear clothed in the Manifestation and the Truth.
- 41 In all, there were: of Israel, over twelve years of age, besides male and female slaves, forty-two thousand, three hundred and sixty; of their male and female slaves, seven thousand, three hundred and thirty-seven; of musicians and singers, two hundred and forty-five.
- 43 There were four hundred and thirty-five camels, and seven thousand and thirty-six horses, two hundred and forty-five mules, and five thousand, five hundred and twenty-five asses.
- 44 And some of the principal heads of families, when they reached the temple of God in Jerusalem, vowed that they would erect the house in its old place,
- 45 to the best of their ability, and that they would give to the sacred building fund a thousand minas in gold and five thousand minas in silver, and a hundred priest's garments.
- 46 So the priests and the Levites and some of the people settled in Jerusalem and the country, and the sacred singers and the doorkeepers and all Israel settled in their villages.
- 47 When the seventh month came, and the Israelites were all at home, they gathered as one man in the square in front of the first gate toward the east.
- 48 And Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and his brothers the priests, and Zerubbabel, the son of Salathiel, and his brothers took their places and prepared the altar of the God of Israel,
- 49 in order to offer on it burnt offerings, as is directed in the book of Moses, the man of God. And they were joined by some of the other peoples of the land, and they erected the altar in its place; for though they had been hostile to them, all the people in the land supported them, and brought sacrifices at the proper times, and the morning and evening burnt offerings for the Lord,
- 51 and they kept the Camping Out festival, as it is prescribed in the Law, and they brought sacrifices every day, when it was proper, and besides these the regular offerings and sacrifices on sabbaths and new moons and all the sacred festival days. And all who had made voluntary gifts to God began to offer sacrifices to God, beginning with the new moon of the seventh month, though the temple of God was not yet rebuilt. And they paid money to the masons and carpenters, and gave food and drink and carts to the Sidonians and Tyrians, to bring cedar timbers from the Lebanon and convey them in rafts to the harbor of Joppa, as Cyrus, the king of Persia, had commanded them in writing.

In the second year Zerubbabel, the son of Salathiel, came to the temple of God in Jerusalem, and in the second month he began with Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and their brothers, and the Levitical priests and all who had come back from the exile to Jerusalem, and they laid the foundation of the temple of God on the new moon of the second month, in the second year, after they came to Judah and Jerusalem. And they appointed the Levites who were over twenty years old to have charge of the work of the Lord. And Jeshua rose up and his sons and his brothers and Kadmiel his brother and the sons of Jeshua Emadabun and the sons of Joda, the son of Iliadun, with their sons and brothers, all the Levites, as one man pressing forward the work on the house of God.

And the builders built the sanctuary of the Lord, and the priests stood in their robes, with musical instruments and trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with their cymbals, praising the Lord and blessing him, according to the directions of David, king of Israel, and they sang loudly, giving thanks to the Lord with hymns, because all Israel enjoys his goodness and his glory forever. And all the people sounded trumpets and gave a great shout, praising the Lord for the erection of the house of the Lord. And some of the Levitical priests and the older men among the heads of their families, who had seen the house that preceded this one, came to the building of this house with outcries and loud lamentation, while many came with trumpets and a great shout of joy, so that the people could not hear the trumpets on account of the lamentation, for the multitude sounded the trumpets loudly, so that it was heard a long way off.

66 And when the enemies of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin heard it, they came to find out what the sound of the trumpets meant. And they learned that those who had returned from captivity were building the sanctuary
68 for the Lord, the God of Israel, and they went to Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the heads of families, and said to them,

69 "We will help you build, for we, like you, obey your Lord, and have sacrificed to him from the days of Esarhad-don, king of Assyria, who brought us here."

70 Then Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the heads of families of Israel said to them, "It is not for you and us to build the 71 house for the Lord our God, for we will build it by ourselves for the Lord of Israel, as Cyrus, the king of Persia, has commanded us."

72 But the heathen of the land pressed upon those who were in Judea, and, blockading them, hindered them from 73 building, and by making plots and stirring up the people and uprisings they prevented the completion of the building all the lifetime of King Cyrus. So they were kept from building for two years, until the reign of Darius.

6 But in the second year of the reign of Darius, the prophets Haggai and Zechariah, the son of Iddo, prophesied to the Jews who were in Judea and Jerusalem, prophesying to them in the name of the Lord, the God of Israel.
2 Then Zerubbabel, the son of Salathiel, and Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, got up and began to build the house of the Lord that was in Jerusalem, while the prophets of the Lord joined them and helped them.

3 At that very time there came to them Sisinnus, the governor of Syria and Phoenicia, and Sathrabuzanes and their companions, and said to them,

4 "By whose orders are you building this house, and completing this roof and all these other things? And who are the builders who are carrying this out?"

5 Still the elders of the Jews were shown favor, for the Lord had regard 6 for the captives, and they were not prevented from building until Darius was informed about them and orders were issued.

This is the copy of a letter which 7 Sisinnus, the governor of Syria and Phoenicia, and Sathrabuzanes and their companions wrote and sent to Darius:

"Greetings to King Darius. Let it all 8 be known to our lord the king that when we went to the country of Judea and entered the city of Jerusalem, we found the elders of the Jews, who had been in captivity, building in the city of 9 Jerusalem a great, new house for the Lord, of costly hewn stone, with timbers set in the walls, and we found this 10 work proceeding with haste, and the undertaking prospering in their hands, and being completed with all glory and diligence. Then we inquired of these 11 elders and said,

"At whose command are you building this house, and laying the foundations of these works?"

"Then in order to inform you and 12 write to you, we inquired of them what men were the leaders, and asked them for a list of the names of those who were taking the lead. And they an-13 swered and said,

"We are servants of the Lord who created the heaven and the earth. And 14 the house was built many years ago by a king of Israel who was great and strong, and was finished. And when 15 our forefathers sinned against the heavenly Lord of Israel and provoked him, he delivered them into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Baby-16 lon, the king of the Chaldeans; and they tore the house down and burned it, and carried the people away as captives to Babylon. But in the first 17 year of the reign of Cyrus over Baby-18 lonia, Cyrus the king wrote an order that this house be rebuilt. And the 19 sacred dishes of gold and silver that Nebuchadnezzar had carried away from the house at Jerusalem, and set up in his own sanctuary, Cyrus the king brought forth again from the sanctuary in Babylon, and they were given to Zerubbabel and Sheshbazzar, the gov-20 ernor, and he was instructed to carry all these dishes back and put them back in the sanctuary in Jerusalem, and that this sanctuary of the Lord should be rebuilt on the same spot. Then this 20 Sheshbazzar, after coming here, laid the foundations of the house of the Lord that is in Jerusalem, and although it has been under construction from then until now it has not reached completion.' Now therefore, if it meets your approval, O king, let search be made in the royal archives of our lord

21 the king in Babylon, and if it is found that the building of the house of the Lord in Jerusalem was done with the consent of Cyrus the king, and it meets the approval of our lord the king, let him give us orders about this."

22 Then King Darius ordered a search to be made in the royal archives that were deposited in Babylon. And in the castle of Ecbatana, in the land of Media, was found a roll in which this was recorded:

23 "In the first year of the reign of Cyrus, King Cyrus ordered the rebuilding of the house of the Lord in Jerusalem, where they sacrifice with perpetual fire; the height of it to be ninety feet, the width ninety feet, with three courses of hewn stone and a course of new native timber, and the cost to be provided from the house of Cyrus the

24 king; and that the sacred dishes of the house of the Lord, of gold and silver, which Nebuchadnezzar carried away from the house in Jerusalem and removed to Babylon, be restored to the house in Jerusalem to be placed where

25 they were." And he further ordered that Sisinnes, the governor of Syria and Phoenicia, and Sathrabuzanes and their companions and the local governors appointed in Syria and Phoenicia should take care to let the place alone, and to permit Zerubbabel, the servant of the Lord and governor of Judea, and the elders of the Jews, to build the house of the Lord in its old place.

26 "And I command that it be completely built and that they seek earnestly to help the returned captives of Judea, until the house of the Lord is finished;

27 and that a grant from the tribute of Coelesyria and Phoenicia be particularly given these men for sacrifices to the Lord, that is, to Zerubbabel, the governor, for bulls and rams and lambs,

28 and likewise wheat and salt and wine and oil, regularly every year, without objection, as the priests in Jerusalem

29 indicate they are daily used, so that libations may be offered to the Most High God for the King and his children, and that they may pray for their lives."

And he commanded further that, if any transgressed or disregarded any of the things said above or added below, a beam should be taken from his house and he should be hung on it, and his property be taken for the king. "Therefore may the Lord, whose name is called upon there, destroy any king and nation that shall stretch out their hands to hinder or damage that house of the Lord in Jerusalem. I, King Darius, have decreed that it be done in exactly this way."

Then Sisinnes, the governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, and Sathrabuzanes and their companions obeying the orders of Darius the king, looked after the holy work very attentively, assisting the elders of the Jews and the governors of the temple. And the holy work progressed, while the prophets Haggai and Zechariah prophesied; and they completed it at the command of the Lord, the God of Israel; and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius and Artaxerxes, the kings of Persia, the holy house was finished by the twenty-third day of the month of Adar, in the sixth year of King Darius. And the Israelites and the priests and the rest of the returned exiles who had joined them did according to what was in the book of Moses. And they offered at the dedication of the temple of the Lord a hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, and twelve he-goats for the sin of all Israel, to correspond to the number of the twelve princes of the tribes of Israel; and the priests and the Levites stood robed, by tribes, in charge of the service of the Lord God of Israel in accordance with the book of Moses, and the doorkeepers stood at each gate.

And the Israelites who had returned from exile held the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month, for the priests and the Levites had been purified together, but all the returned exiles had not been purified, for the Levites had all been purified together, so they sacrificed the Passover for all the returned exiles and their brothers the priests and themselves. And the Israelites who had returned from exile, and who had separated themselves from the accursed doings of the heathen of the land and sought the Lord, ate it. 14 And they observed the festival of Unleavened Bread for seven days, rejoicing before the Lord, because he had changed the attitude of the king of Assyria toward them, so as to strengthen their hands for the service of the Lord, the God of Israel.

8 Afterward, in the reign of Artaxerxes, the king of Persia, there came Ezra, the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, the son of Shallum, 2 the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, the son of Amariah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki, the son of Abishua, the son of Phineas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, the chief priest. This Ezra came up from Babylon as a scribe, skilled in the law of Moses, which was given by the God of Israel, and the king showed him honor, for he found favor before him in all 5 that he asked. And there came with him to Jerusalem some of the Israelites and the priests and Levites and holy singers and doorkeepers and temple slaves, in the seventh year of the reign of Artaxerxes, in the fifth month (that was the king's seventh year); for they left Babylon on the new moon of the first month, and they reached Jerusalem on the new moon of the fifth month, so prosperous a journey had the Lord 7 given them for his sake. For Ezra possessed great knowledge, so that he neglected nothing that was in the Law of the Lord or the commandments, but taught all Israel all the statutes and ordinances.

8 Now the written commission came from Artaxerxes, the king, to Ezra, the priest and reader of the Law of the Lord, and the following is a copy of it: 9 "King Artaxerxes sends greeting to Ezra, the priest and reader of the Law of the Lord. As I have taken a friendly attitude, I have given orders that those of the Jewish nation who wish to do so, and of the priests and Levites and of the others in our realm shall, if they choose 11 to, go to Jerusalem with you. So let all who think of doing so, set out with you, as I and the seven friends and counselors have decided, to look into matters in Judea and Jerusalem, in accordance with what is in the Law of the Lord, 13 and to carry to the Lord of Israel in Jerusalem the gifts that I and the friends have promised; and that all the gold and silver that can be found in the country of Babylonia for the Lord in Jerusalem, with what has been given 14 by the nation for the temple of their Lord at Jerusalem be collected, both gold and silver for bulls and rams and lambs and the things incident to them, so as to offer offerings upon the altar 15 of their Lord that is in Jerusalem. And 16 all that you with your brothers wish to do with gold and silver carry out, according to the will of your God, and 17 deliver the sacred dishes of the Lord that have been given you for the use of the temple of your God that is in Jerusalem. And anything else that occurs to you as necessary for the temple of your God, you are to give from the royal treasury; and I, Artaxerxes the 19 king, have commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phoenicia that whatever Ezra, the priest and reader of the Law of the Most High God, sends for, they shall take care to give him, up to a 20 hundred talents of silver, and likewise up to a hundred measures (fifteen hundred bushels) of wheat and a hundred measures (a thousand gallons) of wine and salt in abundance; and let every- 21 thing prescribed in the Law of God be scrupulously performed to the Most High God, so that wrath may not come upon the realm of the king and his sons. You are also instructed to lay no tribute 22 or any other tax upon any priests or Levites or sacred singers or porters or temple slaves or persons employed in this temple, and that no one has authority to lay any such tax upon them. And you, Ezra, must appoint justices 23 and judges to judge all through Syria and Phoenicia all who know the Law of your God; and those who do not know it you must teach. And all who trans- 24 gress the Law of your God and of the king will be suitably punished, either with death, or by some other punishment, a fine or imprisonment."

Blessed be the only Lord, who put 25 this into the king's heart, to glorify his house in Jerusalem, and gave me 26 honor in the sight of the king and his councilors and all his friends and grandees. So I was encouraged by the 27 help of the Lord, my God, and I gathered men from Israel to go up with me.

These are the principal men, by their 28 families and their groups, who came up with me from Babylon, in the reign of 29 Artaxerxes the king: of the descend-30 ants of Phineas, Gershom; of the descendants of Ithamar, Gamael; of the descendants of David, Hattush, the 31 son of Shecaniah; of the descendants of Parosh, Zechariah, and with him a 32 hundred and fifty men enrolled; of the descendants of Pahath-moab, Eliohenai, the son of Zeremiah, and with him two hundred men; of the descendants of Zattu, Shecaniah, the son of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred men; of the descendants of Adin, Obed, the son of Jonathan, and with him 33 two hundred and fifty men; of the descendants of Elam, Jeshaiiah, the son of Gotholiah, and with him seventy 34 men; of the descendants of Shephatiah, Zeraiah, the son of Michael, and with 35 him seventy men; of the descendants of Joab, Obadiah, the son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and twelve 36 men; of the descendants of Bani, Shelomith, the son of Josiphiah, and with 37 him a hundred and sixty men; of the descendants of Bebai, Zechariah, the son of Bebai, and with him twenty-38 eight men; of the descendants of Azgad, Johanan, the son of Hakkatan, and with him a hundred and ten men; 39 of the descendants of Adonikam, those who came last, and these were their names: Eliphelet, Jeuel, and Shemaiah, 40 and with them seventy men; and of the descendants of Bigvai, Uthai, the son of Istalcurus, and with him seventy

 men.
 41 So I assembled them at the river called Theras, and we camped there for three days, and I observed them.
 42 And when I found none of the descendants of the priests or of the 43 Levites there, I sent to Eleazar and 44 Iduel and Maasmas and Elnathan and Shemaiah and Jarib, Nathan, Elnathan, Zechariah, and Meshullam, who 45 were leaders and intelligent men, and I told them to go to Iddo, who was in command at the place of the treasury, 46 and ordered them to tell Iddo and his kinsmen and the treasurers at that place to send us men to serve as priests 47 in the house of our Lord. And by the mighty hand of our Lord they brought us competent men of the descendants of Mahli, the son of Levi, the son of Israel, Sherebiah and his sons and his 48 kinsmen, eighteen in all; and Hashabiah and with him Jeshaiiah, his brother, of the descendants of Hana-niah, and his sons, making twenty men; and of the temple slaves, whom 44 David and the princes had given to work for the Levites, two hundred and twenty temple slaves; their names were all listed.

Then I proclaimed a fast there for 50 the young men before our Lord, to seek from him a safe journey for us and our children and our cattle that were with us. For I was ashamed to ask the king 51 for foot soldiers and cavalry and an escort to make us safe from those who opposed us; for we had told the king, 52

"The power of our Lord will be with those who seek him, and will give them every support."

And we prayed to our Lord again 53 about these things, and we found him merciful. Then I set apart twelve men 54 of the chiefs of the priests, Sherebiah and Hashabiah, and ten of their kinsmen with them, and I weighed out to 55 them the silver and the gold and the sacred dishes, of the house of our Lord, which the king himself and his councillors and the grandees of all Israel had given. And I weighed and turned over 56 to them six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and silver dishes to the value of a hundred talents, and a hundred talents of gold, and twenty gold bowls, 57 and twelve bronze dishes of fine bronze that glittered like gold. And I said to 58 them,

"You are holy to the Lord and the dishes are holy, and the silver and gold are a gift to the Lord, the Lord of our forefathers. Be watchful and guard 59 them until you deliver them to the chiefs of the priests and the Levites and to the heads of the families of Israel in Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of our Lord."

And the priests and the Levites took 60 the silver and the gold and the dishes which had been in Jerusalem, and carried them into the temple of the Lord.

And we set out from the river Theras 61 on the twelfth day of the first month, and entered Jerusalem, because the mighty hand of our Lord was upon us, and he saved us from every enemy on the way, and we reached Jerusalem.
 And when our third day there came, 62 the silver and gold were weighed and turned over in the house of our Lord to 63 Meremoth, the son of Uriah, the priest, who had with him Eleazar, the son of Phineas, and they had with them Jozabad, the son of Jeshua, and Moeth, the son of Binnui, the Levites; it was all counted and weighed, and the total weight of it was immediately recorded.

64 And those who had come back from captivity offered as sacrifices to the Lord, the God of Israel, twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-two lambs, twelve he-goats for a thank-offering—all as a sacrifice to the Lord.

65 And they delivered the king's orders to the royal treasurers and to the governors of Coelestria and Phoenicia, and they showed honor to the people and the temple of the Lord.

66 When this was accomplished, the principal men came to me and said,

67 "The people of Israel and the leaders and the priests and the Levites have not separated from the alien heathen of the land and the impurities of them, the Canaanites and Hittites and Perizzites and Jebusites and Moabites and Egyptians and Idumaeans, for they and their sons have married their daughters, and the holy race has been mixed with the alien heathen of the land, and from the beginning of this matter, the princes and nobles have shared in this iniquity."

68 As soon as I heard this, I tore open my clothes and my sacred mantle, and pulled out some of my hair and beard, and sat down gloomy and grieved.

69 And all who were moved at the word of the Lord of Israel gathered about me, as I grieved over this iniquity, and I sat grief-stricken until the evening sacrifice. Then I got up from my fast with my clothes and my sacred mantle torn, and I knelt down and stretched out my hands to the Lord, and said,

70 "Lord, I am ashamed, I am abashed before you. For from the times of our forefathers, our sins have risen higher than our heads, and our mistakes have mounted up to heaven, and we have been involved in grievous sin, even to this day. And because of our sins and those of our forefathers, we have been delivered with our brothers and our kings and our priests to the kings of the earth, to be slain and taken captive and plundered, in shame, unto this day. And yet how great has been your mercy to us, Lord, that a root and a name should be left to us in the place of your sanctuary, and that a light has been disclosed to us in the house of our Lord, and that food is given us in the time of our bondage. Even in our bondage we have not been forsaken by our Lord, but he has brought us into favor with the kings of Persia, so that they have given us food and glorified the temple of our Lord, and raised Zion up from its desolation, to give us a stronghold in Judea and Jerusalem. And now, Lord, what can we say, when we have these things? For we have disobeyed your commands, which you gave through your servants the prophets, when you said, 'The land which you enter to possess is a land that has been polluted with the pollution of the aliens of the land, and they have filled it with their impurity. So now you must not marry your daughters to their sons, and you must not take their daughters for your sons; and you must not seek ever to have peace with them, so that you may grow strong and eat the good things of the land, and bequeath it to your descendants forever.' And all that has happened to us has happened because of our wicked deeds and our great sins. For you, Lord, have lightened our sins, and have given us such a root as this, but we have turned back again, to transgress your law, to mingle with the impurity of the heathen of the land. Are you not angry enough with us to destroy us, until there is left no root or stock or name of ours? Lord of Israel, you are true; for we are left, a root, today. Now here we are before you, in all our iniquity, for in view of it we cannot any longer stand before you."

Now while Ezra was praying and making his confession, lying on the ground before the temple weeping, there gathered about him an immense throng from Jerusalem, men, women, and children, for there was great lamentation among the multitude. And Shecaniah, the son of Jehiel, one of the Israelites, called out and said to Ezra, "We have sinned against the Lord, and have married foreign women from the heathen of the land, yet there is still hope for Israel. Let us make oath to the Lord about this, that we will expel all our wives who are of foreign origin, with their children, as you and all who obey the Law of the Lord decide. Get up and take action, for it is your business, and we will support you in taking vigorous action."

- 96 Then Ezra got up, and made the chiefs of the priests and Levites of all Israel swear to do this, and they swore 9 to it. Then Ezra got up from the court of the temple, and went to the priestly 2 chamber of Jehohanan, the son of Eliashib, and spent the night, and he would not eat bread or drink water, but mourned over the great iniquity of the 3 multitude. And a proclamation was made all over Judea and Jerusalem to all who had returned from the captivity that they should gather in Jerusalem; 4 and if anyone failed to meet there within two or three days in accordance with the decision of the ruling elders, his cattle should be confiscated, and he should be excluded from the multitude of those who had returned from exile.
- 5 And the men of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin gathered in three days at Jerusalem (it was the ninth month, on the twentieth day of the month), 6 and all the multitude sat in the square before the temple, trembling because 7 of the winter weather. And Ezra got up and said to them,
- "You have broken the Law, and have married foreign women, to increase Israel's sins. Now make your confession and give glory to the Lord 8 God of our forefathers, and do his will, and separate from the heathen of the land and from the foreign women."
- 10 Then all the multitude shouted and said in a loud voice,
- 11 "We will do as you say. But the crowd is great and it is wintertime, and we are not able to stand out-of-doors, and cannot do so, and this is not a thing we can do in a day or two, for we have 12 sinned too much in this matter. So let the princes of the people remain, and let all those in our settlements that have foreign wives come at the times 13 appointed, with the elders and judges of each place, until we free ourselves from the Lord's wrath over this matter."
- 14 Jonathan, the son of Asahel, and Jahzeiah, the son of Tikvah, undertook the matter on these terms, and Meshullam and Levi and Shabbethai sat with 15 them as judges. And the returned exiles acted in accordance with all this.
- 16 And Ezra the priest picked out for himself the leading men of their families, all of them by name, and on the new moon of the tenth month they held a sitting to inquire into the matter. And the case of the men who had foreign wives was brought to an end by the new moon of the first month.

And among the priests the ones who presented themselves who were found to have foreign wives were: of the descendants of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and his brothers: Maaseiah and Eleazar and Jarib and Jordan; they pledged themselves to cast off their wives, and gave rams in atonement for their mistake. And of the descendants of Immer: Hanani and Zebadiah and Maaseiah and Shemaiah and Jehiel and Azariah. And of the descendants of Pashur: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, and Nathanael, Gedaliah, and Elashah.

And of the Levites: Jozabad and Shimei and Kelaiah, who was Kelita, and Pethahiah and Judah and Jonah. And of the sacred singers: Eliashib and Zaccur. Of the porters: Shallum and Telem.

Of Israel: of the descendants of Parosh, Ramiah, Iziah, Malchijah, Mijamin, and Eleazar, and Asibias, and Benaiah; of the descendants of Elam, Mattaniah and Zechariah, Jehiel and Abdi, and Jeremoth and Elijah. And of the descendants of Zattu, Elioenai, Eliashib, Othoniah, Jeremoth, and Zabad and Zerdaiyah. And of the descendants of Bebai, Jehohanan and Hananiah and Zabbai and Emathis; and of the descendants of Bani: Meshullam, Malluch, Adaiyah, Jashub, and Sheal and Jeremoth. And of the descendants of Addi: Naathus and Moossias, Laccunus and Naidus, and Bescaspmys and Sesthel, and Balnuus and Manasseas. And of the descendants of Annan: Elionas and Asaia and Melchias and Sabbaias and Simon Chosamaeus. And of the descendants of Hashum: Mattenai and Mattattah and Zabad and Eliphelet and Manasseh and Shimei. And of the descendants of Bani: Jeremai, Maadai, Amram, Joel, Mamdai and Bedeiah and Vaniah, Carabasion and Eliashub and Machnadebai, Eliasis, Binnui, Elialis, Shimei, Shelemiah, Nethaniah. And of the descendants of Ezora: Shashai, Azarel, Azael, Shemaiah, Amariah, Joseph. And of the descendants of Nebo: Mattithiah, Zabad, Iddo, 36 Joel, Benaiah. These had all married foreign women, and they cast them off with their children.

 37 So the priests and the Levites and the men of Israel settled in Jerusalem and in the country. On the new moon of the seventh month, when the Israelites 38 were in their communities, the whole multitude gathered under a common impulse in the square before the east 39 gate of the temple and told Ezra, the high priest and reader, to bring the Law of Moses, which had been given him by the Lord, the God of Israel.
 40 And Ezra, the high priest, brought the Law for all the multitude, men and women, and all the priests to hear, on the new moon of the seventh month.
 41 And he read aloud in the square before the gate of the temple from morning till noon, in the presence of both men and women, and the whole multitude 42 gave attention to the Law. And Ezra, the priest and reader of the Law, stood in the wooden pulpit which had been 43 prepared, and beside him stood Matti-thiah, Shema, Anaiah, Azariah, Uriah, Hezekiah, and Baalsamus, at his right,
 44 and at his left, Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Lothasubus, Nabariah, and 45 Zechariah. Then Ezra took up the book of the Law before the multitude, for he was seated in a conspicuous place before them all, and when he opened 46 the Law, they all stood up. And Ezra blessed the Lord, the Most High God, the God of Hosts, the Almighty, and 47

 all the multitude shouted "Amen."
 And they lifted up their hands and fell on the ground, and worshipped the Lord. Jeshua and Anniuth and Shere- 48
 biah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Masseiah and Kelita, Azariah and Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, the Levites, taught the Law of the Lord, and read the Law of the Lord to the multitude, putting life into the reading.

Then the governor said to Ezra, the 49 high priest and reader, and to the Levites who were teaching the multitude, to all,

"This day is sacred to the Lord" (and 50 they were all weeping as they heard the Law) "so go and eat the fat and drink 51 the sweet, and send portions to those who have none, for the day is sacred to the Lord. Do not mourn, for the 52
 Lord will honor you."

And the Levites commanded all the 53 people, saying,

"This day is sacred; do not mourn."
 And they all went off to eat and 54 drink and enjoy themselves, and to give portions to those who had none, and to hold a great celebration, for they 55 had been inspired by the words which they had been taught, and for which they had come together.

THE SECOND BOOK OF ESDRAS

1 THE Second Book of Ezra the Prophet, the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, the son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub,
2 the son of Achiah, the son of Phineas, the son of Heli, the son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth, the son of Arna, the son of Uzzi, the son of Borith, the son of Abishua, the son of Phineas, the son of 3 Eleazar, the son of Aaron, of the tribe of Levi, who was a captive in the country of the Medes in the reign of Artaxerxes, king of Persia.

4 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying,

5 "Go and declare to my people their crimes and to their sons their iniquities which they have committed against me, so that they may tell them to their children's children.

6 For the sins of their parents have increased in them, for they have forgotten me and have offered sacrifice
7 to strange gods. Was it not I who brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage? But they have angered me, and

8 scorned my counsels. Shake out the hair of your head and hurl all evils upon them, because they have not obeyed my law, but they are a rebellious people. How long shall I

9 bear with them, when I have conferred such benefits upon them? I have overthrown many kings for them; I struck down Pharaoh with 10 his servants, and all his army. I destroyed all nations before them, and I scattered the people of two provinces in the east, Tyre and Sidon, and 11 I slew all their enemies. But you must speak to them and say,

12 "Thus says the Lord: Surely it was I who brought you across the sea and produced broad highways for you where there was no road; I gave you Moses for a leader and Aaron for a priest; I gave you light from a pillar 13 of fire, and did great wonders among you; but you forgot me, says the Lord.

14 "Thus says the Lord Almighty: 15 The quail were a sign to you; I gave you camps to protect you, yet you 16 grumbled in them; and you have not triumphed for my sake over the destruction of your enemies, but even 17 now you still grumble. Where are the kindnesses I have shown you? When you were hungry and thirsty in the desert did you not cry out to me, 18 saying, "Why have you brought us into this wilderness to kill us? It would have been better for us to serve the Egyptians than to die in this 19 desert." I pitied your groaning and gave you manna for food; you ate the bread of angels. When you were 20 thirsty, did I not split open the rock, and waters flowed out in abundance? On account of the heat I covered you with the leaves of trees. I divided 21 fertile lands among you; the Canaanites, the Perizzites, and the Philistines I drove out before you. What more can I do for you? says 22 the Lord. Thus says the Lord Almighty: When you were in the desert, at the bitter river, thirsty and blaspheming my name, I did not give you 23 fire for your blasphemy, but I put wood into the water and made the river sweet.

24 "What shall I do to you, Jacob? 25 You would not obey me, Judah. I will turn to other nations, and give them my name, so that they may observe my precepts. Since you have 26 forsaken me, I will forsake you. When you seek mercy from me, I will not have pity on you. When you call upon me, I will not hear you; for you have stained your hands with blood, and your feet are quick to commit 27 murder. It is not as though you had forsaken me, but yourselves, says the Lord. Thus says the Lord Almighty: 28 Have I not begged you as a father begs his sons, or a mother her daughters, or a nurse her little ones, to be 29 my people, and that I should be your God, and you should be my sons and I should be your father? I gathered you as a hen gathers her brood under her wings. But now what shall I do to you? I will cast you out from before my face. When you make offerings to me, I will turn my face away from you, for I have repudiated your feast days, and new moons, and circumcisions of the flesh. I sent my servants the prophets to you, and you took them and killed them, and tore their bodies in pieces; and their blood I will require of you, says the Lord.

33 "Thus says the Lord Almighty: Your house is desolate; I will drive you forth as the wind drives stubble; and your children shall have no children, because they with you have neglected my command, and have done what is evil in my sight. I will give your houses to a people that is to come, who without having heard me believe. Those to whom I have showed no signs will do what I have commanded. They have not seen the prophets, yet they will call to mind their uprightness. I call to witness the gratitude of the people that is to come, whose little ones rejoice with gladness, though they do not see me with physical eyes, but in spirit they will believe the things I have said."

38 And now, Father, look upon me with glory, and see the people coming from the east, to whom I will give to lead them Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, and Hosea and Amos and Micah, and Joel, and Obadiah and 40 Jonah, and Nahum and Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi, who is also called the Messenger of the Lord.

2 "Thus says the Lord: I brought that people out of bondage, and gave them commandments through my servants the prophets; but they would not listen to them, but made my counsels void. The mother that bore them said to them, "Go, my children, for I am a widow and deserted; 3 I brought you up in gladness, but in grief and sorrow I have lost you, for you have sinned before the Lord God and done what is evil in my sight. 4 But now what can I do for you? For I am a widow and deserted. Go, my children, and ask for mercy from the Lord." I call you, father, as a witness, 5 in addition to the mother of the children, because they would not keep my agreement, to bring confusion upon them, and to give their mother up to pillage, so that they may have no descendants. Let them be scattered 7 among the heathen, let their names be blotted out from the earth, because they have scorned my agreement.

8 "Alas for you, Assyria, who conceal the unrighteous with you. O wicked nation, remember what I did to Sodom and Gomorrah, whose land lies in lumps of pitch and heaps of ashes. So I will make those who would not listen to me, says the Lord Almighty."

10 "Thus speaks the Lord to Ezra: Tell my people that I will give them the kingdom of Jerusalem, which I was going to give to Israel. And I 11 will take back to myself their glory, and I will give to these the everlasting dwellings which I had prepared for those others. The tree of life will give them fragrant perfume, and they will not toil or be weary. Ask, and 13 you will receive; pray for few days for yourselves, that they may be shortened; the kingdom is already prepared for you; be on the watch. Call heaven and earth to witness; call them to witness, for I have left out evil and created good, because I live, says the Lord.

15 "Mother, embrace your sons, bring them up in gladness like a dove, strengthen their feet, for I have chosen you, says the Lord. And I will 16 raise up the dead from their places, and bring them out of their tombs, because I recognize my name in them. Do not fear, mother of sons, 17 for I have chosen you, says the Lord. I will send to help you my servants Isaiah and Jeremiah, for whose counsel I have consecrated and prepared for you twelve trees loaded with different fruits, and an equal number 19 of springs flowing with milk and honey, and seven huge mountains on which roses and lilies grow, with which I will fill your sons with joy. Do justice to the widow, judge the 20 fatherless, give to the needy, protect the orphan, clothe the naked, cure the 21 injured and the weak, do not laugh at a lame man, defend the maimed, and let the blind man behold my glory. Preserve the old man and the youth within your walls. When you find any who are dead, give them burial and mark the place, and I will give you the first place in my resurrection. Pause and be quiet, my people, for your rest will come. Good nurse, nourish your sons, for you must strengthen their feet. As for the slaves whom I have given you, not one of them shall perish, for I will require them from your number. Do not worry, for when the day of affliction and anguish comes, others will lament and be sad, but you will be joyful and rich. The heathen will be jealous, but they will be not able to do anything against you, says the Lord. My hands will cover you, so that your sons will not see the Pit. Be joyful, mother, with your sons, for I will rescue you, says the Lord. Remember your sons who are asleep, for I will bring them forth from the hiding-places of the earth and show mercy to them, for I am merciful, says the Lord Almighty. Embrace your children until I come, and proclaim mercy to them, for my springs run over, and my favor will not fail." I, Ezra, received a command from the Lord on Mount Horeb, to go to Israel; but when I went to them, they refused me and rejected the Lord's command. Therefore I say to you, heathen, who hear and understand, expect your shepherd; he will give you everlasting rest, for he is close at hand, who will come at the end of the world. Be ready for the rewards of the kingdom, for everlasting light will shine upon you forever. Flee from the shadow of this world, receive the enjoyment of your glory. I call my Savior to witness publicly. Receive the approval of the Lord, and rejoice, with thanksgiving to him who has called you to heavenly realms. Get up and stand and see the number of those who are marked with his seal at the feast of the Lord. Those who have removed from the shadow of the world have received splendid garments from the Lord. Receive your number, Zion, and close the list of your people who are clothed in white, who have fulfilled the Law of the Lord. The number of your sons whom you desired is full; treat the Lord's power that your people which was called from the beginning may be made holy.

I, Ezra, saw on Mount Zion a great throng which I could not count, and they all praised the Lord with songs. And in the midst of them was a youth of lofty stature, taller than all the rest, and he put crowns upon the heads of each of them, and he was still more exalted. But I was possessed with wonder. Then I asked the angel, and said,

"Who are these, sir?"

And he answered and said to me, "These are those who have laid aside their mortal clothing, and have put on immortal, and have confessed the name of God; now they are crowned and receive palms."

And I said to the angel,

"Who is that young man, who puts the crowns on them and the palms in their hands?"

He answered and said to me,

"He is the Son of God, whom they confessed in the world."

Then I began to glorify those who had stood firmly for the name of the Lord. Then the angel said to me,

"Go, tell my people what kind of wonders of the Lord you have seen, and how great they are."

In the thirtieth year after the destruction of the city, I, Salathiel, who am Ezra, was in Babylon, and I was troubled as I lay on my bed, and my thoughts filled my mind, because I saw the desolation of Zion, and the wealth of those who lived in Babylon. And my spirit was agitated, and I began to utter devout words to the Most High, and I said,

"O Sovereign Lord, was it not you who in the beginning when you formed the earth, and all alone too, spoke and commanded the dust, and it gave you Adam, a dead body? But he was both himself a formation of your hands, and you breathed into him the breath of life, and he was made alive before you. And you led him into Paradise which your right hand planted before the earth appeared; and you enjoined upon him your one concern, and he transgressed

it, and you immediately ordained death for him and his peoples; and there sprang from him nations and tribes, peoples and clans without 8 number. And every nation followed its own will and behaved wickedly in your sight, and you did not hinder
 9 them. But again, in time, you brought the flood upon the inhabitants of the world, and destroyed
 10 them. And the same fate befell them; as Adam experienced death, they experienced the flood. But you left one 11 of them, Noah, with his household, all the upright people that were descended from him.

12 "And it came to pass that when the inhabitants of the earth began to multiply, and sons and peoples and nations grew very numerous, that they began again to be more ungodly than their predecessors. And it came to pass that when they did what was wrong in your sight, you chose for yourself one of them, whose name was 14 Abraham, and you loved him, and to him alone you revealed the end of the times, secretly at night. And you made an everlasting agreement with him, and told him that you would 16 never forsake his descendants; and you gave him Isaac, and to Isaac you gave Jacob and Esau. And you set Jacob apart for yourself, but you cut off Esau, and Jacob became a great 17 multitude. And it came to pass, when you led his descendants out to Egypt, that you brought them to Mount Sinai.
 18 And you bent the heavens, and shook the earth, and moved the universe, and made the deeps tremble, and disturbed the world. And your glory passed through the four gates of fire and earthquake and wind and cold, so that you might give the Law to Jacob's descendants, and your command to the posterity of Israel.

20 "Yet you did not take from them their wicked heart, so that your Law might bear fruit among them. For the first Adam, burdened with a wicked heart, transgressed and was overcome, as were also all who were descended from him. So weakness became permanent, and the Law was in the heart of the people with the evil root; and what was good departed, 23 and what was evil remained. So the times passed and the years came to an end, and you raised up for yourself a slave named David. And you told 24 him to build a city to bear your name, and to offer to you offerings of your own in it. This was done for many 25 years; then those who lived in the city sinned, acting in all respects just as 26 Adam and his posterity had done, for they too had the wicked heart. And 27 you delivered your city into the hands of your enemies. Then I said to myself, 'Do those who live in Babylon 28 do any better? and is it on this account that she has conquered Zion?'

"For it came to pass, when I had 29 come here, that I saw acts of ungodliness without number, and in this thirtieth year my soul saw many 30 sinning, and my heart sank, for I have seen how you bear with them when they sin, and have spared those who act wickedly, and have destroyed
 31 your people, and preserved your enemies, and you have not shown
 32 anyone at all how this way should be given up. Does Babylon do better deeds than Zion? Or has any other 33 nation known you except Israel? Or what tribes have believed your agreements like that of Jacob? Yet their reward has not appeared, and their labor has not borne fruit. For I have gone all about the nations, and I have seen them abounding in wealth, yet unmindful of your commandments.
 34 Now therefore weigh our iniquities and those of the inhabitants of the world on the scales; and which way
 35 the movement of the pointer turns will be found out. Or when did the inhabitants of the earth not sin in 36 your sight? Or what nation has kept your commandments so well? You will find names of men who have kept your commandments, but you will not find nations."

And the angel who had been sent 4 to me, whose name was Uriel, answered and said to me,

"Your mind has utterly failed in this world and do you expect to understand the way of the Most High?"

And I said,

"Yes, my lord."

And he answered me and said,

"I was sent to show you three ways, and to set three figures before you. If you can solve one of these for me, 4

I will show you the way you want to see and teach you why the heart is wicked."

5 And I said,
"Go on, my lord."

And he said to me,
"Come, weigh me the weight of fire, or measure me a measure of wind, or call back for me the day that is past."

6 And I answered and said,
"Who that is born can do that, that you should ask such things of me?"

7 And he said to me,
"If I had asked you, 'How many dwellings are there in the heart of the sea, or how many streams at the source of the deep, or how many ways above the firmament, or what are the ways of leaving Paradise?' perhaps you would have said to me, 'I have never gone down into the deep, nor into Hades, nor have I ever climbed up into the heavens.' But now I have only asked you about fire and wind and the day, through all of which you have passed, and without which you cannot live, and you have given me no answer about them!"

10 And he said to me, "Your own things that grow up with you, you cannot understand; and how can your frame grasp the way of the Most High, or one already worn out by the corrupt world understand incorruption?"

12 And when I heard this, I fell on my face and said to him,

"It would have been better that we should not be here than to come here and live in ungodliness, and suffer, without understanding why."

13 And he answered me and said,

"I went to a forest of trees of the field, and they took counsel and said, 'Come, let us go and make war on the sea, so that it may retire before us, and we may make more forests for us.' In like manner the waves of the sea themselves also took counsel and said, 'Come, let us go up and conquer the forest of the field, so that there also we may win ourselves more territory.' And the thought of the forest was in vain, for the fire came and consumed it; so was the thought of the sea waves, for the sand stood firm and stopped them. Now if you were their judge, which of them would you have undertaken to justify, and which to condemn?"

And I answered and said, 19

"It was a foolish plan that both formed, for the land is given to the forest, and the place of the sea is given it to bear its waves."

And he answered me and said, 20

"You have judged rightly; and why have you not judged so in your own case? For just as the land is given to the forest, and the sea to its waves, so those who live on the earth can understand only the things that are on the earth, and those who are above the heavens, the things that are above the height of the heavens."

Then I answered and said, 22

"I beseech you, sir, to what end has the capacity for understanding been given me? For I did not mean to ask about ways above, but about those things which pass by us every day: why Israel is given up to the heathen in disgrace; the people whom you loved are given up to godless tribes; and the law of our forefathers is made of no effect, and the written agreements are no more. And we pass from 24 the world like locusts, and do not deserve to obtain mercy. But what will he do for his name, by which we are called? It is about these things that I have asked."

And he answered me and said, 26

"If you live, you will see, and if you survive, you will often marvel; for the age is hurrying fast to its end; for it will not be able to bear the things that are promised to the upright in the appointed times; for this age is full of sorrow and weakness. For the evil about which you ask me 28 is sown, but the harvest of it has not yet come. So unless what has been sown is reaped, and unless the place where the evil was sown passes away, the field where the good is sown cannot come. For a grain of evil seed 30 was sown from the beginning in the heart of Adam, and how much ungodliness it has produced up to this time and will produce before the judgment comes. Estimate for yourself 31 how great a crop of ungodliness a grain of evil seed has produced. And when ears without number are sown, 32 how great a threshing-floor they will inevitably fill!"

- 33 And I answered and said,
 "How long and when shall this be? Why are our years few and evil?"
- 34 And he answered me and said,
 "You cannot hurry faster than the Most High, for you hurry for your own self, but he who is above hurries 15 for many. Did not the souls of the upright ask about these things in their rooms, saying, 'How long must I hope thus? And when will the har-36 vest of our reward come?' And Jere-miel, the archangel, answered them and said, 'When the number of those who are like you is complete, for he has weighed the world in the balance, 37 and has measured the times with a measure, and carefully counted the hours, and he will not move or disturb them, until the prescribed measure is reached.' "
- 38 And I answered and said,
 "O Sovereign Lord, but all even of 39 us are full of ungodliness. And let not the harvest of the upright be perchance kept back, on account of the sins of those who live on the earth."
- 40 And he answered me and said,
 "Go and ask a woman who is with child if when she has completed her nine months her womb can keep the child within her any longer."
- 41 And I said,
 "No, sir, it cannot."
 And he said to me,
 42 "In Hades the storehouses of souls are like the womb; for just as a woman who is bearing a child makes haste to escape the inevitable birth, so these places also make haste to give up those things that were in-43 trusted to them from the beginning.
 Then those things which you desire to see will be disclosed to you."
- 44 And I answered and said,
 "If I have found favor in your sight,
 and if it is possible, and if I am fit 45 for it, show me this also, whether there is more to come than is past, or the greater part has gone by us.
 46 For what is past I know, but I do not know what is to come."
- 47 And he said to me,
 "Stand at my right and I will show you the meaning of a figure."
- 48 And I stood there and looked, and behold, a burning furnace passed before me, and it came to pass, when the flame had gone by, that I looked and, behold, the smoke remained. 49
 After that, a cloud full of water passed before me, and stormily sent down a heavy rain, and when the rainstorm had passed, the drops remained in it. And he said to me, 50
 "Consider for yourself; for as the rain is more than the drops, and the fire is more than the smoke, so the quantity that has past has far exceeded, but the drops and the smoke remained."
- Then I prayed and said, 51
 "Do you think I shall live until that time?"
- He answered me and said, 52
 "About the signs of which you ask me, I can tell you of them in part, but as to your life I was not sent to tell you, but I do not know.
 53 "But about the signs: Behold, the days will come, when those who live on the earth will be seized with great dismay, and the way of truth will be hidden, and the land will be barren of faith. And iniquity will be 2 increased beyond what you yourself see, and beyond what you ever heard of. And the country which you now 3 see ruling will be waste and untrod-den, and men shall see it deserted.
 But if the Most High grants you life, 4 you will see it after the third day thrown into confusion, and the sun will shine suddenly in the night and the moon in the daytime. Blood shall 5 trickle out of wood, and a stone will utter its voice, and peoples will be troubled, and the courses will be 6 changed. And one will reign for whom those who live on the earth do not hope, and the birds will fly away to-7 gether, and the Sea of Sodom will cast forth fish, and one whom the many do not know will utter his voice in the night, but all will hear his voice.
 And there will be darkness in many 8 places, and fire will often break out, and wild animals will go outside their haunts, and women in their unclean-9 ness will bear monsters. And salt waters will be found in sweet, and all friends will conquer one another, and intelligence will hide itself, and under-10 standing retire to its room; and it will be sought by many and will not be found, and unrighteousness and lack of self-control will increase on the 11 earth. And one country will ask its neighbor, and say, 'Has uprightness, or a man who does right, passed through you?' and it will answer,

12 'No.' At that time, it will happen that men will hope and not obtain; they will work, but their ways will not prosper. These signs I am permitted to tell you, but if you pray again and weep as you do now, and fast seven days, you will again hear greater things than these."

14 Then I awoke, and my body shuddered violently, and my soul was troubled, so that it fainted. But the angel who came and talked with me held me fast, and strengthened me and set me on my feet. And on the second night it came to pass that Phaltiel, the captain of the people, came to me and said to me.

17 "Where have you been and why is your face so sad? Or do you not know that Israel has been intrusted to you in the land of their exile? Get up therefore and eat some bread, so that you may not forsake us, as a shepherd leaves his flock in the power of wicked wolves."

19 Then I said to him,
 "Go away from me, and do not come near me for seven days, and then you can come to me."
 And he listened to what I said, and went away from me.

20 So I fasted for seven days, wailing and lamenting, just as the angel Uriel commanded me. And it came to pass after seven days that the thoughts of my mind were very painful to me again. And my soul received the spirit of understanding again, and I began again to utter words before the

23 Most High, and said,
 "Sovereign Lord, from all the forests on the earth and from all its trees you chose one vine, and from all the lands in the world you chose for yourself one garden, and from all the flowers in the world you chose for yourself one lily, and from all the depths of the sea you filled yourself one river, and of all the cities that have been built you consecrated Zion to yourself, and of all the birds that have been created you named for yourself one dove, and of all the cattle that have been formed you provided for yourself one sheep, and of all the peoples that have multiplied you got yourself one people, and you gave to this people that you desired a law that was approved by all. And now, Lord, why have you given this one up to the many, and after preparing one root above the others have you scattered your only one among the many? And those who opposed your promises have trampled on those who believed your agreements. For if you really hate your people it ought to be punished with your own hands."

And it came to pass when I had uttered these words that the angel who had come to me on a previous night was sent to me. And he said to me,

"Listen to me, and I will instruct you; attend to me, and I will tell you more."

And I said,

"Speak, my lord."

And he said to me,

"Are you so very much distracted over Israel, or do you love him more than his Maker does?"

And I said,

"No, sir, but I spoke from grief, for my heart pains me every hour, while I strive to understand the way of the Most High, and to inquire into what his decree apportions."

And he said to me,

"You cannot."

And I said,

"Why, sir, then why was I born? And why did not my mother's womb become my grave, so that I might not see the trouble of Jacob, and the exhaustion of the posterity of Israel?"

And he said to me,

"Count up for me those that have not yet come, and gather the scattered raindrops for me, and make the withered flowers green again for me, and open the closed chambers for me, and bring out for me the winds shut up in them, or show me the picture of a voice, and then I will show you the mark you ask to see."

And I said,

"Sovereign Lord, who is there who can know these things except he whose dwelling is not with men? But I am foolish, and how can I speak of these things about which you have asked me?"

140 And he said to me,
 "Just as you cannot do one of these things that were mentioned, so you cannot find out my judgment, or the end of the love that I have promised my people."

141 And I said,
 "But behold, sir, you protect those who are alive at the end, but what will those who were before us do, or we, or those who come after us?"

142 And he said to me,
 "I will compare my judgment to a crown; just as there is no slowness on the part of those who are last, there is no swiftness on the part of those who are first."

143 And I answered and said,
 "Could you not have created at one time those who have been created, and those who are now, and those who are to be, so that you might show your judgment sooner?"

144 And he answered me and said,
 "The creation cannot make more haste than the Creator, and the world cannot at one time hold all who have been created in it."

145 Then I said,
 "How could you say to your slave that you would surely make the creation created by you alive all together? If therefore they are all to live at once, it can support them all at once now."

146 And he said to me,
 "Ask a woman's womb and say to it, 'If you bring forth ten children, why do so at intervals?' Ask it therefore to produce ten at once."

147 And I said,
 "Of course it cannot, but can do it only in time."

148 And he said to me,
 "And I have made the earth the womb for those who are at intervals engendered in it. For just as an infant cannot bear, or as one who is old cannot do it any more, so I have organized the world that I created."

150 And I asked him and said,
 "Since you have now shown me the way, I will speak before you. For is our mother, of whom you have told me, still young, or is she now approaching old age?"

151 And he answered me and said,
 "Ask a woman who bears children, and she will tell you. For if you say to her, 'Why are those whom you have borne lately not like those whom you bore before but smaller in stature?' she herself will tell you, 52

 "Those who were born in the vigor of youth are of one kind, and those who were born in old age, when the womb was failing, are of another." 53
 So you too must consider that you 54 are smaller in stature than those who were before you, and those who come 55 after you will be smaller than you, for the creation is already growing old, as it were, and past the strength of youth."

And I said, 56
 "I beseech you, sir, if I have found favor in your sight, show your slave by whom you will visit your creation."

And he said to me, 6
 "As for the beginning of the world of the earth, before the outlets of the world were fixed, and before the assembled winds blew, and before the voices of the thunders sounded, and before the lightning flashes shone, and before the foundations of Paradise were laid, and before the beautiful flowers were seen, and before the moving forces were established, and before the innumerable companies of angels were gathered, and before the heights of the air were raised aloft, and before the dimensions of the firmaments were named, and before Zion was appointed his footstool, and before the years of the present were discovered, and before the wiles of present-day sinners were cut off, and those who had treasured the faith were sealed; even then I considered it, and these things were made through me, and through no other, just as their end also shall come through me, and through no other."

And I answered and said, 7
 "What will mark the parting of the times? Or when will the end of the first or the beginning of the second be?"

And he said to me, 8
 "From Abraham to Abraham, for from him sprang Jacob and Esau, but Jacob's hand held Esau's heel from the beginning. For Esau is the end of this age, and Jacob is the beginning of the one that follows. For the beginning of a man is his hand, and the 10 end of a man in his heel. Between the heel and the hand look for nothing else, Ezra!"

11 Then I answered and said,

12 "O Sovereign Lord, if I have found favor in your sight, show your slave the end of your signs, some part of which you showed me the other night."

13 And he answered and said to me,

14 "Rise to your feet, and you will hear a very loud voice. And if the place where you stand is violently shaken, you must not be terrified when it speaks, for what it says is about the end, and the foundations of the earth will understand that the speech concerns them; they will tremble and quake, for they know that at the end they must be changed."

17 And it came to pass that, when I heard, I rose to my feet and listened, and, behold, a voice was speaking, and the sound of it was like the noise of many waters. And it said,

18 "Behold, the days are coming, and it shall be, when I begin to draw near to visit those who live on the earth, and when I begin to require their wrongdoing from those who have done it, and when the humiliation shall be complete, and when the age which is beginning to pass away shall be sealed, I will perform these signs: the books will be opened before the face of the firmament, and they shall

21 all see it together; and infants a year old shall talk, and women with child will bring forth untimely infants at

22 three or four months, and they will live and dance, and sown ground will suddenly appear unsown, and full

23 storehouses will suddenly be found empty, and the trumpet will sound, and when all men hear it, they will

24 suddenly be terrified. And it will come to pass at that time that friends will make war on their friends like enemies, and the earth and those who live on it will be greatly terrified, and the sources of the springs will stop, so that for three hours they will not

25 run. And it shall be that whoever shall have survived all these things that I have foretold to you shall himself be saved and shall see my salvation

26 and the end of my world. And they will see the men who were taken up, who from their birth have not tasted death, and the heart of the earth's inhabitants will be changed and converted to a different spirit. For evil will be destroyed and deceit will be abolished, but faith will flourish, and corruption be conquered, and truth, which has been without fruit so long, will be disclosed."

And it came to pass, while he talked with me, that behold, little by little the place where I stood was moved upon itself. And he said to me,

"I have come to show you these things and things to come, this night. If therefore you will pray again and fast again for seven days, I will again declare to you even greater things than these by day. For your voice has surely been heard before the Most High, for the Mighty One has seen your uprightness, and has remarked your purity, which you have maintained from your youth. And because of this he sent me to show you all these things and to say to you, 'Believe and do not fear; and do not be in haste to engage in idle speculations over the former times, so that you may not have to hasten in the last times.'"

And it came to pass after this that again I wept and fasted seven days as before, to complete the three weeks, as I had been told. And it came to pass on the eighth night that my heart was again troubled within me, and I began to speak before the Most High. For my spirit was greatly excited and my soul was distressed. And I said,

"O Lord, at the beginning of the creation you surely spoke, and said on the first day, 'Let heaven and earth be made,' and your word performed the work. Then the spirit was hovering, and darkness and silence were all around; the sound of man's voice you had not yet heard. Then you ordered a ray of light to be brought out of your storehouses, so that your works might then appear. Again, on the second day, you created the spirit of the firmament, and commanded it to divide and make a division between the waters, so that one part might go up and one part remain below. On the third day you commanded the waters to be gathered together in the seventh part of the earth, but six parts you dried up and kept them so that some of them might be planted and cultivated and serve before you. For your word went forth, and the work was immediately done. For suddenly there came forth fruit in immeasurable abundance, and of manifold appeal to the taste, and flowers of inimitable hues, and odors of unfathomable fragrance. These were made on the third day. But on the fourth day you commanded the brightness of the sun to come into being, the light of the moon, and the order of the stars, and you commanded them to serve man who was still to be formed. But on the fifth day you ordered the seventh part, where the water was gathered, to bring forth living things, birds and fish, and it was done, the mute, lifeless water producing living creatures, as it was commanded, so that nations might tell of your wondrous works because of it. Then you preserved two living creatures; one you named Behemoth, and the other you named Leviathan, and you separated them from each other, for the seventh part, where the water was gathered together, could not hold them both. And you gave Behemoth one part, which had dried up on the third day, to live in, in which there are a thousand mountains; but to Leviathan you gave a seventh part that is moist; and you preserved them to be devoured by whomsoever you please, and when you please. But on the sixth day, you commanded the earth to create before you cattle and wild animals and reptiles, and over them Adam, whom you appointed leader over all the works that you had made, and from him we are all descended whom you have chosen to be your people. I have said all this before you, Lord, because you have said that it was for our sakes that you made this first-born world. But as for the rest of the nations which are sprung from Adam, you have said that they are nothing and are like spittle, and you have compared their abundance to a drop in a bucket. And now, Lord, behold, these nations that are counted as nothing rule over us and devour us. But we, your people, whom you called your first-born, only-begotten, chosen and beloved, are delivered into their hands. If it was for our sakes that the world was created, why do we not possess the world as our inheritance? How long shall this be?"

And it came to pass, when I had finished saying these words, that the angel was sent to me who had been sent to me on the former nights, and he said to me,

"Get up, Ezra, and hear the words which I have come to say to you."

And I said,

"Speak, my lord."

And he said to me,

"Suppose a sea lies in a broad expanse, so that it is wide and vast, but the entrance to it is located in a narrow space, so that it is like a river; if anyone is determined to reach the sea, to see it or master it, how can he reach the broad water unless he passes through the narrows? Another illustration: Suppose a city is built and located on level ground, and is full of all good things, but the approach to it is narrow and precipitous so that there is fire on the right hand and deep water on the left, and there is only one path lying between them, that is, between the fire and the water, so that the path can support the steps of only one man. Now if that city is given to a man as an inheritance, if the heir does not pass through the danger that lies before it, how can he receive his inheritance?"

And I said,

"True, sir."

And he said to me,

"Israel's destiny is like that. For I made the world for their sakes, and when Adam transgressed my statutes, what has now happened was decreed; and the ways of entering this world were made narrow, grievous, and toilsome, and few and evil, full of dangers and burdened with great hardships. But the approaches to the greater world are broad and safe and produce the fruit of immortality. Unless therefore the living have really entered these narrow and fruitless experiences, they cannot obtain the things that are destined for them. But now why are you disturbed, though you are to perish? And why 16 are you so moved, though you are mortal? And why do you not take into consideration what is future, but only what is present?"

17 And I answered and said,
"Sovereign Lord, you have ordained in your law that the upright shall possess these things, but the ungodly shall perish. So the upright can endure straitened circumstances in the hope of ample ones, but those who have done wickedly endure the straitened circumstances and will not see the ample ones."

19 And he said to me,
"You are not a better judge than God, or more intelligent than the Most High! For let the many that exist perish, rather than that the Law of God which has been set before them be disregarded. For God strictly commanded those who came, at their coming, as to what they should do to live, and what they should observe to escape being punished. But they disobeyed and opposed him, and they devised foolish thoughts and conceived wicked wiles, and went so far as to say that the Most High did not exist, and they ignored his ways, and scorned his law, and denied his agreements, and had no faith in his statutes, and did not complete his work. Therefore, Ezra, the empty have emptiness, and the full, fullness. 26 For behold the time will come, and it will be that when the signs come which I have foretold to you, the city that appears as a bride will appear, and the land which is now hidden will be seen. And whoever is delivered from the evils I have predicted will see my wonders. For my son the Christ will be revealed with those who are with him, and he will make glad those who are left, in four hundred years. And it will be after those years that my son Christ will die, and all who draw human breath. And the world will be turned into its ancient silence for seven days, as it was in the first beginning, so that no one will be left. 31 And it will be after seven days that the world which is not yet awake will be wakened, and what is corruptible will perish. And the earth will give up those who are asleep in it, and the dust those who are silent in it, and the chambers will give up the souls that have been committed to them. And the Most High will be revealed on his judgment seat, and pity will pass away, and long-suffering be withdrawn, and judgment alone will remain, and truth will stand, and faithfulness be strong, and work will be rewarded, and its wages appear, and uprightness will awake and iniquity will not sleep. And the lake of torment will appear, and over against it will be a place of rest; the furnace of the Pit will appear, and over against it the paradise of joy. Then the Most High will say to the heathen that have been raised up, 'See and understand whom you have denied, or whom you have refused to serve, or whose commands you have scorned. Look at this side and at that; on this side, joy and rest, and on that, fire and torment.' So he will speak to them on the Day of Judgment; a day that has no sun or moon or stars, or cloud, or thunder, or lightning, or wind or water or air, or darkness or evening or morning, or summer or heat or winter or frost or cold, or hail or rain or dew, or noon or night, or dawn or sunshine or brightness or light, only the splendor of the glory of the Most High, by which all will begin to see what is destined for them. For it will last as though for a week of years. This is my judgment and its arrangement; and to you alone have I shown this."

And I answered,

"I said then, Lord, and I say now, blessed are those who live and keep your commandments! But about those for whom I prayed, who is there of those who live who has not sinned, or who is there that is born who has not transgressed your agreement? And now I see that the world to come will bring joy to few but torment to many. For an evil heart has grown up in us, which has alienated us from these commands, and has led us off to corruption and the ways of death, and shown us the paths of perdition, and removed us far from life, and that, not just a few, but almost all who have been created!"

And he answered me and said,

"Listen to me, and I will instruct you, and I will admonish you a second time. It was on this account that the Most High made not one 51] world but two. For because you have said that the upright are not many but few, and the ungodly abound, 52] hear the answer to this. If you have a very few precious stones, will you increase their number with lead and clay?"

53] And I said,
 "Lord, how can that be?"

54] And he said to me,
 "Not only that, but ask the earth and she will tell you; intreat her, and 55] she will inform you. For you must say to her, 'You produce gold and silver and copper and also iron and 56] lead and clay. But silver is more abundant than gold, and copper than silver, and iron than copper, lead than 57] iron, and clay than lead. So consider which things are precious and to be desired, what is abundant, or what is rare?"

58] And I said,
 "Sovereign Lord, what is plentiful is cheaper, for what is more rare is more precious."

59] And he answered me and said,
 "Consider with yourself what you have thought, for he who has what is hard to get rejoices more than he 60] who has what is plentiful. It is so with the judgment that I have promised; for I will rejoice over the few who will be saved, because it is they who have made my glory to pre-61] vail more now, and through whom my name has now been honored. And I will not grieve over the great number of those who perish, for they are the ones who are now like vapor, and counted as flame and smoke; they have burned and glowed and gone
 out."

62] And I answered and said,
 "O earth, why have you brought forth, if the understanding is made out of dust like other creatures!
 63] For it would have been better if the dust itself had not been born, so that the intelligence might not have 64] sprung from it. But now the intelligence grows with us, and it is on this account that we are tormented, because we must perish, and we know 65] it! Let the human race lament, and the wild beasts rejoice; let all who are born lament, but the four-footed 66] creatures and the cattle be glad. For they are much better off than we, for they do not look for a judgment, and they do not know of any torment or salvation promised to them after death. But what benefit is it to us that we are preserved alive but 67] cruelly tormented? For all who are born are involved in iniquities and full of sins and weighed down with offenses. And if we were not to come 68] to judgment after death, perhaps it would have been better for us."

And he answered me and said, [70]
 "When the Most High made the world, and Adam and all who came from him, he first prepared the judgment and the things that belong to the judgment. And now understand [71] from your own words, for you said that the intelligence grows with us.
 So those who live on the earth will be [72] tortured on this account because, though they had intelligence, they did iniquity, and though they received commandments, they did not keep them, and though they had obtained the Law, they broke it. What [73] will they have to say then at the judgment, or how will they answer in the last times? For how long the [74]
 Most High has shown long-suffering to those who inhabit the world, and not for their sakes, but for the sake of the times that he has fixed!"

Then I answered and said, [75]
 "If I have found favor in your sight, Sovereign, show this also to your slave; whether after death as soon as each one of us gives up his soul, we shall be faithfully kept at rest until those times come when you begin to renew the creation, or shall be tortured at once."

And he answered me and said, [76]
 "I will show you that also; but you must not associate with those who have shown scorn, or count yourself among those who are tortured. For [77] you have a treasure of works laid up with the Most High, but it will not be shown to you until the last times.
 For about death, the teaching is:
 When the final sentence goes forth [78] from the Most High that a man is to die, when the soul departs from the body to return again to him who gave it, first of all it prays to the glory of the Most High; if it was one of [79] those who scorned and did not observe the way of the Most High, and of those who have despised his law, and of those who hate those who fear

[80] God, such spirits shall not enter dwellings but wander about thenceforth in torment, always grieving and

[81] sad, in seven ways: The first way is that they have scorned the Law of the [82] Most High. The second way is that they can no longer make a good repentance, so that they may live. The

[83] third way is that they will see the reward destined for those who have believed the agreements of the Most

[84] High. The fourth way is that they will consider the torment destined for them in the last days. The fifth way

[85] is that they will see that the dwelling-places of the others are guarded by

[86] angels in profound silence. The sixth way is that they will see that some of them will pass over to be tormented

[87] henceforth. The seventh way, which is worse than all the ways that have been mentioned, is that they will waste away in shame and be consumed in disgrace, and wither with fear, at seeing the glory of the Most High before whom they sinned while they lived, and before whom they are destined to be judged in the last times.

[88] "But of those who have observed the ways of the Most High, this is the order, when they shall be separated

[89] from this fragile jar. In the time when they lived in it, they carefully served the Most High, though they were in danger every hour, so as to keep the Law of the Lawgiver perfectly.

[90] Therefore this is the teaching about

[91] them: First of all, they see with great rapture the glory of him who takes them up, for they will rest in

[92] seven orders. The first order is that they have striven with much toil to conquer the wicked thought that was formed with them, so that it should not lead them away from life to

[93] death. The second order is that they see the labyrinth in which the souls of the ungodly wander, and the punishment that awaits them. The third

[94] order is that they see the testimony that he who formed them has borne to them, because when they were alive they faithfully observed the Law

[95] which was given them. The fourth order is that they understand the rest which they now enjoy, gathered in their chambers, in great quietness, watched over by angels, and the glory that awaits them in the last days. The fifth order is that they exult that they have now escaped what is corruptible and will possess the future as their inheritance, and besides perceive the narrowness and toilsomeness from which they have been freed and the spaciousness they are destined to receive and enjoy in immortality. The sixth order is that it is shown to them how their face is destined to shine like the sun, and how they are to be made like the light of the stars, and be incorruptible thenceforth. The seventh order, which is greater than all those that have been mentioned, is that they will exult boldly, and that they will trust confidently, and rejoice fearlessly, for they hasten to see the face of him whom they served in life, and from whom they are to receive their reward when they are glorified. These are the orders of the souls of the upright, as henceforth proclaimed, and the above ways of torture are those which those who would not give heed will henceforth suffer."

And I answered and said,

"Then will time be given the souls after they are separated from the bodies, to see what you have told me of?"

And he said to me,

"They have freedom for seven days, to see on the seven days the things you have been told, and afterward they will be gathered in their dwellings."

And I answered and said,

"If I have found favor in your sight, show me, your slave, further, whether on the Day of Judgment the upright will be able to intercede for the ungodly, or to beseech the Most High on their behalf, fathers for sons, or sons for parents, brothers for brothers, relatives for their kinsmen, and friends for those who are most dear to them."

And he answered me and said,

"Since you have found favor in my sight, I will show you this also. The Day of Judgment is final and shows to all the stamp of truth. Just as now a father cannot send his son or a son his father or a master his slave or a friend his dearest friend to be sick for (105)him, or sleep or eat or be cured, so no one can pray for another then, or lay a burden on another, for they must all bear everyone his own iniquity or uprightness then."

34 And I answered and said,
 "How then do we now find that first Abraham prayed for the men of Sodom, and Moses for our forefathers
 37 who sinned in the desert, and Joshua after him for Israel in the days of Achan, and Samuel in the days of Saul, and David for the plague, and Solomon for those in the sanctuary, and Elijah for those who received the rain, and for one who was dead, that 40 he might live, and Hezekiah for the people in the days of Sennacherib, and many others for many? So if now, when corruption has increased and wrong has multiplied, the upright have prayed for the ungodly, why will it not be so then also?"

42 And he answered me and said,
 "The present world is not the end, and its glory is not lasting; therefore those who were strong prayed for the weak. But the Day of Judgment will be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortal world to come, in which corruption has passed 44 away, immorality is ended, unbelief is abolished, uprightness has increased, and truth has appeared.
 45 So no one will then be able to pity one who is condemned in the judgment, or harm one who is victorious."

46 And I answered and said,
 "This is my first and last word: for it would have been better for the earth not to have produced Adam, or when it had produced him compelled him not to sin. For what good is it to all men to live in sorrow and 47 expect punishment after death? O Adam, what have you done? For although it was you who sinned, the fall was not yours alone, but also ours, 49 for we are descended from you. For what good does it do us if the eternal world is promised to us, but we have done deeds that bring death? And that an imperishable hope is proclaimed to us, but we have miserably 50 failed? And that safe and healthy habitations are reserved for us, but we have lived wickedly? And that the glory of the Most High is going to protect those who have lived purely, but we have walked in the most wicked ways? And that a Paradise 53 will be revealed the fruit of which endures uncorrupted, which contains plenty and healing, but we cannot enter it, for we have lived in unseem-

 54 ly ways? And that the faces of those who have practiced abstinence will shine brighter than the stars, but our faces will be blacker than darkness? For when we were alive and committed 56 iniquity, we did not consider what we were to suffer after death."

And he answered and said, 57
 "This is the meaning of the battle that every man born on earth must fight, that, if he is beaten, he will suffer what you have said, but if he is victorious, he will receive what I say. For this is the way of which 58 Moses spoke, when he was alive, saying to the people, 'Choose life for yourself, so that you may live!' But 59 they would not believe him or the prophets after him, or yet me who have spoken to them, so there will be not so much grief at their destruction as joy over those who have been persuaded of salvation."

And I answered and said, 62
 "I know, sir, that the Most High is now called merciful, because he has mercy on those who have not yet come into the world, and gracious, because he is gracious to those who turn to his Law, and long-suffering, because 64 he is long-suffering to those who have sinned as his creatures, and bountiful, because he had rather give than exact, and of great mercy, because he multiplies mercies more and more to those who are alive and those who have passed away and those who are to be, for if he did not multiply 67 them, the world with those who live in it would not be made alive, and a giver, for if he did not give in his goodness, so that those who have committed iniquities might be relieved of them, not one ten-thousandth of mankind could have life; and a judge, for if he did not pardon those who were created by his word, and erase a multitude of offenses, there would probably be left only very few of the innumerable multitude."

And he answered me and said, 8

“The Most High made this world for the sake of many, but the world to come, for the sake of few. But I will tell you a parable, Ezra. Just as, if you ask the earth, it will tell you that it produces much more soil from which earthenware is made, but little dust from which gold comes, that is the way with the present world; many have been created, but few will be saved.”

4 And I answered and said,

“Then drink down understanding, my soul, and devour wisdom, my heart! For not of your own will you came, and against your will you go, for you have been given only a short time to live. O Lord above us, if you will only allow your slave to pray before you, and would give us seed for the heart and cultivation of the understanding so that fruit may be produced, by which a corruptible being, who bears the image of man, may live! For you stand alone, and we are one creation of your hands, as you have said. And when you bring to life a body formed in the womb, and provide its members, what you have created is preserved in fire and water, and for nine months what you have formed endures your creation which has been created in it. But that which preserves and that which is preserved are both preserved by your preserving. And when the womb gives up what has been created in it, you have commanded that from the members themselves, that is from the breasts, milk, the fruit of the breasts, be given, so that what has been formed may be nourished for a time. And afterward you develop it in your mercy. You nourish it in your uprightness, and instruct it through your Law, and bring it up in your wisdom. You put it to death as your creation, and make it live as your work. If then you lightly destroy him who was formed with such pains, at your command, why was he made at all? And now I will speak out: About all mankind you know best; but it is about your people that I am grieved, and it is for your inheritance that I mourn, and about Israel that I am sad, and about the posterity of Jacob that I am disturbed. Therefore I will begin to pray before you for myself and for them, for I see the failings of us who live in the land and I have heard of the strictness of the judgment that is to come. Therefore hear my voice, and consider my words, and I will speak before you.”

The beginning of the words of the prayer of Ezra, before he was taken up. And he said,

“Lord, who inhabit eternity, whose are the highest heavens, and whose upper chambers are in the air, whose throne is immeasurable, and whose glory is beyond comprehension, before whom the hosts of angels stand trembling, and at your command are changed to wind and fire, whose word is sure and whose utterances are certain, whose command is mighty and whose orders are terrible, whose look dries up the depths, and whose indignation melts the mountains, and whose truth endures forever, hear, Lord, the prayer of your slave, and listen to the petition of your creature, and heed my words; for as long as I live I must speak, and as long as I have my reason I must answer. Do not look at the sins of your people, but at those who have served you in truth! And do not notice the pursuits of the ungodly, but those who have observed your agreements under torture. And do not think of those who have behaved wickedly in your sight, but remember those who have willingly acknowledged your fear. And do not will the destruction of those who have the ways of cattle, but have regard for those who have so finely taught your Law. And do not be indignant at those who are deemed worse than beasts, but love those who have always trusted in your glory. For we and our forefathers have followed ways that bring death, but it is because of us sinners that you are called merciful. For if you desire to have pity on us, you will be called merciful, for we have no deeds of uprightness to show. For the upright, who have many good deeds laid up with you, will receive their reward in consequence of their own deeds. For what is man, that you are indignant at him, or what is a corruptible race, that you are so bitter toward it? For in truth there is no one among those who were ever born who has not acted wickedly, or among those who have grown up who has not sinned. For in this, Lord, your uprightness and goodness will be declared, if you have mercy on those who have no stock of good deeds."

And he answered me and said, "Some things you have said well, and it will come to pass in accordance with your words. For indeed I will not think about the forming of those who have sinned, or their death or judgment or destruction, but I will rejoice over the fashioning of the upright, over their pilgrimage also, and their salvation and the reward they will receive. So it is as I have said. For just as the farmer sows many seeds upon the ground, and plants a multitude of plants, and yet not all that was sown will be saved in due time, and not all that were planted will take root, so those who are sown in the world will not all be saved."

And I answered and said, "If I have found favor before you, I will speak. For if the farmer's seed does not come up, because it has not received your rain in season, or if it has been spoiled by an excess of rain, it perishes; but man, who was formed by your hands and is called your image, because he is made like you—for whose sake you formed everything—do you compare him to the farmer's seed? No, Lord above us, but spare your people and have pity on your inheritance, for you pity your own creation."

And he answered me and said, "The present for those who are now, and the future for those who shall be. For you are far from able to love what I have created more than I. But you have often counted yourself among the ungodly. Never! But for this you will be commended before the Most High, because you humbled yourself, as was fitting, and did not count yourself among the upright, so as to glorify yourself too much. For those who inhabit the world in the last times will be afflicted with many great miseries, because they have walked in great pride. But you must think of yourself and ask about the glory of those who are like yourself. For it is for you that Paradise is opened, the tree of life is planted, the age to come is prepared, plenty is provided, a city is built, a rest is ordained, good deeds completed, wisdom perfected beforehand. The root of evil is sealed up from you, for you sickness is extinct, and death has departed; Hades has fled, and corruption has gone into oblivion; sorrows have passed away, and the treasure of immortality is finally displayed. So do not ask any more questions about the great number of those who perish. For though they had received liberty, they scorned the Most High and despised his Law, and forsook his ways. Moreover they trampled upon his saints and said in their hearts that there was no God, though they knew well that they must die. For just as the things I have spoken of await you, so the thirst and torment which are prepared await them. For the Most High did not wish man to perish, but those who were created have themselves defiled the name of him who made them, and proved ungrateful to him who prepared life for them. Therefore my judgment is now drawing near, but I have not revealed it to all men, but only to you and a few like you."

And I answered and said,

"Behold, Lord, you have revealed to me the great number of signs which you are going to perform in the last days, but you have not revealed to me at what time you will do this."

"Measure it carefully within yourself, and it will be that when you see that a certain part of the signs which have been foretold have passed, then you will understand that it is the very time when the Most High is to visit the world that was made by him. So when there shall appear in the world earthquakes, the tumult of peoples, plots of the heathen, wavering of leaders, and confusion of princes, then you will understand that it was of these things that the Most High spoke from the days that were of old, from the beginning. For just as with everything that has happened in the world, the beginning is plain and the end manifest, so also are the times of the Most High; the beginnings are signalized by wonders and mighty works, and the end by 7 acts and signs. And it will be that everyone who will be saved, and who is able to escape by reason of his deeds or his faith, by which he believed, will survive the dangers I have foretold, and will see my salvation in my land, and within my borders which I have consecrated to myself from eternity. Then those who have now neglected my ways will be amazed, and those who have rejected them with contempt will abide in torment. For as many as failed to acknowledge me in their lifetime, though they received my benefits, and as many as disdained my Law, while they still had freedom, and while an opportunity to repent was still open to them, did not understand but scorned it, these must recognize it after death, through torment. So you must no longer be curious as to how the ungodly will be punished, but ask how the righteous will be saved, to whom that age belongs and for the sake of whom it was made."

14 I answered and said,
15 "I said before, and say now, and will say again, there are more that perish than that will be saved, as a wave is greater than a drop of water."

17 And he answered me and said,
"As is the field, so is the seed, and as are the flowers, so are the colors, and as is the work, so is it judged, and as is the farmer, so is the threshing-floor. For there was a time in the ages of eternity, when I was preparing for those who now are, before the world was made for them to live in, and no one opposed me then, for there was no one else; but now those who have been created in this world which is provided with an un-failing table and an inexhaustible pasture, have become corrupt in their characters. So I considered my world, and, behold, it was lost; and my universe, and, behold, it was in danger, because of the devices of those who had come into it. And I saw, and spared them, not very greatly, and saved myself one grape out of a cluster, and one plant out of a forest. So let the multitude perish, that were born in vain, but let my grape be saved, and my plant, because with much labor I have perfected them. But if you will let seven days more pass but not fast in them, but go to a flowery field, where no house is built, and eat only of the flowers of the field, and taste no meat and drink no wine, but only flowers, and will pray to the Most High continually, I will come and talk with you."

So I went as he told me, to the field called Ardat, and I sat there among the flowers, and ate the wild plants, and the food they afforded satisfied me. And it came to pass after seven days that as I lay on the grass my heart was troubled as it had been before. Then my mouth was opened, and I began to speak before the Most High, and said,

"O Lord, you surely showed yourself to our forefathers in the desert when they came out of Egypt and went into the desert, which was untrodden and unproductive, and you surely said, 'Israel, hear me, and mark my words, posterity of Jacob. For behold, I sow my Law in you, and it will bring forth fruit in you, and you will be glorified through it forever.' But our forefathers who received the Law did not keep it, and did not observe the statutes, yet the fruit of the Law did not perish, for it could not, because it was yours; but those who had received it perished, because they had not kept what had been sown in them. And, behold, it is the rule that when the earth has received seed, or the sea a ship, or any dish food or drink, and when it comes about that what was sown or what was launched or what was put in is destroyed, they are destroyed, but the things which contained them remain. But with us it has not been so; we who received the Law will perish because we sinned, along with our heart which received it; but the Law does not perish, but abides in its glory."

When I said this to myself, I lifted up my eyes and saw a woman at my right, and behold, she was weeping and wailing aloud, and was deeply grieved at heart, and her clothes were torn, and she had ashes on her head. And I dismissed the thoughts I had been thinking, and turned to her and said to her,

"Why do you weep, and why are you grieved at heart?"

And she said to me,

"Let me weep over myself, my lord, and continue to mourn, for I am greatly embittered in spirit and deeply afflicted."

And I said to her,

"What has happened to you? Tell me."

And she said to me,

"Your servant was barren and had no child, though I had a husband for thirty years. And every day and hour, those thirty years, I prayed to the Most High, night and day. Then after thirty years it came about that God heard your servant, and looked on my affliction and gave heed to my distress and gave me a son. And I rejoiced greatly over him, I and my husband and all my neighbors, and we paid great honor to the Mighty One.

And I brought him up with great care. And it came about, when he was grown up, that I proceeded to take a wife for him, and made a marriage feast.

"And it came about that when my son entered his wedding chamber, he fell down and died. And we all overturned the lights, and all my neighbors rose up to comfort me, and I was quiet until evening the second day.

And it came about, when they had all stopped comforting me, to quiet me, that I got up in the night, and fled, and came to this field, as you see.

And now I plan not to return to the city, but to stay here, and I will not eat or drink, but mourn and fast continually until I die."

Then I broke off the reflections with which I was still occupied, and answered her in anger and said,

"You most foolish of all women, can you not see our sorrow, and what has happened to us? For Zion, the mother of us all, is afflicted with grief and in deep humiliation. Now lament bitterly, for we are all lamenting, and be sad, for we are all sad, but you sorrow for just one son. For ask the earth, and she will tell you that it is she who ought to mourn over so many who have come into being upon her. And from the beginning all have been born of her and others will come, and, behold, almost all of them go to perdition, and the most of them are destined to destruction. Who therefore ought to mourn more, if not she, who has lost such a multitude, rather than you, who sorrow for only one? But if you say to me, 'My lamentation is not like the earth's, for I have lost the fruit of my womb, which I bore with pain and brought forth with sorrow; but it is with the earth after the manner of the earth; the multitude that is now in it goes as it came'; then I say to you, 'As you brought forth with pain, so the earth also has from the beginning given her fruit, man, to him who made her.' So keep your sorrow to yourself, and bear bravely the misfortunes that have overtaken you. For if you accept the judgment of God, you will receive your son back in due time, and be praised among women. So go into the city to your husband."

And she said to me,

"I will not do it, or enter the city, but I will die here."

Then I proceeded to speak to her further, and said,

"Do not do that, but let yourself be persuaded because of the misfortunes of Zion, and be comforted because of the sorrow of Jerusalem. For you see that our sanctuary has been laid waste, and our altar torn down, and our temple destroyed, and our harp is brought low, and our song is silenced, and our rejoicing has ceased, and the light of our lamp is put out, and the chest of our agreement is plundered, and our sacred things are polluted, and the name by which we have been called is profaned, our children are abused, and our priests are burned, and our Levites have gone into captivity, and our girls are defiled, and our wives are ravished, and our upright men are carried off, and our little ones are exposed, and our young men are enslaved, and our strong men are made weak. And worst of all is the seal of Zion, for she is now sealed up from her glory, and delivered into the hands of those who hate us. So shake off your great sadness and lay aside your many sorrows, so that the Mighty One may become gracious to you, and the Most High may give you rest, and relief from your troubles."

25 And it came to pass, as I spoke to her, that her face suddenly shone exceedingly and the look of her countenance flashed like lightning, so that I was too greatly frightened to go near her, and wondered what it could mean. And behold, she suddenly gave a loud and fearful cry, so that the earth shook at the sound. And I looked, and behold the woman no longer appeared to me, but a city was being built and a place of huge foundations showed itself; and I was afraid, and cried aloud and said,

26 "Where is the angel Uriel, who came to me at first? For it was he who brought me into this great bewilderment; my end has become corruption, and my prayer a reproach!"

27 And as I said this, behold, the angel who had come to me at first, came to me, and saw me; and, behold, I lay there like a corpse, and I had lost my reason, and he took my right hand, and steadied me, and helped me to my feet, and said to me,

28 "What is the matter with you, and why are you troubled, and why are your understanding and the thinking of your mind confused?"

29 And I said,

30 "Because you utterly abandoned me. I did as you told me, and went out to the field, and behold, I looked, and I saw what I cannot describe."

31 And he said to me,

32 "Stand up like a man, and I will instruct you."

33 And I said,

34 "Speak, my lord, only do not abandon me, so that I may not die in vain. For I have seen what I did not know, and I heard what I do not understand. Is my mind deceived, or my soul dreaming? Now therefore I beseech you to explain to your slave about this confusion."

35 And he answered me and said,

36 "Listen to me, and I will teach you, and tell you about the things of which you are afraid, for the Most High has revealed many secrets to you. For he has seen your rectitude, and that you have sorrowed continually for your people and lamented bitterly over Zion. This then is the meaning of the vision: The woman who appeared to you a little while ago, whom you saw mourning and began to comfort, but whom you then saw not in the form of a woman, but she appeared to you as a city that was being built, and as to what she told you about the misfortune of her son, this is the explanation: The woman that you saw, whom you now see as a city that is built, is Zion! And as for her telling you that she was barren for thirty years, that was because there were three thousand years when no offering was yet offered in her; and it came to pass that after three thousand years Solomon built the city and offered sacrifices; it was then that the barren woman bore a son. And as for her telling you that she brought him up with care, that was the period of residence in Jerusalem. And as for her saying to you, 'As my son was going into the marriage chamber, he died,' and that misfortune had overtaken her, that was the fall of Jerusalem that has taken place. And, behold, you saw her face and how she mourned for her son, and you began to comfort her for what had happened. And now the Most High seeing that you are deeply grieved, and are whole-heartedly distressed for her, has shown you the splendor of her glory and the charm of her beauty. It was on this account that I told you to stay in the field where no house was built, for I knew that the Most High was going to reveal these things to you. That was why I told you to go into the field, where there was no foundation of a building, for no work built by man could stand in the place where the city of the Most High was to be revealed. So do not be afraid, or terrified at heart, but go in, and see the splendor and greatness of the building, as far as the sight of your eyes can see. And afterward you will hear as much as the hearing of your ears can hear. For you are more blessed than many, and you have been called by the Most High as few have been. But tomorrow night you must stay here, and the Most High will show you in dreams those visions of what the Most High is going to do in the last days to those who live on the earth."

So I slept that night and the following one, as he had commanded me. And it came to pass on the second 11 night that I had a dream, and behold, there came up out of the sea an eagle, with twelve feather-covered wings and three heads. And I looked, and behold he spread his wings over the whole earth, and all the winds of heaven blew upon him, and the clouds gathered about him. And I looked, and out of his wings grew additional wings, and they became small, dwarfish wings. But his heads were resting; the middle head was greater than the other heads, but it was resting like them. And I looked, and behold, the eagle flew with his wings, to reign over the earth, and over those who live on it. And I saw that everything under heaven was subject to him, and no one opposed him, nor any creature that was on the earth.

And I looked and, behold, the eagle rose upon his talons, and uttered his voice to his wings, saying, "Do not all watch at once, sleep each in his own place, and watch by turns; but let the heads be reserved for the last."

And I looked, and behold, the voice did not come from his heads but from the midst of his body. And I counted his additional wings, and behold, there were eight of them. And I looked, and behold, on the right side, one wing arose and it reigned over the whole earth. And it came to pass, after it had reigned, that it came to an end, and disappeared, so that even the place where it had been could not be seen. Then the second arose and reigned, and it ruled a long time. And it came to pass, after it had reigned, that it also came to an end, so that it disappeared like the first. And behold a voice was heard, saying to it,

"Listen, you who have ruled the earth so long, I make this proclamation to you before you begin to disappear: No one after you will rule as long as you have ruled, or even half as long!"

Then the third wing raised itself up, and ruled like the former ones, and it also disappeared. And so it fell to all the wings, one by one to be emperor, and then to disappear again. And I looked, and behold, in due time, the additional wings on the right side raised themselves up, in order to be emperor, and there were some of them who succeeded but immediately disappeared, and some of them raised themselves up, but did not remain emperor. And afterward I looked, and behold, the twelve wings and two little wings disappeared, and nothing was left on the eagle's body except the three heads that were resting and six little wings. And I looked, and behold, from the six little wings two separated, and stayed under the head that was on the right side; but four stayed in their places. And I looked, and behold, these four additional wings planned to raise themselves up and be emperors. And I looked, and behold, one raised itself up, and immediately disappeared; and a second, and it disappeared more quickly than the first. And I looked, and behold, the two that were left also planned to reign; but while they were planning it, behold, the one of the resting heads that was in the middle awoke, for it was greater than the other two heads; and I saw how the two heads were united with it; and behold, the head turned with the ones that were with it, and it ate up the additional wings which planned to reign. Moreover, this head made itself master of the whole earth, and ruled very oppressively over its inhabitants, and it had more power over the world than all the wings that had gone before. And afterward I looked, and behold, the middle head suddenly disappeared, just as the wings had done. But the two heads remained, and they also reigned over the earth and over its inhabitants. And I looked, and behold, the head on the right side ate up the one on the left.

Then I heard a voice saying to me, "Look before you, and think about what you see."

And I looked, and behold, what seemed to be a lion rose out of the forest roaring, and I heard how he uttered a man's voice to the eagle, and spoke saying,

"Listen, and I will speak to you. The Most High says to you, 'Are you not all that is left of the four animals that I made to reign in my world, so that through them the end of my times might come? And you are the 40

fourth to come, and you have conquered all the animals that are past, and you have held the world in subjection in great terror, and the whole earth with harsh oppression, and you have lived so long in the world with

41 deceit; and you have not judged the 42 earth with truth. You have persecuted the meek and hurt the peaceable, you have hated those who tell the truth, and loved liars, and you have destroyed the dwellings of the fruitful, and torn down the walls of 43 those who did you no harm. And your insolence has reached the Most High and your pride the Mighty One.

44 And the Most High has looked at his times, and behold, they are ended, and his ages are completed! Therefore you will surely disappear, you eagle, and your dreadful wings, and your wicked additional wings, and your malignant heads, and your cruel talons, and your whole worthless

46 body, so that the whole earth may be freed from your violence, and be refreshed and relieved, and hope for the justice and mercy of him who made her."

12 And it came to pass, while the lion was saying these words to the eagle that I looked, and behold, the head that had been left disappeared, and the two wings which had gone over to it lifted themselves up to reign, and their reign was short and full

3 of uproar. And I looked, and behold, they also disappeared, and the whole body of the eagle was burned, and the earth was panic-stricken.

Then, because of great disturbance of mind and great fear, I awoke, and I said to my spirit,

4 "Behold, you have brought this upon me, because you try to search out the ways of the Most High!

5 Behold, I am still weary in mind and very weak in my spirit, and there is not the least strength left in me, because of the great fear which I felt

6 this night. So now I will intreat the Most High to strengthen me to the end."

7 And I said,
 "Sovereign Lord, if I have found favor in your sight, and if I am counted upright by you beyond many, and if my prayer has indeed

8 come up before your face, strengthen me, and show your slave the meaning and explanation of this dreadful vision, so as to comfort my soul fully. For you have thought me worthy to be shown the end of the times and the last of them."

And he said to me,
 "This is the meaning of this vision that you have seen: As for the eagle that you saw rising from the sea, it is the fourth kingdom that appeared in a vision to your brother Daniel. But it was not explained to him as I now explain it to you or have explained it. Behold, the days are coming when a kingdom will rise on the earth, and it will be more terrible than all the kingdoms that were before it. Moreover, twelve kings will reign over it, one after another. But the second who is to reign will rule longer than the twelve. This is the meaning of the twelve wings that you saw. And as for your hearing a voice that spoke, that came not from his heads but from the middle of his body, this is the meaning: In the midst of the time of the kingdom no small struggles will arise, and it will be in danger of falling, but it will not fall then, but will regain its former power. And as for your seeing eight additional wings springing from his wings, this is the meaning. For eight kings will rise in it, whose times will be short and whose years will be fleeting, and two of them will fall when the middle of its time draws near; but four will be preserved for the time when the time of its end begins to approach; but two will be kept until the end. And as for your seeing the three heads resting, this is the meaning: In its last days the Most High will raise up three kings, and they will renew many things in it, and will distress the earth and those who live in it, with greater oppression than all who were before them. That is why they are called the eagle's heads. For it is they that will bring his wickedness to a head and will bring him to his end. And as for your seeing the greater head disappear—one of them will die in his bed, but in torment. But as for the two who were left, the sword will devour them. For the sword of one of them will devour the one who was with him, but he too will 20 fall by the sword in the last days. And as for your seeing two additional wings crossing over to the head on the right side, this is the meaning: It is these that the Most High has kept for the eagle's end, for their reign was short and full of disturbance, as you saw. And as for the lion that you saw roused roaring out of the forest, and speaking to the eagle, and rebuking him for his wickedness and all his words that you have heard, he is the Anointed One, whom the Most High has kept until the end of the days, who will spring from the posterity of David and come and talk with them. He will charge them with their ungodliness and rebuke them for their wickedness, and reproach them to their faces with their transgressions. 33 For first he will set them alive before his judgment seat, and when he has rebuked them, he will destroy them. 34 But my people who remain he will mercifully set free, who remain in my borders, and he will make them glad until the end comes, the Day of Judgment, of which I told you at the beginning. This is the dream that you had, and this is its meaning. But you alone were worthy to know the secret of the Most High. So write all that you have seen in a book, and put it in a secret place, and teach them to the wise among your people, whose hearts you know can receive and keep these secrets. But you must stay here seven days more, so that you may be shown whatever it pleases the Most High to show you."

40 Then he departed from me. And it came about that when all the people had heard that the seven days had passed and I had not returned to the city, they all gathered together, from the least to the greatest, and came to me and spoke to me saying,

41 "How have we sinned against you, and what harm have we done you, that you have entirely abandoned us, and stay in this place? For of all the prophets, you alone are left to us, like a grape cluster out of the vintage, and like a lamp in a dark place, and like a safe harbor for a ship in a storm. Are not the evils that have befallen us enough? So if you abandon us, how much better it would have been for us if we too had been burned in the burning of Zion! For we are no better than those who died there." And they wept aloud.

And I answered them and said, "Have courage, Israel, and do not be sorrowful, you house of Jacob. For you are remembered before the Most High, and the Mighty One will never forget you. For I have not abandoned you or withdrawn from you, but I came to this place to pray over the desolation of Zion, and to ask for mercy in view of the degradation of our sanctuary. And now go home, every one of you, and when these days are over, I will come to you."

And the people went back to the city, as I told them to do. But I stayed in the field for seven days, as he had commanded me, and I ate only of the flowers of the field: my food was vegetables in those days.

And it came about after seven days that in the night I dreamed a dream, and behold a wind arose from the sea, so that it stirred up all its waves. And I looked, and behold, the wind brought out of the heart of the sea something like the figure of a man, and this man flew with the clouds of heaven, and wherever he turned his face to look, everything that was seen by him trembled, and wherever the voice went from his mouth, all who heard his voice melted as wax melts when it feels the fire. And after that I looked, and behold, an innumerable multitude of men was gathered together from the four winds of heaven, to make war upon the man who had come up out of the sea. And I looked, and behold, he carved himself out a great mountain, and flew up upon it. But I sought to see the region or place from which the mountain had been carved, and I could not. And after that I looked, and behold, all who had gathered together against him, to fight with him, were much afraid, but dared to fight. And behold, when he saw the onset of the multitude that approached, he did not raise his hand, or hold a sword, or any weapon of war, but I saw only how he sent out of his mouth what looked like a flood of fire, and out of his lips a flaming breath, and from his tongue he sent

11 forth a storm of sparks. These were all mixed together, the flood of fire, and the flaming breath, and the mighty storm, and it fell upon the onset of the multitude which was ready to fight, and burned them all up, so that suddenly there was nothing to be seen of the countless multitude but the dust of their ashes and the smell of smoke. When I saw it, I was amazed. Afterward I saw this man come down from the mountain, and call to him another multitude

12 that was peaceable. Then many people came to him, some joyful, some sorrowful, some in fetters, some bringing offerings.

Then in an excess of fear I awoke, and besought the Most High, and said, 14 "You have shown your slave these wonders from the beginning, and have thought me worthy to have my prayer heard by you. Now show me further the meaning of this dream!

15 For as I think of it in my mind, alas for those who will be left in those days, and alas much more for those who are not left! For those who are not left will be sad, since they know what is reserved for the last days, but cannot attain them. But alas for those who are left, too, for this reason, for they must experience great dangers and much distress, as these dreams show. Yet it is better, for all the danger, to attain these things, than to pass from the world like a cloud, and not to see what will happen at the end."

And he answered me and said,

21 "I will tell you the meaning of the vision, and I will reveal to you the things of which you speak. As for what you say about those who are left, this is the meaning: He who occasions the danger at that time will guard those who are exposed to danger, who have works, and faith in the Almighty. So you must understand that those who are left are more blessed than those who have died.

22 This is the meaning of the vision: As for your seeing a man come up from the heart of the sea, he is the one whom the Most High has kept a long time, through whom he will redeem his creation; and he will organize

23 those who are left. And as for your seeing wind and fire and storm issue from his mouth, and as for his not holding a sword or a weapon of war, but destroying the onset of the multitude that came to subdue him, this is the meaning: Behold, the days are coming when the Most High is going to deliver those who are on the earth, and amazement will come upon those who live on the earth, and they will plan to make war one upon another, city upon city and place upon place, people upon people, and kingdom upon kingdom. And it will come about, when this happens, that the signs will occur which I showed you before, and my Son will be revealed, whom you saw as a man coming up. And it will come about, when all the nations hear his voice, that every man will leave his country and the wars that they have with one another, and a countless multitude such as you saw will be gathered together, wishing to come and subdue him. But he will stand on the top of Mount Zion. And Zion will come and be revealed to all men, made ready and built, like the mountain that you saw carved out without hands. And my Son will charge the heathen who have come with their ungodliness (this was symbolized by the storm), and will upbraid them to their face with their evil thoughts and the tortures with which they are to be tortured (which were symbolized by the flame), and he will destroy them without effort by the Law (which is symbolized by the fire). And as for your seeing him gather about himself another multitude that was peaceable, these are the ten tribes that in the days of King Hoshea were carried away from their own land into captivity, whom Shalmaneser, king of Assyria, made captives, and carried beyond the river; they were carried off to another country. But they formed this plan among themselves, to leave the heathen population, and go to a more distant region, where the human race had never lived, so that there perhaps they might keep their statutes, which they had not kept in their own country. And they went in by the narrow passages of the Euphrates River. For the Most High then did wonders for them, for he held back the sources of the river until they had passed over.

 45 But it was a long journey of a year and a half to that country, and that 46 country is called Arzareth. There they have lived until the last time, and now, when they are about to 47 come again, the Most High will hold back the sources of the river again, so that they can cross over. It is on that account that you saw the multitude gathered together in peace.
 48 But those also who are left of your people, who are found within my 49 holy borders, will live. Therefore it will be that when he destroys the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he will protect the 50 people that remain, and then he will show them many, many wonders."

51 And I said,
 "Sovereign Lord, show me this—why I saw a man come up from the heart of the sea."

52 And he said to me,
 "Just as no one can seek out or know what is in the depth of the sea, so no one on earth can see my Son, or those who are with him, except at the 53 time of his Day. This is the meaning of the dream that you had. And you alone have been enlightened about 54 these things, because you have forsaken your own affairs and devoted yourself to mine, and have sought 55 after my Law, for you have devoted your life to wisdom and called under-56 standing your mother. That is why I have shown you this, for there is reward with the Most High! For it will be that after three more days I will say other things to you, and declare weighty and wonderful matters
 to you."

57 Then I went away and walked in the field, greatly glorifying and praising the Most High for the wonders 58 that he does from time to time, and because he directs the times and the things that take place in the times.
 And I stayed there three days.

14 And it came to pass on the third day, as I sat under an oak, behold, a voice came from a bush in front of me, and said,

"Ezra, Ezra!"

2 And I said,

"Here I am, sir!"

3 And I rose to my feet, and he said
 to me,

"I revealed myself visibly in the bush, and talked with Moses, when my people was in slavery in Egypt, and I sent him, and led my people 4 out of Egypt, and brought them to Mount Sinai, and kept him with me many days, and told him many won-5 derful things, and showed him the secrets of the times, and the end of the times, and commanded him, say-
 ing,

"These words you must publish 6 openly, and those you must keep se-7 cret.' And now I tell you, the signs that I have shown you, and the dreams that you have had, and the meaning of them that you have heard, lay up in your heart! For you 9 will be taken up from among men, and henceforth you will live with my Son and those who are like you, until the times are ended. For the world 10 has lost its youth, and the times are beginning to grow old. For the life 11 of the world is divided into twelve parts, and nine parts and half of the 12 tenth part are already past, and there are left two parts and half of the 13 tenth part. Now therefore put your house in order, and warn your people, comfort the humble among them, and teach those who are wise, and now renounce the life that perishes, and dismiss from your mind mortal 14 considerations, and throw off the burdens of human existence, and lay 15 aside your weak nature, and put away your perplexities, and hasten to escape from these times. For worse 16 evils are still to come than those you have seen happen. For the more the 17 world grows weak with age, the more evils will increase upon those who live in it. Truth will more and more re- 18 tire, and falsehood draw near. For the eagle that you saw in your vision is already hastening to come."

And I answered and said,

"Let me speak before you, sir! For 19 behold I will go away, as you have 20 commanded me, and I will warn the people who are now living; but who will warn those who are still to be born? For the world lies in darkness, and those who live in it have no light;
 for your Law is burnt, and so no one 21 knows what has been done by you or what is going to be done. But if I 22 have found favor before you, impart

to me the holy Spirit, and I will write all that has happened in the world since the beginning, which were written in your Law, so that men can find the path, and those who wish to live in the last times may live."

23 And he answered me and said,

"Go, gather the people together, and tell them not to look for you for forty days. But you must prepare for yourself many writing tablets, and take with you Seraiah, Dabria, Shelemiah, Elkanah, and Asiel, who are able to write swiftly. And you are to come here, and I will light the lamp of understanding in your heart, and it will not be put out until the things you are to write are finished. 26 And when you have finished, some things you shall publish and some you shall hand down secretly to the wise. At this hour tomorrow you shall begin to write."

27 And I went as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and said,

28,29 "Israel, hear these words. Our forefathers lived in Egypt as strangers at first, and they were delivered from there, and received the Law of life, which they did not observe, which you also transgressed after them.

31 Then land was given you to possess in the country of Zion, but you and your forefathers acted unrighteously and did not observe the ways which the Most High commanded you to keep; and, as he is an upright judge, he took from you what he had given

33 you in his own time. And now you are here, and your brothers are in the interior. If therefore you will rule your mind and instruct your heart, you will be preserved while you live, and obtain mercy after death. For after death will come the judgment, when we will live again, and then the names of the upright will appear and the deeds of the ungodly will be disclosed. But let no one come near me now, or look for me for forty days."

37 Then I took the five men, as he commanded me, and we went to the field, and stayed there. And it came to pass the next day that a voice called me, and said,

"Ezra, open your mouth, and drink what I give you to drink."

39 And I opened my mouth, and, behold, a full cup was offered me. It was full of what looked like water, but the color of it was like fire. And I took it, and drank, and when I had drunk it, my heart gushed forth understanding, and wisdom grew in my breast, for my spirit retained its memory, and my mouth opened and was no longer closed. Moreover, the Most High gave understanding to the five men, and they wrote what was said, one after another, in letters that they did not know. And they stayed forty days; they wrote in the daytime, and ate their bread at night; but I spoke by day and was not silent at night. In forty days ninety-four books were written. And it came to pass, when the forty days were over, that the Most High spoke to me and said,

"Publish the twenty-four books that you wrote first, for the worthy and the unworthy to read, but keep the seventy books that were written last, to hand down to the wise men among your people, for in them is the source of understanding, and the spring of wisdom, and the stream of knowledge." And I did so, [in the seventh year, in the sixth week, after five thousand years of the creation, and three months and twelve days.

Then Ezra was caught up, and taken to the land of those who were like him, after he had written all this. And he was called the scribe of the knowledge of the Most High forever and ever.]

"Behold, speak in the hearing of my people the words of prophecy which I will put in your mouth," says the Lord, "and have them written on paper, for they are trustworthy and true. Do not fear what they imagine against you, or let the unbelief of those who oppose you trouble you. For all unbelievers will die in their unbelief."

"Behold," says the Lord, "I will bring evils upon the whole world, the sword and famine and death and destruction. For wickedness has spread over the whole earth, and their harmful doings are complete. Therefore," says the Lord, "I will not be silent any longer about their ungodly acts which they impiously commit, or endure them in their wicked practices. Behold, innocent and upright blood cries to me, and the souls of the upright cry out continually. I will certainly avenge them," says the Lord, "and all innocent blood I will require of them for myself. Behold, my people is led to slaughter like a flock; I will not suffer them to live in the land of Egypt any longer, but I will bring them out with a strong hand and an outstretched arm, and I will strike Egypt with plague as I did before, and destroy all its land. Let Egypt lament, and its foundations, for the plague of punishment and correction that the Lord will bring upon it. Let the farmers who cultivate the soil lament, for their grain will fail, and their trees will be destroyed by blight and hail and a fearful star. Alas for the world and those who live in it! For the sword and their destruction have drawn near, and nation will rise against nation to fight, with swords in their hands. For there will be inconstancy among men; they will grow strong, one party against another, and have no regard for their king or the chief of their princes, in their strength. For a man will want to enter a city, and will not be able. For because of their pride, the cities will be in confusion, the houses will be wiped out, men will be afraid. A man will not have pity on his neighbor, when it comes to making an attack on their houses with the sword, and plundering their property, because of hunger for bread, and because of great distress.

"Behold, I will call together," says God, "all the kings of the earth, to fear me, from the sunrise and from the south, from the east and from Lebanon, to turn and give back what they have given them. For as they have done unto this day to my chosen, I will do, and will pay it back into their laps." This is what the Lord God says: "My right hand will not spare the sinners, and my sword will not cease from those who shed innocent blood on the earth." And a fire went forth from his wrath, and consumed the foundations of the earth and the sinners like burnt straw.

"Alas for those who sin, and do not keep my commandments," says the Lord; "I will not spare them. Begone, you rebellious sons, do not pollute my sanctuary." For the Lord knows all who offend against him, therefore he has given them up to die and to be killed. For now disasters have come upon the whole world, and you will stay among them, for God will not deliver you, because you have sinned against him.

Behold, a dreadful vision, appearing from the east! And the nations of Arabian serpents will come out with many chariots, and from the day they set out, their hissing will be carried over the earth, so that all who hear them will fear and tremble. The Carmonians will come out frantic with anger, like wild boars from the forest, and they will come in great strength, and engage them in battle, and will lay waste a part of the land of Assyria with their teeth. And afterward the serpents, mindful of their origin, will prevail, and if they conspire in great strength and turn to pursue them, they also will be thrown into confusion and be silenced by their strength, and turn and flee. And from the land of Assyria a waylayer will beset them and destroy one of them, and fear and trembling will come upon their army, and indecision upon their kings.

Behold, clouds from the east, and from the north to the south, and their appearance is very dreadful, full of wrath and storm; and they will strike against one another, and will shed an abundance of stars upon the earth, and their own star, and there will be blood from the sword up to a horse's belly and a man's thigh and a camel's hock, and there will be great fear and trembling on the earth, and those who witness that wrath will shudder, and trembling will seize them. And, after that, heavy rainstorms will come from the south and the north, and another part from the west. And winds from the east will grow strong, and will reveal it, and the cloud that he raised in his wrath, and the star will be driven violently from the east to the south and west to produce destruction. And great clouds will rise, huge and angry, with the star, to destroy all the earth and its inhabitants, and they will pour over every deep and height a dreadful star, fire and hail and flying swords and floods of water, so that all the fields and streams will be filled with the abundance of those waters. And they will break down cities and walls and mountains and hills and forest trees and grass in the meadows and their grain. And they will cross over steadily to Babylon and destroy her. They will come to her and surround her and pour out the star and all its wrath upon her, and the dust and smoke will go up to heaven, and they will all lament her, round about her. And those who survive will serve those who have destroyed her.

46 And you, Asia, partner of the beauty of Babylon, and the glory of her person, alas for you, poor wretch, because you have become like her; you have ornamented your daughters in immorality to please and glory in your lovers, who have always desired you! You have imitated that hateful adulteress in all her deeds and devices. Therefore, God says,

49 "I will send misfortunes upon you, widowhood, poverty, famine, the sword, pestilence, to lay waste your houses and bring them to destruction and death. And the glory of your strength will dry up like a flower, when the heat that is directed upon you rises. And you will grow weak like a poor creature beaten with stripes and wounds, so that you cannot receive your heroes and lovers.

52 Would I act against you with such zeal," says the Lord, "if you had not always killed my chosen, exulting and clapping your hands, and speaking over their dead bodies, drunk as you were? So adorn the beauty of your face! A prostitute's wages will be in your lap, so you will receive your recompense. As you shall do to my chosen," says the Lord, "so God will do to you, and he will deliver you to misfortunes. And your children will die of hunger, and you will fall by the sword, and your cities will be destroyed and all your people in the country will fall by the sword, and those who are in the mountains will perish with hunger, and will eat their own flesh and drink their own blood in their hunger for bread and thirst for water. Unhappy beyond others, you will come and endure fresh afflictions. And as they pass by they will crush the unprofitable city, and destroy a part of your land, and do away with a portion of your glory, as they return from the destruction of Babylon. And you will be demolished by them like stubble, and they will be like fire to you. And they will devour you and your cities, your land and your mountains, all your forests and fruit trees they will burn with fire. They will carry your sons away as captives, and take your wealth as plunder, and spoil the beauty of your face."

Alas for you, Babylon and Asia! 18
 Alas for you, Egypt and Syria! Put 2 on sackcloth and haircloth, and bewail your sons and lament them, for your destruction is at hand. The sword has been sent upon you, and who is there to turn it aside? A fire has been sent upon you, and who is there to put it out? Misfortunes have been sent upon you, and who is there to drive them away? Can one drive off a hungry lion in a forest, or put out a fire in the stubble, when it has once begun to burn? Can one turn back an arrow shot by a strong archer? If the Lord God sends misfortunes, who can turn them back? When fire goes out from his wrath, who is there to put it out? When he lightens, who will not fear? When he thunders, who will not shudder? When the Lord threatens, who will not be utterly destroyed at his presence? The earth trembles to its foundations, the sea is stirred to its depths, and its waves are thrown into confusion, and its fish also, at the presence of the Lord, and the glory of his might. For his right arm that bends the bow is strong, his arrows that he shoots are sharp; they will not miss when they begin to be shot to the ends of the earth. Behold, disasters are shot forth, and they will not return until they come upon the earth. A fire is lighted, and will not be put out, until it consumes the foundations of the earth. Just as an arrow shot by a strong archer does not come back, so the disasters which shall be shot at the earth will not turn back.

 17 Alas for me! Who will deliver me in those days?
 18 It is the beginning of sorrows, when there will be great mourning; the beginning of famine, when many will perish; the beginning of wars, when powers will fear; the beginning of disasters, when all will tremble. What will they do in these circumstances, when disasters come? Behold, famine and pestilence and distress and anguish are sent as scourges to correct men. But in spite of all these things they will not turn from their wickedness, or ever remember
 19 the scourges. Behold, grain will be so cheap on the earth that they will think they are sure of peace, and then disasters will spring up on the earth—the sword, famine, and great
 20 disorder. For many who live on the earth will die of hunger, and the rest who survive the famine the sword will 21 destroy. And the dead will be thrown out like dung, and there will be no one to comfort them; for the earth will be left desolate, and its cities will be
 22 torn down. There will be nobody left to cultivate the ground and sow it.
 23 The trees will bear fruit, but who will gather it? The grapes will ripen, but who will tread them? For there will be a great deserting of the land here
 24 and there. For one man will long to see another, or to hear his voice.
 25 For ten will be left, out of a city, and two, out of a field, who have hidden in the thick woods and the clefts of 26 the rocks. Just as in an olive orchard, three or four olives may be left on 27 each tree, or when the grapes are gathered in a vineyard, some clusters are left by those who search the vine-
 28 yard carefully, so in those days three or four will be left by those who search their houses with the sword.
 29 And the earth will be left desolate, and its fields will be given up to 30 briars, and all its roads and paths will grow thorns, because no sheep will go along them. Girls will grieve, because 31 they have no bridegrooms, women will grieve because they have no husbands, their daughters will grieve be-32 cause they have no help. Their bridegrooms will be destroyed in war, and their husbands will die of hunger.
 33 But listen to these things, and understand them, you slaves of the Lord! Behold, it is the word of the Lord; receive it, do not disbelieve the things of which the Lord says, "Behold, disasters are approaching and they are not delayed." Just as a woman with child, in the ninth month, when the hour of her delivery draws near, two or three hours before it, is seized with agonizing pains about her womb, and when the child comes forth from the womb it will not delay for a moment, so these disasters will not delay in coming upon the earth, and the world will groan and pains will envelop it.

"Hear my word, my people, prepare for battle, and in the midst of these disasters be like strangers in the earth; let him who sells do it as though he would have to flee; and let him who buys do it as though he would lose it; let him who trades do it as though he would get no profit; and let him who builds build as though he were not going to live in what he builds; let him who sows do it as though he were not to reap, and let him who prunes do it as though he were not to gather the grapes; let those who marry do it as though they were not to have sons, and those who do not marry as though they were widowed. Because those who toil, toil in vain, for strangers will gather their fruits, and plunder their property, and overthrow their houses and take their sons captive, for they produce their children for captivity and famine. And those who do business do it to be plundered; the more they adorn their cities and their houses and their possessions and their persons, the angrier I will be with them for their sins," says the Lord. Just as a respectable and virtuous woman abhors a prostitute, so uprightness will abhor wickedness, when she adorns herself, and will accuse her to her face, when he comes who is to defend him who seeks out every sin on the earth.

Therefore do not be like her or her works. For behold, in a little while, wickedness will be removed from the earth, and uprightness will reign over us. Let no sinner say he has not sinned, for he will burn fiery coals upon the head of him who says, "I

54 have not sinned before God and his glory." Behold, the Lord knows all the doings of men, and their devices, and their thoughts and their hearts.
 55 When he said, "Let the earth be made," it was made, and "Let the 56 heaven be made," it was made. At his command the stars were established, and he knows the number of 57 the stars. He searches the deep and its treasures; he has measured the sea 58 and what it holds. He has shut up the sea in the midst of the waters, and by his command he has hung 59 the earth upon the water. He has stretched the heaven like an arch 60 and based it upon the waters. He has put springs of water in the desert, and lakes upon the tops of the mountains, so as to send rivers from the heights 61 so that the earth may drink. He formed man, and put a heart in the midst of his body, and imparted to him breath and life and understand-62 ing, and the spirit of Almighty God, who created all things and searches out things hidden in secret places.
 63 He certainly knows your devices, and what you think in your hearts. Alas for sinners and those who want to 64 hide their sins! Because the Lord will closely examine all their doings, 65 and prove you all guilty. And you will be put to shame when your sins are brought out into the sight of men, and your iniquities rise up to accuse
 you on that day. What will you do?
 66 Or how will you hide your sins in the presence of God and his angels? Be- 67 hold, God is the judge; fear him.

 Give up your sins, and forget your iniquities, and never practice them again; then God will lead you forth and deliver you from all distress.

For behold, the hot anger of the 68 great multitude is kindled over you, and some of you they will carry off and make you eat what is sacrificed to idols. And those who give them their 69 consent they will hold in derision and contempt and trample on them. For 70 there will be disturbances here and there, and in near-by cities a great uprising against those who fear the Lord. They will be like madmen, 71 sparing no one, in plundering and pillaging those who still fear the Lord. For they will pillage and plun- 72 der their property, and drive them out of their houses. Then will appear 73 the testing of my chosen, like gold which is tested by fire.

"Listen, my chosen," says the 74
 Lord. "Behold, the days of persecution are here, and I will deliver you from them. Do not fear or doubt, for 75 God is your guide. And you who keep my commandments and precepts," 76 says the Lord God, "let not your sins drag you down, or your wickedness prevail over you. Alas for those who 77 are bound by their sins and covered with their wickedness, as a field is overgrown with woods, and its grain so covered with thorns that no one can get through. It is shut out, and 78 left to be consumed by fire."

THE BOOK OF TOBIT

1 THE story of Tobit, the son of Tobiel, the son of Hananiel, the son of Aduel, the son of Gabael, of the stock of Asael, of the tribe

2 of Naphtali, who in the days of Shalmaneser, king of Assyria, was carried into captivity from Thisbe, which is to the south of Kedesh Naphtali in Galilee above Asher.

3 I, Tobit, walked all the days of my life in ways of truth and uprightness. I did many acts of charity for my brothers and my nation who were taken to the land of the Assyrians, to Nineveh, with me. And when I was in my own country, in the land of Israel, when I was young, the whole tribe of my forefather Naphtali revolted from the house in Jerusalem, which had been chosen from all the tribes of Israel for all the tribes to offer sacrifice in, and in which the temple of the dwelling of the Most High had been dedicated and built for all ages.

5 So all the tribes which had revolted with it would offer sacrifice to the heifer Baal. But I alone went many a time to Jerusalem for the festivals, as the Scripture commands all Israel in an everlasting decree, taking with me the first fruits and the tenth parts of my crops and my first shearings, and I would give them to the priests, the sons of Aaron, at the altar. A tenth part of all my produce I would give to the sons of Levi, who officiated at Jerusalem, and another tenth I would sell, and go and spend the proceeds in Jerusalem each year, and a third tenth I would give to those to whom it was fitting to give it, as Deborah my grandmother had instructed me—for I was left an orphan by my father.

9 When I became a man, I married Hannah, who was of the stock of our family, and by her I had a son, Tobias. And when I was carried into captivity to Nineveh, all my brothers and relatives ate the food of the heathen, but I kept myself from eating it, because I remembered God with all my heart.

And the Most High gave me favor and standing with Shalmaneser, and I became his buyer. I made a journey to Media, and deposited ten talents of silver with Gabael, the brother of Gabrias, in Ragae, in Media. But when Shalmaneser died, his son Sennacherib became king in his place, and the highways were unsafe, so that I could no longer travel to Media.

In the times of Shalmaneser I used to do many acts of charity for my brothers. I would give my bread to the hungry and my clothes to the naked, and if I saw one of my people dead and thrown outside the wall of Nineveh, I would bury him. And if Sennacherib the king killed anyone who had come as a fugitive from Judea, I buried them secretly, for he killed many in his anger, and their bodies were looked for by the king and could not be found. But one of the Ninevites went and informed the king about me, that I was burying them, and I hid, and when I learned that I was being sought for, to be put to death, I was frightened and escaped. Then all my property was seized, and nothing was left me but my wife Hannah and my son Tobias.

Before fifty days had passed, his two sons killed him, and fled into the mountains of Ararat, and Esarhaddon his son became king in his place. He appointed Ahikar, my brother Hanael's son, to have charge of all the accounting of his kingdom and all its administration. And Ahikar asked for me, and I went to Nineveh. Ahikar was cupbearer and keeper of the signet and had charge of administration and of the accounts; Esarhaddon appointed him second to himself, and he was my nephew.

When I reached my home and my wife Hannah was restored to me, and Tobias my son, at the Harvest Festival, which is the feast of the Seven Weeks, a good dinner was prepared for me, and I sat down to eat. And I saw the abundance of food, and I said to my son,

"Go and bring any poor man of our brothers whom you can find, who remembers the Lord, and I will wait for you."

9 And he came back and said,

"Father, one of our race has been strangled and thrown out in the bazaar!"

10 Then before I tasted anything I rushed out and brought him into a room until the sun set. Then I returned and washed myself and ate my food in sadness; and I remembered the prophecy of Amos, as he said,

"Your feasts will be turned into sorrow, And all your good cheer into lamentation."

7 And I wept aloud.

And when the sun was set, I went and dug a grave and buried him.

8 And my neighbors laughed at me and said, "He is not yet afraid of being put to death for doing this. He ran away, and here he is burying the dead again."

9 That same night, after I had buried him, I returned, and as I was ceremonially defiled, I lay down to sleep by the wall of the courtyard, with my face 10 uncovered. And I did not know that there were sparrows in the wall above me, and, as my eyes were open, the sparrows' droppings fell into my eyes and produced white films on them; and I went to the physicians, and they could not help me. But Ahikar supported me for two years, until he went to Elymais.

11 Then my wife Hannah found employment at women's work, and sent the work back to its owners, and they paid her wages, and gave her a kid besides. 12 But when she came home to me, the kid began to bleat. And I said to her,

"Where did this kid come from? Is it stolen? Give it back to its owners, for we have no right to eat anything that is stolen."

14 But she said to me,

"It was given me as a gift, in addition to my wages."

But I would not believe her, and told her to give it back to its owners, and I blushed for her. Then she answered and said to me,

"And where are your charities? Where is your uprightness? Of course you know everything!"

3 Then I was grieved, and wept, and I prayed sorrowfully, and said,

"Lord, you are upright, and all your doings and all your ways are mercy and truth, and you always judge truly and justly. Remember me and look upon me; do not take vengeance on me for my sins and my ignorant acts, and for those of my forefathers, which they committed in your sight, for they disobeyed your commands. You have given us up to pillage and captivity and death, and made us a proverb and a reproach among all the nations among whom we have been scattered. And now your judgments which are many are right, in exacting from me for my sins and those of my forefathers, because we did not keep your commandments, for we have not walked uprightly before you. So now deal with me according to your pleasure; command my spirit to be taken from me, so that I may be released and return to dust, for I had rather die than live, because I have had to listen to false reproaches, and have felt great sorrow. Command me to be released from this distress and taken to my everlasting place of abode; do not turn your face away from me."

On that very day, it happened to Sarah, the daughter of Raguel, in Ecbatana in Media, that she too was reproached by her father's maids, because she had been married to seven husbands, and the wicked demon Asmodeus had killed them before they had been with her as is customary with wives. They said to her,

"Do you not know that you strangle your husbands? You have already had seven, and you have not borne the name of one of them. Why do you torment us? If they are dead, go after them! May we never see son or daughter of yours!"

When she heard these things, she was deeply hurt, and wished to hang herself, but she said,

"I am my father's only child; if I do this, it will disgrace him, and I will bring his old age down to the grave in sorrow."

And she prayed by her window, and said,

"Blessed are you, O Lord, my God, and blessed be your holy and honored name forever; may all your works bless you forever. And now, Lord, I turn my face and my eyes to you; command me to be released from the earth and 14 to hear reproach no more. You know,

 Lord, that I am innocent of any sin 15 with man; I have never defiled my name, or the name of my father, in the land of my captivity. I am my father's only child; he has no other child to be his heir. He has no brother near him or nephew whom I should keep myself to marry. I have already lost seven husbands; why must I live any longer? And if it is not your pleasure to kill me, command that some regard be had for me, and some pity be shown me, and that I no more may have to listen to reproach."

16 And the prayer of both of them was heard in the presence of the glory of the 17 great Raphael, and he was sent to cure them both; for Tobit, to remove the white films, and to give Sarah, the daughter of Raguel, to Tobit's son Tobias, as his wife, and to bind As-modeus, the wicked demon, because Tobias was entitled to possess her. So at the same time, Tobit went into his house, and Sarah, the daughter of Raguel, came down from her upstairs room.

4 On that day Tobit remembered the money that he had deposited with 2 Gabael in Ragae in Media. And he said to himself,

"I have asked for death; why should I not call my son Tobias, to explain to him before I die?"

3 So he called him, and said,

"My boy, when I die, bury me, and do not neglect your mother; provide for her as long as you live; do what is pleasing to her, and do not grieve her 4 in anything. Remember, my boy, that she faced many dangers for you before your birth, and when she dies, bury her 5 beside me in one grave. All your life, my boy, remember the Lord, our God;
 do not consent to sin and transgress his commands. Act uprightly all your life, and do not walk in the ways of wrongdoing.

6 "For if you do right, prosperity will attend your undertakings. To all who act uprightly, give charity from your property, and do not let your eye begrudge what you give to charity. Do not turn your face away from any poor man, and God's face will not be turned 7 away from you. Give to charity in proportion to what you have; if you have little, do not be afraid to give sparingly to charity, for then you will lay up a 9 good treasure for yourself against a day of adversity; for charity will save you 10 from death, and keep you from going down into darkness. Charity is a good 11 offering in the sight of the Most High for all who give it.

"My boy, beware of any immoral- 12
 ity. First, take a wife who is of the stock of your forefathers; do not marry an alien, who does not belong to your father's tribe, for we are the sons of the prophets. Remember, my boy, that Noah, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, our forefathers of old, all married wives from among their kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their posterity will possess the land. Now, 13 my boy, love your kindred, and do not disdain your brothers and the sons and daughters of your people and refuse to marry one of them. For such disdain leads to ruin and great distress, and worthlessness brings loss and great want, for worthlessness is the mother of famine. The wages of any man who 14 works for you, you must not retain overnight, but you must pay him immediately. If you serve God, you will be rewarded. Take care, my boy, in all that you do, and be well disciplined in all your conduct. Do not do to anyone 15 else what you hate. Do not drink wine to the point of intoxication; drunkenness must not go with you on your way. Give some of your bread to the 16 hungry and of your clothes to the naked. Give all your surplus to charity, and do not let your eye begrudge what you give to charity. Scatter your 17 bread on the graves of the upright, but do not give to sinners.

"Ask advice of every wise man, and 18 do not think lightly of any useful advice. Always bless the Lord God, and 19 ask him to make your ways straight and your paths and plans prosper. For no heathen nation possesses understanding, but the Lord gives all good things, and he humbles whoever he pleases, as he chooses.

"Now, my boy, remember my commands; do not let them be blotted from your mind. And now I must inform 20 you of the ten talents of silver that I deposited with Gabael, son of Gabrias, in Ragae in Media. Do not be afraid, 21
 my boy, because we have become poor.
 You are well off, if you fear God and

- refrain from any sin, and do what is pleasing in his sight."
- 5 Then Tobias answered and said to him,
- 2 "Father, I will do all that you have commanded me. But how can I get the money, when I do not know him?"
- 3 So he gave him the receipt, and said to him,
- "Seek out a man to go with you, and I will pay him wages, as long as I live; so go and get the money."
- 4 And he went to look for a man, and found Raphael, who was an angel, 5 though Tobias did not know it. And he said to him,
- "Can I go with you to Ragae in Media, and do you know that region?"
- 6 And the angel said to him,
- "I will go with you, for I know the way, and I have stayed with our brother Gabael."
- 7 And Tobias said to him,
- "Wait for me, and I will tell my father."
- 8 And he said to him,
- "Go, and do not delay."
- And he went in and said to his father,
- "Here I have found a man who will go with me."
- And he said,
- "Call him to me, so that I may find out what tribe he belongs to and whether he is a reliable man to go with you."
- 9 So he called him, and he came in, 10 and they greeted each other. And Tobit said to him,
- "Brother, to what tribe and to what family do you belong? Inform me."
- 11 And he said to him,
- "Are you in search of a tribe and family, or a hired man to go with your son?"
- And Tobit said to him,
- "I only want to learn your connections and your name, brother."
- 12 And he said,
- "I am Azariah, the son of Hananiah the older, one of your kinsmen."
- 13 And he said to him,
- "Welcome, brother! Do not be angry with me for trying to learn your tribe and your family; you are a kinsman of mine, and come of a fine, good lineage. For I came to know Hananiah and Jathan, the sons of Shemaiah the older, when we used to travel to Jerusalem together to worship and offer our first-born cattle and the tenths of our produce, for they did not go astray when our brothers did; you come of a fine stock, brother. But tell me what 14 wages I am to give you; a drachma a day and your expenses and my son's? And I will add to your wages besides, 15 if you come back safe and sound."

So they agreed on these terms. And 16 he said to Tobias,

"Get ready for the journey, and farewell."

So his son made his preparations for the journey, and his father said to him,

"Go with this man, and God who lives in heaven will prosper your journey, and let his angel go with you."

And they both went out to start, and the boy's dog followed them.

And his mother Hannah wept, and 1 she said to Tobit,

"Why have you sent our child away? Is he not our walking-stick when he goes in and out before us? Do not let 1 money be added to money, but let it be as dirt in comparison with our child. For while the Lord lets us live, that is 1 enough for us."

And Tobit said to her,

"Do not be troubled, my sister. He will come back safe and sound, and your eyes will see him. For a good angel will go with him, and he will have a prosperous journey, and will come back safe and sound."

So she stopped crying.

And they went on their way and came toward evening to the river Tigris and there they spent the night. And the boy went to wash himself, and a fish jumped out of the river and would have swallowed the boy. But the angel 2 said to him,

"Take hold of the fish!"

And the boy seized the fish and threw it up on the land. And the angel said to him,

"Cut the fish up, and take its heart and liver and gall and keep them safe."

And the boy did as the angel told him, and they cooked the fish and ate it. And they both traveled on until they drew near Ecbatana. And the boy 3 said to the angel,

"Brother Azariah, what are the liver and heart and gall of the fish good for?"

And he said to him,

"As for the heart and the liver, if anyone is troubled with a demon or an evil spirit, you must make a smoke of them before the man or the woman, and they will be troubled no more.

8 And as for the gall, if you rub it on a man who has white films over his eyes, he will be cured."

9 When they approached Ragae, the 10 angel said to the boy,

"Brother, we will stop today with Raguel, for he is your relative. He has an only daughter, named Sarah. I am going to tell him to give her to you in 11 marriage, for you have a right to have 12 her, for you are her only relative, and she is beautiful and sensible. So now if you will listen to me, I will speak to her father, and when we come back from Ragae, we will perform the marriage. For I know that by the law of Moses Raguel cannot marry her to anyone else under pain of death, for it is your right and no one else's to possess her."

13 Then the boy said to the angel,
"Brother Azariah, I have heard that this girl has been given in marriage to seven husbands and they all perished 14 in the bridal chamber. Now I am my father's only child, and I am afraid that if I go in, I will die like the others, for a demon is in love with her, and he harms only those who approach her. So I am afraid that I would die and bring my father's and my mother's life to the grave in sorrow over me; and they have no other son to bury them."

15 And the angel said to him,
"Don't you remember the commands your father gave you, about your taking a wife from your own relatives? Now you must listen to me, brother, for she must be your wife, and don't be concerned about the demon, for she will be given to you tonight to be your 16 wife. And when you go into the bridal chamber, you must take some of the ashes of the incense, and put on them some of the heart and the liver of the 17 fish, and make a smoke, and the demon will smell it and will flee and never come back. And when you go up to her, you must both rise up and cry out to the merciful God, and he will save you and have mercy on you. Have no fear, for she was destined for you from the beginning, and you will save her, and she will go home with you, and I suppose you will have children by her."

When Tobias heard this, he loved her, and he became deeply attached to her.

When they arrived at Ecbatana, 7 they went to the house of Raguel, and Sarah met them and welcomed them, and they greeted her, and she took them into the house. And Raguel said 2 to Edna his wife,

"How much this young man resembles my cousin Tobit!"

And Raguel asked them, 3

"Where are you from, brothers?"

And they said to him,

"We belong to the sons of Naphtali who are in captivity in Nineveh."

And he said to them, 4

"Do you know our kinsman Tobit?"

And they said,

"We do."

And he said to them,

"Is he well?"

And they said, 5

"He is alive and well."

And Tobias said,

"He is my father!"

Then Raguel sprang up and kissed 6 him, and he wept, and blessed him, and 7 said to him,

"You are the son of that fine, good man!"

And when he heard that Tobit had lost his eyesight, he was grieved, and wept, and his wife Edna and his 8 daughter Sarah wept too. And they welcomed them warmly, and they slaughtered a ram from the flock, and set food before them in abundance.

Then Tobias said to Raphael,

"Brother Azariah, speak about the things you talked of on our journey, and let that matter be settled."

So he communicated the matter to 9 Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias,

"Eat, drink and be merry, for you 10 have the right to take my child. But I must reveal the truth to you. I have 11 given my child to seven husbands, and whenever they approached her, they died the same night. Still, for the present be merry."

And Tobias said,

"I will eat nothing here until you make a binding agreement with me to do this."

Then Raguel said, 12

"Take her at once according to the ordinance; you are her relative, and she belongs to you; and the merciful God will give you the greatest prosperity."

13 And he called in his daughter Sarah, and he took her by the hand and gave her to Tobias to be his wife, and said,

"Here, take her according to the law of Moses, and take her back to your father."

14 And he gave them his blessing. And he called in Edna his wife, and he took a scroll and wrote an agreement, and 15 they put their seals to it. Then they began to eat.

16 Then Raguel called Edna his wife aside and said to her,

"My sister, get the other bed chamber ready, and take her into it."

17 And she did as he told her, and took her into it, and she wept. And she let her daughter weep on her shoulder, and she said to her,

18 "Courage, my child! The Lord of heaven and earth show you favor instead of this grief of yours! Courage, my daughter!"

8 When they had finished supper, they 2 took Tobias in to her. And as he went, he remembered what Raphael had said, and took the ashes of the incense and put the heart and the liver of the fish 3 on them and made a smoke. And when the demon smelled the smoke, he fled to the farthest parts of Upper Egypt, 4 and the angel bound him there. When they were both shut in together, Tobias got up from the bed and said,

"Get up, my sister, and let us pray that the Lord will have mercy upon us."

5 And he began to say,

"Blessed are you, God of our forefathers, and blessed be your holy and glorious name forever. Let the heavens 6 and all your creation bless you. You made Adam and gave him his wife Eve as a helper and support, and from them came the human race. You said, 'It is not good that the man should be alone; let us make him a helper like himself.'

7 Now, Lord, it is not because of lust that I take my sister here, but in truth. Have mercy on me, and let me grow old with her."

8 And she said "Amen" with him; 9 and they both slept all night.

And Raguel got up and went and dug a grave, for he said,

10 "Perhaps he will die too."

11 Then Raguel went into his house 12 and said to his wife Edna,

"Send one of the maids and let them see whether he is alive, and if he is not,

let us bury him without letting anyone know."

And the maid opened the door and 13 went in, and found them both asleep. And she came out and told them that he 14 was alive. Then Raguel blessed God, 15 and said,

"Blessed are you, O God, with every 16 pure and holy blessing! Let your saints and all your creation bless you, and let all your angels and your chosen people bless you forever. You are blessed be- 17 cause you have had mercy on two only children; Lord, show them mercy; grant that they may live to the end in health, with gladness and mercy."

Then he ordered his servants to fill up 18 the grave. And he made them a mar- 19 riage feast that lasted fourteen days. And Raguel swore to him before the 20 days of the marriage feast were over that he must not leave until the four- teen days of the marriage feast were past, and then he should take half of 21 Raguel's property and return in safety to his father. "The rest," he said, "will be yours when I and my wife die."

And Tobias called Raphael and said 9 to him,

"Brother Azariah, take with you a servant and two camels, and go to Gabael, in Ragae in Media, and get me the money and bring him to the marriage feast. For Raguel has sworn that I must not leave, and my father is counting the days, and if I delay long, he will be greatly grieved."

So Raphael went and spent the night with Gabael, and gave him the receipt, and he brought out the bags with their seals unbroken, and gave them to him. And they got up early in the morning together, and came to the marriage feast; and Tobias blessed his wife.

Now his father Tobit was counting 1 each day. And when the days required for the journey were past and they did not come back, he said,

"Is it possible that they have been disappointed? Or is Gabael perhaps dead, and there is no one to give him the money?"

And he was greatly distressed. And his wife said to him,

"The child has perished; that is why he has taken so long."

And she began to bewail him, and 1 said,

- 5 "Do I not care, my child, because I let you go, you light of my eyes?"
- 6 And Tobit said to her,
"Be quiet, have no concern; he is all right."
- 7 And she said to him,
"Be quiet, do not deceive me; my child has perished."
And every day she would go down the road by which he had left, and in the daytime she refused to eat, and through the night she never ceased to bewail her son Tobias until the fourteen days of the marriage feast, which Raguel had sworn he must spend there, were over.
- Then Tobias said to Raguel,
"Let me go, for my father and my mother are giving up all hope of ever seeing me again."
- 8 But his father-in-law said to him,
"Stay with me, and I will send to your father, and they will explain to him about you."
- 9 And Tobias said,
"No, send me to my father."
- 10 Then Raguel got up and gave him his wife Sarah and half of his property, 11 slaves and cattle and money. And he blessed them as he let them go, and said,
"The God of heaven will give you prosperity, my children, before I die."
- 12 And he said to his daughter,
"Respect your father-in-law and your mother-in-law, they are now your parents. Let me hear a good report of you."
And he kissed her. And Edna said to Tobias,
"May the Lord of heaven bring you back safely, dear brother, and grant that I may see your children by my daughter Sarah, so that I may be glad before the Lord. Here I solemnly intrust my daughter to you; do not hurt her feelings."
- 1 After that, Tobias set off, praising God, because he had prospered him on his journey, and he blessed Raguel and his wife Edna.
- 2 He went on until they approached Nineveh. And Raphael said to Tobias,
"Do you not know, brother, how 3 you left your father? Let us run ahead, before your wife, and get the house 4 ready. But take the gall of the fish in your hand."

So they went, and the dog went along after them.

And Hannah sat looking down the 5 road for her boy. And she saw him 6 coming, and she said to his father,

"Here comes your son, and the man who went with him!"

And Raphael said,

"I know that your father will open his eyes; so you rub the gall on his eyes, 8 and he will feel the sting and will rub them, and remove the white films, and he will see you."

And Hannah ran to meet them and 9 fell on her son's neck and said to him,

"Now that I have seen you, my child, I am ready to die."

And they both wept. And Tobit 10 came out to the door, and he stumbled, and his son ran up to him and he took 11 hold of his father and sprinkled the gall on his father's eyes, saying,

"Courage, father!"

And when his eyes began to smart, he 12 rubbed them, and the white films 13 scaled off from the corners of his eyes. And when he saw his son, he fell on his neck and wept, and said,

"Blessed are you, O God, and blessed is your name forever, and blessed are all your holy angels. For 15 though you have flogged me, you have had mercy on me; here I can see Tobias, my son."

And his son went in rejoicing, and told his father the wonderful things that had happened to him in Media.

So Tobit went out rejoicing to meet 16 his daughter-in-law, at the gate of Nineveh. And those who saw him go were amazed, because he had received his sight. And Tobit gave thanks be- 17 fore them, because God had had mercy on him. And when Tobit came up to Sarah his daughter-in-law, he blessed her, saying,

"Welcome, daughter! Blessed is God, who has brought you to us, and blessed are your father and your mother."

And there was rejoicing among all his brothers in Nineveh. And Ahikar and 18 Nasbas his nephew came, and Tobias' 19 marriage feast was held for seven days, with great gladness.

Then Tobit called his son Tobias and 12 said to him,

"My child, see to the wages of the man who went with you, for we must give him more."

2 And he said to him,
 "Father, I can afford to give him half 3 of what I brought back, for he has brought me back to you safe and sound, and he cured my wife and he brought me the money, and besides he has cured you."
 4 And the old man said,
 "It is due him."
 5 And he called the angel and said to
 him,
 "Accept half of all that you brought back."
 6 Then he called them both and said to them in private,
 "Bless God and give thanks to him.
 Ascribe majesty to him, and before all the living acknowledge how he has dealt with you. It is a good thing to bless God and exalt his name, declaring God's works and doing them honor, so do not be slow to give him thanks.
 7 It is wise to keep a king's secret, but the works of God should be gloriously revealed. Do good, and evil will not 8 overtake you. Prayer is good if accompanied with fasting, charity, and uprightness. A little with uprightness is better than much with wickedness. It is better to give to charity than to lay up 9 gold. For charity will save a man from death; it will expiate any sin. Those who give to charity and act uprightly 10 will have their fill of life; but those who commit sin are the enemies of their own 11 lives. I will not conceal anything from you; as I said, it is wise to keep a king's secret, but the works of God should be 12 gloriously revealed. So now, when you and your daughter-in-law Sarah prayed, I brought the remembrance of your prayer before the Holy One. And when you buried the dead, I was still with 13 you. And when you did not shrink from getting up and leaving your dinner to go and lay out the dead, your good deed did not escape me, but I was with 14 you. So God sent me to cure you and 15 your daughter-in-law Sarah. For I am Raphael, one of the seven holy angels, who offer up the prayers of God's people and go into the presence of the glory of the Holy One!" 16 And they were both confounded, and fell on their faces, for they were terri-17 fied. And he said to them,
 "Do not be afraid; peace be with 18 you. Bless God forever. For not through any favor on my part but by the will of God I came to you. Therefore bless him forever. All these days 19 that I appeared to you, I did not eat or drink, but you beheld a vision. Now 20 give thanks to God, for I must go up to him who sent me, and you must write all that has happened on a scroll."

And when they got up, they no 21 longer saw him. And they acknowl- 22 edged the great, wonderful doings of God, and how the angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

Then Tobit wrote a prayer of rejoic- 13
 ing, and said,

"Blessed be God who lives forever,
 and blessed be his kingdom,

For he flogs, and he has mercy, 2
 He takes men down to Hades, and he brings them up,

And there is no one who can escape
 his hand.

Give thanks to him, Israelites, before 3
 the heathen,

For he has scattered you among
 them.

Show his majesty there; 4 Exalt him in the presence of every living being,

For he is our Lord and God,
 He is our father forever.

He will flog us for our wrongdoing, 5
 And he will show mercy again and gather us from all the heathen
 Wherever you are scattered.

If you turn to him with all your 6
 heart,

And with all your soul, to act truly
 in his sight,

Then he will turn to you,
 And he will not hide his face from
 you.

See how he will deal with you,
 And give him thanks with your full
 voice.

Bless the Lord of Righteousness
 And exalt the King of the Ages.

In the land of my captivity I give him thanks,

And I show his might and his majesty to a nation of sinners:

"Turn to him, you sinners, and do what is right in his sight;

Who knows but he will be pleased with you, and show you mercy?"

I exalt my God, 7
 My soul exalts the king of heaven,
 And exults in his majesty.

8 Let all men speak and give him thanks in Jerusalem.

9 O Jerusalem, the holy city,
He will flog you for the doings of your sons,
And again he will have mercy on the sons of the upright.

10 Give thanks to the Lord in goodness,
And bless the King of the Ages,
That his tent may be rebuilt in you with joy.
May he make glad in you those who are captives,
And the miserable may he love in you,
To all generations, forever.

11 Many nations will come from afar to the name of the Lord God, Bearing gifts in their hands, gifts for the king of heaven.
Generations of generations will bring you exultation.

12 Cursed be all who hate you!
Blessed forever shall be all who love you.

13 Rejoice and exult in the sons of the upright,
For they will be gathered together, and they will bless the Lord of the upright.

14 Blessed are those who love you!
They will rejoice in your peace.
Blessed are those who grieved over all your stripes,
For they will be glad about you, when they see all your glory,
And they will rejoice forever.

15 Let my soul bless God, the great King,

16 For Jerusalem will be built of sapphire and emerald,
And her walls of precious stones,
And her towers and battlements of pure gold;

17 And the streets of Jerusalem will be paved with beryl and ruby and stones of Ophir,

18 And all her lanes shall say 'Hallelujah,' and shall utter praise, saying, 'Blessed be God, who has raised you up forever.' "

19 And Tobit ended his thanksgiving.

20 He was fifty-eight years old when he lost his sight, and eight years later he recovered it; and he gave to charity and continued to fear the Lord his God and to give thanks to him. And when he had grown very old, he called his son and his son's sons to him and said to him,

"My child, take your sons; here I have grown old and will soon depart this life. Go to Media, my child, for I firmly believe what Jonah the prophet said about Nineveh, that it will be destroyed, but in Media there will be peace, rather than here, for a while, and that our brothers will be scattered from the good land over the earth, and Jerusalem will be desolate, and the house of God in it will be burned down, and will be desolate for a time; and then God will have mercy on them again, and bring them back to their land; and they will build the house, though not as it was before, until the times of that age are passed. And afterward they will return from the places of their captivity and rebuild Jerusalem in splendor, and the house of God will be rebuilt in it gloriously, for all generations forever, as the prophets said of it. And all the heathen will turn to fear the Lord God in truth, and they will bury their idols, and all the heathen will bless the Lord. And his people will thank God, and the Lord will uplift his people, and all who love the Lord God in truth and uprightness will rejoice and show mercy to our brothers. And now, my child, leave Nineveh, for what the prophet Jonah said will surely happen. But keep the law and the ordinances, and be merciful and upright, so that you may prosper. Bury me properly and my wife beside me. And do not live any longer in Nineveh. My child, see what Haman did to Ahikar, who had brought him up—how he plunged him from light into darkness and how he requited him! Yet Ahikar was saved and the other was recompensed and disappeared in darkness himself. Manasseh gave to charity, and escaped the fatal snare which Haman set for him, but Haman fell into the trap and perished. See, my children, what charity can do, and how uprightness can save!"

As he said this, he breathed his last there in his bed. He was a hundred and fifty-eight years old; and they gave him a splendid funeral.

When Hannah died, he buried her beside his father. Then Tobias went back with his wife and his sons to Ecbatana, to Raguel his father-in-law.

13 And he reached an honored old age, and he gave his father-in-law and his mother-in-law splendid funerals, and he inherited their property and his father 14 Tobit's. And he died in Ecbatana in Media, at the age of a hundred and twenty-seven. But before he died he heard of the destruction of Nineveh, which Nebuchadnezzar and Ahasuerus had captured. So before he died he rejoiced over Nineveh.

THE BOOK OF JUDITH

1 IN THE twelfth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, who ruled over the Assyrians in the great city of Nineveh, in the days when Arphaxad ruled over the Medes in Ecba-2 tana, Arphaxad built around Ecbatana walls of hewn stones four and a half feet wide and nine feet long. He built the walls a hundred and five feet high 3 and seventy-five feet wide, and at the gates he built towers a hundred and fifty feet high, with foundations ninety 4 feet wide; and he made its gates, gates that rose to a height of a hundred and five feet, and were sixty feet wide, so that his host of warriors could march 5 out and his infantry could form. So in those days King Nebuchadnezzar made war on King Arphaxad in the Great Plain; this plain is on the borders of 6 Ragae. He was joined by all the inhabitants of the hill country and all who lived along the Euphrates and Tigris and Hydaspes, and on the plains of Arioch, king of Elymais, and many nations joined the army of the Chal-deans.

7 Then Nebuchadnezzar, king of Assyria, sent to all the inhabitants of Persia and to all who lived toward the west, who were settled in Cilicia and Damascus and the Lebanon and the 8 Antilebanon, and to all who lived along the seacoast, and to the inhabitants of Carmel and Gilead that were heathen, and to Upper Galilee and the great 9 plain of Esdraelon, and to all that were in Samaria and its towns, and beyond Jordan as far as Jerusalem and Betane and Chelous and Kadesh, and the river of Egypt, Tahpanhes and Raameses and 10 all the land of Goshen, until you pass Tanis and Memphis, and to all who lived in Egypt, until you reach the 11 borders of Ethiopia. But all the inhabitants of the land paid no attention to the command of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Assyria, and would not go with him to the war, for they were not afraid of him, but regarded him as just a single man, and they sent his messengers back disappointed and in disgrace.

Then Nebuchadnezzar was very an- 12 gry with that whole country, and he swore by his throne and his kingdom that he would certainly take vengeance upon all the regions of Cilicia, Damascus, and Syria, and kill with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab and the Ammonites and all Judea and everybody in Egypt, until you come to the coasts of the two seas. So in the 13 seventeenth year he made war on King Arphaxad, and he overcame him and put Arphaxad's whole army and all his cavalry and all his chariots to flight, and he took possession of his cities and 14 reached Ecbatana and took its towers and plundered its bazaars and turned its glory into shame. Then he took 15 Arphaxad captive among the mountains of Ragae, and struck him down with his spears and utterly destroyed him, unto this day. Then he returned 16 with the spoils and all his motley army, a very great body of soldiers, and there he and his army took their ease and feasted for a hundred and twenty days.

In the eighteenth year of his reign, 2 on the twenty second day of the first month, it was proposed in the palace of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Assyria, to take vengeance on all the land, just as he had said. He called together all his 2 ministers and all his nobles and set before them his secret purpose and fully related all the wickedness of the land with his own lips, and they de- 3 creed that all who had not obeyed the command the king had uttered should be destroyed. When he had complet- 4 ed his plan, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Assyria, summoned Holofernes, the general of his army, who was second to himself, and said to him,

"Thus says the Great King, the Lord 5 of all the earth: When you go from my presence, you must take with you men confident in their strength to the number of a hundred and twenty thousand infantry and twelve thousand mounted men, and you must go 6 out to attack all the western country, because they have disobeyed the command that I uttered. You must call upon them to prepare earth and water, in token of submission, for I will go against them in my anger and I will cover the whole face of the earth with the feet of my army and I will give them up to them to plunder, and their ravines will be filled with their wounded, and every brook and dashing river will be filled with their dead, and I will send them as captives to the ends of all the earth. But you must go and take all their frontiers for me in advance, and they must give themselves up to you, and you must hold them for me till the day of their punishment.

11 But as for those who disobey, your eye must not spare them, but you must give them up to be slain and plundered in all your land. For as surely as I am alive, by the power of my kingdom, I have spoken and I will do this with my hand. You must not transgress any of your lord's commands, but you must carry them out in full, as I have ordered you to do; you must not put off doing them."

14 So Holofernes left his master's presence and called in all the marshals and generals and officers of the Assyrian army, and he mustered picked soldiers, as his master had ordered him to do, to the number of a hundred and twenty thousand and twelve thousand mounted archers, and he marshaled them as a great army is marshaled. He took camels and asses and mules, an immense number, for their transport, and sheep and cattle and goats without number to provision them, and food in abundance for every man, beside a great deal of gold and silver from the king's palace. And he set off with his entire army to go ahead of King Nebuchadnezzar and to cover the whole face of the land toward the west with their chariots and horsemen and picked foot soldiers, and there went out with them a motley host like locusts, like the dust of the earth; they could not be counted, they were so many.

21 They marched three days' journey from Nineveh, to the edge of the plain of Bectileth and they encamped opposite Bectileth, near the mountain that is to the north of Upper Cilicia. And he took his whole army, his infantry and cavalry and chariots, and moved into the mountainous country and ravaged Put and Lud and plundered all the sons of Rassis and the sons of Ishmael who lived along the desert, to the south of the country of Cheleon. Then he crossed the Euphrates and passed through Mesopotamia and tore down all the high-walled towns on the river Abron, until you come to the sea. He took possession of the frontiers of Cilicia, and cut down all who resisted him, and went as far as the southern frontiers of Japheth, facing Arabia. He encircled all the sons of Midian, burning their tents and plundering their flocks. He went down into the plain of Damascus during the wheat harvest and set all their fields on fire and destroyed their flocks and herds and plundered their cities and devastated their lands and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

So fear and horror of him fell on all the inhabitants of the seacoast who were in Sidon and Tyre and those who lived in Sur and Ocine and all who lived in Jamnia, and the inhabitants of Ashdod and Askelon were exceedingly afraid of him. So they sent messengers and said in peaceful terms,

"Here we servants of Nebuchadnezzar the Great King lie before you; use us as you please. Our dwellings and all our land and every wheatfield, our flocks and herds and all our tent-folds lie before you; use them as you please. Our cities and their inhabitants are your slaves; come and treat them as you see fit."

So the men went to Holofernes and told him all these things. And he went down to the seacoast with his army and put garrisons in the high-walled towns and took picked men from them for allies, and the people and all the country round welcomed him with garlands and dances and music. And he broke down all their frontier landmarks and cut down their groves, and he succeeded in destroying all the gods of the country, in order that all the nations should worship Nebuchadnezzar alone, and that all their tongues and tribes should call upon him as god.

Then he came toward Esdraelon, near Dothan, which is opposite the main ridge of Judea, and they pitched their camp between Geba and Scythopolis, and he remained there a whole month, in order to gather together all the transport of his army.

4 Then the Israelites who lived in Judea heard all that Holofernes, the commander-in-chief of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Assyria, had done to the heathen, and how he had plundered all
2 their temples and destroyed them, and they were dreadfully afraid of him and disturbed about Jerusalem and the 3 temple of the Lord their God. For they had recently come back from their captivity, and all the people of Judea had gathered together not long before, and the sacred dishes and the altar and the temple had been consecrated after 4 their profanation. So they sent into all the borders of Samaria and to Cona and Bethhoron and Belmain and Jericho and to Choba and Aesora and
5 the valley of Salem and occupied in advance all the summits of the high mountains and fortified the villages that were on them and stored up food in preparation for war, for their fields
6 had lately been reaped. And Joakim the high priest, who was in Jerusalem at that time, wrote to the inhabitants of Bethulia and Betomesthaim which is opposite Esdraelon facing the plain 7 near Dothan, telling them to seize the passes of the mountains, because through them Judea could be entered, and it was easy to prevent any from approaching, as the way was narrow, with room for two men at most.

8 So the Israelites did as they were ordered by Joakim the high priest and the council of all the people of Israel
9 who live in Jerusalem. And every man of Israel cried to God with great earnestness, and they humbled themselves 10 with great sincerity. They and their wives and their children and their cattle and every visitor and hired man and slave put sackcloth on their loins. And every man and woman of Israel who lived in Jerusalem, with their children, fell down before the temple and threw ashes on their heads and spread out their sackcloth before the Lord. And they covered the altar with sackcloth and cried earnestly in concert to the God of Israel praying that he would not permit their children to be plundered and their wives to be pillaged and the cities they had inherited to be destroyed, and the sanctuary to be profaned and reviled, to the delight of the heathen. Then the Lord heard their 13 voice and regarded their affliction. The people continued to fast for several days all over Judea and Jerusalem before the sanctuary of the Lord Almighty. And Joakim the high priest

14 and all the priests who officiated before the Lord and ministered to the Lord offered the continual burnt offering and the vows and the freewill offerings of the people with sackcloth upon their loins and ashes upon their miters, 15 and they cried to the Lord with all their might to look with favor upon all the house of Israel.

Then Holofernes, the commander-in-
5 chief of the Assyrian army, was told that the Israelites had prepared for war, and had closed the passes of the mountains and fortified every mountain top and put barricades in the level country, and he was exceedingly angry, and
2 he summoned all the princes of Moab and the generals of Ammon and all the governors of the seacoast, and said to
3 them,

"Tell me, you Canaanites, what is this people that occupies the mountain country, and what cities do they inhabit? How large is their army, and in what does their power or strength lie? What king has risen over them as leader of their army, and why have 4 they alone of all the inhabitants of the west refused to come and meet me?"

Then Achior, the commander of all 5 the Ammonites, said to him,

"Now let my lord hear what is said by the mouth of your servant, and I will tell you the truth about this nation which inhabits this mountain region near you; nothing false shall proceed from your servant's mouth. This 6 nation is descended from the Chaldeans. In former times they lived for 7 a while in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their forefathers who were in the country of the Chaldeans. But they left the ways of 8 their ancestors and worshipped the God of heaven, a god whom they had come to know, and their parents drove them out from the presence of their gods, and they fled to Mesopotamia and lived there a long time. Then their
9 God told them to leave the place where they were living and go to the land of Canaan. So they settled there and grew rich in gold and silver and very

10 many cattle. Then they went down into Egypt, for a famine spread over the face of the land of Canaan, and they stayed there until they were grown up. There they became a great multitude; their nation could not be counted. The king of Egypt took measures against them and took advantage of them, making them work at making bricks; they degraded them and made them slaves. Then they cried to their God, and he afflicted all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues; and the Egyptians drove them out from among them. God made the Red Sea dry up before them, and he set them on the road to Sinai and Kadesh Barnea, and they drove out all the inhabitants of the desert and lived in the country of the Amorites, and they were so strong that they destroyed all the people of Heshbon, and they crossed the Jordan and took possession of all the mountain region. They drove out before them Canaanite and Perizzite and Jebusite, and Shechem and all the Gergesites, and they settled there for a long time. As long as they did not sin against their God, they prospered, for God who hates wrongdoing was with them. But when they abandoned the way he had determined for them, they were utterly destroyed through many wars and carried off as captives to a country that was not their own, and the Temple of their God was leveled to the ground, and their cities were taken by their enemies. Now they have turned to their God and have come back from their dispersion that they suffered and they have taken possession of Jerusalem where their sanctuary is, and they have settled in the mountain region, for it was unoccupied. Now, your Majesty, if there is any fault of ignorance in this nation, and they are sinning against their God, and we perceive that they are guilty of this offense, then we can go up and defeat them. But if there is no disobedience to law in their nation, then my lord must pass by them, or their Lord will protect them and their God defend them, and we shall be disgraced in the eyes of the whole earth."

22 When Achior finished saying these things, all the people who stood around about the tent objected, and the officers of Holofernes and all the inhabitants of the seacoast and of Moab advised putting him to death, "For," they said, "we must not be afraid of the Israelites, for behold they are a people with no strength or might in real warfare. So now we must advance and they will be devoured by all your army, Lord Holofernes."

When the disturbance made by the men around the council had ceased, Holofernes, the commander-in-chief of the Assyrian army, said to Achior and all the Moabites before all the body of heathen,

"And who are you, Achior, and you mercenaries of Ephraim, that you should act the prophet among us as you have done today, and tell us not to make war upon the people of Israel, because their God will protect them? What god is there except Nebuchadnezzar? He will put forth his strength and destroy them off the face of the earth, and their God will not save them, but we who are his slaves will strike them down as one man, and they will not withstand the might of our horses. For with them we will consume them, and their mountains will be drunk with their blood and their plains will be filled with their dead bodies. The track of their feet will not stand before us but they will utterly perish, says King Nebuchadnezzar, the Lord of the whole earth, for he said the words he had spoken would not be in vain.

"But you, Achior, you hireling of Ammon, who have said these things in the time of your iniquity, you shall not see my face again from this day until I take vengeance on the nation of those that came out of Egypt. Then the sword of my army and my host of servants will pierce your sides and you will fall among their wounded when I return. Now my slaves will take you into the mountains and put you in one of the hill cities, and you will not perish until you are destroyed with them. If you hope in your heart that they will not be taken, your face must not be downcast; I have spoken and none of the things that I have said will fail to be fulfilled."

Then Holofernes ordered his slaves who were standing by in his tent to seize Achior and take him away to Bethulia and turn him over to the Israelites. And his slaves seized him and took him out of the camp into the plain and brought him out of the midst of the plain into the hilly country and reached the springs which were below 12 Bethulia. When the men of the town saw them, they caught up their weapons and came out of the town to the crest of the hill and all the slingers prevented them from coming up, hurling

 13 stones upon them. So they slipped under the hill and bound Achior and left him lying at the foot of the hill, and went off to their master.

14 Then the Israelites went down from their town and came upon him. And they unbound him and took him back to Bethulia and brought him before the magistrates of their town, 15 who in those days were Uziah, the son of Micah, of the tribe of Symeon, and Chabris, the son of Gothoniel, and 16 Charmis, the son of Melchiel. They assembled all the elders of the city, and all their young men and their women hurried together to the meeting, and they put Achior in the midst of all their people, and Uziah asked him what 17 had happened. And he answered and told them what had happened in the council of Holofernes, and all that he had said in the presence of the leaders of the Assyrians, and how Holofernes had boasted against the house of Israel.
 18 Then the people fell down and worshiped God, and cried out,

19 "Lord God of Heaven, look down on their arrogance and take pity on the humiliation of our nation, and look this day upon the face of those who are consecrated to you."

20 Then they consoled Achior and 21 praised him highly, and Uziah took him from the meeting to his house and gave a banquet for the elders, and they called upon the God of Israel for help all that night.

22 7 The next day Holofernes ordered all his army and all his people who had come to his support to move against Bethulia and to seize the mountain passes and to make war on the Israelites. And every able-bodied man of them moved that day; their strength was a hundred and seventy thousand infantry and twelve thousand cavalry, besides the baggage and the footmen among them, a very great multitude.
 3 They encamped in the valley near Bethulia, by the spring, and they spread in breadth over Dothaim as far as Belbaim and in length from Bethulia to Cyamon which faces Esdraelon.

But the Israelites, when they saw 4 their great numbers, were greatly troubled and said to one another,

"These people will lick up the face of the whole country, and neither the high mountains nor the valleys nor the hills will bear their weight."

And each one took up his weapons 5 and they kindled fires on their towers and stayed on guard all that night.

On the second day Holofernes led out 6 all his cavalry before the Israelites who were in Bethulia, and he reconnoitered 7 the approaches to their city and located the springs of water and seized them and set guards of soldiers over them, and returned to his army.

Then all the rulers of the sons of 8 Esau and all the leaders of the people of Moab and the commanders of the seacoast came to him and said,

"Let our master listen to what we 9 have to say, in order that there may not be any disaster to your army. For 10 these people of the Israelites do not rely on their spears, but on the mountain heights in which they live, for it is not easy to reach the tops of their mountains. So now, master, do not fight 11 against them in battle array, and not a man of your army will fall. Remain 12 in your camp, and keep every man of your force safe, and let your servants take possession of the spring of water that flows from the foot of the mountain, for from it all the inhabitants of 13 Bethulia get their water. Then thirst will destroy them, and they will surrender their town. We and our people will go up to the neighboring mountain summits to prevent anyone from getting out of the town. And they and 14 their wives and their children will be consumed with hunger, and before the sword is drawn against them they will be laid low in the streets where they live. So you will repay them with evil 15 because they rebelled and did not receive you peaceably."

Their words pleased Holofernes and 16 all his attendants, and he gave orders to do as they said. And the camp of the 17 sons of Ammon moved along with five thousand of the Assyrians, and they encamped in the valley and seized the water supply and the springs of the

- 18 Israelites. And the sons of Esau and the sons of Ammon went up and encamped in the mountainous country opposite Dothaim, and they sent some of them southward and eastward toward Akraha, near Chus, on the Brook Mochmur. The rest of the army of the Assyrians encamped in the plain, and they covered the whole face of the country, and their tents and their baggage train encamped in a great multitude, and they made a very great host.
- 19 Then the Israelites cried out to the Lord their God, for their courage failed, because all their enemies had surrounded them and there was no way to escape from the midst of them. The whole army of Assyria, their infantry, and chariots and cavalry, remained in a circle around them for thirty-four days, and all the buckets of water of all the
- 21 inhabitants of Bethulia failed, and their cisterns were empty, and they had not a full supply of water to drink for one day, for they measured it out to them
- 22 to drink. Their little children were disheartened, and the women and the young men fainted with thirst and fell down in the streets of the town and in the roadways through the gates, and there was no strength left in them any longer.
- 23 Then all the people, the young men, the women, and the children, gathered together against Uzziyah and the rulers of the town, and they cried aloud and said before all the elders,
- 24 "May God be judge between you and us, for you have done us a great wrong in not making peace with the Assyrians. Now we have no one to help us, but God has sold us into their hands, to be laid low before them with
- 26 thirst and utter destruction. Now call them in and surrender the whole town to the people of Holofernes and to all
- 27 his army to be plundered. It is better for us to be plundered by them, for we shall become slaves and our lives will be preserved and we shall not see our babies die before our eyes, and our
- 28 wives and children expire. We call to witness against you heaven and earth, and our God, the Lord of our forefathers; let him not do what we have said today."
- 29 Great lamentation arose from all of them alike in the midst of the meeting, and they cried aloud to the Lord God. Then Uzziyah said to them,

"Courage, brothers! Let us hold out five days longer; by that time the Lord our God will show us his mercy, for he will not utterly forsake us. But if these pass and no help comes to us, I will do as you say." So he dismissed the people to their respective stations, and they went away to the walls and towers of their town, and sent their wives and children home, and there was great depression in the town.

In those days news of it came to Judith the daughter of Merari, the son of Ox, the son of Joseph, the son of Oziel, the son of Elkiyah, the son of Ananias, the son of Gideon, the son of Raphaim, the son of Ahitub, the son of Elijah, the son of Hilkiyah, the son of Eliab, the son of Nathanael, the son of Salamiel, the son of Sarasadai, the son of Israel. Her husband Manasseh belonged to her tribe and family, and he had died in the days of the barley harvest. For as he was overseeing the men who were binding sheaves on the plain, the heat affected his head, and he threw himself upon his bed and died in his town Bethulia, and they buried him with his forefathers in the field that is between Dothaim and Balamon. Judith had been a widow and remained in her house for three years and four months. She built herself a tent on the top of her house, and she wore sackcloth next to her skin and her widow's mourning. She fasted all the days of her widowhood except the day before the sabbath and the sabbath and the day before the new moon and the new moon, and the feasts and the joyful celebrations of the house of Israel. She was very beautiful and fair to see, and her husband Manasseh had left her gold and silver, and male and female slaves, and cattle and lands, and she lived on them. There was nobody who spoke ill of her, for she feared God with all her heart.

She heard the wicked words the people had spoken against the governor because they fainted for lack of water, and Judith heard all the things that Uzziyah said to them, how he swore to them that he would surrender the town to the Assyrian at the end of five days, and she sent her maid who was in charge of all that she had and summoned Chabris and Charmis, the elders 11 of her town. They came to her, and she said to them,

"Listen to me, rulers of the inhabitants of Bethulia, for the thing is not right that you have said before the people today, and have confirmed with this oath that you have sworn between God and you, saying that you will surrender the town to our enemies, unless the Lord turns and helps us within that 12 time. Now who are you, who have tried God today, and who set yourselves up in place of God among the sons of men?
13 You investigate the Lord Almighty, and will never learn anything. You cannot sound the depth of a man's mind, and you cannot grasp the thoughts of his understanding. How can you examine God, who made all these things, and understand his mind and perceive his thought? No, no, do not provoke the 15 Lord our God. For if he does not wish to help us within these five days, he has power to protect us within whatever time he pleases, or to destroy us 16 before our enemies. But you must not treat the counsels of the Lord our God as pledged, for God is not like a man, to be threatened, or like a son of man, to 17 be cajoled. Therefore let us wait for the deliverance that comes from him, and call upon him to help us, and he will 18 hear our cry, if it pleases him. For there has not arisen in our age nor is there today a tribe or family or people or town of our stock that worships gods made with hands, as they did in former 19 times, because of which our forefathers were given up to the sword and to be despoiled and fell in a great disaster before our enemies. We have known no 20 other god than him, and so we hope that he will not neglect us, nor any of 21 our nation. For if we are taken, all Judea will be taken, and our sanctuary will be plundered, and he will hold our blood responsible for the profanation of 22 it, and the slaughter of our brothers and the capture of the land and the desolation of our inheritance he will bring back upon our heads among the heathen wherever we are in slavery, and we will become an offense and a reproach in the sight of our masters.
23 For our slavery will not develop into favor, but the Lord our God will turn it into disgrace. Now, brothers, let us 24 set an example to our brothers, for their lives depend on us, and the sanctuary and the temple and the altar rest upon us. Notwithstanding all this, let us 25 give thanks to the Lord our God, who is making trial of us as he did of our forefathers also. Remember how he 26 dealt with Abraham, and how he dealt with Isaac, and what happened to Jacob in Syrian Mesopotamia, when he was keeping the sheep of his uncle Laban. For he has not tried us with fire, 27 as he did them, to search their hearts, and he has not taken vengeance upon us, but the Lord scourges those who come near him, to instruct them."

Then Uziah said to her, 28

"All that you have said, you have spoken with a pure heart, and there is no one who can oppose your words.
For today is not the first time that your wisdom has been displayed, but from the beginning of your life all the people have known your good sense, for what your mind designs is good. But the 30 people were exceedingly thirsty and they compelled us to do as we told them we would, and to put ourselves under an oath, which we cannot break. Now 31 pray for us, for you are a devout woman, and the Lord will send rain to fill our cisterns, and we will not faint any more."

Then Judith said to them, 32

"Listen to me, and I will do something that will go down to the sons of our nation for endless generations. You 33 must stand at the gate tonight, and I will go out with my maid, and before the days are over after which you said you would surrender the town to our enemies, the Lord will deliver Israel by my hand. But you must not inquire 34 about my act, for I will not tell you what I am going to do until it is done."

Then Uziah and the rulers said to 35
her,

"Farewell, and the Lord God go before you, to take vengeance upon our enemies." And they returned from the 36 tent and went to their posts.

But Judith fell upon her face and put 9 ashes on her head, and she stripped off the sackcloth that she had put on, and just as the incense offering of that evening was being offered in Jerusalem in the house of God, Judith cried aloud
and said,

"Lord God of my father Symeon, in 2 whose hand you put a sword to take vengeance on the aliens who had loosened a maiden's headdress to defile her and stripped her thigh to shame her, and profaned her womb to disgrace her; for you said, 'It must not be done,' yet they did it. So you gave up their rulers to be killed, and their bed, which was ashamed of the deceit they had practiced, to be stained with blood, and you struck down slaves upon princes and princes upon their thrones, and you gave up their wives to plunder and their daughters to captivity and all their spoils to be divided among your beloved sons, who were very zealous for you and abhorred the pollution of their blood and called on you for help.

5 O God, my God, listen to a widow like me. For you made what preceded those things, and those things, and what followed them, and you design the present and the future, and what you meditate comes to pass. The things you plan present themselves and say, 'Here we are.' For all your ways stand ready, and you judge with foreknowledge.

7 For here the Assyrians are multiplied in their might, they are exalted over horse and rider, they glory in the arm of the foot soldiers, they place their hope in shield and spear and bow and sling, and do not know that you are a lord that crushes wars. The Lord is your name; break their strength with your might, and shatter their force in your anger, for they plan to profane your sanctuary, to pollute the tent where your glorious name rests, to strike down the horn of your altar with the sword.

9 Look at their arrogance, direct your anger upon their heads, put in the hand of a widow like me the strength to do what I have planned. With my deceitful lips strike down the slave with the ruler and the ruler with his servant, break down their state with a woman's hand. For your strength is not in numbers nor your might in the strong, but you are the God of the lowly, the helper of the inferior, the champion of the weak, the protector of the neglected, the savior of the despairing. Yes, God of my father, and God of the inheritance of Israel, Lord of the heavens and the earth, creator of the waters, king of all your creation, hear my prayer and make my deceitful words the wound and stripe of those who have planned such cruelty against your agreement and your consecrated house, and Mount Zion and the house your sons possess. Make your whole nation and every tribe to know and understand that you are God, the God of all power and might, and that the nation of Israel has no protector but you."

It came to pass, when she had ceased calling on the God of Israel and had finished saying all these things, that she rose from her prostrate position and called her maid, and went down into the house, where she lived on the sabbaths and on her feast days, and she took off the sackcloth which she had put on and she took off her widow's mourning and washed herself with water and anointed herself with rich ointment, and braided her hair and put on a headdress and she dressed herself in festal attire which she used to wear when her husband Manasseh was alive. She took sandals for her feet, and put on her anklets and bracelets and rings and earrings and all her ornaments and made herself very beautiful to attract the eyes of any men who might see her. Then she gave her maid a leather bottle of wine and a jar of oil, and she filled a bag with parched grain and figs and pure bread, and she packed all her dishes and had her carry them.

Then they went out to the gate of the town of Bethulia and they found Uz-ziah standing at the gate with Chabris and Charmis, the elders of the town. When they saw her, and that her face was altered and her dress changed, they admired her beauty very greatly, and they said to her,

"May the God of our forefathers win you favor and fulfil your designs, to the gratification of the sons of Israel and the exaltation of Jerusalem."

And she worshiped God, and said to them,

"Order them to open the gate of the town for me, and I will go out to carry out the things of which you talked with me."

Then they ordered the young men to open the gate for her as she had said, and they did so. And Judith went out, she and her maid with her; and the men of the town watched her until she had gone down the mountain and had gone through the valley and they could see her no more.

They went straight on through the valley, and an outpost of the Assyrians met her; and they took her into custody and asked her,

"To what people do you belong and where do you come from, and where are you going?"

And she said,

"I am a daughter of the Hebrews, and I am escaping from their presence because they are going to be given to you to devour. I am going to the presence of Holofernes, the commander-in-chief of your army, to give him a true report, and I will show him a way by which he can go and become master of all the hilly country without losing from him men one living body or spirit."

14 When the men heard her words and observed her face, they regarded it as wonderfully beautiful, and they said to her,

15 "You have saved your life by hurrying to come down to the presence of our lord. So now go to his tent, and some of us will escort you until they deliver you into his charge. But if you stand before him, have no fear in your heart but report to him what you have said, and he will treat you well."

17 Then they chose a hundred men of their number and had them escort her and her maid, and they conducted them to the tent of Holofernes.

18 And they ran together from the whole camp, for the news of her coming had spread among the tents, and they came and gathered about her as she stood outside the tent of Holofernes, waiting until they told him about her.

19 And they wondered at her beauty, and admired the Israelites, judging by her, and they said to one another,

"Who can despise these people, when they have such women among them? For it is not right to leave one man of them alive, for if we let them go they will be able to beguile the whole earth."

20 Then those who reclined with Holofernes and all his attendants came out and took her into the tent. Now Holofernes was resting on his bed, under the canopy, which was woven of purple and gold and emeralds and precious stones.

22 And they told him about her, and he came forward into the space before the tent, with silver lamps preceding him.

23 But when Judith came before him and his attendants, they all wondered at the beauty of her face, and she fell on her face and made obeisance to him, and his slaves raised her up.

Then Holofernes said to her, 11

"Take courage, lady, do not be afraid in your heart, for I never hurt anyone who has chosen to serve Nebuchadnezzar, the king of the whole earth. And now, if your people that inhabit the hilly country had not slighted me, I would not have raised my spear against them. But they have brought this upon themselves. Now tell me why you have escaped from them and come to us, for you have come to save yourself. Take courage, for you shall live tonight and henceforth. No one will hurt you but everybody will treat you well, as they treat the slaves of my lord, King Nebuchadnezzar."

And Judith said to him, 5

"Accept the words of your slave, and let your maidservant speak before you, and I will declare nothing false to my lord tonight. If you follow out the words of your maidservant, God will fully carry out the matter with you, and my lord will not fall short of his designs. For by the life of Nebuchadnezzar, king of the whole earth, and by the might of him who has sent you to correct every soul, not only do men serve him because of you, but also the wild animals and cattle and wild birds, through your might, shall live under the sway of Nebuchadnezzar and all his house. For we have heard of your wisdom and the cleverness of your mind, and the whole earth has been told that you are the only man in the whole kingdom who is competent, and able in knowledge and wonderful in the arts of war. Now as to what Achior said in your council, we have heard his words, for the men of Bethulia saved him, and he told them all that he had said before you. Therefore, my lord and master, do not disregard what he said, but treasure it in your heart, for it is true; for our nation cannot be punished, the sword cannot prevail against them, unless they sin against their God. And now, that my lord may not be defeated and disappointed, death is about to fall upon them, for a sin has overtaken them by which they will anger their God, when they shall do what they should not. When food failed them, and all their water grew scanty, they planned to resort to their cattle and resolved to consume all that God by his laws had forbidden them to eat. The first fruits of the wheat, and the tenths of the wine and the oil which they had consecrated and reserved for the priests who stand before the face of our God in Jerusalem, which none of the people is permitted even to touch with their hands, they decided to consume.

14 They have sent men to Jerusalem, because those who live there have also done this, to bring them permission from the senate. The result will be that when the answer reaches them and they do this, on that day they will be delivered up to you to be destroyed. So when I, your slave, learned all this, I made my escape from their presence, and God sent me to perform things with you at which the whole earth, as many as shall hear of them, shall be astonished. For your slave is devout and serves the God of heaven night and day. Now I will stay with you, my lord, and every night your slave will go out into the valley and I will pray to God and he will tell me when they have committed their sins. And I will come and report it to you also and you shall go out with your whole army, and not one of them will oppose you. I will lead you through the heart of Judea until you face Jerusalem, and I will set your throne in the midst of her, and you shall drive them like sheep that have no shepherd, and no dog shall so much as growl at you; for this was told me to give me foreknowledge; it was declared to me, and I was sent to tell you."

20 Her words pleased Holofernes and all his attendants, and they wondered at her wisdom and said,

21 "There is not such a woman from one end of the earth to the other, for beauty and intelligence."

22 And Holofernes said to her, "God did well to send you before the people, to put strength in our hands, and bring destruction upon those who have sinned against you. You are beautiful, and you speak well, for if you do as you have said, your God shall be my God, and you shall live in the house of King Nebuchadnezzar and be renowned over the whole earth."

12 Then he commanded them to bring her in where his silver dishes were, and gave orders that they should set some of his own food before her, and that she should drink his wine. But Judith said,

"I cannot eat them, for it might give offense, but I will be supplied with the things I have brought with me."

Holofernes said to her,

"If what you have with you gives out, where can we get more like it to give you?"

And Judith said to him,

"As surely as you are alive, my lord, your slave will not use up the things I have with me before the Lord carries out by my hand the things he has resolved upon."

So Holofernes' attendants brought her into the tent, and she slept until midnight. And toward the morning watch she got up, and sent to Holofernes, saying,

"Now let my lord give orders that your slave be permitted to go out to pray."

And Holofernes ordered his bodyguards not to hinder her. And she remained in the camp three days, and at night she went out into the valley of Bethulia and washed herself at the spring in the camp. And when she came up from the water, she prayed the Lord God of Israel to make her way straight so that she might raise up the sons of his people. Then she went in clean and stayed in the tent until she had her food toward evening.

It happened that on the fourth day Holofernes gave a banquet for his slaves only, and invited none of those on duty. And he said to Bagoas, the eunuch who had charge of all he had,

"Go now, and persuade this Hebrew woman who is in your charge, to come to us and eat and drink with us. For it is a disgrace to our dignity if we let such a woman go without having her company, for if we do not draw her to us she will laugh at us."

So Bagoas went out from the presence of Holofernes and went in to her and said,

"This beautiful maidservant must not hesitate to come to my lord and to be honored in his presence and to drink wine and be merry with us, and to become today like a daughter of the Assyrians who wait in the house of Nebuchadnezzar."

Then Judith said to him,

"And who am I, to refuse my lord?"

For I will make haste to do everything that is pleasing in his sight, and this will be my boast to the day of my death."

15 And she got up and dressed herself beautifully with all her feminine finery, and her slave went and spread fleeces on the ground for her before Holofernes, which she had received from Bagoas for her daily use, so that she might recline on them and eat.

16 So Judith went in and lay down, and Holofernes' mind was amazed at her and his heart was stirred, and he was exceedingly desirous of intimacy with her, for he had been watching for an opportunity to deceive her ever since he had seen her.

17 And Holofernes said to her, "Drink now, and be merry with us."

18 And Judith said, "Certainly I will drink, my lord, for my life means more to me today than in all the days since I was born."

19 Then she took what her slave had prepared, and ate and drank before 20 him. And Holofernes was delighted with her, and he drank a very great deal of wine, more than he had ever drunk on one day since he was born.

21 But when evening came on, his slaves hastened to withdraw. And Bagoas went out to the tent and closed it, and dismissed the attendants from his master's presence, and they went off to their beds, for they were all tired, because the banquet had been so long.

22 But Judith was left alone in the tent, with Holofernes prostrate upon his bed, 23 for he was drenched with wine. Judith had told her slave to stand outside her bed chamber and wait for her to come out, as usual; for she had said that she would go out to offer her prayer; and she had told Bagoas the same thing.

24 So they all went out from his presence, and there was no one, small or great, left in the bed chamber. And Judith stood beside his bed and said in her heart,

"Lord, God of all power, look favorably at this hour upon the works of my hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem. For now is the time to help your inheritance and to carry out my undertaking for the destruction of the enemies who have risen up against us."

25 And she went up to the rail of the bed, which was at Holofernes' head, and took down from it his scimitar, and she went close to the bed and 7 grasped the hair of his head, and said

"Give me strength, Lord, God of Israel, today!"

And she struck him on the neck 8 twice, with all her might, and severed his head from his body. Then she 9 rolled his body off the bed, and pulled the canopy down from the pillars, and after a little while she went out and gave Holofernes' head to her maid, and she put it in her bag of food, and 10 they both went out together as they were accustomed to do, to offer their prayer. They passed through the camp and skirted that valley, and went up the mountain to Bethulia and came to its gates.

And Judith called from a long way 11 off to the watchmen at the gates,

"Open, open the gate! God, our God is with us, to show his strength in Israel, and his might against our enemies, as he has done today."

And it happened that when her 12 townsmen heard her voice, they hastened down to the gate of their town, and called the elders of the town together. And they all ran together, 13 small and great, for it seemed strange to them that she should come, and they opened the gate and welcomed them, and they kindled a fire for light, and gathered about them. And she said to 14 them in a loud voice,

"Praise God, praise him! Praise God who has not withdrawn his mercy from the house of Israel, but has shattered our enemies by my hand this very night!"

Then she took the head out of the 15 bag and showed it, and she said to them,

"Here is the head of Holofernes, the commander of the army of Assyria, and here is the canopy under which he lay in his drunkenness. For the Lord has struck him down by a woman's hand. And as surely as the Lord lives, who 16 protected me on the way I went, my face deceived him to his destruction, and he committed no sin with me, to pollute and disgrace me."

All the people were greatly aston- 17 ished, and they bowed down and worshipped God, and said under a common impulse,

"Blessed are you, our God, who have brought to nought the enemies of your people today."

- 18 And Uziah said to her,
 "Blessed are you, my daughter, beyond all the women on earth in the sight of the Most High God, and blessed is the Lord God, who created the heavens and the earth, who guided you to strike the leader of our enemies on the 19 head. Your hope shall never disappear from the minds of men when they re-20 member the strength of God. May God make this an eternal glory to you and reward you with blessings, because on account of the affliction of our nation you did not spare your own life, but you anticipated our calamity, going straight on before our God."

And all the people said,
 "Be it so! Be it so!"

- 14 Then Judith said to them,
 "Listen to me, brothers. Take this head and hang it on the battlement of 2 your wall. And when the day breaks, and the sun rises on the earth, you must take up your weapons, each of you, and every valiant man go out of the town, and you must put a captain over them as though you were going down on the plain against the outpost of the Assyrians, but you must not go down.
 3 Then they will take up their arms and go into their camp and awaken the officers of the Assyrian army; and they will hurry to the tent of Holofernes, and they will not find him. Then fear will fall upon them and they will flee before
 4 you. And you and all who inhabit all the borders of Israel must follow them
 5 up and destroy them as they go. But before you do this, bring Achior the Ammonite to me, so that he may see and recognize the man who despised the house of Israel and who sent him to us as though to his death."

- 6 Then they summoned Achior from the house of Uziah. And when he came and saw the head of Holofernes in the hand of a man in the gathering of people, he fell on his face and his 7 spirit failed. And when they raised him up, he fell at Judith's feet, and made obeisance to her, and said,

- "Blessed are you in every tent of Judah, and in every nation those who 8 hear your name will be alarmed. Now tell me all that you have done in these days."

So Judith related to him in the presence of the people all that she had done from the day that she went out of the town until the time she was speaking to them. And when she stopped speaking, the people uttered a great shout and gave a joyful cry in their town. And when Achior saw all that the God of Israel had done, he believed in God with all his heart, and accepted circumcision and was adopted into the household of Israel, and remained so unto this day.

When the dawn came, they hung Holofernes' head from the wall, and every man took up his weapons and they went out in companies toward the approaches to the mountain. But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent word to their officers, and they went to the generals and colonels and all their officers. And they came to the tent of Holofernes and said to him who had charge of all that he had,

"Wake our lord up, for these slaves have dared to come down against us to battle, so that they may be utterly destroyed."

Then Bagoas went and knocked at the curtain of the tent, for he supposed that he was sleeping with Judith. When no one answered, he drew the curtain aside and went into the bed chamber, and found him thrown down dead upon the step, and his head had been cut off and was gone. And he cried out aloud, with lamentation and groaning and a great shout, and tore open his clothing. And he went into the tent where Judith stayed, and could not find her, and he rushed out to the people and shouted,

"The slaves have deceived us; one Hebrew woman has brought disgrace upon the house of Nebuchadnezzar, for here is Holofernes lying on the ground, and his head is not on his shoulders."

But when the leaders of the Assyrian army heard these words, they tore open their shirts and their souls were dreadfully dismayed, and they raised an exceedingly loud crying and shouting in the midst of the camp. And when the men in the tents heard it, they were amazed at what had happened, and fear and trembling came upon them, and not a man waited to face his comrade, but streaming out under a common impulse they fled by every way of the plain and of the hilly country.

3 Those who had encamped in the hilly country around Bethulia also turned and fled. Then the Israelites, every soldier among them, streamed after 4 them. And Uzziah sent men to Beto-mas-haim and Bebai and Chobai and Kola and all the borders of Israel, to tell of what had been accomplished, and to order them all to stream out after their enemies to destroy them.
 5 And when the Israelites heard, under a common impulse they all fell upon them, and cut them in pieces as far as Chobai. Those of Jerusalem and of all the hilly country also came, for they had been told what had happened to the camp of their enemies, and those in Gilead and in Galilee fell upon their flank with great slaughter until they
 6 passed Damascus and its borders. The remaining inhabitants of Bethulia fell upon the Assyrian camp and pillaged it,
 7 and were made very rich. And the Israelites when they returned from the slaughter took possession of what remained, and the villages and hamlets in the hilly country and in the plain got a great quantity of spoil, for there was a very great amount of it.
 8 Then Joakim, the high priest, and the senate of the Israelites who lived in Jerusalem came to witness the blessings which the Lord had conferred upon Israel and to see Judith and greet her.
 9 And when they went to see her, they all blessed her with one accord, and said to her,
 "You are the exaltation of Jerusalem, you are the great glory of Israel, you are the great boast of our nation. You have done all this with your hand; you have done Israel good, and God is well pleased with it. The Omnipotent Lord bless you forever."
 And all the people said,
 "Be it so!"
 11 And all the people plundered the camp for thirty days; and they gave Judith the tent of Holofernes and all his silver dishes and his beds and his bowls and all his furniture, and she took them and put them on her mule, and she harnessed her wagons and piled them on them.
 12 And all the women of Israel came to see her, and they blessed her and made a dance in her honor, and she took branches in her hands and gave them 13 to the women that were with her, and they crowned themselves with olive, she and the women with her, and she went before all the people in the dance, leading all the women, and all the men of Israel in their armor, with garlands and with songs on their lips. And Ju- 16 dith began this thanksgiving before all Israel, and all the people loudly sang this song of praise. And Judith said, 2

 "Begin to play unto my God with tam-bourines, Sing unto my Lord to the sound of cymbals,
 Raise hymn and praise for him,
 Exalt his name, and call upon it,
 For the Lord is a God that shatters 3 wars,
 For he brought me into his camp, in the midst of the people,
 Rescuing me from the hands of my pursuers.
 Assyria came from the north out of 4
 the mountains,
 He came with the myriads of his host,
 Their multitude blocked up the tor-rents,
 And their cavalry covered the hills.
 He said he was going to burn up my 5
 borders,
 And kill my young men with the sword,
 And throw my babies upon the ground,
 And take my children as spoils,
 And my girls as plunder.
 The Lord Almighty brought them to 6 nought
 By the hand of a woman.
 For their champion did not fall at the 7 hands of young men,
 The sons of the Titans did not strike him down,
 Nor the tall giants set upon him,
 But Judith, the daughter of Merari,
 Made him faint with the beauty of her face.
 For she took off her widow's mourning, 8
 To lift up those who were in distress in Israel.
 She anointed her face with ointment,
 And arranged her hair in a headdress,
 And put on a linen dress to deceive him.
 Her sandal ravished his eye, 9
 And her beauty captivated his soul.
 The scimitar passed through his neck.
 Persians shuddered at her daring, 10
 And Medes were daunted at her bold-ness.

- 11 Then my oppressed people cried out,
My weak people were terrified and cowered down,
They lifted up their voices and turned to flee.
- 12 The sons of their maidservants
stabbed them,
And wounded them like runaways'
children;
They perished before the army of my
Lord.
- 13 I will sing to my God a new song;
Lord, you are great and glorious,
Wonderfully strong, unconquerable.
- 14 Let all your creation serve you,
For you but spoke, and they were created,
You sent forth your Spirit, and it
formed them,
And there is no one that can resist your voice.
- 15 For mountains will be moved from their foundations like waters,
And rocks will melt like wax before
you,
But to those who fear you
You will continue to show mercy.
- 16 For any sacrifice for a fragrant odor is a small thing,
And any fat for a whole burnt offering is insignificant in your sight,
But he that fears the Lord is great for-
ever.
- 17 Alas for the heathen that rise up against my nation.
The Lord Almighty will take vengeance on them in the day of judgment,

To apply fire and worms to their bodies,
And they will feel them and wail for-
ever."

When they reached Jerusalem, they worshiped God, and when the people were purified, they offered their whole burnt offerings and their freewill offerings and their gifts. And Judith dedicated to God all the dishes of Holofernes, which the people had given her, and the canopy which she had taken for herself from his bed chamber she gave as a gift to God; and the people continued to celebrate in Jerusalem before the sanctuary for three months, and Judith stayed with them.

After those days everyone traveled back to his own inheritance, and Judith returned to Bethulia and remained on her estate, and she was famous all over the land in her time. Many men desired to marry her, but no man had relations with her, all her life long, from the day Manasseh her husband died and was gathered to his people. She became greater and greater and she grew old in her husband's house until she was a hundred and five. She set her maid free, and died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the cave of her husband Manasseh. And the house of Israel mourned for her for seven days.
Before she died she divided her property among all the nearest relations of her husband Manasseh and her own nearest relatives. No one could terrify the Israelites in Judith's days, nor for a long time after she died.

THE ADDITIONS TO THE BOOK OF ESTHER

112 IN THE second year of the reign of Artaxerxes the Great, on the first day of Nisan, Mordecai the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, of the tribe of Benjamin, had a dream. He was a Jew, and lived in the city of Susa, an important man, in attendance at the royal court; he was one of the captives that Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had brought from Jerusalem, with Jeconiah, king of Judah. And this was his dream: behold, noise and tumult, thunders and earthquake, uproar on the earth. And here came two great dragons, both ready to wrestle, and they uttered a great roar. And at their roar every nation made ready for war, to fight against the nation of the upright. And behold, a day of darkness and gloom, affliction and anguish, distress and great tumult upon the earth. And the whole upright nation was troubled, fearing their own hurt, and they prepared to perish; and they cried out to God. And at their cry there arose as though from a tiny spring, a great river, with abundant water; light came, and the sun rose, and the humble were exalted and consumed the glorious.

12 When Mordecai, who had had this dream, and had seen what God had resolved to do, awoke, he kept it in his mind, and all day sought by all means to understand it.

12 Now Mordecai took his rest in the court with Gabatha and Tharra, the two royal eunuchs who kept watch in the court. He overheard their reflections, and inquired into their designs, and found out that they were preparing to lay hands on King Artaxerxes, and he informed the king about them. And the king examined the two eunuchs, and when they confessed, they were led off to execution. And the king wrote a memorandum about this matter, and Mordecai also wrote about it. And the king ordered Mordecai to be in attendance at the court, and he made him presents because of it. But Haman, the son of Ammedatha, a Bougaean, was in high honor with the king, and he set out to injure Mordecai and his people, because of the two royal eunuchs.

And this is the copy of the letter: 13

“The Great King, Artaxerxes, to the rulers of a hundred and twenty-seven provinces, from India to Ethiopia, and to the subordinate governors, writes thus: Having become ruler of many nations, and come to have dominion over the whole world, I desire, not because I am elated by the presumption of power, but behaving always with mildness and moderation, to insure that my subjects shall live in unbroken tranquillity, and in order to make my kingdom peaceable and open for travel in all its extent, to re-establish the peace which all men desire. When I asked my counselors how this end might be accomplished, Haman, who excels among us in soundness of judgment, and is distinguished for his unflinching loyalty and steadfast fidelity, and has attained the second rank in the kingdom, pointed out to us, that among all the nations of the world there is scattered an ill-disposed people, with laws contrary to those of every nation, which continually disregards the royal ordinances, so that the unifying of our realm, directed by us with the best intentions, cannot be effected. Understanding therefore that this nation, and it alone, stands in constant opposition to all men, per-versely following a strange manner of life and laws, and ill-disposed to our administration, doing all the harm it can, so that our rule may not be made secure, we have decreed that the persons designated in the letters sent to you by Haman, who is in charge of our administration, and is a second father to us, shall all, with their wives and children, be destroyed, root and branch, by the sword of their enemies, without pity or mercy, on the fourteenth day of the twelfth month, Adar, of this present year; so that they who all along have been disaffected, may in a single day go down through violence to Hades, and leave our government secure and undisturbed for the future."

(Esther 3:14—4:17 follows here in the Greek.)

8 And he besought the Lord, calling to mind all the doings of the Lord, and said,

9 "Lord, you King, who rule over all, for all is in your power, and there is no one who can oppose you when you
10 choose to save Israel, for you made heaven and earth, and every wonderful
11 thing under heaven, and you are Lord of all, and there is no one who can resist
12 you, who are the Lord; you know all things; you know, Lord, that it was not in insolence or arrogance or vainglory that I did this, and refused to bow 13 down to this proud Haman, for I would have been willing to kiss the soles of his 14 feet, to save Israel. But I did it so as not to set the glory of man above the glory of God, and I will bow down to no one but you, my Lord, and I will not 15 do it in pride. Now, Lord God and King, God of Abraham, spare your people, for they are looking at us to consume us, and they desire to destroy the inheritance that has been yours from 16 the beginning. Do not be indifferent to your portion, which you ransomed for 17 yourself from the land of Egypt. Hear my prayer, and have mercy on your heritage; turn our mourning into feasting, so that we may live, and sing praise to your name, Lord; do not destroy the mouth of those who praise you."

18 And all Israel cried out with all their might, for death was before their eyes.

14 Then Esther, the queen, overwhelmed with deadly anxiety, fled to the Lord; she took off her splendid clothing and put on garments of distress and mourning, and instead of the rarest perfumes, she covered her head with ashes and dung, and she abased her body utterly, and every part that she delighted to adorn she covered with 3 her tangled hair. And she prayed to the Lord and said,

"My Lord, our King, you stand alone; help me who am alone, and have 4 no helper but you; for my danger is in 5 my hand. Ever since I was born, I have heard in the tribe of my family that you, Lord, took Israel from among all the nations, and our forefathers from among all their ancestors for an everlasting possession, and that you did for them all that you promised. But now we have sinned before you, and you have handed us over to our enemies, because we glorified their gods; you are upright, Lord. And now they are not satisfied that we are in bitter captivity but they have made an agreement with their idols to abolish what your mouth has ordained, and destroy your possession, and stop the mouths of those who praise you and quench the glory of your house, and your altar, and open the mouths of the heathen to praise unreal gods, so that a mortal king may be magnified forever. Lord, do not give up your scepter to those who have no being, and do not let them mock at our fall, but turn their plan against themselves, and make an example of the man who has begun this against us. Remember, Lord; make yourself known in this time of our affliction and give me courage, king of the gods and holder of all dominion. Put eloquent 11 speech in my mouth, before this lion, and change his heart to hate the man who is fighting against us, so that there may be an end of him, and of those who support him. But save us by your 12 hand, and help me, who stand alone, and have no one but you, Lord. You

13 know everything, and you know that I hate the splendor of the wicked, and abhor the bed of the uncircumcised and of any alien. You know what I am 14 forced to do—that I abhor the symbol of my proud position, which is placed upon my head on the days when I appear in public; I abhor it like a filthy rag, and never wear it in private. Your slave has not eaten at Haman's table, and I have not honored the king's feast, or drunk the wine of the libations. Your slave has had no joy from the day
15 I was brought here until now, except in you, Lord God of Abraham. O God, whose might is over all, hear the voice of the despairing, and save us from the hands of evil-doers, and save me from what I fear."

And it came to pass on the third day, when she had ceased to pray, that she took off the clothes in which she had worshiped, and dressed herself in splendor. When she was magnificently clad, she invoked the aid of the all-seeing God and Savior, and took with her her two maids; on one she leaned languishingly, while the other followed her, carrying her train. She was radiant with her perfect beauty, and her face was happy as it was lovely, but her heart was in an agony of fear. When she had gone through all the doors, she stood before the king. He was seated on his royal throne, clad in all his magnificence, and covered with gold and precious stones; he was an awe-inspiring sight. And he raised his face, burning with splendor, and looked at her with the fiercest anger; and the queen fell down and turned pale and fainted, and she collapsed upon the head of the maid who went before her.

Then God changed the king's spirit to mildness, and in great anxiety he sprang from his throne and caught her in his arms, until she came to herself, and he reassured her with soothing words, and said to her,

"What is it, Esther? I am your brother. Courage, you shall not die, for our command is only for the people; come near."

Then he lifted the gold scepter and laid it upon her neck, and he embraced her and said,

"Tell me!"

And she said to him,

"I saw you, my lord, like an angel of God, and my mind was dismayed with awe at your splendor; you are wonderful, my lord, and your face is full of graciousness."

But as she spoke, she fell fainting; and the king was troubled, and all his train tried to reassure her.

Of this letter the following is a copy: "The Great King, Artaxerxes, sends greeting to the rulers of countries in a hundred and twenty-seven provinces, from India to Ethiopia, and to those who are loyal to our rule. The more frequently they are honored by the excessive favor of their benefactors, the prouder many men become, and not only seek to injure our subjects, but, in their inability to bear prosperity, they undertake designs against their own benefactors, and not only uproot gratitude from among men, but intoxicated by the boasts of foolish men they suppose they will escape the evil-hating justice of the ever all-seeing God. And often many of those who occupy places of authority have by the persuasiveness of the friends who have been intrusted with the conduct of affairs, been made accomplices in the shedding of innocent blood, and been involved in irremediable disasters, when such men by the specious fallacies of their vicious natures beguile the sincere good will of their sovereigns. And what has been impiously accomplished by the baneful conduct of those who exercise authority unworthily, you can see not so much from the venerable histories which have come down to us, as from the scrutiny of matters close at hand. And in order to make our kingdom in the future tranquil and peaceful for all men, we will change our attitude, and always decide the matters that fall under our notice with more considerate attention. For Haman, the son of Hammedathi, a Macedonian, an alien indeed from the Persian blood, and widely removed from our kindness, being entertained as a guest by us, enjoyed the humanity that we extend to every nation to such a degree that he was called our father, and was continually bowed down to by all, as a person second only to the royal throne. But he in his unbearable arrogance designed to deprive us of our kingdom, and to compass the death of our preserver and perpetual benefactor Mordecai, and of Esther, our blameless partner in the kingdom, together with their whole nation, demanding with intricate deceptions and intrigues that they be destroyed. For he thought by these means that he would find us deserted and would transfer the domination of the Persians to the Macedonians. But we find that the Jews, who were consigned to annihilation by this thrice sinful man, are no evil-doers but are governed by most just laws, and are sons of the Most High, Most Mighty Living God, who has directed the kingdom for us and for our forefathers with most excellent guidance. Therefore please pay no further attention to the letters sent you by Haman, the son of Hammedathi, because the very man who was active in this has been hung with all his house at the gates of Susa, for God, who governs all things, has speedily inflicted on him the 19 punishment he deserved. Therefore put up the copy of this letter publicly everywhere, and let the Jews live under 20 their own laws, and reinforce them, so that on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, Adar, on that very day they may defend themselves against those who assail them at the time of 21 their affliction. For God, who governs all things, has made this day a joy to them instead of proving the destruction 22 of the chosen race. So you must observe it as a notable day among your commemorative festivals, and all good 23 cheer, so that both now and hereafter it may mean preservation to us and to the loyal Persians, but to those who plot against us it may serve as a re-24 minder of destruction. But any city or country without exception, which shall fail to act in accordance with this, shall be utterly destroyed in wrath with fire and sword; it will be made not only impassable for men, but also hateful to wild animals and birds for all time.

(This is followed in the Greek by 8:13—10:3, where the Hebrew Esther ends. The Greek version adds the following:)

104 And Mordecai said,

5 "This came from God. For I remember the dream that I had about these things; for none of them has failed to 6 be fulfilled. As for the tiny spring that became a river, when light came, and the sun shone and there was an abundance of water, the river is Esther, whom the king married and made queen.

 And I and Haman are the two dragons.
 And those who gathered to destroy the name of the Jews are the heathen.
 And my nation, which cried out to God and was saved, is Israel; for the Lord has saved his people, the Lord has delivered us from all these evils, and God has wrought great signs and wonders, such as never happened among the heathen. That is why he made two lots, one for the people of God and one for all the heathen, and these two lots came to the hour and time and day when God should judge among all the nations. And God remembered his people, and he acquitted his inheritance. So these days in the month of Adar, on the fourteenth and fifteenth of that month, will be observed by them with assembling together and joy and gladness before God from generation to generation, forever, among his people
 Israel."

In the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said he was a priest and Levite, and Ptolemy his son, brought in (to Egypt) this preceding letter of Purim, which they said was true, and had been translated by Lysimachus the son of Ptolemy, one of the residents of Jerusalem.

THE WISDOM OF SOLOMON

- 1 LOVE uprightness, you who judge
 the land,
 Think of the Lord with good-
 ness,
 And seek him with sincerity of heart.
- 2 For he is found by those who do not try him,
 And is manifested to those who do not disbelieve him.
- 3 For crooked reasonings separate from
 God,
 And when his power is tested, it exposes fools.
- 4 For wisdom cannot enter a deceitful
 soul,
 Or live in a body in debt to sin.
- 5 For the holy spirit of instruction will flee from deceit,
 And will rise and leave at unwise reasoning,
 And be put to confusion at the approach of wrong.
- 6 For wisdom is a kindly spirit,
 And will not acquit a blasphemer of what he says,
 For God is a witness of his heart,
 And a truthful observer of his mind,
 And a hearer of his tongue.
- 7 For the spirit of the Lord fills the
 world,
 And that which embraces all things knows all that is said.
- 8 Therefore no one who utters what is wrong will go unobserved, Nor will justice, in its investigation, pass him by.
- 9 For there will be an inquiry into the designs of the ungodly,
 And the sound of his words will reach
 the Lord,
 To convict him of his transgressions.
- 10 For a jealous ear hears everything,
 And the sound of grumbling is not hidden.
- 11 So beware of useless grumbling,
 And spare your tongue from slander;
 For no secret word goes for naught,
 And a lying mouth destroys the soul.
- 12 Do not invite death by the error of your life,
 Or incur destruction by the work of your hands;
 For God did not make death, 13
 And he does not enjoy the destruction of the living.
- For he created everything to exist, 14
 And the generative forces of the world are wholesome,
 And there is no poisonous drug in
 them,
 And the kingdom of Hades is not on
 earth.
- For uprightness is immortal. 15
 But ungodly men by their acts and words have summoned him, 16
 They thought him their friend, and softened,
 And made an agreement with him,
 For they are fit to belong to his party.
 For they did not reason soundly, but 2
 said to themselves,
 "Our life is short and miserable,
 And there is no cure when man comes to his end,
 And no one has been known to return from Hades.
- For we were born at a venture, 2
 And hereafter we shall be as though we had never existed, Because the breath in our nostrils is
 smoke,
 And reason is a spark in the beating of our hearts;
 When it is quenched, the body will 3
 turn to ashes,
 And the spirit will dissolve like empty air.
- And in time our name will be forgot- 4
 ten,
 And no one will remember what we have done,
 And our life will pass away like the traces of a cloud,
 And be scattered like mist
 Pursued by the sun's rays
 And overcome by its heat.
- For our life is a fleeting shadow, 5
 And there is no way to recall our end,
 For it is scaled up and no one can bring it back.

- 6 So come, let us enjoy the good things that exist,
And eagerly make use of the creation as we did in our youth.
- 7 Let us have our fill of costly wine and perfumes,
And let us not miss the spring flowers.
- 8 Let us crown ourselves with rosebuds before they wither;
- 9 Let none of us miss his share in our revelry;
Everywhere let us leave the signs of our gladness;
For this is our portion and this our lot.
- 10 Let us oppress the upright poor;
Let us not spare the widow,
Or respect the venerable gray head of the aged.
- 11 But let our strength be our law of uprightness,
For weakness is proved useless.
- 12 Let us lie in wait for the upright, for he inconveniences us
And opposes our doings,
And reproaches us with our transgressions of the Law,
And charges us with sins against what we have been taught;
- 13 He professes to possess knowledge of God,
And calls himself a child of the Lord;
- 14 We have found him a reproof of our thoughts,
He is wearisome to us even to see,
For his life is not like others,
And his ways are strange.
- 16 He considers us counterfeit,
And avoids our ways as unclean.
He calls the end of the upright happy,
And boasts that God is his father.
- 17 Let us see whether what he says is true,
And let us test what will happen at his departure.
- 18 For if the upright man is a son of God,
he will help him,
And save him from the hands of his adversaries.
- 19 Let us test him with insults and torture,
So that we may learn his patience,
And prove his forbearance.
- 20 Let us condemn him to a shameful death,
For he will be watched over, from what he says!
- 21 So they reasoned, but they went astray,
- For their wickedness blinded them,
And they did not know God's secrets, 22:
Or hope for the reward of holiness,
Or recognize the prize of blameless souls.
For God created man for immortality, 23:
And made him the image of his own eternity,
But through the devil's envy death 24:
came into the world,
And those who belong to his party experience it.
But the souls of the upright are in 3:
the hand of God,
And no torment can reach them.
In the eyes of foolish people they 2:
seemed to die,
And their decease was thought an affliction,
And their departure from us their 1:
ruin,
But they are at peace.
For though in the sight of men they 4:
are punished,
Their hope is full of immortality,
And after being disciplined a little, 5:
they will be shown great kindness.
For God has tried them,
And found them worthy of himself.
He has tested them like gold in a 6:
furnace,
And accepted them like the sacrifice of a whole burnt offering.
They will shine out, when he visits 7:
them,
And spread like sparks among the stubble.
They will judge nations and rule 8:
peoples,
And the Lord will reign over them forever.
Those who trust in him will under- 9:
stand the truth,
And those who are faithful will cling to him in love,
For his chosen will find favor and mercy.
But the ungodly will be punished 10:
according to their reasonings,
For they disregarded what was right and turned away from the Lord,
For the man who makes light of 11:
wisdom and instruction is wretched,
And there is nothing in their hope,
and their labors are unprofitable,
And what they do is useless.
Their wives are silly, 11

- And their children bad;
There is a curse on their birth.
- 13 For happy is the barren woman who is undefiled,
Who has not experienced a sinful union;
She will have fruit when God examines men's souls.
- 14 And happy is the eunuch who has not transgressed the Law with his
hand,
Nor imagined wicked things against
the Lord,
For special favor shall be shown him
for his faith,
And a more delightful share in the Lord's sanctuary.
- 15 For good work brings renown,
And the root of understanding is unerring.
- 16 But the children of adulterers will not grow up,
And the offspring of an illicit union will disappear.
- 17 For if they are long-lived, they will be thought of no account,
And, at the last, their old age will be unhonored.
- 18 If they die early, they will have no hope
Or comfort on the day of decision.
- 19 For the fate of an unrighteous generation is hard.
- 4 It is better to be childless but virtuous,
For in the memory of virtue there is immortality,
For it is recognized by both God and
men;
- 2 When it is present, men imitate it,
And they long for it when it is gone.
And it marches in triumph, wearing a wreath forever,
Victorious in the contest for prizes that are undefiled.
- 3 But the numerous brood of the ungodly will be unprofitable,
And with its base-born slips will not strike its roots deep,
Or establish a secure foundation.
- 4 For though it flourishes with branches for a while,
It stands insecurely and will be shaken by the wind,
And uprooted by the force of the winds.
- 5 The twigs will be broken off before they are grown,
And their fruit will be useless, not ripe enough to eat,

- And good for nothing.
For children born of unlawful slum- 6
bers
Will be witnesses to their parents' guilt when they are examined.
But an upright man, if he dies be- 7
fore his time, will be at rest,
For an honored old age does not de- 8
pend on length of time,
And is not measured by the number of one's years,
But understanding is gray hair for 9
men,
And a blameless life is old age.
Because he pleased God well, he was 10
loved by him,
And while living among sinners he was taken up.
He was caught up, so that wickedness 11 might not alter his understand-
ing,
Or guile deceive his soul.
For the spell of wickedness obscures 12
what is good,
And the instability of desire perverts
the innocent mind.
Being perfected in a little while he has 13 fulfilled long years,
For his soul pleased the Lord; 14
Therefore he hurried from the midst of wickedness.
The peoples saw yet did not perceive
Or take such a thing to heart,
For favor and mercy are with his 15
chosen,
And he watches over his saints.
But an upright man who has fallen 16 asleep will condemn the ungodly who are still alive,
And youth that is soon perfected, the great age of the unrighteous.
For they see the wise man's end, 17
And do not perceive what the Lord's purpose about him was,
And for what he kept him safe;
They see, and make light of him; 18
But the Lord will laugh them to scorn.
And afterward they will become a 19
dishonored corpse,
And be insulted among the dead for-
ever;
He will burst them open, dumb and swollen,
And will shake them from their foundations,
And they will be utterly dried up,
And they will suffer anguish,
And the memory of them will perish.

- 20 They will come like cowards at the reckoning-up of their sins,
And their transgressions will convict them to their face.
- 6 Then the upright man will stand with great boldness
Face to face with his oppressors
And with those who set his labors at nought.
- 2 They will be dreadfully dismayed at the sight,
And amazed at the unexpectedness of his deliverance.
- 3 They will talk to themselves in repentance,
And in their distress of mind they will groan and say,
- 4 "This is the man we fools once laughed at,
And made a byword of reproach.
We thought his life was madness,
And his end dishonored"
- 5 How did he come to be reckoned among the sons of God,
And why is his lot among the saints?
- 6 Then we must have wandered from the true way,
And the light of uprightness did not light us,
And the sun did not rise upon us.
- 7 We were full of paths of lawlessness and destruction,
And traveled through trackless deserts,
But we did not recognize the Lord's road.
- 8 What good did our arrogance do us?
And what have wealth and ostentation done for us?
- 9 They have all passed away like a shadow,
And like a messenger running by;
- 10 Like a ship crossing the billowing water,
And when it is gone there is no track to be found
Or path of its keel in the waves;
- 11 Or as when a bird flies through the air,
It leaves no sign of its passage;
The light air, whipped by the beat of its wings,
And torn apart by the force of its speed,
Is traversed as its wings move,
And afterward no sign of its passage is found there.
- 12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a mark,
The air is pierced and immediately returns to itself,

So that its course is unknown;
So we also, as soon as we were born, ceased to be,
And had no sign of virtue to show,
But were consumed in our wickedness.
For the ungodly man's hope is like chaff carried by the wind,
And like hoarfrost driven away by a storm,
It is dissipated like smoke before the wind,
And passes by like the memory of a stranger who stays but a night.
But the upright live forever,
And their reward is with the Lord,
And the Most High takes care of them.

Therefore they will receive the glorious kingdom,
And the beautiful diadem from the Lord's hand,
For he will cover them with his right hand,
And shield them with his arm.
He will take his jealousy for his armor,
And will make creation his weapons to repulse his foes.
He will put on uprightness for a corselet,
And wear unfeigned justice for a helmet.
He will take holiness for an invincible shield,
And sharpen his stern anger for a sword;
And with him the world will go to war against the madmen.
Well-aimed flashes of lightning will fly,
And will leap to the mark from the clouds, as from a well-bent bow,
And from a catapult hailstones full of wrath will be hurled.
The water of the sea will be angry with them,
And the rivers will roll relentlessly over them.
A mighty wind will oppose them,
And winnow them like a tempest.
And lawlessness will lay waste the whole earth,
And wrongdoing overturn the thrones of princes.
Listen therefore, kings, and understand:
Learn this, judges of the ends of the earth;
Pay attention, rulers of the people,

Who boast of multitudes of nations;
 3 For your dominion was given you
 from the Lord,
 And your sovereignty from the Most
 High.
 He will examine your works and inquire into your plans;
 4 For though you are servants of his kingdom, you have not judged rightly,
 Or kept the Law,
 Or followed the will of God.
 5 He will come upon you terribly and swiftly,
 For a stern judgment overtakes those in high places.
 6 For the humblest man may be forgiven through mercy,
 But the mighty will be mightily tested,
 7 For the Lord of all will show no
 partiality,
 And will not respect greatness,
 For it was he who made small and
 great,
 And he takes thought for all alike, 8 But a rigorous inquiry is in store for the powerful.
 9 My words are addressed to you,
 therefore, you monarchs,
 So that you may learn wisdom and not go astray;
 10 For those who observe holy things in holiness will be made holy,
 And those who are taught them will have a defense to offer;
 11 So desire my words, Long for them, and you will be instructed.
 12 Wisdom is bright and unfading,
 And she is easily seen by those who love her,
 And found by those who search for
 her.
 13 She forestalls those who desire her,
 by making herself known first.
 14 The man who rises early to seek her will not have to toil,
 For he will find her sitting at his gates.
 15 For to think of her is the highest
 understanding,
 And the man who is vigilant for her sake will soon be free from care.
 16 For she goes about in search of those who are worthy of her,
 And she graciously appears to them
 in their paths,
 And meets them in every thought.

For the truest beginning of her is 17
 the desire for instruction,
 And concern for instruction is love of
 her,
 And love for her is the observance of 18
 her laws,
 And adherence to her laws is assurance of immortality,
 And immortality brings men near to 19
 God;
 So the desire for wisdom leads to a 20 kingdom.
 If therefore you take pleasure in 21 thrones and scepters, monarchs
 of the people,
 Honor wisdom, so that you may reign
 forever.
 But what wisdom is and how she came 22
 to be, I will declare,
 And I will not hide these secrets from
 you,
 But I will trace her out from the beginning of creation,
 And make the knowledge of her clear,
 And I will not pass by the truth;
 I will not travel with futile envy, 23
 For it cannot associate with wisdom.
 The multitude of the wise is the 24
 salvation of the world,
 And a prudent king is the stability of his people.
 So be instructed by my words and you 25
 will be benefited.
 I too am a mortal man, like all men, 7
 And a descendant of that first-formed man, who sprang from the earth, And I was shaped into flesh in my 2
 mother's womb,
 Solidified in blood in ten months
 From man's seed and the pleasure of marriage.
 And when I was born I breathed in 3
 the common air,
 And fell on the kindred earth, Giving the same first cry as all the rest.
 I was carefully wrapped up and 4
 nursed,
 For no king has any other beginning 5
 of existence;
 But all men have one entrance upon 6 life, and the same way of leaving
 it.
 Therefore I prayed, and understand- 7
 ing was given me;
 I called, and the spirit of wisdom came
 to me.
 I preferred her to scepters and 8
 thrones,

- And I thought wealth of no account compared with her.
- 9 I did not think a priceless stone her equal,
For all the gold, in her presence, is just a little sand,
And silver is no better than mud,
before her.
- 10 I loved her more than health and good looks,
And I preferred her ever to light,
And her radiance is unceasing.
- 11 But all blessings came to me along with her,
And uncounted wealth is in her hands.
- 12 And I rejoiced over them all, because wisdom ruled them,
For I did not know that she was their mother.
- 13 I learned honestly, and I share ungrudgingly,
I will not hide her wealth away,
- 14 For it is an unfailing treasure for men,
And those who get it make friends
with God,
Being commended to him by the gifts that come from her discipline.
- 15 May God grant to me to speak properly,
And to have thoughts worthy of what he has given;
For it is he that guides wisdom
And directs the wise.
- 16 For in his hand are we and our words,
All understanding and knowledge of trades.
- 17 For it is he that has given me unerring knowledge of what is,
To know the constitution of the world and the working of the elements;
- 18 The beginning and end and middle of periods of time,
The alternations of the solstices and the changes of the seasons,
- 19 The cycles of the years and the positions of the stars,
- 20 The natures of animals, and the dispositions of wild beasts,
The powers of spirits and the designs
of men,
The varieties of plants and the virtues of roots;
- 21 All that was secret or manifest I learned,
- 22 For wisdom, the fashioner of all things, taught me.
For there is in her a spirit that is intelligent, holy,

Unique, manifold, subtle,
Mobile, clear, undefiled, Distinct, beyond harm, loving the good, keen,
Unhindered, beneficent, philanthropic, 2
Firm, sure, free from care,
All-powerful, all-seeing,
And interpenetrating all spirits That are intelligent, pure, and most subtle.

For wisdom is more mobile than any 2 motion,
And she penetrates and permeates everything, because she is so pure;

For she is the breath of the power of 2
God,
And a pure emanation of his almighty glory;
Therefore nothing defiled can enter into her.

For she is a reflection of the everlasting light,
And a spotless mirror of the activity
of God,
And a likeness of his goodness.
Though she is one, she can do all
things,
And while remaining in herself, she makes everything new.

And passing into holy souls, generation after generation,
She makes them friends of God, and prophets.

For God loves nothing but the man who lives with wisdom.

For she is fairer than the sun,
Or any group of stars;
Compared with light, she is found superior;

For night succeeds to it,
But evil cannot overpower wisdom.

For she reaches in strength from one end of the earth to the other,
And conducts everything well.

I loved her and sought after her from my youth up,
And I undertook to make her my bride,
And I fell in love with her beauty.
She glorifies her high birth in living
with God,
For the Lord of all loves her.
For she is initiated into the knowledge
of God,
And is a searcher of his works.
But if the possession of wealth is to be desired in life,

- What is richer than wisdom, which operates everything?
- 6 And if understanding works,
Who in all the world is a greater craftsman than she?
- 7 And if a man loves uprightness,
Her labors are virtues;
For she teaches self-control and understanding,
Uprightness and courage;
Nothing in life is more useful to men than these.
- 8 But if a man longs for much experience,
She knows antiquity and can forecast the future,
She understands the tricks of language and the solving of riddles;
She knows the meaning of signs and portents,
And the outcomes of seasons and periods.
- 9 So I decided to bring her to live with me,
Knowing that she would give me good counsel,
And encouragement in cares and grief.
- 10 Because of her I will have glory among the multitude,
And honor with the elders, though I am young,
- 11 I will be found keen in judgment,
And I will be admired in the presence of monarchs.
- 12 When I am silent, they will wait for me to speak,
And when I speak, they will pay attention,
And if I talk at some length,
They will put their hands over their mouths.
- 13 Because of her, I will have immortality,
And leave an everlasting memory to those who come after me.
- 14 I will govern peoples, and nations will be subject to me.
- 15 Dread sovereigns will be frightened when they hear of me;
Among the people I will appear good and in war brave.
- 16 When I enter my house, I will find rest with her,
For intercourse with her has no bitterness,
And living with her no grief,
But gladness and joy.
- 17 When I considered these things with myself,
And reflected in my mind
That in kinship with wisdom there is immortality,
And in her friendship there is pure delight,
And unfailing wealth in the labors of her hands,
And understanding in the experience of her company,
And glory in sharing in her words,
I went about seeking how to win her for myself.
- I was a well-formed child, 19
And a good soul fell to me,
Or rather, I was good and entered an undefiled body. 20
But I perceived that I could not win her unless God gave her to me 21
(And this too came of understanding, to know from whom the favor came).
- I appealed to the Lord and besought him,
And said with all my heart:
"God of my forefathers and merciful Lord, 22
Who created all things by your word,
And by your wisdom formed man 2
To rule over the creatures you had made,
And manage the world in holiness and 3
uprightness,
And pass judgment in rectitude of soul,
Give me the wisdom that sits by your 4 throne,
And do not reject me as unfit to be one of your servants.
For I am your slave and the son of 5
your maidservant,
A man weak and short-lived,
And inferior in my understanding of judgment;
For even if one among the sons of 6
men is perfect,
If the wisdom that comes from you is lacking, he will count for nothing.
You have chosen me out to be king of 7
your people,
And to be judge of your sons and daughters;
You told me to build a sanctuary on 8
your holy mountain,
And an altar in the city where you dwell,
A copy of the holy tent which you prepared in the beginning;
And with you is wisdom, which knows 9
your works,

- And was present when you made the world,
 And understands what is pleasing in your sight,
 And what is in accord with your commands.
- 10 Send her forth from the holy heavens
 And dispatch her from your glorious throne,
 To be with me and toil,
 And so that I may know what is pleasing to you.
- 11 For she knows and understands all things,
 And she will guide me with good sense in my actions,
 And will guard me with her splendor.
- 12 Then my doings will be acceptable,
 And I will judge your people uprightly,
 And be worthy of the throne of my father.
- 13 For what man can know the counsel of God,
 Or who can decide what the Lord wills?
- 14 For the calculations of mortals are timid,
 And our designs are likely to fail,
- 15 For a perishable body weighs down the soul,
 And its earthy tent burdens the thoughtful mind.
- 16 We can hardly guess at things upon the earth,
 And we have hard work finding the things that are just at hand,
 But who has tracked out the things in heaven?
- 17 And who has learned your counsel unless you gave him wisdom,
 And sent your holy spirit from on high?
- 18 So the paths of those who were on the earth were straightened,
 And men were taught the things that please you,
 And were saved by wisdom."
- 10 It was she that protected the first-formed father of the world,
 In his loneliness, after his creation,
 And rescued him from his transgression,
 2 And gave him strength to master all things.
 3 And when an unrighteous man abandoned her in his anger,
 He perished in his fratricidal rage.
 4 When the earth was deluged because of him, wisdom again saved
- The upright man, steering him with a cheap piece of wood.
 It was she that when the nations were confused, in their wicked conspiracy, Recognized the upright man, and preserved him blameless before God,
 And kept him steadfast against having pity on his child.
 When the ungodly were perishing, she saved an upright man,
 Who fled from the fire that descended on the Five Towns;
 To their wickedness a smoking waste Still bears lasting witness,
 As do trees that bear fruit that never ripens,
 And a pillar of salt that stands as a memorial of an unbelieving soul.
 For because they passed wisdom by, They were not only made incapable of recognizing what was good,
 But also left behind them to life a memorial of their folly,
 So that their faults could not pass unnoticed.
 But wisdom delivered those who served her from their troubles.
 An upright man, who was a fugitive from a brother's wrath,
 She guided in straight paths;
 She showed him God's kingdom,
 And gave him knowledge of holy things;
 She made him prosper in his toils
 And increased the fruit of his labors;
 When those who oppressed him were covetous, she stood by him,
 And made him rich.
 She protected him from his enemies,
 And kept him safe from those who lay in wait for him,
 And decided his hard contest in his favor,
 So that he should know that godliness is stronger than anything.
 When an upright man was sold, she did not abandon him,
 But delivered him from sin;
 She went down into the pit with him,
 And she did not leave him in prison,
 Until she brought him the scepter of a kingdom,
 And power over those who lorded it over him;
 She showed that they were false who had blamed him,
 And she gave him everlasting honor.

- 15 She delivered from a nation of oppressors
A holy people and a blameless race;
- 16 She entered the soul of a servant of the Lord,
And withstood awe-inspiring kings with portents and signs;
- 17 She paid to holy men a reward for their toils,
She guided them along a wonderful way,
And became a shelter for them in the daytime,
And a flame of stars at night.
- 18 She brought them over the Red Sea,
And led them through deep waters.
- 19 But their enemies she overwhelmed,
And cast them up from the bottom of the deep.
- 20 Therefore the upright despoiled the ungodly,
And they sang, Lord, of your holy name,
And praised with one accord your defending hand.
- 21 For wisdom opens the mouth of the dumb,
And makes the tongues of babes speak plainly.
- 11 She made their doings prosper by means of a holy prophet.
- 2 They traveled through an uninhabited desert,
And pitched their tents in trackless places.
- 3 They withstood their enemies and repulsed their foes.
- 4 They grew thirsty and called upon you,
And water was given them out of a rocky cliff,
And a cure for their thirst out of the hard stone.
- 5 For the means by which their enemies were punished Benefited them in their time of need.
- 6 Instead of the fountain of an ever flowing river, Stirred up with filthy blood,
- 7 As a rebuke for the decree to kill the babes,
You gave them plenty of water, in a way unlooked for,
- 8 Showing through their thirst at that time
How you punished their adversaries.
- 9 For when they were tried, although they were only disciplined in mercy,
They learned how the ungodly were tormented, when they were judged in wrath.
- For these you tested like a father, 10 warning them,
But those you examined like a stern king, condemning them.
- Whether absent or present, they were 11 harassed alike;
For a double grief seized them, 12
And groaning over the memory of the past.
For when they heard that through 13 their punishments
The others were benefited, they felt it was the Lord.
- For the man who had long before 14 been cast forth and exposed, and whom they had rejected with scorn,
As events resulted, they admired,
When they felt thirst in a different way from the upright.
- But for the foolish fancies of their un- 15 righteousness,
Misled by which they worshiped unreasoning reptiles and worthless vermin,
You sent a multitude of unreasoning creatures upon them to punish them,
So that they should know that a man 16 is punished by the things through which he sins.
- For your all-powerful hand, which 17 created the world out of formless matter,
Did not lack means to send upon them a multitude of bears, or bold lions,
Or newly created wild animals, un- 18 known before, and full of rage,
Either puffing out a fiery breath,
Or scattering a roar of smoke,
Or flashing dreadful sparks from their eyes,
Which could not only have destroyed 19 them utterly by the harm they did,
But have made them die of fright at the very sight of them.
- Why, without these, they might have 20 been felled by a single breath,
Being pursued by justice,
And scattered by the breath of your power.
- But you ordered everything by measure and number and weight.
For it is always yours to have great 21 strength,

- And who can withstand the might of your arm?
- 22 For in your sight the whole world is like what turns the scale in a balance,
And like a drop of dew that comes down on the earth in the morning.
- 23 But you have mercy on all men, because you can do all things,
And you overlook men's sins to lead them to repent,
- 24 For you love all things that exist,
And abhor none of the things that you have made;
For you would never have formed anything if you hated it.
- 25 And how could anything have endured, if you had not willed it,
Or what had not been called forth by you have been preserved?
- 26 But you spare all, because they are yours, Lord, lover of life,
- 12 For your imperishable spirit is in all things.
- 2 Therefore you correct little by little those who go astray,
And you admonish them by reminding them of the things through which they sin;
So that they may escape from their wickedness and believe in you, Lord.
- 3 For those who long ago inhabited your holy land
- 4 You hated for acting most hatefully,
Practicing enchantments and unholy rites,
- 5 Merciless killing of children,
And cannibal feasting on human flesh and blood.
- 6 Initiates from the midst of a pagan brotherhood,
And parents who were murderers of helpless lives,
You determined to destroy by the hands of our forefathers,
- 7 So that the land which you prized above all others Might receive a worthy colony of God's children.
- 8 But even these, as being men, you spared,
And you sent wasps as forerunners of your host,
To destroy them little by little.
- 9 Not that you were unable to make the upright defeat the ungodly in battle,
Or to destroy them at one blow with
- terrible wild animals or a stern command,
But in judging them little by little you gave them opportunity to repent,
For you were not ignorant that their origin was evil,
And their wickedness inborn,
And that their manner of thought would never change.
For they were a race accursed from the beginning,
And it was not through fear of any man that you left them unpunished for their sins.
For who can say, "What have you done?"
Or who can oppose your judgment?
And who can accuse you of the destruction of the nations which you made?
Or who will come to stand before you as the avenger of unrighteous men?
For neither is there any god but you, who care for all men,
To show that you do not judge unrighteously,
Nor will any king or monarch be able to face you about those whom you have punished.
But since you are upright, you conduct all things uprightly,
Considering it inconsistent with your power
To condemn the man who does not deserve to be punished.
For your strength is the beginning of uprightness
And the fact that you are Lord of all makes you spare all.
For when men disbelieve in the perfection of your power, you display your strength,
And in the case of those that know, you rebuke their rashness.
But you, being master of your strength, judge us with fairness
And govern us with great forbearance.
For the power is at your command, whenever you wish it.
By such deeds you taught your people
That the upright man must be humane,
And you made your sons be of good hope,
Because you give repentance for sins,

- 20 For if you punished with such care and indulgence
Those who were the enemies of your servants, and deserved death, Giving them time and opportunity to escape from their wickedness,
- 21 With what exactness you have judged your sons,
To whose forefathers you gave oaths and agreements promising them
good!
- 22 So when you discipline us, you flog
our enemies ten thousand fold,
So that when we judge we may reflect on your goodness,
And when we are judged we may look for mercy.
- 23 Therefore you tormented through their own abominable practices
Those who lived wickedly, in a life of
folly,
- 24 For they went astray far beyond the ways of error,
Accepting as gods the lowest and basest of animals,
Being deceived like foolish babies.
- 25 Therefore you sent your judgment in mockery of them,
As though to unreasoning children.
- 26 But those who cannot be admonished by mockeries of correction,
Will experience a judgment worthy of God.
- 27 For because through what they suffered they became indignant
At those whom they considered gods, being punished by means of them,
They saw and recognized as the true
God him whom they had before refused to know.
Therefore the very height of condemnation overtook them.
- 13 For all men are foolish by nature,
and had no perception of God,
And from the good things that were visible they had not the power to know him who is,
Nor through paying attention to his works did they recognize the workman,
- 2 But either fire, or wind, or swift air,
Or the circle of the stars, or rushing
water,
Or the heavenly luminaries, the rulers of the world, they considered gods.
And if through delight in their beauty
- they supposed that these were gods,
Let them know how far superior is the Lord of these,
For the originator of beauty created
them;
But if it was through awe at their power and operation, Let them conclude from them how much mightier he who formed them is.
For from the greatness and beauty of what is created,
The originator of them is correspondingly perceived.
But yet little blame attaches to these
men,
For perhaps they just go astray
In their search for God and their desire to find him;
For living among his works they search
And believe the testimony of their sight, that what they see is beautiful.
But again, even they are not to be excused;
For if they had power to know so much
That they could try to make out the
world,
Why did they not sooner find the Lord of all this?
For they are miserable, and their hopes are set on the dead,
Who have called the works of men's hands gods,
Gold and silver, the subject of art,
And likenesses of animals,
Or useless stone, worked by some ancient hand.
But if some carpenter saws down a tree he can handle,
And skilfully strips off all its bark,
And shaping it nicely
Makes a dish suited to the uses of life,
And burns the chips of his work
To prepare his food, and eats his fill;
But the worst of them, which is good for nothing,
A crooked piece, full of knots,
He takes and carves to occupy his spare time,
And shapes it with understanding
skill;
He makes it a copy of a human form,
Or makes it like some common animal,

- Smearing it with vermilion, and painting its surface red,
 And coating every blemish in it;
 15 And making an abode for it worthy of it,
 He fixes it on the wall, and fastens it with iron.
 16 So he plans for it, so that it will not fall down,
 For he knows that it cannot help itself;
 For it is only an image and needs help.
 17 But he prays to it about his property and his marriage and his children,
 And is not ashamed to speak to a lifeless thing,
 18 And appeals to something that is weak, for health,
 And asks something that is dead, for life,
 And supplicates what is itself utterly inexperienced, for aid,
 And something that cannot even take a step, about a journey,
 19 And he asks strength for gain and business and success in what he undertakes
 From something whose hands are most feeble.
 14 Again, a man setting out on a voyage, and about to travel over wild waves, Calls upon a piece of wood more unsound than the ship that carries him.
 2 For it was designed through the desire for gain,
 And wisdom was the craftsman that built it.
 3 And your providence, Father, pilots it,
 For you give a way even in the sea,
 And a safe path through the waves,
 4 Showing that you can save from anything,
 So that even without skill a man may go to sea.
 5 But it is your will that the works of your wisdom should not be idle;
 Therefore men trust their lives to even the smallest plank,
 And cross the flood on a raft and get safely over.
 6 For in the beginning, when the haughty giants perished,
 The hope of the world took refuge on a raft,
 And steered by your hand left to the world a generating germ.
- For blessed is wood through which uprightness comes,
 But what is made with hands is accursed, along with the man who made it,
 Because he shaped it, and what was perishable was called a god.
 For the ungodly man and his ungodliness are equally hateful to God.
 For what is done must be punished with the man who did it.
 Therefore there will be an examination of the idols of the heathen,
 For, although part of God's creation,
 they became an abomination,
 And snares to the souls of men,
 And a trap for the feet of the foolish.
 For the devising of idols is the beginning of fornication,
 And the invention of them is the corruption of life.
 For they did not exist from the beginning, and they will not last for-
 ever;
 For through the vanity of men they
 came into the world,
 And therefore a speedy end for them was designed.
 For a father afflicted with untimely grief
 Made a likeness of his child, that had been quickly taken from him,
 And presently honored as a god him
 who was once a dead man,
 And handed down to his subjects mysteries and rites.
 Then the ungodly practice, strengthened by time, came to be observed as law,
 And by the orders of monarchs carved images were worshiped.
 And when men could not honor them in their presence, because they lived far away,
 They imagined how they looked, far
 away,
 And made a visible image of the king
 they honored,
 So as by their zeal to flatter the absent
 one as though he were present.
 But the ambition of the artist stimulated
 Even those who did not know the subject to intensified worship;
 For he, perhaps wishing to gratify someone in authority, Elaborated the likeness by his art into greater beauty;

20 And the multitude, attracted by the charm of his workmanship, Now regarded as an object of worship the one whom they had recently honored as a man.

21 And this proved an ambush for man's life, Because men in bondage to misfortune or royal authority Clothed stick and stones with the Name that cannot be shared with others.

22 And then it was not enough for them to go astray about the knowledge of God, But though living in a great war of ignorance, They call such evils peace.

23 For neither while they murder children in their rites nor celebrate secret mysteries, Nor hold frenzied revels with alien laws

24 Do they keep their lives or marriages pure, But one man waylays another and kills him, or grieves him by adultery.

25 And it is all a confusion of blood and murder, theft and fraud, Depravity, faithlessness, discord, perjury,

26 Clamor at the good, forgetfulness of favors, Defilement of souls, confusion of sex, Irregularity in marriage, adultery, and indecency.

27 For the worship of the unspeakable idols Is the beginning and cause and end of every evil.

28 For they either rejoice in madness, or prophesy falsely, Or live unrighteously, or readily forswear themselves.

29 For since they believe in lifeless idols, They do not expect to be harmed for swearing wickedly.

30 But justice will overtake them for both matters, Because they thought wickedly of God and gave heed to idols, And because they swore unrighteously to deceive, in disregard of holiness.

31 For it is not the power of the gods men swear by, But the penalty of those who sin That always pursues the transgression of the unrighteous.

But you, our God, are kind and true, 15
You are long-suffering, and govern everything in mercy.
For even if we sin, we are yours, and 2 know your might;
But we will not sin, for we know that we are accounted yours.
For to know you is perfect upright- 3
ness,
And to recognize your might is the root of immortality.
For no artful device of men has led us 4
astray,
Nor the fruitless labor of scene-painters,
A figure smeared with varied colors,
The appearance of which leads to 5 desire in fools,
And they long for the lifeless form of a dead image.
Lovers of evil and deserving of such 6 hopes
Are those who make them and those who feel desire for them and those who worship them.
For a potter, molding the soft earth, 7
Laboriously shapes each object for our use;
Why, from the same clay he forms Dishes to serve clean purposes, And those of the opposite kind, all alike;
But of what use shall be made of either,
The potter is the judge.
And with misdirected toil he shapes 8
a futile god out of the same clay,
And having shortly before sprung from the earth,
After a little goes to that from which he was taken,
When he is called upon to return the soul that was lent him.
But he is concerned, not because he 9 will grow tired,
Nor because his life is short,
But he competes with gold- and silversmiths,
And copies those who mold brass, And thinks it a glory that he can form counterfeits.
His heart is ashes, and his hope 10 cheaper than dirt,
And his life more worthless than clay,
For he has not recognized the one who 11
formed him,
And inspired him with an active soul,
And breathed into him the breath of life.

- 12 But they consider our existence play,
And life a lucrative fair,
For, they say, one must make money any way one can, even by evil.
- 13 For this man knows better than all others that he sins, Producing from earthy material fragile dishes and carved images.
- 14 But most foolish, and more wretched than a baby's soul,
Are all those enemies of your people,
who oppress them,
- 15 For they consider all the idols of the heathen gods,
Which can neither use eyes to see with,
Nor noses to inhale the air,
Nor ears to hear with,
Nor fingers on their hands to feel with,
And their feet are of no use to walk on.
- 16 For a man made them,
And one whose own spirit is borrowed
formed them;
For no man can form a god like him;
with his lawless hands is dead;
For he is better than the things he worships,
For of the two, he has life, but they never had it.
- 18 Why, they worship even the most hateful animals;
For by comparison, they are worse than the other animals in their lack of intelligence;
- 19 Nor are they in their appearance as animals so beautiful as to be desired,
But they have escaped both the praise of God and his blessing.
- 16 Therefore they were punished as they deserved, by similar animals,
And tormented with a multitude of vermin.
- 2 And instead of this punishment, you benefited your people,
And to satisfy the desire of their appetite, you prepared something with a strange taste—
Quails for food,
- 3 So that those others, when they desired food,
Because of the hideousness of the things sent among them,
Should lose even the smallest appetite,
While they, after being in want for a little while,
Should partake of something with a strange taste.
- 4 For it was necessary that an unescapable want should come upon those others for their tyrannical behavior,

But these should only be shown how their enemies were tormented.
For when the terrible fury of wild animals came upon them,
And they were perishing by the bites of wriggling snakes,
Your wrath did not continue to the uttermost,
But they were harassed for a little while to admonish them,
For they had a token of preservation to remind them of the commandment of your law;
For the one who turned toward it was saved not because of what he saw,
But because of you, who are the preserver of all.
And by this you persuaded our
enemies
That you are the one who saves from every evil.
For they were killed by the bites of locusts and flies,
And no cure was found for their life,
For they deserved to be punished by such means.
But not even the teeth of venomous serpents could overcome your sons,
For your mercy came to help them and healed them.
For it was to remind them of your oracles that they were stung,
And they were quickly delivered,
To keep them from falling into deep forgetfulness
And becoming sundered from your kindness.
For it was no plant or plaster that cured them,
But your word, Lord, that heals all
men.
For you have power over life and
death,
And you take men down to the gates of Hades and bring them up
again.
A man may kill in his wickedness,
But the spirit once it is gone out he cannot bring back,
Nor can he release the imprisoned
soul.
But it is impossible to escape your
hand,
For ungodly men, refusing to know
you,

Were flogged with the strength of your arm, Pursued by unusual rains and hailstorms and relentless showers,
 And utterly consumed by fire.
 17 For, strangest of all, on the water,
 which quenches everything,
 The fire had the greater effect,
 For the universe is the champion of the upright;
 18 For now the flame was quieted,
 So that it should not burn up the animals sent against the ungodly,
 But that they, when they saw it, might recognize that they were pursued by the judgment of God; 19 And again it blazed up in the midst of the water, with more than fiery
 power,
 To destroy the products of an unrighteous land.
 20 Instead of these you gave your people
 angels' food,
 And untiringly supplied them with bread from heaven, ready to eat, Strong in all enjoyment and suited to every taste;
 21 For your support manifested your sweetness toward your children, And the bread, responding to the desire of the man that took it, Was changed to what each one desired.
 22 But snow and ice endured fire without melting,
 So that they should know that fire was destroying the crops of their enemies,
 Blazing in the hail,
 And flashing in the rain;
 23 And that this again, in order that upright men might be fed,
 Had forgotten its power.
 For creation, serving you who made
 it, 24 Strains against the unrighteous, to punish them,
 But relaxes on behalf of those who trust in you, to benefit them.
 25 Therefore even then, assuming all forms,
 It served your all-sustaining bounty,
 In response to the desire of those who were in need, 26 So that your sons, whom you have loved, Lord, might learn That it is not the production of the crops that supports man,

But that it is your word that preserves
 those who believe in you.
 For what the fire could not destroy 27 Melted away when it was simply warmed by a fleeting sunbeam,
 So that it might be known that we 28 must rise before the sun to give you thanks,
 And appeal to you at the rising of the light.
 For the unthankful man's hope will 29
 melt like the wintry hoarfrost,
 And run off like useless water.
 For your judgments are great and 17
 hard to set forth;
 Therefore uninstructed souls went astray.
 For when lawless men thought they 2 were oppressing a holy nation
 They lay shut up under their roofs, exiled from the eternal providence,
 Prisoners of darkness and captives of the long night.
 For when they thought they were 3 hidden in their secret sins
 By a dark veil of forgetfulness,
 They were scattered, terribly frightened,
 And appalled by specters.
 For even the inner chamber that held 4 them did not protect them from fear,
 But appalling sounds rang around
 them,
 And somber ghosts appeared, with gloomy faces.
 And no fire was strong enough to suc- 5
 ceed in giving them light, Nor could the bright flames of the stars Undertake to illumine that hateful night.
 Only there shone on them 6
 A fearful flame, of itself,
 And though dreadfully frightened at that sight when it could not be seen,
 They thought the things they beheld still worse.
 And the delusions of magic art were 7
 prostrate,
 And their boasted wisdom suffered a contemptuous rebuke,
 For those who claimed to drive away 8 fears and troubles from sick souls Were sick themselves with ridiculous fear.

- 9 For if nothing alarming frightened them,
Yet scared by the creeping of vermin and the hissing of reptiles
- 10 They died of fright,
Refusing even to look upon the air,
which could not be escaped on any side.
- 11 For wickedness is a cowardly thing, condemned by a witness of its own,
And being distressed by conscience,
has always exaggerated hardships;
- 12 For fear is nothing but the giving up of the reinforcements that come from reason,
- 13 And as the expectation of them from within is deficient, It reckons its ignorance worse than the cause of the torment.
- 14 But they, all through the night,
which was really powerless,
And came upon them from the recesses of a powerless Hades, Sleeping the same sleep,
- 15 Were now driven by monstrous phantoms,
And now paralyzed by their soul's surrender;
For they were drenched in sudden,
unlooked-for fear.
- 16 Then whoever was there fell down
And so was shut up and guarded in a prison not made of iron;
- 17 For whether a man was a farmer or a shepherd,
Or a laborer whose work was in a
wilderness,
He was overtaken and suffered the unavoidable fate,
For they were all bound with one chain of darkness.
- 18 Whether there was a whistling wind,
Or a melodious sound of birds in spreading branches,
Or the regular noise of rushing water,
- 19 Or a harsh crashing of rocks thrown
down,
Or the unseen running of bounding animals,
Or the sound of the most savage wild beasts roaring,
Or an echo thrown back from a hollow
in the mountains,
It paralyzed them with terror.
- 20 For the whole world was bathed in bright light,
And occupied in unhindered work;

Only over them was spread a heavy
night,
A picture of the darkness that was to receive them.
But heavier than the darkness were they to themselves.
But your holy ones enjoyed a very great light;
And the others, hearing their voices
but not seeing their forms, Thought them happy, because they had not suffered,
But they were thankful because the others, though they had before been wronged, did not hurt them.
And prayed to be separated from them.
Therefore you provided a blazing pillar
As guide on their unknown journey,
And an unarmful sun for their honorable exile.
For they deserved to be deprived of light and imprisoned in darkness
Who had kept your sons shut up, Through whom the imperishable light of the Law was to be given to the world.
When they plotted to kill the babies
of the holy ones,
Though one child had been exposed and saved,
To rebuke them you took from them a multitude of their children, And destroyed them all together in a mighty flood.
That night was made known to our forefathers beforehand,
So that they should know certainly what oaths they had believed, and rejoice.
The preservation of the upright and the destruction of their enemies
Were expected by your people;
For in punishing their adversaries,
You called us to you and glorified us.
For in secret the holy children of good men offered the sacrifice,
And with one accord agreed to the divine law,
That they should share alike
The same blessings and dangers,
And were already beginning to sing
the praises of their forefathers,
When there echoed back the discordant shout of their enemies,
And the piteous sound of lamentation for children spread abroad;
But slave was punished with master,
with the same penalty,

- And the commoner suffered the same as the king,
- 12 And all of them together under one form of death
Had countless corpses.
For those who were alive were not even enough to bury them,
For in one instant their most valued children were destroyed.
- 13 For though they disbelieved everything because of their enchant-
ments,
When the first-born were destroyed, they acknowledged that the people was God's son.
- 14 For when gentle silence enveloped
everything,
And night was midway of her swift course,
- 15 Your all-powerful word leaped from heaven, from the royal throne,
A stern warrior, into the midst of the doomed land,
- 16 Carrying for a sharp sword your un-disguised command,
And stood still, and filled all things with death,
And touched heaven but walked upon
the earth.
- 17 Then suddenly apparitions in dreadful dreams startled them,
And unlooked-for fears assailed them,
- 18 And one thrown here half-dead, another there,
Showed why they were dying,
- 19 For the dreams that had alarmed them warned them of it, So that they should not perish without knowing why they suffered.
- 20 But the experience of death affected the upright also,
And a multitude were destroyed in the desert.
But the wrath did not continue long.
- 21 For a blameless man hurried to fight in their defense,
Bringing the great shield of his ministering,
Prayer and the propitiation of incense;
He withstood that wrath and put an end to the disaster, Showing that he was a servant of
yours;
- 22 But he overcame that anger not by bodily strength,
Nor by force of arms,
But by his word he subdued the chastiser,
When he appealed to the oaths and agreements given to the forefathers.
- For when the dead had already fallen 23
on one another in heaps,
He stood between and cut the wrath short
And cut off its way to the living.
For on his long robe was the whole 24
world,
And the glories of the forefathers were in the carving of the four rows of stones,
And your majesty was on the diadem upon his head.
Before these the destroyer gave way, 25
and these he feared,
For that experience of wrath was enough by itself.
- But, on the ungodly, pitiless anger 19
came to the uttermost,
For he knew their future also before-
hand,
That after permitting them to go 2
away,
And sending them off in haste,
They would change their minds and pursue them.
For while they were still busy with 3
their mourning,
And were lamenting beside the graves of the dead,
They involved themselves in another foolish design,
And pursued as runaways those whom they had driven out with entreaties.
For the fate they deserved dragged 4 them on to this end,
And made them forget what had happened,
So that they should make up the punishment that their torments lacked,
And your people should experience an 5 incredible journey,
While they themselves should find a strange death.
For the whole creation in its own kind 6
was reshaped anew,
In obedience to your commands,
So that your servants might be protected unharmed.
- The cloud was seen that over- 7
shadowed the camp,
And the emergence of dry land where water had stood before,
An unobstructed road out of the Red
Sea,

- And a grassy plain out of the raging billow;
- 8 Through which those who were protected by your hand passed over as a nation,
Witnessing marvelous portents.
- 9 For they ranged like horses
And skipped like lambs,
Praising you, Lord, who had delivered them.
- 10 For they still remembered the things in their sojourning,
How instead of the birth of animals the earth brought forth gnats,
And instead of aquatic creatures the river vomited up a host of frogs.
- 11 But later they saw a new production of birds also,
When moved by appetite they asked for delicacies;
- 12 For quails came up from the sea to their relief.
- 13 And those punishments came upon the sinners
Not without premonitory signs, in the violence of the thunders;
For they suffered justly through their own wickedness,
For they exhibited a more bitter hatred of strangers.
- 14 For some would not receive men who did not know them, when they came to them,
But these men made slaves of strangers who showed them kindness.
- 15 And not only so, but those others shall have some consideration,
For the men they received with such hostility were aliens;

But these men, though they had welcomed them with feasting,
Afflicted those who had already shared the same rights with them, with dreadful labors.
And they were stricken with loss of sight too,
Like those others, at the upright man's door,
When, surrounded with yawning darkness,
Each one sought the way through his own doors.
For the elements changed in order with one another,
Just as on a harp the notes vary the character of the time,
Yet keep the pitch,
As one may accurately infer from the observation of what happened;
For land animals were turned into water creatures,
And swimming things changed to the land;
Fire retained its power in water,
And water forgot its quenching property.
Contrariwise, flames did not wither the flesh
Of perishable animals that walked about among them,
Nor was the easily melting ice-like kind of immortal food melted.
For in everything, you, Lord, magnified and glorified your people,
And you did not neglect them, but stood by them at every time and place.

THE WISDOM OF SIRACH

- 1 ALL wisdom comes from the Lord,
 And remains with him forever.
2 The sand of the seas, and the drops of rain,
 And the days of eternity—who can count them?
3 The height of the heavens, and the breadth of the earth,
 And the deep, and wisdom—who can track them out?
4 Wisdom was created before them all,
 And sound intelligence from eternity.
6 To whom has the source of wisdom been revealed?
 And who knows her devices?
8 There is but one who is wise, a very terrible one,
 Seated upon his throne;
9 The Lord himself created her;
 He saw her and counted her,
 And poured her out upon all he made;
10 Upon all mankind, as he chose to bestow her;
 But he supplied her liberally to those who loved him.
11 To fear the Lord is a glory and a ground of exultation;
 A joy, and a crown of ecstasy.
12 To fear the Lord delights the heart,
 And brings gladness and joy and long life.
13 The man who fears the Lord will have a happy end,
 And be blessed in the day of his death.
14 To fear the Lord is the source of wisdom,
 And she was created with the faithful in the womb.
15 She has built her nest among men as a foundation from eternity,
 And among their posterity she will be held in trust.
16 To fear the Lord is to be satisfied with wisdom,
 For she intoxicates them with her fruits.
17 She will fill all their houses with desirable things,
 And their storehouses with her produce;
18 To fear the Lord is a crown of wisdom, Making peace and healing health flourish.
 He beheld her and counted her;
 He rained down understanding and 19
 sound knowledge,
 And increased the glory of those who possessed her.
 To fear the Lord is the root of wisdom, 20
 And her branches are long life.
 Unrighteous anger can never be 22
 excused,
 For the weight of a man's anger drags
 him down.
 A patient man will control himself for 23
 a while,
 And afterward joy will break out.
 He will repress his words for a time, 24
 And the lips of many will tell of his understanding.
 In the storehouses of wisdom there are 25
 wise proverbs,
 But godliness is a detestation to the irreligious.
 If you desire wisdom, keep the com- 26
 mandments,
 And the Lord will supply you with her liberally.
 For to fear the Lord is wisdom and 27
 education,
 And faith and meekness win his approval.
 Do not disobey the fear of the Lord, 28
 And do not approach it with a divided
 heart.
 Do not be a hypocrite in the mouths 29
 of men,
 And take heed to your own lips.
 Do not exalt yourself, or you may fall, 30
 And bring disgrace upon yourself;
 And the Lord will reveal your secrets
 And prostrate you before all the congregation,
 Because you did not come to the fear
 of the Lord,
 But your heart was full of deceit.
 My child, if you come to serve the 2
 Lord,
 Prepare yourself to be tried.
 Set your heart right and be firm, 3
 And do not be hasty when things go
 against you;

- 3 Hold fast to him, and do not forsake him,
So that you may be honored when your life ends.
- 4 Accept whatever happens to you,
And be patient in humiliating vicissitudes.
- 5 For gold is tested with fire,
And men who are approved must be tested in the furnace of humiliation.
- 6 Have faith in him, and he will help you;
Make your ways straight, and put your hope in him.
- 7 You who fear the Lord, wait for his mercy,
And do not turn aside, or you will fall.
- 8 You who fear the Lord, have faith in him,
And you will not lose your reward.
- 9 You who fear the Lord, hope for his blessings,
And for everlasting joy and mercy.
- 10 Look at the generations of antiquity and see,
Who that put his trust in the Lord was ever put to shame?
Or who that continued to fear him was ever forsaken?
Or who that called upon him was overlooked by him?
- 11 For the Lord is merciful and has pity,
And forgives sins and delivers in times of affliction.
- 12 Alas for cowardly hearts and palsied hands!
And for a sinner who follows two paths!
- 13 Alas for a faint heart, for it does not believe;
Therefore it will not be protected.
- 14 Alas for you, who have lost your steadfastness!
What will you do when the Lord visits you?
- 15 Those who fear the Lord will not disobey his words,
And those who love him will keep his ways.
- 16 Those who fear the Lord will seek his favor,
And those who love him will be filled with the Law.
- 17 Those who fear the Lord will prepare their hearts,
And will humble their souls before him.
- 18 "Let us fall into the Lord's hands,

And not into the hands of men."

For as his majesty is,
So is his mercy also.

Listen to me, your father, children,
And act in such a way that you may be preserved.

For the Lord has glorified the father above his children,
And he has established the rights of the mother over her sons.

He who provides for his father atones for his sins,

And he who shows his mother honor is like a man who lays up treasure.

He who provides for his father will be gladdened by his children,

And will be heard on the day that he prays.

He who shows his father honor will have a long life,

And he who listens to the Lord will refresh his mother,

And will serve his parents as his masters.

Honor your father in word and deed,
So that his blessing may attend you.

For a father's blessing establishes the houses of his children,

But a mother's curse uproots their foundations.

Do not glorify yourself by dishonoring your father,

For your father's disgrace is no glory to you.

For a man's glory arises from honoring his father,

And a neglected mother is a reproach to her children.

My child, help your father in his old age,

And do not grieve him, as long as he lives.

If his understanding fails, be considerate,

And do not humiliate him, when you are in all your strength.

Charity given to a father will not be forgotten,

And will build you up a further atonement for your sins.

When you are in trouble, you will be remembered;

Like frost in sunshine your sins will melt away.

He who deserts his father is like a blasphemer,

And he who angers his mother is cursed by the Lord.

- 17 My child, carry on your business in humility,
And you will be loved by men whom God accepts.
- 18 The greater you are, the more you must practice humility,
And you will find favor with the Lord.
- 20 For the Lord's power is great,
And he is glorified by the humble-minded.
- 21 Do not seek for what is too hard for
you,
And do not investigate what is beyond
your strength;
- 22 Think of the commands that have been given you,
For you have no need of the things that are hidden.
- 23 Do not waste your labor on what is superfluous to your work,
For things beyond man's understanding have been shown you.
- 24 For many have been led astray by their imagination,
And a wicked fancy has made their minds slip.
- 26 It will go hard with an obstinate heart at the end,
And the man who loves danger will perish through it.
- 27 An obstinate heart will be loaded with
troubles,
And the irreligious man will add one sin to another.
- 28 There is no cure for the misfortune of the proud,
For a wicked plant has taken root in
him.
- 29 An intelligent man's mind can understand a proverb;
And a wise man desires a listening ear.
- 30 As water will quench a blazing fire,
So charity will atone for sin.
- 31 He who returns favors is remembered afterward,
And when he totters, he will find a support.
- 4 My child, do not defraud the poor man of his living,
And do not make the eyes of the needy wait.
Do not pain a hungry heart,
- 2 And do not anger a man who is in want.
- 3 Do not increase the troubles of a mind that is incensed,
And do not put off giving to a man who is in need.
- Do not refuse a suppliant in his trouble,
And do not avert your face from the poor.
- Do not turn your eyes away from a beggar,
And do not give anyone cause to curse you,
For if he curses you in the bitterness of his spirit,
His creator will hear his prayer.
Make yourself beloved in the congregation,
And bow your head to a great personage;
- Listen to what a poor man has to say,
And give him a peaceful and gentle answer.
- Rescue a man who is being wronged from the hand of the wrongdoer,
And do not be faint-hearted about giving your judgment.
- Be like a father to the fatherless,
And take the place of a husband to their mother.
Then you will be like a son of the Most High,
And he will show you more than a mother's love.
- Wisdom makes her sons exalted,
And lays hold of those who seek her.
Whoever loves her loves life,
And those who seek her early will be filled with joy.
- Whoever holds her fast will win glory;
The Lord will bless every house he enters.
- Those who serve her serve the Holy
One,
And the Lord loves those who love her.
Whoever obeys her will judge the heathen,
And whoever attends to her will dwell
in security.
- If he trusts in her, he will possess her,
And his descendants will retain possession of her.
- For at first she will go with him in devious ways,
She will bring fear and cowardice
upon him,
And torment him with her discipline,
Until she can trust in his soul,
And test him with her judgments.
Then she will come straight back to him again, and make him glad,
And reveal her secrets to him.
If he wanders off, she will forsake
him,

- And hand him over to his downfall.
 20 Watch your opportunity and guard against evil,
 And do not have to feel shame for your soul.
 21 For there is a shame that brings sin,
 And there is a shame that is glory and favor.
 22 Show regard for no one at the expense of your soul,
 And respect no one, to your own downfall.
 23 Do not refrain from speaking when it is needed;
 For wisdom is known through speech,
 24 And instruction through the spoken word.
 25 Do not contradict the truth,
 But feel shame for your want of education.
 26 Do not be ashamed to confess your sins,
 And do not try to force back the current of a river.
 27 Do not make yourself a bed for a fool,
 And do not show partiality for a ruler;
 28 Contend for the truth to the death,
 And the Lord will fight for you.
 29 Do not be rash in speech,
 But slothful and slack in action.
 30 Do not be like a lion at home,
 And unreasonable with your servants.
 31 Do not stretch your hand out to receive,
 But close it when you should repay.
 5 Do not set your heart on your money,
 And do not say, "It is enough for me."
 2 Do not follow your soul and your strength
 And pursue the desires of your heart.
 3 Do not say, "Who can have power over me?"
 For the Lord will certainly take vengeance.
 4 Do not say, "I sinned, and what happened to me?"
 For the Lord is long-suffering.
 5 As for atonement, do not be unafraid
 To add one sin to another,
 6 And do not say, "His mercy is great,
 He will make atonement for the multitude of my sins."
 For mercy and wrath are both with him,
 And his anger will rest upon sinners,
 7 Do not put off turning to the Lord,
 And do not postpone it from day to day;

- For the Lord's wrath will suddenly come forth,
 And in the time of vengeance you will perish.
 Do not set your heart on unrighteous gain,
 For it will be of no benefit to you in the time of misfortune.
 Do not winnow in every wind,
 And do not follow every path;
 That is what the deceitful sinner does.
 Be steadfast in your understanding,
 And let what you say be one.
 Be quick to hear,
 And make your reply with patience.
 If you possess understanding, answer your neighbor,
 But if you do not have it, keep your hand over your mouth!
 Both glory and disgrace come from speaking,
 And a man's tongue is his downfall.
 Do not be known as a whisperer,
 And do not set an ambush with your tongue,
 For shame rests upon the thief,
 And evil condemnation on the double-tongued.
 Do not be ignorant in great matters or in small,
 And do not prove an enemy instead of a friend;
 For an evil name incurs disgrace and reproach;
 So does a sinner who is double-tongued.
 Do not exalt yourself in your soul's designs,
 So that your soul may not be torn in pieces like a bull;
 If you eat up your leaves, you will destroy your fruit,
 And leave yourself like a dried-up tree.
 A wicked heart will destroy its possessor,
 And fill his enemies with malignant joy.
 Sweet speech makes many friends,
 And a polite tongue multiplies courtesy.
 Let those who are at peace with you be many,
 But let your advisers be one in a thousand.
 If you make a friend, make one only after testing him,
 And do not be in a hurry to confide in him.
 There are friends who are so when it suits their convenience,

- Who will not stand by you when you are in trouble.
- 9 And there are friends who turn into enemies,
And reveal quarrels to your discredit.
- 10 And there are friends who will sit at your table,
But will not stand by you when you are in trouble.
- 11 They will make themselves at home, as long as you are prosperous,
And will give orders to your servants;
- 12 If you come down in the world, they will take sides against you,
And hide themselves from your presence.
- 13 Separate yourself from your enemies,
And beware of your friends.
- 14 A faithful friend is a strong protection;
A man who has found one has found a treasure.
- 15 A faithful friend is beyond price,
And his value cannot be weighed.
- 16 A faithful friend is a life-giving medicine,
And those who fear the Lord will find it.
- 17 The man who fears the Lord will make genuine friendships,
For to him his neighbor is like himself.
- 18 My child, from your youth up cultivate education,
And you will keep on finding wisdom until you are gray.
- 19 Approach her like a man who plows and sows,
And wait for her abundant crops.
For in cultivating her, you will toil but little,
And soon you will eat her produce.
- 20 She seems very harsh, to the undisciplined,
And a thoughtless man cannot abide her.
- 21 She will rest on him like a great stone to test him,
And he will not delay to throw her off.
- 22 For wisdom is what her name implies,
And to most men she is invisible.
- 23 Listen, my child, and accept my opinion,
And do not refuse my advice.
- 24 Put your feet into her fetters,
And your neck into her collar.
- 25 Put your shoulder under her and carry her,
And do not weary of her chains;
- 26 Come to her with all your heart,
And follow her ways with all your might.
- Inquire and search, and she will be made known to you,
And when you have grasped her, do not let her go.
- For at last you will find the rest she gives,
And you will find her turning into gladness.
- Her fetters will become your strong defense,
And her collars a splendid robe.
She wears gold ornaments,
And her chains are purple thread;
You will put her on like a splendid robe,
And put her on your head like a victor's wreath.
- My child, if you wish, you can be educated,
And if you devote yourself to it, you can become shrewd.
- If you love to hear, you will receive,
And if you listen, you will be wise.
Take your stand in the throng of elders;
Which of them is wise? Attach yourself to him.
- Be willing to listen to every godly discourse,
And do not let any wise proverbs escape you.
- If you see a man of understanding, go to him early,
And let your feet wear out his doorstep.
- Think about the statutes of the Lord,
And constantly meditate on his commandments.
- He will strengthen your mind,
And the wisdom you desire will be given you.
- Do no evil, and evil will not overtake you.
- Avoid what is wrong, and it will turn away from you.
- My son, do not sow among the furrows of iniquity,
And you will not reap them seven fold.
- Do not ask the Lord for pre-eminence,
Or the king for a seat of honor.
Do not justify yourself in the sight of the Lord,
Or show off your wisdom before the king;
- Do not seek to be made a judge,
Or you may not be able to put down wrongdoing;

- Or you may show partiality to a man of influence,
And put a stumbling block in the way of your own uprightness.
- 7 Do not sin against the multitude of the city,
And do not throw yourself down in the throng.
- 8 Do not repeat a sin,
For with even one offense you are not innocent.
- 9 Do not say, "He will consider the number of my offerings,
And when I sacrifice to the Most High God, he will accept it."
- 10 Do not be discouraged about your prayers,
And do not fail to give to charity.
- 11 Do not laugh at a man when he is in bitterness of spirit;
For there is one who can humble and can exalt!
- 12 Do not sow a lie against your brother,
Or do such a thing to your friend.
- 13 Do not consent to utter any lie,
For the practice of it is not beneficial.
- 14 Do not indulge in idle talk in the throng of elders,
And do not repeat yourself when you pray.
- 15 Do not hate hard work,
Or farming, which was created by the Most High.
- 16 Do not be counted in the crowd of sinners;
Remember that wrath will not delay.
- 17 Humble your heart exceedingly,
For fire and worms are the punishment of the ungodly.
- 18 Do not exchange a friend for an advantage,
Or a real brother for the gold of Ophir.
- 19 Do not fail a wise, good wife,
For her favor is worth more than gold.
- 20 Do not ill-treat a servant who does his work faithfully,
Or a hired man who is devoting his life to you.
- 21 Let your soul love an intelligent servant;
Do not defraud him of his freedom.
- 22 If you have cattle, look after them,
And if they are profitable to you, keep them.
- 23 If you have children, discipline them,
And from their youth up bend their necks.
- 24 If you have daughters, look after their persons,

And do not look too favorably upon them.

If you give your daughter in marriage, 20
you will have done a great thing,
But bestow her on a man of understanding.

If you have a wife after your own 20
heart, do not cast her out,
But do not trust yourself to one whom you hate.

Honor your father with your whole 20
heart,
And do not forget the pangs of your mother.

Remember that it was of them you 20 were born,
And how can you requite them for what they have done for you?

Honor the Lord with all your soul, 20
And revere his priests.
Love him who made you with all your strength,
And do not forsake his ministers.

Fear the Lord and honor the priest,
And give him his portion, as you were commanded,
The first fruits, and the sin offering,
and the gift of the shoulders,
And the sacrifice of consecration, and the first fruits of holy things.

Stretch out your hand to the poor 20
also,
That your blessing may be accomplished.

A present pleases every man alive, 20
And in the case of the dead, do not withhold your kindness.

Do not be wanting to those who weep, 20
But mourn with those who mourn.
Do not hesitate to visit a man who is sick,
For you will be loved for such acts.

In all that you say remember your 20
end,
And you will never commit a sin.
Do not quarrel with a powerful man,
Or you may fall into his hands.
Do not contend with a rich man,
Or he may outweigh you.

Gold has been the destruction of many,
And perverted the minds of kings.
Do not quarrel with a garrulous man,
And do not add fuel to the fire.
Do not make sport of an uneducated man,
Or you may dishonor your own forefathers.

- 5 Do not reproach a man when he turns from his sin;
Remember that we are all liable to punishment.
- 6 Do not treat a man with disrespect when he is old,
For some of us are growing old.
- 7 Do not exult over a man who is dead;
Remember that we are all going to die.
- 8 Do not neglect the discourse of wise men,
But busy yourself with their proverbs;
For from them you will gain instruction,
And learn to serve great men.
- 9 Do not miss the discourse of old men,
For they learned it from their fathers.
For from them you will gain understanding,
And learn to return an answer in your time of need.
- 10 Do not kindle the coals of a sinner,
Or you may be burned with the flame of his fire.
- 11 Do not start up before an insolent man,
So that he may not lie in ambush for what you say.
- 12 Do not lend to a man who is stronger than you,
Or if you do, act as though you had lost it.
- 13 Do not give surety beyond your means,
And if you give surety, regard it as something you will have to pay.
- 14 Do not go to law with a judge;
For in view of his dignity they will decide for him.
- 15 Do not travel with a reckless man,
So that he may not overburden you.
For he will do just as he pleases,
And you will perish through his folly.
- 16 Do not have a fight with a hot-tempered man,
And do not travel across the desert with him,
For bloodshed is as nothing in his eyes,
And where there is no help, he will strike you down.
- 17 Do not take counsel with a fool,
For he will not be able to keep the matter secret.
- 18 Do not do a secret thing before a stranger,
For you do not know what he will bring forth.
- Do not open your heart to every man, 19
And do not accept a favor from him.
Do not be jealous about the wife of 9
your bosom,
And do not teach her an evil lesson,
to your own hurt.
Do not give your soul to a woman, 2
So that she will trample on your strength.
Do not meet a prostitute, 3
Or you may fall into her snares.
Do not associate with a woman singer, 4
Or you may be caught by her wiles.
Do not look closely at a girl, 5
Or you may be entrapped in penalties on her account.
Do not give yourself to prostitutes, 6
So that you may not lose your inheritance.
Do not look around in the streets of 7
the city,
And do not wander about the unfrequented parts of it.
Avert your eyes from a beautiful 8
woman,
And do not look closely at beauty that belongs to someone else.
Many have been led astray by a woman's beauty,
And love is kindled by it like a fire.
Do not ever sit at table with a married 9
woman,
And do not feast and drink with her,
Or your heart may turn away to her,
And you may slip into spiritual ruin.
Do not forsake an old friend, 10
For a new one is not equal to him.
A new friend is new wine;
When it grows old, you will enjoy drinking it.
Do not envy the glory of a sinner; 11
For you do not know what disaster awaits him.
Do not share in the satisfaction of un- 12
godly men,
Remember that until death they will not be found upright.
Keep far from a man who has the 13
power of life and death,
And you will have no suspicion of the fear of death.
If you do approach him, do not offend him,
So that he may not take away your life.
Understand that you are striding along among traps,
And walking on the city battlements.

- 14 As far as you can, guess at your neighbors,
And take counsel with those who are wise.
- 15 Let your discussion be with men of understanding,
And all your discourse about the Law of the Most High.
- 16 Make upright men your companions at table,
And your exultation be over the fear of the Lord.
- 17 It is for the skill of the craftsmen that a piece of work is commended,
And a ruler of the people must be wise in what he says.
- 18 A talkative man is dreaded in his city,
And a man who is rash in speech is hated.
- 10 A wise judge will instruct his people,
And the rule of a man of understanding is well ordered.
- 2 Like the judge of a people are his officers,
And like the governor of a city are all who live in it.
- 3 An uneducated king ruins his people,
But a city becomes populous through the understanding of its rulers.
Authority over the earth is in the hands of the Lord,
- 4 And in due time he will set over it one who will serve his purpose.
- 5 A man's prosperity is in the hands of the Lord,
And he makes his glory rest on the person of the scribe.
- 6 Do not get angry with your neighbor for any misdeed,
And do not gain your end by acts of violence.
- 7 Pride is detested in the sight of the Lord and of men,
And injustice is wrong in the sight of both.
- 8 Sovereignty passes from one nation to another
Because of injustice and violence and greed for money.
Why are dust and ashes proud?
- 9 For while a man is still alive, his bowels decay;
- 10 There is a long illness—the doctor makes light of it;
A man is a king today, and dead tomorrow.
- 11 For when a man dies,
Reptiles, animals, and worms become his portion.
- A man begins to be proud when he departs from the Lord,
And his heart forsakes his Creator.
For pride begins with sin,
And the man who clings to it will rain down abominations.
For this reason, the Lord brings unheard-of calamities upon them,
And overturns them utterly.
The Lord tears down the thrones of rulers,
And seats the humble-minded in their places.
The Lord plucks up nations by the roots,
And plants the lowly in their places.
The Lord overturns heathen countries,
And destroys them down to the foundations of the earth.
He takes some of them away, and destroys them,
And makes the memory of them cease from the earth.
Pride was not created for men,
Nor fierce anger for those who are born of women.
What is an honorable posterity? A human posterity!
What is an honorable posterity? Men who fear the Lord.
What is a base posterity? A human posterity!
What is a base posterity? Men who break the commandments.
Among his brothers, their leader is honored,
And those who fear the Lord are honored in his eyes.
Rich, and distinguished, and poor alike—
Their glory is the fear of the Lord.
It is not right to slight a poor man who has understanding,
And it is not proper to honor a sinful man.
Prince, judge, and ruler are honored,
But none of them is greater than the man who fears the Lord.
Free men will wait on a wise servant,
And the intelligent man will not object.
Do not parade your wisdom when you are at work,
And do not commend yourself when you are in need;
It is better to work and have plenty of everything,
Than to go about commending yourself but in want of bread.

- 28 My child, glorify your soul with meekness,
And show it such honor as it deserves.
- 29 Who can justify a man who sins against his own soul?
And who can honor a man who disgraces his own life?
- 30 A poor man is honored for his knowledge,
And a rich man is honored for his wealth.
- 31 If a man is honored in poverty, how much more will he be in wealth?
And if a man is dishonored when he is rich, how much more will he be when he is poor?
- 1 The wisdom of a humble person will lift up his head,
And make him sit among the great.
- 2 Do not praise a man for his good looks,
And do not detest a man for his appearance.
- 3 The bee is one of the smallest of winged creatures,
But what she produces is the greatest of sweets.
- 4 Do not boast of the clothes you wear,
And do not be uplifted when you are honored,
For the works of the Lord are marvelous,
And his doings are hidden from men.
- 5 Many sovereigns have had to sit on the ground,
While a man who was never thought of has assumed the diadem.
- 6 Many rulers have been utterly disgraced,
And men of renown have been delivered into the hands of others,
- 7 Do not find fault before you investigate;
First understand, and then rebuke.
- 8 Do not answer before you hear,
And do not interrupt in the middle of what is being said.
- 9 Do not quarrel about a matter that does not concern you,
And when sinners judge, do not sit in council with them.
- 10 My child, do not busy yourself about many things.
If you multiply your activities, you will not be held guiltless,
And if you pursue, you will not overtake,
And you will not escape by running away.
- One man toils and labors and hurries, 11
And is all the worse off.
Another is slow, and needs help; 12
Lacks strength and has plenty of poverty,
Yet the eyes of the Lord look favorably on him,
And he lifts him up out of his low 13 position
And lifts up his head,
And many wonder at him.
Good and evil, life and death, 14
Poverty and wealth, are from the Lord,
What the Lord gives stays by the 17
godly,
And what he approves will always prosper.
One man grows rich by carefulness 18
and greed,
And this will be his reward:
When he says, "Now I can rest, 19
And enjoy my goods,"
He does not know when the time will come
When he will die and leave them to others.
Stand by your agreement, and at 20
tend to it,
And grow old in your work.
Do not wonder at the doings of the 21
sinner,
But trust in the Lord and stick to your work.
For it is easy in the Lord's eyes
Swiftly and suddenly to make a poor man rich.
The blessing of the Lord rests on the 22 wages of the godly;
And he quickly makes his blessing flourish.
Do not say, "What do I need, 23
And from this time on what can benefit me?"
Do not say, "I have enough, 24
And from this time on how can I be injured?"
In prosperity one forgets misfortune, 25
For it is easy in the Lord's sight when 26
a man dies
To repay him according to his ways.
An hour of hardship makes one forget 27 enjoyment,
And when a man dies, what he has done is disclosed.
Count no one happy before his death, 28
And a man will be known by his children.

- 29 Do not bring any and every man to your home,
For a treacherous man has many wiles.
- 30 A proud man's heart is like a decoy partridge in a cage,
And like a spy he looks for your downfall;
- 31 For he tries to entrap you, turning good into evil,
And he finds fault with your favorite things.
- 32 A spark of fire kindles a whole heap of coals,
And a sinful man lies in wait for blood.
- 33 Beware of an evil-doer, for he contrives wickedness,
Or he will bring blame on you forever.
- 34 If you entertain a stranger, he will disturb and torment you,
And he will estrange you from your home.
- 12 If you do a kindness, know to whom you are doing it,
And you will be thanked for your good deeds.
- 2 If you do a kindness to a godly man,
you will be repaid,
If not by him, yet by the Most High.
- 3 The man who persists in evil will not prosper,
Nor the man who will not give to charity.
- 4 Give to the godly man, and do not help the sinner;
- 5 Do kindnesses to the humble-minded,
and do not give to the ungodly;
Hold back his bread, and do not give it to him,
So that he may not come to control you with it;
For you will experience twice as much evil
For all the good you do him.
- 6 For the Most High hates sinners,
And will take vengeance on the ungodly.
- 7 Give to the good man, and do not help the sinner.
- 8 A friend cannot be proved in prosperity,
Nor an enemy concealed in adversity.
- 9 When a man prospers, his enemies are grieved,
And when he is unfortunate, even his friend separates from him.
- 10 Never trust your enemy,
- For his wickedness is like bronze that rusts;
Even if he acts humbly, and goes about bent over,
Look out for yourself, and be on your guard against him.
You must be to him like a man who wipes a mirror clean,
And you must make sure that it is not all covered with rust.
Do not place him at your side,
Or he may overthrow you and take your place.
Do not seat him at your right hand,
Or he may try to get your seat,
And you may at last learn the truth of what I say,
And be stung by my words.
Who pities a snake-charmer when he is bitten,
Or all those who have to do with wild animals?
In the same way you will pity a man who approaches a sinner,
And mingles with his sins?
He will stay with you for a while,
But if you fall, he will not hold out.
An enemy will speak sweetly with his lips,
But in his heart he will plan to throw you into a pit.
An enemy will shed tears with his eyes,
But if he gets a chance, he cannot get blood enough.
If misfortune overtakes you, you will find him there before you,
And while he is pretending to help you, he will trip you up.
He will shake his head, and clap his hands,
And whisper a great deal, and change his expression toward you.
The man who touches pitch will get his hands dirty,
And the man who associates with a proud person will become like him.
Do not lift a load that is too heavy for you,
And do not associate with a man stronger or richer than you are.
What relation can an earthen pot have with a kettle?
The kettle knocks against it, and it is broken in pieces.
When a rich man does a wrong, he adds a threat;

- When a poor man suffers a wrong, he must beg pardon.
- 4 If you can be useful, he makes you work for him,
And if you are in want, he abandons you.
- 5 As long as you have anything, he will live with you,
And will strip you bare, but he will feel no distress.
- 6 If he needs you, he will deceive you,
And smile upon you, and raise your hopes.
He will speak you fair and say, "Is there anything you need?"
- 7 He will shame you with his food,
Until he has impoverished you again and again,
And finally he will mock you.
Afterward when he sees you he will pass you by,
And shake his head at you.
- 8 Take care not to be misled,
And humbled through your own folly.
- 9 When a leading man invites you, be retiring,
And he will invite you all the more.
- 10 Do not press upon him, or you may be pushed away;
But do not stand too far off, or you may be forgotten.
- 11 Do not aim to speak to him as an equal,
But do not believe all he says;
For he will test you with much conversation,
And will examine you with a smile.
- 12 He who does not keep to himself what is said to him is unmerciful,
And will not hesitate to hurt and to bind.
- 13 Keep them to yourself, and take great care,
For you are walking with your own downfall.
- 15 Every creature loves its like,
And every man loves his neighbor.
- 16 All living beings gather with their own kind,
And a man associates with another like himself.
- 17 What companionship can a wolf have with a lamb?
Just as much as a sinner with a godly man.
- 18 What peace can there be between a hyena and a dog?
And what peace between a rich man and a poor one?
- Wild asses are the prey of lions in the 19 wilderness,
Just as the poor are pasture for the rich.
- Humility is detestable to the proud, 20
Just as a poor man is detestable to a rich one.
- When a rich man is shaken, he is 21 steadied by his friends,
But when a poor man falls down, his friends push him away.
- When a rich man falls, there are many 22 to help him;
He tells secrets, and they justify him.
When a humble man falls, they add reproaches.
- He speaks with understanding, but no place is made for him.
- When a rich man speaks, everyone 23 keeps silent,
And they extol what he says to the clouds.
- When a poor man speaks, they say, "Who is that?"
And if he stumbles, they will help to throw him down.
- Wealth is good if it carries with it no 24 sin,
And poverty is called evil by the ungodly.
- A man's disposition affects his ap- 25 pearance,
Both for good and for evil.
- A cheerful face is a sign of a happy 26 heart,
But it takes painstaking thought to compose proverbs!
- How happy is the man who makes no 14 slip with his mouth,
And is not stabbed with sorrow for his sins!
- Happy is the man whose heart does 2 not condemn him,
And who has not given up hope.
Wealth does not become a niggard- 3 ly man,
And what use is money to an envious man?
- The man who withholds from himself 4 amasses for others,
And others will enjoy his goods.
- If a man is evil to himself, to whom 5 will he be good?
For he will not take any pleasure in his own money.
- There is nobody worse than the man 6 who is grudging to himself,
And that is the penalty of his wickedness.

- 7 If he does any good, he does it through forgetfulness,
And shows his wickedness in the end.
- 8 He is a wicked man who has an envious eye,
Turning away his face, and pretending not to see human souls.
- 9 A covetous man's eye is never satisfied with what he gets,
And wicked injustice dries up the heart.
- 10 An evil eye begrudges bread,
And is in want of it at his own table.
- 11 My child, if you have any means, provide well for yourself,
And make suitable offerings to the Lord.
- 12 Remember that death will not delay,
And the agreement of Hades has not been shown to you.
- 13 Treat your friend well before you die,
And reach out and give to him as much as your strength permits.
- 14 Do not miss your time of prosperity,
And do not let the good fortune that you desire escape you.
- 15 Will you not leave the fruit of your labors to someone else,
And the result of your toil to be cast lots for?
- 16 Give and take, and deceive your soul,
For there is no looking for luxury in Hades.
- 17 Human life grows old like a cloak,
For from the beginning the decree has read, "You will surely die."
- 18 Like the thick leaves on a flourishing tree,
Which drops some and puts forth others,
Are the generations of flesh and blood;
One dies, and another is born;
- 19 Everything made will decay and disappear,
And the man who has made it will depart with it.
- 20 Happy is the man who meditates on wisdom,
Who reasons with his understanding;
- 21 Who considers her ways in his mind,
And reflects on her secrets;
(Go after her like a hunter And lie in wait by her ways!)
- 22 Who peers in at her windows,
And listens at her doorways;
- 24 Who lodges close to her house,
And fastens his pegs in her walls;
- 25 Who pitches his tent close beside her,
And finds comfortable lodgings;
- Who puts his children under her shelter,
And spends the night under her branches;
He will be sheltered by her from the heat,
And will lodge in her splendors.
The man who fears the Lord will do this,
And he who masters the Law will win her.
She will meet him like a mother,
And receive him like a bride.
She will feed him with the bread of understanding,
And give him the water of wisdom to drink;
He will lean on her, and not fall,
And will rely on her, and not be disappointed.
She will exalt him above his neighbors,
And open his mouth in the midst of the assembly;
He will find joy and a crown of gladness,
And possess eternal renown.
Men with no understanding will not win her,
And sinners will not see her.
She is far from pride,
And liars give no heed to her.
Praise is not becoming on the lips of a sinner,
For it was not sent him from the Lord.
For praise must be uttered in wisdom,
And the Lord will make it prosper.
Do not say, "It was because of the Lord that I fell away,"
For he will not do things that he hates.
Do not say, "It was he that led me astray,"
For he has no need of a sinner.
The Lord hates anything abominable;
And it is not loved by those who fear him.
It was he who made man in the beginning,
And left him in the hands of his own decision;
If you will, you can keep the commandments,
And acting faithfully rests on your own good pleasure.
He has set fire and water before you;
Stretch out your hand for whichever you wish.
Life and death are before a man,
And whichever he chooses will be given him.

- 18 For the wisdom of the Lord is great;
He is mighty in strength, and beholds all things.
- 19 His eyes rest on those who fear him,
And he knows everything man does.
- 20 He has not commanded anyone to be ungodly,
And he has given no one permission to sin.
- 10 Do not desire a multitude of unprofitable children,
Nor delight in ungodly sons.
- 2 If they multiply, do not rejoice in
them,
Unless the fear of the Lord is with
them.
- 3 Do not put your trust in their lives,
And do not rely on their number;
For one is better than a thousand,
And to die childless than to have children that are ungodly.
- 4 For from one man of understanding, a city will be peopled,
But a tribe of lawless men will be destroyed.
- 5 Many such things my eyes have
seen,
And mightier things than these my ears have heard.
- 6 In a gathering of sinners a fire is kindled,
And in a disobedient nation wrath
burns.
- 7 He did not forgive the giants of old,
Who rebelled in their strength;
- 8 He did not spare the people among whom Lot was living, Whom he detested for their pride.
- 9 He did not have mercy on the doomed
nation,
Who were dispossessed for their sins;
- 10 Or on the six hundred thousand men
on foot,
Who gathered against him in their obstinacy.
- 11 Why, if there is one stiff-necked
man,
It is a wonder if he goes unpunished;
For both mercy and wrath are with
him,
- 12 He is mighty in forgiveness, and yet pours out his wrath;
Great as is his mercy, so great is his correction also;
He will judge a man by his doings.
- 13 A sinner will not escape with his booty,
And the steadfastness of the godly man will not be disappointed.
- He will make room for all mercy, 14
Yet what every man receives will be governed by what he has done,
Do not say, "I will be hidden from 17
the Lord,
And on high who will remember me?
Among so many people I will not be noticed,
And what is my soul in a boundless creation?
Behold the heaven and the heaven of 18
heavens,
The abyss and the earth shake when he inspects them;
Yes, the mountains and the founda- 19
tions of the earth Shake and tremble when he looks at
them.
No mind can think about them, 20
And who can grasp his ways?
There are hurricanes which no man 21 sees,
And the most of his doings are done in secret.
Who can declare his upright deeds, 22 Or who can endure them? For his agreement is far from me."
A man who is wanting in understand- 23
ing thinks in this way,
And a senseless, misguided man has these foolish thoughts.
Listen to me, my child, and receive 24
instruction,
And apply your mind to what I say;
I will disclose instruction by weight, 25
And declare knowledge with exact-
ness.
When the Lord created his works in 26
the beginning,
After he made them, he fixed their several divisions.
He organized his works in a system 27
forever,
And their divisions for all their generations.
They do not grow hungry or tired,
And they do not stop working.
None of them crowds his neighbor 28
aside,
And they never disobey his command.
After that, the Lord looked at the 29
earth,
And filled it with his blessings.
He covered the face of it with every 30 living creature,
And to it they return.
The Lord created man out of the 17
ground,
And made him return to it again.

- 2 He set a limit to the number of their days,
And gave them dominion over what was on the earth.
- 3 He clothed them with strength like his own,
And made them in his own image.
- 4 He put fear of them in every living creature,
And made them masters of the wild animals and birds.
- 6 He gave them reason and speech and sight,
Hearing, and a mind for thought.
- 7 He filled them with the knowledge of understanding,
And showed them good and evil.
- 8 He put his eyesight in their minds
To show them the majesty of his works,
- 9 So that they would praise his holy name
And declare the majesty of his works.
- 11 He gave them knowledge also,
And gave them a law of life as an inheritance.
- 12 He made an everlasting agreement with them,
And showed them his decrees.
- 13 Their eyes saw his glorious majesty,
And their ears heard the glory of his voice.
- 14 He said to them, "Beware of anything that is wrong,"
And he gave everyone of them commands about his neighbor.
- 15 Their ways are always before him;
They cannot be hidden from his eyes.
- 17 For every nation he appointed a ruler,
But Israel is the Lord's own portion.
- 19 All their doings are as clear as the sun before him,
And his eyes rest continually upon their ways.
- 20 Their iniquities are not hidden from him,
And all their sins are before the Lord.
- 22 A man's charity is like a signet with him,
And a man's liberality he will preserve like the apple of his eye.
- 23 Afterward he will rise up and requite them,
And pay back their recompense upon their heads.
- 24 But to those who repent he has given a way to return,
And he encourages those whose endurance fails
- Turn to the Lord, and forsake your sins;
Offer a prayer before him, and lessen your offense.
- Draw near to the Most High, and turn away from iniquity,
And hate bitterly what he abhors.
Who will praise the Most High in Hades,
Compared with those who give him thanks while they still live?
Thanksgiving from the dead perishes as though he were not;
It is the man who is alive and well that should praise the Lord.
- How great is the mercy of the Lord,
And his forgiveness for those who turn to him!
For everything cannot exist in men,
For man is not immortal.
What is brighter than the sun? Yet it is eclipsed;
So flesh and blood devise evil.
He looks after the power of the very height of heaven,
But all men are only dust and ashes.
He who lives forever has created all things alike;
The Lord alone can be thought upright.
He has permitted no one to declare his works,
And who can track out his mighty deeds?
Who can compute the power of his majesty?
And who can in addition detail his mercies?
It is not possible to take from them or to add to them,
Or to track out the wonders of the Lord.
Where man ends, he begins,
And when man stops, will he be perplexed?
What is man, and of what use is he?
What is the good of him, and what is the evil?
The length of a man's days
Is great at a hundred years,
Like a drop of water from the sea, or a grain of sand,
Are a few years in the day of eternity.
Therefore the Lord has been patient with them,
And he has poured out his mercy upon them.
He sees and recognizes that their end is evil,

- So he increases his forgiveness.
 13 A man has mercy on his neighbor,
 But the mercy of the Lord is for all mankind,
 Reproving and training and teaching
 them,
 And bringing them back as a shepherd does his flock.
 14 On those who accept his training he has mercy;
 And on those who eagerly seek his decrees.
 15 My child, do not spoil your good
 deeds,
 Or when you make any gift cause pain by what you say.
 16 Does not the dew assuage the scorching heat?
 So a word is more potent than a gift.
 17 Why, is not a word better than a gift?
 Both mark the charitable man;
 18 A fool ungraciously abuses people,
 And a present from a grudging man makes one cry his eyes out.
 19 Learn before you speak,
 And take care of yourself before you get sick;
 20 Examine yourself before you are judged,
 And at the time of visitation you will find forgiveness.
 21 Humble yourself before you fall sick,
 And when you would sin, show repentance instead.
 22 Let nothing prevent you from paying your vows in time,
 And do not wait till you die to be justified.
 23 Prepare yourself before you make a vow,
 And do not be like a man who tests
 the Lord.
 24 Think of his wrath in later days,
 And the time of vengeance, when he turns away his face.
 25 Remember the time of famine in the time of plenty,
 Poverty and want in the days of wealth.
 26 Between morning and evening the situation changes,
 And it all passes swiftly in the sight
 of the Lord.
 27 A wise man is always reverent,
 And in days of sin he is careful not to offend;
 28 Every man of understanding recognizes wisdom,
 And will thank the man who finds her.
- Men skilled in the use of words com- 29
 pose cleverly themselves,
 And pour forth apt proverbs.
 Do not follow your impulses, 30
 But restrain your longings.
 If you give assent to the impulse of 31
 your heart,
 It will make you a laughingstock to your enemies.
 Do not indulge in too much luxury, 32
 Do not be tied to its expense.
 Do not be impoverished from feasting 33
 on borrowed money
 When you have nothing in your purse.
 A workman who is a drunkard will 19
 never get rich;
 The man who despises little things will gradually fail;
 Wine and women make men of under- 2
 standing stand aloof;
 And the man who is devoted to prostitutes is reckless.
 Worms and decay will eventually pos- 3
 sess him,
 And the rash soul will be destroyed.
 The man who trusts people quickly 4 is light-minded;
 And he who sins offends against his own soul.
 The man who is merry of heart will 5
 be condemned,
 And he who hates loquacity has the 6 less malice.
 If you never repeat what you are told, 7
 You will fare none the worse.
 Before friend or foe do not recount it, 8
 And unless it would be sinful of you, do not reveal it.
 For someone has heard you and 9 watched you,
 And when the time comes he will hate
 you.
 If you hear something said, let it die 10
 with you,
 Have courage, it will not make you burst!
 A fool to express a thought suffers 11
 such pangs
 As a woman in childbirth suffers to bear a child.
 Like an arrow sticking in the flesh of 12
 the thigh
 Is a word in the heart of a fool.
 Question a friend; perhaps he did 13
 not do it;
 Or if he did, so that he will not do it again.
 Question your neighbor; perhaps he 14
 did not say it;

- Or if he did, so that he may not repeat it.
- 15 Question a friend, for often there is slander,
And you must not believe everything that is said.
- 16 A man may make a slip without intending to—
Who has not sinned with his tongue?
- 17 Question your neighbor before you threaten him,
And leave room for the Law of the Most High.
- 20 The fear of the Lord is the sum of wisdom,
And in all wisdom the Law is fulfilled.
- 22 The knowledge of wickedness is not wisdom,
And where the counsel of sinners is, there is no understanding.
- 23 There is a cunning that is detestable,
And there is a foolish man who is only deficient in wisdom.
- 24 A man who is inferior in understanding but fears God is better Than one who abounds in prudence but transgresses the Law.
- 25 There is an exact kind of shrewdness that is wrong,
And there is a man who acts crookedly to gain a judgment.
- 26 There is a kind of villain that bends mournfully,
But inwardly is full of deceit.
- 27 He covers his face, and pretends to be deaf,
But when no one is looking, he will take advantage of you.
- 28 And though for lack of strength he may be prevented from sinning,
If he finds an opportunity, he will do you harm.
- 29 A man is known by his appearance,
And an intelligent man can be told by the expression of his face.
- 30 A man's clothes and a broad smile,
And the way he walks tell what he is.
- 20 There is a rebuke that is uncalled for,
And a time when the man who keeps silent is wise.
- 2 How much better it is to rebuke someone than to get angry,
For the man who makes full confession will be kept from failure.
- 4 Like a eunuch's craving to ravish a girl
Is the man who would do right by violence.
- One man keeps silence and is considered wise;
While another is hated for his loquacity.
- One man keeps silence because he has nothing to say;
And another keeps silence because he knows it is the time for it.
- A wise man will keep silence till his time comes,
But a boaster and a fool miss the fitting time.
- The man who talks excessively is detested,
And he who takes it on himself to speak is hated.
- There are advantages that come to a man in adversity,
And there are gains that result in loss.
- There are gifts that will do you no good,
And there are gifts that are returned double.
- There are humiliations for the sake of gaining glory,
And there are men who rise from low conditions.
- One man buys much for little,
And yet pays for it seven times over.
- A man who speaks wisely makes himself beloved;
But the pleasant speeches of fools are thrown away.
- A present from a fool will do you no good,
For his eyes are not one but many.
- He gives little but finds a great deal of fault,
And opens his mouth like a towncrier.
- He will lend today and ask it back tomorrow;
Such a man is hateful.
- The fool says, "I have not got a friend;
And I get no thanks for my good deeds."
- Those who eat his bread are evil-tongued;
How many will laugh at him, and how often!
- A slip on the ground is better than a slip of the tongue;
So the fall of the wicked will come quickly.
- A disagreeable man and an unseasonable story—
They will both be constantly on the lips of the uneducated.

- 20 A proverb on the lips of a fool will be refused,
For he will not utter it at the proper time.
- 21 One man is kept from sinning through poverty,
So his conscience does not prick him when he goes to rest.
- 22 Another loses his own life from sheer embarrassment,
And destroys it by his senseless expression.
- 23 Another out of embarrassment makes promises to his friend,
And so makes him his enemy for nothing.
- 24 A lie is a bad blot in a man;
It is continually found on the lips of the ignorant.
- 25 A thief is better than a habitual liar,
But they are both doomed to destruction.
- 26 Dishonor is habitual with a liar,
And his shame attends him continually.
- 27 A man who speaks wisely makes his way in the world,
And a man of good sense pleases the great.
- 28 The man who cultivates the soil makes his heap high,
And the man who pleases the great atones for wrongdoing.
- 29 Gifts and presents can blind the eyes of wise men,
And avert reproofs like a muzzle on the mouth.
- 30 Hidden wisdom and concealed treasure—
What is the use of either of them?
- 31 A man who conceals his folly is better Than a man who conceals his wisdom.
- 21 My child, if you have sinned, do not do it again,
And pray over your former sins.
- 2 Flee from sin as from the face of a snake;
For if you approach it, it will bite you.
Its teeth are lion's teeth,
And destroy the souls of men.
- 3 All iniquity is like a two-edged sword;
A blow from it cannot be healed.
- 4 Terror and violence lay waste riches;
So the house of a proud man will be laid waste.
- 5 The prayer from a poor man's mouth reaches his ears,
And his judgment comes speedily.
- 6 A man who hates reproof is walking in the sinner's steps,
But he who fears the Lord will turn to him in his heart.
- A man who is mighty in tongue is 7 known afar off,
But a thoughtful man knows when he slips.
- The man who builds his house with 6 other men's money
Is like one who gathers stones for winter.
- An assembly of wicked men is like 9 tow wrapped together;
For their end is a blazing fire.
The way of sinners is made smooth 10 with stones,
But at the end of it is the pit of Hades.
- The man who keeps the Law con- 11 trols his thoughts,
And wisdom is the consummation of the fear of the Lord.
- The man who is not shrewd will not be 12 instructed,
But there is a shrewdness that spreads bitterness.
- A wise man's knowledge abounds like 13 a flood,
And his counsel is like a living spring.
The heart of a fool is like a broken dish;
It will hold no knowledge. 14
- If a man of understanding hears a 15 wise saying,
He commends it, and adds to it;
A self-indulgent man hears it, and it displeases him,
And he throws it behind his back.
- The discourse of a fool is like a burden 16 on a journey;
But enjoyment is found on the lips of a man of understanding.
- The utterance of a sensible man will 17 be asked for in an assembly,
And what he says they will think over in their minds.
- To a fool wisdom is like a ruined 18 house,
And the knowledge of a man without understanding is words that will not bear investigation.
- To the foolish man, instruction is 19 fetters on his feet;
And handcuffs on his right hand.
A fool raises his voice when he laughs, 20
But a shrewd man will hardly even smile quietly.
- To a sensible man instruction is like a 21 gold ornament,
And like a bracelet on his right arm.

- 22 The foot of a fool is quick to enter a house,
But an experienced man waits respectfully before it.
- 23 A senseless person peeps into a house through the door,
But a cultivated man stands outside.
- 24 It is stupidity in a man to listen at a door;
But a man of sensibility it would overwhelm with disgrace.
- 25 The lips of strangers will talk of these things,
But the words of sensible men are weighed on the scales.
- 26 The minds of fools are in their mouths,
But the mouth of wise men is their mind.
- 27 When an ungodly man curses his adversary,
He curses his own soul.
- 28 A whisperer pollutes his own soul,
And will be hated in the neighborhood.
- 22 A slothful man is like a filthy stone,
And everybody hisses at his disgrace.
- 2 A slothful man is like the filth of a dunghill;
Anyone who picks it up shakes out his hand.
- 3 It is a disgrace to be the father of an ignorant son,
And to have a daughter is a disadvantage.
- 4 A sensible daughter will get a husband of her own,
But one who brings disgrace is a grief to her father.
- 5 She who is bold disgraces her father and her husband,
And will be despised by both.
- 6 Unseasonable talk is music in a time of mourning;
But blows and discipline in wisdom are always in order.
- 7 The man who teaches a fool is gluing a potsherd together,
Or rousing a sleeper out of a deep sleep.
- 8 The man who lectures to a fool lectures to one who is dozing,
And at the conclusion he will say, "What was it?"
- 11 Weep for one who is dead, for light has failed him;
And weep over a fool, for understanding has failed him.
Weep less bitterly over the dead, for he has gone to rest;

But the fool's life is worse than death.
The mourning for the dead lasts seven days,
But that for a fool or an ungodly man lasts all the days of his life.
Do not talk much with a senseless man,
Or go to see a man of no understanding;
Beware of him, or you may have trouble,
And do not be dirtied when he shakes himself.
Avoid him, and you will find rest,
And you will not be wearied by his senselessness.
What is heavier than lead?
What can you call it but Fool?
Sand and salt and a lump of iron
Are easier to bear than a man without understanding.
A wooden girder fastened in a building
Is not loosened by an earthquake;
So a mind established on well-considered thought
Will not be afraid in an emergency.
A mind fixed on understanding thought
Is like a plaster ornament on a smooth wall.
Fences set up in the air
Will not stand against the wind;
So a cowardly heart with foolish thoughts
Will not stand against any fear.
The man who pricks the eye makes tears fall,
And the man who pricks the heart makes it show feeling.
The man who throws a stone at the birds scares them away,
And the man who abuses a friend destroys a friendship.
Even if you draw the sword against your friend,
Do not despair, for there is a way to repent;
If you open your mouth against your friend,
Do not be afraid, for there is such a thing as reconciliation;
But when it comes to abuse and arrogance and telling a secret and a treacherous blow—
At such treatment any friend will take to flight.
Win your neighbor's confidence when he is poor,

So that when he prospers you may be filled likewise.
Stand by him in time of trouble,
So that you may share his inheritance with him.

14 The vapor and smoke from the furnace precede the fire;
So abuse precedes bloodshed.

25 I will not shrink from giving shelter to a friend,
And I will not hide myself from him,

26 And if misfortune overtakes me on his account
Everyone who hears of it will beware of him.

27 Who will set a guard over my mouth,
And put a skilful seal upon my lips,
So that I may not fall because of them,
And my tongue may not destroy me?

28 O Lord, Father and Master of my life,
Do not abandon me to their designs;
Do not let me fall because of them.

2 Who will set scourges over my mind,
And the discipline of wisdom over my heart,
So that they may not spare me for my errors of ignorance,
And it may not pass over my sins,

3 So that my acts of ignorance may not become numerous,
And my sins multiply,
And I fall before my adversaries,
And my enemy rejoice over me?

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life,
Do not give me roving eyes,
And avert evil desire from me;

6 Let not sensual appetite and intercourse master me,
And do not give me up to a shameless mind.

7 Listen, my children, to the discipline of the mouth,
For he who observes it will not be taken captive.

8 It is through his lips that the sinner is caught,
And the abusive and the proud are tripped up by them.

9 Do not accustom your mouth to an oath,
And do not form the habit of uttering the name of the Holy One;

10 For just as a servant who is constantly being questioned
Does not lack the marks of a blow,

11 So the man who constantly swears and utters the Name
Cannot be absolved from sin.

A man who swears a great deal will be filled with iniquity,
And the scourge will never leave his house.

If he offends, his sin rests upon him,
And if he disregards it, he sins doubly;
And if he has sworn needlessly, he is not justified,

For his house will be filled with misery.

There is a way of speaking that may be compared with death;
It must not be found in the inheritance of Jacob.

For all this will be far from the godly,
And they will not wallow in sin.

Do not accustom your mouth to foul rudeness,

For that is sinful speech.

Remember your father and mother,
When you sit in council with the great,
Or you may forget yourself in their presence,

And seem like a fool through the habit you have formed,

So that you will wish you had never been born,

And curse the day of your birth.

A man who forms the habit of abusive speech

Will never be educated as long as he lives.

There are two kinds of men that multiply sins,

And a third that incurs wrath:

A spirit hot as a burning fire;

It cannot be quenched until it is consumed;

One who is a fornicator in his physical body;

He will not stop until the fire burns him up;

To the fornicator all bread is sweet;
He will not tire until he dies;

A man who goes astray from his own bed,

And says to himself, "Who can see me?"

Darkness is around me, and the walls hide me;

So no one can see me; what risk do I run?

The Most High will not remember my sins."

The eyes of men are his only fear,
And he does not know that the eyes

of the Lord

Survey all the ways of men,

And observe the secret places.

- 20 All things were known to him before they were created,
So was it also after they were completed.
- 21 Such a man will be punished in the streets of the city,
And caught where he least suspects it.
- 22 It is so also with a wife who leaves her husband,
And provides an heir by a stranger.
- 23 For, first, she disobeys the law of the Most High,
And, second, she wrongs her husband,
And, third, she commits adultery through her fornication,
And provides children by a stranger.
- 24 She will be brought before the assembly,
And her sin will be visited upon her children.
- 25 Her children will not take root,
And her branches will not bear fruit.
- 26 She will leave her memory for a curse,
And her reproach will not be blotted out,
- 27 And those who are left behind will know
That there is nothing better than the fear of the Lord,
And nothing more pleasant than observing the Lord's commandments.
- 24 Wisdom is her own recommendation,
And exults in the midst of her people.
- 2 She opens her mouth in the assembly of the Most High,
And in the presence of his might she utters her boast:
- 3 "I issued from the mouth of the Most High,
And covered the earth like a mist.
- 4 I lived on the heights,
And my throne was on the pillar of cloud.
- 5 I alone compassed the circuit of heaven,
And I walked in the depth of the abyss.
- 6 I owned the waves of the sea and the whole earth
And every people and nation.
- 7 Among all these I sought a resting-place;
In whose possession should I lodge?
- 8 Then the Creator of all gave me his command;
And he who created me made my tent rest,
- And said, 'Pitch your tent in Jacob,
And find your inheritance in Israel.'
He created me from the beginning,
before the world,
And I shall never cease.
I ministered before him in the holy tent,
And so I was established in Zion.
He made me rest likewise in the beloved city,
And I had authority over Jerusalem.
I took root in the glorified people,
In the portion of the Lord, and of his inheritance.
I was exalted like a cedar in the Lebanon,
Or a cypress in the mountains of Hermon;
I was exalted like a palm tree in Engadi,
Or like the rose bushes in Jericho:
Like a fine olive tree in the field;
I was exalted like a plane tree.
I gave forth a perfume like cinnamon and camel's thorn,
And I spread fragrance like choice myrrh;
Like galbanum, onycha, and stacte,
And like the smoke of frankincense in the tent.
I stretched out my branches like a terebinth,
My branches were glorious, graceful branches.
I made grace grow like a vine,
And my blossoms produced fame and wealth.
Come to me, you who desire me,
And fill yourselves with my produce.
For the memory of me is sweeter than honey,
And the possession of me, than the honeycomb.
Those who eat me will still be hungry,
And those who drink me will still be thirsty.
He who obeys me will not be put to shame,
And those who work with me will commit no sin."
- All this is the book of the agreement of the Most High God,
The Law which Moses ordained for us
As an inheritance for the congregations of Jacob;
Which fills men with wisdom like the Pishon,
And like the Tigris in the days of the new wheat;

26 Which overflows with understanding like the Euphrates,
And like the Jordan in harvest time;
27 Which makes instruction shine forth like light,
Like the Gihon in the days of the vintage.
128 Just as the first man did not know her perfectly,
The last one will not track her out.
129 For her thinking is fuller than the sea,
And her counsel than the great deep.
30 I came out like a canal from the river,
And like a watercourse in a garden.
31 I said, "I will water my garden,
And drench my flower bed."
And behold, my canal became a river,
And my river became a sea.
32 I will again make instruction dawn like the daybreak,
And make it shine forth afar.
33 I will pour out teaching again like prophecy,
And leave it behind for endless generations.
34 Observe that I have not labored for myself only,
But for all who seek her out.
5 In three things I show my beauty and stand up in beauty
Before the Lord and men;
Harmony among brothers, and friendship among neighbors,
And wife and husband suited to each other.
12 But three kinds of men my soul hates,
And I am greatly angered at their existence:
A poor man who is proud, and a rich man who lies,
And an old man who is an adulterer and lacks understanding.
3 If you have not gathered in your youth,
How can you find anything in your old age?
14 How beautiful judgment is for hoary
hair,
And the knowledge of what to advise for the elderly!
5 How beautiful is the wisdom of old
men,
And consideration and counsel in men
of distinction!
6 Rich experience is the crown of old
men,
And their boast is the fear of the Lord.

Nine things I have thought of and 7 considered happy:
And I can mention a tenth with my
tongue:
A man who is happy in his children;
One who lives to see his enemies fall;
Blessed is the man who lives with a 8 wife of understanding;
And the one who does not slip with his tongue;
And the one who is not a slave to his inferior;
Blessed is the man who finds good 9
sense;
And the one who discourses to the ears of men who listen;
How great the man is who finds 10
wisdom;
But there is no one greater than the man who fears the Lord.
The fear of the Lord surpasses every- 11
thing;
To what can the man who possesses
it be compared?
Any wound but a wounded heart! 13
And any wickedness but the wickedness of a woman!
Any calamity but a calamity brought 14
about by those who hate you;
And any vengeance but the vengeance of your enemies!
There is no head higher than a snake's 15
head,
And no anger greater than an enemy's.
I had rather keep house with a lion 16
and a serpent
Than keep house with a wicked
woman.
A woman's wickedness changes her 17 looks,
And darkens her face like a bear;
Her husband sits at table among his 18
neighbors,
And involuntarily groans bitterly.
Any malice is small to a woman's 19
malice;
May the lot of the sinner befall her!
Like a sandy climb to an old man's 20 feet
Is a talkative wife to a quiet man.
Do not fall down before a woman's 21
beauty,
And do not greatly desire her for a
wife.
It means anger and impudence and 22 great disgrace.
If a woman supports her husband.
A humbled mind and a downcast 23
face,

- And a wounded heart mean a wicked wife.
 A woman who does not make her husband happy
 Means palsied hands and paralyzed knees.
- 24 Sin began with a woman,
 And because of her we all die.
- 25 Do not give water an outlet
 Nor a wicked woman freedom to speak.
- 26 If she does not act as you would have her,
 Cut her off from your person.
- 26 Happy is the man who has a good wife!
 The number of his days is doubled.
- 2 A noble wife gladdens her husband,
 And he lives out his years in peace.
- 3 A good wife is good fortune;
 She falls to the lot of those who fear the Lord.
- 4 Whether rich or poor, he has a stout heart;
 And always has a cheerful face.
- 5 There are three things my heart is afraid of,
 And a fourth person that I fear:
 Town gossip, and the gathering of a mob,
 And a false accusation—these are all worse than death.
- 6 It is heartache and sorrow when one wife is the rival of another,
 And a tongue-lashing that exposes things to everybody.
- 7 A wicked woman is a chafing ox-yoke;
 Taking hold of her is like grasping a scorpion.
- 8 A drunken woman gets very angry,
 And does not even cover up her own shame.
- 9 A woman's immorality is revealed by her roving looks,
 And by her eyelids.
- 10 Keep a close watch over a headstrong daughter,
 For if she is allowed her liberty, she may take advantage of it.
- 11 Keep watch over a roving eye,
 And do not be surprised if it offends against you.
- 12 Like a thirsty traveler who opens his mouth
 And drinks of any water that is near,
 She will sit down before every tent peg,
 And open her quiver to the arrow.
- 13 The grace of a wife delights her husband,

- And her knowledge fattens his bones.
 A silent wife is a gift from the Lord,
 And a well-trained spirit is beyond estimation.
- A modest wife is blessing after blessing,
 And a self-controlled spirit no scales can weigh.
- Like the sun rising on the Lord's loftiest heights,
 Is the beauty of a good woman as she keeps her house in order.
- Like a lamp shining on the holy lampstand,
 Is a beautiful face on a good figure.
 Like gold pillars on silver bases
 Are beautiful feet with shapely heels.
- Over two things my heart is grieved,
 And over a third anger overcomes me:
 A soldier in poverty and want,
 And men of understanding who are treated like dirt,
 And the man who turns back from uprightness to sin—
 The Lord will prepare a sword for him!
- A merchant can hardly keep himself from doing wrong,
 And a storekeeper cannot be acquitted of sin.
- Many sin for the sake of gain,
 And the man who is intent on increasing what he has, has to shut his eyes.
- A peg will stick between the joints of stones,
 And between buying and selling, sin is ground out.
- Unless a man earnestly holds on to the fear of the Lord,
 His house will soon be overturned.
 When a sieve is shaken, the refuse remains in it;
 So, when a man reasons, his filth remains.
- The furnace tests the potter's dishes,
 And the test of a man is in his reasoning.
- Its fruit shows how a tree has been cultivated;
 So does the expression of the thought of a man's mind.
- Do not praise a man before you hear him reason,
 For that is the way men are tested.
 If you pursue what is right, you will overtake it,
 And put it on like a splendid robe.
 Birds roost with their own kind,

And truth comes back to those who practice it.

10 The lion lies in wait for his prey,
And so does sin for those who do wrong.

11 The discourse of a godly man is always wise,
But the foolish man changes like the moon.

12 Among unintelligent people watch your opportunity to leave,
But among thoughtful people stay on.

13 The discourse of fools is offensive,
And their laughter is wanton sinfulness.

14 A profane man's talk makes your hair stand on end,
And their quarreling makes you stop your ears.

15 When arrogant men quarrel, there is bloodshed,
And their abuse of one another is dreadful to hear.

16 The man who tells secrets destroys confidence,
And will not find a friend to his mind.

17 If you love your friend, keep faith with him,
But if you tell his secrets, do not pursue him.

18 For sure as a man loses his head,
You have lost your neighbor's friendship,

19 And as you let a bird out of your hand,
You have let your neighbor out, and you will never catch him.
Do not go after him, for he is far away,

20 And has made his escape like a gazelle from a trap.

21 For you can bind up a wound,
And be reconciled after abuse,
But for the man who tells secrets there is no hope.

22 A man who winks his eye plots mischief,
And no one can keep it from him.

23 Face to face with you he speaks sweetly,
And will show respect for what you say;
But afterward he will twist his lips,
And make a stumbling block of your words.

24 I have hated many things, but found nothing like him,
And the Lord hates him too.

25 The man who throws a stone into the air is throwing it on his own head,
And a treacherous blow wounds both.

The man who digs a hole will fall into 26 it,
And the man who sets a trap will be caught in it.

If a man does wicked things, they will 27 roll on him,
And he will not know where they come from.

Mockery and abuse overtake arro- 28 gant men,
And vengeance lies in wait for them like a lion.

Those who enjoy the downfall of the 29 godly will be caught in a trap,
And pain will consume them before they die.

Wrath and anger are also detest- 30 able,
And the sinful man clings to them.

The man who takes vengeance will 31 have vengeance taken on him by the Lord,
And he will keep close watch of his sins.

Forgive your neighbor his wrong- 32 doings;
Then your sins will be forgiven when you pray.

Shall one man cherish anger against 33 another,
And yet ask healing from the Lord?
Does he have no mercy on a man like 34 himself,
And yet pray for his own sins?
If he, though he is flesh and blood, 35 cherishes anger,
Who will atone for his sins?
Remember your end and give up your 36 enmity;
Think of death and destruction, and stand by the commandments.

Remember the commandments, and 37 do not be angry with your neighbor;
Think of the agreement of the Most High, and overlook men's ignorance.

Keep from quarreling, and you will 38 reduce your sins,
For a passionate man kindles quarrels.
A sinful man creates dissension among 39 friends,
And arouses enmity among those who are at peace.

The more fuel, the more the fire will 40 burn,
And the more obstinate the quarrel, the more it will burn.

The stronger a man is, the greater is his anger,

- And the richer he is, the haughtier will his wrath be.
- 11 A hurried dispute kindles a fire,
And a hasty quarrel means bloodshed.
- 12 If you blow on a spark, it will blaze,
And if you spit on it, it will be put out;
Yet both come out of your mouth.
- 13 Curse the whisperer and the deceitful
man;
For he has destroyed many who were at peace.
- 14 A third person's tongue has stirred many up,
And removed them from one nation
to another;
It has torn down strongly fortified
cities,
And overthrown the houses of the great.
- 15 A third person's tongue has driven out noble women,
And robbed them of the fruit of their labors.
- 16 The man who listens to it will find no
rest,
And will not live in peace.
- 17 The blow of a whip leaves a bruise,
But the blow of a tongue breaks the bones.
- 18 Many have fallen by the edge of the
sword,
But not so many as have fallen by the tongue.
- 19 Happy is the man who is protected from it,
Who does not feel its anger,
Who does not bear its yoke,
And is not bound with its chains.
- 20 For its yoke is an iron yoke,
And its chains are brazen chains;
Its death is a cruel death,
And Hades is better than it.
- 22 It will not control godly men,
And they will not be burned in its fire.
- 23 Those who forsake the Lord will fall into it,
And it will burn at them and not be put out;
It will be sent upon them like a lion,
And ravage them like a leopard.
- 24 If you see to hedging your property in with thorns,
And shut up your silver and gold,
Make balances and scales to weigh your words,
And make a barred door for your
mouth.
- 26 Take heed not to make a slip with it,

Or you will fall before someone lying in wait for you.

- The man who shows mercy will lend 20
to his neighbor,
And the man who takes him by the hand keeps the commandments.
Lend to your neighbor when he is in 2:
need,
And pay your neighbor back again
when it is time.
Keep your word and keep faith with 3:
him,
And in every emergency you will find what you need.
Many consider a loan as a windfall, 4:
And bring trouble on those who help
them.
A man will kiss another man's hands 5:
until he gets it;
And speak humbly about his neighbor's money;
But when payment is due, he extends the time,
And answers indifferently,
And finds fault about the time of payment.
If a man succeeds, he will hardly get 6:
half of it,
And he will consider that a windfall.
If he does not, the other has defrauded him of his money,
And needlessly made him his enemy;
He will pay him with curses and abuse,
And repay him with insults instead of honor.
Many refuse to lend, not from their wickedness,
But they are afraid of being needlessly defrauded.
But be patient with a poor man,
And do not make him wait for charity.
For the commandment's sake help the needy man,
And, in view of his need, do not send him away unsatisfied.
Lose your money for the sake of a 7:
brother or a friend,
And do not let it rust to ruin under a stone.
Lay up your treasure according to 1:
the commandments of the Most High,
And it will be more profitable to you
than gold.
Store up gifts to charity in your store- 1:
rooms,
And it will deliver you from all harm.
Better than a mighty shield and a 11:
ponderous spear,

- It will fight for you against your enemy.
- 14 A good man will go surety for his neighbor,
But the man who has lost his sense of shame will abandon him.
- 15 Do not forget the favor your surety has done you,
For he has put himself in your place.
- 16 A sinner will disregard the service done him by his surety,
- 17 And an ungrateful man will forsake the man who saved him.
- 18 Going surety has ruined many prosperous men,
And shaken them like an ocean wave.
It has driven influential men out of their houses,
And made them wander among foreign nations.
- 19 A sinner fails in acting as security,
And the man who pursues profits falls into lawsuits.
- 20 Help your neighbor to the best of your ability,
But take heed that you do not fall.
- 21 The basis of life is water and bread and clothing,
And a house to cover one's nakedness.
- 22 The life of a poor man under a shelter of logs is better Than splendid fare in someone else's house.
- 23 Be contented with much or little,
And you will not hear the reproach of being a stranger.
- 24 It is a miserable life to go from house to house;
And where you are a stranger, you cannot open your mouth.
- 25 If you entertain others and give them drink, you will have no thanks,
And besides that you will have bitter things to hear:
- 26 "Come in, stranger, set the table,
And if you have anything with you, let me have it to eat."
- 27 "Get out, stranger, here is somebody more important;
My brother has come to be my guest; I need my house."
- 28 These things are trying to a man of sensibility:
The reproach of a household and the abuse of a creditor.
- 29 The man who loves his son will continually beat him,
So that he may be glad at the end.
- The man who disciplines his son will profit by him,
And boast of him among his acquaintances;
- The man who teaches his son will make his enemy jealous,
And exult over him before his friends.
When his father dies, it is as though he were not dead,
For he leaves behind him one like himself.
- In his lifetime he sees him and rejoices,
And in death he does not grieve.
He has left one to avenge him upon his enemies,
And to repay the kindness of his friends.
- The man who spoils his son will have to bind up his wounds,
And his heart will tremble at every cry.
- An unbroken horse turns out stubborn,
And a son left to himself grows up headstrong.
- If you pamper your child, he will astonish you.
Play with him, and he will grieve you;
Do not laugh with him, so that you may not have to mourn with him
And gnash your teeth over him at last.
- Do not allow him liberty in his youth;
Bruise his sides while he is a child,
So that he will not become stubborn and disobey you.
- Discipline your son and take pains with him,
So that he will not distress you with his bad behavior.
- A poor man who is well and has a strong constitution is better off
Than a rich man who is afflicted in body.
- Health and a good constitution are better than any amount of gold,
And a strong body than untold riches.
There is no greater wealth than health of body,
And there is no greater happiness than gladness of heart.
- Death is better than a wretched life,
And eternal rest than continual sickness.
- Good things spread out before a mouth that is closed
Are like piles of food laid on a grave.

- 19 What good is an offering of fruit to an idol?
It can neither eat nor smell.
That is the way with a man who is afflicted by the Lord:
- 20 He sees things with his eyes and groans
Like a eunuch embracing a girl!
21 Do not give yourself up to sorrow,
And do not distress yourself of your own accord.
- 22 Gladness of heart is a man's life.
And exultant joy prolongs his days.
- 23 Be kind to yourself and comfort your heart,
And put sorrow far from you;
For sorrow has destroyed many,
And there is no profit in it.
- 24 Envy and anger shorten a man's days,
And worry brings on old age before its time.
- 25 A heart that is cheerful and good Will pay attention to the food he eats.
- 31 Anxiety about wealth makes a man waste away,
And his worry about it drives away his sleep.
- 2 Wakefulness and worry banish drowsiness
As a serious illness dispels sleep.
- 3 A rich man toils to amass money,
And when he stops to rest, he enjoys luxury;
- 4 A poor man toils for the want of a livelihood,
And if he stops to rest, he finds himself in want.
- 5 The man who loves gold cannot be called upright,
And the man who pursues profits will be led astray by them,
- 6 Many have been brought to their downfall because of gold
And have been brought face to face with ruin.
- 7 It is a stumbling block to those who are possessed by it,
And every foolish man is taken captive by it.
- 8 Happy is the rich man who is found blameless,
And does not go after gold;
- 9 Who is he?—that we may congratulate him,
For he has worked wonders among his people.
- 10 Who has been tested by it and found perfect?
- He has a right to boast.
Who has been able to transgress and has not transgressed,
And to do wrong and has not done it?
His prosperity will be lasting,
And the congregation will talk of his charities.
Do you sit at a great table?
Do not gulp at it,
And do not say, "How much there is on it!"
Remember that an envious eye is wrong.
What has been created that is worse than the eye?
That is why it sheds tears on every face.
Do not reach out your hand wherever it looks,
And do not crowd your neighbor in the dish;
Be considerate of him of your own accord,
And be thoughtful in everything.
Eat like a human being what is served to you,
Do not champ your food, or you will be detested.
Be the first to leave off for good manners' sake,
And do not be greedy, or you will give offense.
Even though you are seated in a large company,
Do not be the first to help yourself.
How adequate a little is for a well-bred man!
He does not have to gasp upon his bed!
Healthy sleep results from moderation in eating;
One gets up in the morning, in good spirits.
The distress of sleeplessness and indigestion
And colic attend the greedy man.
If you are compelled to eat,
Get up in the middle of the meal and stop eating.
Listen to me, my child, and do not disregard me.
And in the end you will find my words true:
Be industrious in all your work,
And no disease will overtake you.
The man who is generous with his bread men's lips will bless,
And their testimony to his goodness can be relied on.

- 4 The town will grumble at the man who is grudging with his bread,
And their testimony to his niggardliness is correct.
- 5 Do not play the man about wine,
For wine has been the ruin of many.
- 6 The furnace proves the steel's temper
by dipping it;
So wine tests hearts when proud men quarrel.
- 7 Wine is like life to men
If you drink it in moderation;
What life has a man who is without
wine?
For it was created to give gladness to
men.
- 8 An exhilaration to the heart and gladness to the soul
Is wine, drunk at the proper time and in sufficient quantity;
- 9 Bitterness to the soul is much drinking of wine
Amidst irritation and conflict.
- 10 Drunkenness increases the anger of a foolish man to his injury, Reducing his strength and causing wounds.
Do not rebuke your neighbor at a banquet,
And do not despise him in his mirth.
Do not say a reproachful word to him,
And do not press him to repay you.
If they make you master of the feast, do not be uplifted;
Behave like one of them among them.
Look after them, and then take your seat;
When you have performed your duties, take your place,
So that you may rejoice on their account,
And be crowned with a wreath for your efficiency.
- 11 Speak, elder, for that is your part,
With sound understanding, and do not interfere with the music.
- 12 When there is to be entertainment, do not talk volubly,
And do not philosophize when it is in-opportune.
- 13 A carbuncle signet in a gold setting
Is a musical concert at a banquet.
- 14 An emerald signet richly set in gold
Is the melody of music with the taste of wine.
- 15 Speak, young man, if you are obliged to,
And only if you are asked repeatedly.
- Speak concisely; say much in few 8
words;
Act like a man who knows more than he says.
- When among great men do not act like 9
an equal;
And when another man is speaking,
do not talk much.
- The lightning hastens before the 10
thunder,
And approval opens the way for a modest man.
- Leave in good season and do not bring 11
up the rear;
Hurry home and do not linger.
Amuse yourself there, and do what 12
you please,
But do not sin through proud speech.
For all these things bless your Maker, 13
Who makes you drink his blessings till you are satisfied.
The man who fears the Lord will 14 accept his discipline,
And those who rise early to seek him will gain his approval.
- The man who pursues the Law will get 15
his fill of it,
But the hypocrite will be tripped up by it.
- Those who fear the Lord will discern 16
his judgment,
And will kindle upright acts like the
light.
- A sinful man will shun reproof, 17
And will find a legal decision to his liking.
A man of discretion will not neglect 18 thought;
An alien or a proud man will not cower from fear;
Do nothing without consideration; 19
And when you do a thing, do not change your mind.
Do not walk in a path full of obstacles, 20
And do not stumble over stony ground.
Do not trust an untried way, 21
And guard against your children. 22
In every act have faith in yourself, 23
For that is the keeping of the commandments.
- The man who has faith in the Law 24
heeds the commandments,
And the man who trusts in the Lord will not fail.
No evil will befall the man who 33
fears the Lord
But in trial he will deliver him again and again.

- 2 A wise man will not hate the Law,
But the man who is hypocritical about it is like a ship in a storm.
- 3 A man of understanding will trust in the Law,
And he trusts the Law as he would a decision by the sacred lot.
- 4 Prepare what you have to say, and then you will be listened to; Knit your instruction together and give your answer.
- 5 The heart of a fool is a wagon wheel;
And his thought is like a turning axle.
- 6 A stallion is like a mocking friend;
He neighs under everyone who mounts
him.
- 7 Why is one day better than another,
When the light of every day in the year is from the sun?
- 8 By the Lord's knowledge they have been separated,
And he has made the various seasons and festivals.
- 9 Some of them he has exalted and made sacred,
And some he has made ordinary days.
- 10 All men are from the ground,
And Adam was created out of earth.
- 11 In the wealth of his knowledge the Lord has distinguished them,
And made their ways different.
- 12 Some of them he has blessed and exalted,
And some he has made holy and brought near himself.
Some of them he has cursed and
humbled,
And thrown down from their position.
- 13 Like clay in the hand of the potter—
For all his ways are guided by his good pleasure—
So men are in the hands of their Creator,
To be repaid as he decides.
- 14 As good is the opposite of evil,
And life the opposite of death,
So the sinner is the opposite of the godly man.
- 15 So look upon all the works of the Most High,
In pairs, one the opposite of the other.
- 16 I was the last to wake up,
Like one who gleans after the grapegatherers;
By the blessing of the Lord I got ahead,
And like a grape-gatherer I filled my winepress.

Observe that I have not labored for 17
myself only,
But for all who seek instruction.
Hear me, you leaders of the people, 17
And you rulers of the assembly, listen
to me.
To a son or a wife, to a brother or a 19
friend,
Do not give power over yourself as long as you live,
And do not give your money to someone else,
So that you may not change your mind and have to ask for it.
As long as you live and have breath 18
in your body,
Do not sell yourself to anybody.
For it is better that your children 2 should ask from you,
Than that you should look to the clean hands of your sons.
In all that you do retain control, 2
So that you will not put any stain upon your reputation.
When the days of your life reach their 2
end,
At the time of your death distribute your property.
Fodder and a stick and loads for an ass,
Bread and discipline and work for a
servant.
Put your slave to work, and you will 4
have rest;
Leave his hands idle, and he will seek his liberty.
The yoke and the strap will bend his
neck,
And racks and tortures are for a servant who is a wrongdoer.
Put him to work, so that he will not be idle,
For idleness teaches much evil.
Set him such work as is suited to him,
And if he does not obey, load him with fetters.
But do not be overbearing to anybody,
And do not do anything without consideration.
If you have a servant, regard him as yourself,
Because you have bought him with blood.
If you have a servant, treat him like a brother,
For you need him as you do your own life.

If you ill-treat him, and he leaves and runs away,
Where will you look for him?

Vain and delusive are the hopes of a man of no understanding,
And dreams give wings to fools!
Like a man who catches at a shadow,
and chases the wind,
Is the man who is absorbed in dreams.
A vision of dreams is this against that,
The likeness of one face before another.

From an unclean thing what can be clean?

And from something false what can be true?

Divinations and omens and dreams are folly,

And fancies of the mind like those of a woman in travail.

Unless they are sent from the Most High as a warning,

Do not pay any attention to them,
For dreams have deceived many,
And setting their hopes on them has led to their downfall.

The Law must be observed without any such falsehoods,

And wisdom finds perfection in truthful lips.

A well-taught man knows a great deal,

And a man of experience will discourse with understanding.

The man who has not been tested knows little,

But the man who has wandered far gains great ingenuity.

I have seen much in my travels,
And I understand more than I can describe;

I have often been in danger of death,
But I have been saved by these qualities.

The spirit of those who fear the Lord will live,

For their hope is in him who can save
them.

The man who fears the Lord will have no dread,

And will not be afraid, for he is his hope.

Happy is the soul of the man who fears the Lord!

Whom does he regard? And who is his support?

The eyes of the Lord rest on those who love him,

A mighty shield, a strong support,

A shelter from the hot wind and the noonday heat,

A guard against stumbling and a defense against falling.

He lifts up the soul and gives light 17
to the eyes,

And bestows healing, life, and blessing.

If a man offers a sacrifice that was 18 wrongfully obtained, it is blem-
ished,

And the gifts of sinful men are not acceptable.

The Most High is not pleased with 19
the offerings of ungodly men,

And a man cannot atone for his sins with a great number of sacrifices.

The man who offers a sacrifice from 20
the property of the poor

Sacrifices a son before his father's eyes.
Scanty fare is the living of the poor; 21

The man who deprives them of it is a murderous man.

The man who takes away his neigh- 22
bor's living murders him,

And the man who deprives a hired man of his wages is guilty of bloodshed.

One man builds and another tears 23
down;

What do they gain but toil?

One man prays and another curses; 24
Which one's voice will the Lord listen to?

If a man washes himself after touch- 25
ing a corpse and then touches it
again,

What good has his bath done him?

That is the way with a man who fasts 26
for his sins,

And goes and does the same things
over.

Who will listen to his prayer?

And what has he gained by humiliating himself?

The man who keeps the Law will 35
make many offerings;

He who gives heed to the commandments will offer a thanksgiving
sacrifice,

The man who returns a kindness will 1 offer a meal offering,

And the man who gives to charity will offer the sacrifice of praise.

Avoiding wickedness wins the Lord's 3 approval,

And avoiding wrongdoing is atonement.

Do not appear before the Lord 4 empty-handed,

- 5 For all these things must be done because they are commanded.
- 6 The offering of an upright man enriches the altar,
And its fragrance reaches the Most High.
- 7 The sacrifice of an upright man is acceptable,
And the memory of it will not be forgotten.
- 8 Glorify the Lord with a generous eye,
And do not stint the first fruits of your hands.
- 9 In all your giving show a joyful face,
And dedicate your tithes with gladness.
- 10 Give to the Most High as he has given to you,
With a generous eye, and as your hand has found.
- 11 For the Lord is one who repays,
And he will repay you seven times over.
- 12 Do not try to bribe him, for he will not accept it,
And do not rely on an ill-gotten sacrifice;
For the Lord is a judge,
And there is no partiality with him.
- 13 He will show no partiality against the poor,
But he will listen to the prayer of the man who is wronged.
- 14 He will not disregard the supplication of the orphan,
Or the widow, if she pours out her story.
- 15 Do not let the widow's tears run down her cheeks,
While she utters her complaint against the man who has caused them to fall?
- 16 The man who serves God with good will is welcomed,
And his prayer reaches to the clouds.
- 17 The prayer of the humble pierces the clouds,
And until it reaches God, he will not be consoled.
He will not leave off until the Most High considers him,
And does justice to the upright, and passes judgment.
- 18 And the Lord will not delay,
Or be slow about them,
Until he crushes the loins of the unmerciful,
And takes vengeance on the heathen;
Until he destroys the multitude of the insolent,
- And breaks the scepters of the unrighteous;
Until he repays a man for his doings,
And repays men's deeds according to their thoughts;
Until he judges the case of his people,
And makes them glad with his mercy.
Mercy is as beautiful in a time of trouble
As rain clouds in a time of drought.
Have mercy upon us, Lord God of all, and look upon us,
And cast fear of you upon all the heathen.
Raise your hand against alien peoples,
And let them see your might.
As you have been sanctified before them, in us,
May you be magnified before us, in them;
And let them know, as we have known,
That there is no god, Lord, but you.
Show signs again, and show other wonders,
Make your hand and your right arm glorious.
Arouse your anger and pour out your wrath,
Destroy the adversary and wipe out the enemy.
Hasten the time and remember your oath;
And let them relate your mighty acts.
Let him that would save himself be consumed in furious fire,
And let those who harm your people meet destruction.
Crush the heads of the enemy's rulers,
Who say, "There is no one but ourselves!"
Gather all the tribes of Jacob,
And give them their inheritance, as it was of old.
Have mercy, Lord, on the people that has borne your name,
And on Israel, whom you compared to your first-born.
Have pity on the city of your sanctuary,
Jerusalem, the place where you rest.
Fill Zion with the celebration of your goodness,
And your people with your glory.
Bear witness to those whom you created in the beginning,
And fulfil the prophecies made in your name.
Give those who wait for you their reward,

- And let men trust in your prophets.
 17 Hear, Lord, the prayer of your sup-pliants,
 With Aaron's blessing on your people,
 And all the people on the earth will know
 That you are the Lord, the eternal
 God.
- 118 The stomach will eat any food,
 Yet one food is better than another.
- 119 As the mouth tastes the meat of game,
 An intelligent mind detects false
 words.
- 120 A perverse mind causes pain,
 But an experienced man will pay him
 back.
- 21 A woman can receive any man,
 Yet one girl surpasses another.
- 22 A woman's beauty gladdens one's countenance,
 And exceeds every desire man has.
- 23 If mercy and meekness are on her lips,
 Her husband is not like the sons of
 men.
- 24 The man who gets a wife enters upon a possession,
 A helper like himself, and a pillar of support.
- 25 Where there is no hedge, a piece of property will be plundered, And where there is no wife, a man will wander about and groan.
- 26 For who will trust an active robber
 Who bounds from one city to another?
 So who will trust a man who has no
 nest,
 And spends the night wherever evening overtakes him?
- 17 Every friend will say, "I am your friend";
 But sometimes a friend is a friend only in name.
- 2 Is it not a sorrow like that for death
 itself
 When a companion and friend turns into an enemy?
- 3 O wicked thought! Why were you shaped
 To cover the earth with deceit?
- 4 There are companions who rejoice in their friends' happiness,
 But, when trouble comes, are against
 them.
- 5 There are companions who labor with a friend for their stomach's sake,
 Who will take up the shield in the face of war.
- Do not forget your friend in your 6
 heart,
 And do not be unmindful of him in your wealth.
 Every adviser praises good counsel, 7
 But some give advice in their own interests.
 Be on your guard against advisers 8
 And first find out what is for their advantage—
 For they will take thought for themselves—
 Or they will cast the lot against you,
 And say to you, "Your way is good," 9
 And will stand over against you to see what will happen to you.
 Do not consult with the man who 10
 looks suspiciously at you,
 And conceal your purpose from those who are jealous of you;
 With a woman about her rival, 11
 Or with a coward about a war;
 With a merchant about business,
 Or with a buyer about selling;
 With an envious man about gratitude,
 Or with a merciless man about kindli-
 ness;
 With an idler about any piece of work.
 Or with a man hired by the year
 about finishing his work;
 With a lazy servant about a large undertaking;
 Do not look to these for any advice,
 But stay all the time with a godly 12
 man,
 Who you know keeps the commandments;
 Whose heart is at one with your heart,
 And who will sorrow with you if you fail.
 And hold fast the counsel of your own 13
 mind,
 For you have nothing more to be depended on than it.
 For a man's soul is sometimes wont to 14
 bring him news
 Better than seven watchmen sitting high on a watchtower.
 And, above all this, intreat the Most 15
 High
 To direct your way in truth.
 Every undertaking begins with 16
 reason,
 And consideration precedes every
 work.
 If we trace the changes of the mind, 17
 Four parts appear, 18
 Good and evil, life and death.

- But it is the tongue that continually rules them.
- 19 A man may be shrewd and the instructor of many,
And yet be unprofitable to himself
- 20 A man skilful in his use of words may be hated;
He will fail to get any food.
- 21 For agreeableness has not been given him by the Lord,
Because he has been deprived of all wisdom.
A man may be wise for himself,
- 22 And the products of his understanding may be trustworthy on his lips;
- 23 A wise man will instruct his own people,
And the products of his understanding will be trustworthy;
- 24 A wise man will be satisfied with blessing,
And all who see him will call him happy.
- 25 A man's life is numbered by days,
But the days of Israel are unnumbered.
- 26 The wise man will obtain the trust of his people,
And his name will live forever.
- 27 My child, test your soul while you live,
And see what hurts it, and do not give it that.
- 28 For not everything is good for everyone,
And not everybody enjoys everything.
- 29 Do not be insatiable about any luxury,
And do not be carried away with food,
- 30 For sickness comes with excessive eating,
And greediness leads to severe illness.
- 31 Many have died of greediness,
But the man who guards against it prolongs his life.
- 32 Show the physician due honor in view of your need of him,
For the Lord has created him;
- 2 Healing comes from the Most High,
And he will receive presents from the king.
- 3 The skill of the physician exalts him,
And he is admired among the great.
- 4 The Lord has created medicines out of the earth,
And a sensible man will not refuse them.
- 5 Was not water made sweet by wood,
So that its strength might be shown?

And he has given men knowledge
So that he might be glorified for his wonderful works.
With them he cures and takes away pain.
The druggist makes a mixture of them.
His works will never end,
And from him peace spreads over the face of the earth.
My child, do not be negligent when you are sick,
But pray to the Lord, and he will cure you.
Renounce wrongdoing and make your hands do right,
And cleanse your heart from every sin.
Offer a fragrant offering and a memorial sacrifice of fine flour,
And make your offering rich, as though you were no longer to live,
And leave room for the physician, for the Lord has created him,
And he must not desert you, for you need him.
There is a time when your welfare depends upon them,
For they too will pray the Lord
To guide them to bringing relief
And effecting a cure and restoration to health.
As for the man who sins in the sight of his Maker,
May he fall into the hands of the physician!
My child, for the dead let your tears fall,
And like one who is suffering terribly begin your lament.
Wrap his body up fittingly,
And do not neglect his burial.
Weep bitterly and wail passionately
And show your grief as he may deserve,
For one day or perhaps two, to avert criticism;
Then be comforted for your sorrow.
For death comes of sorrow,
And sorrow of heart prostrates one's strength.
In misfortune grief will continue,
And the life of the poor saddens the heart.
But do not resign your heart to grief;
Dismiss it, but remember your end.
Do not forget it, for he will not come back;
You cannot help him, and you will harm yourself;

- 22 "Remember my judgment, for yours
will be like it;
Mine today, and yours tomorrow!"
- 23 When the dead is at rest, let his memory rest,
And be comforted for him when his spirit departs.
- 24 A scribe attains wisdom through the opportunities of leisure,
And the man who has little business to do can become wise.
- 25 How can the man who holds the plow become wise,
Who glories in handling the ox-goad,
Who drives oxen, and guides them at their work,
And whose discourse is with the sons of bulls?
- 26 He sets his mind on turning his fur-
rows,
And his anxiety is about fodder for heifers.
- 27 It is so with every craftsman and builder,
Who keeps at work at night as well as by day.
Some cut carved seals,
And elaborate variety of design;
Another puts his mind on painting a likeness,
And is anxious to complete his work.
- 28 It is so with the smith sitting by his anvil,
And expert in working in iron;
The smoke of the fire reduces his
flesh,
And he exerts himself in the heat of the furnace.
He bends his ear to the sound of the hammer,
And his eyes are on the pattern of the implement.
He puts his mind on completing his
work,
And he is anxious to finish preparing
it.
- 29 It is so with the potter, as he sits at his work,
And turns the wheel with his foot;
He is constantly careful about his
work,
And all his manufacture is by measure;
- 30 He will shape the clay with his arm,
And bend its strength with his feet;
He puts his mind on finishing the glaz-
ing,
And he is anxious to make his furnace
clean.
- All these rely on their hands; 31
And each one is skilful in his own
work;
Without them, no city can be in- 32
habited,
And men will not live in one or go about in it.
But they are not sought for to advise 33
the people,
And in the public assembly they do not excel.
They do not sit on the judge's seat,
And they do not think about the decision of lawsuits;
They do not utter instruction or
judgment,
And they are not found using proverbs.
Yet they support the fabric of the 34
world,
And their prayer is in the practice of their trade.
It is not so with the man who ap- 39
plies himself,
And studies the Law of the Most High.
He searches out the wisdom of all the ancients,
And busies himself with prophecies;
He observes the discourse of famous 2
men,
And penetrates the intricacies of figures.
He searches out the hidden meaning 3
of proverbs,
And acquaints himself with the obscurities of figures.
He will serve among great men, 4
And appear before rulers.
He will travel through the lands of strange peoples,
And test what is good and what is evil among men.
He will devote himself to going early 5
To the Lord his Maker,
And will make his entreaty before the
Most High.
He will open his mouth in prayer,
And make entreaty for his sins.
If the great Lord pleases, 6
He will be filled with the spirit of
understanding,
He will pour out his wise sayings,
And give thanks to the Lord in
prayer;
He will direct his counsel and knowl- 7
edge,
And study his secrets.

- 8 He will reveal instruction in his teaching,
And will glory in the Law of the Lord's agreement.
- 9 Many will praise his understanding,
And it will never be blotted out.
His memory will not disappear,
And his name will live for endless generations.
- 10 Nations will repeat his wisdom,
And the congregation will utter his praise.
- 11 If he lives long, he will leave a greater name than a thousand,
And if he goes to rest, his fame is enough for him.
- 12 I have reflected further, and I will utter it,
And I am full as the full moon.
- 13 Listen to me, you holy sons, and bud
Like a rose that grows by a water-course;
- 14 Exhale fragrance like a frankincense tree,
And blossom like a lily.
Give forth an odor and sing a song,
Bless the Lord for all his works.
- 15 Magnify his name,
And confess him with praise,
With songs on your lips and with lyres,
And this is what you are to say in your thanksgiving:
- 16 "The works of the Lord are all extremely good,
And every command of his will be obeyed in its proper season."
- 17 No one can say "What does this mean? Why is that?"
For in his good time they will all be searched out,
At his command the waters stood in a heap,
And the reservoirs of water at the word he uttered.
- 18 At his order all that he pleases is done,
And there is no one who can interfere with his saving power.
- 19 The doings of all mankind are before him,
And it is not possible to be hidden from his eyes.
- 20 From everlasting to everlasting he beholds them,
And nothing is marvelous to him.
- 21 No one can say, "What does this mean? Why is that?"
For everything has been created for its use.

His blessing covers the land like a <sup>20</sup> river,
And saturates the dry land like a flood.

As he turns fresh water into salt <sup>21</sup> water,
So the heathen will experience his wrath.

To his people his ways are straight, <sup>22</sup>
Just as they are stumbling blocks to the disobedient.

From the beginning good things have <sup>23</sup> been created for the good,
Just as evils have been created for sinners.

The elements necessary for man's life <sup>24</sup>
Are water and fire and iron and salt,
And wheat flour and milk and honey,
The blood of the grape, and olive oil and clothing.

All these things prove good to the <sup>25</sup> godly,
Just as they turn into evils for the sinful.

There are winds which have been <sup>26</sup> created for vengeance,
And, when he is angry, they make their scourges strong;
When the consummation comes, they will pour out their strength,
And calm the anger of their Creator.

Fire and hail and famine and death— <sup>27</sup>
These have all been created for vengeance.

The teeth of wild animals, and scor- <sup>28</sup> pions and vipers,
And the sword that drives the ungodly to destruction—
They will rejoice when he commands, <sup>29</sup>
And be made ready on the earth for their functions.

And they will not disobey his word, <sup>30</sup>
at their proper times.

Therefore from the beginning I have <sup>31</sup> become assured,
And have reached this conclusion and left it in writing:
The works of the Lord are all good, <sup>32</sup>
And will supply every need when it arises,
And no one can say, "This is worse <sup>33</sup> than that,"
For they will all prove good in their season.

So now sing praise with all your heart <sup>34</sup> and voice,
And bless the name of the Lord.

Much occupation is appointed for <sup>35</sup> every man,

- And a heavy yoke rests on the sons of Adam
 From the day they come out of their mother's womb
 Until the day when they return to the mother of us all,
- 2 Their perplexities and anxiety of mind,
 Their apprehension, and the day of their end!
- 3 From the man who sits on his splendid throne
 To the one who is abased in dust and ashes,
- 4 From the man who wears purple and a crown
 To the one who is clad in coarse linen,
- 5 There is wrath and envy and trouble and perplexity
 And fear of death and anger and strife,
 And when a man rests upon his bed,
 His sleep at night confuses his knowledge.
- 6 He gets little or no rest,
 And afterward in his sleep, he is like a watchman on duty,
 Bewildered by the vision of his mind
 Like a man who has escaped from the front of battle.
- 7 In the moment of his extremity he wakes up,
 And wonders that his fear came to nothing.
- 8 It is so with all flesh, man and beast;
 And with sinners seven times more;
- 9 Death and blood and strife and sword, Misfortunes, famine and affliction and plague—
- 10 All these were created for the wicked,
 And because of them the flood came.
- 11 All that comes from the earth returns to the earth,
 And what comes from the waters turns back to the sea.
- 12 All bribery and injustice will be blotted out,
 But good faith will stand forever.
- 13 The property of unrighteous men will dry up like a river,
 And explode like a clap of thunder in a rain.
- 14 As surely as an open-handed man is glad, Transgressors will utterly fail.
- 15 The children of the ungodly will not put forth many branches;
 They are unclean roots on a precipitous rock.
- 16 Sedge by any water or riverbank
 Will be plucked up before any grass.
 Kindness is like a garden of blessing, 17
 And charity endures forever.
- The life of a self-supporting man or 18
 of a workman is made sweet,
 But a man who finds a treasure is better off than both of them.
 Children or the building of a city 19 perpetuate a man's name,
 But an irreproachable wife is counted better than both of them.
 Wine and music delight the heart, 20
 But the love of wisdom is better than both of them.
 The flute and the lute make sweet 21
 melody,
 But a pleasant tongue is better than both of them.
 The eye desires grace and beauty, 22
 But more than both of them the springing grain.
 A friend and a comrade meet op- 23
 portunately,
 But a wife with her husband is better than both of them.
 Brothers and help are for a time of 24
 trouble,
 But charity is a better deliverer than both of them.
 Gold and silver make a man stand 25 firm,
 But good counsel is more approved than both of them.
 Money and vigor elate the mind, 26
 But the fear of the Lord is better than both of them.
 There is no flaw in the fear of the Lord,
 And with it there is no need to seek for help.
 The fear of the Lord is like a garden 2:
 of blessing,
 And covers a man better than any glory.
 My child, do not lead a beggar's 28
 life;
 It is better to die than to beg.
 When a man looks to another man's 29
 table,
 His existence cannot be considered life.
 He pollutes his soul with another man's food,
 But a man who is intelligent and well-instructed will beware of it.
 In a shameless man's mouth begging 30
 is sweet,
 But it kindles a fire in his heart.
 O death, how bitter is the remem- 41
 brance of you

- To a man at peace among his possessions,
 To a man who is free from distractions and prosperous in everything,
 And is still vigorous enough to enjoy his food!
- 2 O death, your sentence is good
 For a needy man of failing strength,
 In extreme old age, and distracted about everything;
 Who is contrary, and has lost his patience.
- 3 Do not fear the sentence of death;
 Remember those who went before you and those who come after.
 This is the sentence of the Lord upon all flesh and blood,
- 4 And how can you refuse what is the will of the Most High?
 Whether it was ten or a hundred or a thousand years,
 There is no reproach about life in Hades.
- 5 The children of sinners are detestable children,
 And live in the circles of the ungodly.
- 6 The possessions of the children of sinners will be lost,
 And perpetual reproach will follow their posterity.
- 7 His children will blame an ungodly father
 Because they are reproached on his account.
- 8 Alas for you, ungodly men,
 Who have forsaken the law of the Most High God!
- 9 When you are born, you are born to a curse,
 And when you die, a curse will be your lot.
- 10 Everything that springs from the earth will go back to the earth;
 Just as surely the ungodly go from a curse to destruction.
- 11 Men grieve about their bodies,
 But the name of sinners is not good and will be blotted out.
- 12 Take heed about your name, for you retain it longer Than a thousand great stores of gold.
- 13 The days of a good life are numbered,
 But a good name lasts forever.
- 14 Children, maintain instruction and be at peace;
 Concealed wisdom and invisible treasure—
 What is the use of either?
- 15 A man who hides his folly is better

- Than a man who hides his wisdom.
 Therefore regard what I say;
 For not every kind of shame is it well to maintain,
 And not everything is approved in good faith by all.
- Be ashamed of a father and mother, 1:
 for immorality,
 And of a prince and a ruler, for a lie;
 Of a judge and a magistrate, for an offense,
 And of an assembly and the people, for disregard for the Law;
 Of a partner and a friend, for unjust dealing,
 And of the place where you are living, 1:
 for theft;
 Respect the truth of God and his agreement,
 Be ashamed to lean on your elbow at table;
 To be contemptuous about giving back what you have received;
 And to keep silent before those who greet you;
 To look at a woman who is a courtesan,
 And to turn your face away from a relative;
 To take someone's portion or present,
 And to stare at a married woman;
 To meddle with another man's maid 2:
 (And do not stand over her bed);
 To utter words of abuse before friends
 (And after you make a gift do not add abuse);
 To repeat what you have heard, 2:
 And to tell things that are secret.
 Then you will be really modest, 2:
 And win the approval of everyone.
 Do not be ashamed of these things, 4!
 And do not show partiality, so as to sin;
 Of the Law of the Most High and his agreement,
 And of judgment, to punish the ungodly;
 Of having a reckoning with a partner and fellow-travelers,
 And of a present from what is inherited by your companions;
 Of the accuracy of scales and weights,
 And of the acquisition of much or little;
 Of profit from dealing with merchants,
 And of the careful training of children;
 And of staining the side of a bad servant with blood.
 It is well to put a seal on a wicked wife,

And where there are many hands,
lock things up.

7 Whatever you hand over, let it be by number and weight;
And in giving and receiving, let everything be in writing.

8 Do not be ashamed to instruct the senseless and foolish, Or an aged man who is charged with immorality.
Then you will be really instructed,
And approved in the eyes of every man alive.

9 A daughter is a secret cause of sleeplessness to her father,
And his concern for her robs him of his
rest;
In her youth, for fear she will pass her
prime,
And when she is married, for fear
she will be hated;

10 When she is a girl, for fear she will be profaned,
And be with child in her father's house;
When she has a husband, for fear she will transgress;
And when she is married, for fear she will be childless.

11 Keep a close watch over a headstrong daughter,
For fear she will fill your enemies with malignant joy,
And make you the talk of the town and notorious among the people, And disgrace you before the multitude.

12 Do not look at anybody for her beauty,
And do not sit among women,

13 For as a moth comes out of clothing,
A woman's wickedness comes from a
woman.

14 A man's wickedness is better than a beneficent woman,
Or a woman that disgraces you shamefully.

15 I will call to mind the doings of the Lord,
And recount the things that I have seen.
By the commands of the Lord his works are done;

16 The light-giving sun looks down on everything,
And his work is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 He has not permitted the saints of the Lord

To recount all his wonders, Which the Lord, the Almighty, has firmly established,
So that the universe might stand fast through his glory.
He searches out the great deep and 18
the human mind,
And he understands their designs;
For the Most High possesses all knowledge,
And looks upon the portent of eternity,
And declares the things that are past 19
and the things that are to come,
And uncovers the tracks of hidden
things.
No thought escapes him, 20
Not one word is hidden from him,
He has ordained the majesty of his 21
wisdom,
For he is from everlasting to everlasting.
It cannot be increased or diminished,
And he has no need of any counselor.
How much to be desired are all his 22
works,
And how sparkling they are to see.
All these things live and last forever, 23
With all their functions, and they are all obedient.
They are all in pairs, one facing an- 24
other,
Not one of them is missing.
One confirms the good of the other, 25
And who can have too much of beholding his glory?
The glory of the height is the firma- 43
ment in its purity,
The sight of the heavens with the spectacle of their splendor.
The sun, when he appears, making 2 proclamation as he goes forth,
Is a wonderful instrument, the work of the Most High;
At noonday he dries up the country, 4
And who can withstand his burning heat?
A man who blows a furnace works in 4
the midst of heat,
But the sun three times as much,
burning up the mountains.
He breathes out fiery vapors,
And shoots forth his beams, blinding men's eyes.
Great is the Lord who made him, 5
At whose command he hurries on his course.
The moon, too, he places in its 6 position at its season.

- To mark times and be an everlasting sign;
- 7 The moon gives the sign for the festival,
A light that wanes after reaching the full.
- 8 The month is named after her;
She increases marvelously as she changes,
An instrument of the hosts on high,
Shining in the firmament of the heavens.
- 9 The beauty of heaven is the glory of the stars,
A system giving light in the highest places of the Lord.
- 10 At the command of the Holy One they take their places as he decrees,
And they will not fail in their watches.
- 11 See the rainbow, and bless him who made it Surpassingly beautiful in its brightness.
- 12 It curves over the heaven in a glorious circle,
The hands of the Most High have stretched it out.
- 13 By his command he brings the hurrying snow,
And makes swift the lightnings of his judgment;
- 14 Because of it, the storehouses are opened,
And the clouds fly out like birds.
- 15 In his majesty he makes the clouds thick,
And the hailstones are broken in pieces.
- 16 When he appears, the mountains shake,
At his voice the south wind blows.
- 17 His voice in the thunder rebukes the earth;
So do the hurricane from the north and the whirlwind.
He sprinkles the snow like birds fluttering down,
It comes down like locusts settling;
- 18 The eye is amazed at the beauty of its whiteness,
And the mind is astonishing at its raining.
- 19 He pours hoarfrost over the earth like salt,
And, when it freezes, it becomes points of thorns.
- 20 The cold north wind blows,
And the ice freezes on the water;

It lodges on every pool of water,
And the water puts it on like a breast-plate.

It consumes the mountains and burns 21
up the wilderness,
And shrivels the green herbage like fire.

A mist coming quickly heals every- 22
thing;
The dew falling refreshes things after the heat.

By his counsel he has stilled the 23
deep,
And planted islands in it.
Those who sail the sea tell of its 24 danger,
And we wonder at what we hear with our ears.

There are strange and wonderful 25 works in it,
All kinds of living things, the whale creation.

Because of him his messenger pros- 26
pers on his way,
And through his command all things consist.

We may say more, but we will not 27 reach the end,
And the conclusion of what we have to say is: He is the whole.

Where can we find strength to glorify 28
him?
For he is greater than all his works.
The Lord is terrible and exceedingly 29
great,
And his power is wonderful.

Glorify the Lord and exalt him 30
As much as you can, for even then he will surpass it.

When you exalt him put forth all your strength;
Do not grow weary, for you will not reach the end.

Who has ever seen him, so that he 31 can describe him?
And who can tell his greatness as it really is?

Many things greater than these still 32 remain hidden,
For we have seen but few of his works.

For the Lord has made all things, 33
And he has given wisdom to the godly.

Let us now praise distinguished men, 34
Our forefathers before us.
They are a great glory to the Lord who 35 created them;
They have shown his majesty from of old.

- 3 Men who exercised authority in their reigns,
And were renowned for their might!
They gave their counsel with understanding,
And brought men tidings through their prophecy—
- 4 Leaders of the people in deliberation and understanding,
Men of learning for the people,
Wise in their words of instruction;
- 5 Composers of musical airs,
Authors of poems in writing;
- 6 Rich men, endowed with strength,
Who lived in peace upon their lands—
- 7 All these were honored in their generation,
And were a glory in their day.
- 8 There are some of them who have left a name,
So that men declare their praise;
- 9 And there are some who have no memorial,
And have perished as though they had not lived,
And have become as though they had not been,
With their children after them.
- 10 Yet these were merciful men,
And their uprightness has not been forgotten.
- 11 With their descendants it will remain,
A good inheritance for their posterity.
- 12 Their descendants stand by the agreements,
And their children also for their sakes;
- 13 Their posterity will endure forever,
And their glory will not be blotted out.
- 14 Their bodies are buried in peace,
But their name lives to all generations.
- 15 Peoples will recite their wisdom,
And the congregation declare their praise!
- 16 Enoch pleased the Lord and was taken up from the earth,
A pattern of repentance for all generations.
- 17 Noah was found perfect and upright;
In the time of God's anger he was taken in exchange.
On his account a remnant was left to the earth
When the flood occurred.
- 18 Everlasting agreements were made with him,
That all life should never be blotted out by a flood.
- 19 Abraham was the great father of a multitude of nations,
- And no one has been found equal to him in glory.
He observed the Law of the Most High,
And entered into an agreement with him.
He certified the agreement in his flesh,
And, when he was tested, he proved faithful.
For that reason he assured him with an oath
That nations would be blessed through his posterity,
And that he would make him as numerous as the dust of the earth,
And would raise his posterity as high as the stars,
And that they should possess
From sea to sea,
And from the river to the end of the earth.
He guaranteed it to Isaac also in like manner,
Because of his father Abraham.
The blessing of all mankind and the agreement
He made to rest upon the head of Jacob.
He acknowledged him with his blessings,
And gave them to him as his inheritance.
And he divided his portions,
And distributed them among twelve tribes.
From his posterity he brought a man of mercy,
Who found favor in the sight of all mankind,
And was beloved by God and man—
Moses, whose memory is blessed.
He made him equal to his holy ones in glory,
And made him great in the fears of his enemies.
By his words he brought wonders to pass;
He made him glorious in the sight of kings.
He gave him commands for his people,
And showed him some of his glory.
Through faithfulness and meekness he sanctified him,
He chose him out of all mankind.
He made him hear his voice;
He brought him into the thick darkness,
And gave him his commandments face to face,

The law of life and knowledge,
 To teach Jacob his agreement,
 And Israel his decrees.

6 He exalted Aaron, a holy man like him,
 Who was his brother, from the tribe of Levi.

7 He made him an everlasting ordinance,
 And gave him the priesthood of the people.
 He blessed him with stateliness,
 And put on him a splendid robe;

8 He clothed him with glorious perfection,
 And strengthened him with garments of authority,
 The drawers, the robe, and the apron.

9 And he surrounded him with pomegranates,
 With very many gold bells all around
 To ring out as he walked,
 To make their sound heard in the temple,
 To remind the sons of his people;

10 With a holy garment, with gold and violet
 And purple, a work of embroidery;
 With the oracle of judgment, the decider of truth.

11 With twisted scarlet, the work of an artist;
 With precious stones, engraved like signets,
 In a setting of gold, the work of an engraver,
 For a reminder, in carved letters,
 Giving the number of the tribes of Israel;

12 With a gold crown upon his turban,
 Engraved like a signet with "Sacredness":
 A glorious distinction, a work of might,
 The desire of the eyes, richly adorned.

13 Before him, there never were such beautiful things,
 No alien will ever put them on,
 But his sons alone
 And their posterity forever.

14 His sacrifices will be wholly consumed Twice every day perpetually.

15 Moses filled his hands,
 And anointed him with sacred oil;
 It became an everlasting agreement with him
 And his posterity all the days of heaven,
 To minister to him and act as priest

And bless the people in his name.
 He chose him out of all the living 10
 To offer sacrifice to the Lord,
 Incense and fragrance for a memorial sacrifice,
 To make atonement for your people.
 In his commandments he gave him 11
 Authority over the agreements about judgments,
 To teach Jacob the decrees
 And to enlighten Israel with his law.
 Strangers conspired against him, 11
 And envied him in the desert;
 The men with Dathan and Abiram,
 And the company of Korah, in their wrath and anger.
 The Lord saw it and was not pleased, 11
 And they were destroyed by his fierce anger;
 He executed signs upon them,
 To devour them with his blazing fire.
 And he increased Aaron's glory, 21
 And gave him his inheritance;
 He apportioned to him the very first of the first fruits;
 He prepared the Presentation Bread in abundance,
 For they are to eat the sacrifices of the 2
 Lord,
 Which he gave to him and his posterity.
 But he has no share in the land of the 2
 people,
 And he has no portion among the people,
 For he himself is your portion and your inheritance.
 Phineas, the son of Eleazar, is the 2
 third in glory,
 For he was zealous for the fear of the Lord,
 And stood fast, when the people turned away,
 In the goodness and eagerness of his soul,
 And made atonement for Israel.
 Therefore an agreement of peace was 2 established with him,
 That he should be the leader of the saints and of his people,
 That he and his posterity should possess
 The dignity of the priesthood forever.
 And an agreement was made with 2
 David,
 The son of Jesse, of the tribe of Judah;
 As the king's inheritance passes only from son to son,
 The inheritance of Aaron is for his posterity.

26 May he give you wisdom of mind
 To judge his people with uprightness
 So that their prosperity may not come to an end,
 But their glory may last through all their generations.

46 Joshua, the son of Nun, was mighty in war,
 And the successor of Moses in prophesying.
 He became, as his name describes him,
 Great to save his chosen,
 To take vengeance on the enemies that rose up against them,
 So that he might give Israel their possessions.

2 How glorious he was when he lifted up his hands,
 And pointed his sword at the towns!
 3 Before him who ever stood so fast?
 For he carried on the wars of the Lord.

4 Was not the sun stayed by his hand,
 And one day increased to two?

5 He called on the Most High Ruler,
 When his enemies pressed upon him on all sides,
 And the great Lord answered him
 6 With hailstones of mighty power.
 He made war burst upon that nation,
 And at the descent he destroyed his opponents,
 So that the heathen might recognize his armor,
 And know that he fought in the sight
 of the Lord.

This champion was followed by one 7 Who in the days of Moses did an act of piety,
 No other than Caleb, the son of Jephunneh,
 Who stood opposed to the community,
 And restrained the people from sin,
 And quieted their wicked grumbling.
 These two alone were preserved

8 Out of six hundred thousand people
 on foot,
 To bring them into their possessions,
 To a land running with milk and honey.

9 And the Lord gave Caleb strength,
 And it remained with him until he was old,
 So that he climbed the heights of the
 land,
 And his posterity obtained a heritage,
 10 So that all the sons of Israel might see That it is good to follow after the Lord.

11 The judges too, with their various names,

All whose hearts did not fall into idolatry,
 And who did not turn away from the Lord—
 May their memory be blessed!
 May their bones revive where they 12
 lie,
 And their names be transmitted
 To the descendants of their renown.
 There was Samuel, beloved by his 13
 Lord;
 A prophet of the Lord, he established the kingdom,
 And anointed princes over his people.
 By the Law of the Lord he judged the 14 community,
 And the Lord showed regard for Jacob.
 By his faithfulness he was proved a 15
 prophet,
 And he was known to be trustworthy through the words of his vision,
 And he called upon the Lord, his 16
 Master,
 When his enemies pressed him on
 every side,
 And he offered him a suckling lamb;
 Then the Lord thundered from 17
 heaven,
 And made his voice heard with a loud noise,
 And he wiped out the rulers of the 18
 Tyrians
 And all the princes of the Philistines.
 And before he fell asleep forever, 19
 He called them to witness, before the Lord and his anointed,
 "From no human being have I taken his property,
 Even as much as a pair of shoes,"
 And no one accused him.
 Even after he fell asleep he prophe- 20
 sied,
 And showed the king his end,
 And lifted his voice out of the earth
 In prophecy, to blot out the wickedness of the people.

After him Nathan arose, 47
 To prophesy in the days of David.
 Just as the fat is separated from the 2
 offering,
 David was separated from the Israelites.
 He played with lions as though they 3
 were kids,
 And with bears as though they were lambs of the flock.
 In his youth did he not kill a giant, 4
 And relieve the people of reproach,

- When he lifted his hand with a stone in the sling,
And brought down the boasting of Goliath?
- 5 For he called on the Lord, the Most High,
And he gave strength to his right hand
To slay a mighty warrior,
And to exalt the strength of his people.
- 6 So they lauded him for his ten thousands,
And praised him for the blessings of
the Lord,
When the glorious diadem was brought to him.
- 7 For he wiped out his enemies on every side,
And annihilated his adversaries the Philistines,
He crushed their strength, unto this
day.
Over all that he did he gave thanks
- 8 To the Holy One, the Most High, with words of praise.
He sang praise with his whole heart,
And he loved his Maker.
- 9 He placed singers before the altar,
To make sweet melody with their voices.
- 10 He gave dignity to the festivals,
And set the seasons in order throughout the year,
While they praised God's holy name,
And the sanctuary rang with it from early morning.
- 11 The Lord took away his sins,
And exalted his strength forever,
And gave him the agreement about the kings,
And a glorious throne in Israel.
- 12 After him arose his wise son,
Who lived in wide borders because of
him;
- 13 Solomon reigned in days of peace,
And God gave him rest on every side,
So that he might erect a house in his
name,
And provide a sanctuary forever.
- 14 How wise you became in your youth,
And how full of understanding, like a river!
- 15 Your soul covered the earth,
And you filled it with puzzling proverbs.
- 16 Your name reached distant islands,
And you were loved for your peaceful sway.

For your songs and proverbs and fig- 17
ures,
And your expositions, the countries wondered at you.
Through the name of the Lord God, 18
Who is called the God of Israel,
You gathered gold like tin,
And accumulated silver like lead.
You laid your flanks beside women, 19
And were brought into subjection by your body.
You brought a stain upon your fame, 20
And polluted your posterity,
So that you brought wrath upon your
children,
And they were grieved at your folly,
So that the sovereignty was divided, 21
And a disobedient kingdom arose out of Ephraim.
But the Lord will not forsake his 22
mercy,
And he will not prove false to any of
his words,
Nor will he blot out the descendants of his chosen,
Nor destroy the posterity of him who loved him.
For he gave Jacob a remnant,
And David a root sprung from him.
So Solomon rested with his fore- 23
fathers,
And left behind him one of his own
children,
"The people's folly," a man wanting in understanding,
Rehoboam, who by his counsel made the people revolt.
And there was Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who made Israel sin,
And showed Ephraim a sinful way.
Their sins became so exceedingly 24
many
That they dislodged them from their
land.
For they sought out every kind of 25
wickedness,
Until vengeance should come upon
them.
Then the prophet Elijah arose like 44
fire,
And his word burned like a torch;
He brought a famine upon them, 2
And made them few by his zeal,
By the word of the Lord he shut up 3
heaven;
In the same way, he brought down fire three times.
How glorified you were, Elijah, in 4
your wonderful acts,

- And who can glory like you?
 5 You who raised one who was dead,
 from death,
 And from Hades, by the word of the Most High;
 6 Who brought kings down to destruction,
 And distinguished men from their
 beds.
 7 Who heard rebukes at Sinai,
 And judgments of vengeance at Horeb;
 8 Who anointed kings to exact retribu-
 tion,
 And prophets to succeed him;
 9 Who were taken up in a whirlwind of
 fire,
 In a chariot with fiery horses;
 10 Who, it is written, is to come in rebuke at the appointed time,
 To quiet anger before it becomes wrath,
 To turn the heart of the father to his son,
 And to reform the tribes of Jacob.
 11 Happy are those who saw you,
 And those who fell asleep in love;
 For we will surely live.
 12 When Elijah was sheltered by the whirlwind,
 Elisha was filled with his spirit.
 In all his days he was not shaken by any ruler
 And no one overmastered him.
 13 Nothing was too wonderful for him,
 And when he had fallen asleep, his body prophesied.
 14 In his life he did signs,
 And after his death he worked wonders.
 15 For all this the people did not repent,
 And did not forsake their sins,
 Until they were carried away captive from their land,
 And scattered over all the earth.
 And the people were left very few in number,
 But a prince remained in the house of David.
 16 Some of them did what was right,
 And some of them sinned more and
 more.
 17 Hezekiah fortified his city,
 And brought water into the midst of it;
 He dug the sheer rock with iron,
 And built wells for water.
 18 In his days Sennacherib came up,
 And sent the commander, and departed.
- And he raised his hand against Zion,
 And uttered great boasts in his arrogance;
 Then their hearts and hands were 19
 shaken,
 And they suffered like women in travail
 Then they called upon the Lord, who 20
 is merciful,
 Spreading out their hands to him,
 And the Holy One heard them speedily from heaven,
 And delivered them by the hand of Isaiah.
 He struck the camp of the Assyrians, 21
 And his angel wiped them out.
 For Hezekiah did what pleased the 22
 Lord,
 And was strong in the ways of his forefather David,
 Which the prophet Isaiah commanded,
 Who was great and faithful in his prophetic vision.
 In his days the sun went back, 23
 And prolonged the life of the king.
 Through the spirit of might he fore- 24
 saw the future,
 And comforted those who mourned in
 Zion.
 He revealed the things that were to 25
 be, forever,
 And the hidden things, before they
 came to pass.
 The memory of Josiah is like a 49 blending of incense
 Carefully prepared by the perfumer; Everyone finds it sweet as honey to the taste,
 And like music at a banquet.
 He succeeded in converting the peo- 2
 ple,
 And abolished the wicked abomina-
 tions.
 He made his heart right with the 3
 Lord,
 In the days of wicked men he encouraged godliness.
 Except David and Hezekiah and 4 Josiah,
 They all sinned greatly,
 For they forsook the Law of the Most High.
 The kings of Judah failed utterly,
 For they gave their strength to others, 5
 And their glory to a foreign nation.
 They set fire to the city chosen for the 6
 sanctuary,
 And made her streets desolate,

- 7 For the sake of Jeremiah; for they had misused him;
Though he was consecrated before his birth to be a prophet,
To root up and injure and ruin,
Likewise to build and to plant.
- 8 It was Ezekiel who saw the glorious vision,
Which he showed him upon the chariot borne by the winged creatures.
- 9 For he remembers his enemies with rain,
And to do good to those who make their paths straight.
- 10 And may the bones of the Twelve Prophets revive out of their place,
For they comforted Jacob,
And delivered them with their confident hope.
- 11 How shall we magnify Zerubbabel?
For he was like a signet on the right hand;
So was Jeshua, the son of Jozadak,
- 12 For they in their days rebuilt the house,
And raised a temple holy to the Lord,
Prepared for everlasting glory.
- 13 The memory of Nehemiah also is lasting,
For he raised up for us the walls which had fallen,
And set up barred gates,
And rebuilt our houses.
- 14 No one was ever created on earth like Enoch
For he was taken up from the earth;
- 15 Nor was a man ever born like Joseph,
The leader of his brothers, the support of the people;
And his bones were cared for.
- 16 Shem and Seth were greatly honored above other men,
But above every living thing was Adam in his creation.
- 50 It was Simon, the son of Onias, the great priest,
Who in his lifetime repaired the house,
And in his days strengthened the sanctuary.
- 2 He laid the foundation for the height of the double wall,
The lofty substructure for the temple inclosure.
- 3 In his days a water cistern was hewed out,
A reservoir in circumference like the sea.
- He took thought for his people to keep them from calamity,
And fortified the city against siege.
How glorious he was, surrounded by the people,
As he came out of the sanctuary!
Like the morning star among the clouds,
Like the moon when it is full;
Like the sun shining forth upon the sanctuary of the Most High;
Like the rainbow, showing itself among glorious clouds,
Like roses in the days of first fruits,
Like lilies by a spring of water,
Like a sprig of frankincense, on summer days,
Like fire and incense in the censer,
Like a dish of beaten gold,
Adorned with all kinds of precious stones;
Like an olive putting forth its fruit,
And like a cypress towering among the clouds.
When he assumed his glorious robe,
And put on glorious perfection,
And when he went up to the holy altar,
He made the court of the sanctuary glorious.
And when he received the portions from the hands of the priests,
As he stood by the hearth of the altar,
With his brothers like a wreath about him,
He was like a young cedar on Lebanon,
And they surrounded him like the trunks of palm trees,
All the descendants of Aaron in their splendor,
With the Lord's offering in their hands,
Before the whole assembly of Israel;
And when he finished the service at the altars,
To adorn the offering of the Most High, the Almighty,
He stretched out his hand to the cup,
And poured out some of the blood of the grape;
He poured it out at the foot of the altar,
A fragrant odor unto the Most High, the King of All.
Then the descendants of Aaron shouted;
They sounded the trumpets of beaten work;

They made a great sound heard,
 For a reminder, before the Most High.
 17 Then all the people made haste together,
 And fell upon their faces on the ground,
 To worship their Lord,
 The Almighty, the Most High.
 18 The singers too praised him with their voices;
 They made sweet music in the fullest volume.
 19 And the people intreated the Lord Most High,
 With prayer before him who is merciful,
 Until the worship of the Lord should be finished,
 And they completed his service.
 20 Then he came down and lifted his hands
 Over the whole assembly of the descendants of Israel,
 To pronounce the blessing of the Lord with his lips,
 And to exult in his name.
 21 And they prostrated themselves a second time,
 To receive the blessing from the Most High.
 22 Now bless the God of all,
 Who in every way does great things;
 Who exalts our days from our birth,
 And deals with us according to his mercy.
 23 May he give us gladness of heart,
 And may there be peace in our days
 In Israel, and through the days of eternity.
 24 May he intrust his mercy to us,
 And let him deliver us in our days.
 25 With two nations my soul is vexed,
 And the third is no nation;
 26 They who live on the mountain of Samaria, and the Philistines,
 And the foolish people that live in Shechem.
 Instruction in understanding and knowledge 27 Has Jeshua, son of Sirach, son of Eleazar, of Jerusalem, Written in this book,
 Who poured forth wisdom from his mind.
 28 Happy is he who concerns himself with these things,
 And he that lays them up in his mind will become wise.

For if he does them, he will be strong 29
 for all things,
 For the light of the Lord is his path.
 I will give thanks to you, Lord and 51
 King,
 And praise you as God my Savior.
 I give thanks to your name,
 For you have been my protector and 2
 helper,
 And have delivered my body from destruction,
 And from the snare of a slanderous tongue.
 From lips that utter lies,
 And before those who stood by,
 You were my helper and delivered me, 3
 In the greatness of your mercy and of your name,
 From the gnashing of teeth when I was about to be devoured,
 From the hand of those who sought my life,
 From the numerous troubles that I had,
 From choking fire all around me, 4
 And from the midst of a flame which I had not kindled,
 From the depth of the heart of Hades, 5
 And from the unclean tongue and the lying speech.
 An unrighteous tongue uttered slander 6
 to the king;
 My soul drew nigh to death,
 And my life was near to Hades beneath;
 They surrounded me on every side, 7
 and there was no one to help me;
 I looked for the help of men, and there was none.
 Then I remembered your mercy, Lord, 8
 And your work which has been from of old,
 For you deliver those who wait for you,
 And save them from the hand of their enemies.
 And I sent up my supplication from 9
 the earth,
 And prayed for deliverance from death.
 I besought the Lord, the father of my 10
 lord,
 Not to forsake me in my days of trouble,
 At the time when there is no help against the proud.
 I said, "I will praise your name con- 11
 tinually,
 And praise you with thanksgiving."
 And my prayer was heard,

- 12 For you saved me from destruction,
And delivered me from my emergency.
Therefore I will give thanks to you and praise you,
And bless the name of the Lord.
- 13 When I was very young, before I went on my wanderings,
I sought wisdom expressly in my
prayer;
- 14 In front of the temple I asked for her,
And I will search for her unto the end.
- 15 From her flower as from her ripening grape,
My heart delighted in her.
My foot trod in uprightness;
From my youth I followed her steps.
- 16 I bowed my ear a little and received
her,
And found much instruction for myself.
- 17 I made progress in her;
And to him who gave me wisdom I will give glory.
- 18 For I resolved to practice her,
And I was zealous for the good, and I shall not be disappointed.
- 19 My soul grappled with her,
And in the fulfilment of the Law I was very strict.
I spread out my hands to heaven
above,
And lamented my ignorance of her.
- 20 I directed my soul to her,
And through purification I found her.

I gained my purpose with her from
the beginning;
Therefore I will not be forsaken.
My heart was stirred to seek her; 21
Therefore I obtained a good possession.

The Lord gave me the power to 22 speak as my reward,
And I will praise him with it.
Come to me, you who are untaught, 23
And pass the night in the house of instruction.

Why do you say you are wanting in 24
these things,
And that your souls are very thirsty?
I opened my mouth and said, 25
Get her for yourselves without money,
Put your neck under her yoke, 26
And let your soul receive instruction.

She is to be found close by.
See with your own eyes that I have 27 worked but little,
And yet found myself much repose.
Get some instruction with a great 28
sum in silver,
And you will gain much gold with it.
Let your soul delight in his mercy, 29
And may you not be disappointed for praising him.

Finish your work in time, 30
And in his own time he will give you your reward.

THE BOOK OF BARUCH

1 THese are the words of the book that Baruch the son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, the son of Zedekiah, the son of Hasadiah, 2 the son of Hilkiah, wrote in Babylon, in the fifth year, on the seventh day of the month, at the time when the Chaldeans took Jerusalem and burned it with fire. 3 And Baruch read the words of this book in the hearing of Jeconiah, the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, in the hearing of all the people who came to 4 hear the book read, and in the hearing of the nobles and the princes, and in the hearing of the elders, and in the hearing of all the people, small and great—in fact, of all who lived in Babylon, by the River Sud. Then they wept, and fasted, and prayed before the Lord; 6 and they raised money, each one giving 7 what he could, and they sent it to Jerusalem, to Jehoiakim the high priest, the son of Hilkiah, the son of Shallum, and to the priests, and to all the people that were found with him in Jerusalem, 8 when he took the plate of the house of the Lord that had been carried away from the temple, to return it to the land of Judah—the silver dishes which Zedekiah the son of Josiah, king of 9 Judah, had made, after Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had carried off Jeconiah and the officers and captives and nobles and the common people from Jerusalem, and taken him to 10 Babylon. And they said,

“Here we send you money, so buy with the money burnt offerings and sin offerings and incense and prepare a grain offering, and offer them upon the altar 11 of the Lord our God, and pray for the life of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and for the life of Belshazzar his son, that their days may be like the 12 days of heaven, upon the earth. And the Lord will give us strength, and he will give sight to our eyes, and he will live under the shadow of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and under the shadow of Belshazzar his son, and we will serve them for a long time and find favor in their sight. Pray for us to the 13 Lord our God, for we have sinned against the Lord our God, and to this day the anger of the Lord and his wrath have not turned away from us. So read this scroll, which we send to 14 you, to make your confession in the house of the Lord, on festival days and on days of assembly. And you shall say, 15

“Uprightness belongs to the Lord our God, but confusion of face, as on this day, befits us, the men of Judah, and the residents of Jerusalem, and our 16 kings and our officials, and our priests and our prophets, and our forefathers; for we have sinned before the Lord, 17 and disobeyed him, and we have not 18 obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, so as to follow the commands of the Lord which he set before us. From 19 the day when the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, until today, we have been disobedient to the Lord our God, and we have been neglectful, in not obeying his voice. And 20 misfortunes have attended us, and the curse has come upon us which the Lord agreed upon with Moses his servant, on the day when he brought our forefathers out of the land of Egypt, to give us a land that ran with milk and honey, as they have this day. And we 21 did not obey the voice of the Lord our God, expressed in all the words of the prophets whom he sent to us, but we 22 followed each one the design of his own wicked heart so as to serve other gods, and do what was evil in the eyes of the Lord our God. So the Lord made good 2 his word which he uttered against us, and against our judges who judged Israel, and against our kings and against our officials and against the men of Israel and Judah. Nowhere 2 under heaven have such calamities occurred as he has brought upon Jerusalem, as it was written in the Law of Moses, so that one of us ate the flesh 3 of his son, and another of us ate the flesh of his daughter. He has made us 4 subject to all the kingdoms around us, to be a reproach and a desolation among all the peoples about us, where 5 the Lord has scattered them. They were brought low and not raised up, because we had sinned against the Lord our God, in not obeying his voice.

6 "Uprightness belongs to the Lord our God, but confusion of face befits us and our forefathers, as it does this day.

7 All the calamities with which the Lord
 8 threatened us have overtaken us. Yet we have not besought the Lord by turning away, each of us, from the designs
 9 of his wicked heart. And the Lord has watched for these calamities and has brought them upon us, for the Lord is upright in all his doings which he has 10 commanded us to imitate. Yet we have not obeyed his voice and followed the Lord's commands, which he has set before us.

11 "And now, Lord God of Israel, who brought your people out of Egypt with a strong hand and with portents and wonders, and with great power and an uplifted arm, and made yourself such 12 a name as yours is today, we have sinned, we have been ungodly, we have done wrong, Lord our God, in the face
 13 of all your ordinances. Let your anger be turned away from us, for few of us are left, among the heathen, where you 14 have scattered us. Listen, Lord, to our prayer and our petition, and for your sake deliver us, and grant us favor in the eyes of those who have led us into 15 captivity, so that the whole earth may know that you are the Lord our God, for Israel and his descendants are 16 called by your name. Lord, look down from your holy dwelling, and think about us. Turn your ear to us, Lord, 17 and hear us; open your eyes and see; for the dead, who are in Hades, whose breath has been taken from their bodies, cannot ascribe glory and up-
 18 rightness to the Lord, but the soul that grieves greatly, that goes about bent over and sick, with failing sight—the soul that hungers will ascribe glory and 19 uprightness to you, Lord. For it is not for the upright acts of our forefathers and of our kings that we present our prayer for pity before you, O Lord our 20 God. For you have inflicted your anger and your wrath upon us, just as you promised through your servants the prophets to do, when you said, 21 "Thus says the Lord: Bow your shoulders and work for the king of Babylon, and stay in the land which I gave to your forefathers. But if you 22 will not obey the voice of the Lord, and serve the king of Babylon, I will put 23 an end to the sound of joy and the sound of gladness, the voice of bridegroom and the voice of bride, in the towns of Judah and in Jerusalem, and the whole country will become un-trodden and uninhabited."

"But we did not obey your voice 24 and serve the king of Babylon, and you made good your words that you had spoken through your servants the prophets, that the bones of our kings and the bones of our forefathers should be taken out of their places, and behold 25 they are thrown out to the heat by day and to the frost by night; and they perished in great misery, by famine and the sword and expulsion. And the 26 house that was called by your name you have made as it is today, because of the wickedness of the house of Israel and of the house of Judah. Yet 27 you have dealt with us, O Lord our God, with all your forbearance and all your great compassion, as you promised 28 through your servant Moses to do, when you commanded him to write the Law before the sons of Israel, and said,

"Unless you obey my voice, this 29 great buzzing multitude will surely turn into a small number among the heathen where I will scatter them. For I know that they will not listen to 30 me, for they are a stiff-necked people. But in the land to which they are carried away they will come to themselves, and they will know that I am 31 the Lord their God. I will give them minds and ears to listen, and they will 32 praise me in the land to which they are carried away, and they will remember my name, and they will turn from their 33 obstinacy and their wicked doings, for they will remember what befell their forefathers who sinned in the sight of the Lord. Then I will restore them to 34 the land that I swore to give to their forefathers, Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, and they will possess it; and I will multiply them, and they will not be despised. And I will make an ever- 35 lasting agreement with them that I shall be their God and they shall be my people. And I will never again re-

- move my people Israel from the land which I have given them."
- 3 "O Lord Almighty, God of Israel, the soul in anguish and the wearied spirit cry out to you. Listen, Lord, and have mercy, for we have sinned in your sight. For you abide forever, and we perish forever. O Lord Almighty, God of Israel, hear the prayer of the dead in Israel, and of the sons of those who sinned in your sight, who did not obey the voice of the Lord their God, so that calamities have pursued us. Do not remember the iniquities of our forefathers, but remember your power and your name at this time, for you are the Lord our God, and we will praise you, O Lord. For you have put your fear into our hearts for this reason, that we should call upon your name, and we will praise you in our exile, for we have put out of our hearts all the iniquity of our forefathers, who sinned in your sight. Here we are today in exile, where you have scattered us, to be reproached and cursed and condemned for all the iniquities of our forefathers who rebelled against the Lord our God."
- 9 Hear the commandments of life, O Israel;
Listen, and learn wisdom.
- 10 Why is it, Israel, that you are in the land of your enemies,
That you have grown old in a strange land,
That you have been polluted with the dead,
- 11 That you are counted among those in Hades?
- 12 You have forsaken the spring of wisdom.
- 13 If you had walked in the way of God,
You would have lived in peace forever.
- 14 Learn where wisdom is, where strength is,
Where understanding is, so that you may at the same time learn Where length of days and life are,
Where there is light for the eyes, and peace.
- 15 Who can find her location,
And who can get into her storehouses?
- 16 Where are the rulers of the heathen,
And those who master the animals of the earth,
- 17 Who have their sport with the wild birds,
- And lay up silver and gold,
In which men trust,
And have property without end;
Who work in silver and anxious care, 18
And whose works defy investigation?
They have vanished and gone to 19
Hades,
And others have taken their places.
A younger generation has seen the 20
light
And settled on the earth,
But they have not learned the way to knowledge,
Nor understood its paths, 21
Nor laid hold of it.
Their sons have strayed far out of their way;
It was never heard of in Canaan, 22
Or seen in Teman;
The sons of Hagar, who seek for un- 23
derstanding on the earth,
The merchants of Merran and Teman,
The story-tellers and the searchers for understanding
Have not found the way to wisdom,
Or remembered its paths.
O Israel, how great is the house of 24
God,
And how vast the region that he possesses!
It is great, it has no end; 25
It is immeasurably high.
There were born the giants, famous of 26
old,
Tall in stature, expert in war.
God did not choose them 27
Or give them the way of knowledge.
So they perished, because they had no 28
understanding;
They perished through their own folly.
Who ever went up to heaven and got 29
her,
And brought her down from the clouds?
Who ever crossed the sea and found 30
her,
And will buy her with fine gold?
No one knows the way to her, 31
Or concerns himself with the path to
her.
But he who knows all things knows 32
her,
He has discovered her through his
understanding.
He who created the earth forever,
Filled it with four-footed creatures;
He who sends forth the light, and it 33 goes;
He called it, and it obeyed him in fear;

- 34 The stars shone in their watches, and were glad;
He called them, and they said, "Here we are!"
They shone with gladness for him who made them.
- 35 He is our God;
No other can be compared with him!
- 36 He found out the whole way to knowledge,
And has given it to Jacob his servant
And to Israel, whom he loved.
- 37 After that, she appeared on the earth
And mingled with men.
- 4 This is the book of the commandments of God,
And the Law, that will endure forever.
All those who hold fast to it will live,
But those who forsake it will die.
- 2 Come back, Jacob, and take hold of it;
Approach the radiance from her light.
- 3 Do not give your glory to another,
And your benefits to an alien people.
- 4 Blessed are we, Israel,
Because we know the things that please God.
- 5 Have no fear, my people,
For the memorial of Israel;
- 6 You have been sold to the heathen,
Not to be destroyed,
But because you had angered God
You were handed over to your adversaries.
- 7 For you provoked him who made you
By sacrificing to demons, and not to God.
- 8 You forgot the everlasting God, who had brought you up,
And you grieved Jerusalem, that had reared you,
- 9 For she saw the anger that has come upon you from God, and said,
"Listen, you women who live in Zion.
God has brought great sorrow upon me.
- 10 For I have witnessed the capture of my sons and daughters,
Which the Everlasting has brought upon them.
- 11 For I nursed them in gladness,
But I have sent them away with weeping and sorrow.
- 12 Let no one exult over a widow like me, Forsaken by so many;
I have been left desolate because of the sins of my children,
Because they turned away from the Law of God.
- 13 But they would not learn his ordinances,

Or walk in the ways of God's commands,
Or follow the paths of correction in his uprightness.

Let the women who live in Zion come, 14
And remember the taking captive of my sons and daughters,
Which the Everlasting has brought upon them.

For he brought a nation from far away 15
against them,
A ruthless nation, of strange speech,
Who had no respect for an old man
And no pity for a child,
And they led the widow's beloved sons 16
away,
And left the lonely woman bereft of her daughters.

"But how can I help you? 17
For he who has brought these calamities 18
upon you
Will deliver you from the hands of your enemies.

Go, my children, go, 19
For I am left desolate.
I have taken off the clothing of peace, 20
And put on the sackcloth of my supplication;
I will cry out to the Everlasting all my days.

Have courage, my children, cry out to 21
God,
And he will save you from subjection,
from the hands of your enemies;
For I have set on the Everlasting my 22
hope that he will save you.

And joy has come to me from the Holy One for the mercy
Which will soon come to you, from your everlasting Savior.

For I sent you out with sorrow and 23
weeping,
But God will give you back to me with joy and gladness forever.

For just as the women who live in 24
Zion have just now seen your deportation,
So they will soon see your deliverance come from your God,
Which will come upon you with the great glory and splendor of the Everlasting.

My children, endure patiently the 25
anger that has come upon you from God,
For your enemy has overtaken you;
But you will soon witness his destruction,
And put your feet upon their necks.

26 My luxurious ones have traveled rough roads,
They have been taken away like a flock carried off by enemies.

27 Have courage, my children, and cry out to God,
For you will be remembered by him who brought this upon you.

28 For as the thought once came to you to go astray from God,
You must return and seek him with tenfold fervor.

29 For he who has brought these calamities upon you Will bring you everlasting joy with your deliverance."

30 Take courage, Jerusalem,
For he who named you will comfort you.

31 Those who did you harm and rejoiced at your fall will be miserable;

32 The towns which enslaved your children will be miserable;
She who received your sons will be miserable.

33 For as she rejoiced at your fall,
And was glad of your ruin,
So she shall be grieved at her own desolation.

34 And I will take away her exultation in her great population,
And her boasting will be turned to sorrow.

35 For from the Everlasting fire will descend upon her for many days,
And she will be a habitation of demons for a long time.

36 Look away eastward, Jerusalem,
And see the gladness that is coming to you from God.

37 See, your sons are coming, whom you sent away,
They are coming, gathered from east to west, at the command of the Holy One,
Rejoicing in the glory of God.

38 Take off the clothes of your sorrow and your harsh treatment, Jerusalem,
And put on forever the beauty of the glory that is from God.

39 Put on the cloak of the uprightness that is from God,
Put on your head the headdress of the glory of the Everlasting.

40 For God will show your splendor to all that is under heaven.

41 For your name will forever be called by God

The Peace of Uprightness and the Glory of Godliness.
Arise, Jerusalem, and stand upon the height,
And look away to the east,
And see your children gathered from the setting of the sun to its rising, at the command of the Holy One,
Rejoicing that God has remembered them.

42 For they went forth from you being led away on foot by their enemies,
But God will bring them in to you
Carried aloft in glory, like a royal throne.

43 For God has ordained that every high mountain and the everlasting hills shall be made low,
And the valleys filled up to make level ground,
So that Israel may go safely, to the glory of God.

44 And the woods and every fragrant tree have shaded Israel, at God's command,
For God will lead Israel with joy, by the light of his glory,
With the mercy and uprightness that come from him.

THE LETTER OF JEREMIAH

A copy of a letter which Jeremiah sent to the captives who were to be taken to Babylon by the king of Babylon, to report to them as he had been commanded by God.

Because of the sins which you have committed in the sight of God, you will be taken to Babylon as captives by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon. So when you reach Babylon, you will stay there for many years, and for a long time, seven generations; but afterward I will bring you away from there in peace. Now in Babylon you will see gods made of silver and gold and wood, carried on men's shoulders, inspiring fear in the heathen. So beware of becoming just like the foreigners, and being filled with awe at them, when you see the throng before and behind them worshipping them, but say in your heart, "Lord, we must worship you." For an angel is with you, and he cares for your lives.

For their tongues are polished by a carpenter, and they are gilded and 9 silvered, but they are deceptions and cannot speak. And as though for a girl fond of ornament, they take gold and make crowns for the heads of their 10 gods, and sometimes the priests secretly withdraw gold and silver from their gods and lavish it upon them-11 selves, and give some of it even to the prostitutes upon the housetop. And they adorn them with clothes, like men, these gods of silver, gold, and 12 wood, though they cannot save themselves from being corroded with rust.

 When they have dressed them in purple 13 clothing, they wipe their faces because of the dust from the house which lies 14 thick upon them. He carries a scepter like a local human judge, though he cannot destroy anyone who sins against 15 him. He holds a dagger in his right hand and an ax, but he cannot save 16 himself from war and robbers. Therefore it is manifest that they are not gods, so you must not stand in awe of
 them.
 17 For just as a man's dish is useless
 when it is broken, so are their gods, when they have been set down in their houses. Their eyes are full of dust raised by the feet of those who come in.
 18 And just as the courtyard doors are shut upon a man who has offended against a king, as though sentenced to death, the priests close their houses securely with doors and locks and bars, so that they will not be plundered by 19 robbers. They burn lamps, and more than they themselves need, though 20 their gods can see none of them. They are just like one of the beams of the house, but men say their hearts are eaten out, and when vermin from the ground devour them and their cloth-21 ing, they do not perceive it; their faces are blackened by the smoke from the 22 temple. Bats, swallows, and birds light on their bodies and on their heads; so 23 do cats also. Therefore you may be sure they are not gods, so you must not stand in awe of them.
 24 As for the gold which they wear for ornament, they will not shine unless someone wipes off the rust; for even when they were being cast, they did 25 not feel it. They are bought at great cost, but there is no breath in them.
 26 As they have no feet, they are carried on men's shoulders, thus exposing their 27 own disgrace to men. Even those who attend them are ashamed, because if one of them falls on the ground, it cannot get up by itself. And if someone sets it up, it cannot move of itself, and if it is tipped, it cannot straighten itself up; but gifts are offered to them as if they were dead. What is sacrificed to 21 them their priests sell and use the proceeds of; and in like manner their wives preserve some of them, but give none of them to the poor or the helpless. A woman in her sickness or in 22 childbed can touch their sacrifices.

 Therefore, being assured from these facts that they are not gods, you must not stand in awe of them.

For how can they be called gods? 23
 For women set the tables for gods of silver, gold, and wood; and in their 3 temples the priests sit apart with their clothes torn open, and their heads and beards shaved and their heads uncovered, and they howl and shout be- 3:
 fore their gods as some do at a wake over a dead man. The priests take some 4 of their clothes from them and put them on their wives and children. And if they experience any injury or any benefit from anyone, they cannot repay it; they cannot set up a king, or put one down. In like manner, they cannot 5 bestow wealth or money; if someone makes a vow to them and does not fulfill it, they will not exact it. They can- 5:
 not save a man from death, nor rescue the weak from the strong. They can- 6:
 not restore a blind man's sight, they cannot deliver a man who is in distress.
 They cannot take pity on a widow, or 6 do good to an orphan. These things made of wood and plated with gold or silver are like stones from the mountain, and those who attend them will be put to shame. Why then should anyone 7 think them gods, or call them so?

Besides, even the Chaldeans themselves dishonor them, for when they 8 see a dumb man, who cannot speak, they bring him to Bel and pray that he may speak—as though Bel were able to understand. Yet they cannot 9 perceive this and abandon them, for they have no understanding themselves. And the women with ropes on 10 sit by the wayside, burning chaff for incense, and when one of them is dragged off by one of the passers-by and lain with, she derides her companion, because she has not been as much desired as herself, and has not had her 44 rope broken. Everything that is done to them is a deception. So why should anyone think them gods, or call them so?

45 They are made by carpenters and goldsmiths; they can be nothing but what the craftsmen wish them to be.

46 The very men who make them cannot last long; then how can the things that 47 are made by them be gods? For they have only deceptions and reproach for 48 those who come after. For when war or calamity overtakes them, the priests consult together as to where they can 49 hide themselves and their gods. How therefore can one fail to see that they are not gods, since they cannot save

50 themselves from war or disaster? For since they are made of wood and covered with gold or silver, it will eventually be found out that they are a

51 deception. It will be evident to all the heathen and their kings that they are not gods at all but the work of men's hands, and that there is no work of God

52 in them. Who then can be ignorant that they are not gods?

53 For they cannot set up a king over a

54 country, or give men rain; they cannot decide a case, or give relief to a man who is wronged; for they have no power; for like crows they are between 55 heaven and earth. For when a temple of wooden gods, or gilded or silvered ones, catches fire, their priests flee and save themselves, but they themselves

56 are burnt in two like beams. They can offer no resistance to a king or any enemies. Why then should anyone believe or suppose that they are gods?

57 Gods made of wood, silvered or gilded, cannot save themselves from 58 thieves or robbers, and the gold and silver on them, and the clothes they have on, those who are strong enough will strip from them and carry off, and they will not be able to help themselves.

So it is better to be a king who can 59 show his courage, or a household dish, that serves its owner's purpose, than such false gods; or even a house door that keeps what is in the house safe, than such false gods; or a wooden pillar

in a palace, than such false gods.
For sun, moon, and stars shine, and 60

when they are sent to perform a service, they obey; in like manner lightning, 61

when it flashes, is widely visible, and in the same way the wind blows in every land; and when God commands 62

the clouds to spread over the whole world, they carry out his order. And 63

the fire sent from above to consume mountains and forests does as it is ordered. But these cannot be compared with them in their manifestations or their powers. Therefore you 64 must not think that they are gods, or call them so, since they are unable to decide cases or to benefit men. So as 65

you know that they are not gods, you must not stand in awe of them.

For they can neither curse kings nor 66 bless them; they cannot show portents 67

in the heavens before the nations, or shine like the sun, or give light like the moon. The wild animals are better 68 than they are, for they can flee to cover and help themselves. So in no 69 way is it evident to us that they are gods; therefore you must not stand in awe of them.

For just as a scarecrow in a cucumber 70 bed gives no protection, their wooden, gilded, and silvered gods give none.

In like manner, their wooden, gilded, 71 and silvered gods are like a white thorn in a garden, on which every bird settles; and like a corpse, thrown out into the darkness. From the purple and 72 fine linen that rot upon them, you can tell that they are not gods; and they will finally be consumed themselves, and be despised in the land. An upright 73 man who has no idols is far better, for he will be far above reproach.

THE STORY OF SUSANNA

1 THERE once lived in Babylon
2 a man named Joakim. He married a wife named Susanna, the daughter of Hilkiyah, a very 3 beautiful and pious woman. Her parents also were upright people and instructed their daughter in the Law of 4 Moses. Joakim was very rich, and he had a fine garden adjoining his house;
and the Jews used to come to visit him because he was the most distinguished of them all.

5 That year two of the elders of the people were appointed judges—men of the kind of whom the Lord said,

“Lawlessness came forth from Babylon, from elders who were judges, who were supposed to guide the people.”

6 These men came constantly to Joakim's house, and all who had cases 7 to be decided came to them there. And it happened that when the people left at midday, Susanna would go into her 8 husband's garden and walk about. So the two elders saw her every day, as she went in and walked about, and they 9 conceived a passion for her. So their thoughts were perverted and they turned away their eyes, so as not to look up to heaven or consider justice in 10 giving judgment. They were both smitten with her, but they could not disclose 11 their pain to each other, for they were ashamed to reveal their passion, for they desired to have relations with her, 12 and they watched jealously every day 13 for a sight of her. And they said to one another,

“Let us go home, for it is dinner-time.”

14 So they went out of the garden and parted from one another; then they turned back and encountered one another. And when they cross-questioned one another as to the explanation, they admitted their passion. Then they agreed together upon a time when they would be able to find her alone.

15 Now it happened, as they were watching for an opportunity, that she went in one day as usual with no one but her two maids, and wished to bathe in the garden, as it was very hot.

And there was no one there except the two elders who had hidden themselves and were watching her. And she said to her maids,

“Bring me olive oil and soap, and close the doors of the garden, so that I can bathe.”

And they did as she told them, and shut the doors of the garden, and went out at the side doors to bring what they had been ordered to bring, and they did not see the elders, for they were hidden. And when the maids went out, the two elders got up and ran to her
and said,

“Here the doors of the garden are shut and no one can see us, and we are in love with you, so give your consent and lie with us. If you do not, we will testify against you that there was a young man with you, and that was why you dismissed your maids.”

And Susanna groaned and said,

“I am in a tight place. For if I do this, it means my death; but if I refuse, I cannot escape your hands. I had rather not do it and fall into your hands than commit sin in the Lord's sight!”

Then Susanna gave a loud scream, and the two elders shouted against her.
And one of them ran and opened the garden doors. And when the people in the house heard the shouting in the garden, they rushed through the side doors to see what had happened to her.
And when the elders told their story, her slaves were deeply humiliated, for such a thing had never been said about Susanna.

The next day, when the people came together to her husband, Joakim, the two elders came, full of their wicked design to put Susanna to death. And they said before the people,

"Send for Susanna, the daughter of Hilkiiah, Joakim's wife."

30 And they did so. And she came, with her parents and her children, and all her 31 relatives. Now Susanna was accustomed to luxury and was very beauti-42 ful. And the lawbreakers ordered her to be unveiled, for she was wearing a veil, so that they might have their fill 33 of her beauty. And the people with her 34 and all who saw her wept. And the two elders stood up in the midst of the people and laid their hands on her head, 35 and she wept and looked up to heaven,
36 for her heart trusted in the Lord. And the elders said,

"As we were walking by ourselves in the garden, this woman came in with two maids, and shut the doors of the 17 garden and dismissed her maids, and a young man, who had been hidden, came to her, and lay down with her.
18 And we were in the corner of the garden, and when we saw this wicked
19 action, we ran up to them, and though we saw them together, we could not hold him, because he was stronger than we, and opened the doors and rushed 40 out. But we laid hold of this woman and asked her who the young man was; and she would not tell us. This is our testimony."

1 Then the assembly believed them, as they were elders of the people and judges, and they condemned her to 2 death. But Susanna uttered a loud cry, and said,

"Eternal God, you who know what is hidden, who know all things before 3 they happen, you know that what they have testified to against me is false, and here I am to die when I have done none of the things they have so wickedly charged me with."

4 And the Lord heard her cry, and as she was being led away to be put to death, God stirred up the holy spirit of a young man named Daniel,
6 and he loudly shouted,

"I am clear of the blood of this woman."

7 And all the people turned to him and said,

"What does this mean, that you have said?"

And he took his stand in the midst of 48 them and said,

"Are you such fools, you Israelites, that you have condemned a daughter of Israel without any examination or ascertaining of the truth? Go back to 49 the place of trial. For these men have borne false witness against her."

So all the people hurried back. And 50 the elders said to him,

"Come, sit among us and inform us, for God has given you the right to do so."

And Daniel said to them, 51
"Separate them widely from one another, and I will examine them."

And when they were separated from 52 each other, he called one of them to him, and said to him,

"You ancient of wicked days, how your sins have overtaken you, that you committed before, making unjust de-53 cisions, condemning the innocent and acquitting the guilty, although the Lord said, 'You shall not put an innocent and upright man to death.' So 54 now, if you saw this woman, tell us, under which tree did you see them meet?"

He answered,

"Under a mastic tree."

And Daniel said, 55

"You have told a fine lie against your own life, for already the angel of God has received the sentence from God, and he will cut you in two."

And he had him removed and ordered 56 them to bring in the other. And he said to him,

"You descendant of Canaan and not of Judah, beauty has beguiled you, and desire has corrupted your heart! This 57 is how you have been treating the daughters of Israel, and they yielded to you through fear, but a daughter of Judah would not endure your wickedness. So now tell me, Under which tree 58 did you catch them embracing each other?"

And he said,

"Under a liveoak tree."

And Daniel said to him, 59

"You have also told a fine lie against your own life! For the angel of God is waiting with his sword to saw you in two, to destroy you both."

60 And the whole company uttered a great shout and blessed God who saves 61 those who hope in him. And they threw themselves upon the two elders, for Daniel had convicted them out of their own mouths of having borne false wit-62 ness, and treated them as they had wickedly planned to treat their neighbor; they obeyed the Law of Moses and killed them. And innocent blood was saved that day.

And Hilkiyah and his wife praised 63
God for their daughter Susanna and so did Joakim her husband and all her relatives, because she had done nothing immodest. And from that day onward, 64 Daniel had a great reputation in the eyes of the people.

THE SONG OF THE THREE CHILDREN

AND they walked about in the midst of the fire, singing hymns to God and blessing the Lord. And Azariah stood still and uttered this prayer; in the midst of the fire he opened his mouth and said, 2 "Blessed are you, Lord God of our forefathers, and worthy of praise! Your name is glorified forever!
3 For you are upright in all that you have done;
All your works are true, and your ways straight,
And all your judgments are true. The sentences that you passed were just 4 In all that you have brought upon us, And upon Jerusalem, the Holy City of our forefathers.
For in truth and justice you have brought all these things upon us because of our sins.
5 For we have sinned and done wrong in forsaking you,
6 We have sinned grievously in everything, and have disobeyed your commands;
We have not observed them or done As you commanded us to do, for our own good.
7 All that you have brought upon us, and all that you have done to us, You have done in justice.
8 You have handed us over to enemies without law, to hateful rebels, And to a ruthless king, the most wicked ruler in all the world,
9 Yet we cannot open our mouths. Shame and disgrace have overtaken your slaves and your worshipers.
10 For the sake of your name, do not surrender us utterly;
Do not cancel your agreement,
11 And do not withdraw your mercy from us,
For the sake of Abraham whom you loved,
And for the sake of Isaac, your slave, And for the sake of Israel, your holy one, 12 To whom you spoke, and promised That you would make their descendants as many as the stars of heaven,

Or the sand that is on the seashore. For, Master, we have become fewer 13 than all the heathen,
And we are humiliated everywhere, because of our sins.
And now there is no prince, or 14 prophet, or leader,
No burnt offering, or sacrifice, or offering, or incense;
No place to make an offering before you, or to find mercy.
But may we be accepted through a 15 contrite heart and a humble spirit,
As though it were through whole 16 burnt offerings of rams and bulls, And through tens of thousands of fat lambs.
So let our sacrifice rise before you today,
And fully follow after you, For those who trust in you will not be disappointed.
So now we follow you with all our 17 hearts; we revere you
And seek your face. Do not disap- 18 point us,
But deal with us in your forbearance And your abundant mercy.
Deliver us in your wonderful way, 19 And glorify your name, Lord;
May all who do your slaves harm be disgraced;
May they be put to shame and lose all 20 their power and might,
And may their strength be broken. Let them know that you are the Lord 21 God alone, Glorious over the whole world."
Now the king's servants who threw 22 them in never ceased feeding the furnace fires with naphtha, pitch, tow, and faggots, and the flame streamed 23 out above the furnace for forty-nine cubits (seventy-three feet). It even 24 spread, and burned up those Chaldeans whom it found about the furnace. But 25 the angel of the Lord came down to join Azariah and his companions in the furnace, and drove the fiery blaze out of the furnace, and made the middle of 26

- the furnace as though a moist wind was whistling through it, and the fire did not touch them at all, or harm or trouble them.
- 27 Then all three, as with one mouth, praised, glorified, and blessed God in the furnace, and said,
- 28 "Blessed are you, Lord God of our forefathers,
And to be praised and greatly exalted forever.
- 29 And blessed is your glorious, holy name,
And to be highly praised and greatly exalted forever.
- 30 Blessed are you in the temple of your holy glory,
And to be highly praised and greatly glorified forever.
- 31 Blessed are you who sit upon winged creatures, and look into the depths,
And to be praised and greatly exalted forever.
- 32 Blessed are you on your kingly throne,
And to be highly praised and greatly exalted forever.
- 33 Blessed are you in the firmament of heaven,
And to be praised and glorified forever.
- 34 Bless the Lord, all you works of the Lord,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- 35 Bless the Lord, you heavens,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- 36 Bless the Lord, you angels of the Lord,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- 37 Bless the Lord, all you waters above the heaven,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- 38 Bless the Lord, all you powers,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- 39 Bless the Lord, sun and moon;
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- 40 Bless the Lord, you stars of heaven,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- 41 Bless the Lord, all rain and dew,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, all you winds, 42
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, fire and heat, 43
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, cold and warmth, 44
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, dews and snows, 45
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, nights and days, 46
Sing praise to him, and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, light and darkness, 47
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, ice and cold, 48
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, frosts and snows, 49
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, lightnings and clouds, 50
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Let the earth bless the Lord, 5
Let it sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, you mountains and 5
hills,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, all things that grow 5
on the earth,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, seas and rivers, 5
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, you springs, 5
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, you whales and all the 5 things that move in the waters,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, all you wild birds, 5
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, all you animals and 5
cattle,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.
- Bless the Lord, you sons of men, 5
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt him forever.

- 60 Bless the Lord, O Israel, Sing praise to him and greatly exalt
him forever.
- 61 Bless the Lord, you priests of the
Lord,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt
him forever.
- 62 Bless the Lord, you slaves of the Lord,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt
him forever.
- 63 Bless the Lord, spirits and souls of the upright,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt
him forever.
- 64 Bless the Lord, you who are holy and humble in heart,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt
him forever.

Bless the Lord, Hananiah, Azariah, 65
and Mishael,
Sing praise to him and greatly exalt
him forever.
For he has rescued us from Hades and saved us from the hand of death,
And delivered us from the burning fiery furnace;
From the midst of the fire he has delivered us.
Give thanks to the Lord, for he is 66
kind,
For his mercy endures forever.
Bless him, all you who worship the 67
Lord, the God of gods,
Sing praise to him and give thanks
to him,
For his mercy endures forever."

THE STORY OF BEL AND THE DRAGON

1 WHEN King Astyages was gathered to his fathers, Cyrus the Persian succeeded to his kingdom. And Daniel was a companion of the king, and was distinguished above all his other friends. Now the Babylonians had an idol called Bel, and every day they bestowed on it twelve bushels of fine flour and forty sheep and fifty gallons of wine. And the king revered it and went every day to worship it, but Daniel worshiped his own God. And the king said to him, "Why do you not worship Bel?"

5 And he said, "Because I do not revere artificial idols, but the living God, who created heaven and earth and is sovereign over all mankind."

6 And the king said to him, "Do you not think that Bel is a living God? Do you not see how much he eats and drinks every day?"

7 And Daniel laughed and said, "Do not be deceived, O king, for it is only clay inside and bronze outside, and never ate or drank anything."

8 Then the king was angry and called Bel's priests, and said to them, "If you cannot tell me who it is that eats up these provisions, you shall die, but if you can show me that Bel eats them, Daniel shall die, because he has uttered blasphemy against Bel."

And Daniel said to the king, "It shall be as you say."

10 Now the priests of Bel were seventy in number, beside their wives and children. So the king went with Daniel to the temple of Bel. And the priests of Bel said,

"See, we will go outside, and you, O king, must put the food on the table, and mix the wine and put it on, and shut the door and seal it with your signet. And when you come back in the morning, if you do not find that it is all eaten up by Bel, we will die; or Daniel will, who is making these false charges against us." For they scorned him, because they had made a secret entrance under the table, and through it they used to go in regularly and devour the offerings.

So it happened that when they had gone, the king put the food for Bel on the table. Then Daniel ordered his servants to bring ashes, and they scattered them over the whole temple, in the presence of the king alone. Then they went out, and shut the door, and sealed it with the king's signet, and went away. And the priests came in the night as usual, with their wives and children, and ate and drank it all up.

And the king rose early the next morning, and Daniel came with him.

And the king said, "Are the seals unbroken, Daniel?"

And he said,

"They are unbroken, O king."

And as soon as he opened the doors, the king looked at the table, and shouted loudly,

"You are great, O Bel, and there is no deception at all about you."

But Daniel laughed and held the king back from going in, and said to him,

"Look at the floor and observe whose footprints these are."

And the king said,

"I see the footprints of men, women, and children!"

Then the king was enraged, and he seized the priests and their wives and children, and they showed him the secret doors by which they got in and devoured what was on the table. So the king killed them, and he turned Bel over to Daniel, and he destroyed it and its temple.

Now there was a great serpent in that place, and the Babylonians worshiped it. And the king said to Daniel,

"You cannot deny that it is a living god, so worship it."

And Daniel said,

"I will worship the Lord my God, for he is a living God. But with your permission, O king, I will kill this serpent without sword or stick."

And the king said,

"You have my permission."

27 And Daniel took pitch, fat, and hair and boiled them together, and made lumps of them, and he put them into the serpent's mouth, and it ate them and burst open. And he said,

"See the objects of your worship!"

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were very indignant and made a conspiracy against the king, saying,

"The king has become a Jew! He has overturned Bel, and killed the serpent, and slaughtered the priests."

29 So they went to the king and said,

"Give Daniel up to us, or else we will kill you and your household."

30 And the king saw that they were pressing him hard, and he was forced

31 to give Daniel up to them. And they threw him into the lions' den and he re-

32 mained there six days. There were seven lions in the den; and they had been given two human bodies and two sheep every day; but now these were not given them, so that they might devour Daniel.

33 Now the prophet Habakkuk was in Judea, and he had cooked a stew and crumbled bread into a bowl, and was going into the field to carry it to the 34 reapers, when the angel of the Lord said to Habakkuk,

"Carry the dinner that you have to Babylon, to Daniel, in the lions' den."

And Habakkuk said, 35

"Sir, I have never seen Babylon, and I do not know the den."

Then the angel of the Lord took hold 36 of the crown of his head, and lifted him up by his hair and with the speed of the wind set him down in Babylon, right over the den. And Habakkuk 37 shouted,

"Daniel! Daniel! Take the dinner which God has sent you."

And Daniel said, 38

"You have remembered me, O God, and have not forsaken those who love you."

Then Daniel arose and ate. And the 39 angel of God immediately put Habakkuk back in his own place again.

On the seventh day, the king came to 40 mourn for Daniel; and he came to the den and looked in, and there sat Daniel. Then the king shouted loudly, 41

"You are great, Lord God of Daniel, and there is no other beside you!"

And he lifted him out, and the men 42 who had tried to bring about his destruction he threw into the den; and they were instantly devoured before his eyes.

THE PRAYER OF MANASSEH

ALMIGHTY LORD,
God of our forefathers,
Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob,
And of their upright descendants;
You who have made the heaven and the earth with all their system;
Who have fettered the sea with your word of command;
Who have shut up the great deep, and sealed it with your terrible, glorious
name;
Before whom all things shudder, and tremble before your power,
For the majesty of your glory is unbearable,
And the anger of your threatening against sinners is unendurable, Immeasurable and unsearchable is the mercy you promise,
For you are the Lord Most High, Tender-hearted, long-suffering, and most merciful,
And regretful of the wickedness of men.
You therefore, Lord God of the upright, Have not ordained repentance for the upright,
For Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, who did not sin against you;
You have ordained repentance for a sinner
like me,
For my sins are more numerous than the sands of the sea,
My transgressions are multiplied, Lord,
they are multiplied!

I am unworthy to look up and see the height of heaven,
For the multitude of my iniquities.
I am weighed down with many an irre-
fetter,
So that I bend beneath my sins,
And I have no relief,
Because I have provoked your anger,
And done what is wrong in your sight,
Setting up abominations and multiplying offenses.
Now therefore I bend the knee of my heart, begging you for kindness.
I have sinned, Lord, I have sinned,
And I know my transgressions.
I earnestly beseech you,
Forgive me, Lord, forgive me!
Do not destroy me in the midst of my transgressions!
Do not be angry with me forever and let me not up evil for me,
Or condemn me to the lowest parts of the
earth.
For you, Lord, are the God of those who repent,
And you will manifest your goodness toward me,
For unworthy as I am, you will save
me
in the abundance of your mercy,
And I will praise you continually as long as I live,
For all the host of heaven sings your praise
And yours is the glory forever. Amen.

THE FIRST BOOK OF MACCABEES

IT CAME to pass after Alexander of Macedon, the son of Philip, who came from the land of Chittim, had utterly defeated Darius, the king of the Medes and Persians, that he reigned in his stead, as he had before reigned over Greece. And he waged many wars and captured fortresses and slaughtered the kings of the earth; and he made his way to the ends of the earth and despoiled a multitude of nations. The whole earth was silent before him, and he became exalted, and his heart was uplifted. He mustered a very mighty army and ruled over the lands and rulers of the heathen, and they paid him tribute. Afterward he fell sick, and knew that he was going to die. So he called in his distinguished servants who had been brought up with him, and divided his kingdom among them while he was still alive. Alexander had reigned twelve years when he died.

His servants succeeded him, each in his own domain. After his death they all put on crowns, as did their sons after them, for many years, and they did much evil on the earth.

There sprang from them a sinful youth named Antiochus Epiphanes, the son of King Antiochus; he had been a hostage in Rome and he became king in the one hundred and thirty-seventh year of the Greek kingdom.

In those days there arose out of Israel lawless men who persuaded many, saying,

"Let us go and make a treaty with the heathen around us, for ever since the time we became separated from them, many misfortunes have overtaken us."

The plan seemed good in their eyes, and some of the people went eagerly to the king, and he authorized them to introduce the practices of the heathen. And they built a gymnasium in Jerusalem, in the heathen fashion, and submitted to uncircumcision, and disowned the holy agreement; they allied themselves with the heathen and became the slaves of wrongdoing.

When his rule appeared to Antiochus 16 to be established, he conceived the idea of becoming king of the land of Egypt, so that he might reign over the two kingdoms. So he entered Egypt 17 with a strong force, with chariots and elephants and cavalry and a great fleet. And he made war on Ptolemy, king of 18 Egypt, and Ptolemy turned and fled before him, and many fell wounded. And they captured the walled cities in 19 the land of Egypt, and he plundered the land of Egypt.

After subduing Egypt, in the one 20 hundred and forty-third year, Antiochus turned back and came up against Israel and entered Jerusalem with a strong force. And in his arrogance he 21 went into the sanctuary and took the gold altar and the lampstand for the light, and all its furniture and the table 22 for the Presentation Bread and the cups and the bowls and the gold censers and the curtain and the crowns and the gold ornamentation on the front of the temple, for he stripped it all off. And 23 he took the silver and the gold, and the choice dishes, and he took the secret treasures, which he found; he took them 24 all and went back to his own country. He massacred people and spoke with great arrogance.

And there was great mourning 25 everywhere throughout Israel. Rulers 26 and elders groaned, girls and young men fainted away, and the beauty of the women was altered. Every bride- 27 groom began to lament, and she that sat in the bridal chamber grieved. The very earth was shaken over its 28 inhabitants, and the whole household of Jacob was covered with shame.

After two years the king sent an 29 officer to collect tribute, to the towns of Judah, and he entered Jerusalem with a strong force. And he spoke to 30 them craftily in peaceful terms, and they trusted him. Then he suddenly fell upon the city and struck it a great blow and destroyed many of the people 31 in Israel. He plundered the city, and burned it down, and tore down the houses in it and the walls around it.

 32 And they took the women and children captive and possessed themselves of the 33 cattle. Then they fortified the City of David with a great, strong wall, with strong towers, and it became their cita-34 del. And they put sinful heathen there, who did not obey the law, and they 35 entrenched themselves there. And they stored up weapons and provisions, and they collected the spoils of Jerusalem and laid them up there, and they be-36 came a great threat, and it proved a place of ambush against the sanctuary and a wicked adversary to Israel constantly.

37 And they shed innocent blood all around the sanctuary,
 And polluted the sanctuary itself.

38 The inhabitants of Jerusalem fled away because of them,
 And she became a place where strangers lived,
 And she became strange to her own offspring,
 And her children forsook her.

39 Her sanctuary became desolate like a wilderness,
 Her feasts were turned into grief,
 Her sabbaths became a reproach,
 And her honor became contempt.

40 Her dishonor was as great as her glory had been,
 And her exaltation was turned into grief.

41 Then the king wrote to his whole kingdom that they should all become 42 one people, and everyone should give up his particular practices. And all the heathen assented to the command of 43 the king. And many from Israel agreed to his kind of worship and offered sacrifice to idols and broke the 44 sabbath. And the king sent word by messengers to Jerusalem and the towns of Judah to follow practices foreign to 45 the country and put a stop to whole burnt offerings and sacrifices and drink offerings at the sanctuary, and to break the sabbaths and profane the feasts 46 and pollute sanctuary and sanctified; to 47 build altars and sacred precincts and idol temples and sacrifice hogs and unclean 48 cattle; and to leave their sons uncircumcised and defile themselves with every unclean and profane practice, so that they might forget the Law and change all their religious ordinances;

 and anyone who did not obey the com-5 mand of the king should die. He wrote to his whole kingdom, to this effect, and he appointed inspectors over all the people, and he ordered the towns of Judah every one of them to offer sacrifice. And many of the people and everyone who was ready to forsake the Law joined with them and they did wrong in the land, and forced Israel to hide in every hiding-place they had.

On the fifteenth day of Chislev, in the one hundred and forty-fifth year, he erected a dreadful desecration upon the altar, and in the towns of Judah round about they built altars, and at the doors of their houses and in the squares they burned incense, and wherever they found the book of the Law, they tore them up and burned them, and if anyone was found to possess a book of the agreement or respected the Law, the king's decree condemned him to death. The Israelites who appeared from month to month in the towns they treated with force. On the twenty-fifth of the month they offered sacrifice upon the altar which was set up on the altar of burnt offering. The women who had circumcised their children they put to death under the decree, hanging the babies around their necks, and destroying their families and the men who had circumcised them.
 Yet many in Israel stood firm and resolved in their hearts not to eat what was unclean; they preferred death to being polluted with food or profaning the sacred agreement, and so they died.
 And Israel suffered intensely.

In those days Mattathias, the son of John, the son of Simeon, a priest of the descendants of Joarib, removed from Jerusalem, and settled in Modin. He had five sons, John, surnamed Gaddi, Simon, called Thassi, Judas, called Maccabeus, Eleazar, called Avaran, and Jonathan, called Apphus. He saw the impious things that were going on in Judah and Jerusalem, and he said,

"Alas! Why was I born to witness the ruin of my people and the ruin of the holy city, and to sit by while it is being given up to its enemies, and the sanctuary to aliens?"

8 "Her temple has come to be like a man disgraced, 9 Her glorious furniture has been captured and carried off,
Her infant children have been killed
in her streets,
Her young men with the enemy's
sword.
10 What nation has not appropriated,
What kingdom has not seized, her spoils?
11 Her adornment has all been taken
away.
Instead of a free woman, she has become a slave.
12 Behold, our sanctuary and our beauty
And our glory have been laid waste,
And the heathen have profaned them!
13 Why should we live any longer?"
14 And Mattathias and his sons tore open their clothes and put on sackcloth and grieved bitterly.
15 Then the king's officers who were forcing the people to give up their religion, came to the town of Modin, to 16 make them offer sacrifice. And many Israelites went to them, and Mattathias 17 and his sons gathered together. Then the king's messengers answered and said to Mattathias,
"You are a leading man, great and distinguished in this town, surrounded 18 with sons and brothers; now be the first to come forward and carry out the king's command as all the heathen and the men of Judah and those who are left in Jerusalem have done, and you and your sons will be counted among the Friends of the king, and you and your sons will be distinguished with presents of silver and gold and many royal commissions."
19 Then Mattathias answered and said in a loud voice,
"If all the heathen in the king's dominions listen to him and forsake each of them the religion of his forefathers, and choose to follow his commands instead, yet I and my sons and my brothers will live in accordance with the agreement of our forefathers.
20 God forbid that we should abandon the 21 Law and the ordinances. We will not listen to the message of the king, or depart from our religion to the right hand or to the left."
22 As he ceased to utter these words, a Jew went up before the eyes of all of them to offer sacrifice as the king commanded, on the altar in Modin. And 24 Mattathias saw him and was filled with zeal, and his heart was stirred, and he was very properly roused to anger, and ran up and slaughtered him upon the altar. At the same time he killed the 25 king's officer who was trying to compel them to sacrifice, and he tore down the altar. Thus he showed his zeal for the 26 Law, just as Phineas did to Zimri, the son of Salom. Then Mattathias cried 27 out in a loud voice in the town and

said,

"Let everybody who is zealous for the Law and stands by the agreement come out after me."

And he and his sons fled to the 28 mountains and left all they possessed in the town.

Then many seekers for uprightness 29 and justice went down into the wilderness to settle, with their sons and their 30 wives and their cattle, because their hardships had become so severe. And 31 news reached the king's agents and the forces that were in Jerusalem, in the City of David, that men who had disregarded the king's order had gone down to the hiding-places in the wilderness. And they pursued them in force 32 and overtook them, and pitched their camp against them and prepared to attack them on the sabbath day. And 33
they said to them,

"Enough! Come out and do as the king commands, and you will live."

And they said, 34

"We will not come out nor do as the king commands, and break the sabbath."

Then they hastened to attack them. 35
And they made no response to them; 36 they did not throw a stone at them nor block up their hiding-places, for they 37
said,

"Let us all die guiltless. We call heaven and earth to witness that you destroy us unlawfully."

So they attacked them on the sab- 38 bath, and they died, with their wives and their children and their cattle, to the number of a thousand people.

And Mattathias and his friends 39 learned of it, and they grieved bitterly over them. And one said to another, 40

"If we all do as our brothers have done, and refuse to fight against the heathen for our lives and what we believe is right, they will very soon destroy us from the face of the earth."

41 On that day they reached this decision:

"If anyone attacks us on the sabbath day, let us fight against him and not all die, as our brothers died in the hiding-places."

42 Then they were joined by a company of Hasideans, war-like Israelites, every 43 one a volunteer for the Law. And all who had fled to escape harsh treatment 44 joined them and reinforced them. And they mustered a force and struck down sinners in their anger, and in their wrath those who disobeyed the Law, and the rest fled to the heathen to save 45 themselves. And Mattathias and his friends went about and tore down the 46 altars, and forcibly circumcised all the uncircumcised children that they found 47 within the limits of Israel. And they drove the arrogant before them, and the work prospered in their hands.
48 So they rescued the Law from the hands of the heathen and their kings, and would not let the sinner triumph.

49 When the time drew near for Mattathias to die, he said to his sons,

"Arrogance and reproach have now grown strong; it is a time of disaster 50 and hot anger. Now, my children, you must be zealous for the Law, and give your lives for the agreement of our fore-
51 fathers. Remember the deeds of our forefathers which they did in their generations, and you will win great glory
52 and everlasting renown. Was not Abraham found faithful when he was tried, and it was credited to him as upright-53 ness? Joseph in his time of distress observed the commandment and be-54 came master of Egypt. Phineas our forefather for his intense zeal obtained the promise of an everlasting priest-55 hood. Joshua for carrying out his 56 orders became a judge in Israel. Caleb for bearing witness before the congregation obtained an inheritance in the 57 land. David for being merciful inherited a royal throne forever. Elijah for his intense zeal for the Law was 59 caught up into heaven. Hananiah, Azariah, and Mishael had faith in God 60 and were saved from the fire. Daniel for his innocence was delivered from 61 the mouths of the lions. Observe this from generation to generation, that none who hope in him will fail in strength. Do not be afraid of the words of a sinful man, for his glory will turn to dung and worms. Today he will be exalted, and tomorrow he will be nowhere to be found, for he has returned to dust, and what he plotted will perish. My children, be manful and strong for the Law, for by it you will obtain glory. Now here is Simon your brother; I know that he is a man of discretion. You must always listen to him; he will be a father to you. And Judas Maccabeus has been warlike from his youth; he will be your captain and conduct the people's warfare. And you must gather about you all who observe the Law, and avenge the wrongs of your people. Pay back the heathen for what they have done, and give heed to what the Law commands."

Then he blessed them and was gathered to his forefathers. He died in the one hundred and forty-sixth year and was buried in the tombs of his forefathers in Modin, and all Israel made loud lamentation for him.

Then his son Judas, who was called Maccabeus, arose in his stead, and all his brothers and all who had stood by his father helped him, and with gladness carried on Israel's war. And he increased the glory of his people, and put on a breastplate like a giant, and he belted on his weapons and organized campaigns, protecting his camp with the sword. He was like a lion in his actions, and like a cub roaring for its prey. He pursued and hunted out those who disobeyed the Law, and those who harassed his people he consumed. Those who disobeyed the Law were convulsed with fear of him and all who broke the Law were dismayed and deliverance was accomplished by his hand. He angered many kings and gladdened Jacob by his deeds, and his memory will be blessed forever. He went among the towns of Judah and destroyed the ungodly and cast them out of her, and averted wrath from Israel. He was renowned to the ends of the earth, and rallied those who were perishing.

Then Apollonius gathered the heathen together, with a large force from Samaria, to make war on Israel. And Judas learned of it and went out to meet him and he struck him down and killed him. And many fell wounded, 12 and the rest made their escape. And they took their spoils, and Judas took the sword of Apollonius and fought with it all his life.

3 Then Seron, the commander of the Syrian army, heard that Judas had gathered a following and a company of the faithful about him, and of men used 4 to going out to war. And he said,

"I will make myself a reputation and gain distinction in the kingdom, and I will make war on Judas and those who are with him, who set the king's command at naught."

5 And with him there went up again a strong body of ungodly men, to help him to take vengeance on the Israelites. 6 And he approached the pass of Bethhoron. And Judas went out with very 7 few men to meet him. But when they saw the army coming to meet them, they said to Judas,

"How can we, few as we are, fight with such a strong host? Besides we are faint, for we have had nothing to eat today."

8 And Judas said,

"It is easy for many to be inclosed 9 in the hands of a few, and there is no difference in the sight of heaven between saving through many or through 10 a few, for victory in war does not depend upon the size of the force, but strength comes from heaven. They come against 11 us full of violence and lawlessness, to destroy us and our wives and our children, and to plunder us, but we are 12 fighting for our lives and our laws. He himself will crush them before us, and you must not be afraid of them."

13 When he ceased to speak, he fell suddenly upon them, and Seron and his army were crushed before him, and they pursued him from the pass of 14 Bethhoron to the plain, and eight hundred of them fell, and the rest 15 made their escape into the country of the Philistines. So the fear of Judas and his brothers and the dread of them began to fall upon the heathen around 16 them, and his fame reached even the king, and the heathen talked of the 17 tactics of Judas.

18 When King Antiochus heard these reports, he was very angry, and he sent and gathered all the forces of his kingdom, a very strong army. And he 19 opened his treasury and gave his forces a year's pay, and ordered them to be in readiness for any need that might arise. And he saw that the 20 money in his treasuries was exhausted, and the tribute of the country was small because of the division and distress that he had brought upon the land in doing away with the laws which had been in effect from the earliest times, and he 30 feared that he would not have enough, as he formerly had, for his expenses and for the presents which he had been used to give before with a lavish hand, beyond the kings that went before him. So he was very much perplexed and 31 resolved to go to Persia and get the tribute of those countries and raise a large sum of money. And he left 32 Lysias, a man of distinction, of the royal blood, to have charge of the king's affairs from the river Euphrates to the borders of Egypt, and to take care of 33 Antiochus his son until his return. He turned over to him half his forces 34 and his elephants and gave him orders about everything he wanted done, and about the inhabitants of Judea and Jerusalem, against whom he was to send a 35 force to crush out and destroy the strength of Israel and what was left of Jerusalem, and to efface their memory from the place, and settle aliens in all 36 their borders, and distribute their land among them.

Then the king took the remaining 37 half of his forces and set off from Antioch, his royal city, in the one hundred and forty-seventh year and crossed the Euphrates River and went through the interior.

Then Lysias chose Ptolemy, son of 38 Dorymenes, and Nicanor and Gorgias, warlike men among the Friends of the king, and he sent with them forty thou- 39 sand men and seven thousand horse to go to the land of Judah and destroy it, as the king had commanded. And he 40 set off with all his force, and they came and encamped near Emmaus in the level country. And the merchants of 41 the country heard about them and they took a great quantity of silver and gold, and fetters, and came to the camp to get the Israelites for slaves. And they were joined by forces from Syria and the land of the Philistines.

And Judas and his brothers saw that 42 the situation was very grave and that the forces were encamped within their borders, and they knew what the king had said, when he ordered them to inflict utter destruction on the people, and they said to one another,

"Let us repair the destruction of our people, and let us fight for our people and for the sanctuary."

And the congregation gathered together to make ready for war and to pray and ask for mercy and compassion.

Jerusalem was uninhabited like a wilderness,

There was not one of her children who came in or went out,

The sanctuary was trodden down,

The sons of aliens were in the citadel, it was a stopping-place for heathen.

Joy vanished from Jacob,

And the flute and harp ceased to play.

Then they gathered together and went to Mizpeh, opposite Jerusalem, for Israel formerly had a praying-place in Mizpeh. And they fasted that day and put on sackcloth, and sprinkled ashes upon their heads, and tore open their clothes. And they unrolled the roll of the Law, such as the heathen used to hunt out and look through for pictures of their idols. And they brought out the priestly garments and the first fruits and the tithes and they gathered the Nazirites who had fulfilled their vows, and they called aloud to heaven,

"What are we to do to these men, and where can we take them, when your sanctuary is trodden down and profaned, and your priests are grieved and humiliated? Here the heathen are gathered together against us to destroy us: you know their designs against us. How can we make a stand before them unless you help us?"

And they sounded the trumpets and gave a great shout. Then Judas appointed officers over the people, colonels and captains and lieutenants and sergeants. And he ordered those who were building houses or planting vineyards or betrothed to women or were afraid, every one of them to return home, as the Law provided. And the army moved and encamped to the south of Emmaus. And Judas said,

"Prepare yourselves and be brave men and be ready in the morning to fight these heathen who are gathered together against us, to destroy us and our sanctuary, for it is better for us to die in battle than to witness the ruin of our nation and our sanctuary. But he will do just as shall be the will of heaven."

Then Gorgias took five thousand men and a thousand picked horse, and his army moved under cover of night so as to fall upon the camp of the Jews and attack them suddenly; and the men of the citadel were his guides. And Judas heard of it and he and his gallant men moved to attack the king's force in Emmaus, while the forces were still scattered from the camp. And Gorgias came into the camp of Judas in the night, and found no one there, and he hunted for them in the mountains, for he said, "They are fleeing from us!"

And at daybreak Judas appeared in the plain with three thousand men, though they did not have such armor and swords as they wished. And they saw the camp of the heathen strongly fortified, with horsemen patrolling it, and these, expert in war. And Judas said to the men who were with him,

"Do not be afraid of their numbers, and do not fear their charge. Remember how our forefathers were saved at the Red Sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with an armed force. So now let us cry to heaven, if perhaps he will accept us and remember his agreement with our forefathers, and crush this camp before us today. Then all the heathen will know that there is one who ransoms and preserves Israel."

Then the aliens lifted up their eyes and saw them coming against them, and they came out of the camp to battle. And Judas' men sounded the trumpets and attacked, and the heathen broke and fled to the plain, and all the hindmost fell by the sword. And they pursued them as far as Gazara and the plains of Idumea and Ashdod and Jamnia, and there fell of them fully three thousand men.

And Judas and his force returned from the pursuit of them, and he said to the people,

"Do not set your hearts on plunder, for there is a battle before us, for Gorgias and his army are near us, in the mountain. Now stand your ground against our enemies, and fight them."

and afterward you can take their spoils boldly."

19 Before Judas had finished saying this, a detachment of them appeared reconnoitering from the mountain, and they saw that they had been routed and that they were burning the camp, for the sight of the smoke showed them what had happened. And when they perceived this, they were very much alarmed, and seeing Judas' army in the plain ready to attack, they all fled to the land of the Philistines. And Judas turned back to plunder the camp, and they took a great deal of gold and silver, and sapphire and sea-purple stuffs, and great wealth. And they returned singing and blessing heaven, for he is good, for his mercy endures forever. So Israel had a great deliverance that day.

26 Those of the aliens who escaped went and reported to Lysias all that had happened. And when he heard it, he was dismayed and discouraged, because it was not at all what he wished that had happened to Israel, and it had not turned out as the king had ordered. So in the following year he gathered together sixty thousand picked men, to conquer them. And they came into Idumea and encamped at Bethsura, and Judas met them with ten thousand men. And he saw that their camp was strong, and he prayed and said,

"Blessed are you, Savior of Israel, who stopped the rush of the champion by the hand of your slave David, and delivered the camp of the Philistines into the hands of Jonathan, the son of Saul, and of his armor-bearer. In like manner shut up this camp in the hand of your people Israel, and let them be ashamed of their army and their horsemen. Make them cowardly and melt the boldness of their strength, and let them tremble at their destruction. Strike them down with the sword of those that love you, and let all who know your name praise you with hymns."

34 Then they joined battle, and there fell of the army of Lysias fully five thousand men; they fell right before them. But when Lysias saw that his army had been routed, and that Judas had grown bold, and that they were ready either to live or to die nobly, he withdrew to Antioch and hired soldiers in the greatest numbers, to come again to Judea.

And Judas and his brothers said, "Now that our enemies are crushed, let us go up to purify the sanctuary and rededicate it."

And the whole army gathered together, and they went up to Mount Zion. And they found the sanctuary desolated and the altar polluted and the doors burned up, and weeds growing in the courts as they do in a wood or on some mountain, and the priests' quarters torn down. And they tore open their clothes and uttered great lamentation and covered themselves with ashes, and fell on their faces on the ground, and sounded the ceremonial trumpets, and cried out to heaven. Then Judas appointed men to fight the garrison in the citadel, until he should purify the sanctuary. And he appointed priests that were without blemish and adherents of the Law, and they purified the sanctuary and carried out the stones that had defiled it to an unclean place. And they liberated as to what they should do about the altar of burnt offering, which had been polluted. And a good idea occurred to them—to take it down, so that it might never be thrown up to them that the heathen had polluted it; so they took down the altar, and deposited the stones in the temple mountain, in a suitable place, until a prophet should come and declare what should be done with them. And they took whole stones, as the Law required, and built a new altar like the former one. And they built the sanctuary and the interior of the temple and consecrated the courts. And they made new holy dishes and they brought the lampstand and the altar of incense and the table into the temple. And they burned incense on the altar, and lighted the lamps on the lampstand, and they lighted the temple. And they put the loaves of bread on the table and hung up the curtains, and completed all the work they had undertaken.

And they arose early on the twenty-fifth day of the ninth month, that is, the month of Chislew, in the one hundred and forty-eighth year, and offered sacrifice according to the Law upon the new altar of burnt offering which they had made. At the time and on the day the heathen had polluted it, it was rededicated with songs and harps 55 and lutes and cymbals. And all the people fell on their faces and blessed heaven which had prospered them.

 56 And they celebrated the rededication of the altar for eight days and offered burnt offerings with joy, and offered a 57 sacrifice of deliverance and praise. And they decorated the front of the temple with gold crowns and small shields and rededicated the gates and the priests' quarters, and fitted them with doors.
 58 And there was very great joy among the people, and the reproach the heathen had cast upon them was wiped 59 out. And Judas and his brothers and all the congregation of Israel decreed that the days of the rededication of the altar should be observed at their season, every year, for eight days, beginning with the twenty-fifth of the month of 60 Chislev, with gladness and joy. At that time they built high walls and strong towers around Mount Zion, so that the heathen might not come and tread them down as they had done before. And he established a force there to hold it, and he fortified Bethsura to hold it, so that the people might have a stronghold facing Idumea.
 6 It happened when the heathen round about heard that the altar had been rebuilt and the sanctuary rededicated as before, that it made them very
 2 angry, and they resolved to destroy the descendants of Jacob that were among them, and they began to kill and ravage
 3 among the people. And Judas fought against the sons of Esau in Idumea, and against Akrabattene, because they beset Israel, and he dealt them a severe blow and crushed them, and plundered
 4 them. And he remembered the wickedness of the sons of Baeon, who became a snare and stumbling block to the people, lying in wait for them upon the
 5 roads. And he shut them up in their towers, and he encamped against them and utterly destroyed them, and 6 burned her towers with fire, and all who were in them. He passed on to the Ammonites, and there he found a strong arm, and a large body of people, with Timotheus in command of them.
 7 And he fought many battles with them, and they were crushed before him, and 8 he struck them down. And he occupied

Jazer and its villages, and returned to Judea.

Then the heathen in Gilead gathered together against Israel, to destroy those who were in their borders, and they fled to the stronghold of Dathema, and sent a letter to Judas and his brothers, saying,

"The heathen around us have gathered together against us to destroy us, and they are preparing to come and seize this stronghold in which we have taken refuge, and Timotheus is the leader of their force. So come and rescue us from his hand, for a great many of us have fallen, and all our brothers who were in the district of Tob have been put to death, and they have carried off their wives and children as captives, with their property, and they have destroyed a regiment of men there."

They were still reading the letter when other messengers arrived from Galilee, with their clothes torn open, with a report to the same effect, saying that people from Ptolemais and Tyre and Sidon, and all Galilee of the aliens had gathered against them, they said, "to destroy us." When Judas and the people heard this message, a great meeting was held to decide what they should do for their brothers who were in such distress and were being attacked by them. And Judas said to his brother Simon,

"Choose men for yourself and go and save our brothers who are in Galilee, and I and my brother Jonathan will go into Gilead."

And he left Joseph, the son of Zechariah, and Azariah, a leader of the people, with the remainder of the force, in Judea, to guard it. And he gave them their orders, saying,

"Take command of these people, and do not join battle with the heathen until we return."

Simon was allotted three thousand men, to go into Galilee, and Judas eight thousand men, to go into Gilead. And Simon went into Galilee, and engaged in many battles with the heathen, and the heathen were beaten before him, and he pursued them to the very gate of Ptolemais. There fell of the heathen fully three thousand men, and he plundered them. And he took with him those who were in Galilee and in Ar-batta with their wives and children and all that they had, and brought them back to Judea with great rejoicing.

24 And Judas Maccabeus and his brother Jonathan crossed the Jordan, and marched three days' journey into the wilderness. And they encountered the Nabateans and met them peaceably, and told them all that had happened to their brothers in Gilead, and that many of them were shut up in Bosorra and Bosor, in Alema, Chaspho, Maked, and Karnaim—all large, fortified towns—and that they were shut up in the other towns of Gilead, and that they planned on the next day to attack the strongholds and take them, and destroy all these men in one day. And Judas and his army turned suddenly by the wilderness road to Bosorra, and he took the town and killed every male in it with the sword, and he took all their spoils, and burned it with fire. And he left there by night, and they arrived at the stronghold. And at daybreak they looked up, and there was a crowd of people without number, bringing ladders and engines to take the stronghold, and they were attacking them. And Judas saw that the battle had begun, and the cry from the city went up to heaven, with trumpets and loud shouting, and he said to the men of his force,

"Fight for our brothers today!"

13 And he went out after them in three companies, and they sounded the trumpets and cried aloud in prayer. And the army of Timotheus saw that it was Maccabeus, and they fled before him, and he struck them a severe blow, and there fell of them that day fully eight thousand men. Then he turned aside to Alema and fought against it and took it, and he killed every male in it, and plundered it and burned it with fire. Then he moved on and seized Chaspho, Maked, and Bosor and the other towns of Gilead.

After that, Timotheus gathered another army, and he pitched his camp opposite Raphon, on the other side of the torrent. And Judas sent men to reconnoiter the camp, and they reported to him,

"All the heathen around us have gathered and joined him, an immensely great force, and they have hired Arabs to help them, and they are encamped across the torrent, in readiness to attack you."

And Judas went to meet them. Then Timotheus said to the officers of his army, when Judas and his army approached the stream,

"If he crosses over to us first, we will not be able to stand against him, for he will easily defeat us. But if he is afraid and pitches his camp on the other side of the river, we will cross over to him and defeat him."

When Judas came near the stream, he stationed the officers of the people by the stream, and gave them their orders, saying,

"Do not permit anyone to encamp, but let them all advance to battle."

And he crossed over against them first, with all the people after him, and all the heathen were beaten before them, and they threw away their arms and fled to the temple inclosure of Karnaim. Then they took the town, and burned the temple inclosure with all who were in it. So Karnaim was conquered, and they could not make a stand before Judas any longer.

And Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in Gilead, from the least to the greatest, with their wives and children and their belongings, a very great body of people, to go to the land of Judah. And they reached Ephron; it was a large town, strongly fortified, on their way; they could not turn aside from it to the right or left, but had to go through the center of it. And the people of the town shut them out and blocked up the gates with stones. And Judas sent them a peaceful message, saying,

"We are going through your country to reach our country, and no one will do you any harm, we will simply pass by on foot."

But they would not open to him. Then Judas ordered proclamation to be made throughout the body that everyone should encamp where he was. So the men of the army encamped, and he fought against the city all that day and all that night, and the town was delivered into his hands. And he destroyed every male with the sword, and he destroyed it and plundered it, and he passed through the city over the slain. And they crossed the Jordan to the great plain opposite Bethshean.

53 And Judas kept gathering up those who fell behind and encouraging the people, all the way until he reached the 54 land of Judah. And they went up to Mount Zion with gladness and joy, and offered whole burnt offerings because not one of them had fallen before they returned in peace.

55 In the days when Judas and Jonathan were in the land of Gilead and Simon his brother was in Galilee, opposite Ptolemais, Joseph, the son of Zechariah, and Azariah, the leaders of the forces, heard of the warlike exploits

57 they had performed, and they said, "Let us also make a name for ourselves, and let us go and fight the heathen around us."

58 And he gave orders to the part of the army that was with them, and they

56 marched to Jamnia. And Gorgias came out of the town with his men to meet

60 them in battle. And Joseph and Azariah were routed, and they were pursued to the borders of Judea. And there fell that day of the people of Israel fully

61 two thousand men. And there was a great rout among the people, because they had not listened to Judas and his brothers, but thought they would per-

62 form some exploit. They did not belong to the family of those who were permitted to save Israel with their hands.

63 This man Judas and his brothers were greatly renowned in all Israel and among all the heathen, wherever 64 their name was heard of; and men gathered about them commending them.

65 And Judas and his brothers went forth and made war on the sons of Esau in the country to the south, and he struck down Hebron and its villages, and he tore down its fortifications and

66 burned its towers around it. And he set off to go to the land of the Philistines, and reached Mareshah. Some priests

67 fell in battle that day, when they went out to war without due consideration, because they wished to distinguish

68 themselves. And Judas turned aside to Ashdod, to the land of the Philistines, and he tore down their altars and burned up the carved images of their gods and plundered the towns, and returned to the land of Judah.

6 As King Antiochus was making his way through the interior, he heard that there was in Persia a town called Elymais, renowned for its wealth, its silver and gold. The temple in it was very rich, and there were there gold shields and breastplates and arms left there by Alexander, the son of Philip, king of Macedon, who was the first to reign over the Greeks. And he went and tried to take the town, and plunder it, but he could not do it, because his design became known to the men of the town, and they opposed him in battle, and he fled and set out from there in great distress to return to Babylon. And someone came to him in Persia to bring him word that the forces that had marched into the land of Judah had been routed, and that Lysias had gone at first with a strong force, and had been put to flight before them, and that they had grown strong by reason of the quantity of arms and spoils they had taken from the armies they had destroyed, and that they had taken down the horror which he had built on the altar in Jerusalem, and had surrounded the sanctuary with high walls, as it had been before, and also his town of Bethsura. And it happened when the king heard these accounts, that he was astounded and dreadfully shaken, and he took to his bed, and fell sick with grief, for matters had not gone as he intended. He was sick for a long time, for his grief was intensified, and he concluded that he was going to die. So he called in all his Friends and said to them,

"Sleep departs from my eyes, and my heart fails with anxiety. I have said to myself, 'What distress I have reached, and what a great flood I am now in.' For I was gracious and beloved in my exercise of power. But now I remember the wrongs which I did in Jerusalem, when I took away all the gold and silver dishes that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Judah without any cause. I know that it is because of this that these misfortunes have overtaken me. Here I am dying of grief in a strange land."

And he summoned Philip, one of his Friends, and put him in charge of his whole kingdom. He gave him his diadem and his robe and his signet ring, so that he might educate his son Antiochus and bring him up to be king. And King Antiochus died there in the one hun-

17 dred and forty-ninth year. And when Lysias learned that the king was dead, he set up Antiochus his son to reign, whom he had taken care of as a boy, and he named him Eupator.

18 The men in the citadel kept hemming Israel in about the sanctuary, harassing them continually and giving support 19 to the heathen. So Judas planned to destroy them, and he called all the people together to lay siege to them. 20 And they assembled and laid siege to it in the one hundred and fiftieth year, and he built siege towers and engines. 21 And some of them escaped from the blockade, and some ungodly Israelites 22 joined them, and they made their way to the king and said,

"How long will you delay doing justice and avenging our brothers? We agreed to serve your father and to conduct ourselves in accordance with his 23 orders and to follow his commands. On account of this the sons of our people have besieged it and become hostile to us. Such of us as they found, they put to death, and they have plundered our 24 property. They have stretched out their hands not only against us but against all the lands on their borders. 25 Here today they have encamped against the citadel in Jerusalem to capture it, and they have fortified the 26 sanctuary and Bethsura. And unless you act against them quickly, they will do greater things than these, and you will not be able to check them."

27 When the king heard this, he was angry, and he gathered all his Friends, the officers of his army, and those in 28 charge of the cavalry. And mercenary forces came to him from other kingdoms and from the islands in the sea. 29 And his forces numbered a hundred thousand infantry and twenty thousand cavalry, and thirty-two elephants 30 trained for war. And they passed through Idumea and pitched their camp against Bethsura and fought against it for a long time, and built engines of war. And they sallied out and burned them down, and fought bravely.

31 Then Judas left the citadel and pitched his camp at Beth-zachariah, 32 opposite the king's camp. And the king got up early in the morning and moved his army precipitately along the road to Beth-zachariah, and his forces 33 armed themselves for battle, and sounded the trumpets. And they showed 34 the elephants the juice of grapes and mulberries to incite them to battle. They distributed the animals among 35 the phalanxes and stationed with each elephant a thousand men in chain armor with brass helmets on their heads, and five hundred picked horsemen were assigned to each animal. These were posted in advance wherever 36 the animal was to be, and wherever it went they accompanied it; they did not leave it. There were wooden towers 37 upon them, strong and covered over, on each animal, ingeniously fastened on, and on each one were four powerful men who fought on them, beside the Indian driver. The rest of the cavalry 38 he stationed on this side and on that, on the two wings of the army, threatening the enemy and again finding shelter among the phalanxes. And when the 39 sun fell on the gold and brass shields, the mountains flashed back and shone like blazing torches. One wing of the 40 king's army spread over the high mountains, while some were on low ground, but they advanced steadily, in good order. And all who heard the noise of 41 their multitude and of the marching of the multitude and the rattle of their arms trembled, for the army was very great and strong.

Then Judas and his army advanced 42 to battle, and six hundred men from the king's army fell. And Eleazar Avaran saw that one of the animals was armed with royal armor, and stood higher than all the other animals, and he thought that the king was on it; and he gave his life to save his people 44 and win everlasting renown for himself. For he ran boldly up to it in the midst 45 of the phalanx slaying to right and left, and they opened before him on this side and on that, and he slipped under 46 the elephant and stabbed it underneath and killed it, and it fell to the earth upon him, and he died there. And when 47 they saw the strength of the kingdom and the impetuosity of its forces, they gave way before them.

But the men of the king's army went 48 up to Jerusalem to meet them, and the king pitched his camp in Judea, and opposite Mount Zion. And he made 49 peace with the men of Bethsura, and they evacuated the town, because they had no food there to support a siege, 60 for it was a sabbatical year. So the king occupied Bethsura and stationed a garrison there to hold it. And he encamped against the sanctuary for a long time, and set up siege towers there and war engines and machines to throw fire and stones, and ballistas to shoot arrows, and slings. And they also built war engines against their war engines and fought for a long time. But there were no provisions in the storerooms, because it was a sabbatical year, and those who had taken refuge in Judea from the heathen had consumed what was left of the stores. And there were few men left in the sanctuary, for the famine had been too much for them, and they had scattered, each man to his home.

55 Then Lysias heard that Philip, whom King Antiochus before his death had appointed to bring up his son to be king, had returned from Persia and Media, with the forces that had gone with the king, and that he was seeking to get control of the government. So he hastily agreed to withdraw, and he said to the king and the officers of the army and the men,

“We are growing weaker every day, and our provisions are getting short and the place we are besieging is strong, and the affairs of the kingdom depend upon us, so let us now come to terms with these men, and make peace with them and with all their nation, and make an agreement with them that they shall follow their own laws, as they used to do, for it was on account of their laws which we abolished that they became angry and did all this.”

60 And the proposal pleased the king and his officers, and he sent to them, to make peace, and they agreed. And the king and the officers made oath to them; then they evacuated the stronghold. But when the king went into Mount Zion and saw the strength of the place, he broke the oath that he had sworn, and gave orders to tear down the wall that encircled it. Then he departed in haste and returned to Antioch and found Philip in possession of the city, and he fought against him and took the city by force.

7 In the one hundred and fifty-first year Demetrius, the son of Seleucus, came out from Rome and went with a few men to a seaside town and became king there. And it happened when he sought to enter the royal city of his forefathers, that the troops seized Antiochus and Lysias, to bring them before him. When the matter was made known to him, he said,

“Do not let me see their faces.”

So the soldiers killed them, and Demetrius took his seat upon his royal throne. And all the lawless and ungodly men of Israel came to him, and Alcimus who wished to be high priest was their leader. And they accused the people to the king, and said,

“Judas and his brothers have destroyed all your Friends, and have scattered us out of our land. So now send a man in whom you have confidence, and let him go and see all the damage he has done to us and to the king’s country and let him punish them and all their helpers.”

And the king chose Bacchides, one of the king’s Friends, who was governor of the country beyond the river, and was a great man in the kingdom, and faithful to the king. And he sent him and the ungodly Alcimus, and assured him of the high priesthood, and ordered him to take vengeance on the Israelites. And they set forth and came with a strong force to the land of Judah, and he sent messengers to Judas and his brothers, with a peaceful message, but in guile. But they paid no attention to their message, for they saw that they had come with a strong force. And a body of scribes gathered before Alcimus and Bacchides, to ask for justice. The foremost among the Israelites that asked for peace from them were the Hasideans, for they said,

“A priest of the blood of Aaron has come with the forces, and he will not do us any wrong.”

And he talked peaceably with them, and made oath to them, saying,

“We will not attempt to injure you or your friends.”

And they trusted him. And he arrested sixty of them and killed them in a single day, just as he said who wrote, “The flesh and blood of your saints they scattered Around Jerusalem, and they had no one to bury them.”

Then the fear and dread of them fell upon all the people, for they said,

“There is no truth or justice in them, for they broke the agreement and the oath that they swore."

19 And Bacchides left Jerusalem and pitched his camp in Bethzaith and he set and seized many of the deserters that had been with him, and some of the people, and he slaughtered them and threw them into the great pit. And he established Alcimus over the country, and left a force with him to help him. Then Bacchides went back to the king.

21 Alcimus strove to maintain his high priest-
22 hood. And all those who harassed their people gathered about him, and they took possession of the land of Judah and did great harm in Israel.
23 And Judas saw all the damage that Alcimus and his men had done to the Israelites, more even than the heathen
24 had, and he went out into all the outer borders of Judea and took vengeance on the men who had deserted him, and kept them from going out into the country. But when Alcimus saw that Judas and his men were growing strong, and realized that he could not withstand them, he returned to the king and made wicked charges against them.

26 Then the king sent Nicanor, one of his distinguished officers, who hated Israel bitterly, and ordered him to destroy the people. And Nicanor went to Jerusalem with a strong force, and he deceitfully sent a peaceful message to Judas and his brothers, saying,

28 "Let us have no battle between me and you. I will come with a few men to have a peaceable personal meeting."

29 So he came to Judas, and they greeted one another peaceably. But the enemy were ready to kidnap Judas.
30 And the fact that he had come to him in deceit became known to Judas, and he was very much afraid of him and would not meet him again. And Nicanor knew that his plan had been discovered, and he went out to meet 32 Judas in battle at Caphar-salama, and about five hundred of Nicanor's men fell, and they fled to the City of David.

33 After this, Nicanor went up to Mount Zion, and some of the priests came out of the sanctuary with some of the elders of the people to greet him peaceably, and show him the whole burnt offering that was being offered for the 34 king. And he jeered at them and laughed at them and polluted them, and spoke arrogantly and swore angrily, 35

"If Judas and his army are not immediately delivered into my hands, it will happen that if I return safely, I will burn this house up!"

And he went away in great anger. And the priests went in and stood before the altar and the sanctuary and they wailed and said,

"You chose this house to bear your 37 name, to be a house for prayer and petition for your people. Take vengeance on this man and on his army, and let them fall by the sword. Remember their sacrilegious words and let them not continue."

And Nicanor set out from Jerusalem 39 and pitched his camp in Bethhoron, and the Syrian army met him there. And Judas encamped in Adasa with three thousand men, and Judas prayed and said,

"When the king's men uttered 41 blasphemy, your angel went forth and struck down a hundred and eighty-five thousand of them. Crush this army before us today, in the same way, and let the rest know that he spoke wickedly against your sanctuary, and judge him as his wickedness deserves."

And the armies met in battle on the thirteenth of the month of Adar, and Nicanor's army was beaten, and he himself was the first to fall in the battle. But when his army saw that Nicanor 44 had fallen, they threw down their arms and fled. And they pursued them a 45 day's journey, from Adasa until you come to Gazara, and they sounded the ceremonial trumpets behind them. And people came forth out of all the villages of Judea around, and hemmed them in, and turned them back toward the pursuers, and they all fell by the sword; not one of them was left. And 47 they took the spoils and the plunder, and they cut off Nicanor's head and his right hand, which he had stretched out so arrogantly, and brought them and displayed them at Jerusalem. And the 48 people rejoiced greatly, and they observed that day as a day of great gladness. And they decreed that that day 49 should be annually observed, on the thirteenth of Adar. Then the land of 50 Judah was quiet for a short time.

And Judas heard of the reputation of 8 the Romans, that they were powerful, and favored all who joined them, and established friendly relations with those 2 ful. And they told him about their wars and the exploits they had performed among the Gauls, and how they had 3 subdued them and made them pay tribute, and what they had done in the land of Spain, in getting possession of 4 the silver and gold mines there, and how by their planning and patience they had become masters of that whole region, though it was very far away from them, and about the kings who had come against them from the ends of the earth, until they had crushed them and inflicted great losses upon them, and how the rest paid them 5 tribute every year; and how they had crushed Philip and Perseus, the king of Chittim, and those who had opposed them they had beaten in battle and 6 subdued; and how Antiochus, the great king of Asia, had marched against them with a hundred and twenty elephants and horses and chariots and a very great force, and had been beaten by 7 them, and they had captured him alive and had required him and those who succeeded him to pay a great tribute 8 and give hostages, and a section of country, in India, Media, and Lydia, of the best lands, and they had taken them from him and given them to King 9 Eumenes; and how the men of Greece had planned to come and destroy them, 10 and they had learned of the matter, and they sent one general against them, and they fought with them and many of them fell wounded, and they took their wives and children captive and they plundered them and conquered the land and tore down their strongholds 11 and enslaved them unto this day; and how they had destroyed and enslaved all the other kingdoms and islands that 12 had ever opposed them, but had maintained friendly relations with their friends and those who relied upon them;

 and how they had conquered kings far and near, and all who heard their name 13 were afraid of them. Those whom they wished to help and make kings, became kings, and those whom they wished, they deposed; and they were greatly 14 exalted. Yet with all this they never any of them put on a diadem, or wore purple, as a mark of magnificence.
 15 And they had built themselves a senate house, and every day three hundred and twenty men deliberated, constantly planning for the people, that they might conduct themselves properly, and they 16 intrusted the government to one man every year, and the authority over all their country, and they all obeyed that one man, and there was no envy or jealousy among them.

And Judas chose Eupolemus, the 17 son of John, the son of Hakkoz, and Jason, the son of Eleazar, and sent them to Rome, to establish friendly relations and an alliance with them, so that they might relieve them of their 18 yoke, for they saw that the rule of the Greeks was reducing Israel to slavery.
 And they went to Rome, though the 19 journey was very long, and they went into the senate house and answered and
 said,

"Judas, who is called Maccabeus, 20 and his brothers and the Jewish people have sent us to you, to make an alliance and firm peace with you, and that we may be enrolled as allies and friends of yours."

They were pleased with the proposal, 21 and this is a copy of the letter which 22
 they wrote in answer, on brass tablets, and sent to Jerusalem, to remain there among them, as a memorial of peace and alliance.

"Good fortune to the Romans and 23 to the Jewish nation by sea and land, forever! May sword and foe be far from them! But if war is made on 24
 Rome first, or on any of their allies, in all her dominion, the Jewish nation 25 will act as their allies, as the occasion shall demand of them, with all their hearts. And to those who make the 26 war they shall not give or supply wheat, arms, money, or ships, as Rome decides,
 and they shall observe their obligations,
 accepting nothing from the other side.
 In like manner, if war is made on the Jewish nation first, the Romans will heartily act as their allies as occasion demands, and no wheat, arms, money, or ships will be supplied to the allies, as Rome decides, and they shall observe these obligations in good faith. On these terms the Romans have made a treaty with the Jewish people. But if hereafter one party or the other decides to add or subtract anything, they shall do as they choose, and whatever they add or subtract shall be valid. And about the wrongs that King Demetrius is doing you, we have written to him, saying, 'Why have you made your yoke heavy upon our friends and allies the 32 Jews? So if they appeal to us against you again, we will do them justice and make war upon you by land and sea.'

9 When Demetrius heard that Nicanor and his troops had fallen in battle, he sent Bacchides and Alcimus into the land of Judah again a second time, with the right wing of his army. And they marched by the Gilgal road, and pitched their camp against Mesaloth, in Arbela, and took it, and destroyed
3 many people. And in the first month of the one hundred and fifty-second year they encamped against Jerusalem.
4 Then they set out and marched to Berea with twenty thousand men and 5 two thousand horse. And Judas was encamped at Elasa, and had three
6 thousand picked men with him. And they saw that the number of the troops was great and they were greatly terrified, and many slipped out of the camp; not more than eight hundred men were 7 left. And Judas saw that his army had slipped away, and that the battle was imminent, and he was troubled in mind, for he had no time to rally them.
8 And in desperation he said to those who were left,

"Let us get up and go against our opponents; perhaps we can fight against them."

9 And they tried to dissuade him, saying,

"We certainly cannot; but let us save our lives now, and come back with our brothers and fight against them; we are so few."

10 And Judas said,

"I will never do this thing, and flee from them; and if our time has come, let us die bravely for our brothers, and not leave a stain upon our honor."

11 So the army set out from the camp and formed its lines to join battle, and the cavalry was divided into two parts, and the slingers and archers marched before the army, and all the powerful 12 men who formed the front line. But Bacchides was on the right wing. And the phalanx advanced on the two sides, 13 and they sounded their trumpets, and Judas' men also sounded their trumpets, and the earth shook with the shout of the armies, and the battle 14 raged from morning till evening. And when Judas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his army were on the right wing, all the stout-hearted went with him, and the right wing was beaten 15 back by them, and he pursued them as far as Mount Azotus. And the men on 16 the left wing saw that the right wing was beaten back, and they turned and followed the track of Judas and his men from behind. And the fight became 17 desperate, and many on both sides fell wounded. And Judas fell and the rest 18 fled. And Jonathan and Simon took 19 their brother Judas and buried him in the tombs of his forefathers in Modin. And they wept over him, and all Israel 20 lamented him greatly and mourned for a long time, saying,

"What a hero is fallen, the Savior of 21 Israel!"

The rest of the deeds of Judas, and 22 his wars, and the exploits that he performed, and his greatness are unrecorded, for they were very many.

It happened after the death of Judas 23 that those who had no regard for the Law raised their heads all over Israel, and all the wrongdoers reappeared. In 24 those days there was a very great famine, and the country went over to their side. And Bacchides chose the un- 25 godly men and appointed them masters of the country. And they searched and 26 sought out the friends of Judas and brought them to Bacchides, and he punished them and mocked them. And 27 there was great distress in Israel, such as there had not been since the time when the prophets ceased to appear to them. And all the friends of Judas 28 gathered together and said to Jonathan,

"Since the death of your brother 29 Judas, there has been no one like him to go in and out against our enemies and Bacchides and among those of our nation who are hostile. So now we have 30 chosen you today to be our ruler and leader in his place, to carry on our war."

And Jonathan accepted the com- 31 mand at that time, and took the place of his brother Judas.

And Bacchides learned of this, and 32 tried to kill him. And Jonathan and his 33 brother Simon and all his men learned of it, and they fled into the wild country about Tekoa, and they pitched their camp by the waters of the pool of Asphar. And Bacchides learned of it on 34

the sabbath, and he and all his army came across the Jordan.

35 Now Jonathan had sent his brother, a leader of the multitude, and entreated the Nabateans, as his friends, to let them leave with them their baggage, of which there was a great deal.
 36 But the sons of Jambri, from Medaba, came out and seized John and all that he had, and went off with it. Afterward, news came to Jonathan and his brother Simon that the sons of Jambri were making a great wedding, and were conducting the bride, the daughter of one of the great nobles of Canaan, with 38 a great retinue, from Nadabath. And they remembered the blood of their brother John, and they went up and hid under the shelter of the mountain.
 39 And they looked up and saw, and there was confusion, and a great deal of baggage, for the bridegroom had come out with his friends and his kinsmen to meet them, with drums and musicians
 40 and many weapons. Then they fell upon them from their ambush and killed them, and many fell wounded, and the survivors fled into the moun-
 41 tain, and they took all their spoils. So the wedding was turned into grief and the voice of their musicians into lamentation. And when they had fully avenged their brother's blood, they turned back to the marshes of the Jordan.

43 And Bacchides heard of it, and he came on the sabbath to the banks of the Jordan, with a strong force. And Jonathan said to his men,

"Let us get up now and fight for our lives, for today is not like yesterday or 45 the day before, for here is the battle in front of us and behind us, and on one side the water of the Jordan, and on the other marsh and thicket, and there is 46 no room to retreat. So now, cry out to heaven that you may be delivered from the hands of our enemies."

47 And the battle was joined, and Jonathan stretched out his hand to strike Bacchides down, and he gave 48 ground before him. Then Jonathan and his men jumped into the Jordan and swam over to the other side; and they did not cross the Jordan in pursuit of 49 them. And fully a thousand of Bacchides' men fell that day.

50 And he returned to Jerusalem, and they built fortified towns in Judea; the stronghold in Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Timnath Pharathon, and Tephon, with high walls and barred gates; and he put 51 garrisons in them to harass Israel. And 52 he fortified the town of Bethsura, and Gazara, and the citadel, and he put troops in them, and stores of provisions. And he took the sons of the 53 principal men of the country as hostages, and put them in custody in the citadel at Jerusalem.

In the one hundred and fifty-third 54 year, in the second month, Alcimus gave orders to tear down the wall of the inner court of the sanctuary; he thus destroyed the work of the prophets, but he began to tear it down. At that 55 very time, Alcimus was stricken, and his work hindered and his mouth stopped, and he was paralyzed and could no longer utter a word, or give orders about his household. So Alcimus 56 died at that time, in great agony. And 57 when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he went back to the king, and the land of Judah was quiet for two years.

Then all those who disregarded the 58 Law plotted, saying,

"Here Jonathan and his men are living undisturbed and secure, so now we will bring Bacchides back, and he will arrest them all in a single night."

And they went and consulted him. 59 And he set out and came with a strong 60 force and he sent letters secretly to all his allies in Judea to arrest Jonathan and his men, but they could not because their plan became known to them. And they seized fully fifty of the 61 men of the country who were ring-leaders in this wickedness, and killed them. And Jonathan and Simon 62 their men withdrew to Bethbasi, in the wild country, and he rebuilt the parts that had been torn down, and they strengthened it. And Bacchides learned 63 of it, and he gathered all his host and sent word to the men of Judea, and he 64 came and pitched his camp against Bethbasi, and fought against it for a long time and set up siege engines.

Then Jonathan left his brother 65 Simon in the town and went out into the country, and he went with a small force. And he struck down Odomera 66 and his brothers, and the sons of Phasiron in their tent, and they began 67 to strike and attacked with their forces.

And Simon and his men went out of the town and set fire to the siege engines, and they fought with Bacchides, and he was beaten by them, and they pressed him very hard, for his plan and his attack were in vain. And he was very angry with the men who disregarded the Law who had advised him to come into the country, and he killed many of them, and resolved to go back to his country. And Jonathan learned of it, and he sent envoys to him to make peace with him, and obtain the release of his prisoners. And he agreed and did as he promised and made oath to him that he would not seek to injure him so long as he lived. And he released to him the prisoners that he had taken before from the land of Judea, and he went away and returned to his own country, and did not come into their borders again. So the sword ceased in Israel. And Jonathan lived in Michmash. And Jonathan began to judge the people, and he destroyed the ungodly out of Israel.

10 In the one hundred and sixtieth year, Alexander Epiphanes, the son of Antiochus, went up and took possession of Ptolemais, and they welcomed him, and he became king there. When King Demetrius heard of it, he mustered very strong forces and went out to meet him in battle.

3 And Demetrius sent letters to Jonathan in peaceful terms to flatter him, 4 for he said to himself,

"Let us be the first to make peace with them, before he makes peace with Alexander against us, for he will remember all the wrongs we have done him and his brothers and his nation."

6 And he gave him authority to muster troops, and to procure arms and to be his ally, and he gave orders that they should turn over to him the 7 hostages that were in the citadel. So Jonathan went up to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the hearing of all the people, and of the men who were in 8 possession of the citadel; and they were dreadfully frightened when they heard that the king had given him authority to muster troops. And the men in the citadel turned over the hostages to Jonathan, and he gave them back to 10 their parents. And Jonathan lived in Jerusalem, and he began to build and 11 renovate the city. And he ordered those who did the work to build the walls and encircle Mount Zion with four-foot stones for its fortification, and they did so. And the foreigners who were in the 12 strongholds that Bacchides had built fled; each one left his post and went 13 back to his own country, except that in 14 Bethsura there were left some of those who had forsaken the Law and the commandments, for it served as a refuge for them.

And King Alexander heard of all the 15 promises that Demetrius had sent to Jonathan, and they related to him the battles and exploits that he and his brothers had performed, and the troubles they had endured, and he said to 16 himself,

"Can we find another man like him? Now we must make him our friend and ally."

So he wrote letters and sent them to 17 him, in the following terms:

"King Alexander sends greetings to 18 his brother Jonathan. We have heard 19 that you are a valiant warrior, and fit to be our friend. Now we have today 20 appointed you to be high priest of your nation and to be called a Friend of the king" (and he sent him a purple robe and a gold crown) "and to side with us and maintain friendly relations with us."

So Jonathan put on the holy vest- 21 ments in the seventh month of the one hundred and sixtieth year, at the Camping Out festival, and he mustered troops and provided arms in abundance.

And Demetrius heard of these things, 22 and he was annoyed, and said,

"Why have we brought it about that 23 Alexander has gotten ahead of us in establishing friendly relations with the Jews, to strengthen his position? I too 24 will write them a message of encouragement and distinction, with promises of gifts, so that they may become a support for me."

So he sent one to them in these 25 terms:

"King Demetrius sends greetings to the Jewish nation. Since you have kept 26 your agreement with us, and remained true to our friendship, and have not gone over to our enemies, we have rejoiced to hear of it. So now continue to 27 keep faith with us, and we will deal favorably with you in return for your

28 dealings with us, and we will grant you 29 many exemptions and make you presents. So I do now free you and I release all the Jews from paying tribute and from the salt tax and the crown tax.
 30 And instead of one-third of the grain and instead of half of the fruit of the trees, which it falls to me to receive, I surrender from this day forward the right to take them from the land of Judea and from the three districts which are attached to it from Samaria and Galilee, from this day forth and for all 31 time. Let Jerusalem and her territory, her tithes and her taxes, be holy and 32 free. I relinquish also my authority over the citadel in Jerusalem, and I give it to the high priest, in order that he may put men whom he shall choose in 33 possession of it, to garrison it. And every Jewish person who has been carried into captivity from the land of Judea into any part of my kingdom, I set at liberty without payment, and let all officials cancel the taxes upon their 34 cattle also. And let all the festivals and sabbaths and new moons and appointed days, and three days before each festival, and three days after each festival, be days of exemption and immunity for 35 all the Jews in my kingdom, and no one shall have authority to exact anything from any of them or to trouble any of 36 them about any matter. And among the king's forces at least thirty thousand Jews shall be enrolled, and they shall receive pay, as all the king's forces 37 have a right to do. And some of them shall be stationed in the king's great strongholds, and some shall be put in positions of trust in the kingdom. And those who are set over them and those who govern them shall be of their own number, and they shall follow their own laws, as the king has commanded 38 in the land of Judea. And the three districts that have been added to Judea from the country of Samaria shall be added to Judea so that they may be considered as under one man, and not obey any other authority than the 39 high priest. Ptolemais and the land pertaining to it I have presented to the sanctuary in Jerusalem, for the ex-40 penses incident to the sanctuary. And I will give fifteen thousand silver shekels every year, from the king's revenues, from such places as are con-41 venient. And the additional grant, which the administration has not paid over as it formerly did, they shall henceforth pay in full toward the service of the temple. In addition, the five thou- 42 sand silver shekels which they used to take out of the dues of the temple, from the revenue every year, is also canceled, for it rightfully belongs to the priests who conduct the worship. And who- 43 ever takes refuge in the temple at Jerusalem, and in any of its precincts, who owes money to the king or any other obligation shall be released from it, with all his property in my realm. The cost 44 of rebuilding and renovating the fabric of the sanctuary shall be provided out of the king's revenue. The cost of re- 45 building the walls of Jerusalem and of fortifying it all around, and of building the walls in Judea, shall also be provided out of the king's revenue."

But when Jonathan and the people 46 heard these terms, they did not believe them or accept them, for they remembered the great injury he had done to Israel, and that he had distressed them intensely. And they took Alex- 47 ander's side, for he had been first in addressing them in peaceful terms, and they always remained his allies.

Then King Alexander gathered large 48 forces and pitched his camp against Demetrius. And the two kings joined 49 battle, and the army of Demetrius fled, and Alexander pursued him and defeated them, and he pressed the fighting 50 hard, until sunset, and Demetrius fell
 that day.

Then Alexander sent envoys to 51
 Ptolemy, king of Egypt, with this message:

"Since I have returned to my king- 52 dom, and have taken my seat on the throne of my forefathers, and have taken over the government, and have defeated Demetrius and taken possession of our country—for I have met 53 him in battle, and he and his army were defeated by us, and we have taken our seat on the throne of his kingdom—let us now establish friendly relations 54 with one another, so give me your daughter to be my wife, and I will be your son-in-law, and give you and her gifts worthy of you."

And King Ptolemy answered, 55
 "It was a happy day when you returned to the country of your forefathers and took your seat on the 56 throne of their kingdom. I will now do for you what you wrote, but meet me in Ptolemais, so that we may see each other, and I will be your father-in-law, as you have said."

57 So Ptolemy came up from Egypt, with his daughter Cleopatra, and reached Ptolemais in the one hundred 58 and sixty-second year. And King Alexander met him, and he gave him his daughter Cleopatra in marriage, and he celebrated her wedding at Ptolemais with great pomp, as kings do.

59 Then King Alexander wrote to 60 Jonathan to come to meet him. And he went in splendor to Ptolemais and met the two kings, and gave them and their Friends silver and gold and many gifts, 61 and was well received by them. Some malcontents from Israel, who disregarded the Law, gathered against him, to lay charges against him, but the king 62 paid no attention to them. And the king gave orders, and they took Jonathan's clothes off and clothed him in 63 purple; they did as he ordered. And the king made him sit beside him, and said to his officers,

"Go out with him into the middle of the city, and make a proclamation that no one is to appeal against him on any ground, and no one must interfere with him on any account."

64 So it happened that when those who were complaining of him saw the distinction with which he was treated, as the herald proclaimed, and saw him
65 clothed in purple, they all fled. And the king treated him with distinction, and enrolled him among his Best Friends, and made him general and governor.
66 So Jonathan returned to Jerusalem in peace and gladness.

67 In the one hundred and sixty-fifth year, Demetrius' son Demetrius came from Crete to the country of his fore-
68 fathers. When King Alexander heard of it, he was greatly disturbed and returned to Antioch. And Demetrius appointed Apollonius who was in command of Coelesyria, and he gathered a strong force and pitched his camp at Jamnia, and sent to Jonathan the high priest saying,

70 "You are all alone in resisting us, but I am laughed at and reproached because of you. Why do you claim your authority against us up in the moun-71 tains? If you really trust in your troops, come down into the plain to us and let us measure our strength together there, for I have control of the towns. So inquire and find out who I 72 am, and who the others are who help us, and they will tell you that you will have no foothold before us, for your forefathers have been routed twice in their land. So now you will not be able 73 to stand against the cavalry and such a force as this on the plain, where there is no stone or pebble, or place to escape to."

When Jonathan heard the message of 74 Apollonius, his heart was stirred, and he chose ten thousand men, and set out from Jerusalem, and his brother Simon joined him to help him. And he pitched 75 his camp against Joppa, and the men of the town shut him out, for Apollonius had a garrison in Joppa; and they 76 fought against it. Then the men of the town were frightened and they opened the gates, and Jonathan took possession of Joppa. And Apollonius heard of it, 77 and he mustered three thousand horsemen and a strong force and he marched to Ashdod as though he meant to travel on, but at the same time he advanced into the plain, because he had a large force of cavalry and relied upon it. And
78 he pursued him to Ashdod, and the armies joined battle. And Apollonius 79 had left a thousand horse in hiding in their rear, and Jonathan learned that there was an ambush in his rear. And they surrounded his army and showered their arrows upon the people from morning till evening, but the 80 people stood fast, as Jonathan had ordered, while the enemy's horses were tired out. Then Simon advanced his 82 force and joined battle with the phalanx, for the cavalry were exhausted, and they were defeated by him, and fled, and the cavalry were scattered
83 over the plain. And they fled to Ashdod and took refuge in Beth-dagon, their idol's temple. And Jonathan burned 84 Ashdod and the towns around it, and plundered them, and he burned up the temple of Dagon and those who had taken refuge in it. And those who had 85 fallen by the sword, together with those who were burned up came to fully eight thousand men. And Jonathan set forth 86 and pitched his camp against Askelon and the men of the town came out to meet him with great pomp. Then
87

Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with his men, with a great quantity of plunder. And it happened that, when King Alexander heard of these things, he treated Jonathan with still more distinction, and he sent him a gold buckle, such as are usually given to the members of the royal family; and he gave him Ekron and all that district for settlement.

11 And the king of Egypt gathered strong forces, like the sand on the seashore, and many ships, and undertook to possess himself of Alexander's kingdom by deceit, and to add it to his own kingdom. And he set out for Syria with peaceful professions, and the people of the towns opened their gates to him, and met him, for King Alexander had ordered them to meet him, as he was his father-in-law. But when Ptolemy entered the towns, he placed a garrison of his troops in each town. And when they reached Ashdod, they showed him the temple of Dagon burned, and Ashdod and its suburbs torn down and corpses lying about, and those who had been burned, whom he had burned in the war, for they had piled them in heaps in his way. And they told the king what Jonathan had done, in order to throw blame on him, and the king was silent. And Jonathan met the king with pomp at Joppa, and they greeted one another and spent the night there. 7 And Jonathan traveled with the king as far as the river called the Eleutherus, and then returned to Jerusalem. But Ptolemy made himself master of the coast towns all the way to Seleucia which is by the sea, and formed wicked designs about Alexander. And he sent envoys to King Demetrius, saying,

"Come, let us make an agreement with each other, and I will give you my daughter, whom Alexander had, and you shall reign over your father's kingdom. For I regret having given him my daughter, for he has undertaken to kill me."

11 But he threw blame on him because he coveted his kingdom. So he took his daughter away from him, and gave her to Demetrius, and was estranged from Alexander, and their enmity became manifest. And Ptolemy entered Antioch, and assumed the diadem of Asia, so he put two diadems upon his head, that of Egypt and that of Asia.

But King Alexander was in Cilicia, 14 at that time, for the people of those regions were in revolt. When Alexander 15 heard of it, he marched against him. And Ptolemy led out his army and met him with a strong force, and routed him. And Alexander fled to Arabia to 16 find shelter, but King Ptolemy was triumphant. And Zabdiel the Arab cut 17 off Alexander's head and sent it to Ptolemy. Three days later King Ptolemy died, and his men in the strongholds were destroyed by the men of the strongholds. And in the one hundred 19 and sixty-seventh year, Demetrius became king.

In those days Jonathan mustered the 20 men of Judea to attack the citadel, and he set up many siege engines against it. And some breakers of the Law, who 21 hated their own nation, went to the king and reported to him that Jonathan was besieging the citadel. When he 22 heard of it, he was angry, but upon hearing it he immediately set out and came to Ptolemais, and wrote Jonathan not to continue the siege but to meet him as soon as possible at Ptolemais, for a conference. When Jonathan heard 23 this, he gave orders to continue the siege, and he selected some of the elders of Israel and of the priests and put himself in danger, for he took silver 24 and gold and clothing and a great many other presents, and went to the king, at Ptolemais, and he pleased the king. And when some of the men of his nation 25 who disregarded the Law complained of him, the king treated him just as his predecessors had done, and showed him great honor in the presence of all his Friends. He confirmed him in the high 27 priesthood, and all the other honors he had received before, and made him chief of his Best Friends. Jonathan 28 asked the king to free Judea and the three provinces and Samaria from tribute, and promised him three hundred talents. The king agreed, and 29 wrote a letter to Jonathan on all these matters as follows:

"King Demetrius sends greetings to 300 his brother Jonathan and to the Jewish nation. This copy of the letter which 31 we have written to Lasthenes our kinsman, we have written to you also, so that you may be acquainted with it. King Demetrius sends greeting to his 32 father Lasthenes. We have determined 33 to favor the Jewish nation, who are friends of ours, and observe their obligations to us, because of the good will they have shown us. So we have recognized as theirs the territory of Judea and the three districts of Aphaerema, Lydda, and Ramathaim (they were transferred from Samaria to Judea) and everything pertaining to them, for all those who offer sacrifice in Jerusalem, instead of the royal dues which the king formerly took from them annually from the produce of the land and the fruit of the trees. And the other things that fall to us, of the tithes and dues that fall to us, and the salt pits and the crown tax that fall to us, all these we will from henceforth make over to them. And not one of these things shall be annulled from this time forth forever. So now take care to make a copy of this, and have it given to Jonathan and set up in a prominent place on the holy mount."

And King Demetrius saw that the country was quiet before him, and that there was no opposition to him, and he dismissed all his troops, every man to his home, except the foreign forces that he had hired from the islands of the heathen, so the old soldiers of his fathers had a grudge against him. Now Trypho was one of Alexander's old party, and when he saw that all the troops were grumbling at Demetrius, he went to Imalkue the Arab who was bringing up Antiochus, the little son of Alexander, and he insisted that he should turn him over to him, to become king in his father's place. And he reported to him all that Demetrius had done, and told him of the animosity his troops felt for him; and he stayed with him a long time.

Then Jonathan sent to King Demetrius asking him to expel the garrison of the citadel from Jerusalem, and the garrisons from the strongholds, for they kept fighting against Israel. And Demetrius sent to Jonathan and said,

"I will not only do this for you and your nation, but I will greatly honor you and your nation if I find an opportunity. So now please send me men who will fight for me, for all my troops are in revolt."

So Jonathan sent three thousand able-bodied men to Antioch, and they came to the king, and he was glad they had come. And the people of the city, fully a hundred and twenty thousand of them, gathered in the midst of the city, and wanted to kill the king. And the king fled to the palace, and the people of the city seized the thoroughfares of the city, and began to fight. Then the king summoned the Jews to his aid, and they all together rallied about him, and scattered over the city and killed that day fully a hundred thousand people. And they set the city on fire, and took a great quantity of spoil that day, and saved the king. When the people of the city saw that the Jews controlled the city as they pleased, their hearts failed them, and they cried out to the king in entreaty, saying,

"Give us your pledge and make the Jews stop fighting against us and the city."

And they threw down their arms and made peace. And the Jews were in high honor with the king, and with all his subjects, and they returned to Jerusalem with a great quantity of spoil. And King Demetrius sat on his royal throne, and the land was quiet before him. But he lied in all that he had said, and became estranged from Jonathan and did not return the favors he had done him, but treated him very harshly.

Now after this Trypho returned, bringing with him the little child Antiochus. And he became king and assumed the diadem. And all the troops that Demetrius had cast off rallied about him, and they fought against Demetrius and he was routed, and fled. And Trypho took the animals and took possession of Antioch. And the youthful Antiochus wrote to Jonathan, saying,

"I confirm you in the high priesthood and appoint you over the four districts, and to be one of the king's Friends."

And he sent him gold plate and table service, and gave him the right to drink from gold goblets, and dress in purple and wear a gold buckle. And he made his brother Simon governor from the Ladder of Tyre to the frontier of Egypt. And Jonathan set out and traveled across the river and among the towns, and the whole army of Syria rallied about him, to ally themselves with him. And he went to Askelon, and the people of the town received him with honor. And he went from there to Gaza, but the people of Gaza shut their gates against him, so he laid siege to it, and fired its suburbs and plundered them. Then the people of Gaza asked for terms, and he gave them his pledge and took the sons of their leaders as hostages, and sent them to Jerusalem; and he went through the country as far as Damascus.

And Jonathan heard that the officers of Demetrius were at Kadesh in Galilee, with a strong force, wishing to remove him from his office, so he went to meet them, but he left his brother Simon in the country. And Simon pitched his camp against Bethsura, and fought against it a long time, and shut it in. And they asked him to give them pledges and he did so; and he put them out of it and took possession of the town and put a garrison in it.

And Jonathan and his army pitched their camp by the water of Gennesaret, and early in the morning they went to the Plain of Hazor. And, behold, the army of the foreigners met him in the plain; they had set an ambush for him in the mountains, but they themselves met him face to face. But the ambush rose out of their places and joined battle, and all who were on Jonathan's side fled; not one was left of them except Mattathias, the son of Absalom, and Judas, the son of Chalphi, who were captains of the forces. And Jonathan tore open his clothes and threw dust on his head and prayed. And he turned against them again in battle and routed them, and they fled. Those who were fleeing on his side saw it and returned to him and pursued them with him as far as Kadesh all the way to their camp, and they pitched their camp there. And there fell of the foreigners that day fully three thousand men. And Jonathan returned to Jerusalem.

And Jonathan saw that the time was favorable, and he selected men and sent them to Rome to confirm and renew friendly relations with them. And he sent letters to the Spartans and to other places to the same effect. And they went to Rome and went into the senate house and said,

"Jonathan the high priest and the Jewish people have sent us to renew friendly relations and alliance on their behalf, as they have been heretofore."

And they delivered to them in each place letters addressed to them, asking them to see them off for the land of Judah in peace.

This is the copy of the letter that Jonathan wrote to the Spartans:

"Jonathan, the high priest, and the council of the nation and the priests and the rest of the Jewish people send greeting to their brothers the Spartans. In former times a letter was sent to the high priest Onias from Arius who was then king among you, to say that you are our kinsmen, as the copy of it that is appended to this shows. And Onias showed honor to the man who was sent to him, and accepted the letter, which contained a declaration of alliance and friendliness. So, though we are in no need of these, since we find our encouragement in the sacred books that are in our keeping, we have undertaken to send to renew relations of brotherhood and friendliness with you, so that we may not become entirely estranged from you, for it is a long time since you sent to us. So we on every occasion unremittingly at our festivals and on other appropriate days remember you at the sacrifices that we offer and in our prayers, as it is right and proper to remember kinsmen. We rejoice in your renown. But many hardships and wars have beset us, and the kings around us have made war on us. We have not wished to trouble you or our other allies and friends about these wars, for we have the help that comes from heaven to aid us, and we have been saved from our enemies, and our enemies have been humbled. So we have chosen Nune-nius, the son of Antiochus, and Antipater, the son of Jason, and have sent them to the Romans to renew our former relations of friendliness and alliance with them. So we have instructed them to go to you also and greet you, and to deliver to you our letter about the renewal of our fraternal relations. Now please reply to us about this."

And this is the copy of the letter which they had sent to Onias:

"Arius, king of the Spartans, sends greetings to Onias, the chief priest. It has been found in a writing concerning the Spartans and Jews, that they are kinsmen, and that they are descended from Abraham. Now since we have learned this, please write us about your 23 welfare. We for our part write you that your cattle and property are ours and ours are yours. So we command them to report to you to this effect."

24 And Jonathan heard that Demetrius' officers had returned with a stronger force than before to make war on him.
 25 And he set out from Jerusalem and met them in the country of Hamath, for he did not give them time to make their 26 way into his own country. And he sent spies into their camp and they came back and reported to him that they were forming in a certain way so as to 27 fall upon him that night. But when the sun set, Jonathan ordered his men to be on the watch and to remain under arms so as to be ready for battle all night long, and he stationed outposts 28 around the camp. And his adversaries heard that Jonathan and his men were ready for battle, and they were frightened and were terrified at heart, and 29 they lighted fires in their camp. But Jonathan and his men did not know of it until morning, for they saw the fires 30 burning. Then Jonathan pursued them, but he could not overtake them, for they had crossed the river Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned aside against the Arabs who are called Zabadeans, and he defeated them and plundered them.
 32 And he set forth and went to Damascus, and traveled all through the country.
 33 And Simon set out and made his way to Askelon, and the strongholds near it, and he turned aside to Joppa and 34 took it by surprise, for he had heard that they wanted to turn over the stronghold to Demetrius' men, and he stationed a garrison there to hold it.

35 When Jonathan returned, he called together the elders of the people, and planned with them to build strong-36 holds in Judea, and to increase the height of the walls of Jerusalem, and to build a great mound between the citadel and the city, to separate it from the city, so that it might be by itself, so that they could not buy or sell in it.
 37 So they gathered together to build up the city, and part of the east wall by the ravine collapsed, and he replaced it 38 with the so-called Chaphenatha. And Simon built Adida in the lowlands and he fortified it and fitted it with barred gates.

39 And Trypho undertook to become king of Asia and assume the diadem, and to raise his hand against King Antiochus. But he was afraid that 40 Jonathan would not permit him to, but would fight against him, so he undertook to seize him, in order to destroy him. And he set out and came to Bethshean. And Jonathan went out to 41 meet him with forty thousand picked fighting men, and came to Bethshean.

 And Trypho saw that he had come with 42 a strong force, and he was afraid to raise his hand against him, so he re- 43 ceived him with honor, and he introduced him to all his Friends, and gave him presents, and instructed his Friends and his forces to obey him as they would himself. And he said to Jona- 44
 than,

"Why have you burdened all these people, when there is no war between us? Come, send them home, and choose 45 yourself a few men to remain with you, and come with me to Ptolemais and I will turn it over to you, together with the rest of the strongholds and the rest of the forces and all the officials, and I will go back again, for it was for this that I came."

And he trusted him and did as he 46 said and dismissed his forces, and they returned to the land of Judah. He left 47 himself three thousand men, two thousand of whom he left in Galilee, and one thousand went with him. But when 48 Jonathan entered Ptolemais, the people of Ptolemais closed the gates and seized him, and all who had come in with him they put to the sword. And Try- 49 pho sent forces and cavalry to Galilee and the great plain to destroy all Jonathan's men. And they found out 50 that he had been taken and had perished with his men, but they encouraged one another and marched away in close order, ready to fight. And 51 when their pursuers saw that they were ready to fight for their lives, they turned back. And they all reached the 52 land of Judah unmolested, but they mourned over Jonathan and his men, and they were greatly frightened; and all Israel mourned for him bitterly.
 And all the heathen around them tried 53
 to destroy them utterly, for they said,

"They have no leader or helper, so now let us make war on them and destroy their memory from among
 men."

13 And Simon heard that Trypho had gathered a strong force to invade the land of Judah and destroy it utterly.

2 And he saw that the people were trembling and alarmed, and he went up to Jerusalem and gathered the people together and encouraged them and said to them,

"You know yourselves all that I and my brothers and my father's house have done for the laws and the sanctuary, and the wars and hardships we have been through. As a result, my brothers have all perished for Israel's sake, and I alone am left. Now I never want to spare my own life in any emergency, for I am no better than my brothers. But I will avenge my nation and the sanctuary and your wives and children, because all the heathen have gathered out of hatred, to destroy us utterly."

7 And when they heard these words, the spirit of the people revived, and they answered with a great shout,

"You are our leader, in the place of Judas and Jonathan your brothers. Carry on our war, and we will do all that you tell us."

10 So he called together all the fighting men, and made haste to finish the walls of Jerusalem and put fortifications around it. And he sent Jonathan, the son of Absalom, with a considerable force to Joppa, and he drove out the men who were in it and remained there in possession.

12 Then Trypho set out from Ptolemais with a strong force to invade Judah, taking Jonathan with him in custody.

13 But Simon pitched his camp in Adida facing the plain. And Trypho learned that Simon had risen to take the place of his brother Jonathan and that he was going to make war on him, and he sent envoys to him, saying,

15 "It is for money that your brother Jonathan owed the royal treasury in connection with the offices that he held, that we are holding him. So now send a hundred talents of silver and two of his sons as hostages, so that when he is released he will not revolt against us, and we will let him go."

17 And Simon knew that they were speaking to him treacherously, but he sent to get the money and the children, so that he should not incur deep animosity on the part of the people, and they should say, "Because I did not send him the money and the children, he perished." So he sent the children 19 and the hundred talents. But Trypho played him false and would not let Jonathan go. After this he came to 20, invade the country, and destroy it, and they went around by the road to Adora, and Simon and his army kept abreast of him everywhere he went. And the 21 men in the citadel sent envoys to Trypho urging him to come to them by way of the wild country and send them provisions. And Trypho got all his 22 cavalry ready to go, but that night there was a very heavy snow, and he could not go because of the snow, so he set forth and went into Gilead. And 23 when he approached Bascama, he killed Jonathan, and he was buried there. And Trypho went back to his 24 own country again.

And Simon sent and got the bones 25 of his brother Jonathan, and buried him in Modin, the town of his forefathers. And all Israel lamented him 26 greatly and mourned over him for a long time. And Simon built a monument over the grave of his father and his brothers, and made it high so that it could be seen, with polished stone on back and front. And he erected 27 seven pyramids in a row, for his father and his mother and his four brothers. And he made devices for these, setting 28 up great columns and putting on the columns trophies of armor for an everlasting memorial, and beside the armor carved prows of ships, so that they could be seen by all who sailed the sea. Such was the monument that he built 29 at Modin, and that still stands today.

Now Trypho dealt treacherously 30 with King Antiochus the younger and killed him and became king in his 31 place and assumed the diadem of Asia, and brought great calamity upon the country. But Simon built the strong- 32 holds of Judea and surrounded them with high towers and thick walls and barred gates, and he stored up provisions in the strongholds. And Simon 33 chose men and sent them to King Demetrius so that he should give the country relief, because all that Trypho did was to plunder. And King Demetrius sent him a message in these terms, and answered him and wrote a letter, as follows:

36 "King Demetrius sends greeting to Simon, the high priest and the friend of kings, and to the Jewish elders and 37 nation. The gold crown and the palm branch which you sent we have received, and we are ready to make a lasting peace with you, and to write to our officials to grant you the im-38 munities you ask. The things we have guaranteed to you stand assured, and the strongholds which you have built 39 shall be yours. Any oversights and deficiencies up to this time we forgive, as well as the crown tax that you owe, and if any other tax was collected in Jerusalem, it shall no longer be collected.
40 And if any of you are suitable persons to be enrolled at our court, they shall be so enrolled, and there shall be peace between us."

41 It was in the one hundred and seventieth year that the yoke of the 42 heathen was lifted from Israel. And the people began to write in their contracts and agreements, "In the first year of Simon, the great high priest and governor and commander of the Jews."

43 In those days he pitched his camp against Gazara, and surrounded it with troops; and he built a siege engine and brought it up to the town and attacked 44 a tower and took it. And the men who were on the engine sprang out into the 45 town. And there was a great stir in the town, and the people of the town with their wives and children went up on the wall with their clothes torn open and cried with a great shout asking 46 Simon to treat with them, and they
said,

"Do not treat us as our wickedness deserves, but have mercy on us."

47 So Simon came to terms with them and did not fight them, but he put them out of the city and purified the houses in which the idols were, and then he 48 entered it with songs and praise. And he expelled all impurity from it, and settled men in it who observed the Law, and he fortified it more strongly and built himself a dwelling there.

49 But the men in the citadel in Jerusalem were being kept from going in and out of the country to buy and sell, and they were famished and a good many 50 of them died of starvation. And they cried out to Simon to make terms with them, and he did so. And he expelled them from it and purified the citadel from its defilements. And they took 51 possession of it on the twenty-third day of the second month in the one hundred and seventy-first year, with praise and palm branches and with lyres and cymbals and harps, and with hymns and songs, because a great enemy had been destroyed out of Israel. And he 52 decreed that they should observe that day with gladness every year. And the temple mount facing the citadel he fortified more strongly, and he and his men lived there. And Simon saw 53 that his son John was now a man and he made him commander of all his forces; and he lived in Gazara.

In the one hundred and seventy- 14 second year King Demetrius gathered his forces and marched into Media to obtain help so that he could fight against Trypho. And Arsaces, king of 2 Persia and Media, heard that Demetrius had entered his territory and he sent one of his officers to take him alive. And he went and defeated De- 3 metrius' army and captured him and brought him to Arsaces, and he put him under guard.

And the land of Judah was at peace 4 as long as Simon lived; he sought the good of his nation; his rule and his renown pleased them all his life. With 5 all his other glories, he took Joppa for a port and made it a way of access to the islands of the sea. He enlarged the 6 territory of his nation, and became master of the land. He gathered many 7 captives and made himself master of Gazara and Bethsura and the citadel, and he removed from it what defiled it,
and there was no one who could resist him. And they cultivated their land in 8 peace, and the land yielded its produce, and the trees in the plains bore their fruit. The old men sat in the streets; 9 they all talked together of their well-being; and the young men put on splendid warlike attire. He supplied 10 the towns with provisions, and he furnished them with fortifications, until his renown was spoken of to the ends of the 11 earth. He made peace in the land, and Israel rejoiced with great joy. Each 12 man sat under his vine and his fig tree, and there was no one that could make them afraid. There was no one left in 13 the land to fight them, and the kings were destroyed in those days. He re- 14 established all those of his people who had been humbled; he sought out the Law, and removed everyone who was lawless and wicked. He made the sanctuary glorious and increased the equipment of the sanctuary.

16 It was reported in Rome and as far as Sparta that Jonathan was dead, and they grieved bitterly. But when they heard that his brother Simon had been made high priest in his place, and that he was in control of the country and the towns in it, they wrote to him on brass tablets to renew with him the friendly relations and alliance they had established with his brothers Judas and Jonathan; and they were read before the assembly in Jerusalem. And this is the copy of the letter which the Spartans sent:

"The chief magistrates and the city of the Spartans send greeting to Simon, the chief priest, and to the elders and the priests and the rest of the Jewish people, our kinsmen. The envoys that were sent to our people told us of your spendor and wealth, and we were glad of their coming. We have recorded what they said in the decrees of the people, as follows:

"Numenius, the son of Antiochus, and Antipater, the son of Jason, envoys of the Jews, came to us to renew their friendly relations with us. And the people were pleased to receive the men with honor and to deposit the copy of what they said among the public records, so that the Spartan people may have a record of it. And they sent a copy of this to Simon the high priest."

24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome with a great gold shield weighing a thousand pounds, to confirm their alliance with them.

25 But when the people heard these things, they said,

"How shall we thank Simon and his sons? For he and his brothers and his father's house have stood fast, and have fought and driven from them the enemies of Israel, and secured his freedom."

27 So they engraved it on brass tablets and set it on pillars on Mount Zion. And this is the copy of what they wrote:

"On the eighteenth day of Elul, in the one hundred and seventy-second year—that is, the third year of the high priesthood of Simon, the prince of God's people—in a great congregation of priests and people and leaders of the nation and elders of the country, this has been reported to us: On the frequent occasions when wars have arisen in the country, Simon, the son of Mattathias the priest, of the descendants of Joarib, and his brothers have exposed themselves to danger and resisted the adversaries of their nation so that their sanctuary and their law might be upheld, and they have reflected great glory upon their nation. Jonathan rallied their nation and came their high priest, and was gathered to his people. And when their enemies resolved to invade their country, and attack their sanctuary, Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent a great deal of money of his own, and armed the warlike men of his nation, and gave them wages. And he fortified the towns of Judea and Bethsura on the borders of Judea, where their enemies formerly kept their arms, and he stationed a garrison of Jews there. And he fortified Joppa, on the seacoast, and Gazara, on the borders of Ashdod, where their enemies formerly lived, and he settled Jews there, and all that was necessary for the restoration of them he put in them. And when the people saw Simon's faithfulness and the glory that he designed to bring to his nation, they made him their leader and high priest, because he had done all these things and because of the uprightness and fidelity he had shown to his nation, and because he had sought in every way to exalt his people. In his days matters prospered in his hands so that the heathen were driven out of their country, as well as those in the City of David, in Jerusalem, who had built themselves a citadel, from which they would go out and pollute the surroundings of the sanctuary, and did great damage to its purity. He settled Jews in it and fortified it to make the land and the city safe, and he made the walls of Jerusalem high. In view of these things, King Demetrius confirmed him in the high priesthood, and made him one of his Friends, and treated him with great honor. For he had heard that the Jews had been addressed by the Romans as friends and allies and kinsmen, and that they had received Simon's envoys with great honor. And the Jews and their priests resolved that Simon should be their leader and high priest forever until a true prophet should appear, and that he should be their general, to appoint them to their duties, and to set them over the country and over the arms and over the fortifications; and that he should take care of the sanctuary, and that all should obey him, and that all contracts in the country should be dated in his reign and that he should be clothed in purple and wear gold. And no one of the people or of the priests shall be allowed to set aside any of these things, or to contradict what he shall say or to gather an assembly in the country without him, or to be clothed in purple or pin on a gold buckle. Whoever disobeys these actions or disregards any of them shall be liable to punishment."

And all the people agreed to decree that they should do these things to Simon, and Simon accepted them and agreed to be high priest and general and governor of the Jews and the priests, and to preside over them all. And they ordered that this decree should be inscribed on brass tablets and that they should be set up in a conspicuous place in the sanctuary enclosure, and that copies of it be deposited in the treasury, so that Simon and his sons might have it.

And Antiochus, the son of King Demetrius, sent a letter from the islands of the sea to Simon, the priest and governor of the Jews, and to the whole nation, and it ran as follows:

"King Antiochus sends greeting to Simon, the chief priest and governor, and to the Jewish nation. As some ruffians have made themselves masters of the kingdom of our forefathers, and I wish to claim the kingdom, so that I may restore it to its former state, and have raised a large force of mercenaries and prepared ships of war, and propose to land in the country to go in search of the men who have ruined our country and have laid waste many towns in my kingdom, I now guarantee to you all the immunities which the kings before me have granted you, and whatever other gifts they have released you from. And I give you authority to coin money for your country with your own stamp, and Jerusalem and the sanctuary shall be free, and all the arms you have prepared and the strongholds you have built and now hold, shall remain yours. And any royal obligation and all future royal obligations shall be remitted for you from this time forth forever. And when we get possession of our kingdom, we will greatly glorify you and your nation and the temple so that your glory will be visible to the whole earth."

In the one hundred and seventy-fourth year Antiochus went forth into the country of his forefathers, and all the troops joined him, so there were very few left with Trypho. And Antiochus pursued him, and he came in his flight to Dor by the sea, for he knew that misfortune had overtaken him and his troops had deserted him. And Antiochus pitched his camp against Dor with a hundred and twenty thousand soldiers and eight thousand horse. And he surrounded the town, and ships joined in the attack from the sea, and he pressed the town hard by land and sea, and did not allow anyone to go out or in.

And Numenius and his companions came back from Rome with letters to the kings and the countries, in which this was written:

"Lucius, consul of the Romans, sends greeting to King Ptolemy. The envoys of the Jews have come to us as our friends and allies, to renew the old friendly relations and alliance, having been sent by Simon, the high priest, and the Jewish people, and they have brought a gold shield weighing a thousand pounds. It is our pleasure therefore to write to the kings and the countries not to injure them or fight them or their towns or their country, and not to ally themselves with those who fight against them. And we have determined to accept the shield from them. So if any miscreants flee from their country to you, hand them over to Simon, the high priest, so that he may punish them in accordance with their law."

He wrote the same message to King Demetrius and to Attalus, and to Ariarathes, and to Arsaces, and to all the countries, and to Sampsames and the Spartans, and to Delos, and to Myndos, and to Sicyon, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodes, and to Phaselis, and to Cos, and to Side, and to Aradus and Gortyna and Cnidus and Cyprus and Cyrene.

24 And they wrote a copy for Simon, the high priest.

25 And King Antiochus attacked Dor on the second day, continually throwing his forces against it, and erecting war engines, and he prevented Trypho
26 from going in or out. And Simon sent him two thousand picked men to fight for him, and silver and gold and a 27 quantity of war material. But he would not accept them but disregarded all the agreements he had made with him before, and he was estranged from him.
28 And he sent one of his Friends named Athenobius to him, to confer with him, saying,

"You are holding Joppa and Gazara, and the citadel in Jerusalem, cities of my 29 kingdom. You have laid waste their territories and done great injury to the country, and you have taken possession
30 of many places in my kingdom. So now give up the towns that you have seized, and the tribute of the places you have taken possession of outside the borders
31 of Judea, or else give me five hundred talents of silver for them, and five hundred talents of silver more, for the damage you have done and for the tribute of the towns; or else we will come and make war on you."

32 So Athenobius the king's Friend came to Jerusalem, and saw Simon's splendor, and the sideboard with gold and silver plate and his great pomp, and he was amazed; and he gave him the 33 king's message. And Simon said to him in reply,

"We have neither taken other men's 34 land, nor are we in possession of other men's property, but of the inheritance of our forefathers; it was wrongfully held by our enemies at one time, but we, grasping our opportunity, hold firmly
35 the inheritance of our forefathers. But as for Joppa and Gazara, which you demand, while they have done great damage to our people and in our country, we will give a hundred talents for them."

36 He made him no answer, but went back to the king in anger, and reported these words to him, and Simon's splendor and all that he had seen, and the king was extremely angry.

37 But Trypho embarked on a ship 38 and fled to Orthosia. And the king appointed Cendebaeus commander-in-chief of the seacoast, and gave him infantry and cavalry, and ordered him 39 to pitch his camp before Judea, and he ordered him to wall Kedron and fortify its gates and fight against the people, but the king pursued Trypho. And 40 Cendebaeus arrived at Jamnia, and began to provoke the people and to invade Judea, and to take the people captive and to kill them. And he built the 41 walls of Kedron, and he stationed cavalry and other forces there, so that they might go out and make raids on the highways of Judea, as the king had ordered him to do.

And John went up from Gazara and 42 told his father Simon what Cendebaeus had done. And Simon called in his two 2 eldest sons, Judas and John, and said to them,

"I and my brothers and my father's house have fought the battles of Israel from our youth until today, and we have succeeded in delivering Israel
3 many times. But now I am old, and you by his mercy are old enough; you must take my place and my brother's, and go out and fight for our nation, and the help that comes from heaven be with you!"

And he chose twenty thousand 4 soldiers and cavalry from the country, and they marched against Cendebaeus and spent the night at Modin. And
5 they got up in the morning and marched into the plain, and here a great force came to meet them, horse and foot, and there was a stream between them. And he encamped opposite
6 them, with his people. And he saw that his people were afraid to cross the stream, so he crossed first; and his men saw him and they crossed after him.
7 And he divided the people, putting the cavalry in the midst of the infantry, for the enemy's cavalry were very numerous. And they sounded the trumpets,
8 and Cendebaeus and his army were routed, and many of them fell wounded, and those who were left fled to the stronghold. At that time Judas, John's
9 brother, was wounded, but John pursued them until he came to Kedron, which had been walled. And they fled 10 to the towers in the fields of Ashdod, and he burned it up, and fully two thousand of them fell. And he returned to Judea in peace.

Now Ptolemy, the son of Abubus, 11 had been appointed governor over the plain of Jericho, and he had a great deal 12 of silver and gold, for he was the son-13 in-law of the high priest. And his heart was elated and he plotted deceitfully 14 against Simon and his sons, to remove them. Simon was making visits to the towns in the country, and providing for their care. And he went down to Jericho with his sons Mattathias and Judas, in the one hundred and seventy-seventh year, in the eleventh month, 15 the month of Shebat. And Abubus' son deceitfully entertained them in the fortress called Dok, which he had built,

and he had a great banquet for them, 16 and he had men hidden there. And when Simon and his sons were drunk, Ptolemy and his men got up and got their weapons and went to the banquet hall to attack Simon and killed him and his two sons and some of his servants.
17 So he committed an act of great treachery and returned evil for good.
18 And Ptolemy wrote of this and sent it to the king, so that he might send troops to his aid, and that he might turn over to him their country and towns. And he sent others to Gazara to 19 make away with John, and he sent letters to the colonels, telling them to come to him, so that he might give them silver and gold and presents; and 20 he sent others to take possession of Jerusalem, and the temple mount. And 21 a man ran ahead to Gazara and informed John that his father and his brothers had perished, and said,

"He has sent to kill you also!"

He was greatly amazed when he 22 heard it, and he seized the men who came to destroy him and killed them, for he knew that they meant to destroy
him.

The rest of the acts of John, and his 23 wars and the exploits that he performed, and the building of the walls that he effected, and his deeds—be-24 hold, they are written in the chronicles of his high priesthood, from the time that he became high priest after his father.

THE SECOND BOOK OF MACCABEES

1 TO THE Jewish brothers in Egypt, the Jewish brothers in Jerusalem and the land of Judea send greetings and wish you perfect peace. May God bless you, and remember his agreement with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, his faithful slaves, and give you all a mind to worship him and do his will with a stout heart and a willing spirit. May he open your mind with his Law and his statutes, and make peace and listen to your prayers and be reconciled to you, and not forsake you in adversity. This is our prayer for you here. In the reign of Demetrius, in the one hundred and sixty-ninth year, we Jews wrote you in the extreme distress that overtook us in those years, from the time that Jason and his men revolted from the holy land and the kingdom, and set fire to the gateway and shed innocent blood. And we besought the Lord, and were heard, and we offered sacrifice and the meal offering, and we lighted the lamps, and set out the Presentation Loaves. And you must keep the Camping Out festival in the month of Chislev. The one hundred and eighty-eighth year.

Those who are in Jerusalem and those in Judea and the senate and Judas send greetings and good wishes to Aristobulus, the teacher of King Ptolemy, who is of the stock of the anointed priests, and to the Jews in Egypt. As we have been saved by God from great dangers, we offer devout thanks to him as men who array themselves against a king; for he drove out those who arrayed themselves against him in the holy city. For when their leader reached Persia, with an army about him that seemed irresistible, they were cut down in the temple of Nanaea, through treachery on the part of the priests of Nanaea. For Antiochus with his Friends came to the place on the pretext of marrying her, in order to get a large sum of money by way of dowry. And when the priests of the temple of Nanaea had brought out the money, and he had come with a few followers inside the wall of the temple inclosure, they shut the temple when Antiochus had gone in, and opened the secret door in the ceiling, and threw stones and struck down the leader, and dismembered him and threw their heads to the people who were outside. (Blessed in every way be our God who brought the impious to justice!)

As we are about to celebrate the purification of the temple, on the twenty-fifth day of the month of Chislev, we think it necessary to inform you, so that you too may observe the Camping Out festival and the kindling of the fire, when Nehemiah, who built the temple and the altar, offered sacrifices. For when our forefathers were being taken to Persia, the pious priests of that day took some of the fire on the altar and hid it secretly in the hollow of an empty cistern, where they made it secure, so that the place was unknown to anyone. Many years after, when it pleased God, Nehemiah was commissioned by the king of Persia, and sent the descendants of the priests who had hidden the fire to get it. But when they reported to us that they could not find any fire but only muddy water, he ordered them to dip some out and bring it to him. And when the things to be sacrificed had been put in place, Nehemiah ordered the priests to sprinkle the water on the wood and the things that were laid on it. And when this was done and some time had passed, and the sun, which had been clouded over, shone out, a great blaze was kindled, so that they all wondered. And the priests uttered a prayer while the sacrifice was being consumed—the priests and all present, Jonathan leading and the rest responding, as Nehemiah did. And this was the prayer:

“O Lord, Lord God, creator of all things, who are terrible and strong and upright and merciful, who alone are king and good, the only patron, who alone are upright and almighty and eternal, who save Israel from every evil, who chose our forefathers and sancti-

26 fied them, accept this sacrifice on behalf of all your people Israel, and watch over your allotment, and make 27 it holy. Gather together our scattered people, set at liberty those who are in slavery among the heathen, look upon those who are despised and abhorred, and let the heathen know that you are 28 our God. Afflict our oppressors and those who are violent in their arrogance. Plant your people in your holy 29 place, as Moses said."

30 Then the priests struck up the 31 hymns. And when the things that were sacrificed were consumed, Nehemiah ordered them to pour the water that 32 was left on large stones. And when this was done, a flame was kindled, but when the light shone back from the 33 altar, it went out. And when the thing became known, and the king of Persia was told that in the place where the priests that were deported had hidden the fire, water had appeared, and with it Nehemiah's people had burned up 34 the things they sacrificed, the king, after investigating the matter, made 35 the place a sacred inclosure, and the king exchanged many different gifts 36 with his favorites. Nehemiah's people called this Nephthar, which is translated "Purification," but most people call it Nephthai.

37 It is also found in the records that the prophet Jeremiah ordered those who were carried away to take some of the fire, as has been described, and that after giving them the Law, the prophet charged those who were carried away not to forget the Lord's commands, and not to be led astray in their minds when they saw gold and silver idols and their ornamentation. And with other similar exhortations he told them that the Law should not pass from their hearts. It was also in the writing that the prophet, in obedience to a revelation, gave orders that the tent and the ark should accompany him, and that he went away to the mountain where Moses went up and beheld God's inheritance. And Jeremiah came and found a cave-dwelling, and he took the tent and the ark and the incense altar into it, and he blocked up the door. And some of those who followed him came up to mark the road, and they could not find it. But when Jeremiah found it out, he blamed them and said,

"The place shall be unknown until God gathers the congregation of his people together and shows his mercy. Then the Lord will show where they 8 are, and the glory of the Lord will appear, as they were shown in the days of Moses, and when Solomon asked that the place might be made very sacred." It was also stated that he, in his wisdom, offered a dedicatory sacrifice at the completion of the temple, and just 10 as Moses prayed to the Lord, and fire came down from heaven and consumed the offerings, so Solomon also prayed, and the fire came down and burned up the whole burnt offerings. And Moses 11 said,

"Because the sin offering had not been eaten, it was consumed."

In like manner Solomon also kept the 12 eight days.

The same thing was related also in 13 the records and memoirs about Nehemiah, and that he founded a library and collected the books about the kings and the prophets, and the works of David, and royal letters about sacred gifts. In like manner Judas also collect- 14 ed for us all the books that had been scattered because of the outbreak of war, and they are in our hands. So, if 15 you want them, send men to get them for you.

So as we are about to celebrate the 16 Purification, we write to you. Please observe these days. It is God that has 17 saved all his people and given them back their heritage and kingdom and priesthood and consecration, as he 18 promised through the Law; for in God we have hope that he will speedily have mercy on us, and gather us together from under heaven to the holy place, for he has delivered us from great misfortunes and has purified the place.

Now the story of Judas Maccabeus 19 and his brothers, and the purification of the great temple, and the rededication of the altar, and also of the wars 20 with Antiochus Epiphanes and his son Eupator, and the heavenly manifestations shown to those who zealously championed the Jewish religion, so that few as they were, they plundered the whole country and drove out the barbarian hordes and recovered the 22 world-renowned temple, and freed the city, and restored the laws which were on the point of being destroyed, since the Lord, with great forbearance had 23 shown mercy to them—all this, as related by Jason of Cyrene in five books, we will try to condense into one volume. For in view of the flood of statistics and the difficulty created by the abundance of the material, for those who wish to plunge into the historical 24 narratives, we have aimed at attracting those who like to read, and at making it easy for those who are disposed to memorize, and at being of use to all 25 our readers. For us, who have taken upon ourselves the painful task of abridgment, the thing is not easy, and 27 takes sweat and midnight oil, just as it is no easy matter for a man who prepares a banquet and strives to benefit others. Still, to win the gratitude of so many, we will gladly endure the painful 28 task, leaving to the historian the investigation of details, but taking pains 29 to follow the lines of an epitome. For as the builder of a new house must have the whole structure in mind, while the man who undertakes to decorate and paint it has only to seek out what is suitable for its adornment, so I think 30 it is with us. To enter upon the subject and discuss matters fully and elaborate the details is the task of the original 31 historian, but one who re-writes it must be permitted to seek brevity of expression, and to forego the labored 32 treatment of the matter. Here then let us begin the story, without adding more to what has already been said; for it is foolish to write a long preface to the history and then abbreviate the history itself.

3 When the holy city was inhabited in perfect peace, and the laws were strictly observed, because of the piety of Onias, the high priest, and his hatred 2 of wickedness, it came to pass that even the kings themselves did honor to the place, and glorified the temple with 3 most noble gifts, so that even Seleucus, king of Asia, from his own revenues provided all the expense of the sacrificial service. But a man named Simon, 4 of the tribe of Benjamin, who had been appointed governor of the temple, had a difference with the high priest about 5 the conduct of the city market. When he failed to carry his point against Onias, he went to Apollonius of Tarsus, who was at that time governor of 6 Coele Syria and Phoenicia, and reported to him that the treasury in Jerusalem was full of such untold quantities of money that the amount of the funds was beyond computation; and that they did not belong to the account of the sacrifices and they might fall under the control of the king. When Apollonius 7 met the king, he informed him of the money that had been pointed out to him. And he appointed Heliodorus, who was his chancellor, and sent him with instructions to effect the removal of this money. Heliodorus immediately 8 set out on his journey, under the guise of visiting the towns of Coele Syria and Phoenicia, but in reality to carry out the king's design.

When he reached Jerusalem, and had 9 been cordially welcomed by the high priest and the city, he laid before them the disclosure that had been made to him, and explained why he had come, and inquired whether this was really true. The high priest pointed out that 10 some deposits belonged to widows and orphans, and one belonged to Hyrcanus, son of Tobias, a man of very high position—so falsely had the impious Simon spoken; that it all amounted to four hundred talents of silver and two hundred of gold, and that it was abso- 11 lutely impossible that those who were relying on the sacredness of the place and on the sanctity and inviolability of the temple, which was respected all over the world, should be wronged.

But Heliodorus, because of the royal 12 orders he had received, said that anyway this must be confiscated for the royal treasury. So he set a day, and 14 went in to conduct an inspection of these funds; and there was no little distress all over the city. The priests 15 in their priestly robes threw themselves down before the altar, and called to heaven on him who had given the law about deposits to keep these safe for those who had deposited them. One 16 could not observe the appearance of the high priest without being pierced to the heart, for his expression and his change of color revealed the anguish of his soul. For terror and bodily 17 shuddering had come over the man, which plainly showed to those who looked at him the pain that was in his heart. Moreover the people in the 18 houses came flocking out to make a general supplication because the place was on the point of being treated with 19 contempt. The women, with sackcloth girt under their breasts, thronged the streets, while maidens who were kept indoors ran together, some to the gateways, some to the walls, and some 20 looked out from the windows; and all raised their hands to heaven and 21 uttered their supplication. One could not help pitying the multitude, all prostrating themselves in a body, and the anxiety of the high priest in his great anguish.

22 While they therefore called upon the Almighty Lord to keep the things that had been intrusted to him in perfect security for those who had intrusted 23 them to him, Heliodorus was carrying 24 out what had been decided upon. But no sooner had he and his guards arrived before the treasury than the Sovereign of spirits and of all authority caused a great manifestation so that all who had been daring enough to come with him were appalled at the power of 25 God and fainted with terror. For there appeared to them a horse with a dreadful rider, adorned with magnificent trappings, and rushing swiftly at Heliodorus 26 it struck at him with its forefeet. His rider seemed clad in golden armor. Two young men also appeared to him, remarkably strong and gloriously beautiful and splendidly dressed, who stood on each side of him and flogged him continually, inflicting many stripes on 27 him. He fell suddenly to the ground and was enveloped in deep darkness, and men picked him up and put him on a stretcher and carried him off—28 the man that had just entered that treasury with a great retinue and his whole guard but was now rendered helpless—and they clearly recognized 29 the sovereign power of God. So through the divine intervention he lay prostrate, 30 bereft of all hope of deliverance, while they blessed the Lord who had marvellously honored his own place; and the temple, which a little while before had been full of fear and commotion, now that the Almighty Lord had manifested himself was filled with joy and gladness.

1 Some of the intimate friends of Heliodorus soon asked Onias to call upon the Most High and grant him his life, as 2 he lay at his very last gasp. The high priest suspected that the king might form the opinion that some villainy had been practiced upon Heliodorus by the Jews, and offered a sacrifice for the man's recovery. But as the high priest 33 was offering the sacrifice of propitiation, the same young men again appeared to Heliodorus, clad in the same clothes, and they stood beside him and

 said,

"Be very grateful to Onias the high priest, for the Lord has spared your life for his sake; and since you have 34 been flogged from heaven, proclaim to all men the sovereign power of God."

When they had said this, they van-35 ished. So Heliodorus offered a sacrifice to the Lord and made very great vows to him who had saved his life, and after a friendly meeting with Onias marched back to the king. And he bore 36 witness before all men to the deeds of the supreme God which he had seen.

When the king asked Heliodorus 37 what kind of man was suitable to be sent once more to Jerusalem, he said,

"If you have an enemy or a con- 38 spirator against the government, send him there, and you will get him back soundly flogged, if he escapes with his life, for there is certainly some divine power about the place. For he whose 39 dwelling is in heaven watches over that place and helps it, and strikes down and destroys those who come to injure
 it."

This was the way the matter of 40 Heliodorus and the protection of the treasury turned out.

But this Simon who had informed 4 about the money and against his country, made accusations against Onias, saying that he had incited Heliodorus and had been the actual author of these troubles. He dared to charge with con- 2 spiracy against the government the benefactor of the city, the protector of his countrymen, and the champion of the laws! But when his enmity reached 3 such a point that murders were committed by one of Simon's trusted men, Onias, becoming aware of the danger 4 of their contention, and that Apol-lonius, the son of Menestheus, the governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, was increasing Simon's malice, resorted to 5 the king, not to be an accuser of his fellow-citizens, but as looking after the welfare, public and private, of all the people; for he saw that without the 6

king's interest it was impossible for the government to secure peace again, and that Simon would not abandon his folly.

- 7 But when Seleucus departed this life and Antiochus, who was called Epiphanes, succeeded to the kingdom, Onias' brother Jason obtained the high 8 priesthood by corruption, promising the king in his petition three hundred and sixty talents of silver, and eighty talents from other revenues. Besides this he promised to pay a hundred and fifty more, if he was given authority to set up a gymnasium and a training place for youth there and to enrol the people of Jerusalem as citizens of Antioch.
10 When the king had consented, and he had taken office, he immediately brought his countrymen over to the Greek way of living. He set aside the royal ordinances especially favoring the Jews, secured through John, the father of Eupolemus, who went on the mission to the Romans to establish friendly relations and an alliance with them, and abrogating the lawful ways of living he introduced new customs 12 contrary to the Law. For he willingly established a gymnasium right under the citadel, and he made the finest of the young men wear the Greek hat.
13 And to such a pitch did the cultivation of Greek fashions and the coming-in of foreign customs rise, because of the excessive wickedness of this godless Jason, who was no high priest at all,
14 that the priests were no longer earnest about the services of the altar, but disdaining the sanctuary and neglecting the sacrifices, they hurried to take part in the unlawful exercises in the wrestling school, after the summons to the 15 discus-throwing, regarding as worthless the things their forefathers valued, and thinking Greek standards the 16 finest. As a result, they found themselves in a trying situation, for those whose mode of life they cultivated, and whom they wished to imitate exactly, became their enemies and punished
17 them. For it is no small matter to sin against the laws of God, as the period that followed will show.
18 Now when the quinquennial games were being held at Tyre, and the king
19 was present, the vile Jason sent envoys who were citizens of Antioch to represent Jerusalem, to carry three hundred silver drachmas for the sacrifice to Hercules. But even those who carried it thought it should not be used for a sacrifice, as that was not fitting, but should be spent in some other way. So this money 20 intended by its sender for the sacrifice to Hercules, was applied because of those who carried it to the fitting out of triremes.

When Apollonius, the son of Menelaus, was sent into Egypt to attend the coronation of King Philometor, Antiochus, learning that the latter was disaffected toward his government, took measures for his own security, so he came to Joppa and visited Jerusalem. He was magnificently welcomed 21 by Jason and received with torches and acclamations. Then he marched into Phoenicia.

After the lapse of three years, Jason 23 sent Menelaus, the brother of this Simon, to take the money to the king and to present papers relating to necessary business. But he, on being 24 presented to the king, extolled him with such apparent authority that he obtained the high priesthood for himself, outbidding Jason by three hundred talents of silver. Upon receiving the 25 royal commission, he came back, possessing nothing that qualified him for the high priesthood, but with the passions of a savage tyrant and the rage of a wild beast. So Jason, who had 26 supplanted his own brother, was supplanted by another, and driven as a fugitive into the country of the Ammonites. So Menelaus held the office, but 27 he did not pay any of the money he had promised to the king, and when Sostratus, the governor of the citadel, demanded it, for it was his duty to 28 collect the revenues, the two men were summoned by the king to appear before him on account of it. Menelaus left his 29 brother Lysimachus to act in his place in the high priesthood, and Sostratus left Crates, the viceroy of Cyprus, to act in his.

In this state of things, the people of 30 Tarsus and Mallus made an insurrection because they had been given as a present to Antiochis, the king's mistress. So the king went in haste to 31 Cilicia to adjust matters there, leaving a man of high rank named Andronicus to act in his place. Then Menelaus, 31 thinking he had found a favorable opening, presented Andronicus with some gold dishes from the temple, which he had appropriated; he had already sold others at Tyre and the neighboring towns. When Onias was certain of this, he sternly rebuked him, after retiring to a place of sanctuary at Daphne, near Antioch. So Menelaus took Andronicus aside and urged him to arrest Onias. And he went to Onias, and having been persuaded to use treachery, offered him sworn pledges and gave him his right hand, and persuaded him, notwithstanding his suspicions, to leave his sanctuary, and immediately without regard to justice put him in prison. This made not only Jews but many people of other nationalities indignant and angry over the wicked murder of the man. And when the king came back from Cilicia, the Jews in the city, with the support of the Greeks who abhorred the crime, appealed to him about the unjustifiable killing of Onias. So Antiochus, as he was sincerely sorry, and moved to pity, and shed tears over the sober and well-ordered life of the departed, in a fiery passion stripped the purple robe from Andronicus and tore off his underclothes and led him about through the whole city to the very place where he had sinned against Onias, and there he dispatched the murderer, and the Lord rendered him the punishment he deserved.

When many thefts from the temple had been committed in the city by Lysimachus with the connivance of Menelaus, and the report of them spread abroad, the people gathered against Lysimachus, as a great deal of gold plate had already been scattered. But when the people made an uprising and were inflamed with anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand men, and commenced hostilities with a man named Avaranus, who was as foolish as he was aged, in command. And when they were aware of Lysimachus' attack, some picked up stones and others sticks of wood and others caught up handfuls of the ashes that were lying about, and flung them pell-mell at Lysimachus and his men. As a result, they wounded many of them, and felled many, and put them all to flight, and the temple-robber himself they killed beside the treasury.

Charges were made against Menelaus about this affair, and when the king visited Tyre, the three men sent by the senate presented the case before him. Menelaus was now facing defeat, but he promised a large sum of money to Ptolemy, son of Dorymenes, to prevail upon the king. So Ptolemy took the king aside into a colonnade, as if to take the air, and persuaded him to change his mind, and he acquitted Menelaus, who was to blame for all the trouble, of the charges against him, and condemned to death the wretched men who would have been dismissed as innocent if they had pleaded even before Scythians. So the advocates of the city and the people and the sacred plate promptly suffered this unjust punishment. This caused some Tyrians, in their detestation of the crime, to provide magnificently for their burial. But Menelaus, because of the covetousness of the authorities, remained in power, increasing in wickedness and persistently plotting against his fellow-citizens.

About that time Antiochus made his second attack upon Egypt. And it happened that all over the city for about forty days, there appeared horsemen charging in mid-air, in robes inwrought with gold, fully armed, in companies, with spears and drawn swords; squadrons of cavalry drawn up, charges and countercharges taking place on this side and on that, with brandishing of shields, forests of spears, showers of missiles, the flash of gold trappings, and armor of every kind. Therefore all men prayed that the manifestation betokened good.

There arose a false rumor that Antiochus had departed this life, and Jason took fully a thousand men and made a sudden attack upon the city. As the troops upon the walls gave way, and the city was already virtually captured, Menelaus took refuge in the citadel. Then Jason unsparingly slaughtered his fellow-citizens, regardless of the fact that success gained over one's kindred is the greatest failure, and fancying that he was winning trophies from his enemies, not from his countrymen. He did not get control of the government, however, and in the end got only shame from his conspiracy, and had to take refuge again as a fugitive in the country of the Ammonites.

8 So finally he met a miserable end; accused before Aretas, the sovereign of the Arabians, fleeing from city to city, pursued by all men, hated as an apostate from the laws, and abhorred as the butcher of his country and his fellow-citizens, he was driven into Egypt, and he who had sent many from their own country into exile died in a strange land, crossing the sea to the Lacedaemonians hoping to find protection there because of his relationship to them. So he who had thrown many out to lie unburied had none to mourn for him, and had no funeral at all and no place in the tomb of his forefathers.

11 When news of what had happened reached the king, he thought that Judea was in revolt; so he set out from Egypt like a wild beast and took the city by storm. And he ordered his soldiers to cut down without distinction anyone they met and to slay those who took refuge in their houses. Then there was a massacre of young and old, an annihilation of boys, women and children, a slaughter of girls and babies.

14 In no more than three days eighty thousand people were destroyed, forty thousand of them in hand-to-hand encounter, and as many were sold into slavery as were slain. Not content with this, he dared to go into the most holy temple in all the world, guided by Menelaus who had betrayed both the laws and his country; and took the sacred plate in his polluted hands, and with his profane hands he swept away what had been dedicated by other kings to enhance the glory and honor of the place. In the elation of his spirit, Antiochus did not realize that it was because of the sins of the inhabitants of the city that the Lord was angered for a little, so that he had not had regard for the place. But if they had not happened to be entangled in so many sins this man, like Heliodorus, who was sent by King Seleucus to inspect the treasury, would have been flogged and turned back from his presumptuous purpose as soon as he approached. But the Lord did not select the nation for the sake of the place, but the place for the sake of the nation. Therefore the place itself, after sharing in the misfortunes that overtook the nation, participated afterward in its benefits; and what was forsaken by the Almighty in his wrath was restored in all its glory when its great Master became reconciled to it.

So Antiochus carried away eighteen hundred talents from the temple, and hurried off to Antioch, thinking in his arrogance that he would make the land navigable and the sea traversable on foot, he was so intoxicated in mind. And to harass the people he left governors—in Jerusalem, Philip, a Phrygian by nationality, but in character more barbarous than the man who appointed him; in Gerizim, Andronicus, and besides these, Menelaus, who was worse than the others in his overbearing treatment of his townsmen. In his hostile attitude to the Jewish citizens, he sent Apollonius, the Mysian captain, with a force of twenty-two thousand, with orders to slay all the grown men, and to sell the women and younger men as slaves. When this man arrived at Jerusalem, he pretended to be peacefully disposed, and waited till the holy sabbath day; then finding the Jews refraining from work, he ordered his men to parade under arms and put the sword all those who came out to see them, and rushing into the city with his armed men he destroyed them in great multitudes. But Judas Maccabeus with some nine others got away to the wild country and kept himself alive with his comrades in the mountains as wild animals do, and they lived on what grew wild rather than suffer pollution with the rest.

Not long after, the king sent an old Athenian to force the Jews to forsake the laws of their forefathers and cease to live according to the laws of God, but to pollute the temple in Jerusalem and to call it that of the Olympian Zeus, and to call the one in Gerizim that of Zeus the Hospitable, in keeping with the character of those who lived there. This harshly and most grievously intensified the evil. For the heathen filled the temple with profligacy and revelry, amusing themselves with prostitutes and lying with women within the sacred precincts, and bringing into it things that were forbidden. The altar was covered with abominable offerings, which the laws forbade. A man could not keep the sabbath or celebrate the festivals of his forefathers, or admit he was a Jew at all. On the monthly cele- 7 bration of the king's birthday, they were taken by bitter necessity to taste the sacrifices, and when the festival of Dionysus was celebrated, they were compelled to wear wreaths of ivy and march in procession in his honor. At Ptolemy's suggestion a decree was issued to the neighboring Greek towns, that they should adopt the same policy toward the Jews and make them taste the sacrifices, and that they should slay any who would not agree to adopt Greek customs. So anyone could see how their misery was intensified. For two women were brought in for circumcising their children, and they led them publicly about the city with their babies hanging at their breasts, and then threw them down from the top of the wall. Others who had gathered in caves near by, to keep the seventh day in secret, were betrayed to Philip and all burned together, because they had scruples about defending themselves, in their respect for the dignity of that most holy day.

So I beseech those who read this book not to be cast down by such misfortunes but to consider that these punishments were meant not for the destruction of our people but for their correction. For it is a mark of great benevolence not to let the impious alone for a long time but to punish them promptly. For in the case of other nations, the Master is long-suffering and waits before he punishes them until they have reached the full measure of their sins; but in our case he has decided differently, so that he may not take vengeance on us afterward when our sins have reached their height. So he never withdraws his mercy from us, and although he disciplines us with misfortune, he does not abandon his own people. This much let us say by way of reminder; after these few words we must resume our story.

Eleazar, one of the leading scribes, a man of advanced age and fine appearance, was being forced to open his mouth and eat pork. But he, welcoming a glorious death in preference to a life of pollution went up of his own accord to the torture wheel, setting an example of how those should come forward who are steadfast enough to refuse food which it is wrong to taste even for the natural love of life. Those who were in charge of that unlawful sacrificial meal, because of their long-standing acquaintance with the man, took him aside, and privately urged him to bring meat provided by himself, which he could properly make use of, and pretend that he was eating the meat of the sacrifice, as the king had ordered, so that by doing this he might escape the death penalty, and on account of his lifelong friendship with them be kindly treated. But he, making a high resolve, worthy of his years and the dignity of his age and the hoary hair which he had reached with such distinction, and his admirable life even from his childhood, and still more of the holy and divine legislation, declared himself in accord with these, telling them to send him down to Hades at once.

"For," said he, "it does not become our time of life to pretend, and so lead many young people to suppose that Eleazar when ninety years old has gone over to heathenism, and to be led astray through me, because of my pretense for the sake of this short and insignificant life, while I defile and disgrace my old age. For even if for the present I escape the punishment of men, yet whether I live or die I shall not escape the hands of the Almighty. Therefore by manfully giving up my life now, I will prove myself worthy of my great age, and leave to the young a noble example of how to die willingly and nobly for the sacred and holy laws."

With these words he went straight to the torture wheel, while those who so shortly before had felt kindly toward him became hostile to him, because the words he had uttered were in their opinion mere madness. As he was about to die under the strokes, he said with a groan,

"The Lord, in his holy knowledge, knows that, though I might have escaped death, I endure dreadful pains in my body from being flogged; but in my heart I am glad to suffer this, because I fear him."

And so he died, leaving in his death a pattern of nobility and a memorial of virtue not only to the young but to the mass of his nation.

It happened that seven brothers were also arrested with their mother, and were tortured with whips and thongs by the king, to force them to taste of the 2 unlawful swine's meat. One of them made himself their advocate and said,

"What do you expect to ask and learn from us? For we are ready to die, rather than transgress the laws of our forefathers."

3 The king was infuriated and gave orders that pans and caldrons should be 4 heated. And when they were immediately heated, he commanded that the tongue of the one who had been their advocate should be cut out, and that they should scalp him and cut off his extremities, while his brothers and his 5 mother looked on. And when he was utterly crippled, he ordered them to bring him to the fire and fry him. And as the vapor from the pan spread thickly, they with their mother encouraged one another to die nobly, saying,

6 "The Lord God is looking on, and he truly relents toward us, as Moses declared in his Song, which bore witness against them face to face, when he said,

'And he will relent toward his slaves.' "

7 When the first one had departed in this manner, they brought the second one to be mocked, and they tore off the skin of his head with the hair, and asked him,

"Will you eat, or have your body punished limb by limb?"

8 But he replied in the language of his forefathers and answered,

"No."

9 So he also underwent the same series of tortures as the first suffered. But when he was at his last gasp, he said,

"You wretch, you release us from this present life, but the king of the world will raise us up, because we have died for his laws, to an everlasting renewal of life."

10 After him, the third was mocked, and when he was told to put out his tongue, he did so quickly, and courageously stretched out his hands, and 11 said nobly,

"I got these from heaven, and for the sake of its laws I disregard them, and from it I hope to receive them back 12 again," so that the king himself and those who were with him were amazed at the young man's spirit, because he made light of his sufferings.

And when he had departed, they 13 tortured and maltreated the fourth in the same way. And when he was near 14 his end, he spoke thus:

"It is better to die by men's hands and look for the hopes God gives of being raised again by him; for you will have no resurrection to life."

Next they brought up the fifth and 15 maltreated him. But he looked at him 16 and said,

"Since you have authority among men, though you are mortal, you do what you please; but do not suppose that our race has been abandoned by God. But follow your course and see 17 how his mighty power will torment you and your posterity."

After him they brought the sixth. 18 And when he was at the point of death, he said,

"Do not be falsely deceived; for we suffer these things because of ourselves, for we sin against our own God, so these amazing things have happened. But 19 you must not suppose that you will go unpunished for having attempted to fight against God."

But their mother was surpassingly 20 wonderful, and deserves a blessed memory, for though she saw her seven sons perish within a single day, she bore it with good courage, because of her hope in the Lord. And she en- 21 couraged each of them in the language of their forefathers, for she was filled with a noble spirit and stirred her woman's heart with manly courage, and said to them,

"I do not know how you appeared 22 in my womb, for it was not I that gave you life and breath, and it was not I that brought into harmony the elements of each. Therefore the creator 23 of the world, who formed the human race and arranged the generation of all things, will give you back again life and breath in his mercy, as you now are regardless of yourselves for the sake of his laws."

Now Antiochus, thinking that he was 24 being treated with contempt, and suspecting her reproachful cry, as the youngest still survived, not only appealed to him in words but also promised him with oaths that he would make him rich and envied, if he would give up the ways of his forefathers, and would make him his Friend and intrust

25 him with office. But when the young man paid no attention to him, the king called the mother to him and urged her to advise the boy to save himself. 26 After he had labored with her a long time, she undertook to persuade her 27 son. She bent over him, and mocking the cruel tyrant, she spoke thus, in the language of her forefathers:

"My son, have pity on me, who carried you nine months in the womb, and nursed you for three years, and brought you up and brought you to your present 28 age, and supported you. I beseech you, my child, to look up at the heaven and the earth, and see all that is in them, and perceive that God did not make them out of the things that existed, and in that way the human race came 29 into existence. Do not be afraid of this butcher, but show yourself worthy of your brothers, and accept death, so that by God's mercy I may get you back again with your brothers."

30 Before she could finish, the young man said,

"What are you waiting for? I will not obey the command of the king, but I obey the command of the Law that was given to our forefathers 31 through Moses. But you, who have designed every kind of evil against the Hebrews, will not escape the hands of 32 God. For we are suffering because of our own sins. And though our living Lord is angry for a little while, to rebuke and discipline us, he will be reconciled with his own slaves again. But you, impious man, the vilest of all men, do not foolishly buoy yourself up in your insolence with uncertain hopes, when you raise your hand against the 35 children of heaven; for you have not yet escaped the judgment of the Almighty 36 all-seeing God. For our brothers after enduring a brief suffering have drunk everlasting life, under the agreement of God. But you, by the judgment of God, will receive the rightful penalty of your 37 arrogance. I, like my brothers, give up body and soul for the laws of my forefathers, calling upon God speedily to show mercy to our nation, and to lead you to confess, in trials and plagues, 38 that he alone is God; and to stay through me and my brothers the wrath of the Almighty, which has justly fallen on our whole nation."

39 But the king was infuriated and treated him worse than the others, being embittered at his mockery. So he passed away unpolluted, trusting firmly in the Lord. Last of all, the mother 41 met her end, after her sons.

So much then for the eating of sacrifices and excessive barbarities.

But Judas, who was called Maccabeus, and his followers secretly entered the villages and called on their kinsmen to join them, and by enlisting those who had clung to the Jewish religion, they mustered as many as six thousand. And they called upon the Lord to look upon the people who were oppressed by all men and to have pity on the sanctuary which had been profaned by the godless, and to have mercy on 3 the city which was being ruined and would soon be leveled with the ground, and to hearken to the blood that cried to them, and to remember the lawless destruction of the innocent babies and the blasphemies uttered against his name, and to hate their wickedness. And as soon as Maccabeus got them 5 organized, the heathen found him irresistible, for the wrath of the Lord now turned to mercy. He would go 6 unexpectedly to towns and villages and set fire to them, and in recovering advantageous positions and putting to flight not a few of the enemy, he found 7 the nights especially favorable for such attacks. And the country rang with talk of his valor.

When Philip saw that the man was gaining ground little by little, and that his successful advances were becoming more frequent, he wrote to Ptolemy, the governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, to support the king's side. 9 And he promptly selected Nicanor, the son of Patroclus, one of the king's chief Friends and sent him, putting him in command of not less than twenty thousand heathen of various nationalities, to wipe out the whole race of Judea. And he associated with him Gorgias, a general and a man of experience in military service. But Nicanor resolved 10 by taking the Jews captive to make up for the king the tribute which he owed to the Romans, which amounted to two thousand talents. And he immediately 11 sent to the coast towns, inviting them to buy Jewish slaves, and promising to deliver them at ninety for a talent, little expecting the judgment from the Almighty that was to overtake him.

- 12 When news of Nicanor's advance reached Judas, and when he informed his followers of the arrival of the army, 13 those who were cowardly and doubtful about the judgment of God ran away 14 and took themselves off. And others sold everything they had left and besought the Lord together to deliver those who had been sold in advance by 15 the impious Nicanor; if not for their own sakes, for the sake of the agreements made with their forefathers, and because they had been called by his 16 revered and glorious name. And Macca-beus gathered his men together, to the number of six thousand, and exhorted them not to be panic-stricken at the enemy, or to fear the vast multitude of the heathen who were coming against them wrongfully, but to fight nobly, 17 keeping before their eyes the lawless outrage they had committed against the holy place, and the tormenting of the derided city, and besides, the destruction of their ancestral mode of 18 life. "For they," he said, "trust in arms and daring, but we trust in the Almighty God, for he is able with a mere nod to strike down not only our enemies but the whole world."
- 19 And he told them besides of the times when help had been given them in the days of their forefathers, and how in the time of Sennacherib a hundred and 20 eighty-five thousand had perished, and the help that came in Babylonia, in the battle with the Galatians, when they went into the affair eight thousand in all, with four thousand Macedonians, and when the Macedonians were hard pressed, the eight thousand destroyed the hundred and twenty thousand, because of the help that came to them from heaven, and took a great 21 quantity of booty. When he had revived their courage with these words, and made them ready to die for their laws and their country, he divided his 22 army into four parts. He put his brothers Simon and Joseph and Jonathan each in command of a division, putting fifteen hundred men under 23 each, besides Eleazar also, and he read aloud from the holy book, and gave "the Help of God" as the watchword, and taking command of the first division himself, he joined battle with Nicanor.

And the Almighty was their ally, 24 and they slaughtered more than nine thousand of the enemy, and wounded and disabled most of Nicanor's army, and forced them all to flee. And they captured the money of those who had come to buy them. And after pursuing them for a considerable distance, they were obliged to turn back because of the time of day; for it was the day before 26 the sabbath, and for that reason they could not prolong their pursuit of them. But after collecting the enemy's arms 27 and stripping them of their spoils, they busied themselves about the sabbath, fervently blessing and thanking the Lord who had preserved them to see that day, because he had begun to show them mercy. After the sabbath, they 28 gave some of the spoils to the wounded and to the widows and orphans and divided the rest with their children. When they had accomplished this, they 29 made a common supplication, and besought the merciful Lord to be wholly reconciled to his slaves.

When they encountered the forces of 30 Timotheus and Bacchides, they killed more than twenty thousand of them, and obtained possession of some exceedingly high strongholds, and they divided a great amount of plunder, giving shares equal to their own to the wounded and orphans and widows, and also to the older people as well. And they carefully collected all their 31 own arms and deposited them in the advantageous places, and the rest of the spoils they carried to Jerusalem. And they killed the cavalry commander 32 of Timotheus' forces, a most impious man, who had greatly injured the Jews. And in celebrating their victory in the 33 city of their forefathers, they burned those who had set fire to the sacred gates, and Callisthenes, who had taken refuge in a cottage; so he received the proper reward for his impious conduct. But the thrice-accursed Nicanor, who 34 had brought the thousand slave-dealers to buy the Jews, after being humbled 35 through the Lord's help by those whom he had thought of no account, took off his fine clothes and going alone like a runaway across country reached Antioch, having been supremely successful—in destroying his army! So the man who 36 had undertaken to secure tribute for the Romans by the capture of the people of Jerusalem proclaimed that the Jews had a champion, and that the Jews were invulnerable because of their way of life, because they followed the laws laid down by him.

9 Now about that time it happened that Antiochus returned in disorder 2 from the region of Persia. For he had entered the city called Persepolis, and tried to rob the temples and get control of the city. At this the people naturally had swift recourse to arms, and they were routed, and the result was that Antiochus was put to flight by the people of the country, and left in disgrace. And while he was at Ecbatana, news came to him of what had happened to Nicanor and the forces of 4 Timotheus. And excited by anger, he thought he would fasten upon the Jews the injury done him by those who had put him to flight, so he ordered his charioteer to drive without stopping until he finished the journey, although the judgment of heaven accompanied him. For in his arrogance he said,

"I will make Jerusalem the common graveyard of the Jews, when I get there."

5 But the All-seeing Lord, the God of Israel, struck him down with an incurable but unseen blow, for he had hardly uttered the words when he was seized with an incurable pain in his bowels 6 and sharp internal pains—very justly, for he had tormented the bowels of 7 others with many unusual miseries. He did not desist at all from his insolence, but was more and more filled with arrogance, breathing fire in his fury against the Jews, and giving orders to hasten the journey. But it happened that he fell out of his chariot as it was rushing along, and was racked in every part of 8 his body from the fall. And the man who just now presumed to command the waves of the sea, in his superhuman boastfulness, and thought he could weigh the mountain heights in his scales, was flat on the ground and had to be carried in a litter—making the 9 power of God manifest to all men; so that worms swarmed from the impious creature's body, and while he was still alive in anguish and pain, his flesh fell off, and because of the stench the whole army turned from his corruption in disgust. The man who shortly before 10 thought he could touch the stars of heaven, no one could now bear to carry, because of his intolerable stench. So it was then that, broken in spirit, he 11 began for the most part to give up his arrogance, and under the scourge of God to attain some knowledge, for he was tortured with pain every instant. And when he could not even endure his 12 own stench, he said this:

"It is right to submit to God and, since man is mortal, not to think he is God's equal."

And the vile fellow made a vow to 13 the Lord who would no longer have mercy on him, stating that he declared 14 the holy city, which he was hastening to level with the ground and to make a common graveyard, free; and as for the 15 Jews, who he had decided were unworthy of burial, but should be thrown out with their children to the wild animals, for the birds to pick, that he would make them all equal to citizens of Athens; and the holy sanctuary, 16 which before he had plundered, he would adorn with the finest offerings, and he would give back all the sacred dishes many times over, and the expenses incident to the sacrifices he would supply from his own revenues; and in addition to this, he would be- 17 come a Jew and visit every inhabited place to proclaim the power of God. But when his suffering by no means 18 ceased, for God's judgment had come justly upon him, in despair about himself he wrote the Jews the following letter, assuming the attitude of a suppliant. It ran thus:

"To the esteemed Jewish citizens, 19 Antiochus, the king and general, sends hearty greetings and wishes for their health and prosperity. If you and your 20 children are well and your affairs are going as you wish, I am glad. As my 21 hope is in heaven, I remember with affection your esteem and good will. On my way back from the regions of Persia, I have been taken seriously ill, so I have thought it necessary to plan for the general welfare of all. Not that 22 I despair of myself, for I have strong hopes of recovering from my sickness. But observing that my father, on the 23 occasions when he campaigned in the upper country, appointed his successor, so that, if anything unexpected hap- 24

pened, or any disturbing news came, the people at home, knowing to whom the government was left, should not be 25 disturbed; and in addition to this, perceiving that the adjacent princes, who are neighbors to the kingdom, watch for opportunities and are expectant of what may turn up, I have appointed my son Antiochus king, whom I have often committed and commended to most of you, when I hurried off to the upper provinces; and I have written
 26 him what is written below. So I beg and beseech you to remember the public and private services rendered you and to continue your good will to me
 27 and my son. For I am convinced that he will follow my policy with mildness and kindness, in his relations with you."

28 So the murderer and blasphemer, after the most intense sufferings, such as he had inflicted on other people, ended his life most pitifully, among the 29 mountains, in a foreign land. And his foster-brother Philip took his body home, and then, as he feared the son of Antiochus, he went over to Ptolemy Philometor in Egypt.

10 Now Maccabeus and his followers under the Lord's leadership regained
 2 the temple and the city, and tore down the altars that had been built by the aliens in the public square, and also
 3 the sacred inclosures. And when they had purified the sanctuary, they built another altar of sacrifice, and striking 4 flints and getting fire from them, they offered sacrifices, after an interval of two years, and they burned incense and
 5 lighted lamps and set out the Presentation Loaves. And when they had done
 6 this, they fell on their faces and besought the Lord that they might never again encounter such misfortune, but that, if they should ever sin, he would discipline them with forbearance, and not hand them over to blasphemous and
 7 barbarous heathen. And it came about that on the very same day on which the sanctuary had been profaned by aliens, the purification of the sanctuary took place, that is, on the twenty-fifth day of the same month, which was Chislev.
 8 And they celebrated it for eight days with gladness, like the Camping Out festival, and recalled how, a little while before, during the Camping Out festival they had been wandering in the mountains and caverns like wild animals. So carrying wands wreathed with leaves 7 and beautiful branches and palm leaves too they offered hymns of praise to him who had brought to pass the purifying of his own place. And they passed a 8 public ordinance and decree that the whole Jewish nation should observe these days every year. Such was the 9 end of Antiochus, who was called Epiphanes.

We will now set forth what took 10 place under Antiochus Eupator, who was the son of that godless man, summarizing the principal disasters of the wars. For this man, upon succeeding 11 to the kingdom, appointed one Lysias to have charge of the government, and to be governor-in-chief of Coelesyria and Phoenicia. For Ptolemy who was called
